Trustworthy Trusses

Combine the Vital Values of Highest Quality and Perfect Fit

Experience is an important factor in handling trusses. It counts both in the selection of stock and in the fitting. This experience we have had. While it adds much to the value of a truss, it adds nothing to the cost.

We solicit inspection of our stock at any time by those in need of trusses. Whenever one of these modern appliances is required, we guarantee a perfect fit, and satisfaction in every way.

The Chelsea Standard Changed Ownership To-day

With this issue of The Chelsea Standard, E. E. Brown, of Ann Arbor, takes possession of the newspaper and printing plant which has been operated by McClure Brothers for more than five years. The deal which makes Mr. Brown owner of the Standard was consummated Monday morning and McClure Brothers retired last (Wednesday) evening.

Retirement of the McClures from the newspaper field locally marks the end of several years of successful business operation in Chelsea. M. W. McClure purchased the Standard from O. T. Hoover in December, 1920. A year and a half later Mr. McClure sold to Mr. H. Ahrens who owned the business for about five months. In November, 1922, Mr. McClure bought the Standard back again and the first of January, 1923, A. B. McClure purchased a half interest of his brother, forming the partnership which still continues.

January 1, 1924, McClure Brothers purchased the Chelsea Tribune of C. W. Klammer, and consolidated it with the Standard.

During the five years of their business experience, here both the McClures have conscientiously striven to give to Chelsea and vicinity the best newspaper possible and one which would be a credit to a community such as Chelsea. While it is possible that this was not always reached we feel that our efforts in that direction have been rewarded in the appreciation expressed by our large family of subscribers. This family has steadily grown until now the Standard has the largest family of readers ever enjoyed by any Chelsea newspaper. We sincerely hope the loyalty and appreciation of our readers will be as truly given to Mr. Brown in his endeavors here as has been given to us.

In giving our farewell message to the public we would not forget the generous patronage accorded by our advertisers. While the advertising end of this business always has to be worked for, that has been a pleasure because of the ready response of those solicited. In this respect many advertisers have been greatly benefited through use of the Standard's columns, and readers as well have benefited therefrom.

There is, of course, reluctance on the part of the McClures at leaving Chelsea. During this five or more years many genuine friendships have been formed and the circles of acquaintance widened to include the entire community. It is not easy to pull away from the ties of many years standing without feeling that some of the most worthwhile things in life are being left behind. No plans for the future have been definitely formed as yet, although it is the present intention to locate in a larger field wherever something desirable may be found.

Mr. Brown is a newspaper man of many years experience. Less than a year ago he sold the Northville Record to Elton R. Eaton, formerly secretary to Gov. Groesbeck, and since that time he and his family have been living in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have a daughter, Avis, who is a student at the University of Michigan. They expect to move to Chelsea within a few weeks and take up their part in community life here.

It is the hope of the retiring publishers that Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their daughter receive the full cooperation of the community in their work here, all of which will be reflected in the production of the best newspaper in southern Michigan.

McCLURE BROTHERS.

OPENING OF NEW STORE

ATTRACTED GREAT CROWDS

One of the season's outstanding events was the opening of the new grocery and drug store of Schneider & Kusterer, which is now located in the corner store in the Freeman Block, just Saturday. From early morning until closing time at night the store was crowded with people and all were delighted with the attractiveness of the store and with the very attractive manner in which the stock was displayed. The visitors were given a cordial welcome by the proprietors of the store and their very courteous salespeople and the sales for the day far exceeded their fondest expectations.

The grocery department is located on the right hand side of the store as you enter and the drug department on the left. Later the basement will be stocked with bazaar goods and wall paper. The stock is especially large and well arranged and it is the policy of Messrs. Schneider & Kusterer to give the public the very best goods obtainable and to make their store a popular trading place.

LOCAL MERCHANTS VISITING THE CHICAGO MARKET

Messrs. Edw. Vogel and D. H. Wurster left Tuesday morning for Chicago where they will visit the markets in quest of new merchandise for their large and well appointed store. But few towns the size of Chelsea can boast of so complete and extensive merchandising establishments. The shelves and counters will soon be filled to overflowing with new goods, representing the newest and best in the various lines carried.

