BURGLARS ENTER THREE HOMES IN MORNING RAIDS

Money and Valuables Taken. While Residents Sleep; Thieves Frightened From Other Homes.

Between two and four-thirty o'clock Sunday morning three Chelsea homes were entered by a burglar or burglars and attempts were made to enter three others by the prowlers, who were frightened and fled from the scene. About 2 o'clock Mrs. Chas. Tisch of Garfield street was awakened from her slumbers and discovered a man standing on the outside, looking in the window with his hands beside his face. As Mrs. Tisch screamed from fright the man ran from the premises.

The residence of James Beasley of Congdon street was visited. Entrance was gained by raising the north window facing the front porch. The prowler stole a 22-caliber Colt rifle which is valued at about $25. The finger prints of the party were left on a table which have not yet been destroyed. Mr. Beasley, who is employed on the night force at the cement plant, discovered his loss when he returned home in the morning.

The home of Chas. Staphis across the street from Mr. Beasley's, was also entered. Entrance was gained through a bedroom window on the south side of the house, and within three feet of Mr. Staphis, who was occupying a bed in the room. The window screen was pushed around to allow the person to enter. No money was secured there although Mr. Staphis had $7 in his purse and $50 in a dresser drawer. A gold watch, chain and charm, a diamond stickpin, and fountain pen were taken from the sideboard in the dining room, all belonging to his son, Ben, of Detroit.

Exit was made through the door on the north side entrance to the kitchen. The loss was placed at about $150.00. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Widmayer on South street was the scene of further activities. Here a good coat and vest, belonging to Mr. Widmayer, was taken. Entrance and exit here was made through the front door, which had evidently been left unlocked. The coat and vest was thrown in the driveway at the home of Mrs. M. Whitaker, who discovered it and called Village President Storins who returned the property to the Widmayer home.

An attempt was made to enter the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Dancer on South street, but Mr. Dancer was awakened and called out and the party fled. A window was found open at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eppler but so far as could be ascertained, the home was not entered.

No clues, other than the finger prints, have been found as to who the thief was.

FORMER CHELSEA RESIDENT PASSES AWAY IN SEATTLE

The following item was sent to the Standard by Mrs. Lillian Gerard Hoppe, a former Chelsea resident and a niece of Jabez Bacon:

Alice Mackintosh, daughter of Rev. John Howard Mackintosh, was born in Harrisville, Michigan, November 23, 1879, and passed away September 2, 1927. She was the youngest of several children and is survived by her brother, Jesse S. Mackintosh of Olympia, Washington, her husband, and other relatives.

Part of her girlhood days were spent in Chelsea, from which place she moved in 1892.

In 1909 she was united in marriage to Ward Terpening. They lived in Morenci for two years, then moved to Seattle, Washington, in the fall of 1909, where they have since resided, the home during the last four years being at 4540 20th avenue N. E. Rev. Mackintosh was pastor of the Chelsea M. E. church about thirty-two years ago.

GRASS LAKE YOUTH VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Funeral services for Faye, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Faye Coppernutt of Grass Lake, who was instantly killed Sunday when he fell from his father's truck and was run over, were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Several persons witnessed the fatal accident Sunday morning. The child was riding with his father when he fell out and, before the father could bring the light truck to a stop, the rear wheel had passed over the body. The body was taken to a Grass Lake undertaker's parlors. No inquest was held.

Snubbed His Predecessor

Each succeeding British sovereign "looks the opposite way" to his predecessor on the British coinage. This has been observed since the restoration of Charles II, who expressed a strong desire not to look the same way as Oliver Cromwell.

BANQUET HELD AT LOCAL CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Opening the fall activities of the young people of the Congregational church, a banquet was given Friday evening by the Brotherhood to the members of the Y. P. S. C. E. and the teachers of the public schools. Covers were laid for forty guests.

