THE CHELSEA SCREW CO. TO MERGE WITH THE FEDERAL SCREW WORKS OF DETROIT

One Of The Largest Concerns Of Its Kind In The Country—Local Plant To Be Enlarged And Number Of Employees Greatly Increased—Mr. M. J. Dunkel To Remain As Manager.

A business consolidation which will vitally affect Chelsea, was consummated the first of the week when the stockholders of the Chelsea Screw Company voted to merge with the Federal Screw Works of Detroit, one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country. The plan of the merger is based upon an exchange of stock and cash, with the result that local stockholders will hold a good block of the stock of the Federal.

Chelsea people will be glad to learn that the consolidation will not materially affect the management of the local factory, because it is agreed that Mr. Dunkel will be vice president of the company and manager of the Chelsea plant; a fact all will be glad to know. Under Mr. Dunkel's management the company has grown and expanded to its present size and the Chelsea Screw Company has been regarded as one of the most prosperous and progressive concerns in its line in the state.

It is planned to greatly expand the business of the local plant. Every foot of available space will be filled with new automatic machines and it is expected that the number of employees will be increased from about 90—the number now employed—to about 300. This will mean a lot to Chelsea and to this entire community, and the news of the merger was received with rejoicing by the Chelsea people, especially when it was known that Mr. Dunkel was to remain in active charge and that no drastic changes were contemplated in the operation of the local plant, a concern in which every resident of Chelsea has taken personal pride, whether they were fortunate enough to be a stockholder, an employee of the company or just a citizen of the community who has watched the enterprise grow from a small beginning to its present importance in the manufacturing field.

The original company was established in 1918, and the business was taken over by the present company in 1916, and its growth and expansion has been most extraordinary.

The local company has been very prosperous, has paid liberal dividends to its stockholders and expanded year after year to meet the demands for its products.

The merger will mean more men will be employed in Chelsea and that will require more homes, more children in our schools, and the business of the community will be given a general stimulus.

CHELSEA HI DEFEATED TECUMSEH HI FRIDAY

To The Score 13 To 0 In A Well Played Game—Ann Arbor Here Friday Afternoon.

On a wet field and with a slippery ball, the Chelsea boys again showed their superiority over the Tecumseh eleven at Tecumseh last Friday afternoon. Although out weighed ten pounds or more, man for man, Chelsea showed a fine fighting spirit that carried them to victory.

Chelsea kicked off to Tecumseh and the ball was downed to Tecumseh's 25-yard line. On the first play Tecumseh carried the ball around right end for eight yards and in the next play made a first down. This rush was stopped and after three attempts through the line for as many yards Tecumseh was forced to kick. Fahrner received the ball and carried it back to the 40-yard line. From here Chelsea had to kick. The first quarter was a kicking duel with Chelsea coming out best. Neither team scored.

In the second quarter Chelsea opened up a passing attack that baffled the Tecumseh team.

Using a new formation for the first time Fahrner passed to Steiner who carried the ball 38 yards for the first touchdown. Fahrner made a perfect place-kick for the extra point.

Chelsea again kicked to Tecumseh against a very strong wind. The ball was carried back to the 35-yard line. Tecumseh began a plunging attack which was not stopped until the ball was deep in Chelsea territory. On the 30-yard line the Chelsea defense stiffened and Tecumseh was forced to kick. The ball rolled over the goal and was put in play on the 20-yard line. Fahrner punted out of danger and the ball was in mid-field as the half ended. The score at the half was Chelsea 7, Tecumseh 0.

In the third quarter Chelsea again kicked. Aided by a strong wind the ball rolled over the goal line. Tecumseh kicked on the first down and Fahrner signaling for a free catch downed the ball on the 30-yard line. Chelsea attempted a pass which was intercepted, Tecumseh gaining possession of the ball on her 30-yard line. By rushing Tecumseh advanced the ball to Chelsea's 35-yard line but failing to gain after three attempts they kicked over the goal. On the first play Chelsea was penalized 15 yards and the ball was carried back to the five-yard line. Kicking from behind his own goal Fahrner punted to the Tecumseh five-yard line. Tecumseh kicked out of danger and the ball was in Chelsea's possession on the 40-yard line as the quarter ended.

In the last quarter Tecumseh began a series of plunges that carried the ball to Chelsea's five-yard line. A pass was intercepted by "Flash" Fahrner behind the goal line. Aided by perfect interference he carried the ball 107 yards for the second touchdown. This ended the victory.

The whole team played a fine game. The line was handicapped somewhat by the absence of Adion and the greater weight of the opposing team. Friday afternoon Ann Arbor comes here to play. Everybody come out and help the team win.

CAR OF MERCHANDISE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Shortly after midnight men in charge of the D. J. & C. railway freight train discovered fire in one of the cars, and the Ann Arbor fire department was called to their assistance. The firemen applied chemicals and thought they had the fire subdued and the train proceeded toward Chelsea. When the train had reached the Vickers switch it was discovered that the fire was still burning and the Chelsea department was called and our firemen also applied chemicals, but the fire had made such headway that it was thought best to come on to Chelsea where water was available, and when the train reached here the car in which the fire had appeared was "cut out" and soon a stream of water was being played upon the blaze.

The car was loaded with a mix cargo and practically all of its contents were destroyed.

GOOD ROADS MEETING AT PALMYRA MONDAY

Seventy-five Men Gathered To Boost The Proposed New Highway—Round-up At Tecumseh November 12th

Messrs Vance Ogden and P. F. Neilaus represented the Chelsea district at the good roads meeting held at Palmyra on Monday evening when 75 men gathered to boost the project. There was a fine spirit manifested at the meeting and all present were loyal to the proposed project.

Edwin Braun of Tecumseh presided and explained the purpose of the meeting and what had been accomplished thus far. Other speakers were C. Wuerthnew of Manchester, John Richards of Adrian, Fred Ehringer, Wm. Baldwin and Wm. Denlen of Palmyra, Elmer Beamer of Ogden township and W. G. Reeves of Stockbridge.

The ladies of Palmyra prepared a bountiful dinner and the whole affair reflected credit on the community, and demonstrated the interest the people of that section are taking in the movement.

A round-up meeting will take place at Tecumseh on November 12th, at which time it is proposed to have petitions ready for circulation for signature in all of the communities interested in the proposed highway. It is desired to secure as many signatures as possible and that means that everybody will be given an opportunity to sign.

Chelsea will send a large delegation to the Tecumseh meeting.

POPULAR CHELSEA COUPLE MARRIED AT ANN ARBOR

As briefly mentioned in our last issue, a very pretty fall wedding was solemnized at St. Thomas church in Ann Arbor last Thursday morning, the contracting parties being Miss Gladys Ione Forner and William G. Kolb of Chelsea. The ceremony by Rev. Father Conway in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The bridal party entered the church, which was beautifully decorated with seasonal flowers, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march and during the ceremony Mr. Ryan sang "Ave Marie." The bride was beautifully dressed in a gown of maroon lace crepe and velvet with slippers to match. She wore a chick hat of gold metallic which blended with her gown and she carried a shower bouquet of Columbia roses and lilies of the valley bound with white tulle. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom.