The manner in which the goods in this well known store are arranged and displayed have long been the subject of favorable comment with those who have visited Chelsea.

KEUSCH & FAHRNER MOVING TO NEW LOCATION

The spirit of "moving" seems to be in the air in Chelsea this spring. This week Keusch & Fahrner are moving their grocery stock to the Staffen building, next door to the Farmers' and Mechanics Bank, where they will have a formal opening on Saturday. For the opening day and throughout the following week they will offer bargains in every sense of the word—no half way about their offerings. The public is cordially invited to visit them in their new location, which will be a very attractive store.

NORTH SYLVAN GRANGE

North Sylvan Grange will meet with Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Weiss on Friday evening, March 2. The program will be as follows:

SHERIFFS LACK POWER TO REFUSE PRISONERS

Sheriffs have no power to refuse prisoners, regardless of crowded conditions, according to an opinion by the attorney general Monday.

Michigan's Sheriff's Association has taken when the state took up with the Federal government. It took up to the state to find a place to put the prisoners. The jail is overcrowded.

"JUNK" IS DISCUSSED BY REV. M. S. RICE ON MONDAY EVENING

Capacity Crowd Attends Dedication of Remodeled Dining Room and Kitchen of Methodist Church.

While members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church served a tempting feast from the modernized kitchen, two hundred and forty persons in the recently remodeled dining room of the church proceeded to enjoy the banquet, when the ladies dedicated the kitchen and dining room to the use of the church, on Monday evening. The supper was served at seven o'clock and a program of music and speaking followed.

Headlining the program of the evening was Dr. Merton S. Rice, pastor of Metropolitan Methodist church, Detroit, who entertained his audience for an hour and a half with one of the most interesting and instructive addresses ever heard by a local audience. Dr. Rice is considered one of the ten best speakers in the United States today and certainly his audience Monday evening voted him the "best."

Taking for his subject "Junk," Dr. Rice delivered his lecture, already famous from presentation over the country, while the audience sat spellbound in the main auditorium of the church. Three phases of "Junk" were illustrated by the speaker. "Junk-Things, Junk Time and Junk-Life" were discussed at length and in such manner as to bring new viewpoints to his listeners. In the main, his discourse served to prove that no matter how far reduced a material, time or life might become, it still retained a certain value if the right person were to make an effort to discover that value.

Several vocal selections were given by the Kiwanis male quartet, accompanied by Mrs. P. F. Niehaus, preceding the address of Dr. Rice and music during the banquet was played by Henry Isham, violinist, accompanied at the piano by his son, Claude Isham. Beside Dr. Rice and his son, of Detroit, other out-of-town notables who attended the banquet were Dr. J. H. Martin, district superintendent of Ann Arbor, and Dr. Harvey Pierce, superintendent of the Flint district of Methodist churches.

TEACHERS OF DEXTER GROUP HELD MEETING SATURDAY

The rural teachers of Dexter Group met Saturday at Stone School, 10 fr. Lima township with Mrs. Inez Rank as hostess. Sixteen teachers were present.

After a short review of interesting material observed on her last tour, Mrs. Robinson distributed material for the history and hygiene work books. History month was a great benefit in that it taught the child to organize material from several references into one recitation.

The special unit is again geography, completing the unit started last fall. Helpful suggestions for project and exhibit work were given to the teachers. After a short study in teaching problem geography, Mrs. Robinson taught a lesson on Michigan geography to a sixth and seventh grade class. Those in the class were Arlene Satterthwaite and Elmer Buehler of Stone school and Donald Rank of Stone school.

Plans for a Field Day and for the Music Memory and Spelling contests were discussed.

Among the visitors, present were Miss Nora Reilly, Commissioner of Schools of Lenawee county; Mrs. Van Schoek, a rural teacher in Lenawee county, Miss Swingle, District Chairman of Junior Red Cross; Miss Corn L. Haas, and Mrs. Leon Chapman.

After an explanation of Junior Red Cross work in the county by Miss Swingle and remarks by Miss Reilly and Miss Haas, the meeting was adjourned.

He was twice married, his first wife being Miss Elizabeth Seckinger, a resident of Chelsea, and who died 39 years ago. Later he married Genevieve Cook, who passed away two years ago.