Following the banquet, the program opened with community singing. A piano duet, "In Hanging Garden," was rendered by Ruth and Enid Freeman; a dialogue "Three Black Crows" by Edgeworth Potts and Jack Weber; piano solo, "The Glow Worm," Mabel Huston; remarks, Rev. A. E. Potts; response, Edgeworth Potts.

The speaker of the evening was Try Nansen, general secretary of the Y. P. S. C. E., Lansing.

MRS. HANNAH M. TAYLOR CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasant family dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Hannah M. Taylor on Park street Sunday. The event was in honor of the 83rd anniversary of her birth. She was born in England, September 25, 1844, and at the age of 5 years her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkland, came to this country and settled in Unadilla, and later moved to Losco. After her marriage to John C. Taylor in 1865, they settled in Chelsea, which has been her home for the past 62 years.

The center piece of the table was a birthday cake decorated with violets and was the gift of her son, George.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Taylor of Dearborn, George Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Taylor and children, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Taylor and Mrs. Benstein of Detroit, and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Chelsea.

THREE AUTOMOBILES FIGURE IN SMASH-UP SUNDAY

Three automobiles were in a mix-up at the white school house about a mile southeast of Chelsea, Sunday. Henry McKune drove onto US-12 from the south and in order to avoid being struck, Samuel Schulz of Ann Arbor, had to turn his car across the highway and a car going east, containing Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hubbell of Jackson, who were on the right side of the highway, was wrecked. Mrs. Hubbell was severely injured about the nose and face. A gash was cut down the center and across her nose, and her cheek badly gashed. She was brought to a local physician, where several stitches were required to close the wounds. Late in the afternoon she was removed to her home in Stamford's ambulance.

FIRST INTER-SCHOLASTIC FOOTBALL GAME FRIDAY

Chelsea high will play its first inter-scholastic football game at Holmes Memorial Field on Friday afternoon when Pinckney will be the opposition. According to Coach Spaulding, there is every reason to believe Chelsea boys will put up a good game, in spite of the fact that there is some "green" timber in the local eleven.

To offset a short period of training the team adds up considerable weight, averaging nearly 150 pounds to the man. This factor will have much to do with penetrating Pinckney line, and there is also plenty of running material to back up the "beef."

Pinckney has always turned out a good team heretofore, and it is expected there will be plenty of excitement. The game starts at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

MRS. MARVETTE A. ISHAM

Marvette Augusta Leland was born at Northfield, Washenaw County, March 2, 1847, and passed away at the home of her son, Benjamin, at Chelsea, Monday, September 26, aged 80 years, 6 months and 24 days, where she has resided for the past five years.

On January 2nd, 1867, she was united in marriage to Almon H. Isham of Cedar Corners, Gratiot County, where they made their home for about a year, then moving to Pinckney, where they lived until the past five years when they came to Chelsea. To this union were born two sons, Ben H. and Henry L., who reside here. She leaves to mourn their loss two sons, four grandchildren and eight grandchildren, also one brother, W. H. Leland of Pinckney.

She united with the Methodist church at Pinckney in January, 1876, where she was a faithful member, winning many friends by her cheerful disposition. She was always ready to do for others and during her long illness was a very patient sufferer.

Funeral services were held this (Thursday) afternoon at the Pinckney M. E. church, Rev. E. J. Walker of Chelsea, officiating. Interment at Pinckney cemetery.

MUST REGISTER PISTOLS

Under the new law which went into effect September 5, a more rigid enforcement of the firearms law is required. Every revolver or pistol with a barrel of 30 inches or less must be registered with the sheriff.

The law is stringent and is designed to prevent bandits and gunmen from getting pistols, while still extending to law-abiding citizens the privilege of defending their home.

The registration must be made by number, make and model before November 1.

Failure to register makes the owner liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment for 90 days.

BOARD OF METHODIST HOME HONOR MR. AND MRS. BROSIUS

Retiring Superintendent and Matron Presented Mementoes of Governing Body's Esteem.

Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Brosius, superintendent and matron of the Old People's Home, were paid high tribute by members of the board of control of the Home, at a dinner served in the Home's dining room which members of the institution's family, the board and some guests attended Wednesday noon. Mr. and Mrs. Brosius will terminate their duties at the Home on September 30.

Speaking of the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Brosius are held by the board as well as members of the family, Dr. J. E. Jacklin, executive secretary of the board, delivered an address which paid high tribute to the manner in which the superintendent and matron have conducted the Home's business affairs during the seven years they have spent in its management. And while expressing the board's gratitude for this efficiency, he spoke the best wishes of all for a long life filled with the joys and comforts of living for each of them.

Reviewing the affairs of the Home Dr. Jacklin stated that one hundred persons have passed away while members of the family, at an average age of more than 83 years, with an average residence at the Home of 5 years.

Immediately preceding the address of Dr. Jacklin, Dr. Dennis, president of the board, spoke a few minutes in complimenting the administration of Mr. and Mrs. Brosius, while at the close of Dr. Jacklin's talk, Dr. Leeson, of Dearborn, Financial Secretary, added a few remarks to that of the others in like vein. At the conclusion of the speaking program, D. B. York, treasurer of the board, and chairman of Wednesday's meeting, presented Mr. and Mrs. Brosius with a fine mantel clock, and candlesticks, as tokens of the esteem in which they are held.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Brosius responded to the presentation, ending an hour of retrospection in which were included many happy thoughts.

Guests at the dinner included Mrs. Suter and Mr. Lowe of River Rouge. After October first, Mr. and Mrs. Brosius will take up their residence at the E. E. Storins cottage at Cavanaugh Lake, where they will be glad to receive their many friends. They will be succeeded in the work at the Home by Rev. and Mrs. Balmer, who are former residents of Chelsea, Rev. Balmer having been pastor of the Methodist church here several years ago.

MRS. GERTRUDE M. HOPKINS PASSED AWAY SATURDAY

Mrs. Gertrude M. Hopkins, aged 77 years, died Saturday morning in the M. E. Home, where she had been a resident since October, 1915. She was born in Dryden, Michigan, April 18, 1850, and was united in marriage with Stephen Hopkins, October 20, 1868. Mr. Hopkins died in 1915.

The funeral services were held at the Home at 2:30 Monday afternoon, Rev. Walter Firth conducting the services. The burial took place in Lapere, Tuesday.

SCHOOL NOTES

Complimentary tickets have been given to 135 high school students of Chelsea for the Michigan-Ohio Wesleyan football game which will be held at the new stadium in Ann Arbor on Saturday, October 1. Word was received during the past week from Fielding H. Yost, to that effect, and it is expected that about 90,000 students from throughout the state will be present.

Examinations for the first month of school work are being held this week.

FORMER RESIDENT EXPLAINS METHOD TO HARDEN LEAD

The following article is taken from a New York newspaper, written by E. E. Schumacher, who explains how lead is made harder, tougher and stiffer through mixture of antimony with lead. Mr. Schumacher is a former resident of Chelsea and is a son of A. H. Schumacher, Chelsea.

Why a mixture of one per cent antimony and ninety per cent lead is harder, stiffer and tougher than pure lead, and has brought a saving to telephone users of more than fifteen million dollars in the cost of cable covering since it was adopted for that use in 1912, is explained by E. E. Schumacher of Maplewood in an article entitled "The Hardening of Lead" which appeared in the August number of Bell Laboratories Record, issued by Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York City.

When the mixture of metals is hot the antimony is dissolved in the lead, but with cooling it crystallizes out just as sugar crystallizes out of concentrated solutions during cooling. At normal indoor temperatures the lead can contain uniformly mixed only a quarter of one per cent of antimony, in a form called solution antimony, in a form called solution antimony, in a form called solution antimony.