As bridesmaid Miss Blanche Winkler was attractively gowned in a soft gray shade of georgette and velvet, with hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of roses. The groom was attended by Otto Kress as best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party went to the Haunted Tavern Tea Shoppe where a reception was held and a three course wedding breakfast was served.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Forner of this place and for a few years has been a successful teacher in this section. She graduated from the Chelsea High and the State Normal College at Ypsilanti. Kolb is the son of Mrs. Katherine Kolb and has been the proprietor of Kolb's Restaurant, a popular eating place, for a number of years. They have the best wishes of friends in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Kolb will reside at Dexter for the winter, Mrs. Kolb having a school near that village.

Michener will make a tour of the county Friday—to-morrow and they will speak at Dexter at 10:00 in the forenoon and come direct to Chelsea, arriving here at 11:00. OUR NEIGHBORS

Jackson—The unveiling of the memorial shaft honoring Mrs. Ella W. Sharp will take place at Sharp park, Sunday, November 4, it is expected. Governor Fred W. Green will be one of the speakers.

Milan—Milan High school has become a member of the Michigan High school debating league this year will compete for the inter-scholastic debate championship of the state. The first step in the race for state honors will be taken on November 16 when the local high school debating team, coached by Superintendent E. W. Mackey, of the high school faculty will meet one of the neighboring schools to be announced later by the University.

Pickney—The paving of the Pickney Main street is nearing completion. A 20-foot strip has been laid for its entire length of a mile and a quarter and a 40-foot strip in the business section. There remains to be laid a six foot strip from the Sinclair oil station to Sluyter and Son's garage and the curbing to be put in from Barry's drug store to the residence of Rex Smith and also the intersection at Main and Patterson Lake road.—Dispatch.

Brooklyn—Lloyd Southard of the Consumers' Power Co. gives the Extension of the definite information that construction will commence in November on an extension of electric service to the north side of Vineyard lake and to Wampplers lake. A sufficient number of signatures have been secured at Vineyard Point to warrant the service and a good start has been made at Wampplers among the cottage owners. The line will furnish electric current to the farm owners along the line.—Exponent.

Keweenaw—The family of William Sleaford, Howell township farmers, will not lack for pumpkin pies, this winter, as in harvesting their pumpkin crop. Thursday afternoon one was found by Mr. Sleaford that tipped the scales at 89 pounds. It is of the pumpkin pie variety and is the largest pumpkin ever raised in this county, it is believed, and probably in this part of the state. The big pumpkin is on exhibition at the Sleaford home just west of Howell and will be photographed.—Review.

Blymouth—We are glad to announce this week that Plymouth is to have another industrial plant added to her list. The National Window Shade Company of Detroit and Minneapolis broke ground last Saturday for a new factory building on a site which they have purchased just north of the plant at the General Machine & Iron Works, Inc., and on the Toledo division of the Pere Marquette railroad.—Mail.

Williamston—The report of Ingham county's drain commissioner, Lloyd R. Doune, submitted to the board of supervisors, shows that his office has been a busy place during the past year. A little better than ten miles of drain has been constructed at a total cost of $24,748.00, with 10.48 miles now under construction.—Enterprise.

Saline—As he was on his way to deliver some gasoline to someone in distress Sunday night, Herman Gutherid had the misfortune to have his car rammed head-on by a driver of a Nash car bearing a Grand Rapids license, badly wrecking Gutherid's new Erskine. The accident happened near the York school. The stranger tried to drive away from the scene and when overtaken took to his heels and made his escape. No one was injured. The Nash is in the sheriff's keeping.—Observer.

Stockbridge—The Business Men's association of this village have a committee at work on a proposition to raise the necessary funds to have an auto parts manufacturing company move their plant from Jackson to this village. The prospects look very favorable and the residents of the village are quite favorably impressed with the report of the committee who are at work on the proposition.

PYTHON RAISES CAUSE IN HELL'S KITCHEN

Zaza's Pet Gets Loose and Stirs Things Up

New York—This much is certain—if Mrs. Peter Olsen, who is thirty-two, and a snake dancer in three-day vaudeville, takes that reptile back to her apartment, Mrs. Olsen, whose husband works nights, moves out. And who wouldn't?

This domestic impasse was arrived at logically, but with considerable confusion and five stalwart cops, recently while a goodly assemblage from Hell's Kitchen, where lots of queer things happen, looked, listened and gasped.

Mrs. Olsen, whose dancing name is Ahddia Zaza, had made a pet of an eight foot 35 pound brown and white python. Several days ago she went out and after she had returned late at night the python also went out. Inexplicably, it may be that Bozo, Mrs. Olsen's pet monkey, loosened the door on the snake's cage—but be that as it is, nobody told Mrs. Munno, who lives on the same floor, about it.

Therefore, when a couple of Juns crashed to the floor in Mrs. Munno's kitchen she naturally was alarmed. In another room, adjoining the kitchen, slept Joseph, her twelve-year-old son. She cautiously opened the door for a peek, switching on the lights. She blinked once, for there, behind the stove, was a snake poking its head at her and hissing. One blink was enough. Gathering the loose folds of her dressing gown as best she could, Mrs. Munno dashed for the stairway and bounded down three and four steps at a time, emitting a screaming leap. And such screams! Patrolman Edward Welch says she was audible from Times square to the Hudson river.

Into the chimney morning and the arms of Welch dashed the vociferous Mrs. Munno.

"Oh, officer get your gun! There's a terrible snake or something in my apartment!"

Now, Officer Welch had heard those screams. And so he looked at Mrs. Munno with that pained expression with which any cop might be expected to look at any woman who, clad in a thin wrapper and a loud voice, comes dashing into the street at four o'clock in the morning talking excitedly about snakes.

Nevertheless, he went to investigate. As was to be expected the reptile resisted this. Welch whacked at the snake with his night stick and the python defended himself as best he could. Welch ordered and executed a perfect one man retreat, while Mrs. Munno looked into the room of Joseph, by some miracle or other still asleep.

Mr. Welch considered. This was a battle that already called for reinforcements. So he called the West 47th Street station.

"Say," he shouted, "There's a big snake down here. What'll I do?"

"Well," challenged Lieut. Edward Moran sleepily. "We ain't got no snake chumpers up here."

But I ain't got the D. T.'s, Welch insisted. "This here's a real live snake and it's about fifteen feet long. I gotta have some help."

Lieut. Moran dispatched Sergt. Joseph Stanton and four members of the emergency squad with pinch bars and a body sack to subdue the snake. They arrived, with a large contingent of neighbors attracted by the excitement, and set to work.

During the melee somebody stuck a yard stick down the snake's mouth. An eight-foot python with 20 inches of stick rapping against its esophagus is nobody's plaything, as five of New York's finest soon found. They located one of the huge pinchers about its neck and another about its body. Now they had it, but what next?

Somebody brought the body sack, somebody used to carry corpses. They laid it on the floor in front of the snake. Watching mightily, the python's head was soon poked inside. Bit by bit they wormed in the rest, yardstick and all, and off went Mrs. Olsen's python to the police station.

There she claimed it, but her claim was held up until experts from the Bronx zoo could determine its relative harmlessness.

Shark Chases Fishermen

for Two Days Off Havana

Havana—Three excited fishermen drove a small motor boat into the harbor, rushed to the port captain and told him they had been chased for two days by a huge shark. A rifle squad of customs guards was sent out to give battle to the fish. The men said they were fishing for sharks when the big specimen reversed the procedure. They said the sea tiger had tried to overturn their craft and had nearly succeeded several times.