The deceased is survived by five children—Mrs. Charles Meyers of Battle Creek, Mrs. Joseph Dreyer of Chelsea, and Messrs. Joseph, George, and William Haefer, who are residents of this community. ## TO THE STANDARD FAMILY

Doubtless, there will be many expressions of regret when you read in today's paper of the change in ownership; and that the Messrs. McClure have sold their interests in the home-town newspaper. At least, I trust there will be, because I would be very much disappointed in the members of the Standard family to discover that their untiring efforts in behalf of the community during the years of their residence here were not appreciated.

They have been faithful and diligent in their conduct of the Standard and have developed the business into a splendid property. They deserve the thanks of every member of the Standard's family of readers.

The new publisher is not a stranger to this section nor is he unknown to some of the residents of Chelsea and surrounding country. Many times in years past he has expressed the wish that he could own the Chelsea newspaper and that wish has now been gratified.

If devotion and faithfulness to every interest of this community, if close attention to business and hard work will make a continued success of this enterprise then the future of The Standard is assured, because I shall strive constantly to advance the growth of Chelsea and surrounding country; and to be loyal to all its varied interests.

There will be a hearty welcome for all at The Standard office and we shall be glad to have you call when convenient. It will take some time to become acquainted with all the strange faces we will meet each day, but we believe and trust the acquaintanceships now being formed will develop into lasting friendships.

All accounts due on advertising and job work to the close of business Wednesday are due and payable to the former publishers and all subscription accounts due are payable to the new publisher.

Let us work together in harmony and good fellowship for the advancement of Chelsea.

E. E. BROWN.

MR. HOOVER SPEAKS PLAINLY

Mr. Hoover has spoken plainly on the question of the Eighteenth Amendment. He stands "for the efficient, vigorous and sincere enforcement of the law enacted thereunder." He adds: "Whoever is chosen President has under his oath the solemn duty to pursue this course." That is a forthright declaration by a man who says what he thinks. Such men may be depended upon to do what they say. He evidently does not believe in trying to dodge the issue. He met this issue just as he had met every other question or project that has been submitted to him for solution.

HAND CLASPS

Nothing so eloquently reveals character as the hand-clasp. One may train his voice to express courage and a cordiality unpossessed; one may acquire a poker-face; one may feign pleasure at meeting and displeasure at parting; but the offered hand neither conceals nor deceives. A blind man, deaf, and dumb from birth, can read this message of the hand.

Is it a strong hand that functions with the irresistible determination of a vise? If it is, it belongs to a man—a go-getter—or to a true friend. Its warm and sturdy clasp belongs to frank contentment and a feeling heart.

Is it a hand that gives a quick, slight pressure and at once liberates itself? That sort belongs to the busy man—the man of independence and individualism.

Is it a limp hand? Then it belongs to a limp man; to one who is too tired to be interested in persons and things. To him hand shaking is an unnecessary formality in which no energy should be wasted.

Is it a lingering hand which caresses rather than clasps and which refuses to liberate its prey—is it a predatory hand—until it has accomplished its purpose?—This is the practiced hand-clasp of the politician, the swindler and the cheat. It belongs to the man with a "mission" or a "message."

Grasp the hands of those you would have show their hand."

HIGHWAY TAX UNFAIR TO FARMERS

Michigan farmers have been bearing a share of State and local highway costs which is out of all proportion either to the benefits they receive, or their ability to pay. The farmer pays the full amounting to 19 million dollars per year yet those roads, in many parts of the State, are annually torn to pieces by an increasing army of tourists and pleasure seekers. In addition, the farmer pays an auto license tax for the privilege of operating his auto for twelve months of the year although it is frequently the case that there are no passable roads within his reach for long periods of time. Finally during the balance of the year he is obliged to pay gasoline taxes at a rate-per-mile which is at least 40 percent higher than that paid by city drivers because of the increased fuel consumption on unimproved highways. Although this excessive burden of gas and license taxes on the farmer is the direct result of highway taxes on the city driver, it is not his fault.

township roads; none of the money so paid is returned to the townships. Instead it is spent upon state and county road which can serve the farmer only when he is able to reach them. Here, as in other states, the great bulk of the traffic on state roads originates and ends in the cities and towns.

