A LESSON WORTH WHILE

Many a lesson we grown-ups "learned at mother's knee" that did us a world of good later in life. And not the least of them was the lesson that taught us the value of SAVING money . . . what it meant in acquiring our education . . . in making the most of early opportunities . . . and so on.

Teach the same to your youngsters! Open a Savings Account here for them and give them the right start to a happy and successful future!

The Mechanical Tape Worm

Dependence on the tea kettle method is a nuisance and on the furnace coil method is costly of coal. The only fully satisfactory answer is "you can do it better with gas."

The evolution of water heating within the last ten years has been nothing short of phenomenal; and the result is a gas water heater as nearly perfect as science can produce. You will have one in your home sooner or later. Why not let us install it this month and give you that extra convenience for this winter?

Some folks have an idea that a coil in the furnace supplies hot water without any extra cost. But we are told by those who have made actual scientific tests that the hot water coil in a furnace is very extravagant, using up fully one-fifth of every ton of fuel.

Many homes, modern in every other respect still maintain hot water systems that are as unsatisfactory as they are wasteful of time, energy and money.

HALLOWEEN NIGHT MISCHIEF

Halloween, when it started far back in the mist of time, was the night when evil spirits were supposed to flock out of hiding places and roam the earth, marauding and destroying. After many centuries we see the work of the evil spirits inherited and ably handled by Willie, Tom, Pat and the rest of the youthful "gang."

It illustrates how next to impossible it is to get a custom or superstition out of the human brain, once it gets there.

On the ancient agricultural calendar, Halloween was a sort of New Year's Day. Harvest was over and the landlord called for his share of the crops raised by tenant farmers.

It was the custom for him to arrive late in the evening and make merry at such pastimes as cider making and apple bobbing. When the fun was over and the landlord got down to business, it was early morning of November 1.

Probably this is why the first of the month is rent-paying day, instead of the fifteenth or any other date that would be just as logical.

Time was, when Halloween was less a night of devilry and more a night of hospitality, good fellowship, roasting fireplaces, good things to eat and drink, and delightful superstition such as walking down cellar stairs backward, carrying a candle and a mirror, in which "her" future husband's face might appear.

The world has not enough of hospitality and good fellowship. Let's revive it, this Halloween, and make the night of witches and goblins jovial as well as prankful.

LIVING CHRISTMAS TREES

Already in the Northland preparations are being made for the great harvest of Christmas trees. In a few weeks carloads and shiploads of conifers will be spilling towards thousands of cities and towns throughout the country. Each year millions are cut, transported, decorated and cut off as rubbish or cut into firewood.

This tremendous and growing demand for Christmas trees, coupled with forest conservation talk, has, in recent years, been the source of no little worry for the younger generation and those of the older generation who still get a thrill out of this age-old custom. For these the United States forest service has a word of consolation.

It has pointed out that Christmas trees are not necessarily enemies of conservation. Within reason, their use may be even beneficial. This is in answer not to soul-minded Scrooges, but to those who are disturbed by the thought that they may be taking the time from economic uses of greater good to man. The forest service has found that in this case the economic use is not necessarily the highest use. There is no other use to which the trees could be put that would contribute as much to the joy of man as their use by children on the greatest holiday of the year.

Perpetuation of an adequate supply of trees for this use is promised in a movement under way to use young living trees instead of cutting down great evergreens of the forest. Planted in tubs, these trees not only blossom in the symbolism of the Christmas season, but also carry the glinting freshness of the pines and their fragrance through the winter and, later on, add the strength to the young growth of the forest or transfer their beauty to the garden or the field. And they may be obtained by thinning out the conifer forests with benefit to the remaining trees.

BIDDY'S PART

When the farm wife depended upon "Biddy," the hen, to reproduce her kind through the medium provided by nature, little attention was paid to any of the ailments of the flock. About the only diseases recognized were the pip and roup. In those days a live chicken was worth only a few cents more than one that died of disease.

The situation is different today. The last decade has witnessed an amazing change in the scope and method of poultry and egg production. The humble hen is now a recognized asset, a chief source of income and as such is favored with the best food, shelter and attention. A veterinarian is summoned when disease appears among the flock.

Chicken breeders sold 800,000,000 baby chicks last year and American hens lay 700 eggs every second, or 2,000,000,000 dozens a year. The annual value of poultry products in this country is in excess of $1,000,000,000, which is 16 per cent of the value of all livestock production. It is second only to the value of dairy products.