Dog Sorrows for Master

He Accidentally Killed

Hillsboro, Ore.—A pet dog is sorrowing for his master here, but he does not realize that he was responsible for the man's death. All he knows is that William Glider does not come home any more. Mr. Glider and Mrs. Glider were out shooting squirrels. The dog came sniffing around the rifle which the man had placed in some bushes, and it exploded, killing Mr. Glider.

A good deal is being said these days concerning church members and the issues of the present campaign. Some go so far as to intimate that church men and church women have no right to express their opinions concerning the vital issue of this campaign—the question of prohibition and the defense of the Eighteenth amendment, and those who do so are being accused of narrowness and bigotry. Is there any one—could there be any one—more vitally interested in every movement for the uplift of humanity than the men and women who comprise the membership of our churches, without regard to creed or denomination preferences. They have carried the prohibition fight thus far and they are not going to surrender now.

"The church believes in prohibition. It is not a passing fad, but the culmination of a long development of struggle against the social evils of strong drink. To reach the present goal has cost strength and treasure and blood. But through fellowship in this mighty effort to free society from the blith that was upon multitudes of lives and homes the church has come to practical unanimity that prohibition is a valid and effective weapon. In spite of occasional dissent the church as a whole is committed to prohibition, and looks forward with eager confidence to the day when the whole world will accept this policy.

"But prohibition today faces a crisis. From the first certain classes have showered upon it ridicule. That it could not win was freely prophesied, and now from the throats of those who want it to fall there rises anew the cry of failure. Judging by the noise they make they must be badly hurt, but timid souls, who do not understand are confused and filled with fear. Then follows a demand for such modifications as will give thirsty lips and parched throats the wine and beer they crave. Finally, by a daring bit of political strategy one of the great political parties finds itself committed by its chief candidate to the defeat of prohibition.

"Mr. Smith makes no secret of his attitude. He repudiates his party's platform and openly declares himself as favoring 'fundamental changes in the present provisions for national prohibition.

"On this matter there can be dispute. He sets himself as a candidate squarely against the position taken by the church. For us there can be no alternative. We cannot surrender. We must hold our ground.

"The crisis demands knowledge of the facts. The evils of drink are indisputable, but many have forgotten. The very success of prohibition has dulled the edge of our concern. Bootlegging is not new. It was common in the old license days. We have deaths today from drinking bootleg, but under regulation there were manifold more from licensed beverages. Prohibition with enforcement at its worst is shown to be better than legally sanctioned beverage alcohol with regulation at its best.

"The crisis demands too that we recognize the nature of the proposed modification. We have respect for those who openly seek the repeal of this constitutional provision. But the proposal before us seeks to accomplish by indirection what cannot be done openly. Surely we will not countenance such modification of the enforcement laws as will permit what the constitution forbids.

"Moreover the crisis demands that we understand the power yielded by a president either for or against our cause. Beyond the immeasurable power of presidential prestige, he has large opportunity to help or hinder. He appoints the secretary of the treasury who is directly responsible for the enforcement of the law. He chooses the attorney general, whose duty relates to the persecution of offenders. His nomination decides who shall be supreme court justices—new ones probably within a few years. From what group is an executive likely to choose his appointees? And what is likely to be their attitude on this moral question? Surely more a reflection of the appointing power.

"The interests which are at stake demand that we choose for this high office a man publicly committed to prohibition, rather than one who openly declares his enmity to it."

It is time that church men and church women became aroused over the danger that threatens the cause of prohibition.

DISEASES REDUCE POULTRY PROFITS

The belief that it is cheaper to prevent epidemics in poultry flocks than to cure sick fowls has caused the poultry department at Michigan State College to schedule a series of poultry sanitation meetings throughout the state during October and November.

The poultry specialists say that healthy breeding stock is the first point to consider in disease prevention. The owner should cull his birds rigidly to eliminate weak individuals, and when stock is bought, the birds should be kept separated from the home flock for two weeks.

Poultry houses should admit plenty of sunlight and the ventilating system should keep the house dry at all times. Concrete floors are an aid in keeping the house clean. Roosts should have screened, dropping boards beneath them.

In cleaning poultry houses all loose dirt should be removed before any liquid cleaning solution is used. One pound of lye dissolved in 40 gallons of water makes a good cleaning agent. Coal tar disinfectants should be used after the cleaning solution has dried thoroughly.

These sanitation measures and many others will be stressed at a meeting to be held in Jackson county, November 1st and 2nd.

A GREAT TRIBUTE

If you are ever so fortunate as to visit our National Capitol at Washington, you will find many things there to thrill you.

But none, perhaps, as stirring as one picture that hangs as a permanent gift to the American people and a fitting tribute to one of the most glorious deeds in all our nation's proud history.

This wonderful picture bears a simple title "WE," and as its name suggests, depicts the gallant flight of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris—the flight that thrilled the world and gave it probably its most loved hero of all time.

And the best part of all this is, you can have a handsome copy of "WE," printed in 12 colors measuring eighteen by twenty-four inches, to hang in your own home.

You cannot buy the picture at any price. It may be had only through The Youth's Companion at its free gift to you with a year's subscription to the magazine.

In its new form as a monthly magazine, The Companion itself has more to offer than ever before—a full book-length novel and short stories; feature articles and editorials; contests, puzzles, poems, recommendations of books and motion pictures, and special departments for both boys and girls covering their own favorite activities.

In order that every American home may enjoy the inspiration of the famous picture "WE," we make the following liberal offer:

1. The Youth's Companion, 12 big monthly numbers, and

2. Two extra numbers to new subscribers ordering within 30 days, and

3. A copy of "WE" in 12 colors, framing size 13x24 inches. All for $2.

Republican Notes

Arthur Sears Henning, one of the greatest political writers in the country, in a communication to the press, Sunday, said that the defeat of Gov. Smith was almost a certainty. He said:

"That Herbert Hoover will be elected President of the United States two weeks from next Tuesday is now almost a certainty."

What chance Gov. Smith had of winning has been oozing away during the last fortnight. . . . It may turn out to be a Hoover landslide."

If the democrats will only keep Gov. Smith on the platform until election day he will bury himself and his party with his abuse of his worthy opponent.

Mrs. Henry Ford Calls Hoover Choice of the Nation's Women

Wife of Automobile Manufacturer Says Issues of Campaign Are the Most Important Since Universal Suffrage.

Mrs. Henry Ford believes that most American women who love their homes and families will vote for Herbert Hoover in November.

So firmly convinced is Mrs. Ford that the issue of this year's presidential election is "of exceptional importance to women" that she decided to express her views in the first interview on politics she has ever granted.

"The issue is beyond politics," she declared in her home in Dearborn, Michigan, to a representative of the Women's National Committee for Hoover of which Mrs. F. Louis Slade is chairman.

"I am not a politician," she remarked, "I helped to the best of my ability in the fight to get the vote. Since we have had the vote, I have always been interested in politics but I have never participated in any direct personal activities in that direction."

"We are for Hoover because we like the kind of work he has already done. His achievement in helping the Mississippi flood sufferers was remarkable, considering the shortness of time. He has done lots of other admirable things."