ON A TELEPHONE POLE

All of a sudden, when the earlier sun wakes you one of these March mornings, your mind unfolds to a sense of change. The room's the same; the task of filling out your income tax blank still taunts you, you remember that the leavings of the twelfth ton of coal won't last the week out—but something is different! Not exactly that, but something is there that wasn't there yesterday. Nor is that just it. Whatever it is, it's new and not new. It's like a memory come to life—a delightful memory.

You trace it to the tip of a nearby telephone pole—and the clear trills and rills of the song-sparrow send thrills all through you, and you know the birds are beginning to come back! Some other morning soon the chorus will be full enough to wake you—song will outdo the sun. As it grows (you say to day, you'll hear in it a promise of no more tending the heater—for six months—and no more trudging through snow and slush; no more cough drops, camphorated oil, or mustard soaks. Also more fresh vegetables, and motoring along country roads fringed with a green tust, and dandelions—which no longer are allowed to linger, because of Mr. Volstead—and cherry and green apple pies, and magnificent things without number!

"How fine to have the birds back!" you'll say to yourself. Have you ever stopped to think what would happen if they didn't come back? Well, in a season or two it would mean the end of life on this planet. That's all!

Also, the way of the transgressor is hard on dad's pocketbook.

The larger a man's hat, the less he talks through it.

After all, a hypocrite isn't guilty of anything except synthetic piety.

Men strive for revenge; then when they get it find there is nothing they can do with it.

At one time the cowcatcher specialized in cows. Now it carries automobiles as a side line.

Some stations broadcast setting-up exercises. A greater need is getting up exercises.

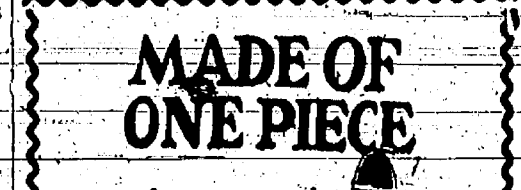

Perhaps more use really would keep teeth from falling out. You never hear of a tongue's falling out.

Conscience may not be strong enough to handle a man during business hours, but it can roll him over and over when he gets in bed.

become so saturated with the smell of it that it almost suffices them. This may be expressed as follows: "This is the name of the perfume."

Is it a lingering hand which caresses rather than clasps and which refuses to liberate its prey—is it a predatory hand—until it has accomplished its purpose?—This is the practiced hand-clasp of the politician, the swindler and the cheat. It belongs to the man with a "mission" or a "message."

Grasp the hands of those you would have show their hand."

Michigan farmers have been bearing a share of State and local highway costs which is out of all proportion either to the benefits they receive, or their ability to pay. The farmer pays the full amounting to 19 million dollars per year yet those roads, in many parts of the State, are annually torn to pieces by an increasing army of tourists and pleasure seekers. In addition, the farmer pays an auto license tax for the privilege of operating his auto for twelve months of the year although it is frequently the case that there are no passable roads within his reach for long periods of time. Finally during the balance of the year he is obliged to pay gasoline taxes at a rate-per-mile which is at least 40 percent higher than that paid by city drivers because of the increased fuel consumption on unimproved highways.

Although this excessive burden of gas and license taxes on the farmer is the direct result of highway taxes on the city driver, it is not his fault.

RESIDENT URGES OBSERVANCE OF FOREST WEEK

President Calvin Coolidge has issued a proclamation in which he has declared a week of observance of American Forest Week by public display of the American flag and what must do to restore them.

We cannot permanently abuse our forests with impunity. The soil is the source of all our wealth and life. One-fourth of our American soil is best suited for forest. Much of this land is already overgrown with a forest of trees. Much of it is being made idle by destructive logging and fire. Yet we cannot safely permit our forest to fallow and useless any more than we can permit our farms to fallow and idle.

To make our vast empire of forest a fully productive of continuous sequences in our national life. It will give agriculture the advantage of new valuable crop. It will afford permanent employment to millions of men in the forest industries. It will provide raw materials for many industries. It will furnish traffic for our roads. It will maintain foreign trade in domestic commerce. It will give our forests as conservers of soil and water and as purifiers of health and life.

