FR. HENRY VAN DYKE TO BE NEW PASTOR AT ST. MARY'S

Members of St. Mary's parish in Chelsea have been advised that the Rt. Rev. Bishop Michael J. Gallagher, of Detroit, has appointed Fr. Henry Van Dyke as pastor of the local parish.

Rev. Van Dyke is well known here, having been pastor of St. Mary's for five years, from 1919 to 1924. During his former pastorate here Fr. Van Dyke made a host of friends among both Catholics and non-Catholics who join in wishing him every success in his latest field of labor.

RURAL TEACHERS HELD MONTHLY MEETING HERE

The Chelsea group of rural teachers met with Miss Haas, County Commissioner of Schools and Mrs. M. Robinson at Chelsea High School on Saturday, January 21 for their regular monthly meeting. History was outlined as the unit of the county program to be emphasized during the coming month. Part of the program was given over to Miss Edna Swigle, newly appointed field representative for the Junior Red Cross in Washtenaw County who outlined the aims and purposes of the organization.

INSURANCE COMPANY HELD ANNUAL MEETING THURSDAY

The annual meeting of the Northwestern Washtenaw Farmers' Mutual Life Insurance Company was held Thursday afternoon in the Sylvan town hall with a good attendance of stockholders present. The following officers were chosen:

W. B. Collins of Lyndon was elected president and A. J. Easton of Lima, secretary-treasurer. The directors chosen were Charles D. Johnson of Dexter township and Mason Whipple of Lima township.

The auditors were Nathaniel W. Laird of Sylvan and James Howlett of Lyndon.

ST. PAUL'S YOUNG FOLKS PLAY TO LARGE HOUSE

More Than Six Hundred People Listen to "The Singin' School" Tuesday Evening.

With between six and seven hundred persons in attendance, St. Paul's choir on Tuesday evening gave their presentation of "The Singin' School," a farce comedy in two acts. The play was given in the public school auditorium and all available seating capacity was filled, while some of the audience were compelled to stand during the performance. Proceeds of the evening, which reached a very satisfactory amount, will be used toward purchase of a piano for use in St. Paul's church.

The scene in Act I of the play was that of the rehearsal room of Low Hollar Choral Union, where the choir, under the direction of Prof. P. Percival Pippin, played by Paul Niehaus, was being put through their daily dozen in preparation for the big event when the choir in Act II gave their public performance before the committee of awards, Squire Grumpy and Mrs. Amanda Squagge, the parts being taken by Rev. P. H. Grabowski and Mrs. Wilbur Hindener. Among the pupils were about two dozen of St. Paul's young folks.

Between act numbers were given by Barbour's Lima Center Syncopeated Serenade Orchestra, composed of G. H. Barbour, W. C. Smith, Claude Rogers, Milda Lindauer and Paul Barbour.

Presentation of their annual play is always greeted by friends of the St. Paul's young people, who for a number of years have given the public a comedy treat from the show platform. In all their efforts they have given a lot of hearty laughter for the price of admission and the public returns home, as they did on Tuesday evening, well pleased.

PYTHIAN SISTERS INSTALLED OFFICERS TUESDAY EVENING

Following a scrub lunch supper, which was served at 6:30, the Pythian Sisters at their meeting Tuesday evening installed the following officers, with Josie Johnson as installing officer:

Past Chief—Florence Vickers. M. E. C.—May Luck. E. S.—Emma Vickers. R. J.—Neva Prudden. Manager—Iza Guerin. M. of R. and C.—Laura Hieber. M. of F.—Ethel Haselwerdt. Protector—Helen Kilmier. Guard—Martha Schumacher.

CAYANAUGH LAKE GRANGE

Cavanaugh Lake Grange will meet with Mr. and Mrs. John Miller Wednesday, February 1, at 11:00. Lunch at 12:00.

Song. Roll call—Facts about or quotations from Lincoln, Washington or Long fellow.

Reading—Mable Notten. Question box—Ransom Armstrong. The things that haven't been done before—Mrs. Walter Riemenschneider. Great achievements of recent times—By Walter Riemenschneider. Song.

FARMERS WILL TEST SKILL WITH RIFLES

Old timers who attended turkey shoots and tried to line their sights on the bobbing head of a gobbler years ago will have a chance to determine whether the passage of time has affected their skill, when they compete in rifle matches being arranged by the military department at Michigan State College for Farmers Week, January 30 to February 3.