Between the surfaces of the lead crystals and keys these together, hindering their motion past each other. Thus the very small quantity of antimony present makes the alloy much more resistant to abrasion and deformation than pure lead, and consequently more suitable for covering telephone cable. Strength and toughness of the lead-antimony sheaths make possible the huge present-day cables, many of them containing more than 2400 wires, which could not be handled or installed unless covered with such sturdy material.

PLYMOUTH—Whereas, it is necessary for the village of Plymouth to borrow the said sum of nine thousand one hundred and thirty ($9,130) dollars for the purpose of paying its part of the expense of said public improvement, and to issue its bonds therefore, a special election to act on the proposition will be held on Wednesday, October 12.—Mail.

MASON—Slicing of kraut was begun at the plant of the Wilson Packing Company here Monday. Recent warm weather and rains have assisted in maturing the crop which for a time looked doomed but which now it is believed will closely approach an average yield. ANN ARBOR—A new schedule of rates for all papers to be recorded in the office of all Register of Deeds in the state, went into effect September 5. The new rates are some higher than ever before. A few of them are: Warranty deed, short, $1.25; long, $1.50; Quit deed, $1.00; mort-

H. Gardner and Col. George. We understand that drilling will start soon. According to the men who took the leases there is an oil field lying between the Saginaw and Ohio oil fields but its location has never been determined. These men are the same ones who secured oil leases in Webster township recently.—Dispatch.

SALINE—During the past few years several thousand dollars have been expended in trying to hold the Saline-Ann Arbor highway in good condition. Much gravel, continued scraping and lastly, several coatings of tar have been tried out, to no prolonged success. While the tar surface gives smooth, fine driving stretches of road, yet it is clearly evident that it will be of short life. The immense traffic is already causing it to pit badly the entire length, and these pits with constant usage and freezing of winter will rapidly force cracks and enlarge the openings. With an unusual heavy traffic like the Ann Arbor road, the fact is conceded that it is a question of only a short time when this strip and on to Milan south must be paved in order to take care of the constantly growing traffic, both local and commercial.—Observer.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN KEEPS BORERS DOWN

The ten-million dollar spring campaign against the European corn borer has retarded the insect's rate of increase, says the United States Department of Agriculture, after a survey of 743 townships in the heavily infested areas. The report was made to members of the international corn borer organization at Toledo last week, before they began their three days' tour and study of borer-infested areas in Ohio, Michigan, and Ontario. While the pest increased about 50 per cent in numbers over last year, the increase compares favorably with the increase of 400 per cent in 1926 when there was no control campaign. The western limit of the area of infestation in the state was extended by only Texas township in Kalamazoo county this year. The pest was found as far north as Alpena county, however.

Members of the international corn borer organization were optimistic over the great improvement in borer conditions in Kent and Essex counties of Ontario, as compared to former years. Although the corn acreage has been reduced 60 per cent, the infestation was reduced fully 50 per cent following the clean-up conducted in Ontario last spring.

After studying the borer situation at first hand, the organization commended the clean-up work done by farmers last spring and recommended that further research on the life history and habits of the borer be conducted, and urged that approved farm practices be continued to the end that no serious commercial damage to the corn crop would result.

She Looked Like a Million

By CORONA REMINGTON

(Copyright)

EVELYN ACTON glanced quickly around to see whether any of the waiters were watching her. She had removed two rolls from her gay little red-leather handbag and put them on the table beside her cup of steaming coffee. It gave her a feeling of prosperity to breakfast with the successful business men and women of the town.

This morning, however, she was rather depressed; for three solid days she had been hunting a position without success and her funds were now reduced to small change. She looked wistfully at a juicy piece of fried ham that a patron had hastily left on his plate at the next table and bristled her little nose as its fragrance came invitingly to her. It seemed to tease her and make the dry rolls drier in her mouth. Then after she had finished she did a strange thing. As she rose from the table she opened her purse, took out a pencil and piece of paper, then sat down at the ham table. As she scribbled aimless words she noticed that there was a clean spoon beside the plate and the knife had only been used for cutting so she was not afraid of it—only a matter of seconds now and she would be nonchalantly pinching bits of the tender meat in her mouth, but—something came into the implacable face of a waiter.

