FIVE PRISONERS WERE HURT IN COAL BLAST

Inmates At Cement Plant Are Wounded In Flames As Coal Dust Explodes.

Robert Harris, foreman, and five inmates of the state cement plant were burned about 9:30 o'clock Friday night in a coal dust explosion in one of the kilns.

Mr. Harris was burned about his head and face and on one of his arms. His face is well filled with powdered coal, and he is at his home on North street where he is recovering as rapidly as could be expected.

One of the inmates had his hip broken and another will probably be blind for the remainder of his life. The victims of the explosion were taken to the Jackson prison hospital and are as follows:

Bartley Sizore, 24 years old, serving 5 to 10 years from Monroe county for burglary.

Joseph Watson, 39, a negro, serving 5 to 15 years for manslaughter, from Detroit.

Richard McGee, 23, a negro serving 9 months for breaking and entering from Detroit.

Benjamin Volger, 40, serving 3 to 5 years for negligent homicide, from Shiawassee county.

Ray Pointer, 35, serving 1 to 15 years for breaking and entering, from Mecosta county.

The men were transferring coal from a tank into the hoppers that feed the fire kilns. A blast of flame came through the hoppers into the tank and caused the explosion. Sizore and Watson, at work on the top of the tank, were thrown to the ground, a distance of 14 feet. The others, who were on the ground, were enveloped in flame as the blast occurred.

A blaze was started in the dock at the kiln and the inmates at the plant had it under control when the community pumper arrived from Chelsea about 11:30 o'clock.

KIWANIS ENJOY ANOTHER MOOSE DINNER

The members of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club and a few guests enjoyed another moose dinner at the meeting Tuesday night and the gathering was a very enjoyable one from first to last.

R. B. Turnbull had charge of the program and three of Chelsea's regular young ladies, Misses Jean Turnbull, Katherine Fletcher, and Rowena Brooks, furnished a number of musical numbers consisting of popular songs. They supplied their own accompaniment upon string instruments.

Edward Vogel, who enjoyed the hunting expedition into the Canadian woods with M. J. Dunkel, gave a very interesting account of their trip and told many interesting things about the people of that section, their habits and mode of living. They were a friendly lot and seemed unusually fond of liquor which they imbibed freely.

Mr. Vogel said he had "always" been dry and he came home more convinced than ever of the value and influence of prohibition. The people up there were so much different in their dress and general appearance that one was impressed with the idea that they were spending a great deal of their income for liquor instead of supplying themselves with the worth-while things of life.

Next Tuesday night the Chelsea Kiwanis and their ladies will attend an inter-city meeting at the Michigan Union in Ann Arbor. On December 10th the members will enjoy a Christmas party at which their ladies will be the special guests.

MANY ATTEND O. E. S. MEETING AT YPSILANTI

The following members of Olive Chapter, O. E. S., were in attendance at the Washtenaw County Association Order of Eastern Star, which was held Monday evening in Ypsilanti: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Serviss, Mrs. Agnes Runciman, Mr. and Mrs. Chancery Freeman, Mesdames A. L. Brock, J. M. Baxter, O. D. Luick, Ray Schroder, J. A. Park, R. B. Waltrous, Clarence McBride and Misses Lizzie and Nellie Maroney. Mrs. Runciman and Mrs. McBride took part in the initiation work, the former as chaplain and the latter as Electa.

ENTERTAINED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. A. Gilbert Clark entertained at a dinner party Sunday evening in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Clark. A pretty arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums formed the table decorations. Covers were laid for ten guests. Following the dinner the company motored to Jackson where an enjoyable evening was spent.

TO PRESENT CONCERT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Three talented pianists of the University School of Music will join forces in presenting a recital of three piano numbers in Hill Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, December 2, at 4:15 o'clock. The general public, with the exception of small children, is invited. There will be no admission charge. The recital will be given by Elizabeth Davies-Gould, Toledo, Ohio; Ethel Hauser, Buffalo, New York, and Dailies Franz of Boston, who have been enrolled in the piano department of the School of Music for several years as special students sent to Ann Arbor by the Juilliard Music Foundation. They have won distinction not only as students, but by reason of many public appearances throughout the country. They have been heard in Chicago, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Buffalo and many other cities. On numerous occasions they have been heard in Ann Arbor. This will be the first time, however, that they have given a program of three piano numbers.

WILL HOLD CEREMONIAL

Ann Arbor Encampment, No. 7, will hold a ceremonial in honor of Grand Patriarch Isaac G. Reynolds, on Saturday evening, December 8. The degree teams of No. 7, Ann Arbor, No. 40, Jackson, and No. 5, Jackson, will exhibit the three degrees of the order. Dinner will be served at six o'clock in the evening. A number of members of No. 7 reside in Chelsea.

COUNTY CLUB LEADERS HOLD PROFITABLE CONFERENCE

Leaders of Various Groups Plan For Future—Good Interest Shown.

Eighteen leaders of clothing, handicraft and hot lunch clubs met at Ann Arbor Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning, November 17th. Miss Lola Belle Green and Mr. Nevels Pearson, assistant state club leaders from Michigan State College, were there to go over the season's work with the leaders.

Miss Green gave a demonstration in music appreciation and explained the first and second year music appreciation project which will be conducted in the 4-H clubs of Washtenaw county. She promised that the second year series would be released from the state office within the next two weeks, and they will be sent out to the leaders to have their clubs enrolled immediately after they are received at the county extension office.

She also emphasized the health contest, stating that Washtenaw county will have a contest in the spring in which 4-H club members under 15 years of age will compete in the junior division. All over 15 will compete in the senior division. A boy and a girl in each division will represent each club in the county contest. Winners of the contest will represent Washtenaw county in the state district contest. The final state winners will be selected at Michigan State fair and the winners there will go into the national contest at Chicago during the 1929 National Club Congress.

Miss Green then outlined the work of the hot lunch clubs and followed that with a discussion on the requirements and work of the clothing clubs by project years. Mr. Pearson met with the handicraft club leaders and discussed the work of the handicraft clubs.

Mae Schroen and Alberta Heininger from the Flying Needle Club, York township, gave a demonstration illustrating the types of work that should be done by a clothing demonstration team. Kenneth Schlimer of the Delhi Hammer Club gave the leaders an outline of what a handicraft demonstration team should do. Both Miss Green and Mr. Pearson emphasized the advantages of the leaders' training demonstration teams within the clubs for the county contest next spring.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The annual B. P. O. E. memorial services will be held on Sunday afternoon, December 2, at 3:00 o'clock, at the Elk's temple. George J. Burke, local attorney, will be the principal speaker.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Frederick Cowin; a vocal solo by Mrs. Karl Weisenreder, quartet numbers by Arthur Jahnke, Mrs. Weisenreder, accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Jahnke; solo by Arthur Jahnke; "Memorial Day" by Rev. Cowin; ceremonies by officers of the lodge with Exalted Ruler Deway M. Poraske in charge. Ann Arbor Tribune.