The matches will be shot on the indoor range in the new demonstration hall. Shooting conditions will be more comfortable than they were at the old time shoots, but it is doubtful whether the interest in the score will be any more intense. Rifles and ammunition will be furnished for all entrants in the contest.

Other entertainment features will be mixed with the more serious side of the program all through Farmers Week. Band concerts, group singing and special stunts and exhibits of various kinds are listed for each day.

Women who attend the big conference will find a special program of their own under the "homemakers' section." Matching meeting for meeting, speaker for speaker, and exhibit for exhibit, the ladies will be busy all through the week, while the "men folks" are attending the more strictly agricultural sessions.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Dr. G. W. Palmer sincerely thank and appreciate the many acts of love and respect shown during their great and sad bereavement.

Lovingly,
Mrs. G. W. Palmer and family.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish by this means to extend our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kind sympathy and acts of kindness during our recent bereavement; for the beautiful flowers, the pastor for his comforting words and Mrs. Paul P. Niehaus.

CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION HELD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Chelsea Co-operative Association was held in the Sylvan town hall on last Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance of stockholders. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, George T. English; vice president, Charles D. Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Edna Cager; directors, Joseph L. Sibley, Mason Whipple, John Steinbach and Fred Riemenschneider.

The Association is in good financial condition and with rents due the balance of $200 on the building will be paid on April 1st. All membership fees should be paid by March 1st.

SCHOOL NEWS

The C. H. S. Reserves and the Saline Reserves put on a good preliminary. The game was a close one and provided many a thrill for the spectators. The scoring began when Griffin of C. H. S. sank a close-in shot. Saline soon tied the count and then took a field goal. However the quarter ended with the score 4 all as H. Holmes counted on a throw shot. The next quarter was quite tight, Chelsea making only one point on a free throw by H. Holmes. Albert Potts played a good game at center the last half. The Reserves got up steam the last half and won ten to eight. Stefan and Beutler played a good game at guards. The line-up and scoring: B. Foster and D. Holmes, forwards; H. Holmes, center; Griffin and Stefan guards. Scoring: Field goals, D. Holmes 1, Griffin 1, H. Holmes 2, foul goals, H. Holmes 2.

Friday night the High School Boys came out of a two game slump to drub Saline 16-14. The C. H. S. quintet played an inspired game which could not be beaten. All of the home boys were in fine condition and displayed some flashy pass work. Weber and Mayer at guard positions formed a barrier through which the Saline bunch could not break. Weber showed some fast work in recovering the ball once it got past the front line. Fahrner, Steiner and Dancer pierced the opposing defense many times to score a basket.

Chelsea was one basket in the rear as the half ended but soon made that up in the third quarter. Due to hard luck on the shooting end, the score does not tell as much about the game as it should. The defense was fine in the last half, Saline scoring only once. This victory means something, since Saline has a strong team.

The Chelsea girls were defeated in a very closely contested game, by the Saline Hi girls, score 8-7. The Saline team was leading throughout the first three quarters, but in the last period the C. H. S. girls pulled their store up to tie the opponents. The winning point came in the last minute of play. The game was a good one except for the fact that the girls, on both sides, had difficulty in finding the basket, keeping the score low. The line-up follows: r. Turnbull, lf. Steiner, je. Brooks, rg. Wheeler, rg. Dancer, lg. Jones. Substitutions: Hindelang for Jones.

Semester examinations are in progress in the high school. Watch for the underclassmen play which will be presented in a couple of weeks.

LARGE NUMBER ATTENDED HOWARD LUCK FUNERAL

The funeral services of Howard Luck, which was held at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Luck, of Lima, Saturday afternoon, January 21st, was largely attended by relatives and friends. Those who attended from out of town were: Mrs. O. G. Wood, Hart, Harold Luck, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Busch and family, Mrs. Wilbur McLaren and daughter, Ruth; Mrs. Grace Meyers, Gottlieb Luck and son Oscar, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Kaercher, Mr. and Mrs. Ottmar Kaercher, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Geleus, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Staebler, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Staebler, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Voorhis, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wurster, Mrs. Pauline Wurster, Merle Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Eschelbach, all of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gross and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Lombard and son of Saline; Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Bammiller, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bammiller and daughter Esther, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bammiller and son, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Beach and family, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Luck and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Geddes, Warren Geddes and daughter Anna, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Faust, Mrs. Charles Mohrlock, Mrs. Henry Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. George English, Mrs. Adams, Miss Ruth Dancer, all of Chelsea; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens, of Plymouth; Mrs. Sarah Easton, Homer, Mr. and Mrs. August Musolf, Stockbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Smith, of Dexter; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Esch, E. J. McKay, of Jackson.