"We women are tremendously interested in legislation which relates to children or anything to do with the home. We are interested in proper legislation and getting the proper men to put it through. Mr. Hoover seems to be the right sort of man."

"Mrs. Hoover's early life and Mr. Hoover's in the old farm state of Iowa and on their present fine practical farm in California has helped them both to maintain a deep insight into farm conditions. Mr. Hoover realizes that it is of primary importance that life on the farms should be on the highest possible plane."

"Mr. Hoover will be doing a great thing if he succeeds in making the farm a better place to live on. He will earn the gratitude of thousands of women if he gives families on the farms the same sort of chance to lead a true good American life as most city families already have."

"This, you see, is outside of politics. Politics is too big a subject to discuss in a few minutes. This is true Americanism."

HELD RALLY AT PLEASANT LAKE MONDAY NIGHT

The democrats of Washtenaw county held a rally at the pavilion at Pleasant Lake, in Freedom township, Monday evening. William A. Comstock, candidate for governor, Grover L. Morden, candidate for congress, and a number of Ann Arbor men delivered addresses. There was a good attendance and great interest was shown in the outcome of the campaign.

HAS REPRESENTED THE DISTRICT WELL

Earl C. Michner, who is seeking reelection as representative in congress from this congressional district, the Second district, has made an enviable record during the years he has served the people at Washington. He has given his whole time to the duties of the office and he has given careful and courteous attention to all matters referred to him by the people of the district. He is well qualified for the position both in training and in experience and it would be unwise to make any change at this time.

Mr. Michner is in sympathy with the policies of the present administration and he has represented the people of Michigan faithfully and well.

Detroit—Construction commenced on Henry Ford's museum here.

4-H CLUBS ARE ACTIVE

The Fourfold club of Freedom township held a recent meeting at the home of one of its former members, Gregory Seonger near Brooklyn in Jackson county. Gregory was formerly of Manchester and his family has moved onto a large farm near Clark Lake where Gregory is carrying out in a practical way the knowledge he has gained in 4-H club work.

The Endwell club gave the program in the Hagan school P. T. A. recently. The program was in the form of a pageant directed by Mrs. McAuliffe and showed the community what the 4-H club had accomplished in their work this summer.

The Salem Farmers' club which is sponsoring the Salem Junior Farmers club will conduct the 4-H club show and achievement banquet which they promised the boys and girls last spring, Friday evening, November 2.

The boys and girls will bring their exhibits to the show not later than on Friday noon and they will be placed on exhibit and judged in time for the evening show.

The Chelsea 4-H club show will be held Saturday, November 3. This show is sponsored by the Chelsea Kiwanis club and will be open to all 4-H club exhibitors in the Chelsea area. The Kiwanians will also entertain all the exhibitors and their parents the following Monday evening 5th.

The 4-H club members of the club plan to exhibit some of their work at the Community night program, Friday evening, November 9th.

Dean Gordon of the Saline Junior 4-H club returned from Memphis, Tenn., where he visited the National Dairy Show, Saturday, October 20. He was a guest of the Washtenaw County Holstein Friesian Association for having the best Holstein Calf Club record book and story in the county held at the county club agent's office, October 1. Dean will give a report of his trip in a later issue.

YEARLY FOR T. B.

New York and California Lead in Hospitals.

New York.—A survey recently completed by the National Tuberculosis association showed that New York state leads the country in the number of public, semiprivate and private sanitariums for the cure of tuberculosis, with California ranking second. This state has a total of 9,498 beds while California has 4,451.

The growth in institutions for tuberculosis cases has increased greatly during the last twenty-four years. In 1904 there were less than 3,000 beds devoted to the care of the tuberculous.

Today there are 72,723 beds in 608 public, semiprivate and private tuberculosis sanitariums. This includes Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines and 44 federal sanitariums containing 12,320 beds.

It is estimated that 200,000 persons are cured yearly in the institutions.

Every state in the United States, except Idaho, Nevada and New Mexico, maintains public institutions for combating the disease. Idaho and Nevada make absolutely no provision, public or private, for the tuberculous, the report indicates.

Dr. Linsley R. Williams, managing director of the National Tuberculosis association, characterized the analysis as "most illuminating" and declared: "Despite the fact that there has been an increase of 700 per cent in the facilities for the care of the tuberculous in the past twenty-four years, improved methods and the increasing desire of the public to learn the truth about its physical condition brings to light more cases of tuberculosis than can be taken care of by existing sanitariums."

"Four states on the list have only one sanitarium each, but the fact that they are all publicly supported is an encouraging sign that the citizens and officials of those states have begun to realize the importance of providing protection against tuberculosis, which still kills more persons between the ages of eighteen and forty-five than any other disease."

Russians Use Rats to Exterminate Rats

Moscow.—Rat-eating rats are being used in Leningrad. Thirty pairs of rats were put in thirty cages, and for a long period given no food. In some cases one member of the pair then ate the other. These rat-eating rats were then in turn paired, until by process of elimination several super rat-eating rats were developed. Breeding was then begun with these ravenous monsters as a base. The idea is to develop a system of self rat extermination. Rats are a serious problem in Leningrad, 2,000,000 being there; and many methods of extermination are being tried. The loss to Leningrad through destruction by rats is estimated at $2,500,000 annually. Rat extermination centers have been formed in 220 co-operative stores, ninety-six factories, ten storerooms, three markets and thirty-eight other establishments. And now the rat-eating rat is to be let loose on his brethren.

Father of Pilgrim Movement Honored

Leyden, Holland.—The memory of John Robinson, called the "father" of the Pilgrim movement to America and pastor of the English church at Leyden between 1609-25, was honored here recently in the unveiling of a bronze tablet in the baptistry of the Peterskerk.

The tablet is inscribed: "His broad tolerant mind guided and developed the religious life of the Pilgrims of the Mayflower."

It was given by the General Society of Mayflower Descendants. Addresses were delivered by Edward M. Tolin, United States minister; Dr. J. H. van Royce, the Dutch minister at Washington; and Professor van Ness, chairman of the Pilgrim Fathers society at Leyden.

Perfect Fit of Glass Measured by Spectrum

Rochester.—A method of measuring to within one hundred thousandth of an inch is in use in a lens making establishment here. This test measures the accuracy of the curve on the surface of the glass lenses. First a test glass of the proper curvature is fitted against the surface of the lens under inspection. If the two surfaces do not fit within one hundred thousandth of an inch, concentric rings of light, in all the colors of the spectrum, appear where the glass surfaces meet. When the fit nears perfection, the concentric rings diminish in number and become symmetrical.

Boy Without Hands Wins Designing Prize

London.—Although he was born without hands, John Buchanan, eighteen-year-old inmate of the National Children's home, has won the second prize for fancy calendars in the competition of industrial designs for Imperial Institute, London. Buchanan holds his brush between two stumps, and has won many prizes for designs.

Thirty-four Years Ago

October 25, 1894. Addie L., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Snyder, died at the home of her parents, Saturday, October 20, 1894. She was born in Posters, March 26, 1881. The funeral was held in the M. E. church, Monday afternoon, Rev. Wm. Walker assisted by Rev. C. L. Adams conducting the services.

There is considerable talk of trying to start a canning factory here and an effort is being made to organize a stock company to conduct the business. Adam Kalmbach of Sylvan, had his residence destroyed by a fire Friday. A defective chimney was the cause of the flames. Only a small portion of the household goods were saved. The insurance was $400.00.

