Public School Pupils Enjoy Christmas Party

The Public School auditorium, last Friday was the scene of a beautiful children's Christmas party.

At twelve o'clock, to lively march strains played by the high school orchestra, about 230 small-wondering children filed into the auditorium and gathered about tables centered with small Christmas trees, red tapers and other dainty appointments. After the invocation by Rev. Walker, a song of praise was softly and reverently sung by the children. Dinner was then served with a menu planned especially to please the children and to carry out the Christmas colors.

At the conclusion of the dinner the entire group of children sang several beautiful old Christmas carols and the singing of these carols was to older observers a most impressive experience. Finally the bells of Old Santa were heard and he appeared to sing and dance for the delighted kiddies. A large lighted tree and wreath and great decorated baskets of gifts and goodies were then the greatest attraction until the dispersal of the children.

The entire dinner and party were one which will remain a beautiful and delightful memory to both the children and to the teachers and mothers who aided in its success.

Local Advantages Are Described In Article

That Wm. Schwartzmiller, local real estate broker, believes in boasting Chelsea is well demonstrated in an article which he prepared to be used in advertising matter which will be distributed throughout this section of the state. The article follows:

Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Mich., has a population of about 2100, is situated on U. S. 12, main cement highway between Detroit, Jackson and Chicago, also on main M. C. Ry. Auto buses every hour east and west. Located 15 miles from Ann Arbor, the County seat and University of Michigan, 50 miles from Detroit, 21 miles from Jackson and 50 miles from the state capital at Lansing. It is the center of fine farming and summer resort district with many beautiful lakes and summer homes, golf clubs, etc.

Chelsea has four churches, Methodist, Congregational, German Lutheran and Catholic with properties valued at over $125,000. A fine new public school and gymnasium and community building and parochial school. Paved streets, electric lights and new sanitary sewer system now being constructed, well kept streets, beautiful up to date modern homes and more beautiful maples than any village in southern Michigan. The hub of many new improved good roads good markets, with up to date stores of all kinds and good shopping centers, two good banks, 5 doctors, 3 dentists, 6 garages, 4 industrial establishments. A fine business and residence village—low taxes—a village without one dollar of public debt. A very desirable place to live with all the advantages of a large city without the large city disadvantages. The biggest and best small town in southern Michigan is CHELSEA.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cook have as guests this week, her mother, Mrs. Annelin Urbanetz and his brother, Joseph Cook, both of Detroit.

Auto Weight Tax May Be Split Three Ways

Petitions to initiate the Dykstra bill, defeated in the 1929 Legislature, which would split the automobile weight tax money three ways, one-third to the state, one-third to the counties, and one-third to the cities, townships and villages, will be placed in circulation soon after the first of the year, backed by the Detroit city council and the Michigan League of Municipalities. It was announced Saturday.

The original plan was to place the petition in circulation at once, but due to the holiday season, a delay of two or three weeks will be taken. In the meantime the Detroit council plans on calling a conference in Detroit of all city, village and township officials and already has the assurance that Grand Rapids and other large cities will be represented at the meeting.

By including the townships in a split-up of the highway money, the backers of the proposed highway law believe the rural residents will support the measure as a means of getting their township taxes cut, and are assured a big vote in the cities, because it will mean material reduction there.

Indications are that a conference of county road officials will be called soon after the first of the year, to form an organization in an effort to head off the proposed initiation of the Dykstra measure. Those backing the present split-up of the highway funds claim that by including the townships in the proposed law, the cities are holding out false promises to the agricultural sections. They point to the fact that at least $4,000,000 a year will be taken from the counties, and if their present programs of road construction are to be continued it will mean that the county road taxes will be just that much higher, more than offsetting the benefits gained by the townships under the proposed measure. They also argue that the proposed law will provide that the townships, cities and villages split up their one-third in ratio to the number of automobile licenses in each political subdivision of the state, which will mean that the cities will get most of the one-third, and little will go to the towns and townships.

That adoption of the proposed law next November will result in an increase in the gasoline tax by the next legislature, also was being predicted by some of the county backers. They declare that if the bill is adopted by the voters, then the counties will attempt to get some of the gasoline tax money, to make up the amount they will lose, and are willing to increase the tax, if necessary to do so.

And in this move the agricultural sections can get just about what they want as they control both branches of the legislature.

As the matter stands now, the State according to all indications, will be about the only loser, unless the gas tax is boosted sufficiently to make up for both the state and county what they will lose by giving the cities, townships and villages one-third of the weight tax money. Jackson Citizen Patriot.