"GOOSE BONE" PROPHETS

During the fall the weather prophets were about equally divided in "yearly winter" and "late winter schools." Now that winter is well on its three months' journey some goose-bone prophets foretell a cold, wet summer and others see a hot and dry season approaching. About next September the public will know which guess was the best.

It has been predicted that this is to be "a year without a summer," like 1816. A New York state diarist in 1816 recorded snow on June 6 and 8; freezing weather up to June 14, frost on June 28, backward crops in July because of unseasonable weather and frost on August 24.

There are many "signs" on which this unpromising prediction of a cold summer is based but the one most frequently cited is the recollection (its accuracy is not vouchsafed) that the six exceptionally warm summers preceded the frigid summer of 1816 and that during the last six summers temperatures east of the Rocky Mountains have been generally above normal. The theory is entertained that to compensate for the high temperatures there must be a season of unusually low thermometer readings.

There is too little known of the sequence of weather conditions over a long period of years to warrant the forming of such conclusions as the one-in-seven theory of the long distance weather forecasters. Much is said about "weather cycles," but the "prophets" seem to be unable to agree upon the time it takes to complete that cycle.

SKYSCRAPERS

Skyscrapers have been called economical. They have been called beautiful. They have been called a characteristic expression of the American spirit. Now they are praised for their health-giving qualities.

An advocate of taller skyscrapers contends it should be realized that the average length of life has increased more than ten years since the coming of the skyscraper.

This is a comforting reflection. Few denizens of the tall buildings have given a thought to the longevity unconsciously acquired by living in them. Now if only some way could be devised to make them twice as high, man—the city-dweller—might be able to add another ten years to his span.

If skyscrapers are to be given credit for added years, where does the decrease in infant mortality come in? Children are notoriously frowned upon in big apartments, and skyscrapers know them not.

That to which the skyscraper now lays claim has been previously claimed by sanitation engineers, plumbers, dairymen, developers of suburban real estate, automobile manufacturers, physical culturists, medicine, surgery, public health agencies, prohibitionists, and many other "humanitarian" institutions, individuals and movements.

Grant, for the sake of argument, that the skyscraper has added ten years to the average span of life, how many years has it taken off by multiplying traffic accidents? One of the strongest indictments of tall buildings is that they create traffic congestion. What does it avail one to wax healthy on the forty-eighth floor only to be killed in the traffic surging around the foot of the building?

NO RULE FOR LONGEVITY

Not every one will envy the Turk who says he has passed his one hundred and fifty-fourth birthday anniversary. When stories of this kind get about there is general marveling at the great age attained, curiosity about the methods used to accomplish it and a mixture of admiration and envy. But the wish is not to be so old, but to live so long.

There are always pessimists who find a gleam of cheer in these stories. They have at least one thing to be thankful for—they will not live to be as old as that. Life is hard, but few are compelled to support it beyond the century mark. That is their attitude when any one—a Turkish philosopher or a negro mammy—gravely tells of passing the century mark.

In the case of this aged wonder the old familiar statement on how he "got that way" is made. "I have never used alcohol or smoked." But an old darky who drank and smoked every day since he was ten years old claimed an age of 125 due to his indulgence.

The Turk may, of course, be mistaken about his age. With complete abstinence from the pleasures of vice, participation in four wars and in eleven marriages, he might be pardoned for imagining that he had lived longer than was actually the case. As for the darky, he probably enjoyed life so thoroughly that he thought so much fun could not have been crowded into less than a century. If you are looking for a moral, it is that there is no hard and fast rule for longevity. Not all the good die

Are You Overdoing?

Overwork Throws a Heavy Burden on the Kidneys.

