FORMAL OPENING OF NEW SERVICE STATION TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Staebler Oil Co. Super-Service Station
Is in Charge of Jas. A. Park,
Well Known Oil Man.

An event of significance for Chelsea business will take place on Saturday, July 13, when Staebler Oil Company, filling station at the corner of S. Main street and U. S. 12 will have its formal opening under the management of J. A. Park. Mr. Park has long been recognized as one of the most successful wholesale distributors of petroleum products in lower Michigan, due in a large measure to the conscientious and accommodating manner in which he serves his trade.

The opening of the station will afford Chelsea motorists an opportunity to avail themselves of his long experience in the oil business and his unusually courteous methods of service. The station will be under his supervision at all times and will be under the direct charge of H. G. Helmer, a veteran oil man, thoroughly acquainted with all the details of super-service station work.

That the Staebler Oil Co. has confidence in the future of Chelsea is attested by their erection of storage tanks aggregating 50,000 gallons on their siding on Middle street, and the complete reconstruction of their station on South Main. A new station has been built, spacious concrete drives laid out, and most modern equipment provided, including tire repair apparatus, an air scale which automatically indicates to any desired pressure, oversized air compressor capable of inflating even the largest size tires, and lubricating devices for all types of cars. Perhaps the most interesting feature of the new station is the rotary lift, by means of which an automobile may be raised six feet off the ground permitting complete visibility while the car is being lubricated.

The station will be headquarters for Siebering tires in Chelsea. Siebering is the tire protected by a one-year guarantee against cuts, blow-outs, and hazards of all sorts.

The retail station will constitute an important link in the growing chain of Dixie stations which now cover not only Michigan, but large portions of Wisconsin, Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas. Never before in the history of the oil business has any expansion taken place comparable to that of Dixie, which has spread from one state in 1927 to eight in 1929, and from the volume of 25 million gallons annually to one approaching 150 million gallons. Dixie is now available throughout Southern Michigan and the new facilities provided in Chelsea will afford service unexcelled either in wholesale or retail distribution anywhere in this locality.

In their advertisement on another page of this issue the Staebler Oil Company announces that they will give away on the day of their formal opening coupons good for two quarts of Dixie Oil or Gargoyle Mobiloil. These coupons can be redeemed any time up to the first of September. They also announce the gift of one Pismo lighter with every purchase of a new Siebering tire during the month of July.

Special Feature At Next Band Concert

A large crowd attended the third band concert of the season which was given in Chelsea Wednesday night by Wesley Smith's concert band. Mr. Smith announces that a special feature of next Wednesday night's concert will be cornet solos by Miss Abby, 18-year old Jackson cornetist. Although the program has not as yet been arranged a good entertainment is promised for the evening.

Two More Games In Bag For Independents

The Chelsea Independents added two more victories to their string during the last week. On Thursday they took the Manchester League team into camp by a score of 10-4 and on Sunday defeated the Del Prete nine of Ann Arbor 4-0.

In the Manchester game Chelsea went out in the second inning and got 3 runs as a margin for Al Rossbach to work on. This proved sufficient, but to show that they were in a generous mood they gathered 6 more in later innings. The fielding feature of the game was Miller's spectacular catch of a low liner in the eighth.

Sunday the Independents played errorless ball and gave Al a shut-out victory which he deserved. In this game the entire team looked good and if they can maintain this form, much may be expected from them in later games.

Next Sunday the Independents will play the Meadow Lark Inn team, of Jackson, on the local diamond.

Ellsworth Hoppe, manager of Hoppe's Wildcats, announces that his team will play the Gillett Lake team at that place, near Jackson, next Sunday, the game to be called at three o'clock.

HAROLD SPAULDING IS NEW CHEVROLET AGENT IN CHELSEA TERRITORY

Purchases Equipment Of Sylvan Chevrolet Agency, Assuming Ownership On Wednesday.

Through a business transaction which was consummated yesterday, Harold Spaulding assumes the Chevrolet agency in Chelsea. Mr. Spaulding purchased the parts, shop equipment and office equipment of the Sylvan Chevrolet Sales & Service, Inc., and will be located in the same building on North Main street. The new agency will be known as Spaulding Chevrolet Sales.

Mr. Spaulding is well known locally as an automobile salesman, having been connected with sales agencies in this community for the past five years. He has held a position as salesman with the Sylvan Chevrolet agency since February.

According to a statement issued by Mr. Spaulding, Harold Gueatal, who has also been employed by the retiring concern as a salesman, will be retained in the same capacity with the new firm. An experienced service man will also be added to the service department.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Breithaupt, who have had charge of the Sylvan Chevrolet Sales & Service, Inc., since the entry of this firm in the automobile business in Chelsea last fall, have made no definite plans for the future. They expect to stay in Chelsea until August first to close business affairs for the Huron Valley Chevrolet, Inc., of Ann Arbor, owners of the Sylvan agency.

In August Mr. and Mrs. Breithaupt expect to return to their former home in Kansas with his parents, who will come here for a visit, and will continue on their trip to California where they will spend the winter and if a suitable location can be found they expect to enter the automobile business in that state, acquiring an agency for themselves.

During their stay in Chelsea the Breithaupts have made many friends who will regret that they are leaving, but the well wishes of these friends will accompany them to their new field of endeavor.

To Apply Dust Layer On Cav. Lake Road

People of this community who travel the Cavanaugh Lake road and especially residents along the highway will be greatly pleased to learn that announcement has been made by the Board of County Road Commissioners that this road will be treated with calcium chloride during the summer months.

The good news to this effect was brought about through the efforts of Supervisor Geo. W. Beckwith who is ever on the lookout to take care of the best interests of Sylvan township.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS SCHOOL ELECTION AT AUDITORIUM, MONDAY

Waldo Kusterer And Geo. Walworth
Are New Trustees; Howard S.
Holmes Re-elected.

More than two hundred people were in attendance at the annual meeting of School District No. 3, fr., Sylvan and Lima, which was held in the public school auditorium Monday evening.

The meeting was called to order by D. E. Beach, president of the school board, who acted as chairman of the meeting. Minutes of the meeting of last year, read by John Kalmbach, secretary of the board, were approved. The report for the year 1928-29 was also read by the secretary and was approved.

Nominations were in order for the election of trustees; there being three vacancies. P. C. Maroney and O. D. Schneider were appointed tellers and were sworn in by H. D. Witherell.

The first trustee to be elected was for the term of one year, to fill vacancy. The names of Waldo Kusterer and M. J. Dunkel were submitted. 216 votes were cast, 127 for Kusterer and 78 for Dunkel; the former being declared elected. There were 11 scattering votes.

Howard Holmes was then nominated to succeed Dunkel for a period of three years. There being no opposition, Mr. Holmes was declared elected, there being 173 votes cast.

The names of John Fletcher and George Walworth were then submitted. Walworth received 105 votes and Fletcher 97 votes, the former being declared elected for a three-year term.

Thus Chelsea's new school board will consist of D. E. Beach, John Kalmbach, Howard S. Holmes, Waldo Kusterer and George Walworth.