Trojan Laundry Being Moved To Ypsilanti

Equipment of the Trojan Laundry, which has been in operation in Chelsea for a number of years, is being moved to Ypsilanti this week and merged with the United Laundry of that place. The Ypsilanti laundry was purchased by Jas. Johnston and sons, owners of the Trojan plant, some time ago.

It is planned by the Johnstons to complete the removal of their local plant to Ypsilanti during the holidays so that all of their laundry work can be done at that place immediately after Christmas vacation.

The name of the Ypsilanti plant will be changed to the Trojan Laundry upon the completion of the merger. A branch office will be maintained by the Johnstons in the present location, and good service is assured their Chelsea patrons under the new arrangements.

Minor Blazes Cause For Two Fire Alarms

The Chelsea fire department answered two calls during the past week, the damage amounting to very little in both cases.

A chimney fire in the Henry Ahme-miller residence on Van Buren street last Saturday was the cause of the first alarm. A small blaze resulting from a shorted light wire in the rear of Kolb's Restaurant about midnight Saturday was the cause of another alarm.

GREETINGS
In a letter to The Standard, E. S. Prudden of Merrill, Michigan, sends the season's greetings to the people of Chelsea and vicinity. Mr. Prudden states that the people of this community are very near and dear to him, and especially this season brings back memories of old friends.

Bus Is Wrecked In Collision With Auto

Mr. and Mrs. C. Schanz, accompanied by Mrs. Inez Bagge and daughter, Faye, narrowly escaped injury Sunday evening about eight o'clock when their car was sideswiped by a Blue Goose bus about one-half mile west of Parker road on U.S. 12.

According to Mr. Schanz, he was driving west at a speed of about 30 miles per hour when, without warning, the bus, which was traveling at a high rate of speed, attempted to pass his car. The bus hooked the fenders on the Schanz car just before it got to the bridge at that point, and carried the small car with it for approximately 100 feet. The bus caught on the abutment of the bridge and stripped the left side so that the seats were plainly visible.

When the bus finally came to a stop it was standing across the road, completely blocking traffic. The Schanz car was not damaged to any great extent. There were only two passengers on the bus at the time of the accident, and one of them, Lewis Morosky of Chelsea, required medical attention, but the extent of his injuries have not been ascertained. The occupants of the Schanz car were not injured, the bus driver also escaping injury.

Traffic was completely blocked until a truck hooked on one end of the bus and straightened it in the road to allow traffic to proceed.

Alumni Stars To Meet At Chelsea High Gym

Two of the fastest teams that ever played basket ball on the High School floor will meet this Friday, December 27 in a holiday season game. With Arnold Fahner captaining a team composed of Steiner, Weber, Dancer, and L. Steger, all stars of last year. Their opponents will be a team under the leadership of A. Steger with some of the best material that ever wore colors of Chelsea High including Fox, Faist, Dave and Dwight Beach and some of the other stars.

This game will be the fastest game that was ever played on this floor. Never before has there been as many players of previous teams assembled to fight it out and see what class was supreme in this sport.

Before this thrilling game the High school girls will make their debut of the season in what promises to be a fast and exciting game with the Alumni girls.

But, before these two games a game between the Reserve Team and Van's five has been arranged. This is the first game of the season for the reserves and they have picked a real team for their opener. It will be a big night for the fans.

Jas. Struthers Left Friday For Scotland

James Struthers left Friday for New York City from whence he sailed Saturday on the S. S. Albertic for Hamilton, Scotland, where he will visit relatives. Mr. Struthers came to America from Scotland 28 years ago, and for 24 years has resided on the Fletcher farm in Sharon Township. He expects to be gone about two months.

Conservation Law Violators Increase

In conservation District 16, including the territory around Bay City, the number of convictions for conservation law violations increased 100 per cent in November over the previous month. During the same period, the fines and costs increased 225 per cent.

BEAUTIFUL SNOW, BUT—
According to the reports of the Sylvan township road commissioner and the village street commissioner, snow removal in Chelsea and opening the township roads has cost approximately $1,000 during the past week.

Practically all country roads are now passable, and it is expected that within the next day or two mail carriers can cover their entire routes.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN JANUARY 2
The Chelsea public schools which were closed for Christmas vacation last Friday, will be open for classes again on Thursday, January 2.

ST. MARY'S VICTORS
St. Mary's Club were victors in their second game of the season when they defeated the Manchester Independents 31 to 20 at St. Mary's hall last Sunday afternoon. Van's Vanishing Five were defeated, 14 to 12, by Dexter in a preliminary game.