"Gordon, ma'am, permit me to remove this and you will have more room to write."

The ham was whisked away and the clean spoon and the knife that had only been used for cutting, but quick on the heels of disappointment came a sense of escape; if that waiter had not come at that moment he would have seen her eating the other patron's breakfast.

Evelyn rose, adjusted her little black hat, gave a pat to her dress and walked out.

"Making your way in a big city isn't so bad," she reflected, "until you lose your position, and then—" poignant homesickness rushed over her as she thought of the little home town she had left and of Jack Dalton who had wanted to marry her and whom she had so flatly refused.

"All right," he had said with a shrug. "When you get through with your career you can come to me."

That was four years ago. With a toss of impatience she pulled herself together and walked swiftly along.

"If you want to impress people," she soliloquized, "you have to hold your head up when you wear a five-dollar dress marked down from $12.98 (on the tag) and wait it to look like a $75 French room creation." So she walked jauntily down the street, her disappointed stomach already beginning to scream for the food it didn't get. That was one deceiving thing about a coffee and rolls breakfast; it had a way of playing hide and seek, it was there and then suddenly it was gone.

"Now, let's see, where's that address?" she went on. "Yes, 748 Empire building. The Wrenover Tire company. They said to call at ten o'clock. It's three blocks down and two across. I'll just about get there on time. Wonder how many others they wrote to call, too. But my letter was a good one if I do say it—maybe they'll take me."

And the big building swallowed her up. She left the elevator at the seventh floor and turned the knob of the big door leading to suite 748.

"You wanted a stenographer?" she said to the man at the high desk, showing him her letter.

"Yes, please step this way, Miss Acton."

He showed her to the office door marked Private and returned to his desk. As she entered the man inside turned to face her, then he rose and took both her hands in his.

"Evelyn!" he said gently as the girl stared at him, her face suddenly blanched, then she recovered herself and greeted him flippantly enough.

"Same old Jack Dalton," she laughed a little forced laugh.

"You look like a million dollars," he said surveying her. "Let's get out of here where we can talk."

Like an automaton, she followed him out of the office and they went to a little restaurant nearby.

"I was so excited waiting I couldn't eat breakfast," he explained. "What'll you have? When I read that letter signed Evelyn Acton in the handwriting I knew so well—"

"It was the biggest shock I ever got," she laughed. "You were prepared because you knew I was coming, but I wasn't."

"You've changed," he said after a pause. "I don't know what it is, there's something—a little wistful about you. What is it? It's entrancing."

"Wistful? Downright hungry!" thought Evelyn, but she said:

"You've changed, too—you're—I don't know—even nicer than before."

"Nicer than a career?" he asked.

"Not fool me, Evelyn. I'm serious."

"Uh huh," she replied, slipping a piece of broiled ham into her mouth.

"Come on," he begged. "Let's get out of here before I express myself in public," but Evelyn only crinkled her nose at him, gave his knee a little pin under the table and said:

"You're going to eat a good breakfast before you leave this restaurant. And he did. They did? mean."

Insects Like People

Modern entomologists are now classifying insects according to the same types as those used for classification of human beings. The "asthenic" individual with the lean and hungry look may be found among insects as among people. The chunky, round "pycnic" type is found among beetles, bugs and moths, while grasshoppers, mosquitoes, walking sticks and dragon flies are "athletic." The intermediate types dominate among these creatures as among humans, and this group is designated as "athletic." Hygeia Magazine.

Degrees of Latitude

Points on the same meridians of longitude are farther apart at the equator than at any point north or south. This can be readily seen by consulting a globe, for the meridians converge upon the North and South poles, the distance between them at these points being zero. This has been proved by actual measurement of degrees. It is found that the length of a degree of latitude is greatest at the equator, decreasing gradually toward the North and South poles.