Many Activities At Sylvan Estates Club

The Ladies' Day held last Tuesday at Sylvan Estates Country Club was one of the most successful of the season. In spite of the fact that the two ball foursome was somewhat delayed by the rain, it was played off with much enthusiasm, low scores being held by Mrs. John Fletcher of Chelsea and Mrs. R. V. Carroll of New York, playing against Mrs. Robert Gauss and Mrs. L. E. Wenzel of Ann Arbor.

The luncheon was one of the most largely attended of the season; thirty-four ladies sitting down at the long table in the center of the dining room. As the ladies rose in turn and introduced themselves, rivalry was displayed between the Chelsea ladies and those from Detroit to determine which had the largest representation. Although Chelsea was well represented, the Detroiters claimed a slight majority.

Prizes at bridge were won by Miss Lena Miller and Mrs. L. P. Vogel of Chelsea, while Mrs. W. Piper of Detroit won the free-for-all prize.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. V. Carroll of New York, who is a house guest of Mrs. John Fletcher, and Mrs. H. Thierman of Columbus, Ohio, who is being entertained by Mrs. George Turnbull of Grosse Pointe Park. Mrs. A. L. Lowry of Sylvan Estates has as her guests Mrs. W. S. Linton of Saginaw and Miss Elsie Linton of Garden City, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Anshultz of Briarcliffe, Kentucky, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stegeman of Fort Thomas, Kentucky will be guests of Mrs. George Wood Hays of Sylvan Estates next week.

Huron Hills Country Club has extended an invitation to the women members of Sylvan Estates to spend the day at Huron Hills on Wednesday, July 17. The events of the day will be a golf tournament to be played in the morning, followed by luncheon and bridge.

Sylvan Estates announces an evening bridge party for both men and women, to be held Thursday evening, July 18, at eight o'clock. The event is planned at the request of the members, and many tables have been reserved. All members and their friends are invited to be present.

ENGLISH FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. English entertained at their home on South Main street over the week-end his three brothers at a family reunion.

This is the first time the four brothers had all been together in sixteen years and the event was a very enjoyable one.

The guests were Dr. J. T. English of Detroit, Robert D. English of Michigan, North Dakota, and Charles M. English, of Medford, Colorado. The oldest member present was in his 74th year and the youngest was 65 years of age.

Ford dealers' selling prices on

WHY not get a used car for the second car your family has been needing? Most of the cars we have accepted for trade-in on new Fords have a generous number of miles left in them—miles of unused transportation at a price you can easily afford.

You'll find our used-car prices low because there is no "price padding" to make up for high trade-in allowances. The price of the Model A Ford is so low, and the value so high, that excessive trade-in concessions are impossible. That, and our reputation for fair-dealing which we value so highly, protect you when you buy a used car from us.

When we offer a Model T Ford for resale it has been thoroughly reconditioned. New parts wherever needed; everything properly tightened and adjusted—and with it goes a guarantee. We have a number of these reconditioned Fords now. Also several cars of other makes, priced according to the unused transportation they offer. Let us prove our prices. Stop in today and look over these bargains:

- 1926 Chevrolet Coup, $55.00 down

The Old Taffy Pullin'

Who can remember the old "taffy pullin'?"
We all used to go to in days past and gone?
And who can recall the old-fashioned "woolin'?"
We gave to the girls as the evening wore on!
And don't you remember the one you ran after—
And the big funny bow that she had in her hair?
And still don't you hear the shouts and the laughter—
And still don't you picture the gang that was there?
And ho, for the taffy that clung to your fingers—
And ho, for the fun we had pullin' it, too!
The memory of it still fancifully lingers
While all of my playmates pass by in review.
And ho, for the stars that above us were gleamin'
As out in the moonlight the candy was made—
The very same moonlight in which I am dreamin'
Tonight, of the old-fashioned games that we played!
We tugged at the taffy until it was brittle.
At least that's the way that it should have been done,
But if it stayed sticky, that mattered but little—
The candy itself was the least of the fun.
The taffy was nothing compared to the kisses
(Nor is it sweet kisses of candy, I mean)
The kisses we stole from the sweet little misses
Beat all of the taffy man ever has seen.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS SOUND

Reports concerning business are encouraging. Those in a position to be conversant with existing conditions say business is sound and that the prospects for the future are bright. Eugene Meyer, Jr., head of the Federal Farm Loan Board, says that demand for farm loans, long dormant, is reviving. Farm debts, figures show, are decreasing in a substantial way. Foreign trade is reported to be in a satisfactory condition. Each month so far this year has brought a marked increase in exports. Employment figures indicate improvement. In fact a survey of conditions throughout the country show no cause for discouragement.

Many of our business men need encouragement. There is nothing radically wrong at this time except a number of people have become discouraged and this negative state of mind has had a more or less depressing effect. Brighter views, for which there is ample justification, will help in a big way to live up to business. We need to arouse ourselves and pull ourselves out of the slough of despond. We are on the threshold of an era of prosperity. True, we cannot enjoy any benefits from such conditions unless we do our part. We must exert ourselves if we hope to win any sizeable reward. Success is never the reward of inactivity. He who would win must work. But the individual who is willing at this time to work strenuously has plenty of reason to feel encouraged over conditions. Your business reflects your attitude toward business. What is your business like?

MICHIGAN NOT SLOW

We respectfully beg to advise our fellow-citizens that Michigan is not slow. The state is already reaping dividends upon an improvement on its livestock for which the movement was begun less than a quarter of a century ago. Then Michigan was complaining of the low quality of its live stock. The predominant features of the herd were the "grades" and cross-bred cattle. The country was getting a large part of its high-grade beef supply from Texas ranges then. Since that time the Texas cattle have been deprecating in quality, and herdsmen, bankers and good folks generally who have been interested in the betterment of their state have been bringing the quality of their cattle up. As a part of that program we learn that shipments of Michigan and Wisconsin cows are coming into that state weekly for this purpose. With better cows come better farms and dairy equipment, of the latter of which Michigan is also a producer. All of which goes to prove anew the truth of the adage that God helps them who help themselves. Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record.

TOO LATE

A New Jersey man was arrested recently for murdering a woman whom he had bigamously married. He confessed, and said that he had killed her because he realized that it would be impossible for him to keep up the deception that he practiced on her and his wife any longer.

Right after I married her I realized I had done wrong," he explained. "This gentleman is like most of the rest of us. Right after we do something, we realize it was wrong—and we'd give our eye teeth to undo it. If more of us could realize before we do a thing that it is wrong the world would be a lot better off."

COURTESY BEGETS COURTESY

It has been estimated that $45,000,000 persons are going motor touring in the United States during the summer and fall months.

There is one thing that will be in the mind of each individual as he sets forth on his journey, namely, that he will expect courtesy of those he comes in contact with in the strange towns, cities and villages through which he will pass. Expecting hospitality, thoughtfulness and kindness has been proved to the average man to be entirely reasonable.

