It was back in December, 1620... as history tells us... that our Pilgrim forbears first set foot on these great shores. Coming into a strange land which at the time was largely a wilderness, their future was fraught with uncertainty and danger. Yet, with the "Faith that moves mountains," they set themselves to the task of establishing a haven here free of religious oppression.

That first winter was one of suffering and hardship. But, undaunted, they sowed the seed for their first crops the following spring. Patiently they worked and waited. On those crops depended their very existence! And, thanks to the kindness of a generous Creator, the fall of 1621 saw them reap what to them was a happy harvest. Thus, a day of Thanksgiving was designated and... though 'twas little they had... sincere was their thankfulness!

But... let us pass up three centuries. Today our great country is the richest on earth... the land of countless opportunities... the sought-for haven of millions from the Old World. Why? Because capital and labor, science, invention and enterprise... working hand in hand, have made life here enjoyable to the point of hardly wanting for more. Progress, Prosperity, Peace and Plenty are ours and the future looks brighter than ever!

Thank The Lord For It!

CHELSEA TO VOTE ON SEWER SYSTEM AT SPRING ELECTION

Toledo Sanitary Engineer Engaged by Council to Draw Plans for Much-Needed Disposal Plant.

Submission of a proposition whereby the voters will be asked to approve installation of a sewer system in Chelsea, will be made at the spring election according to plans of village council which have progressed to the point of engaging the service of a sanitary engineer for the purpose of making estimates, drawing plans, making survey, etc., of the entire village. Geo. Champe, of Toledo, engineer, has been retained by council for this purpose.

Decision of council to retain Mr. Champe in the capacity of engineer for the purpose mentioned was arrived at at a meeting held Monday evening of last week, but contracts were not signed until Friday.

The question of sewers and disposal of surface water as well as sewage is an old one and one which village councils have had to face for years. Complaints from every section of town where adequate sewage disposal has not been available have confronted councilmen time and again, without facilities for relieving the situation.

Under present plans as outlined to the Standard by Village President F. E. Storms, the engineer engaged will submit plans and estimates for a sewer system and disposal plant. It is believed the cost will reach somewhere in the neighborhood of $70,000. Since the village is enjoying a comfortable surplus each year from operation of the electric light and water plant, it is believed a bond issue of half this amount would be sufficient to carry out the sewer building program in the entire village, and a part of this bond issue might be paid from future surplus of the plant.

Further particulars are expected to be submitted by Mr. Champe, who has had considerable experience in such projects and can give minute details of the plan. When plans have been completed, along with estimates of cost, it is planned to call a public meeting at which time the engineer and village officials will make an effort to explain the proposition and answer any questions the public may have to ask.

MANCHESTER EASY PREY TO SCRAPPY CHELSEA HI

After losing their first game this season to Clinton in a hard fought game at that place week before last, Chelsea last Friday with another "win" back to their credit when they made Manchester High the victim on the Holmes Memorial Field north of town. In a well-played game the score ended 18 to 0.

The last game of the season so far as the locals are concerned, will be played at Manchester on Thanksgiving day (Thursday) at 2:30. Every effort is being made to have a large number of local fans accompany the team to the village to the south, and help the boys wind up the season with another victory.

OVER-HEATED CORN STALKS CAUSE BARN TO BURN DOWN

Fire, said to have been caused by over-heating of corn stalks in the barn, completely destroyed a barn on the Mrs. C. E. Whitaker farm, four miles southeast of town Tuesday afternoon. The farm is occupied by Emanuel Bristle.

While the fire was not discovered until it had enveloped the buildings in flames, no other reason could be ascribed to the cause. Mr. Bristle stated to a Standard reporter that he was in the barn at noon and threw down hay for feed, and later his boys were in the barn and threw down stalks. Nothing was seen at the time to raise suspicion of over-heating in the stalks. Mr. Bristle went to the field and had been at work only a few minutes when he saw the barn in flames.

A call was sent to the Chelsea fire department who responded with fire fighting apparatus and chemical. With the help of a bucket brigade they were able to save a large barn adjacent to the burning building and other out-buildings dangerously near the flames.

