CHELSEA VILLAGE TO PAY FIFTY PER CENT OF THE SEWER COST

Consumers' Power Company Will Improve Service By Construction of New Pole and Wire Line.

At the Monday night meeting of the Chelsea common council resolutions were passed declaring its intention to construct a sanitary sewer within the village limits.

It is proposed that the village pay 50 per cent of construction costs and benefiting property holders to pay 50 per cent. Plans to have all homes connected with the sewer at the time the system is first built was discussed with a preponderance of opinion that this should be done. A map of the proposed system together with an estimated cost is now on file with the village clerk, S. W. Schenck. A public hearing on the matter will be held at the council rooms at 1:00 p. m. Saturday, February 2.

The council granted permission to the Consumers' Power Company to construct a new pole and wire line connecting their sub-station with the village lighting plant. Plans for this include higher poles and a larger wire and to be considerably shortened as to distance between the two plants. It was pointed out by Howard Pett, district manager of the Consumers' Power Company, who addressed the meeting, that the new line would be safer and would insure the village a better grade of electrical service which is advisable because of the increased load the village is demanding on account of new connections. Mr. Pett reiterated his statement of a few days ago that the farm extension lines from Chelsea would be rapidly pushed.

Quite properly, Mr. Hoover declines to endeavor to influence the course of legislation at the present session of Congress. He is not president yet and this is not his Congress anyway. Quite properly, President Coolidge will not exert himself to persuade the present Congress to fulfill the pledges of the Hoover campaign. He is the president and this is his Congress but they were not his pledges and he does not propose to try to steal any of his successor's thunder. Therefore there is almost certain to be an extra session of the new Congress to go through the form of relieving the farmers.

The situation in Washington is not calculated to promote important congressional action. So far as major policies are concerned, the government is virtually without authoritative leadership. A president about to retire cannot have much influence over a Congress also about to retire and President Coolidge, evidently has sense of humor enough to realize that fact. And a mere president-elect cannot properly deport himself as a president, a fact which Mr. Hoover has the good taste to appreciate. The lapse of time between the election of a president and his inauguration involves a great deal of lost motion. There is no argument for the four-months delay except tradition, which is not a very good argument. Transportation by ox cart is also traditional. However, since the object of the extra session is more special favor legislation, costly to the taxpayers and of doubtful value to the supposed beneficiaries, we hardly expect an immediate popular uprising to force a change in the system.

MR. ROCKEFELLER'S FIGHT

Stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana have been invited by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to help oust Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board, at the annual made public the letter sent to the corporation in March. The public letter sent to the corporation in March. The public letter sent to the corporation in March. The public letter sent to the corporation in March.

who will decline to give Col. Stewart another term.

This fight is another development related to the Teapot Dome oil lease and the scandal that followed its exposure. Last April Mr. Rockefeller made public a letter he had sent to Col. Stewart asking his resignation. To that letter Col. Stewart has made no reply. The trouble had its origin in the testimony given by Col. Stewart at the senate probe of the Teapot Dome oil lease. Mr. Rockefeller took the position that the oil business was harmed by that scandal and that men who had a part in the affair should step aside. Later The New York World printed a story that friends of Col. Stewart had obtained control of 51 per cent of the stock and he was secure in his position. The Rockefeller holdings amount to 15 per cent, but it is not certain what other holdings might be grouped by them. It may be there is a long fight under way between the Rockefeller and Stewart interests for control.

The annoyance of the controversy must be very great for the chairman of the board. Mr. Rockefeller has made his side of the fight public, evidently seeking to carry the contest into the high court of public opinion. His tactics amount to making Col. Stewart the defendant in the fight. There are many who feel the effort of Mr. Rockefeller to oust Col. Stewart is right and should win. At any rate the fight places on the stockholders of the company the obligation to choose between Rockefeller and Col. Stewart, between a man who was involved in some part of the Teapot Dome matter and a man who says the methods employed then were indefensible.

THE MYSTERIOUS RADIO

There has been no more striking illustration of the possibilities of radio than was afforded at the dedication of the nine-mile tunnel through the Cascade Mountains recently. The tunnel is located in the eastern part of the state of Washington. The program was directed from a studio in New York City. The numbers on the program were contributed by a speaker on the scene, music was supplied from New York, Madame Schumann-Heink sang in San Francisco and two speakers in Washington supplied their parts.

