"Behold, I Bring Good Tidings"

SO SPAKE the angel of the Lord to the shepherds, guarding their flocks, one night more than nineteen hundred years ago. "Tidings" is an ancient word which means simply "news". Thus it was that the news of the coming of the Prince of Peace was made known that night so long ago and all down through the ages those tidings have been repeated at this time of the year which we call Christmas.

Since those far-off times, the function of bringing tidings or news has devolved principally upon an institution which we know as the newspaper. No such institution performs that function more faithfully than the Home Paper in a community such as ours, a community of homes and home-loving people. And in that community none is so humble but that his or her name is written in its columns not once but many times throughout the years.

For it is the Home Paper that welcomes you when you are born, watches you as you grow up and records your youthful triumphs. It tells the community that a new home has been founded when you marry, congratulates you and wishes you well as you and your helpmate start out on a life together. It shares your pride when you become a parent and aids you in molding the minds and characters of those near and dear to you. It rejoices when you rejoice, sympathizes with you in times of sorrow; it is quick to record your good deeds and your successes and slow to spread broadcast word of your shortcomings or failures. And in the sunset of your life, it is a companion and friend, keeping you informed of the doings of those to whose youthful hands you "pass on the torch" when your race is almost run.

So day after day and week after week throughout the year the Home Paper brings you the news of your community. What better messenger, then, than the Home Paper to say to you "Behold, I bring you good tidings" at Christmas time? For its tidings are the same as those of the herald angels on the hills of Galilee—"Peace on earth, good will to men"—and to every person in this community the Home Paper brings this message of community peace, community good will, community prosperity and an increased community hope for the coming year.

CHELSEA HIGH LOSES DOUBLE HEADER TO ANN ARBOR U. HIGH

College City Team Outplays Local Boys' Reserves Tie Score But Lose In Overtime Period.

Chelsea Hi lost her first game of the basketball season last Friday night. The University Hi boys were a more experienced team and their snappy pass work and quick basket shooting bewildered the Purple and Gold quintet in the first part of the game. The boys from the college city were playing in tournament form and kept our warriors on the defensive in the first half. Chelsea could not locate the basket and the passing was poor also.

The score at the half was 20 to 8, U. Hi. In the second half the home team pepped up a little but could not overcome U. Hi's lead. The boys displayed a fine brand of team work in this half and kept the visitors on the jump. C. H. S. scored 10 points in this half and U. Hi scored 12. The final score was 32-18.

Couch Dagwell is working hard and hopes to have a much better team on the floor Friday night when Dexter comes here.

In a very fast game the Reserves lost to the U. Hi Reserves in an overtime period. This game was very exciting and the boys fought hard all the way through. The visitors had the edge in the first half but the C. H. S. youngsters staged a fine comeback and tied the score in the last few seconds only to lose in an overtime period.

Winans and L. Foster at forwards showed up finely and R. Foster at center played an excellent game. Griffin and C. McLaughlin at guards were a fine defensive pair. Beach substituting at forward played a dandy game.

The score when the whistle blew was 18-18 and in the overtime period U. Hi sank a field goal and a free

Strawberries $1.25 Per Quart, Writes Mapes

In a letter written by Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Mapes from Lakeland, Florida, to Miss Mary Smith and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davidson, they tell of the exorbitant prices which growers in that section are receiving for first shipments of the season's strawberries. They state that the growers are receiving $1.25 per quart, and enclosed a newspaper clipping which tells of one shipment of 210 quarts for which the growers received $1.25 per quart, and another shipment of 925 quarts which netted growers $1.00 per quart. Shipments are increasing daily and it is expected that the bulk of the crop will be shipped to the north about the first of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Mapes, who are wintering in the southland, state that they are enjoying the weather there, although the temperature was lowering so much at the time the letter was written that there was fear of frost, which is rather unusual in that section.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schoenhals are also wintering in Lakeland, living only a short distance from the Mapes quarters.

Chelsea Group Rural Teachers Hold Meeting

The December meeting of the Chelsea group of rural teachers was held at McIntee school, December 8, with Mrs. Veva Kalmbach as hostess.

The teachers were welcomed to McIntee by Mrs. Kalmbach. She then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Roth. The last month's work of history was discussed at this time. After some helpful suggestions, we took up the next month's work; namely, "Citizenship." Mrs. Kalmbach put on a demonstration of her "Civics Health Club" which was very successfully carried through by the vice president, Norman Beeman. The teachers in this group who have not organized clubs are urged to start one for the remainder of the year.