MISS ELISE ROWE AND MISS JAQUELINE BATES OF JACKSON WERE THE GUESTS OF FRANCES JEROME FRIDAY EVENING.

Miss Elise Rowe and Miss Jaqueline Bates of Jackson were the guests of Frances Jerome Friday evening.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICES ENJOYABLE

An Impressive Program In Which Four Churches Participated—Good Music, Interesting Sermon.

The union Thanksgiving service at the Congregational church Sunday evening was well attended and the program was impressively presented. The Salem M. E., the Chelsea M. E., St. Paul's Evangelical and the Congregational congregations joined in the service of praise and thanksgiving and all present greatly enjoyed the meeting and the fine spirit of fellowship manifested.

After the organ prelude all joined heartily in singing the doxology, following which the choir led the congregation in singing that old familiar hymn, "Come ye Thankful People, Come." Rev. A. E. Potts read President Coolidge's Thanksgiving proclamation. The combined choir under the leadership of Miss Doris Schmidt rendered an appropriate anthem. Rev. Fred L. Ross offered prayer and Paul F. Niehaus followed with a vocal solo. After the announcements had been made the congregation sang another familiar hymn, "Praise, O Praise Our God and King." Rev. F. I. Walker gave a very interesting sermon, taking for his theme, "The Spirit of Thanksgiving." The services were closed by singing "Lord Dismiss Us with Thy Blessing" and the benediction by Rev. W. J. Balmer.

CHELSEA RURAL GROUP MEETING

The November meeting of Chelsea Rural group was held at McLaren school, Lima, No. 7, with Dorothy Luick, hostess.

After the welcome by the hostess, Mrs. Mildred Robinson took charge of the meeting. Remedial reading of the work of the past month, was discussed by the teachers present. The exchange of ideas and devices that they found most effective in their own schools proved beneficial.

Mrs. Robinson then introduced Mrs. Roth who was a helping teacher in Oakland county for several years, and is now working with the Chelsea group. She showed the teachers the effectiveness of reading a table exhibit of history stories and pictures.

A seventh grade history demonstration lesson was taught by Mrs. Robinson, concerning one of the phases of history which she had enumerated for history month. The children in the class were Arlene Satterthwaite and Ruth Barth.

MRS. LOVINA C. SNYDER PASSED AWAY THURSDAY

Miss Lovina C. Hoffman was born in Indiana, Penn., July 26, 1846, and died at her home on South street, Thursday, November 22, 1928, following an illness of several weeks.

In the early seventies she was united in marriage with J. A. Snyder, and for several years they made their home in Philadelphia. After a residence of 12 years in Ann Arbor they became residents of Chelsea and have occupied the present family home for the last five years.

She is survived by her husband, two brothers, Frank Hoffman, a resident of Pennsylvania, and O. L. Hoffman of Chelsea and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral was held from the family home on South street, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. P. H. Garbowski conducting the services. Interment, Oak Grove cemetery.

ENJOYED THANKS-GIVING PROGRAM

Members of the S. P. L. enjoyed a social evening Monday when they were entertained at the home of Mrs. O. D. Schneider. The meeting opened with a program of Thanksgiving poems and quotations after which the evening was devoted to games. Lunch was served, the table being centered with a "Mayflower" ship while the place cards were hand painted ships. The decorations were carried out in yellow and white.

ANNUAL FAIR ATTRACTED GOOD CROWDS

The fair held by the members of St. Mary church the first three days of this week in H. J. McKune memorial hall was well attended and was a social and financial success. The supper that was served by the ladies of the parish was up to its usual high standard and was liberally patronized by the residents of this community.

LET US GIVE THANKS

Next Thursday will be Thanksgiving. Surely we all have a great deal to be thankful for this year. This is indeed a favored section and we may well declare "our lives have fallen in pleasant places." Our farmers have had abundant harvests, our merchants have enjoyed a good fall trade, our industries are busy, and everybody is employed who is able to work. Let us give thanks for all these blessings.

TAX AND THE LOAFER

Theoretically, the perfect tax would be a tax on inactivity. The proper man to tax would be the loafer, not the worker; idle land, not used land; inactive capital, not active capital; lack of enterprise, not enterprise.

Such a tax would be practical, but it would be a just tax.

We tax thrift, action, capital, enterprise.

We levy taxes in proportion to ability to pay, which means the harder a man works, the more we tax him; the more, thrifty he becomes, the more we tax him; the more efficient he grows, the more we tax him.

If a man saves his money and buys a house, he is taxed; if he wastes his money in extravagant living, he is not taxed.

None of our taxes encourage production by the simple process of discouraging idleness, shiftlessness, inefficiency.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS FREELY

Anti-tuberculosis work in Washtenaw county, to be adequately financed next year, will require a ten per cent increase in the proceeds of the 1928 Christmas seal sale over the sum raised in 1927, according to T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

"$6,765.00 is the quota that has been set for Washtenaw county," stated Mr. Werle, "and unless that amount is secured, the county's tuberculosis program in 1929 will be crippled. The need for better chest clinic and follow-up nursing service and for more extensive health education work in the schools, for example, cannot be met without the larger sum."

Sale of the Christmas seals will be started on Thanksgiving Day and will be continued until Christmas. Since 1908, when the first tuberculosis seals were sold in Michigan, the annual tuberculosis seals were sold in Michigan, the annual tuberculosis death rate has been forced down from 98.8 per 100,000 population to 67.0, the 1927 rate.

POWER AND PROSPERITY

Industry throughout the United States has been developed to its present high efficiency not because American workers work longer hours, but because we are making a larger use of power in the factory, on the farm, and in the home, than any other nation, according to Dr. George Otis Smith, Director of Geological Survey, United States Department of Commerce.

"We have been living in a second industrial revolution," says Dr. Smith. "Under our eyes electricity has been applied to both old and new tasks. The list of indoor appliances now operated by electric current runs down the alphabet from adding machines to waffle irons, and the even longer list of out-of-door tasks ranges from animal currying to wood-sawing."

"The American secret of present prosperity is, in large part, found in the simple fact that the American workman has more power at his elbow than any other workman in the world."

ROADS AND THE BUDGET

The progress made in highway building in the United States has been so marked that, in a comparatively brief period of time, roads have changed from being luxuries to basic necessities.

Less than half a century ago money expended for highways was an inconsequential item in the public budget. Today it holds, with education, the outstanding position of honor. Every year sees thousands of miles of poor, unserviceable roads made into broad highways, and new areas opened to industry and pleasure through the medium of these transportation arteries.