This program, made up of numbers supplied by people 3000 miles apart, was distributed through a chain of radio stations so well that people living between Winnipeg and Havana and from ocean to ocean could tune in if they cared to, occupy easy chairs at home and hear the entire offering of talk and music. It was possible to hear the train that was first to pass through the long tunnel, as it stopped to pick up the people at the station at the east end of the long bore through the mountain range.

The world accepts quickly the new convenience scientists and artisans provide, little caring what it is or how the task it supplies is done. No man understands fully the radio, even if men have learned its use and operation. It is still the great mystery, one of the wonderful power man has been able to harness in part for his use and entertainment. Long distance telephony has become commonplace, so readily does it serve humanity. We look at the wires and pretend to understand something of the operation. But the radio, far-reaching and mysterious, without wires, distributes a message through the land. The human voice, thousands of miles away, is heard distinctly and without the slightest trouble. The radio is one of the wonders that surround us on every hand. The fact that it is so serviceable, apparently so simple, serves to heighten the mystery that surrounds it. Distance is conquered, the world is brought very close together as one listens to the message it brings.

Clara Bow in 'Three Week Ends' at Princess

She's done it again! Clara Bow, the "madcap of the screen" has everybody gasping with her latest screen sensation, "Three Week Ends." It's from the pen of Elinor Glyn, and the amazing picture will be shown at the Princess theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, January 30-31.

Clara Bow startled the motion picture world audiences with her daring picturization of Elinor Glyn's "It." "It" seemed to be the climax for dashing screen performance. And it was until "Three Week Ends" burst upon the screen. The Bow personality sweeps one off his seat and sets thousands of little nerves tingling that never tingled before.

Clara spends many days in a bathing suit winning the penniless insurance salesman whom she mistakes for a "big shot." Just watch her snub the "big butter and egg man" for a look from this Romeo. It's a wild and witching comedy from romantic Broadway. Neil Hamilton, Harrison Ford, Julia Swayne Gordon and a bewitching little "new" girl, Lucille Powers, are in the cast.

Safety, silence and simplicity are features of the new Ford six-brake system

ONE of the first things you will notice when you drive the new Ford is the quick, effective, silent action of its six-brake system.

This system gives you the highest degree of safety and reliability because the four-wheel service brakes and the separate emergency or parking brakes are all of the mechanical, internal expanding type, with braking surfaces fully enclosed for protection against mud, water, sand, etc.

The many advantages of this type of braking system have long been recognized. They are brought to you in the new Ford through a series of mechanical improvements embodying much that is new in design and manufacture. A particularly unique feature is the simple way by which a special drum has been constructed to permit the use of two sets of internal brakes on the rear wheels.

A further improvement in braking performance is effected by the self-centering feature of the four-wheel brakes—an exclusive Ford development. Through this construction, the entire surface of the shoe is brought in steady, uniform contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the brake pedal. This prevents screaming and howling and makes the Ford brakes unusually silent in operation.

Another feature of the Ford brakes is the ease of adjustment.

The four-wheel brakes are adjusted by turning a screw conveniently located on the outside of each brake plate. This screw is so notched that all four brakes can be set alike simply by listening to the "clicks."

The emergency or parking brakes on the new Ford require little attention. However, should they need adjustment at any time, consult your Ford dealer for prompt, courteous, and economical service. He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Methodist Home Presents Collection To University

The ice covered roads and prevailing "flu" epidemic throughout the country as well as at the Home are still responsible for a short list of news items.

Our regular correspondent for the Home, Mr. E. Reed has been severely ill for the past week but is reported as improving.

Although too many are still confined to their beds ill with severe colds, flu and other maladies, we are cheered by the report of a quite general improvement in a majority of cases.

Another member of our family, Mrs. Myra Gage has reached the ninety-first milestone of life. She was the recipient of many congratulatory cards, presents from friends and a birthday cake with many candles from the Home. Not many reach this advanced age with faculties as well preserved, especially eyesight, which admits of almost constant daily use in reading and embroidery.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanford of Detroit and their son, W. N. Stanford were callers on Miss Cooley last Sunday.