The St. Mary's Club will play the Williamston All-Stars here next Monday evening, and Van's Vanishers will oppose the Dexter team in a preliminary game at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lehman spent Christmas in Brighton with their son, Carl, and family.

The Prince Receives
Chucunakes Dying
Mellon Knows How
Wanted, More U. S. Prisons

The British motto is "Business first, No past disappointment, or prejudice of today, must interfere."

The prince of Wales made a brilliant company in St. James' palace, received the ambassador from Russia to Great Britain, saying pleasant things about the glory of the Russian people, etc.

King George did not receive the Russian ambassador for two reasons. The present Russian government killed the czar, who was the king's cousin.

And the king, official head of the established Church of England, doesn't like Russia's effort to make religion ridiculous, calling it "the opinion of the people."

However, the prince did the ready, well, the ambassador is satisfied and the British will do business with Russia.

F. A. Mitchell-Hodges, British explorer, back from Panama, says the interesting Chucunakes, survivors of a great Indian nation, will soon vanish. Spaniards long ago landed among them, robbing, killing, and since then they have been excluded with people.

The Britisher, providing to be a good fighting man around his tent at night, going through an elaborate, meaningless religious ritual, impressed them. They tolerated him.

Only about 1,000 Chucunakes are left, and disease will soon kill them all.

Their worst diseases are ignorance and superstition, the diseases that have killed off many races and nations, allowing others less ignorant and superstitious to take their places.

Heavy fogs in the East tied up shipping, causing great loss. Interfered with Atlantic cables, stopped the air mail completely for days.

Perfection of the helicopter airplane would overcome fog difficulties.

In one day, in this prosperous country, there was a "turn over" of one billion eight hundred million dollars in tax payments and treasury financing.

Interest rates didn't go up. "Call money," the kind used for Wall Street speculation, remained at 10 per cent, with unorganized lenders "on the outside" offering to lend at 4 per cent.

Secretary Mellon knows how to handle big finance smoothly. To him a billion dollars is only a billion dollars. Perhaps that's because he has a billion or so of his own.

A mother with a baby handles other babies easily.

Mr. Mitchell, President Hoover's Democratic attorney general, wants $7,000,000 to build new prisons for the United States. He says the problem of prisons is the major one before the Department of Justice.

In Great Britain they are closing prisons, renting prison buildings for other purposes, because crime is diminishing.

The air mail brings to President Hoover a petition signed by the presidents of seven Italian political organizations asking him to keep our marines in Haiti and supervise the presidential election coming in April.

This year little Haiti has 100 candidates for the presidency. They are all fighting men, and their followers are fighting followers. They want the marines to stay and keep them from doing to each other things that they might do.

How many times do you breathe in one minute? Guess, offhand.

Many that know about the revolution of an airplane propeller, or a steamship screw, take little interest in their own machinery.

The breathing question is suggested by the case of Miss Margaret McIntyre, Plainfield (N. J.) school teacher, who breathes only five times a minute, twice as slow as a normal person.

You, probably, breathe fifteen to eighteen times per minute, the average for adults.

However, Miss McIntyre has one advantage. She breathes very deeply. Experiments show that she takes in three pints of air at a breath. The average adult takes in only one pint. We all breathe 100 little breaths. That is why we need exercise, making us breathe more rapidly and deeply.

Just before the war, Northcliffe offered $50,000 for a flight across the English Channel, less than fifty miles.

The other day, Cote, French flyer, set a new record by flying nearly 5,000 miles without stopping or taking on fuel.

Great progress in a few years, from fifty miles to 5,000. Who doubts that ten years hence flying across the Pacific, at any point, will be pilot's "child's play," and flying the Atlantic for student flyers?

By this time this country will have to think seriously of hostile air visits from Europe or Japan. Even our greatest "statesmen" will get their minds off archaic battleships.

METHODIST HOME

Mrs. Margaret Bliss on Sunday received a visit from her grandson, Ray Bliss. He was accompanied by Douglas Patterson, Miss Ethel Britton and Miss Edith Clothier, all of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Reed are spending the week visiting with their children in Detroit.

A. L. MacAdams and family of Boston spent Sunday afternoon with their mother, Mrs. Louise MacAdams.

J. E. Rowland, wife and daughter, Mrs. Hugh Dill of Detroit were callers on Mrs. Ione Gordon Sunday.

Jeremiah Shields received a visit from his daughter from Detroit Sunday.

John Hubbard is confined to his room by illness.

Mrs. Amelia Lewis is so far recovered from her recent illness as to be at the family table again.