OVERWORK, rich foods and stimulating drinks put extra burdens on our kidneys. When the kidneys slow up, impurities remain in the blood and are apt to make one languid, tired and achy, with dull headaches, dizziness and often nagging backache. A common warning is scanty or burning secretions.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's is a stimulant diuretic, increases the secretion of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed by users everywhere. Ask your neighbor.

Proof Positive

To avoid chartering a special car to ship 200 pounds of Limburger cheese, a manufacturer packed it in a rough oblong box and checked it as a corpse. At the first stop he went ahead to the baggage car to see that there was no trouble. He stood by the box in a disconsolate attitude and shaded his eyes with his hand. The baggage man was sympathetic. "A relative?" he asked.

"Yes, it's my brother."

"Well, you have one consolation. He's dead, all right."

Cruel Comment

A young woman, newly engaged, took her future husband to be "inspected" by a somewhat fearsome aunt who had the uncomfortable habit of invariably saying exactly what she thought.

As the young couple were leaving the aunt said to her niece:

"My dear, I'd rather have him for lunch than for life."

Song of Praise

"Hallelujah," or "Hallelujah" as it is sometimes spelled, literally means "Praise ye Jéhovah." It is a variation of the Hebrew word "Yehovah," a sing or exclamation of gratitude or praise to God is called a hallelujah.

Long Distance Rates are Surprisingly Low
... For Instance

for 50¢

Or Less, After 8:30 P. M.,

You can call the following points and talk for THREE MINUTES at the rates shown. Rates to other Michigan points are proportionately low.

FROM CHELSEA TO:	Night Station-to-Station Rate
GRAND RAPIDS	40
NILES	45
REED CITY	45
THREE OAKS	50
WHITE HALL	50
WHITE CLOUD	45
CADILLAC	50

The rates quoted above are Station-to-Station night rates, effective from 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

A Station-to-Station call is one that is made to a certain telephone, rather than to some person in particular, which would be a Person-to-Person call.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone.

Day rates, 4:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., and evening rates, 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., are higher than night rates.

A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rates on a Person-to-Person call is the same at all hours.

Additional rate information can be secured by calling the Long Distance operator

When the old folks love to spend the evenings before a warm fire, think what help and comfort a gas radiant heater would bring to them. Just to save Grandfather those cold trips back and forth to the wood pile or the coal bin and Grandmother that never-ending task of keeping the floor swept up around the stove would make the gift of a gas radiant heater more than welcome in the old home.

The party was sponsored by two aunts of Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Ed. Icholinger of Lansing, and Mrs. Ben Kuhl of Sharon, and was a complete surprise to the young couple. They received many useful presents. Refreshments were served and cards were the amusement for the evening.

About half a mile of telephone poles along the George Ward farm west of Chelsea, on US-12, were blown down in the snow and ice storm of Tuesday evening, as were a number of poles along the Cavanaugh Lake road between the Geo. Crafts home and Guthrie crossing. In the mix-up at the latter place telephone and high tension lines became entangled necessitating the services of Michigan Central, D. U. R. and telephone men until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning before the lines again became usable. Traffic generally was greatly slowed up, the pavements being extremely slippery and treacherous as a result of the storm.

Scientists Frown on

Idea of Divining Rod
Letters are frequently received by the geological survey, Department of the Interior, asking for the names and prices of the best makes of instruments guaranteed to find diamonds, gold, silver and other metals, and especially buried treasure. The claims of vendors of mineral rods and other devices said to be effective in locating precious metals and buried treasure are considered fraudulent by the geological survey. The dip needle or miner's compass has been used with some success in prospecting for iron and other magnetic ores, but the successful use of such an instrument requires considerable experience in surveying, together with the ability to make accurate mathematical observations and deductions. Various types of electrical prospecting devices, the seismograph and the torsion balance, have aroused considerable interest during the last few years. These devices, however, are most complicated and require the services of technical experts specially trained in their use. They would be of no service to one not versed in the principles of geology and physics.

Reverse Effect.
A paradox pointed out by the Arkansas Gazette is that a woman can defeat a man by knowing him up.—Boston Transcript.

Peril in Restlessness

A restless mind, like a rolling stone, gathers nothing but dirt and mire. Little or no good will cleave to it; and it is sure to leave peace and quietness behind it.—Balguy.