Yet, it is pointed out by those who have watched the mighty growth of motor touring, there is one type of traveler who cannot expect courtesy, namely, the stranger who refuses to show a similar spirit toward others.

There clearly is such a type of motorist. He is the one who violates the local traffic regulations counting upon his foreign tag to win him leniency or complete forgiveness. He cuts corners, races recklessly through small towns, ignores caution and warning signs, sneaks by traffic signal lights, parks where parking often is wisely forbidden and generally acts as the bull in the china shop of local traffic. When he gets the punishment, the contempt and contumely he deserves, this driver is among the first to proclaim vociferously the "discourtesy" he is shown.

He forgets the precept born under the aura of the great touring movement that: "Only courtesy begets courtesy."

Daredevil Stunts

At Ft. Miami Track

The greatest array of Daredevil stunts ever assembled in one show will be shown in connection with the Congress of Daredevils at Ft. Miami track Sunday afternoon, July 21.

Motorcycle races, considered the most thrilling of race sports, will headline the bill and many of the nation's greatest riders have already entered. There will be five motorcycle events.

The Head-on Collision between two automobiles, probably the most sensational of all stunts, will be the outstanding feature on the thrill program. Two heavy touring cars will be driven by fearless pilots at forty miles per hour crashing head-on directly in front of the grand stand. If this does not produce thrills, nothing will.

Auto polo, the favorite game of all, will also be on the program, with the Indiana team against Ohio. These two teams are considered the outstanding polo teams of the country. Many other attractions will be added before the day of thrills.

Truck Drivers Get

Warning On Loads

Drivers and owners of overloaded trucks were threatened with arrest Monday because of the damage they are causing trunk line highways. At a conference between Governor Fred W. Green, Commissioner Oscar G. Olander, of the state police, and Highway Commissioner Grover C. Dillman, it was decided to assign inspectors to all major roads. Michigan's law limits the loads to trucks, according to size and axle weight.

Feeds for Poultry

For poultry feeding the right kind of protein is generally obtained from milk, skim milk, buttermilk, whey, fresh meat, meat scraps, fish scraps, tankage or alfalfa leaf meal feeds. Very little of it is found in the common farm feeds, and for this reason when home-grown grains are used, it is necessary to purchase small amounts of the high protein feeds to supplement the home-grown grains. Milk of any kind is the most popular protein feed for poultry.

Visit Forests Set

By 4-H Club Boys

R. A. Turner, United States Department of Agriculture, and R. F. Kroodma, state extension forester, visited a few of the 4-H ranger forest plantings in Washtenaw county on Wednesday, July 3. These trees were planted by rural boys who joined the Washtenaw county 4-H Forest Rangers. Each boy planted 1000 spruce and pine trees, mixed.

On their visit these specialists inspected trees that had been planted in wheat and heavy sod without plowing, and light sod without plowing, and where merely a small piece of sod was skimmed off where each tree was planted, and sod where a furrow was plowed for each row of trees, and the trees were planted at the bottom of the furrow. In every case the trees were growing splendidly. Most of these trees were planted on land which is not suitable for other agricultural purposes.

Ohio Station Advocates

All-Mash Chick Ration

The feeding of chicks to maturity on an all-mash ration is a rather new venture in poultry keeping, and we shall have to take the word of those who have tried it as to its value. This system has been developed and advocated by the Ohio agricultural experiment station, at Wooster, and is fully described in a bulletin issued by this station. They state that they have found the method successful on their experimental farm and equally so in the hands of other poultrymen of the state. Some other stations, where it has been tried, discount these claims somewhat. There is no question as to the attractiveness of the plan and the results at the Ohio station should be sufficient to give warrant for trying it out.

Those who have followed the teaching of poultry experts over a considerable period of years have found that there is little that can be considered as absolutely fixed, even in the seemingly fundamental principles of feeding and care. Revolutionary findings are apt at any time to upset long accepted practices. The all-mash ration should not have scratch grains added to it, since it contains in itself both the scratch and the mash and the addition of more scratch grain would unbalance it. It is also suggested that the proportion of protein foods to the other ingredients and, presumably, lessen its value. An all-mash should be more coarsely ground than other mash, to make it more palatable.

Try Standard Liners—only 25c.

Question And Answer Dept.

NOTICE—If your question does not appear below, it is because it is awaiting its turn, and will be published later.

Q—What encyclopedia do you use, and which is considered as final authority on geological, biological and general subjects?

A—While we use several sets of encyclopedias, there are none that are considered as "final" authority on any subjects. There are many good encyclopedias, such as the Britannica, International, the American, Nelson's, etc., but none of them are infallible. The world is making too much progress in learning of all kinds to have the most recent book to be considered as final on everything.

Q—I would like to ask in your question department what is the nature of the stuff that forms water?

A—Curiosity has been aroused to a question of this subject.

Q—Two atoms of hydrogen to one of oxygen when brought together under the right conditions will form a substance known as "water."

Q—I have always wondered just what "Fascist" means, as applied to any organization in Italy, but have heard nobody that can tell me. Will you be kind enough to answer through your question-and-answer column?

A—I would like to know, also when that organization was founded and who was at the head of it?

Q—"Fascist," which is correctly pronounced "fa-shis-tee," with the accent on the second syllable, is derived from the Latin word "fascia" meaning a band or something which binds together.

A—The Fascist organization was formed at Milan, Italy, in 1919, and has for its object, according to the constitution of the society, "the liberation of the Italian flag and the suppression of revolutionary movements."

Q—I am rather curious to know how middle life is? If you are smart, answer.

A—Middle life is any time you walk out of the theatre and leave your hat in the hands of the villain.

Q—May I ask which hand a hat should be used in lifting his hat to a lady?

A—The right or left? Also, should he keep his hat off?

Q—According to the general practice among polite people, the man should lift his hat with his right hand. Nowadays the hat is not raised entirely from the head as was the custom of the past.

A—It should be the hat is raised only slightly from the front. While standing and talking to a lady, the more cultured usually did while serving in the Bengal cavalry. However, that rule of etiquette are based on the practice of the majority of polite and cultured people. Naturally such rules are always changing. What is considered good form today may be poor form years hence.

Q—Is there such a place as "Hell Gate"? If so, where is it, and why is it called that vulgar name?

A—Yes. That is the name of a formerly dangerous passage in the East river between Manhattan and Long Island. The name is a corruption of the old Dutch name "Hoelgat," which means "whirling gut." In 1885 many of the natural obstructions in the channel were removed and the passage is now navigable by large vessels. The place, however, continued to be known as "Hell Gate."

Q—I would like to ask you how Canada got its name?

A—Canada is a corruption of the Troquois Indian word "Kanata," meaning a collection of cabins.

Q—Will you please be kind enough to tell in the question department what is the capital of Albania?

A—It is Durazzo.

Q—Tirana is the capital. Durazzo is one of the chief seaports.

Q—Can you tell me how many children Benedict Arnold had, and if it is true that he named one of them "George" in honor of King George of England? What became of them?