A large number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Waltrous assisted them in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage last Monday.

Chas. Allyn, while gathering apples in his orchard one day last week, fell from a tree and was severely injured. Died, Sunday, October 21, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schumacher.

Saturday morning an electrical storm passed over this place. Lightning played on the electric light and telephone wires in a manner that was not pleasant for those who were near them. Considerable rain fell while the storm was passing over the village.

SHERIFF ERNEST WURSTER MAKES HIS ANNUAL REPORT

Wurster Kept Within Budget of $30,000, Supervisors Told.

One of the county officials who kept within the budget allowed him by the board of supervisors was Sheriff Ernest M. Wurster who, in his annual report to the supervisors now in session in the county building, showed that from an allowance of $30,000 for a year ending October 1, 1928, he had spent $24,321.14.

The largest item in the list of expenses was for salaries which amounted to $15,326.75 for the year. Deputy sheriff's expenses amounted to $1,321.36, which is one of the next largest items and $1,320.63 was expended for automobile equipment repairs.

Following is an itemized list of other expenditures: Postage, $42.08; printing, books, and so forth, $24.01; stationery, $82.49; office supplies, $160.80; ammunition and guns, $5.30; cleanser, soap, laundry and other like expenses, $156.10; cooking meals, $835.05; freight, $23.75; fuel, $158.90; gas for cooking, $206.05; gasoline and oil, $1,124.77; ice, $48.00; insurance, $148.40; electric light, $238.94; building repairs, $24.95; building equipment, $974.99; medical treatment, $91.00; miscellaneous expenses, $67.86; provisions, $1,403.00; telephone and telephone, $770.69; water, $57.91.

The sheriff reported that $25,241.73 had been collected by his department but not all of this goes into the county treasury. Document fees amounted to $1,642.01 and $110.63 was received from prisoners for telephone and telegraph. Jail fees and costs from justice courts brought $2,431.13 and $725.88 was paid by the state for transporting prisoners to penal institutions. The refund on the gasoline tax came to $170.03 and $2,711.25 was received for the care of federal prisoners. These items total $7,701.93.

In addition to this total, the sheriff reported that circuit court costs in the amount of $8,973.85, justice court fines amounting to $3,267.75 had been collected. The total of these items is $47,005.00. The sheriff's report also included a statement of the more important motor trips of his office which showed a total mileage of 18,967 in conveying persons to state institutions, answering miscellaneous calls in executing court orders in outside towns and cities.—Ann Arbor Daily News.

The British flag floats over about one-fourth of the habitable area of the world.

Methodist Home

Mr. George Donaldson of Buffalo, N. Y. and Mr. Walter Witt of Detroit, brother and nephew of Mrs. Nellie Smith, called last Saturday, taking Mrs. Smith with them to Lapeer for a visit.

On Wednesday Rev. F. I. Walker made an urgent appeal for the deficit in the needs for what is known as "World's Work" following which the Home folks raised the sum of $200.00 to be thus applied.

Last Thursday afternoon Rev. and Mrs. Johnson of the Newberg charge came with several ladies from their Beach appointment bringing us a generous supply of fruit. After inspecting the Home they entertained us with singing.

Mrs. Elmes spent Sunday afternoon with friends in Detroit.

Mr. Park C. Graves, his son, Clarence W. Graves with his wife, daughter, Marion, and sons, Harold and Robert, all of Drayden Plain were callers on Mr. Graves' sister, Mrs. Frances Graves-Pool, Sunday.

A recent letter from Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Reed describes their beautiful motor trip through the eastern mountains to their destination in Lowell, Mass., from whence they are driving to the many surrounding historic towns which they greatly enjoy but decide in favor of old Michigan and the Home as an abiding place.

Members of the family are always pleased when visited by young people bringing sunshine and good cheer. This was especially true of the coming of twenty-five of the intermediate Epworth League from Dr. Stalker's church, Ann Arbor, on Sunday last, with Mrs. Chapman as their leader and Miss Marion Switzer in charge of the program. Following songs, Miss Margaret Hiscock offered prayer and after song by the young people, gave a reading, "Monuments of Life" which was excellently rendered and well appreciated. At the request of Mrs. Chapman, Dr. Balmer combined words of welcome with congratulations for these young people that they had chosen the Christian way this early in life. Dr. Balmer then introduced Mr. H. M. Slauson, a new member of the Home board, who substantiated Dr. Balmer's remarks. Mr. Slauson and Prof. Stocking assisted in the transportation of the group. They will always be met with a hearty welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moser of Toledo, Ohio, called on Mrs. Filer last Sunday.

Miss Edna Randall of Highland Park and Miss Marjorie Brown of Reed City called on Mrs. Alice B. Chapin Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Frances Pool is visiting her sister in Pontiac this week.

Mr. Arthur Richenbach, Miss Eleanor Rouland and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred White, all of Detroit, were callers on Mrs. Gorton Sunday afternoon.

Miss Alice Hunt of Oak Park, Chicago came to visit her father, G. J. Hunt last Friday evening spending several days.

Mrs. Stocking's daughter, Mrs. Palmer, of Ann Arbor, called on her recently.

Miss Carrie Bowen's class known as the business woman's class of the Ypsilanti Methodist church have recently presented the home with over seventy volumes, mostly fiction, for our library. These with the fine bookcase furnished by one of the circles of the Ladies Aid society of that church are happy reminders of their loyalty to us and our pleasure and entertainment. For all of which we are sincerely grateful.

Mrs. Mary Dillon from Hudson called on Mrs. Filer and Mrs. Gowing Monday forenoon.

Even the fowls of a quiet Methodist Home, are supposed to walk the straight and narrow way, nor let their angry passions rise, but after a very small guest youngster had chased the fleeing birds, the old black and white rooster decided to defend his haven and with a vicious squawk and wings wide spread, he made a charge that would have been a credit to a gangster with fighting blood aroused, following the screaming child across the lawn when, but for timely parental interference the result might have been disastrous to the intruder. Even a Methodist rooster may turn like the proverbial worm.

After spending some five weeks with relatives in Port Wayne, Decatur, and other places in Illinois, Mr. Simon Usley is again with us, ever ready to do all and more than he is able in and about the Home.

Mrs. Sarah E. MacGregor was recently agreeably surprised by a call from her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilmore, Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. They were accompanied by her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilmore and son, Harold Jr., also from Chicago.

Mrs. John Springer and daughter, Mrs. Kuttrell of Pontiac called on their aunt, Mrs. Rebecca Robbins, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Sarah Wolfe's sister-in-law, Mrs. Candace Demond, her sons, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Demond and Mr. Jess Demond, all of Gains, paid her a visit last Sunday, bringing a chicken dinner which was thoroughly enjoyed. She is quite willing that they come again.

Mrs. Bird entertained Mrs. Wheeler at her Cavanaugh Lake home for several days, exchanging her for Miss Mr. Charles Safford, Mrs. Coon and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Orneby, all of Ann Arbor, called on Mrs. Gorton Sunday.

Stella Arnold last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Rouland en route from their summer home at Lexington to Detroit Monday afternoon, stopped for a short visit with Mrs. Gorton who brought them in to our evening meal. Mr. and Mrs. Dell Bennett of Lansing were visitors of their aunt, Mrs. Dora Davis, recently.