Mrs. Laura Drew Wright, a member of our family for a little more than a year passed away after a short illness Tuesday evening. She was born on November 4, 1845 and came here from Laingsburg where her remains were taken for interment. Memorial services were held here Friday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin of Ypsilanti were callers on their mother, Mrs. Alice Chapin, last Sunday.

Miss Alice Brown was the recipient recently of a box containing shells and two unique ornamental birds fashioned from shells supposed to belong to the families of waders and swimmers. They were sent by a friend who is spending the winter at Boca Grande, an island off the coast of Florida, the surface of which is of shell formation.

Mr. Ulrey was recently happily surprised by a call from his niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gray, who were on a honeymoon trip from Saginaw.

Boy Scouts Will Celebrate Birthday

While only the 19th birthday of the scouts in the United States the week will mark the 21st anniversary of the scouts in the world.

An international jamboree of 300,000 scouts representing 43 nations will encamp at Birkenhead, near Liverpool, for a convention next August.

Des Moines Register

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Taylor of Detroit, had as guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford, in Ann Arbor, to attend the unveiling ceremonies Monday incident to presentation to the University of a gift by Mr. Taylor, an alumnus. Previous to the presentation, they attended a dinner at the Michigan Union in honor of Mr. Taylor.

In the ceremony, which was characterized by easy informality and simplicity, Mr. Taylor, a graduate of the law school with the class of 1887, presented the University with what is said to be the only collection of autographs of the Emperor Napoleon and his aides in existence at 2:30 in the afternoon in the main library.

The gift was accepted on behalf of the University by Dr. Clarence Little, its president, who expressed appreciation of the donation in a short speech following Mr. Taylor's description of the material and its historical significance.

After the speechmaking was concluded, the assembly adjourned to the second floor corridor of the library, where the unveiling of the special case containing the valuable pieces took place.

This case, designed by Mr. Taylor provides for the detailed examination of any particular letter or autograph, merely by the withdrawal of a steel-bound slide, the glass faces of which effectively protect the specimen while it is being handled.

A number of autographs of the emperor are in the collection, including the different spellings which he used at various stages of his career. The signatures of every marshal of Napoleon as they appear in some communication or other are also present in the cases.

Besides these pieces, reduced paintings of the emperor, his marshals, and various military aides were donated by Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Taylor is a son of the late James Taylor and his boyhood days were spent in Chelsea. He is a frequent visitor here.

One of the most striking scenes ever portrayed for any screen is a sequence of "The Red Dance," the Raul Walsh production for Fox Films which shows a Russian prison camp called "The Valley of the Living Dead."

For this particular scene Walsh obtained more than 400 men to portray the beaten, starved, famished and desperate prisoners working in the salt mines and forced to wade into water to their waists and finally turn big water wheels.

A tribute to the realism lies in the fact that not one bit of makeup was used during the many days the scene was being enacted and even the stereotyped method of using glycerine to portray perspiration was dispensed with, great beads of sweat rolling down the cheeks of the men, sweat made by actual hard work in the confinement of the prison dungeons where they worked.

"The Red Dance" has been hailed by critics as the screen sensation of 1928.

Dolores Del Rio in the stellar role, Charles Farrell in the masculine romantic lead and Ivan Linow as a Red general are supported by a strong cast in this production which is coming to the Wuerth Theatre, Ann Arbor, all next week.

A Chrysler Motors Product
Plymouth offers typical Chrysler performance, being Chrysler-engineered and including such modern improvements as weatherproof hydraulic four-wheel brakes, high-compression L-head 45 h. p. engine, rubber engine mountings, aluminum alloy pistons, torque reaction neutralizer, full pressure-feed lubrication.

EMPHASIZING its value leadership, making it plainer than ever, are Plymouth's new lower prices representing savings of $25 to $40 on popular models.

Plymouth quality has not been changed in the least—it remains the same fine quality which has given this car an international reputation for economy of operation and upkeep.

In the lowest-priced field, Plymouth is still the outstanding full-size car giving ample room for five grown-ups; it is still the only car near its price equipped with weatherproof hydraulic four-wheel brakes.

it is still the one big buy at its price combining modern engineering improvements and performance with modern style and luxury.

