REV. FR. T. J. FALLON WILL TAKE PASTORATE IN DETROIT

Pastor of St. Mary's Has Directed Parish Affairs For Past Four Years; Successor Not Named.

After four years as pastor of the congregation of St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. T. J. Fallon will go to Detroit next week where he will assume the pastorate of a new parish on the east side of the city on the Six Mile road, between Annot and Rowe streets. Rev. Fallon's announcement of his withdrawal from the local pastorate has come as a surprise to members of his congregation as well as the community at large, and his removal will be accompanied by keen regret among a large circle of friends.

Fr. Fallon closes one of the most successful pastorates the local church has ever enjoyed. A man of keen foresight and rare executive ability, he with the aid of his membership, carried on an extensive program of building and financing which has placed St. Mary's in a most prosperous condition. During the four years of his leadership, the church has raised more than $75,000, a large portion of which has been paid toward the new school building, erected in place of the old one which was destroyed by fire three years ago. This amount does not include the insurance received from the burned building. In addition to erection of a new school building and auditorium, the parish this last summer did considerable renovating and remodeling of the church building, adding much to its beauty and attractiveness. Considerable improvement was also made in the church residence.

In spite of the many improvements and heavy expense entailed by the building program, Rev. Fallon leaves the parish with a debt of only $4,728 on the new school, which, in the face of what has been accomplished, is small indeed.

Aside from his parish duties Rev. Fallon has been active in community affairs. While regretting his departure from Chelsea, local folks are one in wishing him continued success in his Detroit charge. His successor as pastor of St. Mary's has not yet been announced.

FORMER RESIDENT BADLY BURNED BY GASOLINE BLAZE

Ernest Welch, of 1 mile north of Dexter, and a former resident of Chelsea, was badly burned Sunday night, when a pan of ignited gasoline spilled over him as he was carrying it out of his home. A son, Floyd, had gone into the garage which is attached to the house, and threw a match into the pan of gas which he mistook for water. His screams brought the mother who started with the pan of gas through the kitchen, where she was met by the father who attempted to relieve her of the pan and contents. In so doing the ignited fluid spilled over him, burning his clothing from knees to chest. He was taken to University hospital, Ann Arbor, where he is reported resting easily and thought to be out of danger.

BUICK QUINTETTE ADDS TWO VICTORIES TO SEASON'S GAME

Clinton and St. Joseph's, Jackson, Put Up Fast, Clean Games With Local Five; Adrian Here Tuesday.

Daniels' Buick Quintette chalked up two more victories during the past week when, on Friday evening, they went to Clinton and returned with a score of 36 to 19 in their favor, and on Tuesday evening of this week they met the St. Joseph team from Jackson, on the home floor with the final score 26 to 27 in Chelsea's favor.

Both games were exceedingly fast and clean. Unfortunately, Madden turned his ankle during the opening minutes of play at Clinton and it has forced him from the game for some time. In spite of this handicap the locals are showing the public a rare brand of basket shooting and fast passing.

The game here Tuesday evening was one of the cleanest games ever played on a local floor. It was the 13th game for St. Joseph's five, they having piled up 12 consecutive victories previous to that time, and it proved unlucky for the Jackson men. At the end of the first quarter, the score stood 8 to 5 for Chelsea, at the half 12-8, while at the three-quarters mark the count was 21-16 in favor of Chelsea.

Next Tuesday evening the Buick Quintette will take on another team which hasn't lost a game so far this season. Chelsea fans will have an opportunity to see the Fireside Industries Five, from Adrian, in action. This team is a member of the Michigan-Ohio Industrial League and has been making a wonderful record of playing this season. The local management is fortunate in securing them for Tuesday evening. A preliminary game will be played at 7:30 between St. Mary's team and the C. O. Class of the Methodist church.

In the preliminary game the C. H. S. Quintet edged out a two-point victory over the Carry On Class of the Methodist church. The High squad took an early lead in the first half, this period ending 10-6 in their favor. In the last half the church team came back with a stronger offense and the regular playing time ended a tie at 14.