Mrs. Dorothy Colgrove and her daughter, Janet, of Jackson are spending the holiday vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Palmer.

Mrs. Caroline Howay is confined to her bed by illness. Her niece, Mrs. John Kempf of Detroit was at her bedside Monday.

Mrs. Clara Payman is under the doctor's care and is confined to her bed.

Mrs. Bernice Park is still under treatment at the hospital at Ann Arbor. Mr. Park left Tuesday to see her.

The elevator is again in commission after a spell of resting. An elevator doctor from Lansing brought it back into life.

The storms of the past week have made the roads so treacherous that but few visitors have ventured to visit friends here.

An interesting program for a Christmas entertainment was given Monday evening. A temporary microphone was erected and important personages from other places and lands were invited to speak. The committee who arranged the exercises are entitled to much credit. Miss Emma Wohlfahrt, who recently came from Germany, was the star attraction of the evening. It was the social event of the season.

MICHIGAN NEWS

W. H. Selden, Sr., 75 years old, discoverer of iron ore formations in the Iron River District in 1878 and promoter in Upper Peninsula mining circles, died recently of a heart attack near Peninsula, Wis., while en route on a train from Cleveland. With his father he was engaged in a business as a railway engineer when an Indian told them of an ore formation at Chaguanig Lake, near Iron River.

From this beginning the mining region of Iron County developed. Six years later Mr. Selden platted and named the present city of Stanbush.

Unanimous endorsement of the Horton Act was voted at a conference of sportsmen and farmers called by the State Game Commission at Lansing.

A recent session at the Hotel Olds in Lansing. The Horton Act makes it a misdemeanor for sportsmen to hunt on farms or any other fenced lands without the consent of the owners. It has been decried by many of the sportsmen's organizations as a means of establishing the European system in this country and putting an end to hunting by any except the wealthy.

Every unemployed able-bodied man working in the city of Grand Rapids, according to City Manager George A. Walsh, Applications will be passed on by the social service division which will supervise all payments. These payments will be in the form of scrip which may be redeemed at the municipal store, where the necessities will be offered at cost. The unemployed will be put to work on the streets and at sewer and water main construction.

Harvey Loucks Sr. of Stanton, was taken to Jackson prison to serve a life sentence for the murder of his son-in-law, Leon Loucks. A jury in Circuit Court found Loucks guilty of first degree murder after 40 minutes deliberation. Sentence was passed immediately. Loucks and his son-in-law quarreled several times. On the day of the killing they had an argument over the sale of a pig. Loucks became enraged and shot his daughter's husband with a rifle.

Still without an airplane, the State Police are well on the way toward acquiring an airport. The State Board of Agriculture, which controls the affairs of Michigan State College at East Lansing, has adopted a resolution presented by M. B. McPherson, of Lowell, calling for the appointment of a committee to determine what of two parcels of college land should be made available for use by the State Police airplanes of the future.

October set a new high record for arrests and convictions under Michigan game and fish laws. State conservation officers secured 401 convictions, confiscated three automobiles and 147 guns. A large part of the violations took place in the eight counties surrounding Detroit, with Oakland, Macomb and Lapeere counties leading.

Executive Officers of the Consumers Power Co. have approved the appropriation of $26,000,000 for construction and expansion in Michigan during 1930. The amount is $7,000,000 more than was spent by the company for this purpose in 1929 and about $2,000,000 above preliminary estimates of expenditure for 1930, announced December 9.

Ronald Bishop, 8-year-old son of Fred Bishop, of South Jolla, was injured fatally when he slid underneath the wheels of a passing automobile while coasting near his home. The child died before reaching Community hospital where he was taken by Otto Cook, who was passing. The boy's legs were broken and his skull was fractured.

THREE AILMENTS BANISHED BY NEW KONJOL

"Through Deeds, Not Words,
Konjola Won Me For A Life-
Long Friend," He Says

MR. DELBERT RITTENHOUSE

"Through deeds, not words, Konjola won me for a life-long friend," said Mr. Delbert Rittenhouse, 2020 De Hoop Avenue, Grand Rapids. "For a long time I was in distress from indigestion, liver and kidney trouble. These three ailments combined to make life miserable. I could not eat a meal without suffering. My sleep was disturbed at all hours of the night by irregular bladder actions. I was subject to dizzy spells and headaches."

"Two bottles of Konjola did more good than all the other medicines and treatments I tried put together. Day by day my condition improved. Today, after a brief treatment, all traces of those three ailments are gone. I eat, sleep and feel better than for many years. There is no doubt in my mind but what Konjola is the Master Medicine."