We already have made a beginning in forest renewal, but the task is enormous, and we should permit no fraction of our white has been done to us to the magnitude of what remains to be done.

People living in both country and city may well join in a proper observance of this special week. For many people in the country have been diligent in the matter of tree planting, the result that many homes are barren of shade. A few well planted trees and shrubs add greatly to the appearance of the home, and the pleasure of procuring them is very great.

Plant some trees and some shrubs about the home this spring, and you will have a lot of pleasure in watching them grow and develop.

Mothers Find Peace

Along Sunshine Wall
There is hardly a mother in the Paris Latin quarter who does not know the sunshine wall. In the north-western corner of the Luxembourg garden you will find it, a long wall facing south, and the sunshine, if a vestige of sun there be, plays upon it all day long.

It is a wall of dignity, as befitting the Luxembourg museum of which it forms a part. Embellished in its center is Fountain's great mosaic, a vigorous angel, bearing a palm, in flight over a city. And ranged along the top of the wall over the mosaic are busts of famous artists; Loges, David, Delacroix and many more besides.

Higher come the mothers every day, and while the children also soundly in their perambulators or play with flash of dimpled legs and balls of shrill, gay laughter, they all are one unbroken line against the sun-bathed wall and talk and sew and sometimes dream a little. And above them the big mosaic blazes in the sunshine, and the great winged angel hovers over them with its palm. From the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

London's Snake Hospital
A "snake hospital" with comfortable beds in it and a resident physician to care for the reptiles' ill is an amazing feature of the new reptile house of London's zoological gardens. It boasts a diet kitchen, a battery of artificial sunlight lamps and other equipment of a hospital.

Snakes brought to this zoo from all over the world thrive under the care lavished upon them, reports Popular Science Monthly. Electric thermometers flash red or green lights when over the temperature is too hot or too cold for the delicate constitutions of the reptile guests. In an adjoining "insectarium" rare and foreign bugs are treated to insecticidal fumes, for the snakes that can thrive on them along with all the care a hotel chef might expend on meals for guests.

Start of Big Industry
Ice cream was first made commercially in this country in 1851 by Jacob Fussell, a milk dealer of Washington and Baltimore, who began his manufacture as a side line to his regular business. His methods were very crude and laborious, and his product exceedingly simple: a dishpan was partly filled with ice and salt, in which was placed a smaller dishpan containing the ingredients. Freezing was executed by revolving the smaller pan in the mixture of ice and salt. The total output of Mr. Fussell's factory at first amounted to only a few quarts per day.

Marks End of "Copy"
The origin of "copy" as used in news paper copy is not definitely known. It is derived directly from telegraphy where it is used at the end of a dispatch. It is suggested that it may have originated in the custom of putting XXX at the end of a message.

Good Things to Eat

In Odd Restaurant
The marquis said I got along like a couple of long lost poker chips in Florence. He invited me to dine at the famous Buca Lapi. Buca means "hole in the wall," and Lapi is the name of the three brothers who dug the hole under the historic Antipope palace. George Rector writes, in the Saturday Evening Post.

You go into this restaurant backward, as the entrance is down a flight of flat-footed marble steps. The first man you meet is the dishwasher, scrubbing away at ancient pots and battered chinaware. Then you walk through the vegetable department, and the kitchen before you skid down another flight of steps to the restaurant proper.

The remarkable thing about the Buca Lapi is the smallness of the kitchen, for everything is prepared and cooked on a flight of steps and a landing.

But their food is wonderful and Buca Lapi is one place in Europe where you can sink your teeth into a genuine T-bone steak, the prime of prime beef. The Florentine T-bone steak is from the Tuscan steer, and is the finest meat ever broiled on a flight of steps. It is cooked over charcoal on a small grill. I remember that grill because it is located on the third step from the bottom.

Ingenious Method of Ascertaining a Date
In the days when calendars were not known people had a clever way of finding the day of any fixed anniversary. The only fact you had to know was the day of the week on which New Year's came. A key sentence of 12 words was used in which one word stood for each of the 12 months. The sentence was: "At Dover dwelt George Brown, esquire, good Christopher Finch and David Friar."