ARCADE THEATRE, ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN COMMENCING SUNDAY, OCT. 2, TO 8

NEIL HAMILTON, RONALD COLMAN AND RALPH FORBES IN A SCENE FROM THE HERBERT BRENON PRODUCTION "BEAU GESTE" A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

"Beau Geste" Made On Arizona Desert

THOUSANDS OF PLAYERS SPENT THREE MONTHS AT "CAMP HERBERT BRENON"

COMING TO ARCADE THEATRE, ANN ARBOR, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 2.

The screen version of one of the most popular romantic action novels of recent years, "Beau Geste" will make its first appearance on Sunday, October 2nd, at the Arcade Theatre, Ann Arbor.

This thrilling story of romance, mystery and adventure in the French Foreign Legion with the theme of devotion of three brothers powerfully depicted, has been transferred to the screen by Paramount on a scale never surpassed by any previous production.

For the filming of this novel, Director Herbert Brenon led an army of 40 men into the Great American desert for three months during which the exterior scenes were made. The camp was built in a sand basin, 30 miles from any habitation and the entire company worked straight through without a day's rest, from 5:30 each morning till sunset.

Brenon took his company to Burlingame, California—a 900-mile trip for a few cranks of the camera.

No obstacle was permitted to stand in the way of making it as fine as possible. The director was given the selection of any player in motion pictures. Months were spent in preparation and more months to filming. Hundreds of the West's finest riders were brought together as were 1500 of the world's fastest horses and 50 camels.

The smallest part in the picture was filled with the same care that was given to casting the featured roles.

Ronald Colman plays the title part, that of the eldest of three brothers who each leave home without telling the others, to enlist in the French Foreign Legion under assumed names in order to shield each other from the blame for the theft of a famous sapphire. Neil Hamilton and Ralph Forbes enact the other brothers.

The brave defense by 40 legionnaires of a lonely fort in the Sahara when it is attacked by countless hordes of mounted desert warriors, Touaregs, brings the story to its climax.

It also causes Noah Beery, as the brutal adjutant, "the cruellest beast and bravest soldier" in the Legion, to reach the pinnacle of his notable career.

Other prominent players in "Beau Geste" include Arthur Joyce, Mary Brian, William Powell, Norman Trevor and Victor McLaglin.

FORMER RESIDENT IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

William Caspari, 84, for many years a resident of Chelsea and former Ann Arbor merchant, died Wednesday, September 21, at Dubuque, Iowa, after a short illness. Mr. Caspari was born April 26, 1843, in Villmer, Nassau province, Germany, coming to this country when 22 years old. The Caspari family has made their home in Ann Arbor for more than half a century.

Mr. Caspari was engaged in the bakery business for a number of years, operating a store on East Huron street and later was located on the northwest corner of Ann St. and North Fourth Ave., Ann Arbor. Thirty years ago, he came to Chelsea, operating a bakery here until ten years ago when he went to Dubuque, where he resided at the time of his death.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Catherine Caspari, three daughters, Catherine R., Cecelia A., and Frances E., all of Ann Arbor; and a son, William Jr., of Detroit.

The body arrived in Ann Arbor Friday night, accompanied by two of the daughters, Catherine and Cecelia. Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Thomas church, with interment in St. Thomas cemetery.

FORMER RESIDENT SENTENCED TO TERM IN JACKSON PRISON

Herman H. Heselschwerdt, a former resident of Sylvan, was arrested in Pontiac by the police the first of the week, for local officers. On July 28 he cashed a check for $50 in the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank. The check was drawn on a Pontiac Bank and was returned here with a statement that the young man had no funds in that bank and had never had an account there.

Monday morning Deputy Sheriff Atkinson brought the young man from Pontiac. He was taken before Justice of the Peace O. J. Walworth, where he waived examination. He was bound over to the circuit court, with bonds placed at $1000 and as bond was not furnished he was taken to the county jail at Ann Arbor.