Konjola is sold in Chelsea at a drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this tire section.

New Year's Messages...

...ordinarily WISH you joy and prosperity. Here is one that ASSURES them to You!

We're starting Nineteen hundred and thirty out right, by filling this store with values—splendid, decisive values that cannot be denied. One single instance is our January Clearance Sale, an institution whose merit can be judged from the past.

It is not our purpose, however, to refer you to bygone successes, triumphant though they were. We want you to realize the opportunities of the present.

Neither is it our purpose to fill your mind solely with the January Clearance Sales. We mention them because we cannot help but know what savings they mean. Similar values prevail throughout the store.

Your way of starting the New Year is clear, you see, if economy is one of your New Year's resolutions.

Pinckney—Charles Carroll who has been living on the Orla Jackson farm one mile south east of town on the Dexter road, now owned by Sam Ham, was found dead in the farm house there about noon Sunday. Mr. Carroll was a dog fancier and was caring for several dogs belonging to Pinckney residents. Carl Sykes who had a dog there drove out with food for it about noon Sunday. He found Carroll lying on the couch in the living room. He had evidently died sometime during the night. Mr. Sykes notified the authorities and Coroner Crittenden of Swarthout, local undertaker, to take charge of the body. No inquest will probably be held. Mr. Carroll has lived in this vicinity for the past 30 years but was born in Oklahoma.—Dispatch.

Lafayette Grange will hold an open meeting in the Lima Center M. E. church on Saturday, January 6. An oyster dinner will be served at noon.

Several land owners in the township of Selo are making an effort to have the Luick drain widened and deepened through the township.

According to the report of County Treasurer Otto D. Luick, there are 84 saloons and breweries in Washtenaw county. During this year the 84 saloons paid $40,074.97 to the treasurer and the breweries $325.

Carpenters have begun work on the interior of the M. L. Burkhardt building on South Main street.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Thursday, December 19, 1895

Tuesday evening, while trying to enter her carriage, Mrs. B. McNary slipped and fell on the pavement, fracturing her right wrist.

Married, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Holmes, on Tuesday, December 17, Mrs. Julia P. Cushman and Mr. Isaac M. Whitaker, both of Chelsea, Rev. Thos. Holmes, D. D., officiating.

Cards have been issued announcing the marriage of Miss Myrta H. Kempf and Mr. Clarence J. Chandler, which will take on Wednesday, January 1, 1896.

At the last meeting of R. P. Carpenter Post, G. A. R., the following officers were chosen: Commander, Wm. Yocum; S. V. C., Thos. Jackson; J. V. C., I. Storms; Sergeant, E. L. Nequist; Chaplain, A. N. Merlton; O. D., J. F. Harrington; O. G., M. M. Campbell; delegate to department encampment, Wm. Yocum.

The grocery of R. A. Snyder was closed Friday, under a chattel mortgage held by W. J. Gould & Co., of Detroit.

A very conspicuous placard is hung in the Union church at Sylvan Center which reads as follows: Persons must not occupy rear seats during any religious service unless all others are taken.

Farm Board Grants Loan For Michigan

Better markets appear on the horizon for Michigan fruit growers thru loans totaling $1,920,000 made by the Federal Farm Board to State orchardists who cooperate to process and market their fruit in a manner to fulfill the requirements laid down by the federal body.

Money is provided to finance the purchase or building of canning plants, packing houses, or other processing plants needed to provide marketing facilities for the fruit crop of the State.

A sum of $720,000 will be made available for the use of the cooperative association which handles the sour cherry crop of Michigan and the Sturgeon Bay district in Wisconsin. These two districts produce the bulk of the nation's cherry crop.

The Board made a loan of $1,200,000 available for the use of the other fruit producers of Michigan. Both groups of growers are required to correlate their sales activities.

The ownership of packing plants to handle the crops of a large membership will enable the managers to pack carloads of uniformly graded fruit of a single variety.

Michigan fruit has suffered a price discrimination due to the lack of uniformity in packing and grading.

Present cooperatives which will centralize their efforts and participate in the loans are the Michigan Cherry Growers, the Michigan Fruit Growers, Inc., and the Dory County Fruit Growers Union. The centralized organization will be known as the Great Lakes Fruit Growers, Inc.

Recumseh—Three small, solemn-faced youngsters walked into the Recumseh Candy Kitchen on Monday and ordered a candy cane each. After receiving the canes, one of them told Pete to "charge them."