At this point and because of the lateness of the hour, both teams agreed that the first point made should decide the game and Dancer of the high-school team, tossed a long one from the middle of the floor, ending the game at 16-14.

Summary:

C. H. S., Field Goals: Fahrner 2, Sandeck 1, Dancer 3, Weber 2. Foul goals: Fahrner 2, C. O. C., Field Goals: W. Alexander 4, Van Gieson 2; Fouls: Conk 1, A. Alexander 1.

HOME FURNISHING CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The North Sylvan Home Furnishing club held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Bretschneider of Chelsea.

Because of the extreme cold a hot luncheon was served before the meeting. The ladies were then called to order and the meeting turned over to the local chairman who gave a short review of the previous meeting. Then placing a color chart on the wall, Mrs. Ives taught harmonizing colors and combinations of colors. Suggestions were made proper colors to use in rooms of northern or of southern exposure, and dark or light rooms. Inviting the members to follow, she led the way to the kitchen where instructions in the art of dyeing were given.

Smoking Expenses

Husbands! Wives! Here's some news. The cigar and cigarette bill, an erstwhile cause of many a domestic argument, is only a minor part of the cost of smoking. The most important item in the nation's smoking bill is charged to the smoke that goes up chimneys.

From a mellow cigar or fragrant cigarette, pleasure can be subtracted from the debit column, but chimney smoke is a total loss. And yet you pay dearly for every curling wisp that darkens the heavens, pay in actual dollars and cents, in economic waste, in health.

Cut down smoke expenses at your house, in your town. Use Gas for all fuel needs, and you get value received, full use, from everything you pay for. Nothing goes up in smoke. Nothing is charged to total loss. Gas is the only part of fuel that burns. Think it over. Talk it over with your neighbors.

'PROSPECTING'

Little pieces of yellow ore found in a ditch started the California gold rush. Glimmering specks of dirt found on a river bank in Alaska gave birth to the stampede for gold in the Yukon. All the great oil booms in Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Texas and California came from spurts of black liquid from holes in the ground. Strike oil or kick up a nugget of gold and in unbelievable time the news will have traveled to the far corners of the globe to make its source a focus for hordes of fortune hunters.

But why go to such rare things as gold rushes and oil booms for illustrations of man's treasure-hunting instinct when every day there are communities demonstrating it anew, though in less picturesque and smaller way? These are the cities and towns, affording advantages which advertise themselves. Good wages and employment are the "ore" and industrial and business opportunities are the "gold" that bring to these communities new citizens, new industries, new business and greater prosperity.

Every community has its "vein of gold" or its "oil gusher," but many, like Russia and Mexico, have failed to develop their rich resources. While they have stumbled, albeit fretfully, others have begun "prospecting" and broadcasting to the world the treasures they have found. Community prospecting always produces "paying dirt." There is not a community, not excluding the mightiest metropolis, that could not discover new mines and wells of community development merely by a little digging and drilling.

GOOD TASTE

At a convention of merchants it was the consensus of opinion that the taste of the American people has improved greatly in recent years and is still growing more discriminating. Save speakers at the convention gave most of the credit to newspapers, magazines, the radio, movies, schools and museums and their educational influence upon the general public.

Better taste among buyers imposes on manufacturers and merchants and their agents the solemn duty of keeping pace both with their products and their own powers of discrimination between what is in good and what is in bad taste. It behooves the retailer to educate his sales force, his advertising department and himself.

Those who produce or purvey the clothing, household furnishings, books, music and art objects to the public should come up to the popular standard, and if they can keep several jumps ahead of it both they and the buying public will gain by it.

But there are representatives of all groups which bear some influence on the public taste who do little or nothing to cultivate taste; some are themselves deplorable examples of lack of it. Nevertheless they exert an influence, undoing much of the good work accomplished by those who improve the public taste by improving their own. They account for some of the remarkably ugly but very fashionable things which still find buyers.

Much of the bad taste shown comes from believing it good taste to have immitable tastes or of having too implicit faith in the taste of others.