And yet, in spite of her importance, the hen has never come into her legal rights. In the way of recognition by law, and has not had her fair share of congressional favor. Congress has appropriated millions to fight hog cholera and bovine tuberculosis, but little or nothing toward insuring good health for barnyard fowl and their aristocratic relatives in the henneries.

Congress has taken steps to protect the consumer from the dangers following the use of diseased pork, beef and mutton and milk from diseased cows, and in view of the extensive use of poultry products as human food it would seem that the next step toward insuring wholesomeness for the American table must concern those products.

Many persons do not have opinions on anything, but there are enough others who seem to have opinions on everything.

ANNOUNCE-OPENING OF RADIO SCHOOL

The "school of the air" at Michigan State College will open Monday evening, October 23, broadcasting over WKAR, the college radio station.

Material of interest to everyone will be presented this year, combining the offerings of 22 departments of the college. The first half of the program will be devoted to the arts and sciences and the last half to agriculture. In addition, special programs of music and football and basketball games will be broadcast.

Farmers of the state will play an important part in the school this year. Each of the lectures to be given by the department of agricultural engineering will be based on a power project as developed by some outstanding farmer. Prominent producers of the important crops will speak on the farm crops department programs.

Five departments which did not appear on the programs last year will be included in the school this year. The Boys' and Girls' Club Department will give a series of 15 lectures and will include many of the champion club boys and girls of the state among their speakers. The athletic department will give a series of lectures on the major sports which will give the average individual a better understanding of these games. The other new departments will include electrical engineering, botany, and the department of drawing and design.

The radio school courses will be given five nights each week from 7:15 to 8:00 o'clock. The program each evening will be divided into four ten minute periods. The fall term which opens October 24 will continue until December 16. The winter term of 24 weeks will open January 2 and end

Catalogs giving a complete schedule of the courses will be ready when the school starts and may be procured by writing to WKAR.

BREVITIES

BROOKLYN—Two business places in this village were entered by burglars Thursday night and a small amount of loot obtained.

ANN ARBOR—Sheriff Ernest M. Wurster of Ann Arbor, has been named general chairman for the Ann Arbor community fund campaign which will be held early in November.

MILAN—Milan's new street lights, as provided for by the Village Council, are being placed by the Detroit Edison Company. Work was started late last week and the construction is being rushed. It is expected that the job will be completed within a very short time.—Leader.

GRASS LAKE—Representatives of the Stabler Oil Company, of Ann Arbor, were in Grass Lake the first of the week and announced that work would be started soon on the new oil station, which is to be erected on the property on East Michigan avenue, recently purchased from A. N. Sota.—News.

JACKSON—In an effort to solve the difficulties which have arisen out of present conditions at the Detention Home, the board of supervisors Friday afternoon voted to set aside $12,000 in a building fund for a new home. This action was taken upon recommendation of a special investigating committee.

ANN ARBOR—Neal Van Riper, 26, who resided near Saline, pleaded guilty in circuit court on Wednesday last week to a charge of robbery while armed and was sentenced by Judge George W. Sample to serve a term in Jackson prison from 10 to 20 years, with the recommendation of the minimum sentence.

MANCHESTER—It was 37 years ago, Wednesday that Austin Yocum came to Manchester and he has been a useful and loyal citizen ever since, being always interested in fraternal and church work. He owns a comfortable home, shared by his wife and family, and he is the senior member of the firm of Yocum & Marx.—Enterprise.

GRASS LAKE—Coming as a surprise to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Helen K. Garrison of Grass Lake, and Frederick W. Kavanaugh, of Jackson. The marriage was solemnized Wednesday at St. Aloysius Church in Detroit. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Garrison, of Grass Lake, and Mr. Kavanaugh's parents are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kavanaugh, 509 North East Avenue, Jackson. The couple will make their home in Grass Lake for the present.

CLINTON—A new signal has been ordered by the Public Utilities Commission to be placed at the intersection of Chicago street and the New York Central railroad. The signal is to be placed on a base in the center of the concrete road and will be plainly visible day and night. The village is to pay half of the cost of $1,600 for the installation of the signal. The crossing is on the Chicago pike and many accidents have occurred, due to the fact that the signal has not been plainly visible.

MANCHESTER—It may be that Ann Arbor street is to be the first paved way in the village after all as the portion north of the N. Y. C. R. Y. tracks was graded, drainage taken care of and culverts constructed this season. When ready to apply the first coat of gravel the work was halted. The supervisors, it appears, have found means by which a strip on Ann Arbor street can be paved now, as Supervisor F. D. Merithew informed the Enterprise Wednesday morning that the county highway commissioners have decided to pave next spring.—Enterprise.