Several of the mothers in the McIntee district were present at the meeting.

Mrs. Kalmbach's school was attractively decorated for the meeting, the walls displaying helpful material which is available to any teacher and shows the teachers what the children of McIntee school can do.

There were sixteen of the twenty teachers present: Lucile Camburn, Mrs. Kalmbach, Esther Barnum, Ruth Conklin, Olive Rapson, Ruth Dancer, Dorothy Schanz, Ruth Van Doren, Inez Rank, Agnes Young, Arthur Beppit, Helen Conlan, Ula Parsons, Marie Guinan, Thelma Loveland, Dorothy Lick.

The next meeting of this group will be held January 19 at Lima Center school. It will be an all day meeting, spending the morning in a professional meeting and the afternoon in handicraft instruction of various types and the making of educational seatwork. There will be a potluck dinner at noon. Let's be 100 per cent.

Hogs Reach Weight Needed for Honors

Leon C. Brady, Unionville, is the winner of the 1928 Michigan ton-litter contest. Thirteen Chester White pigs which weighed 2800 pounds at six months of age brought home the bacon for the Unionville man.

High priced feeds and low priced pork reduced the farmers' interest in the ton-litter contests this year and the number of contestants was lower than in previous years. The winning lot of pigs received skim milk, whole oats, and barley after weaning and were finished on barley.

Other leaders in the contest and the weights reached by their pigs were: Harry Ward, McBain, 2614; Bert Parker, Mason, 2451; Fred Shilling, Coldwater, two litters, 2446 and 2328; John York, Portland, two litters, 2335 and 2178; Warren Laubaugh, Hastings, 2290; Cox and Son, Coldwater, 2275; and H. S. Haas, Scotts, 2090.

Harry Ward, McBain, has entered the ton-litter contest five of the six years during which it has been conducted and each time has placed his pigs in the heavyweight class. The pigs which were owned by Bert Parker, Mason, were marketed 15 days before they were six months old in order to reach a better market.

The ton-litter contest in Michigan will be discontinued next year by the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College in favor of the pig-crop contest which began this year.

Miss Ruth Loeffler entertained at a miscellaneous shower Friday evening at her home on Orchard street, in honor of her brother, Roy Loeffler, and Miss Gertrude Walters of Iron Mountain, whose marriage will be an event of the near future. Thirty-five guests were present. Progressive pedro furnished the diversion for the evening. Catherine Canfield and Jacob Schneider receiving high score, while consolation prizes were given Amanda Wolpert and Erwin Haist.

Football Banquet Was Great Success

The Methodist ladies served an excellent banquet Tuesday evening for the football boys and coaches of Chelsea high school. After this splendid repast a very fine program was given. Lawton Steger, star halfback, was toastmaster. The first number on the program was a musical selection by the orchestra. Next a short talk on "Our Football of 1929" was given by Capt. Fahrner. Then Albert Potts, Jr., gave a brief speech on "Our Football team as seen by a Spectator." Following this the Uke club played and sang a few popular numbers. Howard Holmes, Jr. and Paul Barbour then talked on "Our Backfield" and "Our Line."

The program was concluded by another selection by the orchestra.

Local Couple Married In Toledo, Saturday

The marriage of Miss Catherine Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pierce, of Lima township, and Mr. Charles G. Wortley, son of John Wortley, of Sylvan, was solemnized at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, December 15, at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Paul Lehmann, of Toledo, Ohio.

The groom is a graduate of Chelsea high school, class of 1915, and both have many friends in this vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Wortley have begun housekeeping in the Runciman residence on Washington street.

Chevrolet Motor Co. Facing Busiest Year

With only one full week remaining of 1928, the greatest year in its 16 years of existence, Chevrolet Motor Company, impelled by the latest volume demand it has ever faced, is experiencing its busiest December.

In the past seven days preparations have been under way at all assembly plants getting ready now car shipments for shipment to Chevrolet's more than 10,000 dealers. Next Saturday, December 29, dealers in all parts of the country are scheduled to have 1929 cars on display, and on that day, too, deliveries are to begin.

Another instance of Chevrolet December activity is to be revealed during the forthcoming week when at Kansas City a huge new assembly plant is to go into operation. This will bring the number of Chevrolet assembly plants in this country up to nine.