See the Plymouth. Compare it, try to equal it among cars selling under $850—and inevitably you will rank it first and foremost in every element that determines true motor-car value.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY DECLARED SUCCESS

Capacity Audience in Attendance at First Play of Season; Week's Basket Ball Activities Many.

The All-Hi play "Aaron Slick from Punkin' Creek" was a great success. The play was interesting as well as comical. John Adrian playing Aaron Slick was as clever a country "slicker" as could be found anywhere. The way he fooled Wilbur Merklew, the crooked speculator, played by Howard Holmer, Jr. proved him to be as sharp as his name indicates.

Margaret Heeselschwerdt, as the widow Rosy Berry, Aaron's "sweetie", played the part of a vigorous country lady to perfection. The part of "Sis" Riggs, a young tomboy, was portrayed in fine shape by Eunice Gulde. Lelia Seitz and Andrew Eppler took the parts of Gladys May Merklew, the speculator's niece, and Clarence Green the detective, and did some clever acting.

Miss Evelyn Cotnam deserves a great deal of credit for directing the play.

The in-between-acts were put on by the glee club and by Jack Weber and Austin Faust. The glee club put on a clever dancing act and Jack and Austin were clever as a pair of "hoboes".

Everyone concerned was satisfied and we hope the rest of the plays are successful.

Tuesday evening on the home floor Chelsea swamped the Milan boys 25 to 16. Chelsea's team work, passing and shooting kept them on the long end of the score. Chelsea's defense was in fine working order and Milan did not get a great many shots. The score at the end of the half was 9-6, Chelsea.

In the second half Chelsea opened up a barrage of shots that Milan could not stop. The boys hung up eight field goals before the final whistle blew. Milan displayed a fine brand of basket ball but could not stop Chelsea's attack. The final score was 25 to 16.

Friday the Reserves and Girls play the two teams from St. Mary, while the Varsity has an open date.

In a fast game the Reserves lost to the Milan second team 16-18. The Reserves played a speedy game but the Milan boys were too tall for them.

The Reserves were outplayed on the first half and the score at the end of that period was 14-8, Milan.

The second half, however, told a different story. The Reserves' score began to pile up and they scored eight points to Milan's 4. They could not overcome Milan's lead and the final score was 16-18, Milan.

Again Tuesday evening the Chelsea high school sextette played a very fast and interesting game, when they met as their opponents the Milan high school girls. Our high school girls lost no time in beginning to pile up a score. Their plays started from center and the ball remained in their possession until it went through their basket. The best passwork the girls have had this year was shown in their game Tuesday. They have promised to continue in this way throughout the entire season.

The Chelsea girls led at the end of the game with a score 28-17.

Tar Keeps Rats Away
A small quantity of tar of the sort that is used by roofers for closing seams will effectively drive rats away from their lairs under porches and similar projections. The tar is simply coated on the inside of the gates done by the rats, and if periodically applied will result in the disappearance of the pests.

EYESIGHT

Eye Health

Eyes quickly feel the effects of any wrong condition, either within or without the body, and give a timely warning.

If you are having difficulty in reading or doing close work, or if you are afflicted with headaches or blurred vision, you should heed this warning and have your eyes attended to.

Examination by an eye specialist will locate the trouble and indicate the treatment which should be given. Usually it is within the eye itself and is not of a serious nature. In such cases the remedy is to use corrective lenses to assist the eye in overcoming the defect.

We specialize in Eye Refraction, which is the examination and correction of defective vision by means of glasses. You are invited to call and consult us about your eyes and to make an appointment for examination if you wish.

Question And Answer Dept.

The Standard is agreeably surprised and highly pleased by the magnificent response received from our announcement last week, of the new "Question and Answer" department.

Our appeal for cooperation seems to have created a desire to help us maintain this feature and a desire to secure information about happenings of more or less universal interest.

We want to thank each one for their contribution as they have figuratively "broken the ice" which is an indication that this column will prove to be a popular one.

Ques. Can you answer, in your interesting question column where the Garden of Eden was located—the place where Adam and Eve lived?

Ans. The Garden of Eden is supposed to have been located near the city of Babylon.

Ques. As you are kind enough to answer questions will you please tell me who made the first United States flag?