A south wind carried the fire away from other buildings, a fact which probably saved the entire group of barns and house from burning.

The corn stalks, grain and hay in the barn were, of course, burned, but live stock which ordinarily was kept in the building had been taken out and there was no loss there.

KIWANIS FROM SEVEN CITIES ENJOY MEETING HERE TUESDAY

Prof. Thomas H. Reed, of University of Michigan, Addresses Group of 160 Men—Kiwans Notables Present.

Expressing his faith in democracy as expressed through the ballot box of the American people, rather than the fascist and communistic tendencies cropping up in European countries, Prof. Thos. H. Reed, of the political science department of the University of Michigan, on Tuesday evening delivered a splendid address to an inter-city gathering of Kiwanians at the public school auditorium. About 150 members of the clubs of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Wyandotte, Wayne, Plymouth, Ecorse and Chelsea were in attendance.

Relating some of his observations made while on a journey through Europe about a year ago, Prof. Reed described in detail the working of the fascist and communistic branches of organization, both of which exist in practically every European country and are the outgrowth of economic and political unrest, or lack of employment and presence of hard times among the so-called working men. While operating under different names, both are favorable to the rule of the dictator, the speaker said, demanding direct action in government rather than the slower and more democratic method of majority rule as applied in this country. Various other phases of European government are causing unrest among the peoples of the continent, all of which is threatening the foundation of democracy, the thing for which American entered the world war, according to the professor.

Lack of definite, clean-cut issues by which the two major political parties of the United States may be recognized and for which they may be supported or rejected, is responsible for a large amount of apathy on the part of the voter, Prof. Reed said, citing many instances or points on which both republicans and democrats agree fundamentally, having discarded the only vital issues which ever existed to separate the two. Criss-crossing of ideas and ideals have so intertwined the two parties until there is little reason for support of one as against the other.

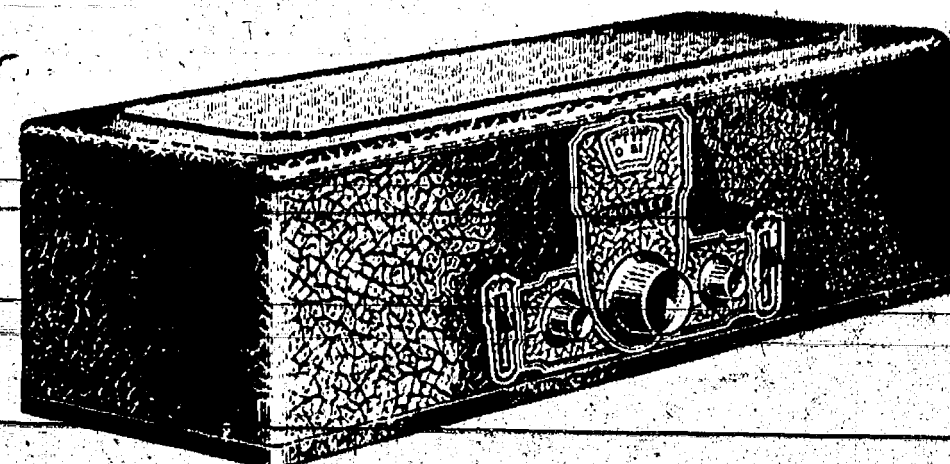

Mr. Reed expressed the opinion that the time was almost at hand when the people of this country would rise with a demand for new leadership which would clean up some of the rotten politics existing in cities, states and nation.

Preceding the main address of the evening short talks were given by Lewis Holman, of Ann Arbor, Governor of the Michigan District of Kiwanis, Archie Case, Jackson, Governor-elect, and George H. Hage, Ypsilanti, Lieutenant Governor of the Sixth District of Kiwanis, of which Chelsea is a part.

The Chelsea Kiwanis quartet appeared in two groups of vocal selections in the fore part of the program, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. P. F. Niehaus.

The banquet, a sumptuous affair, was served by members of the high school and faculty, under the supervision of Supt. E. L. Clark. A splendid menu was provided.