The Kansas City plant will have a capacity of 350 cars a day, and will cover 32 acres and will include five buildings. The Fisher Body Corporation will occupy a plant covering more than 720,000 square feet of floor space in which to build their famous bodies for Chevrolet closed cars.

The Kansas City opening signifies added strength to the already enormous productive capacity, which enabled Chevrolet during the present year to manufacture over 1,000,000 cars in less than nine months time.

Since its mid-November announcement of the six, Chevrolet's 18,000 retail salesmen have been confronted by an unprecedented influx of business. Every place the car has been displayed at advance showings it has been the accompaniment of vast crowds and a deluge of orders.

And now, with the cars actually in the hands of dealers or scheduled to be there before next week elapses, the volume of orders is reported to have assumed even larger proportions.

Christmas tree and program 7:30.
Dear folks: I am greatly concerned about Christmas. Not that I am afraid that the day will be forgotten; indeed, in many respects it was never so well remembered as it is in A. D. 1928. However, my judgment is that that is done in the name of Christmas is artificial and foreign to the real significance of the day. Christmas, like everything else, lends itself to both use and abuse. I am taking the liberty of saying: I sincerely hope that all who change to read these lines search, find and express the spirit of the "Silent Night" when Shepherds watched and angels sang.
Faithfully yours,
Albert E. Potts, Pastor.

The Glorious Yuletide
The yuletide is what makes it most people choose to make it an occasion of celebration with unselfishness, a season dedicated to the happiness of service. This is the glory of a festival that never ages. It is the glory of today.

Christmas in Russia
Singing of ancient "Kolenda" songs is one of the typical features of Christmas gatherings in Russia.

Up the Sleeve
The expression "hanging up one's sleeve" harks back to the time when sleeves were very full and heavy. People literally "hung up" their sleeves.

Warning Issued

On Tree Lighting

While there are still thousands of people who risk loss of property and even the lives of their children by decorating highly inflammable evergreen trees with burning candles, the manufacturers of electrical equipment report that the number has been greatly reduced.

In this connection warnings have been issued against the purchase of inferior or cheap sets of electric tree lighting outfits. Candles should be taken to keep, metallic tinsel away from the base of lamps, as this may cause a short circuit, burning out the fuses and sometimes causing fires.

There is also danger in connecting too many lamps on extra-large lamps to the tree lighting circuits, if it is pointed out. Overburdened circuits occasionally become overheated. If more light is needed householders are urged to call in an expert from the electrical department.

Dog Attacks Sheep

At Prudden Farm

A dog attacked sheep at the home of Harry Prudden on U.S. 12, Sylvan, last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Prudden had turned the flock of spring lambs from the barnyard into a corn field. About an hour after he had turned them out he discovered a strange dog had attacked one lamb and had injured it so badly that it had to be killed. Mr. Prudden shot the dog but did not kill it and it got away into a swamp near the field. Justice of the Peace O. J. Wadsworth was called and made an appraisal of the damage. This is the second time within a few weeks that dogs have raided the flock of sheep owned by Mr. Prudden.

Lumber Co. Installs

New Weighing Device

With the idea in mind to insure their customers the advantage of correct weight without chance of error, the Chelsea Lumber, Grain & Coal Co. has added a "Weightograph" to their weighing equipment.

The Weightograph is an intricate piece of mechanism which registers the total weight placed upon the weights on different beams. An electrically lighted chart is shown through a periscope and the correct weight can be seen immediately without any chance for confusion on the part of the weighman.

Friends and customers of the Lumber and Coal concern are invited to call at the office and inspect the new addition to their equipment.

Hart Motor Sales

Offer New Service

Hart Motor Sales, local dealers for Willys Knight and Whippet motor cars, have added a Model complete service station to the equipment in their service department. With this new equipment, new tire chains are made to order in a very few minutes, thus eliminating the necessity of carrying a large stock of any certain size chain. It is a very convenient service and it is expected that many motorists will take advantage of the opportunity to secure the made-to-order chains.

It is a good thing to observe Christmas day. The mere marking of times and seasons when men agree to stop work and make merry together is a wise and wholesome custom. It helps one to feel the supremacy of the common life over the individual life. It reminds a man to set his little watch now and then by the great clock of humanity.

But there is a better thing than the observance of Christmas Day, and that is keeping Christmas. Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, your duties in the middle distance and your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellowmen are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts; hungry for joy; to own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of life, but what you are going to give to life; to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness?

Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to bear in mind the things that other people have to bear on their hearts; to try to understand what those who live in the same house with you really want without waiting for them to tell you; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your ugly thoughts and a garden for your kindly feelings; to open the gate open? Are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Are you willing to believe that love is the strongest thing in the world—stronger than hate, stronger than evil, stronger than death—and that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image and brightness of the Eternal Love? Then you can keep Christmas. And if you can keep it for a day, why not for always? But you cannot keep it alone.—Henry Van Dyke.

CRY FROM A LONELY HEART

A plaintive note of heart loneliness and soul hunger was sounded by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., when he arrived in Florida recently. He told an inquiring newspaper man that as he grew older he would find it better to have acclaim than riches. It was the observation of a man well past four score years who never had a chum or pal, as those terms are used and understood in the world.

It was not his first observation on that subject, therefore, not his first realization of a man alone in the world, save for relatives. It is not to his discredit that he has never had a chum. It is his misfortune. He is the type of man who never has a chum, but longs for one through life. Other men of smaller or no fortune have chums, know the full measure and sweetness of intimate human friendship long continued. By nature they win those friendships. As boys their chums are the best chaps in the community. As men they had intimate friends, developed those close and confidential friendships among worth while men, and lived in associations that added unmeasured joy to life. They gave to others and what they gave was returned a hundred fold.

Mr. Rockefeller is not the first man of prominence to long for those closer ties where unselfish friendship and love bring men very near and hold them. There are others, plenty of them, to be found in all cities. They see others, always in the midst of a group where there is real fun and endless delight. They would give anything they possess to be able to win such friendships and taste the delights others have in abundance. Their natures do not give the attraction to others. These men study themselves critically many times, they voice their loneliness at times, and wonder why others have so much of human joy and they so little. It takes some magnetic quality of heart to inspire that relation and that quality is not contained in some hearts.

Human ears never listened to sweeter music than the kindly statements of friends whose hearts were known and whose souls were true and tried. Without some note of that delightful score there is a heart loneliness and soul hunger. The stoutest heart may try to hide the pain, but there are times when a word, pregnant with a deep meaning, slips past the guarded lips. It is the cry of pain and comes from the depths of the heart, it indicates the anguish of many hours that had been concealed. We need friends, we never have too many good friends, we should cultivate them always.

CRITICISMS OF JOURNALISM

A physician, in a letter to a paper, charges the newspapers with publishing as news much that is untrue or only half true. There ought to be a law, he declares, citing the pure food and similar statutes. He also advocates that editors and reporters be required to sign what they write and that an official be provided "to check up on them and assess a small fine each time they departed from the facts." Even after it discovers an error, he asserts, a newspaper is but little concerned about publishing a correction.

A lawyer similarly bemoans what he is pleased to consider the commercialism of the modern newspaper. It is run solely, he argues, for profit. He is alarmed at the power he says it arrogates to itself and he professes to see a tendency to monopoly which he would counteract by putting news services such as the great press associations on a public utility basis.

It is somewhat surprising in these days to hear the charge of gross inaccuracy laid at the door of the newspaper. Doubtless errors creep into print where they are for all the world to read, while the mistakes the physician makes, if any, a co-worker observes, are buried by the undertaker. As long as the human equation continues in journalism there will be errors, but the emphasis on accuracy perennially transcends all others in the newspaper office. No reputable newspaper would deliberately print untruths or half truths, nor decline to correct a serious error. Even if such were not the case, no amount of bureaucracy would win the desired end.

Certainly newspapers are conducted for profit, but that is not the sole end by any means. Modern journalism, with its costly machinery and expensive processes, is inevitably in the class of big business. The value of any progressive newspaper runs into large figures and not being a charitable institution, the paper has to show a profit or perish. History has shown, moreover, that the more prosperous a newspaper the better it serves its community.

It is always easy to tell the other fellow how to run his business. Newspapers are particularly good targets for free advice, for almost any man, whatever his own line of work, has a pretty good idea of how to run a newspaper. Despite the critics, the radio, the tabloids, and even the short-comings it sees for itself, the newspaper never served a wider circle than it does today, nor wielded a healthier influence, nor enjoyed a greater public confidence, nor was journalism ever on a sounder basis. What its critics fail to realize is that a new era has dawned for the newspaper in which it goes forward to new measures of public service.