It has been said that road expenditures during the present year averaged over $1,360,026,000. Money wisely expended for approved types of pavements or oiled roads where practical, is soon returned in increased business for towns and cities, increased land values, and increased freight tonnage for the railroads.

Psalm of Thanks

And the Lord shall make thee plentiful in goods, in the fruit of thy body, and in the fruit of thy cattle, and in the fruit of thy ground, in the land which the Lord swore unto thy fathers to give thee.

The Lord shall open unto thee his good treasure, the heavens to give the rain unto thy land in its season, and to bless all the work of thine hand; and thou shalt lend unto many nations, and thou shalt not borrow.

And the Lord shall make thee the head, and not the tail; and thou shalt be above only, and thou shalt not be beneath; if thou shalt hearken unto the commandments of the Lord thy God, which I command thee this day, to observe and to do them.—Deuteronomy 28: 11-15.

National Thanks

In our open gates, we proclaim a confidence in Man and in our theory of government without historical parallel.

We believe in our institutions, in their potency to establish and sustain equality before the law and equality of opportunity.

As a nation we believe in God, and that belief has been put into the broadest, fairest practice Time has witnessed.

Plenty blesses us. The high purpose to go on and on unto better things electrifies our national thought. For the prosperity of today and the visions of tomorrow we give thanks.

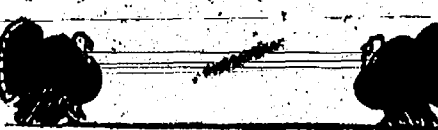

Church Thanksgivings

Well into the eighteenth century the day was marked by two church services, the reading of sermons at the family hearth, and family prayer. Before Revolutionary days it was more or less of a fast day.

Recognition of the civil proclamation of a day of prayer and thanksgiving by the Protestant Episcopal church came in 1789, the year of President Washington's first national proclamation. Roman Catholic recognition of the day by special religious features was given in 1888, when a Mass of Thanksgiving was authorized.

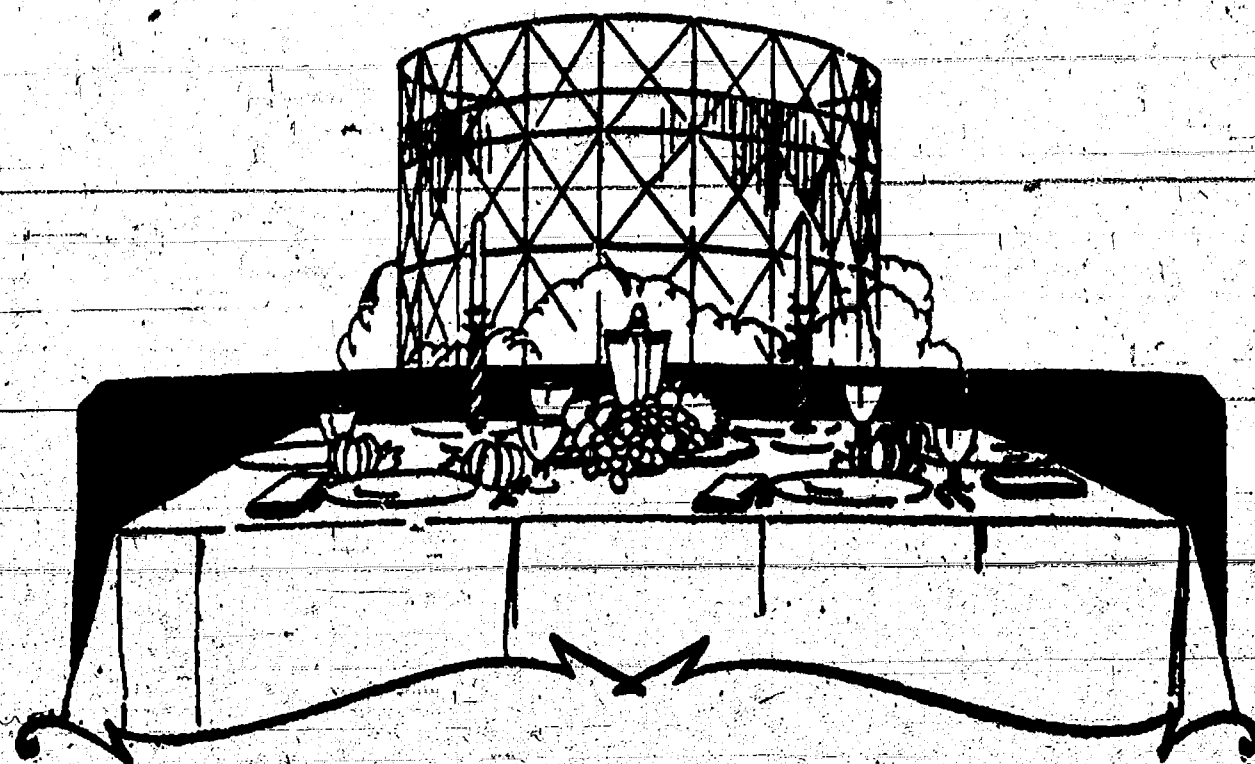

Thys Day

Ye thankful feast, be on ye table,
Come now and eat all that you're able;
But first some act of kindness do,
That another may be thankful too.

Motor Proverb

The Modern Thanksgiving Dinner Depends on Gas

The tradition of Thanksgiving it as old as America herself, with an origin as humble and as sincere. But the modern Thanksgiving dinner is a far cry from that first feast of thanks prepared over the roaring logs of a crude fireplace, served on tables made of rough hewn boards.

The Thanksgiving dinner of today is cooked with gas, automatically, and Mother can spend the cooking time enjoying the reunion of the family, instead of bending over a hot fire. The Thanksgiving dinner of today is served in fine china dishes fired in a gas kiln, with gleaming silver tempered with gas heat, on snowy linen bleached and dried and woven with the aid of gas fuel, on a polished mahogany table manufactured with gas fired machinery.

And so as we sit down to dinner on this 306th Thanksgiving, it is fitting that the little blue flame contributing its services so loyally to the progress of the nation should also be accorded a tribute from all of us who live in the light of its service.

SEASONABLE FOODS

Fruit Salad.—Mix one-half cup of pitted cherries, one-half cup of pitted peaches, one-half cup of pitted apricots, one-half cup of pitted plums, and one-half cup of pitted grapes. Drain of the juice, add two thirds of a cup of walnut meats and two thirds of a cup of French dressing. Serve on lettuce.

Jellied Vegetable Ring.—Soak one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-fourth cup of water and dissolve in one cup of boiling water. Add one-fourth cup of sugar and one-half cup of lemon juice and one teaspoonful of salt. Strain and cool and when beginning to stiffen add one and one-half cups of finely shredded cabbage, one-half cup of small cucumber cubes and one and one-half cups of minced plumpkin cut into pieces. Turn into a ring mold. Serve with the center heaped with mayonnaise and whipped cream.