"gas chats"

The Mechanical Tape Worm

Dependence on the tea kettle method is a nuisance and on the furnace coil method is costly of coal. The only fully satisfactory answer is "you can do it better with gas."

The evolution of water heating within the last ten years has been nothing short of phenomenal, and the result is a gas water heater as nearly perfect as science can produce. You will have one in your home sooner or later. Why not let us install it this month and give you that extra convenience for this winter?

Some folks have an idea that a coil in the furnace supplies hot water without any extra cost. But we are told by those who have made actual scientific tests that the hot water coil in a furnace is very extravagant, using up fully one-fifth of every ton of fuel.

Many homes, modern in every other respect still maintain hot water systems that are as unsatisfactory as they are wasteful of time, energy and money.

STOCKING BANKS

A group of middle western bankers conducted an investigation to ascertain to what extent farmers and small business men kept in hiding sums of money. It was found that a large number, amounting to an appreciable percentage of the whole, kept sums ranging from $100 to $10,000 hidden about the premises. It is not hard to understand how one might need to keep temporarily as much as $100 about the house, but to have $10,000 or any amount approaching that sum certainly would be extra-hazardous. Those who live at a distance from a bank naturally might need to keep much more currency on hand, than others who could step into a bank whenever necessary, but to have about the person or on the premises any considerable amount is to invite some one to come and take it. Frequently robberies are reported where by violence directed against the possessor information as to the hiding place of the money is extorted. It is hard enough to keep money under any circumstances. To invite robbery by hiding it about the house should be unnecessary in these days of many banks.

The currency that is hidden away does nothing for the owner, while if it were deposited in a bank it would be working for the owner and for others also. No doubt the sums hoarded and not working total vast figures. Were all of this secreted capital where it would be available for use it would assist greatly in the restoration of industry.

THE PERSONAL TOUCH

The transition from the general store to the department store and specialty shop period was regretted by some because they feared "big business" would destroy the personal relation that had existed between merchant and customer. It is true that as the individual business has grown there has been a change in the relations between the merchant and customer, but it has resulted in no loss to either. Business in its new complex and greatly magnified form is still conducted on a personal basis. The customer can still buy from a "name," not a "counter," and the merchant, as much today as ever in the past, does business with "persons," not with mere "customers." Such relations between customer and merchant make business mutually pleasant for both patron and business man. The change that has taken place in the personal side of business is that trained and dependable clerks now represent the merchant in the personal relationship. The customer can not always buy direct from the proprietor as in the days of the proprietor-and-errand-boy store. Business has outgrown that. Today the clerk is acquainted with the wants of the individual customer and the customer seeks out the clerks with whom they are acquainted and in whom they have confidence.

Every business man realizes today that he has valuable assets in those men and women back of his counters who "know" his trade and in whom his trade has confidence. Even banks recognize this factor in business.

MORE THAN MONEY

E. T. Meredith, publisher and managing editor of Successful Farming, in a recent issue of his magazine has well said that it takes "more" than money to advertise. It takes more than merely cost to be an advertiser.

Back of successful advertising there must be integrity. Merchandise must be what it is claimed to be. It must do what it is supposed to do. The manufacturer must have the disposition to do more—to save his customers by developing new sources of satisfaction.

In a business developed through advertising, public goodwill is too valuable to be jeopardized by out-of-date policies or products. Leaders are able to maintain their leadership only by continuing to lead, which calls for unceasing improvement.

As a result, purchasers of advertised goods usually receive better value—articles that are more highly perfected, that reflect the latest advances of science, saving time, labor, money or promoting comfort, pleasure and convenience.

Advertisers, because the value of good will increases in proportion to the scope of business, must go farther to insure the satisfaction of the customer or final user of their products. Only a few years ago many advertisers featured their guarantee as prominently as the merchandise. Today a guarantee of satisfaction is so generally assumed that it is seldom mentioned. We have reached the point, in fact, where in reliable publications, every advertising statement has the same force as the guarantee of recent memory.

Yes, it takes a great deal more than money to practice the Golden Rule.

