THE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Birthday anniversaries of the children are real-letter days in the family calendar. The arrival in the world of little Johnnie and little Mary were occasions for rejoicing and congratulation, deserving of annual commemoration. Another reason for birthday parties is the persistence of those who hope to be thus honored.

A birthday without temper or tears is ardently to be desired, but seldom realized. If there is to be no party, there are tears and if there is a party there are the tears of the little guests to mingle with those of the little host.

For though little Johnnie may have been a gift from the gods the fact cannot be disguised that contact with the world has made of him a very human being.

It would be entirely out of tune to punish little Johnnie on his birthday anniversary, all parents agree, and they start the day with determination to spare the rod and spoil the child. Unfortunately little Johnnie has more reasons for being naughty on his birthday than at other times. A great fuss is made over him. He receives presents that stimulate his sense of greed. If a party is given in his honor he has not yet awakened to the social requirements that his guests have a better time than he. Finally, nobody is quicker than he to discover that on this day of days the rules of discipline are to be temporarily waived.

If many adults cannot, how can the juvenile mind, especially on a birthday, distinguish between the meaning of liberty and license? Few grown-ups can realize that there is greater joy in being good because you will not be punished than in being bad because you will not be punished.

Most mothers plan a birthday party for their little lamb at least every other year, and just as many solemnly vow, as the last diminutive guest departs, that it will be the last. But time and nature mend shattered nerves and broken bodies in time for another party on the next birthday in the family.

WEALTH AND ENVY

People who wish to be loved by their fellow-men should never acquire great wealth, for there appears to be no surer method of attracting the enmity of society than by exceeding others in amassing money and property.

It is not that the masses do not covet wealth, but this reaction of the human trait of envy and of centuries of persecution and exploitation of the poor by avaricious and cruel tyrants.

There have been many rich men who justly deserved the hatred of all mankind, but their infamies and man's own envy should not cause society to distrust and condemn the living rich who can not be charged with injustices and who have given much to their fellow men. And yet there are millions of men and women, supposed to be intelligent and fair, who condemn all rich.

The common people are spontaneous and unstinting in their praise of those who serve well in public office, of those who advance the science of medicine, of the inventor, the teacher, the explorer and others. When will man give the full measure of honor and gratitude to the rich men who are today endowing educational institutions, maintaining research work, making public gifts of priceless works of art or of whole libraries, museums and art galleries?

There is such a thing as honest wealth, just as there is much dishonest poverty. Millionaires are not compelled to give up fortunes, but philanthropy and generosity seem to be traits no less human than envy.

VANITY OF THE MALE

In a year $750,000,000 is spent in the barber shops of the United States. Less than two-thirds of that sum is spent for the essential shave and haircut. The remaining portion represents massages and hair tonics.

These statistics should dissuade some men from chiding the female of the species for her vanity. Men are rapidly becoming as much concerned as women with the care of the face. Beauty parlors are giving more attention to woman's hair, while the barber shop is diverting its attention to man's face.

There are several reasons for the prodigality with which American men spend their time and money in the barber shop. Social custom requires that the hair be cut frequently and the face kept closely shaved. Prosperity and the feeling of relaxation afforded induces many to indulge in the facial massage, frequent shampooing and other luxurious luxuries. The busy city of making a good appearance. Greater social demands greater care with the appearance. Rivalry between the sexes, the desire to appear better than the other sex, is another reason. A man can't even get a nap without being arrested—Paris and Pirelside.