Molded Salmon.—Cook one cupful of stale bread crumbs and one cupful of milk to a paste. Add four tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of flaked salmon, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper. Put in the whites of two eggs beaten stiff. Fill buttered individual molds two-thirds full of the mixture. Set in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Garnish with slices of hard-cooked eggs and parsley.

Creamed Mushrooms on Toast.—Peel the caps of a pound or less of mushrooms, cut in thin slices and cook them first in a little butter, then add the cream and cook for five minutes. Add salt and pepper and a cupful or more of cream. When boiling, boil over rounds of buttered toast and serve.

Mouse Expert Fly Catcher

A mouse that catches flies was the novel window display of an automobile man in Sydney, Australia. Heedless of the large crowd watching him, the tiny rodent would dart from his hiding place in a corner and spring up the window pane or take a flying leap. He would always "get" his fly. He kept the window clear of all the buzzers, and the dealer says he was the best and cheapest attraction he ever had.

COUNTY 4-H CLUB NOTES

Arlene Satterthwaite, Lima township, is continuing her 3rd year clothing club work as a member of the Lima 4-H club.

A handicraft and hot lunch club has been organized in the Town House school, Pittsfield township, with Mrs. Laura MacRae as leader. Gordon Burger is president, Earl Spangler is vice-president, and Calvin Golden, secretary.

The Industrial Three-in-One Club, of Lyndon and Dexter townships, is the first club to put on a play in their community this year. The parts for the play have been assigned, and the boys and girls are practicing diligently so as to be able to put it on before the Christmas holidays. The proceeds from the play will be placed in the club treasury to be used for general 4-H club purposes.

The Handy Workers Handicraft club has organized at Sylvan Center with Mr. Fred Haffley as leader. Harold West was elected president, Arthur West vice president, Clyde Martin, secretary, Carlton Haffley treasurer and news reporter. This club, with the Easter Five Clothing Club in the same district have joined the Sylvan 4-H community club, and all of them hold monthly meetings together. The last meeting of the club was held at the home of Harold and Arthur West, Tuesday evening, November 20.

Lloyd Wheeler, Dale Royce, Paul Boyce, Wilbur Yotum, and William Lantz have sent in their enrollment for handicraft club work for Collins Plains school in Lyndon township.

The Ann Arbor Kiwanis club will hold their annual 4-H club achievement day for all finishing 4-H club members in summer work, 1928, at the Masonic Temple Friday evening, December 14.

The agricultural committee of the Kiwanis Club is now planning to make this a big event for the 4-H club members and their parents. Every boy and girl who has completed his, or her, work in canning, food study, gardening, corn, potatoes, dairy, calf, beef, calf, poultry, pig, or sheep, club work will be invited to bring his or her parents to this meeting.

375 people attended the meeting last year. With the increased enrollment this year the Kiwanians are planning to entertain 400.

Achievement certificates will be issued to all members who have completed their project. County champions will be announced in all projects and county champion certificates will be issued to the winners. The State Savings bank trophy will be awarded to the community club scoring the highest in the contest for this trophy during the past summer.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK SHOW TO OPEN

A challenge to the interest and the imagination of the American farmer and his family, the International Live Stock Exposition, will open its gates out at the Chicago Stock Yards on next Saturday, December 1.

It will offer its thousands of visitors from America and abroad a cross-section view of the farming of the world, such as only an exposition of international character could. Alaska will be represented, so will Australia. The antipodes of northern and southern hemispheres will vie with one another for the attention of the visiting thousands.

Of unusual interest is an offer of three handsome silver trophies by that world famous sportsman and merchant, Sir Thomas Lipton, which was recently announced by Secretary B. H. Heide of the International. Two of the trophies are to be distributed one each to a boy and girl winner in some department of the Boys' and Girls' contests (not yet decided upon), and the third cup is to be awarded to the successful team in the intercollegiate livestock judging contest. When Sir Thomas, who was a recent Chicago visitor, was informed of the splendid work being carried on by the young boys and girls of the farm land, to the number of some 600,000, he expressed a wish to do something to evidence his recognition and approval of their efforts.

SIX-CYLINDER MOTOR FOR NEW CHEVROLET

The Chevrolet Motor Company has announced a new model equipped with a six-cylinder engine to be marketed at practically the same price as the four, which it displaces. The initial showing will take place next week, but there will be no deliveries before January 1. It is planned to build 1,250,000 of these cars next year in the company's 15 huge factories.

The engine is the valve-in-head high compression type with 194 cubic inches piston displacement. It develops 40 horsepower and claimed to be 32 per cent more powerful than the Chevrolet four. Gasoline mileage is given as 20 miles per gallon. The cylinder dimensions are 3 5-16 inch bore and 3-34 inch stroke. The engine has a fuel pump, gasoline filter, air cleaner and oil filter. Four-wheel brakes are provided and the wheelbase is 107 inches.

A Wrong

President Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said in interview in New York:

"The Geneva economic conference has very rightly protested against those cartels, or monopolies, which greedily increase the cost of living. The men who do the useful work of the world—the farmers who feed us, the sailors who sail our ships, the teachers who educate our children—these men are lucky if they succeed in accumulating a few thousand dollars in a lifetime of toil; but the cartels! They, by putting up a price or two, make millions overnight."

Mr. Lee shook his head: "It's a wrong gain," he said, "that has no earning."

"How Come?"

Esther and Jimmy are the grandchildren of the president of a union of the W. O. U. One afternoon they were very busy "keeping house," the former being "mamma" and the latter "daddy." At the end of their play meal, Esther picked up two toothpicks and handed them to Jimmy, with the remark:

"Here is your cigarette and here is a match. I'll have mine later."

Powdered Coal a Success

Two superheated steam freight locomotives, equipped to burn pulverized coal, have just been placed into operation on the German federal railways. On a long stretch during the trials one locomotive pulled more than 4,700 tons of freight at the same speed as the ordinary coal-fired locomotive would pull a load of 1,200 tons.

He Failed in Her Tests

By GEORGE DREW

(Copyright.)

"No mother," and Constance shook her bobbed head vigorously. "I am not going to marry George unless I am absolutely sure of myself—and him."

"And how," began her mother, indignantly, "do you propose to make yourself any surer than I already supposed you were, and may I ask, what does George think of all this?"

"George?" Constance answered, her mother's second question first. "Why, George won't know anything about it until it's all over. Then, if he has failed, I'll—why, I'll simply say everything is at an end. I've decided on three tests, which will show conclusively whether he is a man to make one happy. First, is he selfish? Second, does he love children and dogs? Third, is he a man? Do other men like him?"