Heselschwerdt pleaded guilty Monday afternoon in circuit court at Ann Arbor, before Judge Geo. W. Sample, to a charge of uttering and publishing a check. He was sentenced to serve from six months to a year in the state prison at Jackson.

GRAHAM BROTHERS TRUCK

SALES SET NEW HIGH RECORD

Graham Brothers, the truck division of Dodge Brothers, Inc., broke all previous monthly records for the year in sales shipments of 1 1-2 and 2-ton trucks and motor coaches to Dodge Brothers Dealers during August, according to an official announcement. A total of 1716 units of these two capacities were shipped during this month alone, Graham Brothers leading all manufacturers in the 1 1-2 and 2-ton truck field. The shipments of 3-4 ton commercial cars and 1-ton trucks by Graham Brothers also were high, the total of all shipments being 4356 in August.

The increasing sales of Graham Brothers trucks have been further stimulated by the introduction during the past month of a complete new line which embodies a number of important improvements and is headed by a powerful and fast new six cylinder 2-ton truck with four-wheel Lockheed hydraulic brakes and four speed transmission. The demand for the new 2-ton truck is setting records for the entire industry as Graham Brothers plants in Detroit, Evansville, Indiana, Stockton, California and Toronto, Ontario, are working at full capacity. Dealers' orders are being received at the factory in unprecedented volume.

"What the Dickens!"

When you exclaim, "What the dickens!" you are not referring to the author. The proof that Charles Dickens has nothing to do with the expression is that Dickens was born long after Shakespeare died, and Shakespeare causes one of his characters—Mrs. Page, in "The Merry Wives of Windsor"—to say, "I cannot think what the dickens his name is." The term is probably a contraction of "devils."

Natural Bread

The breadfruit tree is native of the island of the Pacific ocean and of the Indian archipelago. This fruit supplies food and its inner bark a material for making clothing. When the fruit is gathered for use at an early stage the pulp is white and mealy and of a consistency resembling that of new bread.

Thunderbolts

Lightning is always accompanied by thunder, so a thunderbolt may be said to be both. The term is usually employed to describe a lightning stroke that has hit some object and caused damage.

Our Northern Neighbor
The area of Canada is 2,333,000,000 acres, and the water area 51,000,000 acres, making a total area of 2,384,000,000 acres, or 3,797,123 square miles. Ontario contains the largest water area, due to the fact that one-half of the area of five of the Great Lakes are within that province. Manitoba is second in water area.

Cause of Heartburn
Heartburn is not due to acid stomach, or any condition of the stomach contents, but to a muscular distension of the digestive tract itself, and can be controlled by medicine, according to two noted American physicians.

As We Grow Older

Proper Kidney Action Is More Than Ever Important

As we grow older, there is apt to be a gradual slowing up of bodily functions. The kidneys are the blood filters. If their action becomes sluggish they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. This tends to make one tired and aching, with often nagging headache, drowsy headach and dizziness. A common symptom of imperfect kidney action is scanty or burning excretions. Elderly people recommend Doan's Pills. This tested diuretic is endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

THE GIRL WHO RAN AWAY

By CLARISSA MACKIE

ALICE PEACE had dressed rapidly for the early dinner at Beechcroft, where she was visiting the Merrills at their summer camp. And when the musical notes of a bugle announced that the meat was in readiness, Alice gave a reassuring nod to the reflection of her pretty face and, dressed in white from top to toe like some very young bride, she went out to the front wide veranda where all meals were served except in stormy weather.

The guests numbered a dozen, several of whom Alice recognized as old acquaintances. There was one man who came in a little late and sat down near Mrs. Merrill, on the same side of the table as Alice was sitting. She could not see him, but the corner where he was seated full of moment.

"She was glad of that," said Alice, "the youths on either side of her were just college boys—she wanted to be just a girl—lots of it all the time, because she had been rather bitter the last few months for pretty much of whom Alice recognized as old acquaintances. There was one man who came in a little late and sat down near Mrs. Merrill, on the same side of the table as Alice was sitting.