HAPPINESS IN WORK

The morning tells the intelligent man many things. Generally, it rules his day. If it starts wrong for him, the day is spoiled. A tired feeling or headache in the morning tells him he is unwell or is burning the candle at both ends. A dislike on the part of a healthy man, for beginning the work of the day is usually a sure indication he is not in the right physical and mental condition or not in the right place. There is something radically wrong with the habits, health or occupation of the worker who is no longer eager to tackle the problems and tasks of the day. An honest man is entitled to happiness in his work. It is the one sure sign that he has found his true vocation. Love for one's work is as natural as love for one's family. Without it few succeed and none is contented.

LAUDS TELEPHONE AS AID IN FLOOD FIGHT

New Orleans Weather Man Based Forecasts on Data Obtained by Long Distance

Dr. I. M. Cline, meteorologist in charge of the government weather bureau at New Orleans, who was credited by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, with having saved the lives of thousands of people through his flood forecasts, pays a high tribute to the telephone and the part it played in the battle with the Mississippi flood. Says Dr. Cline:

"If the telephone system had never done anything else in all of its fifty years, it would have earned all the credit it could possibly receive for the assistance it has rendered in this single phase of flood work during the present year. The bulletin which Dr. Cline issued to the people of the stricken area were based to more or less extent upon information gathered at points up the river and transmitted by telephone to the state headquarters in New Orleans, whence they were communicated to the weather bureau."

In Splendor, Venice Surpassed All Cities

In Venice of the sixteenth century luxury and splendor surpassed all bounds; never before at any time nor in any city were religious ceremonies, victories, the conclusion of peace, the visits of foreigners, or the marriages of illustrious persons, celebrated with greater pomp and magnificence. Those in the occupations of cloth makers and drapers reaped huge fortunes, for on nearly every gala occasion miles of rich new fabric were used and visitors to the city were rendered speechless by the matchless spectacle. There was a great rivalry among the nobles to see who could appear in the processions in the most expensive robe of gold and velvet, while the richness and the bangles from balcony and carpets spread for the feet of the hour's hero strove to make themselves seen among the profusion of flowers. The countless flushing candles and the play of color. When some magnificent occasion of this sort was not in progress Venice was not permitted to be dull for a moment—there was always some carnival of merry-makers on the streets and masquerades were so common they became a nuisance and met with decrees forbidding them. —Detroit News.

Feminine Deities

The first images of gods carved out by primitive men everywhere seem to have been feminine deities. Four little clay figures found in Arizona show that prehistoric American Indians carved feminine fetiches just as did Stone Age savages.

London Cats

Thirty thousand starving cats are rescued from London streets every year. They are painlessly killed, their skins being used for muffs and gloves. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Take Burden Off Daddy

According to Chinese custom the wife's family is to provide a certain amount of baby clothes, shoes and caps for the first-born. Rich families usually supply everything for the child for five or ten years. The wife will be looked down upon by her husband's people if her own family cannot furnish plenty of clothes.

Pertinent Inquiry

Negroes' Dislike of Hound

The southern negroes hate the hound. They say it used to be a close guard watchdog which Adam left to guard the gate of Paradise, but it went bit and let the old devil out. Then the Lord said it should be a dog and always starving, so to bear a hound is a bad sign.

Result Worth the Cost

Beaded Frocks and Delicate Bouffant Gowns
Worn by Players in New Film "Becky"
Starting Thanksgiving Day, Ann Arbor, Arcade

Both the sophisticated beaded frock and the quaint bouffant evening gown are in the smart wardrobe worn by the featured players in "Becky," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film coming to the Arcade. Charming Sally O'Neil wears the smart period evening gown sponsored by Paris for this season's wear. The skirt of this gown is of tulle and the bodice is of satin. A wide berthe of silver lace trims the bodice. For evening wear Miss Olmsted chooses a stunning wrap of silver cloth shot with lavender and trimmed with two large velvet flowers, the petals of which are lined with silver cloth.

Critic Gives Praise To "The Way Of All Flesh",
Coming Sunday To Arcade Theatre, Ann Arbor

"The world's greatest character actor in the most painstakingly perfect characterization of his life." The soft lights in the studio projection room flashed on like a mechanical dawn following the final fadeout on the screen; for a few poignant seconds there had been absolute silence. Then the voice again in the half-light; a whisper like an echo: "A perfect performance."