Ans. It is not definitely known who has this distinction, although tradition accredits it to Betsy Ross of Philadelphia as the first person who made the flag known as the "Stars and Stripes." The succeeding years have thrown a glamour of patriotic romance about her until today it is universally believed she had that distinction.

Ques. To settle an argument will you kindly state which is the largest dome in the world—the capitol at Washington, D. C., or St. Paul's in London?

Ans. Neither. St. Peter's in Rome is the largest in the world. It is 330 feet high and 139 feet in diameter. The capitol building in Washington is 287 feet high and 135 feet in diameter. St. Paul's Episcopal church in London has a dome 215 feet high and 142 feet in diameter.

Ques. Have we any evidence outside the Bible that the crucifixion of Jesus really took place as recording and what the charge against Him was?

Ans. In 1810 some workmen, while excavating in the ancient city of Amman (now known as Aquila), in the kingdom of Naples, found an antique marble vase in which lay concealed a copper plate, and on which was an inscription in the Hebrew language. This, on translation, proved to be the death warrant of our Saviour. It is now preserved in an ebony box in the library of the Vatican. If it is genuine, it is to the Christians the most impressive and interesting monument in existence. According to this copper plate the death sentence was pronounced by Pontius Pilate on six counts, and was signed by four witnesses.

Ques. If you can answer any kind of questions will you please tell me how I can keep from growing old?

Ans. The best method we know of to keep from growing old is for you to tinker with your old car with the engine running, in a closed garage.

Ques. I wish to ask through your column what are the 12th and 13th degrees in Masonry?

Ans. The 12th degree in the Masonic order is "Knight Templar," and the 13th degree is "Knight of Malta."

Ques. What is the popular name for the city of Philadelphia, and how came its origin?

Ans. Philadelphia is popularly known as the "City of Brotherly Love," which is the Greek meaning of its name.

Ques. In reading over the signers of the Declaration of Independence there is one who signed it "Charles Carroll of Carrollton." Why did he add "of Carrollton"?

Ans. He added "of Carrollton" so that in the event the American cause was lost King George of England would have no doubt as to which "Charles Carroll" he should hang for treason against Great Britain, claiming he wanted no mistake made, because his father was "Charles Carroll of Annapolis."

Ques. Will you please tell me who was vice-president in William McKinley's administration?

Ans. McKinley was elected twice. If you mean his first term, it was Garrett A. Hobart, but if you mean his second term, it was Theodore Roosevelt.

Ques. I would like to ask you which of the two old parties spent the most money in the campaign for the presidential election?

Ans. The campaign expenses of the Democratic and the Republican parties were approximately the same—about $5,000,000, as near as we can learn.

Ques. Is it a fact, as I have been told, that all the Smiths voted for Alfred E. Smith for President?

Ans. No. If they had, Alfred would have been elected.

Show Special Seed On Special Train

The part which good seed plays in reducing losses from seed-borne diseases, in increasing the percentage of germination, and in producing a vigorous plant will be told by members of the farm crops department at Michigan State College, to audiences visiting a special train which will be run over the New York Central Lines in southeastern Michigan, March 4 to 16.

The cost of seed is usually one of the minor items in the cost of producing a crop, but often an attempt to save the difference in price between good and poor seed means that the farmer loses a part or all of the profit which he expected to make on that crop, according to crops specialists at M. S. C.

The production of certified seed is attracting the interest of many Michigan farmers, and Michigan seeds are now going to many other States. The Better Seed train will carry two cars of exhibits, one of which will show the trials made at the college of many kinds of seeds, while the other will carry equipment needed in the production of better seed.

Less than five per cent of Michigan farmers use clean certified seed which is adapted to this state and of known origin, according to a statement by Professor H. C. Ratter, Michigan State College. He believes that farmers who visit the special train will be convinced of the economic advantage of using better seed. The stops which will be made by the train will be announced as soon as the schedule is completed.