A—Benedict Arnold, the American traitor in the Revolutionary War, had six sons and one daughter who survived him. The older son, Benedict, died in the British army as a result of a wound; Richard died in Canada; Henry died in New York; Edward, a son, some generations ago. Instead, almy, James became a lieutenant-general in the British army and died in London; George became a lieutenant-colonel in the British army and died in the service; Sophia married a British officer and died in England; George was named after George Washington, Arnold's greatest friend at that time.

National Showing For Plymouth 1st Birthday

Observing the first birthday of the Plymouth motor car, which coincides with the birthday of the nation, Plymouth dealers threw open their showrooms Saturday night on some of the most unusual and attractive displays of automobiles seen for some time. These displays are being conducted by dealers throughout the country from June 28 to July 18 inclusive.

The improved Plymouth cars, in a variety of new color combinations, feature the displays. They are being shown in a patriotic setting of red, white and blue decorations. An unusual amount of interest was evident among the thousands who thronged the showrooms during the opening evening, and from the offices of the corporation at Detroit indicate.

"Inauguration of the policy of offering the Plymouth in more than one standard color combination, while involving considerable expense, is a further indication of our desire to give to the public a product that is outstanding in appearance as well as in inherent quality and performance," remarked A. vanDerZee, general sales manager, in commenting upon the opening of this national display.

In addition to these new color combinations, the improved Plymouth now possesses a number of engineering refinements in both body and the chassis. Body engineers have been working consistently with the thought in mind of making the Plymouth bodies the ultimate in strength, roominess and comfort.

"Those who have visited the showrooms and inspected and driven one or more of the models, were particularly impressed with the roominess and the comfort of the full-size bodies that this car possesses. Women who drove the cars were enthusiastic concerning the Plymouth's ease of operation and handling."

Although this is only the first birthday of the Plymouth, production at the factory at Detroit has already reached enormous proportions, according to company officials. In less than 10 months from the time the first car was produced, production figures reached one thousand units a day—a record for the entire automobile industry.

Irish Hills Catholics Preparing For Festival

Among the Irish Hills, where nature plays in riotous beauty and simplifies the waters of many lakes with diamond clusters, preparations are in progress for the diamond jubilee celebration of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, the little wayside shrine that attracts thousands of tourists each summer from all parts of the country. Tourists of all faiths stop instinctively to marvel at the way nature plays among these hills and lakes and at the quaint little Spanish church with its red tile roof and mission tower, and those who have the curiosity to enter are struck with the simplicity of the interior with its Roman altar glittering with rich mosaic and onyx stone inlaid by the deft fingers of some Tyrolean craftsman. A goodly number are seen here daily kneeling in silent reverence before the Blessed Sacrament, or saying a prayer in the grotto, which is a replica of the grotto at Lourdes. In the grotto, little Saint Bernadette is seen kneeling before the apparition of the Blessed Virgin, who is placed in the upper part of the grotto. The entire grotto is built of vari-colored natural stone.

The church stands on a bluff above Iron Lake where nature's nimble feet have put the imprint of perennial loveliness, where the eyes of the morning flash in exultant radiance, where a moonlit sky is mirrored in silver ribbons as if the clouds were eager to picture their whiteness before a breeze takes their snowy sails away. Here smiles are wreathed in a thousand undulating hills, and springs gush from cavernous depths to lave the unruined surfaces of the lake, or to whet the moisture blunted in the flames of summer.

Nature has been more prodigal here with her gifts than man, but soon, over the vistaed windows of Iron lake, thousands who travel the Chicago Turnpike will see the figure of Christ Crucified in beautiful cararra marble with the sorrowing women at the foot of the Cross. The placing and dedication of the Crucifixion Group will be part of the religious ceremonies of the diamond jubilee which will be celebrated in 1930. The mission is 75 years old this year, but the necessary improvements cannot be finished until next year, according to the Rev. Fr. Joseph V. Pfeffer, who is pastor of St. Mary's Missions, of which the Irish Hills' church is a unit. Plans to grade the cemetery in the center of which the statuary will be placed are now under way, and a stone wall will border the highway studded with huge stone pillars 16 feet apart. Inside the church, the walls and ceilings will be tinted in beautiful frescos of soft Spanish mission.

The plans to make this chapel a wayside shrine similar to those that sanctify the highways of the Old World are progressing rapidly. Seven years ago the early Irish pioneers built a little chapel where they might perform their religious exercises and increase the spirit of devotion among the faithful. In 1829, the Rev. Fr. Gabriel Richard, then one of Michigan's representatives in congress, persuaded the United States Congress to pass a bill to have the old Indian trail cut through as a permanent road between Detroit and Chicago. For a period of the last hundred years the road then laid out has been known as the Chicago Turnpike. It has become a national highway, one of Michigan's busiest thoroughfares. The increasing rush of tourists through this scenic spot every year necessitated a larger church, and the present building was completed July 1, 1928, and dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, Bishop of Detroit, the following month.

The tax rate for Detroit for the fiscal year was announced by Mayor John C. Lodge as $20.65 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a decrease from $21.50 of last year. Together with the announcement of the lowering of the rate Mayor Lodge announced that the increase in assessed valuation had been but $119,567,370, which figure is below the normal increase for several years. In some sections of the city real estate valuations were lowered. The report received by the mayor from the board of assessors shows.

POULTRY

INFERTILE EGGS BEST PRESERVED

Only Fresh, Clean and Sound Should Be Used.

Only those eggs that are fresh, clean and sound of shell should be preserved or "put down" for use next winter. One spoiled egg will, in many cases, cause the entire lot to spoil.

To be absolutely sure that the eggs are fresh and the shells sound, they should be candled, says A. G. Oliver, extension poultry man at the North Carolina State college. An old shoe box may be used for this purpose by cutting holes in it to fit the egg and fitting it over a lamp or an electric bulb.

"This test will show up any porous or cracked shells and will also show if germination has started. This is a safety-first precaution and, as it takes only a few minutes time, should be practiced by every housewife before putting down any eggs."

For best results, infertile eggs should be used but fertile eggs can be used with good results if they are put down each day. If this is done the danger of germination will be eliminated. Never wash the egg before preserving as this removes the natural protective coating on the shell.

In preparing the solution, Mr. Oliver advises one quart of water glass to nine quarts of pure water. The water should be boiled and cooled before mixing with the water glass.

For containers, a clean stone jar is the best, but tin or wood vessels may be used. A six-gallon jar will hold about fifteen dozen eggs.

Mr. Oliver states that the eggs at the top of the container should be covered by at least one and one-half inches of the solution. It is not necessary to fill the jar at one time as fresh eggs can be bradded each day, taking care, however, that the eggs on top are always covered with the solution.

The containers should be kept covered to prevent evaporation and should be stored in a cool place until needed.

Give Good Ventilation During Summer Months

Plenty of ventilation should be provided for brooder houses during the hot summer months, advises John Vandervort, extension poultry specialist of the Pennsylvania State college. Ventilators at the rear of the chicken house and windows at the front and on the sides should be kept open to allow free circulation of air, Mr. Vandervort says. Results of poultry demonstrations among college flocks prove that pullets reared in hot, stuffy houses are likely to be stunted and unprofitable.