Pete to "charge them?" Pete, in the conduct of good business, inquired of them to who? "Charge them to who?" "Charge them to Santa Claus," returned the spokeslady for the group. A public spirited individual, bystander when the incident occurred, played the role of Santa and helped Pete shoulder the loss of the three canes.—Herald.

Milan—The Legion's appeal to the Good Fellows of Milan and community is meeting with a generous response from everyone in the community this year, as in the past and already a good deal of clothing has been donated and the funds are gaining daily with the small donations in the boxes in the stores and the checks that are being given for the work.—Leader.

Fowlerville—The Review has been asked to state to the people of the village and vicinity that there is one or two people owning property inside the village who would be glad to donate sufficient ground for a factory site. Everyone knows that Fowlerville needs some kind of employment for our residents to put us in fine shape. This would be a good job for our Chamber of Commerce to back up, and set the ball rolling.—Review.

Open the door to Economy...

Women know, of course, that it's cheaper to buy foods in quantity. And many today avail themselves of this added economy—for even the most perishable foodstuffs can now be kept for days on end in the dry cold of the Gas Refrigerator.

Health economy, too—for the food compartment of the Gas Refrigerator remains always at a temperature between 42 degrees and 50 degrees—the safety zone, so scientists say, for perishable foods.

An actual price economy—for the Gas Refrigerator is the most economical of all refrigerators to maintain.

River Brought Them Together

By FREDERICK HART

(Copyright.)

THE little river that divided the Montgomery property from the Trenholm estate was a peaceful enough stream to all appearances; it wound lazily through the flat land of the valley, apparently taking always the longest, loziest course to get where it was going and not very particular as to when it got there. But this stream, innocently enough to all appearances, could make trouble when it chose. Once it did choose. On this occasion, swollen by the melted snows from the surrounding hills, it rose in its might and carved out a new channel for itself.

There was no loss of life entailed in this whim of the river's; but it caused much trouble for the two families who lived on opposite sides of it. The little deeds to the land gave the boundaries as the river—no more, no less; and the new channel added twenty acres of land to the Montgomery estate and subtracted an equal number from the Trenholm holding.

The Trenholms went to law about it; the Montgomerys defended their newly acquired estate with vigor; and, as is the way of lawsuits, the case dragged on and on, arriving at no particular conclusion except to cause much bad blood where there was but little before and to make enemies out of former friends.

Margaret Trenholm, blond, pretty and just turned twenty, came in for her share of the family feud. Her father, hard and stern ever, insisted or tried to instill into her mind his animosity for his neighbors; and it is likely that he would have succeeded had not fate taken a hand and decreed that one day when Margaret was riding her favorite horse near the boundaries of her estate she should meet young Davis Montgomery, just home from the college where he was studying law.

Three weeks' meetings cemented their friendship before either found out who the other was. When the names were disclosed it was too late. These two young people had progressed past the point where inhibited differences of opinion have any weight. If they had not fallen in love at first sight they had at least accomplished that desirable thing at third or fourth sight.

Thus it came about that one showery day in early June Davis Montgomery received a note with his morning mail which he read in private and which gave him apparently a great deal of satisfaction. After breakfast he announced to his father that he was going to take a turn down by the river to look at the banks. The floods were still on, there was a report of high water from up the valley and he wanted to assure himself that all was well in the lower fields.

Down to the river bank rode young Davis Montgomery, and in a moment there came to the opposite bank a vision in a titling habit.

"Hello," Margaret called to him. "Good morning, dear!"

Margaret, the better to speak to him, forgot her horse to the edge of the bank, where, overlooking the stream, "Be careful!" shouted Davis. "The bank's underfoot there!"

But his warning came too late. The bank, dug under by the colossal work of the river, crumbled and gave way under the weight of the girl and horse. In an instant Margaret was struggling in the swift stream, clinging to the bridge of her frightened mount, but in another instant Davis had leaped his horse into the stream and the two of them were making the best time possible out to where the brown head of Margaret could be seen beside the black head of her horse.

The struggle was brief but violent. Davis' hand was used to the water and kept his head magnificently. After a few moments of battle Davis and Davis succeeded in dragging the almost unconscious girl up a fortunately shelving bank, safe on dry land.

"Thank goodness you're safe!" breathed Davis.

Margaret heard his voice, tense with anxiety, and was in his arms, laughing and crying at once, glad after the tension of her escape to be able to lean on some one whom she loved.

Then suddenly the thought of her stern father and Davis' equally stern parent obtruded.

"Oh, Davis, dearest, why can't our families be friends? If only that stupid lawsuit could be settled we could get married and everything would be all right."