Leading Food Fishes
The herring ranks as the world's most important economic fish, with the cod taking second place. The cod averages from 7 to 40 pounds weight, but several exceeding 100 pounds and one of 160 pounds have been recorded.

Rebuking Presumption
"Cocksure" means overconfident or presumptuously sure. A cocksure person is one who thinks he "knows it all." The phrase was suggested by the barnyard cock. At least that is the accepted theory. Shakespeare used it in the sense of "sure as the cock of a firelock."—Pathfinder Magazine.

"Perfect Title"
"Fee simple" was originally "feof simple," the first word meaning cattle, which in the days when that word was used, was the source of all human wealth, and not really as it is the case today. The "simple" meant "in its entirety." Thus "fee simple" has come down to mean "an absolute title—the best that there is."

Amber Known to Eskimos
Amber is a fossilized vegetable resin occurring in small quantities in the more recent geological formations in many parts of the American continent. So far as known it was little used by the Indians, except the Eskimos of Alaska, who made small ornaments of amber. They obtained it chiefly from the alluvium of the Yukon delta.

Historians in Dispute

There is a great difference of opinion as to which are the precise mountains spoken of as Mount Sinai and Mount Horeb in the Old Testament. They were undoubtedly peaks located on the Sinai peninsula, which is a territory projecting into the Red sea between the gulf of Suez and the gulf of Akaba. The southern part of this mountainous region is the opinion that Jebel Musa represents Sinai and Jebel al Mit represents Horeb. Others are of the opinion that there were not two mountains, but that Jebel Musa was the differently designated as Horeb Sinai.

"Ah, madam," replied he, very tactfully, "I think the young lady has a very firm hand."

The Detroit Edison company are extending Lima and Freedom where they have secured contracts to supply lights and power to the farmers. The company has men at work in the south part of Sylvan township trying to secure sufficient contracts to guarantee extending their lines. The cost of constructing the proposed line is placed at $1,000 per mile. As the company has no franchise for operating in the township they may ask for one at the coming spring election.

A Plate of 'Kittie's' Tasters

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright.)

IT WAS Kittie's theory that a satisfied taster would always make an eventual customer, so she regarded the slight extra expense of time and money involved in making a daily supply of tiny party-cakes as well worth while. A plate of these little sample-cakes was always prominent in the display on the counter of her small shop located on the highway from New York to Graham university. Over the new little white-painted, one-room cottage was an enormous sign with the words "Kittie's Kitchen," and the front of the shop was so arranged that on bright days it might be folded back so that the gleaming blue and white of the little kitchen might be seen by motorists passing by.

They could see the stove and the long table where Kittie rolled out the pastry that was to be the foundation of her famous pies.

On bright days that promised heavy traffic Kittie made more cookies, cakes and pies than she did when the weather was less promising, and sometimes when a promising day turned out to be rainy with a meager supply of customers, Kittie had more samples to offer.

One gloomy day in August—that day that Kittie had made maximum supplies of everything—her rubber car stopped before Kittie's kitchen. Ever more colorful were the two young men who alighted from the car and timidly approached her shop.

Once in the kitchen they looked hungrily about, signs of admiration gleaming in their eyes. They priced various good things and after consultation bought a half dozen party-cakes for thirty cents.

"Gee, I'd like some pie," said one of the young men.

"It's sixty cents," informed the other in an undertone.

"Don't you want to sample the pie?" said Kittie, moving the plate of samples toward the young men. "You see I have lots of samples and we can't expect many customers on a day like this. Each young man took a sample which he ate with a look of surprise. "Oh, do have another," urged Kittie. "And each young man took another and then Kittie's urging, another.

"It's very wet outside," said Kittie. "I've just made some coffee for myself. Of course, I don't usually serve anything, but there is a pot just going to waste and some nice thick cream—wouldn't you like a cupful?"

The young men looked first, eager, then dejected.

"The truth of the matter is," said the taller, obviously younger of the two, "the blither truth is that we are broke."

Kittie laughed as if being flat broke was most usual and a rather pleasant predicament. "I really didn't mean to sell you the coffee," she said. "It would be a bad precedent because I really don't want to sell coffee—I don't want to bother with the dishes. I just thought you might drink some so it wouldn't go to waste."

The hungry young men needed no further urging. Each drank two cupfuls of the delicious beverage.