Now her daughter's engagement to George Morse had come to Mrs. Peck as a blessing straight from heaven. That her restless, dare-devil child should give herself to so splendid and dependable a man after dallying with a poet who couldn't sell his poetry, an artist who couldn't paint, a novelist who couldn't write, was cause for great rejoicing. And here was Constance actually tempting fate! Well, she should not wreck her happiness, not if she, her mother, could prevent it!

That evening Mrs. Peck considered a moment alone with George as he waited for Constance to put a finishing touch on her two before coming down to go with him to the annual Ladies' night of the one club which he belonged to. And after a few moments' earnest conversation Constance's mother wound up almost tearfully: "Constance would never forgive me, George, if she knew I told you. But I did it for her good!"

At that moment Constance appeared, and, glancing at Mrs. Peck, she was not dressed for attending ladies' night.

"George," she began gently, "I don't want to go a bit tonight. Instead, let's go over on Bennett's rink. Will you?"

Mrs. Peck gasped. She recognized test No. 1, but marveled at her daughter's temerity in choosing the one social event George ever showed interest in. She was thankful indeed that she had warned him.

But what was George saying? Was it possible he had failed to grasp the situation? For George had risen and, hands in his pockets, was glowering, actually glowering at Constance.

"What do you mean by this, Constance? You know I came here to take you to Ladies' night. And what's more, I'm going to take you. I'll wait exactly half an hour for you. Otherwise I go alone."

Rememberable to say Constance, assisted by a mother who was inwardly wondering if she had been mistaken in George after all, was ready at the end of the half-hour, and head high and chin proudly set marched off with George.

Now did Constance's two other carefully planned experiments meet with any more conspicuous success. Surrounding herself with half a dozen youngsters and two dogs just prior to his call the next afternoon, she staged the scene for test No. 2.

George arrived, but instead of falling to and joining in their merry game, he rather pompously made her "get rid of that gang and call off the confounded curs who were yapping at his heels!"

It was almost tearfully that Constance bronched test No. 3. She hinted at it to George as they sat out in the coach, humming after the children had been dismissed.

"I couldn't marry anyone but a regular 'man's man,'" she said, apropos of nothing at all. "I'm so glad you're that!"

"But am I?" said George easily. "I'm sure that isn't the sort of a reputation I have among the fellows in the office. They consider me a regular lady killer! Look at you, for instance! How easily I captured you. And that reminds me—just when is to be our happy wedding day?"

For a moment Constance regarded him queerly. Then, "I'm not sure we are ever going to be married," she said coldly. "I'm not sure it's not all a mistake that we've found out just in time."

"How come?" asked George pleasantly, and Constance thought he seemed—very little upset.

"Well, I—I've been testing you," she burst forth with the whole story, while George listened with a smile that was both tender and appreciative. When she had finished and was twisting her handkerchief into a tight little ball that was wet from sprinklings of tears which had accompanied the tale, George reached out with two strong arms and gathered Constance to him.

"There, dear," he whispered. "Cry on my shoulder. Do you love me?"

"Yes," said Constance.

"Going to marry me?"

"Yes," said the girl again.

"Well," said George triumphantly, "just see what that proves! I failed to meet your requirements and yet you love me! That shows I am the one, and only man in the world for you. Now, if I'd only known! You see, as a matter of fact, I do like dogs and—but that's another story!"

And George's mother-in-law never told.

Between Two Loves

By DUFORD JENNE

"RUTH, I don't believe it!" Gladys said quickly, startled and shocked by her friend's words.

"But it's true Gladys, and I thought I ought to tell you. If Elmore doesn't love you enough to take care of your mother, I don't think he is worthy of you; for we all know of the love between you and your mother. Yes, I was in the office and Elmore was chatting with Blake and I heard him say distinctly: 'I don't know what to do with Gladys' mother.' And the fact that you have been engaged for three years shows something, too. He has been making a fair salary right along—what is he doing with it?"

After Ruth had gone Gladys sat alone in her room and pondered the situation, and as she thought her mood darkened. Something was wrong, and had been a long engagement, and when, out of her longing to have Elmore with her, she had suggested in indirect ways that she wished they could have a home together, he had evaded her suggestion.

"Not even Elmore is dearer to me than you, mother dear, and between you and him, I can make a quick choice," Gladys thought to herself.

"But I don't—I don't want to give him up," her heart told her.

The rest of the afternoon the problem raced back and forth in her mind. It seemed so logical, the explanation of Elmore's action on the basis of what Ruth had heard. Yet Gladys had never dreamed that Elmore had ever thought of separating them. They had been so happy together over the many years.

"If mother knew that such a thing as this was happening it would break her heart," Gladys warned herself, "and I must not let a hint of it reach her. I will talk with Elmore, though."

That evening when her father, smiling over her in his arms just before leaving after his visit, she ventured to touch upon the subject that was troubling her.

"Dear, is there any reason—any real reason why we can't have a home together now? I hate to ask you this way," she said gently, "but I want you to be frank with me."

His gray eyes grew suddenly sober, and his manner changed. "In good time, sweetheart, in good time. It's the waiting that bothers. I know, but we'll work it out. Now, you leave it to me."

She stood in the doorway long after he had vanished into the fragrant dusk. He was keeping something from her, and the swift change in him when she sought to find out the real reason for the delay—that was significant also. There could be just one reason—he did not want her mother in their home.

Troubled in mind and in heart, she did not know what to do. But by the end of the next day she had reached her decision; and, alone in her room, she wrote Elmore a brief note telling him what she had heard and informing him that she could not bear to think of leaving her mother or living apart from her after their long years of companionship. Then, after effort, she added the sentence that broke the engagement between them.

"As she slipped down the stairs, her mother came into the hall.

Gladys, Elmore telephoned that he was coming over," her mother said smiling, her gentle, motherly face brightened with pleasure.

Gladys stopped short. "Mother, please tell him not to come. I really don't want to see him."

"Why, child, is there something wrong?" her mother asked with sudden concern.

"Nothing, much, mother mine. Just 'phone him," Gladys said hastily, slipping out. "I'm going to the mail box."

When she returned she stole into her room, her heart too full to risk even meeting her mother. As she sat beside the window she heard Elmore's voice and her mother's in the garden.

"She is worried, my boy, over something," her mother's sweet voice was saying.

"I don't blame her. I guess we might as well let her into the secret. The house is about finished, anyway—your rooms are O. K., and Gladys and I can get along. How'd you like the rooms?" Elmore's cheery voice asked.

"Oh, so much. It will seem like heaven to be with you and Gladys."

"And we will be sure glad to have you! What a family we will make!" he broke in gaily. "Now I'll hunt up Gladys. She ought to have come by this time."

Gladys was a thrill with her discovery. She knew now. He had been building a house for them. Her mother was in the secret; and it was to be a surprise. But when he came in and gathered her in his arms she made him tell the story over again; and then she asked: "But didn't you tell Blake that you didn't know what to do with mother?"