Problem of Bad Money

Settled by Westerner

Franklin Fisher, the well-known editor, said on disembarking from the France:

"The World war did one good thing anyway. It established a paper currency in France. The French can't hold money on the foreigner any longer."

"Tobaccoists and cabbies and bus conductors used to carry several quarts of bad one-franc and two-franc and five-franc pieces that they'd unload on the foreigner without mercy."

"Once, back in 1913, I drove to the Louvre with a westerner. The taximeter registered 10 francs 15 centimes."

"The westerner slipped the driver a 20-franc gold piece and hurried off without waiting for his change."

"That's how I get around 'em now," he said, with a cunning look. "The wife used to have the laugh on me because I brought home so much bad money. Now I don't take any change at all!"—Springfield Union.

A QUARREL separated them. When he felt that he did not care and was without ambition, he lost his job. After that he wandered over the country working in the fields, in garages, anywhere, for enough to take him on.

Larry Wade said he would see the world and forget Naomi Lee and then, one day, he discovered he had been wrong.

It was evening and he was all but dozing under a tree near the fruit ranch where he was working as a pucker, when he saw, for the first time, Naomi's side to the old argument. He felt suddenly small and the pride which had kept him silent and made him wander seemed a monstrous thing.

"I'll find her," said Larry Wade. "I'll find her if it's the last thing I do in the world."

And so he set out. Naomi, he discovered, in answer to his letters, had left the old town. No one knew where she had gone but it was thought she was somewhere on the Pacific coast. Larry drew his pay and started West. He followed the crops, took one job and another, and kept on the move. The months passed and he had found no trace of the girl.

There came a time when success and defeat pressed close for position. Larry was out of work and without a cent and he had heard that a girl named Naomi Lee had lived once in the very city in which he found himself. A waitress had told him of such a girl who had worked in the restaurant.

"But she had a notion of getting a better job," she studied and didn't say much. "Guess you better look in the offices, or somewhere."

Suppose he found her? Suppose she had moved on, down the coast. How could he follow her? How could he present himself in his worn clothes and with empty pockets?

"I'll have to get money," he told himself, "a lot of money, and in a short time."

It was a poster that decided him. There were prize fights—boxing exhibitions they called them—in this very city. On the road he had been called upon to defend himself more than once. He was hard and active. Larry presented himself to the matchmaker, trying hard to act the seasoned boxer and was given a chance.

In the first exhibition, against a raw lad, Larry won and was given enough money to buy food and a new suit. Better yet, he was offered the chance to box with a tougher opponent and for larger stakes.

"I'll have to win," he told himself as he stripped for action. "I'll have to whip this Kid Wallop for Naomi's sake." He felt he was a gladiator entering the ring and it seemed to him if he could win this purse the money would find Naomi.

Kid Wallop was stocky. He looked at Larry from eyes set deep beneath black brows and the look was one of menace. Larry danced around the Kid, poking in blows and the other waited. The Kid was slow but alert. He wasn't going to waste his strength—he'd wait.

"Keep it up," said Larry's second. "And you may win on points. Only look out for his right!"

The battle went on. Larry knew the Kid was looking for the chance, that at any moment the sluggish opponent might leap into action, turning loose that right upon which he depended.

"I'm hitting him," Larry said to himself, "but he doesn't mind." In the seventh round the Kid began to mind. Repeated blows on his face sent him to anger, which showed only in eyes which gleamed with a more ominous intent.

COUNTY CLERK PRAY IS TIRELESS WORKER

County Clerk Clarence L. Pray, who is seeking re-election on the republican ticket, is known by those who have business at the court house as a tireless worker. He is usually the first official to arrive at the court house in the morning and the last one to close his office at night, and he can be consulted by those having business at the clerk's office at most any hour of the day. The business of the office has greatly increased in recent years, but Mr. Pray has held his clerical force down to a very small number of employees compared to other counties of the state. He is methodical and efficient and each day finds his work done, with the result the records and accounts of the office are always available to those who have occasion to consult them.

Mr. Pray plays no favorites. He endeavors to serve all alike and he is never too busy to give advice and counsel to all who call at his office. He has made an obliging and efficient clerk and his large circle of friends throughout the country are asking that he be retained in his present position.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED

A hard-boiled clerk during the recent primaries told one of the finest men in our voting district that he could not vote. "Nothing doing—you didn't register!" was the unsympathetic reply of the clerk to the surprised citizen.

We all have our minds focused on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. Everything in a political campaign points to election day. And yet, like our good citizen at the primaries, we can't vote unless we first register. Registering is a civic duty of the first order and should be attended to promptly by every citizen.

Exchange. Saturday is the last day for registration.

LUCKY TO ESCAPE

"You say you served in France?" asked the restaurant proprietor as he sampled the new cook's first soup. "Yes, sir, officers' cook for two years and wounded twice."

"You're lucky, man. It's a wonder they didn't kill you."—The American Legion Weekly.

PROBATE JUDGE PRAY SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

There is no office within the gift of the people that more closely affects all classes and conditions of people than does that of Judge of Probate. Nearly every family in the county has occasion some time or other to seek the services of this court in the settlement of estates, the care of minor children, in the adjudication of wills and countless other matters dealing with the interests and welfare of women and children. It is, therefore, important that the one chosen to preside over its deliberations be a man of deep sympathy, keen understanding, easy to approach, and one to whom all may go with confidence. Judge Jay G. Pray has proven that he possesses to a marked degree these attributes and that he is especially well qualified for the important duties of the office. Mr. Pray was appointed to succeed the late Emory Leland and in the spring following Judge Leland's death he was elected to fill the vacancy. Previous to being appointed Judge of Probate he served as county clerk for two terms, and thus he has had an opportunity to acquire a large circle of acquaintances among the people of the county. He is seeking re-election of the office this fall and those who know how well he has administered the affairs of the office are urging that he be retained. He has had four years experience and by temperament and natural ability he is well fitted for the important duties which the office imposes.

Washtenaw county voters will make no mistake if they decide to keep him at his task.

ACCUSED OF USING MAIL TO THREATEN

Former Chelsea Boy Has Been Arrested For Making Threats Through The Mails

Frank Shopke, 5751 Third street, was arraigned yesterday on charges of using the mails to threaten the life of G. E. Weiss, 4661 Haverhill road, employment manager at the Packard Motor company. Shopke was placed under a bond of $2,000 by United States Commissioner Frank Q. Quinn to await preliminary hearing set for October 24. The bond was raised.

E. E. Frazer, post-office inspector, made an arrest after an investigation that lasted about eight months. At the arraignment Weiss related that while Shopke was employed as machinist at the Packard firm he became dissatisfied because he was unable to "get a white collar job" after applying several times. With this idea preying on his mind he lost all interest in his work and was discharged, according to Weiss.

Following the dismissal, letters, first mild, but becoming more vicious as the months passed, were being received, according to the Packard official. He enlisted the aid of postal authorities to solve the mystery. Frazer worked on the case about eight months before apprehending Shopke, Detroit Free Press of October 18th.

Mr. Weiss is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Weiss of Chelsea and well and favorably known here.