CONSTRUCTIVE

That community is indeed poor about which no good can be said, but poorer still is the citizen blinded by petty prejudices and self-interest that his criticisms of the home-town are many and never interspersed with approbation.

Just as every human being has faults, every community, which is but a collection of human beings, has defects. But, considering the number of human failings, is it not surprising that the average city and town has so few shortcomings and can please so many?

In spite of these civic deficiencies there is not a community, not even the squalid frontier settlement, which, if it should count noses, would find its knockers exceeding in numbers its boosters. Would one say those who are blind to their town's disadvantages are more nearsighted than those who cannot see its advantages?

There would be less knocking if the knockers realized that a community is just what its citizens make it and that it is a confession of personal weakness to diagnose the home-town as incurably sick and decrepit. By their fault-finding they admit they have failed to do their part in making their town fit their ideal of what a community should be.

That citizen best serves his community who is unflinching in his praise when praise is due and who is fearless in his condemnation of those things to be condemned. Constructive

The peanut is the fruit of a spreading herb which belongs to the same order of plants as the bean and the pea.

Early Coeducation

Coeducation dates from the establishment of free elementary and secondary schools in the United States, beginning about 1820. The first institution for collegiate instruction admitting both men and women was Oberlin Collegiate Institute, opened in 1833.

Unsatisfactory Basis

The fate of a nation has often depended upon the good or bad digest of a prime minister. —Voltaire.

BREVITIES.

JACKSON—The value of the Jackson public school property is placed at $4,788,850.

JACKSON—An officer from Selfridge field will inspect the Reynolds Municipal airport and will make a report setting forth the necessary improvements to make it suitable for the landing of planes. —Tribune.

ANN ARBOR—More than 100 Ann Arbor engineers are expected to attend the third annual State Engineering Conference January 27 and 28 in Detroit. Louis E. Ayres, of this city, is general chairman.

MANCHESTER—Our citizens are not willing to wade through snow when it can be avoided by prompt use of the snow shovel. The most of them cleared their walks of snow frequently during the late storm, at least made a path through it. —Enterprise.

NORTHVILLE—City officials have installed a number of stop signs at some of the paving intersections about town. It is their purpose to rigidly enforce the stop regulations. It is pointed out that nearly all accidents at corners can be avoided if traffic regulations are followed. —Record.

ADRIAN—With the payment of $1,082.90 to cover December claims, the Lenawee county rat bounty was discontinued yesterday. Bounties on English sparrows totaling $1,019.44 were paid. The county will continue to pay two cents each for sparrows' heads.

ANN ARBOR—James Galbraith, chairman of the board of supervisors, the representative of the seventh ward, and Edward Foster, Ypsilanti township supervisor were selected by the board last week to represent Washtenaw county at the annual convention at Lansing on February 7, 8 and 9. The board agreed to pay the expenses of any other supervisor who was able to attend.

SALINE—A pleasant social gathering was held in the Federated church Saturday evening, when members of the society tendered a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brenion, who left on Wednesday for their new home in Santa Monica, California. The guests of honor were presented a beautiful console set as a memento of the occasion. The best wishes of hosts of friends accompany them on their journey to the land of sunshine. —Observer.

BROOKLYN—Vineyard, Wampers and Clarks lakes are dotted with fishing coops celebrating the re-opening of spearing for pike as a legal process and good sport. A good ten pound pike will sell for about $2, but it is worth ten times that amount to watch the long nosed fish slide slowly in to take your decoy and then slam a spear fast enough to keep the fish from changing its mind. There are long hours of waiting for such a chance and most of big fish are high hat and suspicious of strangers. —Exponent.

PINCKNEY—The opening of Pinckney's new community hall which was scheduled for this week Friday has had to be postponed a week. Certain new parts had to be ordered for the furnace. Those were made by the Peninsula Stove Co. of Detroit and they were completed last Friday night. However owing to the drifted condition of the roads for the past few days it was found impossible to get them brought here until today. The work of putting the furnace in shape will not be completed before Friday night so it was decided to postpone all events including the basketball game with Howell. —Dispatch.