"Ah! I see—I see what put the shadows in your brown eyes, Honey," he said, slowly. "Listen. Blake is a house designer, and I said something like that to him, because I wasn't sure how to give your mother some privacy and yet have her one of us; but Blake told me. You see?"

Gladys pulled his blonde head down to hers and kissed him. "Oh, my dear—I do it do!" And with the words that came from the depths of her heart she heard the shadow of doubt vanish. Instead of choosing between two loves she could keep both.

FRUIT MEN TO TALK NEW ORCHARD WAYS

State Horticultural Society Will Hold Fifty-Eighth Meeting From December 4 To 6

Problems uppermost in the minds of progressive fruit growers of Michigan will be dealt with by horticulture specialists and leaders in the industry during the three-day program of the Michigan Horticultural Society in its 58th annual meeting at Grand Rapids, December 4, 5, and 6.

Through research investigations of recent years, W. C. Dutton, of the M. S. C. horticultural department, has developed a procedure which eliminates much of the spray injury to apple foliage and produces fruit of better finish and color. Mr. Dutton's lecture on the use of spray materials will be illustrated. There will also be a display of apples sprayed with various materials.

F. H. Hurkhardt, of Traverse City, prominent cherry grower and owner, will tell of his experiences with bees in his cherry orchard. He has moved bees into his orchard at blossom time for many years and has obtained exceptionally good results. A discussion of "The Facts on Orchard Heating" will be given by F. C. Bradford, of the college horticulture department, while the results of experiments in girdling to produce apples on young Northern Spy trees will be explained by H. M. Wells, superintendent of the Michigan Horticultural Experiment Station at Grand Rapids.

An apple show and exhibits of spray machinery, materials, orchard equipment, fruit packages, and nursery stock will be held in connection with the meeting.

DUCKS DO NOT TRAVEL FAR

Reports concerning the migration of Michigan ducks are already to come in as a result of the Conservation Department's duck banding operations begun last September at Munuscong state park and at the state game farm near Mason.

A total of over 200 ducks has been banded to date. Most of these were black ducks and "gray" mallards.

It begins to seem that ducks hatched and reared in Michigan have a tendency to remain within the boundaries of the state longer than has generally been thought. If this proves to be the case, the department's banding operations will have immediate value.

Of the first 50 black ducks banded in early September at Munuscong Bay, eight were recaptured within the park as late as October 29; six others were shot by hunters within a few miles of the banding station; one duck was recaptured twelve times during two months, indicating that trapping does not necessarily drive ducks away. Two different groups of three ducks were banded together and later these same birds were captured together. Probably they were birds of the same brood.

It has been generally supposed that during their fall flight ducks travel only from north to south; but that this is not always the case is proven by one bird banded at the state game farm near Mason on September 14. Six weeks later it was brought down by a hunter in Sanilac County, over 125 miles northeast from the game farm.

There has been some misunderstanding in regard to the shooting of banded birds or that it is against the law to shoot a marked bird. The game division of the department of conservation wants to correct this idea for the ducks are banded in hope that a certain percentage of them will be shot and reported on.

Hunters who happen to kill banded ducks or other birds are asked to cooperate by sending in the bands and a note telling where, when and by whom the birds were shot. On receipt of such information, the department will cooperate by telling the hunter where and when the banding was done.

"Nothing, much, mother mine. Just 'phone him," Gladys said hastily, slipping out. "I'm going to the mail box."

When she returned she stole into her room, her heart too full to risk even meeting her mother. As she sat beside the window she heard Elmore's voice and her mother's in the garden.

Gladys was a thrill with her discovery. She knew now. He had been building a house for them. Her mother was in the secret; and it was to be a surprise. But when he came in and gathered her in his arms she made him tell the story over again; and then she asked: "But didn't you tell Blake that you didn't know what to do with mother?"

"Ah! I see—I see what put the shadows in your brown eyes, Honey," he said, slowly. "Listen. Blake is a house designer, and I said something like that to him, because I wasn't sure how to give your mother some privacy and yet have her one of us; but Blake told me. You see?"

Gladys pulled his blonde head down to hers and kissed him. "Oh, my dear—I do it do!" And with the words that came from the depths of her heart she heard the shadow of doubt vanish. Instead of choosing between two loves she could keep both.

"Nothing, much, mother mine. Just 'phone him," Gladys said hastily, slipping out. "I'm going to the mail box."

When she returned she stole into her room, her heart too full to risk even meeting her mother. As she sat beside the window she heard Elmore's voice and her mother's in the garden.

"She is worried, my boy, over something," her mother's sweet voice was saying.

"I don't blame her. I guess we might as well let her into the secret. The house is about finished, anyway—your rooms are O. K., and Gladys and I can get along. How'd you like the rooms?" Elmore's cheery voice asked.

"Oh, so much. It will seem like heaven to be with you and Gladys."

"And we will be sure glad to have you! What a family we will make!" he broke in gaily. "Now I'll hunt up Gladys. She ought to have come by this time."

THE NEW FORD FINISH

The "pyroxylin" finish of the new Model A Ford cars is the result of many years of experimental and testing operations in the Ford laboratories and paint shops.

Pyroxylin is a lacquer finish with a cellulose base and, like most lacquers now used in the finish of automobile bodies, is a great improvement over the old paint and varnish finishes that used to crack, "check" and fade under exposure to weather.

But more than five years of experiment and testing under all sorts of weather conditions have developed methods of mixing and applying pyroxylin so as to utilize to the fullest possible degree all of its natural advantages.

The result is a uniform, smooth, durable finish in attractive and lasting colors which has attracted particular attention wherever the new Model A Ford cars have been seen.

Plymouth—Plymouth High school is again placed upon the accredited list of University of Michigan for a three-year period—1928 to 1931. This is the highest honor that the University of Michigan can confer upon and high school within its jurisdiction. In addition to attaining this splendid recognition, Plymouth High school has also achieved the coveted approval of the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, and again is placed upon their roster. This is the highest academic ranking at present attainable for high schools in the United States.—Mail.

OLDER BOYS' CONFERENCE TO BE HELD AT FLINT

Boys of the lower peninsula of Michigan representing schools, churches, Y. M. C. A. groups, Hi-Y Clubs, Young People's societies and selected boys' groups will hold their 26th annual Older Boys' conference, the eastern division at Flint, the western at Holland, November 30, December 1, 2.

This conference is under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. of the state, cooperating with the State Council of Religious Education—the Christian Endeavor, and representatives of church groups. It is being held for the purpose of discussing life problems of boys, ranging from 16 to 20 years.

Plans for the conference include general conferences, a course for adult leaders, the reunion of Hi-Yo-Went-Ha campers, and a Hi-Y presidents' council breakfast at both Flint and Holland.