Take, for example, the Fourth of July. As July is the seventh month, take the first letter of the seventh word of the key sentence; that is, g. It is also the seventh letter of the alphabet. So begin with Monday, the known New Year day, and count seven days. Thus Sunday will be found to be the 1st day of July and the 4th will be the following Wednesday.

Another illustration: To find the day of the week of a birthday falling on the 7th of May. As May is the 5th month, take the first letter of the corresponding fifth word of the key sentence; that is, b. b is also the second letter of the alphabet. So begin with Monday, the known New Year's day, and count two days. Thus Tuesday will be found to be the 1st day of May and the birthday will be the following Monday.

Peach of a Cook
The peach season had arrived and mother had baked a peach cobbler one evening for dinner. Jean, age four, had eaten her first helping and sat looking about wistfully at the other members of the family, who were eating theirs more slowly. Finally she mustered up the courage to ask for another helping. Her father, glancing at her empty dish, remarked: "You seem to like that pretty well, don't you, Jeanie?"

"Oh, daddy, I just love it," was Jean's answer. "I'm mighty glad you married this lady, 'cause she can certainly make the best peach cobbler I ever tasted."

"The Curfew Tolls"
Scattered about Great Britain are a few places where still "the curfew tolls the knell of parting day." St. Nicholas, Bristol, maintains the custom. Earlsferry in Fifeshire is another instance and so is Midhurst in Sussex, where it is heard every evening at eight o'clock. Tradition has it that about 1700 a merchant on his way to London lost himself in the great woods to the north of his town and found his way to houses by hearing the bells of Midhurst church. In gratitude he left a little garden, still called Curfew garden, the rent of which pays for the daily ringing of the curfew bell.

Legalized Death by Fire
The writ de heretico comburendo, by which heretics could be burned in England, was passed originally in 1401 against the Lollards and was repeated under Charles II.

Napoleon's Task Not Finished Until 1918

When the great cathedral of Notre Dame was alight with 10,000 softly waving candle flames and while a pope, brought from Rome to Paris, was preparing, in the presence of the most august assemblage that Europe could gather, to place an emperor's crown on Napoleon's head, Napoleon turned and whispered to his brother, "What would father say if he could see me now?" And the next moment, when the pope was ready to crown him, Napoleon firmly removed the emblem from the papal hands and placed the crown upon his own brow.

Kings and emperors are not born; you can make as great a king by artificial processes, provided you've got a brain under the crown, says W. G. Shepherd, the Mentor. Born kings make trouble, made kings are just as good as born kings, probably better. That's what Napoleon kept arguing and trying to prove all his life. This contention made the born kings angry.

The anger drove them together. They finally whipped Napoleon and sent him to St. Helena. He couldn't whip the born kings. He tried that 100 years ago. The world didn't whip the divine-right born kings until 1918. I wonder if Napoleon knows that we polished off the job he tried to do.

Metals Made Use of as Writing Materials
The earliest legible handwriting on paper in existence is a letter from the wife of a government official, complaining that her husband "is wrecking his career by dissipation." This letter dates back 1,500 years. Metals were used frequently in place of paper as writing material in early times. The ruler of Kandil once sent an embassy to the Dutch governor of Poillat. The embassy took along credentials inscribed on a plate of gold. It is on record that a book at Rome was made of leather but so heavy that the leaves could be turned over. Another book bought in the same city was four inches long, three inches broad, and the pages were all lead. The laws of Greece were inscribed on brass and those of Rome on slabs of brass, ivory and wood. The state records of the ancient Ionians were written on sheep and goat skins. The first archives of France were engraved on silver plates.—London Tit-Bits.

Women Rule and Serve
Explorers have found a tribe of half civilized natives in the wilds of the Asiatic Caucasus mountains called "maiden people" by neighboring tribes because they are ruled by the women of the tribe ap- to have ruled feminism Tuesday the dream of the civilized modern woman. Not to the disadvantage when for the women do all the work and the woman who provides the most luxuries for her husband and sons is most respected.

All the men have to do is to eat the food set before them, sleep, fish and smoke stone-bowled pipes which their women fill and light for them.—Cap- per's Weekly.