The tribute came from a nationally known motion picture critic—a man who has seen more films, good, bad, and impossible, than any other person connected with the industry. It was made in the laboratory projection room of Paramount's West Coast Studio. The critic had just witnessed a preview of "The Way of All Flesh" in which Emil Jannings, the supreme international film artist, makes his American debut.

Jannings has portrayed a character in that picture who will live as a vivid, appealing and mighty personality for all time; the critic continued as he turned to his companion. And then this connoisseur of the screen started analyzing what he had just witnessed. Point by point, scene by scene he went over the picture, looking for some one or two things he could decide upon as having the greatest bearing in establishing its pre-eminence. Finally he chose a word.

"It is its simplicity, its humanness, its stark realism; the faithful manner in which it tells the big dramatic moment that came into the life of a kindly, common man," he said. "Wherever that picture is shown it will create thought and comment; it will send people from the theatre, silent and wondering, in an introspective mood. I feel that I have seen the summit, the masterpiece, of the motion picture maker's art."

This wonderful picture, acclaimed everywhere as one of the finest films of the year will be shown at the Arcade Theatre, Ann Arbor, next week, starting Sunday.

Belle Bennett, the star of "Stella Dallas" and Phyllis Haver, who made fame and fortune for herself in "What Price Glory," head the supporting cast. "The Way of All Flesh" was directed by Victor Fleming, producer of "The Rough Riders." Donald Keith and Fred Kohler play important parts.

Deceptive Moon

The moon's halo is deceptive, and no wise man judges tomorrow's weather by it. Although the halo often appears before a storm, the storm does not wait for the halo and frequently comes unannounced. There are such things as "clearing" halos, when the halos precede good weather. As someone has observed, "You can only really know it's raining when it's wet."

Made Famous by Ballard

"Clear of Bray" was the name given to the person in Berkshire, England, who is said to have twice changed his creed and allegiance in order to suit the political changes of uncertain times. He is the subject of a humorous old English ballad.

EUR BUYERS WARNED.

Persons are warned against engaging in the buying and selling of fur until they have informed themselves concerning the provisions of Act 185 of the Public Acts of 1927. The law referred to prohibits the dealing in furs of beaver, otter, marten, mink, muskrat, skunk, raccoon, fox, weasel and many other animals unless the dealer first secures a license from the state department of conservation, a bond being required for all buyers who do business outside the immediate place of residence. Heavy fines and penalties are imposed upon all who fail to comply with the act or are found dealing in any fur not caught by legal means and with the prescribed open seasons.

Look Upward

Looking back is almost always weak self-indulgence; very often it is due to self-pity, the curse of humanity. It damps courage, it demoralizes the spirits. Looking forward braces them up, occupies the thoughts pleasantly, strengthens the intellect to plan and the hands to do. Look for plan and the hands to do. Look forward, not back! Upward, not downward!

Sun's Imminence

The sun, which is by no means a large star, as stars go, could easily contain within its boundaries the entire earth and moon and the distance between them, says the Scientific American. In fact, three systems like that consisting of earth and moon could be strung out in a row through the center of the sun, without coming within 50,000 miles of its surface on either side.

Earliest Form of Paper

Papyrus is a kind of rush reaching sometimes to a height of 10 feet, found in marshy districts of Abyssinia, Palestine and Sicily. In Egypt, where it is now rare, it once supplied the paper used for papyrus writings. Up to the Tenth century Egypt was the main source of Europe's supply of paper.

Hobart Bosworth
Coming In "The Blood Ship"

Ever since that memorable day in 1909 when Hobart Bosworth stepped before the first camera ever to film a motion picture in Los Angeles, he has been one of the most popular and enduring figures on the screen. As he has never contributed any but excellent portrayals of his hundreds of roles, we have come to expect something great from him every so often. This realization occurs, it appears, every seven years.