Frequent cleaning of the house in the summer is necessary also to prevent flies from breeding and to keep the air in the building pure. Course wire netting placed around the roosts will keep the pullets from the manure, one means of helping to prevent tapeworm infestation.

Poultry Facts

Give the hens plenty of water.

Pullets are not so easily culled as hens.

Home-grown feeds are the best for turkeys.

Ducklings can be brooded much like chicks.

It is always a problem to have the duck eggs clean.

Milk, cod-liver oil, corn products, and leafy green food make chickens grow.

Gather eggs regularly, twice each day, during excessively warm or excessively cold weather.

Turkey hens will lay in places prepared for them. Boxes or barrels placed suitably will do very well.

As the pullets grow older and the season advances the heat can be gradually reduced until they require little heat.

In order to make the greatest profit on chicks, it is necessary to raise as large a percentage of the chicks hatched as possible. In order to do this they must be kept warm and healthy.

Healthy chicks of a reliable hatchery is a sound investment.

Poults, like young chicks, should be raised on a fresh range—one which has not been frequented by turkeys or chickens the year previous.

To make a complete job of diversification every farm should have broiler chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese and guinea. But the same rule applies to all when it comes to the kind; there is no profit to be derived from mongrels.

Kill Apple Maggots With Special Spray

The appearance of the apple maggot in several localities in Michigan makes it necessary for the grower who wishes to produce first class late fall and winter apples to apply a special spray to control this insect.

The apple maggot is the larva of a fly and it differs from the codling moth larvae so that it can be identified by a careful observer. The apple maggot is white, is smaller than the codling moth larvae, and has no head. The maggot feeds throughout the flesh of the apple.

Successful control is dependent upon proper timing for the application of the protective sprays. The first spray must be applied after the emergence of the adult flies and before they have had a chance to lay their eggs, and a second spray is applied two weeks later.

The spray recommended by entomologists at Michigan State college is one pound of arsenate of lead to 50 gallons of water. This extra spray should be applied only in districts where the apple maggot is present. County agricultural agents can inform growers if the insect is found in their localities.

The spray is recommended for use only on late fall and winter apples. Notices of the proper time to spray will be sent to each section of the state as the fly appears.

Farmers' Day Set Early In August

The newest quirks for lightening household tasks, methods for selecting fabrics that will wear as they are supposed to do, good music, and just plain entertainment have been provided by the program makers who have charge of the women's section of the annual Summer Farmers' Day to be held at the Michigan State college, Friday, August 2.

Several years ago one of the agricultural divisions of the college invited a group of farmers to inspect the experimental work which was being done by that department. The idea was so popular that other departments held similar meetings later.

It then becomes necessary to combine the exhibits put on by the departments into an all college function. The women who accompanied their husbands to these meetings asked that a program be arranged for them, and this has been done for the past few years.

One of the features, this year will be the awarding of medals to the second group of Master Farm Homemakers to be chosen in Michigan. A banquet for women will also be held Friday evening.

Complete Service Under One Roof—where "One Call Does It All"

Made Available to Chelsea Motorists
By J. A. PARK
At Staebler Station, US-12 at S. Main St.

J. A. Park has long been recognized as the most successful wholesale distributor of petroleum products in Chelsea; now patrons at this station will receive the benefit of his long experience in the oil business and his unusually accommodating methods of service. The station will be in direct charge of H. G. Helmer who is thoroughly experienced in super-service work and has spent six years in the oil business.

Our station has been completely rebuilt, a new modern steel office has been erected, a complete tire shop installed, spacious concrete drives laid out, and complete equipment provided for thoroughly lubricating all types of motor cars. Included in the equipment are an air scale which automatically inflates tires to the desired pressure, and a new oversize air compressor capable of inflating all sizes of tires.

One of the outstanding features of the new station is the Rotary Lift. By means of the lift an automobile can be raised six feet off the ground, thus permitting complete visibility for lubricating, spring spraying and gear flushing.

With the opening of the station, Seiberling tires will be available in Chelsea. Seiberling is the tire protected by the one year guarantee against cuts, blow outs and road hazards of all sorts.

Modern tire equipment has been provided to take care of the repairs, and distilled water and testing apparatus is available to check the condition of your battery.

Raising Turkeys

Turkeys can be raised by artificial methods with less loss and more profit than by the "hen-hatched" and "hen-brooded" method. Each year the matter of growing more than 20 or 30 percent of the poultlets has become more difficult. That the association of turkeys and chickens is one of the leading causes for the heavy losses in baby poultlets and that turkeys can be raised in brooders and hatched in incubators are comparatively new developments in the turkey situation.

In Case of Roup

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens, coops and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a strong solution of a good carbolic acid disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards and stored elsewhere.

Michigan Happenings

A small zoo will be established in the rear of the new University of Michigan Museum, Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, director of the museum, announced at Ann Arbor. The zoo in the center of a small park between the two wings of the museum, was made possible through a gift from an anonymous donor. "We already have a fine family of raccoons, and a group of skunks to place in the zoo," Dr. Ruthven said. "We also plan to have a badger, a walrus, a bear cub and other animals."

Section men of the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad, formerly owned by Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, have been given notice that their wages will be reduced 40 per cent, according to a report received at Monroe. This ruling also applies to construction workers on the cut-off between Durbin, Monroe county, and Malinta, Ohio. The road was recently acquired by an unnamed purchaser, one report being that the Pennsylvania-railroad had bought the line.

An appropriation of $38,750 for Mackinac Island state park, made by the legislature two years ago, was saved for future use at a special meeting of the administrative board at Lansing. The board made the money available for improvements to land and buildings. All appropriations of the 1927 legislature, which have not been made available before July 1, automatically revert to the general fund as a new fiscal year begins July 1.

Does a partridge swim? Yes, indeed, says John C. Briggs, conservation officer at Clare. Several days ago Briggs flushed a young grouse which fell in a small pool of water. "It swam to shore like a duck, shook itself off and ran into the grass and hid," Briggs added. "Furthermore, it seemed to enjoy the experience."

Many big broods of young birds are found in the area surrounding Harrison, the conservation officer revealed. Lasting only a few minutes, a terrific windstorm, coming from the southwest, recently swept across the western half of Lenawee county, near Adrian, and left in its path wrecked houses, barns, uprooted trees and wreckage-blocked highways and streets. Striking the eastern half of the village of Medina, it ripped through 13 buildings, the loss being estimated at $40,000.

Two men, convicted of catching trout on a closed stream, most of which were less than the legal length, were given an unique sentence by Justice Wesley H. Corvey at Honor. After fines and costs of $88 each had been imposed, the offenders were given the alternative of spending 90 days in jail or going to church every Sunday for the same period. They chose the latter.

Hazel Bonzelar, 4-year-old daughter of Harry Bonzelar, of East Sault, is dead of burns received in a gasoline explosion. Her father was filling the tank of a machine with gasoline, while the motor was running. The gasoline exploded and Bonzelar threw her from a window and struck the child, who instantly was enveloped in flames.