SOUTH LYON—Trusana Farm

Sites, located between South Lyon and New Hudson is to be opened soon by M. W. Truss and associates of Detroit who have acquired more than a thousand acres of land for the purpose. It is said 600 complete home sites of two acres each are to be offered the public in the spring and surveyors are now at work with the prospect of houses under construction at that time. Farms included in the development are the L. R. Hunter farm, the old Lovewell homestead later the property of Mrs. Richard Tapp, 40 acres of the Chas. Tapp farm, the Hopp and Townsend farms, and 40 acres back of the Townsend farm, formerly the property of L. R. Hunter. The property has a frontage of about a mile on South Lyon-New Hudson road. —Herald.

YPSILANTI—Tramps and other transients allowed to sleep in the basement of this city hall have numbered 358 since October 1, according to Walter Herrick, caretaker, who handles the jail and "sleepers" room. November showed the largest monthly total of city hall roomers with 122. December 1 saw the largest number handed during a single night, when 16 were allowed to stay. Eight of the number, however, were high school boys from a neighboring town, who were held by a patrolman for disorderly conduct in a Ypsilanti theatre. They were released early the following morning. During the first five nights of the month 25 have slept in the basement. On only five nights in the last three months has the basement been untenanted. Nine were lodged there during the night of October 22. Tramps are not permitted to stay there more than two nights in a month.

Chair Too Valuable to Consign to Attic

The guest sat down in a comfortable-looking rocking chair, but immediately his feet flew up in the air. "Take another chair, take this one," urged his hostess. "That chair is very uncomfortable."

"Why in the world do you keep that chair in this room?" growled Friend Husband. "No one can sit in it with ease. Why don't you put it in the attic?"

"Because no one can sit in it with ease," replied Friend Wife. "You've given the reason yourself. It's for those guests, callers, whom I don't wish to be at ease. I engineer it so they'll sit there and their calls are much shortened thereby. If anyone I like happens to get into that chair, it is an easy matter for me to insist that he or she change for a comfortable chair. Oh, my, yes, that uncomfortable chair has saved me many hours of boring talk." —Springfield Union.

Mammoth Cave Wonders

Both Green and Nolin rivers, in the Mammoth cave, are points of interest for the fisherman, the swimmer, the canoeist, the motorboat fan, and for any other to whom the flow of clean, limpid waters is a lure. Green river is said to be the deepest river for its size in the world; at some points, in fact, it is said to have a depth of 80 feet. Into it flow the underground streams, such as Echo river and the River Styx, from the great caverns. Both streams, through the ages, have cut gorges of exquisite beauty, rivaling, in fact, anything of the sort to be found in the world. Nolin river in one spot has cut its way through cliffs said to be more impressive than the palisades of the Hudson river. These are but a few of the natural phenomena and scenic beauties to be found in the area.

Odd Ornaments in Parks

In many of the public parks and private gardens of Europe figures of animals and queer birds, turtles and frogs are interspersed with quaint little gnomelike figures, all executed in terra cotta. The figures are placed in various positions among the flowers and shrubs and resemble little illustrations of fairy tales.

Hail and Snow

Hail and snow are simply forms of water and there is nothing about them that is used in making explosives. The verses of the Bible frequently referred to in this connection do not indicate they are used for explosives: "Hail thou entered into the treasures of the snow or hast thou seen the treasures of the hail, which I have reserved against the time of trouble, against the day of battle and war?" These lines, put into the mouth of the deity, refer to man's ignorance and weakness against the natural forces of snow and hail.

The Bright Side

"Well, there's one nice thing about my wife," in the cross-roads store announced Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge.

"Spring it!" said the proprietor of the emporium. "What's the answer?" "She's so long and thin that if she fell into the well I don't reckon it would take more'n about three of the kids to pull her out with me a-bossing the job." —Kansas City Star.

SCHOOL NOTES

Chelsea's second out-of-town basketball game will take place Friday evening, January 18, when both boys' and girls' high school teams and the Reserves team will meet those of Saline. Two games are scheduled for the coming week. Wednesday evening, January 18, both of the high school teams will compete with Napoleon's players and on the following Friday, January 20, Saline's teams will play their return games. All these contests will be hard fought and a record crowd is anticipated.