But Davis seemed unconscious of her grief. "Look! Look! The river!" he shouted.

Margaret looked as directed. Before her eyes she saw the water gurgling at the right bank that divided it from the left channel. The June flood had done its work. Even as the two watched the earth gave way, there was a great roar and a tumbling of foamy brown water, and the river, so long diverted, had found its original course again. The new channel lay muddy but empty before them, and the lawsuit that had so long divided the houses of Montgomery and Trenholm was settled out of court.

It was two very happy young people who went up to the Trenholm house an hour later.

"You see," said Margaret to Davis, "we have to tell them that the river has brought the families together again—and that we are going to tie the knot so tight that it can't ever come untied!"

Report Hurts Sale Of Dairy Products

All persons interested in the prosperity of the dairy interests of the State of Michigan should aid in correcting printed reports which means of distributing the germs of a reluctant fever, according to statements by members of two departments, Michigan State College.

A bulletin written by the animal pathology and the dairy departments at the College shows that undulant fever is probably not a new disease, but that it attacks relatively few people and that there is evidence to prove that causes are much more prevalent than raw milk in its spread.

The germ which causes undulant fever is apparently identical with one which causes contagious abortion in cattle and the theory has been advanced by some individuals that the fever is caused only by drinking milk from herds which are infected with abortion.

Studies made in Michigan and by members of the University of Iowa disprove this theory. Dairymen of this State are asked by the authorities the Michigan bulletin to continue the campaign to clean up abortion in their herds to avoid economic loss but they are advised to make no radical changes in their business plans because of stories concerning undulant fever.

The Letter From Home

How I like to get the letter

That the homefolks write to me!
To read that Dad is feeling better—
Is as chipper as can be,
And to read the lines from Mother
As to little things they do
From the one day to the other,
As the weeks they journey through.

They wish that we were near them,
And were not so far away,
And I know how much 't would cheer
Them.
To be near us, day by day,
It is not that they are lonely,
But I scarcely need to tell,
For you understand—it's only
That they love us all too well.

There is little that they write us
That amounts to very much,
But their letters all delight us
With their human, homely touch,
As they tell about the weather,
With its days of sun and rain—
Like the life they've spent together,
Now a smile, and then a pain.

There is little there to thrill us,
As we read from line to line,
But their letters always fill us
With a feeling sweet and fine.
Just to know they're feeling better,
And from pain and care are free,
Is the best news in the letter
That the home-folks write to me!

MICHIGAN NEWS

Michigan, with 43 airports, is far behind many of her sister states with this regard, according to a report published by Maj. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for aeronautics at Washington, D. C. California leads all other states in the number of airports with 161. Texas has 101; Pennsylvania 83; Illinois 67; New York 57; Oklahoma 48, thus placing Michigan eighth. There are 1,600 airports in the United States of which 465 are commercial, 440 municipal, 278 intermediate fields, 86 government and 240 auxiliary.

The worm has turned and deer have declared war on hunters. Edward Rose, 49 years old, of Flint, while driving a sedan between Sidnaw and Keweenaw, in the Upper Peninsula had his left eye punctured when a large buck galloped out of the woods and plunged into the car. The buck's horn broke the window glass and pierced the hunter's eye. Three other men hunters from lower Michigan were riding with Rose. Rose was treated by Dr. Whiteside, of Trout Creek, and then taken to Ironwood hospital.

A white ant, known as a termite, is threatening Ypsilanti, according to Professor T. L. Hankinson, of the science department of the Michigan State Normal college. The ants were first discovered in a paper mill in Ypsilanti after they had eaten part of the flooring of the office away and the holes poured into the office.

This species of ant is rarely seen this far north and is in all respects a tropical insect. It is about one-quarter inch long and lives in colonies.

Eighty sacks of United States mail, mostly parcel post, were burned when the baggage car, attached to a north-bound Michigan Central train, en route from Jackson to Grand Rapids, was destroyed by fire at Van Horn's crossing, four miles north of Jackson. The blaze resulted from the explosion of an oil lamp used in lighting the car. James Mahoney, the baggage man, was not in the car when the lamp exploded.

A verdict for $25,000 was obtained in Circuit Court at Grand Rapids, by Mrs. Edith Sampson of Flint, in a malpractice suit against Dr. William H. Veenboer, Grand Rapids surgeon. It was charged that during an operation an accident occurred which necessitated eight corrective operations. It was the second trial of the case, the first having resulted in a disagreement.

What Will Your New Year Be?