Some of the speakers announced include Charles W. Gilkey and David A. Sonquist, both of Chicago, W. G. Spenser, president of Hilldale College, Roy Sorenson, National Boys' secretary, and Dr. Dimock, Chicago College.

People in the conference cities will entertain the boys as their guests.

SCHOOLS TO WAGE WAR ON COLDS

Miss Cora L. Haas, commissioner of schools, has issued letters to the teachers of the schools of the county in which she stated that "December is colds month. We will stress prevention of colds. Washtenaw County Tuberculosis Association is offering two prizes for the best posters on prevention of colds—one to rural children and the other to children in the town schools. A first aid kit will be given to the school that wins the prize—town and rural.

Posters must be sent to Miss Haas's office no later than the 17th of December. A bulletin board on the first floor in the court house will display the posters. Three judges will be chosen to decide in the prize winners.

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part—the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing... watch the oil! Change the oil every 500 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy in the new Ford through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well fitted to lubricate the new Ford and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

ENJOYS NEW LIFE
ENERGY AFTER 25
YEARS SUFFERING

A Victim Of Rheumatism All This Time; Now In Perfect Health.

MRS. W. FLINK

"I was a victim of rheumatism for 25 years and Konjola was the only medicine to give me lasting relief from these dreadful aches and pains," states Mrs. W. Flink, 1222 Selden avenue, Detroit, Michigan.

"Every joint and muscle in my body was affected and my limbs were so swollen that it hurt me every time I took a step. I was also subject to attacks of neuritis thru my arms and shoulders. At times I couldn't raise my hands high enough to wash my face. Also, my stomach and kidneys were in a disordered condition. A day didn't go by without me suffering miserably of some kind."

"Konjola drove all this poison out of my system, regulated my bowels and restored my stomach and kidneys to normal action. Now, my rheumatism is gone entirely and I enjoy perfect health in every way."

Konjola is sold in Chelsea at Burg's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SAM C. ANDRES

215 E. Huron St. Ann Arbor

Twenty-four Years Ago

December 1, 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer G. Ives celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage on Thursday, November 17, at their home on the Waterloo road. The event was a surprise party to the couple and was given by their relatives and friends.

Frank W. Meinhold, who owned and operated the flouring mill at Jerusalem, Lima township, was almost instantly killed in the mill while inspecting the machinery Sunday afternoon. The mill had been undergoing repairs for the past week. As he left the house he said that as the mill was to be started Monday on buckwheat grinding, he would make a test run. He was caught in a large cog wheel that drove the buckwheat mill. Just how the accident happened is unknown. Joseph Heim, of Sylvan, has been drawn to serve as a juror in the circuit court at Ann Arbor.

H. J. Heininger of Lima harvested 870 bushels of corn from a field of seven and one-half acres on his farm. The average yield was 116 bushels per acre.

D. Hein of Sylvan is the happy owner of a flowing well which he recently discovered on his farm.

Married, Wednesday, November 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Niehaus, of Lima, Miss Clara Niehaus and Mr. Ernest Hutzler.

Mrs. S. Adeline English, mother of George T. English of Sylvan, died at her home in Detroit Monday.

WILL SHOW NEWEST IN LABOR SAVING STUNTS

The latest in efficiency and labor saving devices in farm machinery will be exhibited at the Michigan State College by the Michigan Implement Dealers' Association during their convention December 4 to 7.

The college agricultural engineering department will exhibit four demonstration trucks dealing with rural electrification, home conveniences, soils, and farm buildings.

Special entertainment has been arranged for the dealers and others who attend the convention. There will be a tour of the campus and inspection of buildings Tuesday, and in the evening a program of athletic stunts in the gymnasium.

C. W. Bissell, M. S. C. dean of engineering, will give the address of welcome. The list of speakers includes: J. F. Cox, dean of agriculture; Douglas Dow, of the Detroit Edison Co., who will discuss the function of the implement dealer in rural electrification work; and H. J. Gallagher, of the agricultural engineering department, who will talk on the effect of rural electrification on the farmer.

The public is invited to attend the meetings and the exhibits.

FARMERS BECOMING IN-TERESTED IN GOOD COLTS

Washtenaw County Agent Osler reports that many Washtenaw county farmers are interested in the Michigan colt development contest being sponsored by the Michigan Horse Breeders' Association, and Michigan State College, in cooperation with the local county extension office. H. F. Moxley, livestock specialist, Michigan State College, was in the county two days last week visiting a number of the colt owners of the county, and assisting County Agent Osler in organizing the contest in Washtenaw county.

Washtenaw county has some good colts and should make a creditable showing in this contest, according to Mr. Moxley.

The requirements for entering the contest are: The colts must be enrolled and weighed in before December 1. These same colts are again weighed next fall, and those that make 600 lbs. or over gain in weight are classed as gold seal certificate colts. Those gaining 500, or less than 600, are classed as silver seal certificate colts, and those gaining 400, or less than 500, are classed as bronze seal certificate colts. Only spring colts are eligible to enter this contest.

County Agent Osler reports that an effort is being made to provide a special class for these colts to be exhibited at the county fair next fall.

The aim of the contest is to create interest in better horses, and call attention to the importance of proper feed and care during the first year of the colt's growth. Washtenaw stallion owners who are interested in this contest are: P. C. Sumner, Saline township; Wm. Marken, Saline; Carl Spitt, Ann Arbor; E. N. Van Valkenburg, Milan; Wm. Lambert, Manchester; August Henes, and Alfred Keubler, Lodi township; Max Hatter, Milan.

The rates quoted are Station-to-Station Day rates, effective 4:30 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