Reviews for the first semester's school work are being given and which are to be followed by the exams.

A preliminary game was staged at Dexter last Friday night between the Dexter Scouts and the Chelsea High School Reserves. The score was 10-0 with the Reserves leading the way. The game was the first win for the Reserves and they were unquestionably the better team. The score was low because the floor was small and the roof was too low. The entire Reserve squad got into the game. The Reserves displayed new suits in the game. They were blue and white. Chelsea will have a chance to see the new outfit in the next home game.

In the second game of the evening the C. H. S. girls went down to defeat. Both teams held their own in the first half, which resulted in a tie score, 7-7. Passwork on the part of our home team showed much improvement over the previous games. During the second half, many personal fouls were called on Chelsea, affecting the Dexter team a great chance to take the lead, as they quickly did. The playing floor was small and very slippery, proving a big disadvantage to the Chelsea girls. The score continued to increase for the Dexter girls, ending 15-9.

The big game of the evening was the game between the regulars of the two schools. Chelsea's five defeated Dexter High's cagers at Dexter by a 15-8 score. The first half ended with Chelsea in the lead 6-5. In the last half Chelsea got started and increased their lead, the game ending with Dexter 8 and Chelsea 15. Dexter made but one field goal during the game, the remaining 6 points being made on foul shots. The game was as good and fast as could have been expected.

LOCAL FARMERS INTERESTED IN SOILS FERTILITY

Several soil fertility study groups have been organized in the vicinity of Chelsea by County Agent Osler. These are organized on the local leader plan the same as the women's home economics extension work. Chelsea has two groups. The leaders of the eastern group are Leigh Beach and Jack Bradbury. George Satterthwaite and Fred Kennedy are the leaders of the western group. Leaders of these groups and the other 16 groups in the county met at Ann Arbor and received a lesson on soil acidity and liming from John Sims, soils specialist, Michigan State College, last week.

Bad weather and snow drifts interfered with the organization of groups in Lyndon, Sylvan and Sharon. However, Sylvan was represented at last Friday's meeting by Fred W. Notten, and the Sharon people Gottlieb Jacobs. The snow drifts were too deep for the Lyndon people to get through.

The County Agent expects to assist in completing the organization of these groups, and in giving the first lesson to the farmers who are enrolled.

The next meeting of local leaders at Ann Arbor will be February 9th and 10th at which time Mr. Sims will explain the relation of organic matter to soil fertility. The last two lessons will be devoted to a study of commercial fertilizers. In these meetings it is aimed to bring to the farmers the latest information on soils fertility work, and to discuss practical methods used in maintaining and improving the production of different farm crops. Mr. Osler reports that about 200 farmers have already enrolled in this work.

Large Mouth, Small Throat

The throat of the giant sperm whale is said to be large enough for the passage of an object about the size of a man's waist. The food consists largely of cuttlefish, but fishes no larger than the bonito, and the albacore are found in its stomach. The sperm whale is the only large whale which feeds upon fish. The blue whale, the largest animal alive today, reaching a length in excess of 80 feet, with a mouth so large that ten to twelve men could stand therein, has a throat about 8 inches in diameter.

Rather the Contrary

Carried away by the beauty of the heroine on the screen, he murmured, unconsciously, "Isn't she lovely!" "Every time you see a pretty girl you forget you're married," snapped his better half. "You're wrong, my dear; nothing brings home the fact with so much force."

LIMA HOME FURNISHING GROUP MET JANUARY 5TH

East Lima Class in Home Furnishing met January 5th with Mrs. Chas. Finkbeiner in Chelsea. After disposing of important miscellaneous business the members sat down at a table that fairly groaned with good things to eat. Following the dinner the regular work was taken up. Sixteen members were present. A review of the December lesson was given, followed by the regular lesson, harmony of colors, and unity in colors. Hue, tint and shades were all well brought out and explained by clipped mounted designs prepared by the local leaders, Mrs. Bradbury and Mrs. Parker.