Beautiful Grassie Region

The Grassie region in the south of France is the realm of flowers. There is practically no agriculture in the region save horticulture. For miles after miles as far as the eye can see there are fields of roses, violets, tuberoses and other kinds of blossoms, beautiful beyond description in the harvest season.

In the Old, Old Fashion

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"MOTHER," said Eve Leslie a little impatiently, as she swung to and fro in the couch hampered on the broad piazza at the Leslie house, "I am afraid that I am a failure."

Mrs. Leslie lifted her eyes from her sewing and smiled at her charming daughter, her brows lifted in mock wonder. "A failure? A girl who has been a leader in her classes ever since she went to school—who carried off honors at high school graduation, and brought home honors from college—my dear little girl, you are not a failure in that way. And as a daughter—you have always been most loving, willing, helpful."

Eve blushed and looked ashamed. "It is lovely of you to say all that, mother, dear, because I know you really believe it," said the girl quickly, "but in spite of all that, don't you really think that to be truly successful, a girl should attract the love of some nice man?"

"Yes, indeed," said Mrs. Leslie, cheerily. "I thought you had, Eve. How about Jim Field?"

"Oh, Jim!" exclaimed Eve rather vaguely. "Somehow, he didn't mean anything to me, mother. Why, he didn't even have a car!"

"I know you are fond of a car," admitted Mrs. Leslie, "but I always understood that when a girl loved a man—his possessions did not count so very much."

"He never cured for Jim, anyway—he was a very nice boy, but he could not dance and I did tire of him—so when he became angry because I would not have him here at the house once or twice a week, it was a great relief to me. And then, of course, Phil Briggs came along with his snappy rounder, and we had such fun going about, but—"

"But what?"

"Nothing, mother, not much, only he became such a bore after awhile. Instead of driving over to the hotel for a beach dance or a moonlight swim or something, he took it into his head that he must come to see me every week at the house here—not go anywhere at all!"

"I see," murmured Mrs. Leslie. "And I suppose it was the same way with John Bliss and Frank Clark and the Kennedy boys—they all wanted to come to the house."

"But I do love to drive," sighed Eve.

"Then, my dear, take the money that Great Aunt Sarah left to you and buy a car and get your pleasure in that way when you feel like it."

So Eve followed her mother's advice and bought a car in which Eve and her parents or her friends rode and enjoyed themselves very much.

It was about this time that Peter Allen came to Rosedale to work in his uncle's bank. He lived at Judge Allen's house, for the judge was his grandfather. Peter was a fine young man—college bred, as all the Allen of Rosedale had been—he was very clever, and a splendid business man. People said that the Allen bank would eventually come to young Peter. He was a tall, good looking fellow of five feet and twenty, with charming manners. The second time that he met Eve Leslie he asked permission to call.

"Your house is such a homey place," he confessed, "I am hoping that you will let me come and see you."

"Of course," Eve found herself saying. "You will like my mother and father—really, I can vouch for both of them!"

"Peter Allen?" asked Mrs. Leslie. "Why, he must be Polly Allen's son. We were great friends, as girls."

"What shall I do with him?" begged Eve forlornly. "You know I hate to entertain them."

Mrs. Leslie smiled. "Most girls are born with the instinctive knowledge of how to treat a young man when he comes to see them. I believe I was born with a sort of intuition, what do you think, Ned?"

Mr. Leslie grinned and lighted his pipe. "Well, I never remember having a better time than when I came to the Tyrells house, and I thought Evelyn, your mother here, Eve, was the sweetest, prettiest girl I ever saw. I'm mighty glad that I didn't do my courting in those days, and have to put my girl into the seat of a swift car and then go galloping all over the county looking for something to do! There was always something to do at the Tyrells, eh, Evelyn?"

So that night when Peter Allen paid his first visit to the Leslie's old-fashioned place, he found the great living-room bathed in soft light from shaded lamps, and with a bright fire on the hospitable hearth. They played cards, they talked and talked, and the time passed like magic. Then, Mrs. Leslie, coming home from her lodge, brought a box of ice cream—and Mrs. Leslie had "happened" to make a delicious layer cake that day, and after they had eaten, Eve played the piano, and they sang together.

"I hope you will invite me again," said Peter, "I'd like to bring my violin over."

"Oh, you must come," cried Eve swiftly, happier than she had ever been before. So, in the old, old way of a man wooing a maid, Eve Leslie was wooed and won by Peter Allen, but the amusing item to Mrs. Leslie was the fact that Peter Allen did not own an automobile, until his grandfather gave him one for a wedding gift!

Cardinal Hays Bids Godspeed To Catholic Relief Mission Workmen For Porto Rico

His Eminence, Cardinal Hays, Archbishop of New York, gave a farewell blessing to the first medical unit of the Catholic Relief Mission for Porto Rico, which sailed on September 29 for the devastated areas. The ceremony took place at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York, which at forty-eight hours' notice mobilized the unit, the first Catholic one of its kind in the field.

The decision to despatch this body was the result of a cable sent by His Holiness, Pope Pius XI, authorizing the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, President of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association, to put its resources at the disposal of any emergency body formed to meet the acute need of the hurt, needy victims. Fr. Walsh and Mr. Moore, general secretary of the Association, at once communicated with the Catholic Medical Mission Board, of which the Rev. B. F. Garesche, B. F., is Director, and of which Dr. Paul J. Flagg, of St. Vincent's Hospital, is Chairman.

The American Red Cross authorities in Washington, Fr. Walsh declared, "gave us every facility. We will work in conjunction with their representatives in Porto Rico, and there will be no waste effort through duplication or lack of cooperation."

Fr. Walsh, who is the vice-president of Georgetown University, has had wide experience in such relief work, having been Director of the Catholic Relief in Russia during the famine, when he conducted his operations in conjunction with Herbert Hoover's American Relief Administration, and Mr. Moore is for Catholic relief in Porto Rico from Headquarters, 480 Lexington Avenue, New York.

"We have already assembled a second medical unit," Father Walsh said, "and will hold it in readiness to sail at short notice."

The doctors composing the unit now in the field are Charles Sumner Gresham and Peter J. Moyle. The nurses include the Misses M. F. Bruten, of Rutland, Vt.; A. J. Smith, of Tuscon, Ariz.; M. J. Knobel, of Highland Park, N. Y.; E. T. Healy, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and M. A. Malloy, of New York City. Joseph F. Moore, of Philadelphia, who is general secretary of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association, Inc., is issuing an appeal for foodstuffs and other supplies on behalf of the Association's Special Section Administration, and Mr. Moore is well known for his relief work in the Near East.

FOR SENATOR, ARTHUR H. VANDENBERG

Michigan is most fortunate in having an able and aggressive representative in the United States senate. When Governor Fred W. Green appointed Arthur H. Vandenberg of Grand Rapids successor of the late Woodbridge N. Ferris he made a very wise choice and one that will, we believe, be overwhelmingly endorsed by the people of the state. Mr. Vandenberg in Senator Vandenberg by his votes in committee and on the floor has shown himself to be a friend of labor, a friend of agriculture, a friend of industry, a friend of the entire state, who is ever willing to stand up and fight for what he believes to be right.

Michigan needs a fighting senator in Washington, and she now has that in the Grand Rapids publisher.

His election in November is essential for Michigan needs this man.