ANN ARBOR—L. O. Cushing of Ann Arbor has been named chairman of the new county board of auditors. Willis M. Fowler, Saline, and Elmer L. Brown, Ypsilanti, members of the present board, were also chosen to serve on the new board. The board is organized under a local act passed last spring by the voters. Cushing will give full time service, while the remaining members will serve by the day, as in the past.

STOCKBRIDGE—A few out breaks has been reported in the county of contagious influenza of poultry. This is a very contagious epidemic of poultry and when it once gets started the losses are usually heavy. The symptoms are those similar to a cold or cough, and when advanced the birds begin coughing and gasping for breath and many times choking to death immediately. Farmers having an outbreak of symptoms of same are requested to report it to the County Agent office at once.—Brief-Sun.

PINCKNEY—Last year the local

Isaac Walton League secured enough funds from the resorters and fishermen in this vicinity to construct a fishpond near Half Moon Lake, the land being donated by Elmer Glenn. The pond had to be enlarged this year as it was not big enough to satisfy the state conservation committee. Last week a shipment of 25,000 bluegills was received from the state fish hatchery which were planted in the fish pond. They will be left there until they are big enough to feed for themselves and will not become prey for larger fish which will be distributed among nearby lakes.—Dispatch.

Combines Many Flavors
Although its parent is sometimes called Yamaica pepper, it is the dried berry of a species of myrtle which grows in the West Indies. The name ampepe was given to it as it was supposed to combine the flavor of different spices, particularly cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves. In addition to its use in cooking, it is used as an agreeable aromatic.

BROESAMLES AND MUSBACHS ARRIVE IN CALIFORNIA

In a letter to the editor of the Standard, P. M. Broesamle, who, with Mrs. Broesamle and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Musbach, left Chelsea on September 27 for a motor trip to California, states they arrived at their destination at 11:15 on October 18, just three weeks from the time they left here. In the letter Mr. Broesamle says, in part:

"We enjoyed our trip, which was over 3800 miles, very much. It rained every day for a week but we got along fine until we got to western Iowa, where it had been raining about two weeks. Here we had to use chains for about 100 miles. The mud wasn't so very deep but slippery as soft soap for perhaps 50 miles and we made some funny looking tracks from there on. We had about 20 miles of deeper mud up to the hubs in many places. This was mostly 'gumbo.' We finally got to the state line between Iowa and Nebraska where we crossed the Missouri river on the ferry into Nebraska and left the mud behind us. After traveling an hour or so we had the finest gravel roads I ever traveled on. 200 miles in a stretch with about 7 feet rise to the mile and smooth as a floor. There is one section in Nebraska where they raise the finest sugar beets I ever saw, but when we got past the sugar beet district the rest of Nebraska and Arizona and California, clear to San Bernardino doesn't seem to me to be worth very much outside of the mines. From Denver we took a side trip to Lookout Mountain and down the Bear Creek canyon a distance of about 65 miles. The elevation is something like 7870 feet. Buffalo Bill's grave is clear on the top. There is no use me trying to describe the mountains and the canyons. It can't be done.

"We also went to the Grand Canyon in Arizona which cannot be described only that in my estimation, it would take one of the largest mountains to fill one of the canyons. Canyons are very beautiful. We sure enjoyed all the mountain drives. Good roads over all the mountains, lots of. Keep your eye on the indicator for her go. Only had to go once or twice for just a short tance."

THE RADIO WORLD TAKES OFF ITS HAT TO THE GREATEST RADIO VALUE IT EVER SAW

To Crosley resources, experience, leadership and mass manufacturing methods comes the big factor that leads to paramount achievement—license to use the power of radio patent—license to work with and to take full advantage of the research and study of the greatest of their kind—The Radio Corporation of America, The General Electric Co., The Westinghouse Co., The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and The Hazeltine and Latour Corporations.

This Bandbox is totally shielded. Copper shields cover coils, cadmium-plated steel covers the condensers. Wiring is completely shielded from both. The Bandbox is completely balanced. It is a genuine neodyne.

The Bandbox is equipped with Accumulators—secondary adjustments in use only on weak distant signals and when cruising for far-away stations that ordinary one dial sets miss entirely. The "Bandbox" possesses a volume control by which strong low-distorting volume can be reduced to a whisper without distortion or detuning.

The Bandbox operates with a single tuning knob which turns an illuminated dial. This feature for shadowy corners is greatly appreciated.

The Bandbox is easily installed in console cabinets, being so designed that a few screws removed from the escutcheon and the bottom releases chassis from the outside metal case.

Crosley Radio is Licensed only for Radio Amateur, Experimental and Broadcast Reception