Home dyeing was then explained, telling how to mix the different dyes to produce certain colors and how to change colors. This was explained and illustrated by a color wheel. This was a very difficult and complicated lesson but was very capably handled by the leaders.

At the close of the meeting plans were made to entertain the husbands of the members at a dinner at the February meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Leigh Beach.

MRS. H. E. HAYNES PASSED AWAY AT YPSILANTI

Mrs. Herbert E. Haynes, died at her home in Ypsilanti Saturday night, December 24, 1927.

Miss Martha Grace Light was born in Oneida, N. Y., 55 years ago. At the age of five years she came to Michigan with her parents, where she has resided for the past 50 years.

She was united in marriage with Herbert E. Haynes 37 years ago. For several years they resided in Dexter township on the farm best known as the Henry Wiley place. For the past five years their home has been in Ypsilanti.

She is survived by the husband, three children, Mrs. Ralph Matthews of Ypsilanti, Herbert M. and Raymond L. Haynes, both of Detroit, and three grandchildren of Detroit.

"Alas," sighed Alexander, "the world conquered and not a chance to get into the movies."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"Dangerous Business"

By EDWIN BALMER
Author of "That Royle Girl," etc.
"Dangerous Business" is first and last a powerful and absorbing novel. In addition, it depicts with challenging fidelity the rise of a new factor in American social life, a tendency which the reader will find interesting and important in the possibilities, dangerous and otherwise, which it involves.

Here is a drama of men and women caught in the present craze of entertaining for business advantage; a graphic and fast-moving novel of these times when personal "contacts" and the ability to bestow social favors become more important, in the race for prosperity, than business efficiency; a story of the complications that arise when a man not only entertains his customer but must cast his wife and family into the live-or-die struggle to "sell."

So widespread has this social custom grown of yoking together friendship with business that readers of "Dangerous Business" will find their own portraits or those of people they know in the characters of the story—in Lida, the young wife; or in Di, the party girl; in Ellen, the office girl; in Jay Rountree, Lew Alban, "Jello" or the Metten family.

The action starts on a business train—the Twentieth Century Limited; the events happen in New York, Chicago, on board the train, or on the Great Lakes where Mr. Balmer takes his readers to a tremendous scene of dramatic intensity, recalling the magnificent climax of "The Indian Drum" of ten years ago.

Notable Achievement

The power loom was invented in 1784 by Rev. E. Cartwright.

Two boys, 15 and 16 years old, were arrested Thursday in Manchester after the yhad stolen Waldo Kusterer's sedan from in front of his home on Wednesday night and partially wrecked it on the Manchester road later in the night. The car was abandoned and the boys proceeded into Manchester, where a robe taken from the car is said to have betrayed them. The youths, residents of Jackson, were arrested by a Manchester deputy and taken to Ann Arbor by Deputy Fred Looker. The car was brought back to Chelsea for repairs.

SHOT BY PATROLMAN, HELD FOR U. S. INQUIRY

William Baber, 29 years old, who was shot and slightly wounded in the right shoulder, by Patrolman Everett Tucker, of the River Rouge police, was being held with two other, Saturday by the immigration border patrol on suspicion that they entered the country illegally. The others are William Chippee, 32, and Frank Alec, 29. They are said to be natives of Poland. Oran Wilson, 1321 Vernor Highway east, suspected of having aided them, was also held for investigation.

Tucker said he fired at Baber when he refused to halt. With Patrolman Thomas Verellen, he said, he discovered the three men hiding among some bushes on Lakepark avenue, near the river. As the officers approached to question them, they ran, he said.

Patrolman Tucker is a son of M. and Mrs. Allen Tucker and a grandson of Mrs. Samuel Tucker of River Rouge.

A CORRECTION

Rev. C. L. Adams, of Milan, was the officiating minister at the funeral services of Mrs. Emily Glazier on Monday afternoon of last week, instead of Rev. W. J. Balmer and Rev. F. J. Walker as announced in last week's paper. The publishers are glad to make this correction.