Elmer Gerstner, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Gerstner, of Monmouth, was drowned while his companion, John Wozniak, 13, swam to safety when they left a short distance from a dock on the shore here. Jack Wozniak, 10, who pulled his brother to the dock, said Elmer swam to within 450 feet of the dock before he sank.

James Ryan, of Manistee, 24 years old, escaped jail there by unhooking the nuts from the bolts to the County Jail door. He carried the nuts away with him. Ryan was arrested May 27 after the entire police force and several members of the fire department were summoned to overpower him. He was sentenced for 90 days for intoxication.

Armed with his deer rifle, Abe L. Lawrence, of Grand Rapids, 64 years old, killed his wife, Mrs. Maude Lawrence, 63 years old, fatally wounded his daughter, Cella Lawrence, 25 years old, and then turning the weapon upon himself, ended his own life.

The year before he made his first venture as a long-distance pedestrian, traveling through New York State. Wiedmaier will walk to San Francisco where he will board a steamer for Australia. From there he will go to Asia and on his trip through Europe will visit 14 countries.

A chain of state-owned airports will be established by the new board of aeronautics, it was indicated at the board's first meeting held in Lansing recently. The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing, and no formal action was taken, except to elect William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor company, chairman. The proposal to construct landing fields, at state expense, at strategic locations resulted from a suggestion by Governor Fred W. Green that the board take over the operation of Lansing's airport, which is on state property.

Making a ladder of himself, Mayor John H. Rademaker, of Manistee, millionaire financier, rescued Esther Dzenekki, 12 years old, from Lake Michigan. The little girl fell from the breakwater and was clinging to the edge of the wall calling for help when the mayor and Mrs. Rademaker passed. The mayor crawled down over the breakwater and hung his foot into the water so little Esther could crawl up his back to safety. He then took her home.

A 50 cent bet cost Fred W. Gaskins, 28, of Pontiac, his life, according to police. Gaskins was fishing with Clyde Woldeman, in Morgan Lake. He wagered Woldeman 50 cents he could hit a cork bobber with the 22 rifle he had with him. He stood up to aim but lost his balance when he fired. The boat overturned, Woldeman clung to the boat until rescued but Gaskins made an attempt to swim to shore. The body was recovered.

Luther merchants closed their stores recently to give aid in fighting a fire endangering the business section. As many as 15 fires were caused at one time by sparks carried from the home of Roger Fairbanks, which was destroyed, and from the home of Clyde Streeter, father of eight children, which was damaged. The state fire truck was brought from Baldwin to aid in extinguishing the blazes.

Anyone may have application blanks mailed to them by a request to the athletic association.

John Berytenderp, wife and two children, residing at 1207 North Hardick street, Kalamazoo, escaped death by jumping from their stalled automobile when they saw the westbound Michigan Central train approaching. Berytenderp saw the train after his car stalled on the tracks. The car was demolished and was carried for a considerable distance by the train.

Had clothes she had pulled over her head caused the death by suffocation of five-months-old Betsy Ann Booth, daughter of Thomas W. Booth, at 3206 Plingree avenue, Detroit. The child's condition was discovered by the mother. Rescue squad No. 4 of the fire department was summoned to give first aid, but efforts to revive the baby were unsuccessful.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Dexter—The merchants of this village have made arrangements for a free exhibition of moving pictures on the street. The first entertainment was Friday.

Brooklyn—Herman O. Hane, who in condemnation proceedings with the state was given $85,000 for an 80 acre addition to the Cedar Hill State Park at Wampers lake has appealed the decision to the supreme court. The original suit was in the Lenawee circuit court. —Exponent.

Powerville—The county road scraper stalled on the Pere Marquette railroad crossing in this village one day last week and the train sadly demolished the front of the machine. Seeing he could not start the engine Mr. Rathbun sought his own safety in a jump. —Review.

Pinekey—The board of supervisors at Howell last week dug out Hon. Lynn Gardner's bill forbidding persons to wear bathing suits on the public highways, brushed it off, put it up to the sheriff's force to enforce it. It was further amended to forbid persons riding in autos to wear bathing suits unless wearing a long coat or cape. As Sheriff Wimbles has many more duties at the present time than Stanley Sobiegrajski, aged seventeen he can perform we doubt if this law will be strictly enforced as the board failed to vote any appropriation for extra deputies. Bathing beauties are not an uncommon sight on the streets of Pinekey at the present time. —Dispatch.

South Lyon—Lightning struck the belfry of the First Presbyterian church during the storm last Thursday night. Aside from ripping a hole in the roof no damage was done. Pieces of the slate roofing were found the next morning a distance of 60 or 60 feet from the building. —Herald.

Brighton—At a mass meeting held in the Rialto Theatre Tuesday evening, it was decided to hold a celebration in Brighton, in the form of gain days during the first part of August. The exact dates have not been definitely decided upon, but in all probability the event will be held on August 9th and 10th. —Argus.

Howell—Mike Callega, an Island Lake gas station proprietor, was out of luck last week. He is claimed to have sold a pint to one of the deputy sheriffs. He waived examination before Judge Yelland and was bound over to Circuit Court. —Press.

Milan—Fred Ross, aged twenty-two years, of Milan, was sentenced to serve from one to fifteen years in the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia, and more duties at the present time than Stanley Sobiegrajski, aged seventeen years, of Milan, was placed on two years' probation. The youths' broke into a house on the estate of the late Wm. McMullen in Milan township on June 9 and stole canned fruit, lard, potatoes and jewelry worth about $30. During the term of his probation, young Sobiegrajski is not to leave the state without permission of the court, must not enter poolrooms and must pay $100 costs at the rate of $10 per month. —Leader.

Plymouth—During the severe electrical storm which swept over this place at an early hour last Friday morning lightning struck the large barn on what was known as the A. M. Eccles farm northeast of Plymouth on the Ridge road. The barn which was a landmark in this vicinity, was completely destroyed. About ten tons of baled straw which was stored in the building, was destroyed. The local fire department responded to the call but the building was beyond saving, and the firemen directed their efforts in saving nearby buildings. —Mail.

champs. —Manchester—George Kirkwood, who has just moved to town has been asked to return to Sharon and saw some whitewood logs for Henry Ford to be used in repairing some old buildings on his Dearborn Museum grounds. Of course he will do the work to please Mr. Ford though he thinks that 53 years is long enough to stick to that kind of work. —Enterprise.

Northville—The new stretch of paving on the south side of the Seven Mile road has been opened to traffic, relieving the congested condition that has existed along that highway since early spring. Workmen are just now laying the paving on the north side. When entirely completed the Seven Mile road will be a 40-foot highway from Grand River to Northville. —Record.

Tecumseh—The village of Tecumseh acting on a communication presented to the council on Monday evening, has appointed a committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing and operating a municipal lighting company here, and a report of the committee's findings will undoubtedly be presented when the council convenes in its second session of the month, July 15. —Herald.