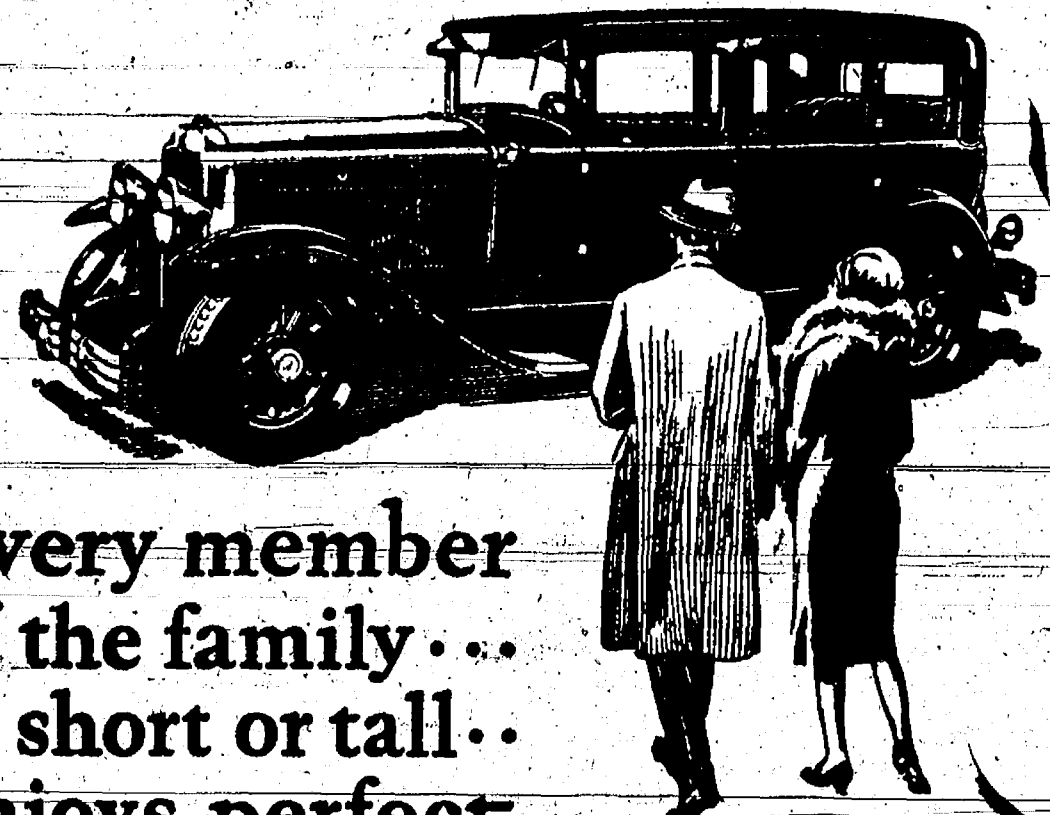

Evening Station-to-Station rates are effective 7:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., and Night Station-to-Station rates, 8:30 p. m. to 4:30 a. m.

A Station-to-Station call is one made to a certain telephone rather than to some person in particular.

If you do not know the number of the distant telephone, give the operator the name and address and specify that you will talk with "anyone" who answers at the called telephone.

A Person-to-Person call, because more work is involved, costs more than a Station-to-Station call. The rate on a Person-to-Person call is the same at all hours.

MANY SHEEP, PIG AND TURKEY CLAIMS FILED

Sheep, pig and turkey claims totaling $787.61, exclusive of justices' fees, have been filed with the county auditors at its next meeting at the auditing officials will not begin their session until the first week of December.

For the past several days, claims have been filed showing that vicious dogs have killed and maimed farm stock to a considerable extent during the past few weeks. If found valid by the auditors, the claims are allowed, the money to pay them coming from the dog license fund of the county.

The claims show that 21 sheep, 28 lambs, 12 turkeys and two hogs were slain by the dogs and 12 sheep and 16 lambs damaged, some of them injured so badly that they had to be killed.

Webster, Pittsfield, Sallie, York, Lima, Ypsilanti, Sylvan and Lodi are the townships represented in the claims which run in amounts from $10 to $195.—Daily News.

WATERLOO

Last week Thursday evening, November 23rd, the members of the 4-H potato and girls' canning clubs of West Lyndon, assisted by their parents, royally entertained the members of the Chelsea Kiwanis Club who sponsored their work the past summer.

The gathering took place at the Glenner hall and 63 persons sat down to the attractively arranged tables and enjoyed a bountiful chicken dinner. John Young, as toastmaster ably took charge of the meeting. One verse of America was sung, followed by short prayer by Helen Beeman. After dinner the club songs were sung, led by Paul Neihaus. A welcome was given by Walter French, Jr. The address of the evening was given by Prof. Butler of the University of Michigan.

His talk was an eye-opener on the conditions in Russia. Mr. Diehl of the Washtenaw Tribune also gave a talk. Altogether it was a most enjoyable affair.

The annual Gleaner installation and oyster dinner will be held at the hall Saturday, December 15.

Mrs. Guy Barton recently entertained the Lyndon Home Economics Club. A pot luck dinner was served. The lesson by Mrs. Rose and Mrs. Young was on "adding beauty to the old"—keeping in mind that "every home-maker is anxious to make or keep a home that is artistic, comfortable and home-like. The next meeting will be with Miss Emma Stofor, December 13. Each member is to bring some sample of materials for slip covers. The meeting is called at 10:30.

Earl Beeman has been to Philadelphia on business.

CHANCERY ORDER

STATE OF MICHIGAN
The Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw
IN CHANCERY
Laura Rex, Plaintiff.
Calvin Rex, Defendant.

At a session of said court held in the court house in the city of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, and State of Michigan, on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1928.

Present: HON. GEORGE W. SAMPLE, Circuit Judge.

It is satisfactorily appearing to the court that the plaintiff in this cause is entitled to the sum of $100.00, and that the defendant is liable to pay the same.

Under the Seal of said court for the appearance of said defendant, it is ordered that the same be served on said defendant, and that the same be returned to the court on or before the 15th day of December, A. D. 1928.

And it is further ordered that the plaintiff cause his appearance to be entered in this cause within three months after the date of this order, and in case of his appearance, that he cause his answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint to be filed and a copy thereof served upon the plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on him of a copy of said bill, and in default thereof that the same will be taken as confessed by the defendant.

And it is further ordered that within twenty days after the date hereof, the plaintiff cause a notice of this order to be published in the Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said County of Washtenaw, and that such publication be continued at least once in each week for six weeks in said County of Washtenaw, and that a copy of this order be personally served upon the said defendant, Dick Duffey, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for his appearance.

And it is further ordered that the plaintiff shall mail a copy of this order to the defendant at his last known address, by registered mail, return receipt demanded, at least twenty days before the date herein prescribed for his appearance.

At a session of said court held in the court house in the city of Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, and State of Michigan, on the 22nd day of November, A. D. 1928.

Present: HON. GEORGE W. SAMPLE, Circuit Judge.

On motion of Frank C. Cole, attorney for plaintiff, it is ordered that the said defendant, Dick Duffey, be appointed receiver of the property of the plaintiff in this cause, and that he cause his answer to the plaintiff's bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof served upon the plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on him of a copy of said bill, and in default thereof that the same will be taken as confessed by the defendant.

And on like motion, it is ordered that within forty days after the date hereof, the plaintiff cause this order to be published in the Chelsea Standard, a newspaper printed, published and circulated in said County of Washtenaw, and that such publication be continued at least once in each week for six weeks in said County of Washtenaw, and that a copy of this order be personally served upon the said defendant, Dick Duffey, at least twenty days before the time above prescribed for his appearance.

And it is further ordered that the plaintiff shall mail a copy of this order to the defendant at his last known address, by registered mail, return receipt demanded, at least twenty days before the date herein prescribed for his appearance.