"We'll certainly never forget this," said the older young man while the other stammeringly said that he hoped some day to be able to do a good turn in return.

Early the next summer Kittie saw a strikingly luxurious roadster stop before her shop. A young man of about thirty strode easily into the shop, glanced approvingly at the neat equipment and then at Kittie.

"My brother happened to come here last summer," he began, "and then looked intently at the girl before him. 'Kate Ronald—as I live!' he exclaimed. 'Bruce!'" she gasped.

Explanations followed. "You see, my kid brother went broke after the end of his summer school work at Graham last summer. He had to leave his car and his car and a friend bought a wheezy old car for a hundred dollars to make the trip home. He'd had a pretty good time. I guess, but he'd passed off all his conditions so he'd settled his debts. He's finishing up his college course nearer home where Dad can keep a closer watch of him. That bothered Ted because he was so anxious to come back and thank you for the way you treated him when he was flat broke. As a matter of fact, I think he was rather hard hit—but I don't blame him. Now, as I was coming east this summer, he got me to promise to stop in and see you—and thank you—and ask whether he might write."

"He needn't bother to write," said Kittie blushing. "He's such a kid."

"Not much older than you are," smiled the elder brother. "But this is a surprise—I've often wondered what you were doing. Hardly blamed you for not answering my letters."

"If you ever wrote, I didn't get the letters," said Kittie gaily. "You see, after father died there was nothing—not a thing—and so I worked in a goody shop to learn the business. I didn't want anyone to know—and I didn't think you cared. And then I got started for myself—really, it isn't so bad."

"It's marvelous," Bruce assured her. "But not so marvelous as you are—Kate, I came on to thank you for what you had done for my brother—but I am going to keep you for myself."

CONSUMERS POWER OPERATORS PRAISED IN AU SABLE NEWS

In a recent issue of The Au Sable News, house organ of the Consumers Power Company, Chelsea operators of the local substation, are heartily commended for their interest in the company's affairs, the pride they take in floral decorations and care of the grounds, as well as the more important business of supplying electricity through the substation.

The magazine is brought to the Standard by George Whittington, veteran operator, who began work with the Consumers in 1907. Mr. Whittington began his career as electrician in 1901, when he started work for the Hawks & Angus Electric Railroad Co., as operator. He remained in the employ of this company until 1907 when they sold to the D. U. R. His employers gave him an excellent letter of recommendation written by James Mispagha, superintendent, and signed by J. D. Hawk, president of the road at that time. In the spring of 1907 Mr. Whittington went to work for the Commonwealth Power Co., which name was later changed to the Au Sable Electric Co., and still later to the Consumers Power Co., by which name they are still doing business. In his travels to and from work, Mr. Whittington has traveled approximately 46,000 miles on the railroad in the 20 years with the company, and prides himself on the fact that he has never been late nor missed a car in all that time.

The article in the Au Sable News says:

Much pride is taken by our operating men in the attractive lawns, shrubbery and flowers that beautify our station grounds, but we believe that the Chelsea substation, in the Southern Division group, in charge of R. D. Slaybaugh, substation foreman, would carry off the honors in a competition.

The Chelsea operators, George Whittington and Andrew Sawyer, and P. M. Slaybaugh, the relief operator, are all old timers with the Company and have prided themselves on their lawns and flowers for many years. Some seven or eight years ago they each planted a tree in front of the station and have nursed their growth with much care and some friendly rivalry. The trees, mere sprouts at the start, have grown to a good size and afford a welcome shade.

Conspicuous (which accompanied the article) shows Mr. Whittington among the shrubs and flowers on the well kept lawn. It is a source of great satisfaction to him and his associates to keep these growing things at their best and much time and care are devoted to them outside the regular work of the station. Mr. Whittington is one of those steady, faithful, dependable men who is in the job day after day, year in and year out. Since 1911 he has been located at the Chelsea substation and has a record that may well be emulated by our younger men.

Inside and out, Chelsea substation is always very neat and attractive. It is rare that serious trouble is experienced with the station equipment and so far as we can recall, no personal injury has been sustained by either operator in their long terms of service.