Young Man in High Place

William Johnson of South Carolina was the youngest man who has ever been a member of the Supreme Court of the United States. He was born in Charleston on December 27, 1771, and was appointed an associate justice of the Supreme Court early in 1804 when he was only thirty-two years of age. He served on the bench until his death 30 years later.

Supreme Quality

Right is more beautiful than private affection, and is compatible with universal wisdom.—Emerson.

Good Nature

That inextinguishable good nature, which is itself the most precious gift of heaven, spreading itself like oil over the troubled sea of thought, and keeping the mind smooth and equable in the roughest weather.—Washington Irving

First Whites in Hawaii

Early Hawaii legends indicate that the first white men visited Hawaii 400 years ago. Many historians and scientists maintain that no white men were there before Capt. James Cook arrived in 1778, but the Hawaiian legends tell of the wrecking of a strange vessel and landing of several white men in 1527. It is pointed out that no white people except the Spaniards were cruising in the Pacific at that early period, and some historians think it entirely possible that the strange vessel was one of three sent out by Cortez from Mexico in an attempt to reach California.

Earliest Public Libraries

It is impossible to determine which was the first library in the United States supported by public funds and wholly free to its users. The earliest recorded gift of books to a municipality is that of Rev. John Sharp, who in 1700 bequeathed his library to the city of New York for the benefit of the people. The town library of Petersburg, N. H., formed through the efforts of Rev. Abel Abbot in 1833, appears to have been the first free library which has continued to the present day.

"Item Veto"

The President of the United States cannot veto a part of a bill passed by congress; he must veto the entire bill or none of it. On the other hand about three-fourths of the state constitutions give the governor power to veto or strike out separate items in appropriation bills. This is popularly called the "item veto."

Got Instrument That

Suited Whole Family

"An agent was at our house the other day trying to sell us a piano," said the fat plumber.

"Did you buy one?" The thin carpenter naturally asked the question.

"No, because my daughter is the only one in the house who can play a piano."

"And then he wanted me to buy a harp."

"I suppose you bought one."

"I did not. None of us can pick a harp."

"Did he try you on anything else?"

"Yes. Next he proposed a cornet, and when I didn't want that he suggested a ukulele."

"And you didn't take any of those?"

"No, but I told him I would come down to the store the next day and pick out something we could all play."

"And did you really do it?"

"I certainly did."

"What did you pick out?"

"A kazoo."—Youngstown Telegram.

Comet's Appendage

The tail of a comet is generally directed away from the sun, whether the comet is approaching the sun or receding from it. It is believed that the tail consists of extremely rarefied matter which is thrown off by the comet and then powerfully repelled by the sun. It is called the tail on account of its appearance.

Vividness of Writing

Made Herodotus

The true greatness of Herodotus is evidenced by the fact that his ways been readable. This is about 2,500 years ago, yet it is much more fascinating to read his dull and ponderous tomes than the more modern ones.

Many writers who have seen in their own generation have almost unthinkingly. Herodotus to write and to travel at all. These two interests appealed to him more than any in life and, fortunately, he carried them. He traveled through lands where Greek was Europe, Asia Minor and the Aegean. He traveled the sea, visiting lowlands and He saw Palestine, made a in Egypt, and in Europe he into the forest lands of the He talked with all sorts of expected the ruins of the fallen nations, noticed the differences quick to note the odd things tingled one people from but more interested in the subtle differences that parent. However, he writer than "historian," solid merits of his history because it is so beautifully vividly written.—Kansas City

Ann Arbor's Magnificent Institution

THE MICHIGAN

The best theatres get the best shows. This is an unbroken rule. The explanation is simple; the best theatres can afford to pay what the best costs.

More people go to the best theatre than to any other. The best theatre represents a larger investment than any other. All business pertaining to the operation of the best theatre is conducted on a larger scale. The best theatre is financially able to buy the best pictures; owners of the best pictures want them shown in the best theatres; and so the best is provided.

Every community has its best theatre, which is pointed out by residents to visitors as a prized possession of their community.

The MICHIGAN will be that kind of a theatre.