Banana a Bread
Bananas cannot truthfully be compared with other fruits, for while they grow on trees, they are really a bread fruit, having much the same properties and doing practically the same work in the body as the wheat that is in bread. Bananas are particularly effective as a winter fruit because they supply an effective source of heat. What is in a banana besides delicious flavor? Protein, fats and mineral matter and a large proportion of carbohydrates—the food element which creates energy, both muscular and mental.—The New Age Illustrated.

Bulgarian Songs
The most striking part of the Bulgarian folk song is the tune, described as wild and mournful, in a scale neither pure minor nor major, but partaking of both. It is strange and irregular measures much more frequent than in western Europe. As is often the way among peasant singers, the songs are pitched high, and sometimes a refrain is broken by shrill cries there is no vodeling. The melodies are short and the repetitions many.

Masterpiece
The great artist paused; brush and palette poised in the air. "A masterpiece!" he exclaimed.

"But I don't like it one bit," said the beautiful coed. "It is ashamed for any of my friends to see it. You'll just have to do it over."

This was the last straw. The old master became enraged. He threw his palette to the floor and shouted: "Leave my studio, young lady! I'll never paint another slicker for you as long as I live!"

PERFORMANCE as different as the car itself

Were greater beauty their only advantage, the new engineering principles of Dodge Brothers Victory Six would still be revolutionary.

Were greater safety the Victory's only advantage, it would still command the gratitude of a life-loving world.

Were greater economy its paramount feature, the fact would still remain that The Victory has made possible 21 miles per gallon at 25 miles per hour FOR A SIX.

But these are incidental to the basic Victory achievement. You must DRIVE the car to know about that!

You must take a corner faster than you ought, a cobbler pavement faster than you thought, before The Victory secret begins to reveal itself. And you must unleash the full, sustained speed of the car before the idea takes full hold!

Victory design is unlike that of any other vehicle in the world—and Victory performance is equally radical and remarkable.

To examine the one and experience the other will prove an event that we urge you not to postpone.

By Leonard Young, Ann Arbor

Mr. Frederick J. Heusel, was born in Ann Arbor, October 9, 1884. He matriculated in the public and high schools of the city, working for his father in the City Bakery immediately after graduation. At the age of 17 Mr. Heusel worked in Detroit for the Hiram Marks Electric Company and also for Lee & Cady. But in 1906, after the San Francisco earthquake, an adventurous impulse took him to the coast where he visited in Seattle and other coastal cities. After journeying to Salt Lake City and Denver, he accepted a position with the Santa Fe Railroad, being engaged at Albuquerque, New Mexico. Ann Arbor seemed to beckon to Mr. Heusel, as he returned and was married soon afterwards. But using of a wandering nature still, he traveled to Syracuse, New York, where he went into the bakery business. The lure of the home town drew him back again. This time he went into business with his father and remained there until September 3, 1927, when the business was sold to Gauss Baking Co. Mr. Heusel has always been prominent in Ann Arbor's civic affairs. He organized and was first president of the Kiwanis Club. He was president of the Michigan Bakers' Association and also of the Tri-State (Indiana, Ohio and Michigan) Bakers' Association. He has been active in fraternal circles also, having been Monarch of Zal Gazo Grotto and Chancellor Commander of the K. of P. He was Coroner of Washtenaw County and during the war acted as assistant food administrator of this county. At present Mr. Heusel is supervisor of the third ward. Since October 1, 1927, he has been in the general insurance business which he is carrying on very successfully.

NOTICE OF ELECTION TO COME LATER

From conversation on the street it would seem there is some misunderstanding regarding the purpose of the meeting called for the village council rooms for Thursday, March 15th. This meeting is for the purpose of giving consideration to the proposed sewer project and not for the purpose of voting upon the question of bonding. After the proposition has been submitted to the citizens the village council will proceed to call a special election at which the question of bonding the village in the sum of $38,000.00 for the purpose of constructing a disposal plant.

Maps of the proposed system to disposal of sewage and sanitary sewer system and sewage construction are on file with the village clerk and can be seen by any one interested.

Outline maps of the system are on exhibition at both of the Chelsea banks.