All in Italy

Here is history in stone and canvas, here are meadows of the soul like those of Assisi, which Dante called "the garden of the Pious," and the "Garden of Italy." Here for the literary saint is the road to Arqua, with its vineyard hillside that Petrarch, lover of Laura, so enjoyed; here you may ride with Byron along the banks of the Brenta or on the hillside of Este and enjoy wild "Childe Harold" the "loveliest garden of the world." Farmers Interested In Account System

The Farm Account school, held in the supervisors' room at the court house, Ann Arbor, Tuesday, January 15, was attended by the following:
A. J. Ernst, Pittsfield; Arthur Hein-inger, Pittsfield; Henry Latson, Ann Arbor; E. P. Hellner, Northfield; Joseph Ziegler, Webster; D. J. Ticknor, Ann Arbor; Frances Farrell, Webster;

farm management from M. S. C. was also present.

H. S. Osler, county agricultural agent will assist fifteen additional farmers in starting their account books, which will make a group of about 30
Washtenaw farmers keeping records in cooperation with the farm management department M. S. C. during the coming year.

Mr. Berg will visit the farms during the coming summer and check up on the records which the farmers are keeping and also assist each individual in closing his account book at the end of the year.

This account system is very simple, consisting of an inventory at the beginning and end of the year, together with the livestock and feed record. A record is kept of the receipts and expenses of farm operations. Personal accounts, household expenses, costs records and livestock record productions are not included in this system.
Farmers desiring account books can obtain them from the county agricultural agent.

"Neighboring" Star

The nearest star, so far as known,

Gave Name to Newspaper

The first Italian newspaper was sold for a gazetta, a small Italian coin, and it is generally supposed that the name "gazette" is an application of the price of the paper to the paper itself.

NEURITIS PAINS

VANISHED SINCE
HE GOT KONJOLA

Says It Also Strengthened His Nerves
And Filled Him With New Life Energy.

MR. RALPH SMITH

"My system was so filled with aches and pains before I started to take Konjola that I didn't think a single medicine would ever be of any help to me," said Mr. Ralph Smith, 1405 Howard street, Detroit, Michigan.

"The pains centered in my arms and shoulders and sometimes there was a feeling of numbness from my fingers to my elbow. My shoulders were a solid mass of aches and pains and often I couldn't raise my arms above my head. I would lie awake nearly half the night from pain and nervousness. I couldn't find a medicine to help me and even my doctor was unable to give me relief.

"Four bottles of Konjola banished all my suffering and I have not taken any other medicine since. That was two years ago. It also strengthened my nerves and filled my system with new life energy. I strongly indorse this Konjola to anyone who suffers as I did."

Konjola is sold in Chelsea, Mich. at Burg's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"Instinct" and "Intuition"

Instinct is the term applied to an inherited tendency to perform a specific action in a particular way whenever a situation arises. Intuition, on the other hand, implies the faculty of knowing something beforehand, whether it be mystical, intellectual or moral.

U. of M. Professor Gives Illustrated Lecture on Pre-Historic Monster

Depicting the animal and reptile development from their earliest stages of existence, Prof. Russell Huxley, of the Geology Department of the University of Michigan, gave a very interesting illustrated lecture at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday evening.

Pictures of animals living more than 50,000,000 years ago were shown as well as pictures showing evolution of some pre-historic monsters into what are today our modern wild animals as well as some of the domestic animals. Other species of the monsters are all extinct, there being no trace of their identity in our present day animals.

Skeletons which are unearthed in this country as well as in foreign countries by the geologists, are well enough preserved and so complete that it is possible to make exact replicas of the monsters which are on display in many city and university museums.

throughout the country. It is in this way that pictures and sketches are made which makes it possible to convey the interesting study to the public through the eye of the stereopticon lantern.

Paul F. Niehaus furnished the musical diversion for the evening's entertainment when he demonstrated his ability as a yodeler and harmonica player, with Mrs. Niehaus accompanying at the piano.

E. L. Clark was entertainment chairman for the evening.

Will Feature Local History In Advertising

Mapes & Plankell, local funeral directors and morticians will, beginning this issue in February feature their weekly advertising with pioneer history of this section of Washtenaw county dating back to 1827, detailing interesting and informative facts and situations which faced our ancestors of 100 years ago, for the first forty years. Each weekly advertisement during the year will be complete but only a paragraph about some section surrounding Chelsea in which all are interested and a few with some recollection handed down by the generation preceding them.

The full series to be published during the year will be a most complete story of "The First Forty Years With Washtenaw County Pioneers" which is the title of the service secured by this concern, and promises to be worth preserving as well as reading.