A TIME FOR SENTIMENT

Merry Christmas

We do not conduct our business for sentimental reasons nor solicit patronage on any other than the soundest business principles. We believe that in commercial transactions customers prefer honest values, courtesy and promptness, and like to trade where their business is appreciated. Therefore do we model our policy along these lines.

But these things rather add to our enjoyment of the beautiful sentiment which permeates the Christmas holidays, for this is a time for sentiment, the tenderest the human heart knows.

All joy to you and yours at Christmastide.

Christmas Discount by Edith Minter

I'VE hundred children, without a toy, have volunteered to give up Christmas this year."

Harriette Dunham hunched. She would smash that resolution. Twenty years before Harriette had parted from her lover because she devoted more time to children's Christmas trees than to him. A jealous boy, Wilbur Adams, her son, had caused her bitter sorrow and resulted in her moving far away from her former home. Yet she had never ceased Christmas charities. Only, as the common ending to love stories, "Married and lived happily ever after," proved not to be hers, the objects of her care had grown old in company with her.

Today she was enroute to the city, her one regret a scanty purse.

Her first call was at the Red Cross. "We've red and blanketed," said the secretary: "Toys are out of our line. Go and see the Wanda shop manager."

"I'd never dare!"

But he rattled her on until she was forced to obey his suggestion.

The Wanda was the smartest shop in town. Once she saw the counters of magnificent toys and beautiful books she got frightened and was about to slip away to the 5-and-10, where she would feel less conscious of her thin purse, when a courteous clerk insisted on serving her, and before she thought Harriette had asked for the manager. She expected nothing less than to be turned down, perhaps politely, anyhow certainly. However, she was escorted to a mezzanine, where an attendant took her name to a man behind a screen. A moment's silence, then the clerk reappeared, saying "The manager is too busy to see any one, but if you state your message he can hear you."

In an agony of nervousness Harriette produced the sad message, told of her trilling fund, and could he, in consideration of the cause, let her make a few purchases of picture books and toys, and help it to go further by making prices wholesale? While she spoke she was conscious of making a silly appearance with such small trade in a great establishment and was hardly surprised at being stopped by a roar.

"Wholesale prices? Never give any thing of the sort."

Tears sprang to Harriette's eyes, not from disappointment, but because of his brutality. Miss Dunham was sometimes snubbed, but no one had ever roared at her before. Apologizing, she tremblingly turned to go, but was halted by another roar.

"Here—tell Miss Dunham not to be in such a hurry. Take her to the toys, and have her select what she wants. Every dollar she spends, I'll match with ten dollars."

A door slammed, and silence ensued. In the toy department Miss Dunham felt like a little girl given her every wish to a fairy. Aided by the manager's liberality the box was a wonder. And as Harriette hurried restlessly to the door she held, the manager was there—still growing!

But his words, "Harriette, look at me," caused her to raise her modest eyes, and understand why he had needed time for reflection before meeting her. He was none other than her old lover—Wilbur Adams. Twenty years—she was still Miss Dunham—he was still a bachelor. A few words proved that her future best charity would be decking in Christmas trees. And Harriette's romance thus ended the correct way—"So they were married, and lived happily ever after."

Historic Spot

The name "Philosophers' Camp" was given nearly 40 years ago to a clump of old pines in the Adirondacks near Saranac Lake, N. Y. A meeting and camp was arranged here for leaders of scientific and philosophical thought, including Ralph Waldo Emerson, James Russell Lowell, Louis Agassiz, and many contemporaries. The pines are still pointed out.

Shows Speed of Airplane

The instrument used to indicate the air speed of an airplane is commonly called a "pitot tube." The air passes through this tube across an opening in one side and in so doing builds up air pressure on one side of the diaphragm and creates a vacuum on the other. The uneven force operates a pointer on a dial and indicates the air speed.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

FRIENDS AT CHRISTMAS

Friendship is to Christmas what melody is to song, the beauty, the joy, the inspiration of it. And if our wish for you is to any manner realized you will spend this Christmas in the congenial company of those you love, untroubled by care, and joyous of heart.

But true friendship, while it shines in unusual beauty at Christmas time, outlasts the Christmas season and binds together with a golden chain all the other days of the year.

And it pleases us to believe that when you enumerate your list of friends and well wishers, be it Christmas or any other time of the year, we shall be found among the chosen throng.

And we are wishing you now a most Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