GREAT achievements are things that evolve from carefully studied programs and resultant efforts. It is presumed that those who would learn from old mistakes or mis-judgments will benefit by them.

The next year is the time to benefit by experience and knowledge.

The eyes of the New Year are upon you -- and though they are very young eyes, they have read the documents of your 1929 history and could tell you much of the next twelve months.

America is in a surging wave of unceasing progress, and true Americans will keep their heads above the water.

The Stars and Stripes will be kind to Americans who are earnest in 1930. Let us make a Resolution to look to the future and see only in the past the benefits of recognized mistakes.

Real Estate Pays Undue Tax Burden

Taxes on real estate which have approached or reached the point of confiscation in many States, could be replaced by taxes which would fall upon the people able to pay if the States would take up the problem as a unit instead of as 48 individual bodies, according to the statement of Dr. H. B. Hibbard, University of Wisconsin, in an address given at Michigan State College.

An income tax, which was cited as an equitable tax by the Wisconsin professor, can not become fully effective, he said, as long as individuals can avoid payment by moving their taxable property from a State which has a high income tax to one which has a lower one.

Doctor Hibbard stated that a company which sells goods nationally and which has a relatively high income and small holdings of real estate can also afford to change its business address to another State when the one in which it is located attempts to levy a high income tax.

Tax levying units which were of proper size when the tax system was inaugurated have become obsolete through the enormous growth of the country and the units should be enlarged to meet changed conditions, he said.

Taxes which can be shifted from the seller of the taxed article to the buyer were not recommended by Doctor Hibbard.

Under the Massachusetts law, the control of the disease is voluntary with the poultryman, who pays for the service at the experiment station control laboratory at the rate of 10 cents a bird plus 1 cent for the leg band.

The cost of 11 cents for each bird includes expenses of the blood collector as well as the actual laboratory work.

Mr. Hinchshaw attributes the failure of the poultryman to eradicate the disease to a number of reasons. The poultryman may fail to test all his birds, or fail to retest at intervals within the season if the flock is found to be infected, or he may keep chicks which have been hatched before the test had been completed.

Other reasons are the failure to remove reactors from the flock as soon as they are reported, the failure to burn off from birds which react to the test killed for home use, and the failure to clean and disinfect the houses following the removal of reactors.

Sometimes the poultryman makes the mistake of holding reactors for egg-laying purposes, and feeding eggs from unknown sources to baby chicks. Again he may hatch eggs for poultrymen who have not tested their flocks, or buy stock such as eggs, chicks, and adults, from diseased flocks. When he returns birds to the flocks from poultry shows and egg-laying contests without first quarantining them, he runs danger.

Lack of attention to details in the field at the time of collection of blood samples may result in failure to eradicate the disease.

Convenience concerns the manager directly, it indirectly affects the poultryman. It is more convenient if it is to do the work the easier it is, and the simpler the method the better the poultryman should be "geared" for the manager or feeder.

Put the poultry house where it can be got to readily, and also make it possible to feed the poultry without having to run to the granary for stable or grain.

In the gate, the door, the driveway, and everything connected with the poultry, convenience should be studied.

Often this one item determines the difference between prosperity and disaster, and the one is as easy to have as the other. Not only should the house be accessible, but the internal arrangements ought to be such that the necessary work may be done with the least amount of labor.

If the man can do the work in the hen house with the ease with which it is done in the horse stable, there will be fewer filthy poultry houses and much better gettings.

Buckwheat has some qualities to be recommended. It is oily and, therefore, supplies heat to the birds and is particularly adapted to winter feeding. It is fattening, because it has so much woody fiber, however, it is only worth about one-half as much pound for pound as wheat for poultry feed.

Ground and mixed with skim milk and buttermilk it makes a very good fattening mash. In search feeds for laying flocks it is generally used in no greater quantities than 10 per cent for the above reason; too much fiber.

POULTRY

EASY TO DETECT POULTRY DISEASE

Expert Tells of Tests to Show Carriers of Ills.

Fifteen years' experience has taught the Massachusetts poultry man that the so-called agglutination test is an efficient means of detecting carriers of bacillary white diarrhea infection," said W. R. Hinchshaw, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, experiment station. In this test, mixed under a microscope, specimens of the suspected bacteria are mixed with a sample of diluted blood serum from the infected bird. The laboratory test alone will not eradicate the disease; it is only one step in the process.

Under the Massachusetts law, the control of the disease is voluntary with the poultryman, who pays for the service at the experiment station control laboratory at the rate of 10 cents a bird plus 1 cent for the leg band.