Stockbridge—W. G. Reeves, treasurer of the school board, reports that the $100,000.00 bond issue money is in his hands and that the board is now ready to begin operations, as soon as the contract is let, which will be awarded the 23rd of July, with the prospect that there will be plenty of bidders. —Brief-Sun.

DON'T KILL A CHILD

Vacation days are here. Children suddenly released from the confining walls of the schoolroom will be full of spirit of play. There is not always the opportunity to keep them on supervised play grounds. Many of them will be forced to play in the street. We do not want to deny them this small measure of sunshine and recreation. Motorists should be doubly careful during the vacation period. Children have a habit of running in front of automobiles. That is to be expected. Do not drive on city or village streets at an excessive rate of speed. And keep a close watch for children. Many lives will thus be saved. No body wants to kill a child.

Michigan Happenings

Though the state department at Washington has offered its services in a demand upon the Arabian government for indemnity in connection with the death of Dr. Henry A. Bilker, of Kalamazoo, who was killed last January by Arabian bandits, his widow, who has just arrived in Kalamazoo, announced recently she would decline it. Acceptance of the indemnity would only serve to create ill-feeling among the native peoples against the missionaries working there, she said. "The government was in no way to blame."

Michael Nichols, 40 years old, of Milwaukee, rowed into port at Grand Haven after 27 hours continuous rowing when he crossed Lake Michigan. He showed little signs of strain or great fatigue and talked freely of his trip across the lake. He says he had nothing to eat but a few sandwiches, some oranges and he drank lake water. He rested five minutes out of every hour, using most of the time to rub his legs which became cramped. He claims he is the first white man to row across Lake Michigan.

The Sunday anti-hunting law in Huron county does not prevent hunting on Malsou, Dege and Heisterman Island, the attorney-general's department ruled. Some time ago the Conservation Department informed the Port Huron Ministerial Association that the county hunting statute did not prevent hunting on relicted lands. The statute makes no reference to State owned land. It permits hunting on Sunday with the consent of the owner.

A Detroit woman who lives in a Philadelphia avenue upper flat is alone most of the day. To avoid going up and downstairs she lets her small dog outdoors by means of an ordinary market basket and a long rope, lowering the dog to the ground from the front porch. When he barks to get into the house again, she lowers the basket to the ground, the dog jumps in, and she pulls him to the top. The system required weeks of training.

Mistaking his 15-year-old daughter, Geraldine, for a wildcat, Roy Thorbahn of Gladstone, 800 line fireman, shot and killed the girl at their farm near Gladstone. Thorbahn saw an object moving in the brush and thought it was a wildcat. He ran to the farm house, got his gun and fired at the moving object. Going to pick up the supposed animal, he found his daughter shot through the head.

Struck by three box cars shunted across the Oakland avenue crossing of the Grand Trunk railway, Mrs. Martha L. Silverthorn, of Pontiac, 60 years old, suffered injuries which caused her death. Mrs. Silverthorn was crossing when she saw the cars approaching and ran down the track. She was overtaken, knocked down and dragged for some distance by the cars. Her chest was crushed.

Paul Zaskie, 47 years old, was fatally injured when an automobile hit his motorcycle near Alpena. The car, which was owned by Miss Betty Ritchie of Detroit, was driven by Miss Peggy Penelard, 127 Reighton avenue, who was accompanied by George Brown, 3357 Fullerton avenue, Detroit. The driver failed to see Zaskie when she "dogged" Zaskie's dog, which was following him.

Lloyd Henney, 40 years old, died at St. Lawrence hospital in Lansing after an injury suffered on his farm near Lake Odessa. He slipped from his tractor, the machine catching his leg and tearing it. The leg was amputated and blood transfusion attempted in an effort to save the man's life. He leaves a widow and one son, Forrest, 18 years old.

County prosecutors know their legislation. Here's an example: The annual meeting of prosecutors had been set for the later part of June at Lansing. This was postponed until August 28. This is the effective date for the new law which provides that the expenses of the prosecutors during the annual meeting be paid by the counties.

Convicted of assault with intent to do great bodily harm to his bride of six weeks, John Urban, 32 years old, of Calumet, was sentenced to five to ten years in the Marquette Branch Prison with a recommendation of five years by Judge John G. Stone in the Houghton Circuit Court. Jealousy provoked the attack.

A new record for speedy justice was set in Oakland county when James Cottrell, 40 years old, 229 1/2 East Pike street, Pontiac, was in the county jail serving a 90-day sentence for support, 10 minutes after a warrant had been obtained for his arrest.

When Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fletcher of Richmond returned home, after a day's absence, they found that their home had been invaded by thousands of honey bees, which blocked every

The suggestion that cities, counties and the State acquire the abandoned rights-of-way of electric railways and convert them into highways was placed before the civic bureau of the Lansing Chamber of Commerce. Lansing will be the first city to approach the Michigan Electric Railroad with a proposition to acquire the company's abandoned right-of-way for nearly a mile in the southern section of the city. If it can be acquired, the tracks will be pulled up and a new traffic artery will be opened through the southern part of the city.

Going down for the second time in the strong current of the Menominee River, Page Bertrand, 12 years old, was saved from drowning by Frank Frankard, 21, who dived from the high railing of the Menominee-Marquette bridge to effect the rescue. The Bertrand boy was swimming near the bridge when he was swept into the channel where the current is swiftest. Frankard was crossing the bridge in his automobile when he saw the plight of the boy. He stopped his car and dived as Bertrand was carried beneath the span.

Archie Brown, 40, of Conway, a road construction employee, was electrocuted at Harbor Springs in a freakish accident. Brown was leaning against a truck whose battery was being used to set on the charge. The explosion threw a wire attached to the truck across a high tension conduit, completing a circuit through Brown's body. His son was slightly burned. The widow and four other children survive. A year ago when the family lived north of St. Ignace, their home burned and four children lost their lives.

River transportation from Bay City to Saginaw on a scale not witnessed since the old lumbering days is to begin at once, and Bay City will be made the distributing center for thousands of tons of sand and gravel weekly, it was announced by A. W. Cook of the Fisher & Cook Transportation company, acting as agent for Dolomite, Inc., a Cleveland concern. Dolomite, Inc., will send to Bay City as fast as gravel can be handled, some of the largest boats plying the great Lakes, ranging up to 16,000 tons capacity.

Seven aliens were arrested at Port Huron when found hiding in a box car which had come through the St. Clair river tunnel from Sarajevo. Immigration officials believe they had assistance both at Windsor and at Sarajevo. The aliens, who will be deported, are: Sta Svorjak, his wife and son, and four men, all from Jugoslavia. Peter Ruzjak asked permission to telephone his wife, in Windsor, and tell her not to attempt to cross the border with other aliens.

The new inland fishing bill, effective August 28, 1929, provides that all non-residents over 18 years of age must have a license for taking all kinds of fish, the fee for which is $3 per year, also that all residents over 18 years of age are required to procure a license to catch trout, the annual fee being $1. These provisions will not be enforced, however, until the season of 1930, in view of the fact that the season is nearly at an end when the act becomes effective.