Olives

Most olives eaten in America are green olives which have been pickled whole or with the pits removed. In the Mediterranean countries it is customary to eat the ripe fruit cured in salt. Olives in this manner constitute a staple part of the Italian and Greek diet. It is very rarely that ripe olives are eaten in the United States. The Department of Agriculture has introduced a new variety called the Baroun olive, especially adapted for pickling ripe. It is a native of north Africa and has been grown successfully in California. The original stock of a few trees has expanded until there are now orchards of about 100 acres total area on the Pacific coast—Pathfinder Magazine.

Poetic justice is that ideal justice according to which crimes should be punished and virtues rewarded, regarded by authors and critics of the former pseudo classical school as proper to a poem, drama or other literary work.

'Claire Ambler'

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Author of "Women" and "Alice Adams"

(This book was the unanimous choice of this month's "Book of the Month Club.")

"You like men to be in love with you but not to trouble you by telling you so?"

That is what tall, handsome Arturo said to her as they stood in the glowing Sicilian twilight. And Claire Ambler knew that it was true—know that she had no defense—but she knew, deepest of all, that she cared for only one man's opinion of her. Slim, lovely, alluring, modern to her painted finger tips, moving through one heart episode after another... misunderstood and misunderstanding... Claire Ambler will slip into your life as she slipped into the lives of all the young men who fell in love with her. Booth Tarkington knows this young lady. He has weighed her for good and for bad and offered his findings in this absorbing novel that will thrill younger readers and startle and amuse their fathers and mothers.

WATERLOO

Mrs. Earl Beeman is in Detroit this week, attending the auto show.

The members of the "Blue Bird Club" spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Floyd Rowe in Chelsea, last Saturday.

The January meeting of Lyndon Home Economic club was held last week Thursday at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Clark. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Helen Clark with roll call responded to by household help. The lesson on proper finish of floors and woodwork, and correct wall paper, was given by Mrs. Callista Rose, and Mrs. Clarice Clark. The entertainment of the evening took the form of a leap year party, the ladies drawing the gentlemen's names and taking them to supper. This created much amusement. Thirty-three partook of a delicious potluck supper. Later the company enjoyed pedro, with seven tables in play. Ace prizes went to Mrs. Lucille Maultsches and Thomas Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Maultsches of Ann Arbor, were guests from away.

Average Man Puts in Eight Years of Work

The average man is at least sixteen years old before he starts serious work and even then there are not many of us who do more than eight hours a day.

The average man's working life is about thirty years, so the person who works eight hours out of each fourteen years for thirty years has done ten years' work in his lifetime.

This is reckoning that he has worked eight hours a day and seven days a week, which of course, none of us do. We have to remember the Saturday half-holiday and Sunday, which leave only 44 working hours for the week. This means cutting our ten weeks down, by roughly two years, so that a life's work is reduced to only thirty years!

Another deduction must be made for ness, so out of those eight years' work another six months must be taken. In point of fact, the actual loss is a fraction under six months, but, in round numbers, there is only seven and a half years of work in the ordinary person's lifetime.

Real Things of Life

A writer in Psychology Magazine claims to "not even" should never concern us. She continues, "All the great souls have a feeling of uneasiness at false, detrimental tales being told about them. They ignore the lies. To cling with faithfulness to our ideals and to the purpose we have for our lives to, is the only sensible attitude. Be concerned with your own integrity, your own fidelity to the principles of life and you can laugh at the many petty tales of jealousy, the deliberate misconstructions that have been placed upon your actions or words."

Not the Only Big Pig

Word comes from Johannesburg, South Africa, through London, that the world's biggest pig recently traveled to that fair accompanied by his assistant and manager. This pig recently visited Australia and has traveled 100 miles. He is insured for $25,000 and his daily meals consist of cases of apples, eight or nine buckets of milk, two bushels of bran, sixteen to eighteen cabbages, with a wide dish thrown to. He measures 8 feet 3 inches long and his belt is 8 feet 9 inches. He weighs over 4000 lb. At that, he wouldn't shake one of our largest specimens looking puny.—American Swineherd.

Children Disapprove

A new minister had come to a small town, and being young and dashingly had been bartered with burns. A group of little girls and parish surveyed him critically and not much to say for the new pastor. This hostile attitude on the part of the children was most trying to the women of the church, so one of them asked her small daughter what trouble seemed to be. The little explained it thus: "Oh, he thinks cute, wearing those sunburns on his face."