AN APOLOGY

We owe an apology to our readers and to M. H. McGaffigan in particular for the notice which appeared last week with regard to employees of the cement plant having presented him with a new Buick car. The notice was sent to this office and was signed by one of the guards whom we believed to be reliable, but it seems that the whole thing was a joke and instead of presenting their superintendent with a real car, as the item led us to believe, the "generous gift" was a toy automobile costing about 25 cents. We wonder if the inmates of the plant should not be "guarded" from such fellows as the author of this misleading communication?

TAXES AND PROSPERITY

There is one cloud on the horizon of our industrial progress, the menace of increasing local taxation. For a number of years past we have witnessed a period of growing federal economy and tax reduction, yet this has failed of its purpose because of the high cost of municipal, county and state governments.

Commenting on this, the Florida Times Union says that "it is a fact that can not be changed by argument or discussion, that the only way to keep from spending more money than should be spent, is by cutting down expenses. This applies to the state as well as to the individual, and the state that spends unnecessarily or extravagantly is more to blame for running into debt than the individual, for by imposing an unnecessary burden of debt on the people, the state commits a wrong in the commission of which the people did not participate, and concerning which they were not consulted, generally speaking."

An exorbitant tax rate is the most effective possible barrier against a community's industrial progress. Civic ventures that plunge towns into debt are burdens, not improvements. Personal and general prosperity must come from economy and sane, logical administration of finances.

CHELSEA HAS TWO CANDIDATES

At the election to be held on November 6th, the names of two of Chelsea's prominent citizens will appear upon the official ballots. John S. Cummings is a candidate for register of deeds to succeed himself on the republican ticket and George W. Beckwith is seeking the office of county clerk on the democratic ticket. Mr. Cummings was appointed to succeed Perry Townsend to the office and two years ago he was elected by a large majority. The manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the office has been most satisfactory and his friends are urging his re-election because of the fine record that he has made. Mr. Beckwith served the county as clerk in a very efficient manner for two terms of two years each and he has many friends about the county who are urging his election.

Mr. Beckwith is now serving Sylvan township as supervisor, having been elected to that office last spring. He knows the details of the clerk's office and while he held that position he was regarded as competent and efficient.

OUR HIGHWAY PROGRAM

America's road building program this year involves an expenditure of $11 for every man, woman and child in the country. It is expected to reach the tremendous total of $1,300,025,776. Widening of old roads is an important feature, particularly the addition of shoulders to paved highways.

According to the American Automobile Association, this means that at the end of 1928 we will have more than 600,000 miles of surfaced highways. The federal aid system, consisting of 185,000 miles of important interstate trunk lines, will be about two-thirds completed.

Our highways are the arteries that give life to the nation. They take more money than almost any other item of the budget, and they pay it back more rapidly in social and industrial progress.

BIG KIWANIS PLANTING

IN ONLY A START

(By E. M. T. Service)

The extraordinary success of the gigantic project promoted by the Michigan Kiwanians in fostering the planting of more than 5,000 acres in the Huron National Forest is far-reaching in its importance. Many conversations outside of the Kiwanis circles participated in the planting. Since the planting Michigan Kiwanis has gone on record as determined to repeat the planting next year and all who attended the planting and others have expressed an intention to take part on the next occasion.

Many subsidiary projects have already been proposed in connection with next year's planting. One of these contemplates the erection of a statue which will be a replica of an old time riverman. Efforts have already been instigated toward interesting old time timber families in providing a stone for the base of the statue, this stone to come either from the site of an old mill or camp.

Charles S. Thomas, managing editor of the Bay City Times, who was present at the planting, in the editorial columns of the newspaper which he represents, after commending the Kiwanis for being the first organization in this country to do more than pass resolutions, suggests that it would be a splendid thing for the communities of the state to take a hand.

"Cities might have tracts within the National Forest bearing their name," the Times editorial says. "If public money cannot be legally appropriated for the purpose there are surely enough people in Bay City, Flint, Saginaw and in other communities who would be glad to subscribe the small sum required to plant an acre of trees, and in each city plant the donor's name might be perpetuated by naming an acre for him. There are so many ways in which this reforestation, so necessary for Michigan's future, might be done now, that we trust the idea will spread with all or the rapidity which it deserves."

MOTHERS OF COUNTY RECEIVE

$30,000 IN PENSIONS FOR YEAR

One hundred and thirty mothers of Washtenaw county are receiving pensions under the terms of the mother pension law of the state and approximately $30,000 was paid to mothers of this country last year, according to Judge of Probate Jay G. Pray, whose jurisdiction of the law functions.

According to Judge Pray the county paid $2,562 in pensions a few days ago for the month of October. It was paid in advance.

Mothers' pensions petitions for the past year filed in which award was considered numbered 36; cases in which award was granted numbered 28; children for which awards applied, 93; widowed mothers involved 17; deserted mothers involved 8; divorced mothers involved 8; number in which father is in penal institution, 2; number in which father is in tuberculosis sanitarium, 1; eight petitions filed not granted an award, including two deserted mothers, two widows, four divorcees, involving 24 children.—Tribune.

HUNTERS PAY HIGH FINES

FOR PHEASANT SHOOTING

Pheasant hunting, out of season, is proving costly to some citizens of the state. Activity of the state wardens is making the pastime a hazardous one and judging from the court records, hunters guilty of the practice are paying fancy prices. A recent conviction at St. Johns resulted in the culprit paying $100 fine and $5 costs for the shooting of out pheasant. Five arrests were made in the vicinity of Bath in one day.

Illegal capture of muskrat and raccoon by G. M. Lockwood of Williamston cost him $24.30, the state being reimbursed to that amount. Vigilance of conservation department law enforcement officers brought this money into the coffers ten months after the illegal deed had been enacted. Clever detective work by the men working on the case was responsible for the reimbursement.

It is estimated that there are more than 750,000 hunters and fishermen in Michigan. Each year about 200,000 small game licenses are issued. This fall the conservation department predicts there will be more than 65,000 deer hunters in the woods, and the number of fishermen is well about the 500,000 mark.

"Thank Offering." The joy of my preaching is to unfold the idea of prophets and apostles and of the Prince of Glory. I do not go outside the Bible for my themes. Petty subjects have no place in my pulpit. I ask you all to help me in my efforts never to cheapen or vulgarize our beloved church. You can best do this by showing an appreciation for Bible preaching. There are many places you can go to satisfy your liking for the spiritual and physical, but I want you to find in our church a place to stimulate your minds and feed your hearts.
Sincerely yours,
A. E. Potts, Pastor.

William C. Pritchard had his right leg badly injured Monday. Mr. Pritchard, with several men were working in the Wortly gravel pit with the township screening outfit. The bank caved in and about ten tons of earth landed on him and drove him against the frame of the screen and a bad gash was cut on his leg. His fellow workers were about one-half hour shoveling the earth away before he was released. Mr. Pritchard is able to get about, but he has a decided limp, as he travels about.

WILD FRUIT, NUTS

Ohio residents who have a wild grape vine or walnut tree or hickory tree spotted along the highway across the Michigan line better watch their step before making their raid. Michigan's attorney general, William B. Brucker, was the author of bad news for the foraging motorist Monday night when he ruled that fruits and nuts along the highway are the property of land owners adjoining and foraging along the state's highways come under the classification of larceny. His ruling covered state, county and township highways. Toledo Bee.