To Whom It May Concern

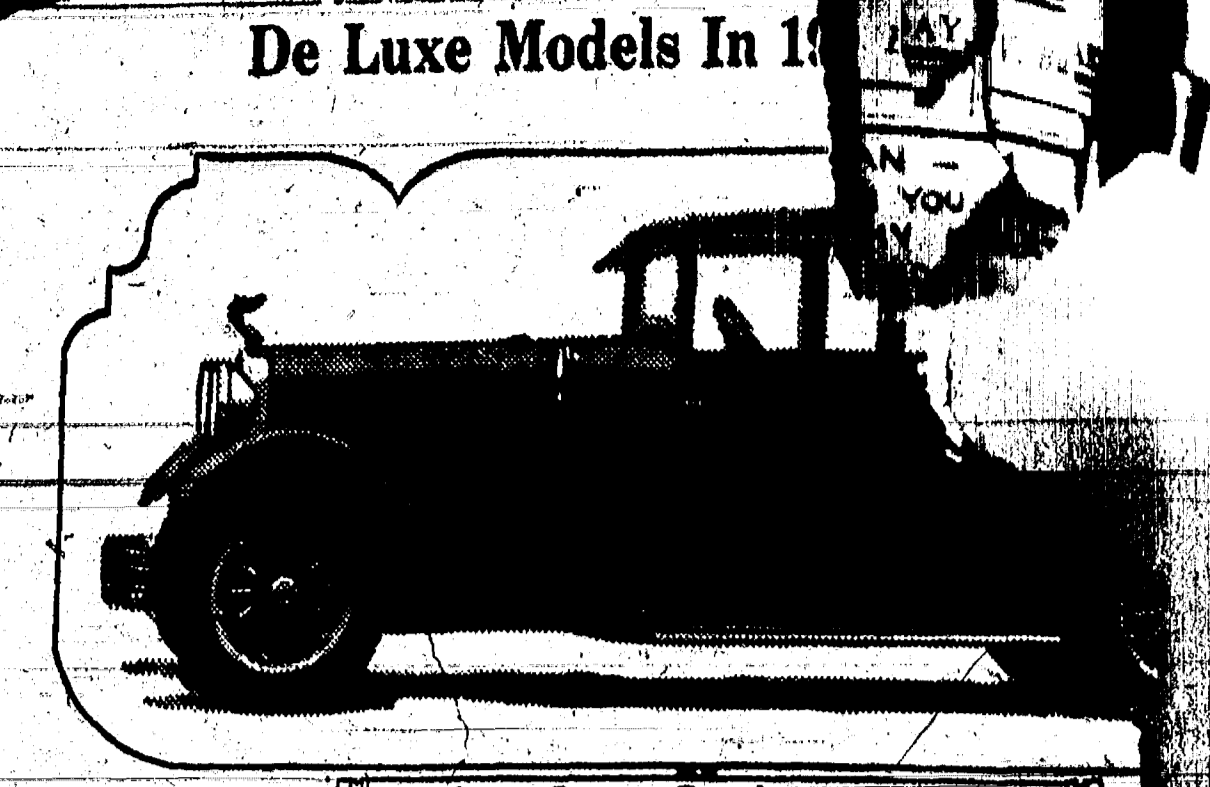

The Sunday School superintendent asked for announcements. No one responded so little Mona Belle arose and said: "My grandma will be at our house to spend the night."

Thou Shalt Not Snooze

A common warning is scanty or burning secretions. Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and aid in the elimination of waste impurities. NORTHVILLE—Always alert to present day tendencies, the Northville Wayne County Fair stockholders at their annual meeting held January 19, decided to conduct a free fair next fall, and to erect a grandstand that will hold three times the number of people that the present one accommodates.—Record.

GRASS LAKE—J. Wheeler Haynes, of Jackson, was elected president of the Grass Lake Rifle Club at the annual meeting of that organization held at the Derby hotel in this village last Thursday afternoon. H. H. Raby, of Norvell, was chosen secretary and George Wolfe, of Grass Lake, treasurer.—News.

WAYNE—Plans for the widening of Michigan avenue call for the construction of a 204-ft. right-of-way from the village of Wayne west to the county line, a distance of approximately eight miles. Work will begin as soon as roads can be built in the spring.

HILLSDALE—Representative Dennis G. Clancy of Hillsdale county has notified Gov. Fred W. Green that if a special session of the state legislature is called he will introduce a bill for capital punishment in Michigan. Clancy was one of the sponsors of such a bill which failed in the last legislature.

JACKSON—Members of the Fair board are confident that Jackson county will have its annual fair at considerably less expense this year, as a result of President Armstrong and Fair Manager Fred Randolph, in company with several members of the fair board, attending the two-day conference of the Michigan Association of Fairs, held Tuesday and Wednesday, at Hotel Barlum, Detroit.—Tribune.

MILAN—W. D. Henderson, of the University of Michigan, will be the main speaker at the Annual Farmers Institute which will be held in the high school auditorium on February 10th and 11th. Mr. Henderson has appeared in Milan on several occasions and has always held a large audience. He delivered the commencement address for the high school graduating class of 1925. Mr. Henderson will be on the program of the institute Friday evening, February 13th.—Leader.

FOWLerville—Clever eye swindlers are operating all over Michigan. None have yet been caught. In Livingston county during the past year, they took $1800 from one old couple, $1000 from another, $200 from another, besides other victims. They prey on old people. Every person who comes to your door asking about eyes is a swindler. Watch them and help trap them. They don't carry guns or use violence, so don't be afraid of them.—Review.