Sheep that attacked others in the dock on the farm of Thomas Williams, former supervisor, in Forest township, were infected with rabies, according to Deputy Sheriff Roland Harrow of Flint, who killed two of the animals to prevent further spread of the disease. A mad dog bit several sheep on the farm a few weeks ago and the farm tenant shot the canine. Two ewes died immediately and later two more sheep became rabid.

Rejected by a girl with whom he had been acquainted for several years, Howard Combs, 24 years old, of Hartland Township, living near Howell, took his own life in front of his home. His act followed a second attempt at a reconciliation. He walked to his automobile, took a vial of poison from the car and drank it. He died within a few minutes. Combs was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Combs.

Jim's Change of Luck

By ADALADE D. HUFF

(Copyright.)

ELIZABETH McNair rushed up the long narrow flight of stairs to her room in the boarding house. With quick movements she tossed her hat on a chair, slid her dress over her head and flung it on the bed, then stepped out by her high-heeled pumps and wriggled into floppy bedroom slippers, at the same time throwing a gay kimono around her slim young shoulders.

"Only nine minutes to bath and dress," she told herself as she slipped swiftly down the hall.

She sang while she splashed around in the tub—sang for pure joy—for this was her night, hers and Jim Newson's. For the time they forgot that she was a stenographer and he an unwilling salesman in Waring's haberdashery. He donned his tux and she her most lovely evening dress, and they faced forth together laughing like the two happy children they were. They generally went to Beaman's, a very modest restaurant where they shone like two gay butterflies.

On this particular evening her happiness died in her heart at the very first glimpse of Jim's face.

"Jim honey, what's the matter?" she asked.

"Nothing," he answered half-heartedly as he took her in his arms, "only I—I don't want to tell you."

"You'll have to tell me why," she answered, her eyes dark with apprehension.

"My lord, Betty," he said brokenly, "I'm a lousy fool. I ought to be shot, but well, that dub of a floor-walker in my department at the store doesn't know his business and I tried to show him and I'm fired."

"Good gracious, I thought you'd killed somebody at least. What's losing a job? You can get another tomorrow. Come on, let's go out. I'm starved."

He still hung back, but he could no longer resist, and soon they were seated at their little table in the restaurant.

"Now this is quite a fine glass," she said, her eyes dancing as, with her left hand, she tapped the edge of the dish that contained a stinky portion of plain, ordinary beef liver.

"Maybe so," he said half-heartedly, "but I wouldn't know what to do with it. I wouldn't know what to do with it."

"Neither should I," but I laughed Elizabeth lightly, "but I know from my two years of French in high school that liver means liver, and this is liver, isn't it? And I've heard rich people in looks order it at their meals. And we are rich, you know."

"Very," he replied bitterly, with a catch in his voice.

Her dark blue eyes shone with tears and he was quick to sympathize.

"Forgive me, Betty, but I can't help feeling sore. It's all my fault. I don't seem to be any good."

His voice was husky with feeling as he spoke and Betty wanted to slip around the table and put her arms about him. He always looked so fragile when he talked of money, but tonight he was worse than ever. He was almost desperate.

"Everything's going to turn out all right," she said softly. "See if it isn't. Now, let's pour our little banquet all over again. I thought about something else in the night, Jim. We want to have little diamond-paned casement windows and I'm going to have red geraniums growing in them and wear a little blue-checked gingham apron. Just like the pictures in the women's magazines. Won't it be darling?"

"Oh, God, Betty, how can I deny?" he asked desperately.

At just the moment when they left their little table and started out. When they reached the door a big well-dressed man spoke to Jim.

"This is Tom Connor, owner of the Commercial department store. He explained: 'I've found out who you are and where you work. I'm looking for some one to take charge of my men's department. You'll think I have peculiar business methods, but they work. I've got all my best men just in this way. When you find a fellow going to a moderately-priced restaurant with a nice, sweet-looking girl, you know that chap's got something in him. I've seen you come in here every Thursday for several weeks. If you take the job you'll be the third man I've got from here. Would you be interested? My store isn't as high class and exclusive as Waring's, but there's a good chance for promotion.'"

Connor waited. Newson was too staggered to speak, but Betty jumped into the breach.

"Jim, couldn't you go down at lunch-time tomorrow and talk with Mr. Connor?" she suggested.

"Why, yes," stammered Jim, "if it suits him."

"That'll be fine, Newson. I'll look for you at 12:30. Good-night," said Mr. Connor pleasantly, turning away.

And as Jim and Betty walked home that evening everyone on the street seemed to be dancing for joy. At the corner Jim stopped suddenly.

"Betty, I hear bells," he said. "Don't you?"

And over the roar and din came the faint, interrupted sound of St. Mary's, bells heralding the coming of a new hour.

"Wedding bells," laughed Betty as she looked up into Jim's happy face.

Provide Natural Shade for All Young Poultry

An ideal range will provide natural shade where the young birds may find protection from the hot summer sun.

Many poultry flocks do not have this natural protection, say poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State college, so some means of protection must be provided. Moving the colony houses near a cornfield makes ideal range conditions. Sunflowers planted around the colony house also will provide satisfactory shade. If the colony houses cannot be moved near a cornfield and sunflowers are not used, some form of artificial shade should be provided. Old feed bags placed on a frame about two or three feet above the ground will give the needed protection.

Always Make Fowls as Profitable as Possible

There is a great temptation for the poultryman who is ambitious to equal the records made by others. Naturally any one wants to make his hens as profitable as possible, and as the rule generally applied is to keep a hen only to the end of her first laying year and then replace her with pullets, the effect of high egg production on the laying hens apparently is negligible as she is sent to pot before any evil effects of force feeding can interfere with her laying.

Mistake With Geese

A common mistake made in raising geese is to try to feed them upon grains without sufficient grazing. If the geese have good green feed they will need but little additional. Grain and oyster shell should always be accessible. During the summer a satisfactory method consists in providing one feed a day of equal parts of corn meal, brinn and ground oats. During the winter the same grains are satisfactory, but steamed clover or alfalfa hay should be added.

Grain for Geese

Geese should not be fed hard grains, but ground feeds mixed in what are known as mushes and fed in a moist state. A good ration for geese would be three parts of yellow corn meal, four parts of wheat bran, one part of red dog flour or flour middlings. To this add 5 per cent of moist scraps and during the laying or breeding season 15 per cent. At all times 1 per cent of fine sifted salt and one-half per cent of the table salt. Any kind of green feed will help.

Eliminate Tuberculosis From Chicken Quarters

Unfortunately with poultry the disease is not difficult to control. It should be remembered that the disease is confined to very old birds. Birds under a year old are seldom infected. By not allowing a cock to mate the number of old birds has been kept at a low figure—the danger of infection is reduced. If, however, the premises are badly infected the house and yards should be given a rest for two years. The house can be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and then be used, but to eliminate tuberculosis from the yards the resting of the yards is necessary. During the resting of the yards their cultivation is desirable.