Fourteen years ago he produced his memorable "Sea Wolf," from that mighty saga of the seas by Jack London. This was considered the greatest sea picture ever filmed until seven years later to the very month when Bosworth produced for Thomas H. Ince the epic of wartime seas, "Behind the Door." Not only did Bosworth stand again the acknowledged master of the sea pictures, but this powerful drama also made Wallace Berry famous as a villain and screen personality. He was the Hun submarine captain whom Bosworth skinned alive in revenge for the horrible death of his captive wife. "Behind the Door" duplicated the tremendous success of "The Sea Wolf."

Today, seven years later, again to the very month, Hobart Bosworth stands once more before the picture world as the master of the sea. In "The Blood Ship," which story by Norman Springer he owned and persuaded Harry Cohn, of Columbia, to produce, Bosworth has a worthy successor to his previous epic of the sea. "The Blood Ship" is being received as one of the biggest successes of the season in every city in these United States.

What an odd coincidence too that Hobart Bosworth should have saved his costume of the "Sea Wolf" to use seven years later in "Behind the Door" and 14 years later in "The Blood Ship."

"The Blood Ship" will be shown at The Princess Theatre, Chelsea, for 8 days, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 29, 30, December 1.

Arctic Tern

Although the golden plover makes a longer continuous flight than any other bird, the Arctic tern travels farther, breeding far North. It winters on the edge of the Antarctic continent, 11,000 miles away. Incidentally, it enjoys more hours of sunlight in a year than any other living creature.

"To the People of Michigan:
From Thanksgiving Day to Christmas for the livestock year, you will be asked voluntarily to buy tuberculosis Christmas Seals.

With the funds realized from the sale of these seals is carried on the work of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated branches. In view of the fact that there are probably 40,000 living cases of active tuberculosis in Michigan, the people of this State have an intense interest in the furtherance of the work of this organization. To prevent needless death is a noble act. Such is the purpose of the tuberculosis Christmas Seal for which I earnestly bespeak your generous support."

HAPPINESS IN WORK
The morning tells the intelligent man many things. Generally, it rules his day. If it starts wrong for him, the day is spoiled. A tired feeling or headache in the morning tells him he is unwell or is burning the candle at both ends. A dislike, on the part of a healthy man, for beginning the work of the day is usually a sure indication he is not in the right physical and mental condition or not in the right place. There is something radically wrong with the habits, health or occupation of the worker.

Mr. Straub was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, February 3, 1855. He came to this country where in 1885 he was united in marriage to Mrs. Louise Fauser, who survives him. To this union were born nine children, seven of whom are living. They are: Carl and Arnold Straub, of Waterloo; Mrs. Amelia Maurer of Jackson; Mrs. Fred Haffey of Sylvan; Mrs. Edward Angemyer of Clinton; Mrs. Lyle Gilson of Onstead and Mrs. Chas. Hamilton of Waterloo, and several step children.

SCHOOL OFFICERS' MEETING TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY

The school officers of Washtenaw county will hold a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. building directly across from the Court House, Ann Arbor, Wednesday, November 30, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

C. Lloyd Goodrich, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, will address the officers on different phases of school law and will be glad to explain such parts of the law as may be requested.

As the law provides for the payment of the traveling expenses of each officer attending the meeting, it is hoped that a full attendance may be present.

Miss Cora L. Haas, Commissioner of Schools, is sending letters to all school officers announcing in full the meeting.

TURKEY DINNERS, FAMILY GATHERINGS FOR THURSDAY

Keeping in mind the original purpose for which Thanksgiving day was established by the Pilgrim forefathers, most folks of Chelsea and vicinity, as well as throughout the country, will observe the day in a more material way with family gatherings and turkey dinners. Thursday will indeed be a festive occasion.

Butchers have made ample provision for every taste with the slaughter of a variety of fowl and other meats, and groceries are stressing the kind of food which appeals on this first of the fall holidays. As usual cranberries are playing an important part in the menu which will tempt diners tomorrow, no Thanksgiving dinner being complete without the tartness of this fruit to accompany the turkey or chicken, whichever graces the table.