HOWELL—Cleve VanBuren, who was fishing on Thompson's lake last Friday, went home to dinner telling his folks that the biggest fish he ever saw in the water, was playing around his minnow. When he got back Ken-

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Storms had an excellent evening for Grand Rapids, weighing 16 lbs. and getting and hanging the streets for an hour Dealers' day afternoon. It was nearly long.—Republican.

BROOKLYN—Henry T. Speer, 73 years of age, died at his home at Somerset Saturday, from a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Speer was born at Lodi in Washtenaw county but has nearly all his life been a resident of Somerset where his friendly personality, his example and his interest in the better things of life have made him highly regarded. He is survived by three sons, Chas. and Ed. of Somerset and Walter of Jackson. The funeral was held on Tuesday with burial at Somerset.—Exponent.

MANCHESTER—Property owners in Riga, Ogden and Palmyra townships presented petitions for improved roads to the county board of road commissioners last Friday. The road commissioners will take the matter under advisement before presenting them for action by the board of supervisors next March. Then if the supervisors approve, the roads will be built under supervision of the county commission and turned back to the township for maintenance, the county assuming but 10 per cent of the construction cost. Under this plan, a township takes 55 per cent of the cost, the property holders within the assessment district, about 35 per cent, and the county at large 10 per cent.—Enterprise.

Many Uses for Flaxseed Flaxseed is grown primarily for the production of linseed oil, each short ton of seed producing from 70 to 80 gallons of oil, which is used in the manufacture of paints and varnishes, linoleum, oilcloth, printers' ink, patent leather, imitation leather and sundry other products. The cake that is left after the oil is pressed out is valued as a feed for dairy and beef cattle and finds a ready market. A large part of the cake produced in this country is exported, principally to the Netherlands, Belgium and the United Kingdom. The United States is the second largest producer of flaxseed in the world, but, in spite of this fact, this country is also the world's largest importer of this product. Our production ordinarily takes care of about 35 per cent of our domestic requirements. This year the United States produced approximately 24,270,000 bushels.

Less Rain in Future? During the last half century the world's average rainfall has, according to weather records, decreased about one per cent. This has been considered due to outside influences such as variation in sunlight, but an Indian weather expert has put forward a suggestion for the decrease that is quite plausible. He suggests that the lack of rain may be due to an oil film, less than a millioth of an inch thick, spread on the surface of the ocean by ships that burn oil for fuel. Evaporation of ocean water is the chief source of rain, and this film of oil may be sufficient to retard evaporation.

The Shorter Word The day before Christmas, Edith, ten, had a number of packages tied up for distribution. The doctor felt of one intended for Uncle John, "That's some tobacco," said the doctor, as he fingered the package. "How can you tell?" asked Edith. "Because I am a good diagnostician," he replied. "Then, as Edith seemed somewhat dazed at the big word, the doctor inquired: "Do you know what a diagnostician is?" "Yes," she answered promptly, "it's a good guesser."

His Philosophy "Man is never satisfied," declared old Roswell Rickdoo. "The best fishing is always farther down the creek. Every sore-eyed farmer wants to move to town and run a restaurant. The incompetent town man believes he could make a fortune raising chickens. The lazy bachelor thinks he could manage the Belgian hare business. The girl who has a good home wants to become a movie actress. The man with the respect of all the citizens wants to go to the legislature. As the feller said, man never is but always to be blessed."—Kansas City Star.

THE ONLY CAR OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD No matter how much money or how little you are planning to invest in a motor car—SEE THE NEW VICTORY SIX FIRST! Nowhere in the world—at ANY price—is there a car like it. Greater expenditure will not duplicate it. It introduces more features that are new and different and better than any other motor car in history. The Victory body and chassis, for example, are a single integral unit. Body sills are eliminated. The wide, deep Victory chassis frame, flush with the body lines, eliminates the customary overhang of a wide body on a narrow frame—lowers the over-all height and the all-important center of gravity. Major body parts are reduced to 8—a triumph in simplification—175 pounds of superfluous weight are cast off! Double steel walls (battleship construction) are introduced, for the first time, in closed car design—another safety factor of the first order! The car's power, pick-up, absence of sideway at high speed, and incredible smoothness over rough roads astound everyone who takes the wheel! And the Victory lines are superb! Low, smart and individual—with appointments and color effects that vie in smartness with the costliest.