A generous portion of prosperity and happiness has been the privilege of most everybody hereabouts and it is fitting that the spirit of the day be not forgotten in enjoyment of the more material and self-satisfying custom of eating to the limit.

NORTH LAKE

The Wesleyan Guild of the University of Michigan is sending out a double quartet which will have charge of the services Sunday morning, November 27, at 11:45. Sunday school will convene at 10:45. Everyone is urged to be present at both services.

Eyes of Plants
Of course we know that trees have circulation, not of blood, but sap, that goes upward in the spring and downward in the autumn. It has been demonstrated also that plants have eyes, certain epiphyllums being really convex lenses filled with clear sap that brings the light rays to a focus somewhere within the cells. These little lenses are able to form images just as the eyes of insects do.

There are flowers whose common names have become a poem in all ears that know English poetry: cowslip, primrose, pansy, carnation, violet, mayflower—well, know them well. Probably the most valuable and interesting of all the Russian crowns was the one made in 1762 for Catherine II by Baubz, a celebrated jeweler of the day. Since the time of Catherine this crown has been used at the coronation of all the rulers of Russia.

Sound Advice
Some young fellows think that it is "smart," "clever," and a sign of bravery to drive near the edge of a precipice, to spend what cash they have freely; and to be a good fellow and take the risk some one else urges upon them. This is the sign of inexperience and lack of real business knowledge and experience. Play safe, keep clean. Be strong. Be true, and you will never regret it.—Exchange.

ST. PAUL'S BIRTHDAY PARTY IS DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

The birthday party given by the ladies of St. Paul's Auxiliary last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Luick of Lima, was a delightful affair. The lovely fall chrysanthemums throughout the house, seemed to bring back the lovely fall weather in spite of the almost zero weather outside.

Sixty-three members answered roll call, with seven visitors, which made a jolly crowd. After the usual business program, Mrs. Paul Niehaus gave two beautiful vocal solos, "In Memory Divine" and "A Picture".

Immediately following, the hostess asked all to the dining room to be seated around a gorgeous laden table. Then as each one read a verse on her place card, she was served to a delicious Thanksgiving dinner of creamed chicken, cranberries, pumpkin pie and all the trimmings that go with such a dinner. Needless to say that it was enjoyed by all, as well as the large white, pink and silver birthday cake which was made by Mrs. Charles Paul, for the following guests of honor: Mrs. Walter Beutler, Mrs. Adam Paist, Miss Cora Feldkamp, Miss Hilda Gross, Mrs. H. Lehman, Mrs. O. Lindauer, Mrs. E. Loeffler, Mrs. Fred Loeffler, Mrs. Chas. Meserve, Mrs. Pleteneier, Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. A. Schairer, Mrs. H. Schumacher, Mrs. A. Widmayer, Mrs. Elsie, Mrs. Christ Loeffler, Mrs. E. Adams, Mrs. Thelen, Mrs. Kate Niehaus, Mrs. Lizzie Chapell, Mrs. J. Hinderer, Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Grabowski.

Thus again the Auxiliary met in that great fellowship spirit, of good cheer, to wish the above many more birthdays and much happiness in the coming years.

WHATEVER kind shines upon you and wherever its beams find you, may you be secure in the companionship of friends and loved ones, with heart lightened by happiness and face glowing with smiles as you realize to its fullest the supreme joys of the Christmas season.

Although it is our hope and aim to spread cheer and good will through all the days of the year, we find special delight in giving expression to the feeling that is within us and give glad welcome to the opportunity offered by the Yuletide season to broadcast our greetings.

We are thinking, too, of what our patrons have meant to us in the years past. You are our friends. For you we are constantly striving, thinking, planning. To merit the confidence you exhibit by entrusting your business to us is our highest ambition.

Today, as we look to the year ahead, we find ourselves imbued with a new spirit of service, renewed determination to press on and to make our business go beyond your expectations—to press closer to the ideal of service and the maximum in value and quality.

We trust that we may be privileged to serve you in 1928 that we may put into practice the sentiment herein expressed.

We would not forget in this yuletide message to our friends everywhere to add a word of appreciation for patronage of the year now drawing to a close and to wish you a very happy and prosperous new year as well.
