Drys Still In Lead On 106 New Ballots

One voter in the Standard prohibition poll who designated his choice as modification elaborated his stand with the following notation: "One per cent beer, three per cent money; food for all, clothing and honey." Apparently this elector wants the law drier than it is, since the legal content of beer already is more than one per cent. For support in his cheap-money demands, he is referred to General Coxey of Massillon, Ohio.

The relative vote in the referendum remains about the same today, 106 new ballots having been returned. Enforcement stands at 880; modification 117; repeal 216. Total 924.

Two hundred more ballots will be sent out this week into Lyndon, Lima and Sylvan townships. If you have already received a ballot and have not returned it do so today and help assure a complete local survey on the question.

Two Hurt In Crash; Flames Destroy Car

Austin Paist and Ralph Forner miraculously escaped serious injury last Thursday night when Paist's car crashed into the rear of an automobile which had stopped on the pavement a few rods east of the Weinberg home on U. S. 12 to allow the occupants to better observe a wrecked machine in the ditch at that place.

Miss Ivan W. Wollangor and Miss Isabel M. Belcher of Jackson, occupants of the car struck by Paist's machine, were slightly injured in the crash, their car being thrown to the opposite side of the pavement. Paist's car turned partially over, throwing the occupants clear of the wreckage, with minor injuries. The car immediately burst into flames and was completely destroyed.

As an aftermath of the accident, Dr. Harold L. Hurley of Jackson spent several days in the hospital recovering from injuries received when his car, carrying a party which had been to Detroit, in addition to the two girls who were hurt in the Paist accident, was struck by a truck near Jackson.

Mr. Hurley's car, which had been halted to give first aid to the girls and to take them home, was thrown into the ditch by the collision. The doctor was the only one injured.

MISS WILSON AND GRITZNER, FORMER TEACHERS HERE, WED

Ann Arbor and Chelsea Are Scenes of Pretty Ceremonies of Former Residents.

Miss Bernice Olive Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle L. Wilson of 1905 Michigan Avenue, Ann Arbor, was united in marriage to Mr. S. Paul Gritzner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wiers of Grand Rapids Saturday afternoon, June 14, at two o'clock in the chapel of the Michigan League building at Ann Arbor.

About thirty close friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was read by Rev. Merle H. Anderson of the First Presbyterian church. The chapel was beautifully decorated with peonies and ferns and lighted with ivory tapers.

The bride wore a gown of smoke blue chiffon over blue brocade silk, with a cream lace hat, and carried an arm bouquet of pink butterfly roses, lavender sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Mildred Hindelanger of Battle Creek, as maid of honor, was attired in flesh colored chiffon with hat to match her gown. She carried Johanna Hill roses and sweet peas.

Best Wiers of Flint attended his brother as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Hazel Baxter of Chelsea. A reception was held after the ceremony in the Alumni room of the League building.

Mrs. Wiers is a graduate of the University School of Music and is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority. For the past two years she has been musical instructor in the Chelsea public schools. Mr. Wiers is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi, economic fraternity. He received his B. S. degree from the literary college, U. of M. in 1929 and is now working on his doctorate degree in economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiers will make their home at 820 East Ann street, Ann Arbor.

Those from Chelsea who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Newton Prudden and Miss Hazel Baxter. The home of Miss Abbie Chase, 151 Orchard street, was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday, June 16, when Miss Olivia Dorothy Gritzner of Montague became the bride of Mr. Harold S. Bechtel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Bechtel of Baden, Ont.

The marriage vows were spoken before an improvised altar of green, lighted with apricot tapers in silver candleholders, while exquisite silver baskets of white peonies and marguerites completed the decorations. Rev. E. L. Sutherland of Durand read the double ring ceremony which took place at high noon.

The bride chose for her wedding dress a formal gown of apricot chiffon with shirred bodice and ruffled skirt and train. Her veil of tulle was caught with orange blossoms and she carried Ophelia roses. Mrs. Spencer Beecher of Lansing attended the bride as matron of honor. Her dress was of light green flowered silk crepe and she carried yellow snapdragons. Mr. Spencer Beecher performed the duties of best man. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Jessie Everett. Little Cresta Lou Dell of Ypsilanti, as ring bearer, carried the rings in the heart of a rose.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to twelve guests at the home of Mrs. George W. Hart. A color scheme of gold and rose was carried out in the table decorations with ribbons from the bridal cake leading to each place. The favors were boxes of wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechtel are both former residents of Chelsea. Following her graduation from the Michigan State Normal College Mrs. Bechtel was third grade teacher in the Chelsea public school in 1923 and 1924. She has since completed six years as teacher in Lansing and was captain of Girl Scouts in that city.

Mr. Bechtel was formerly in the employ of the Chelsea Milling Co. and is at present manager of flour mills in Baden and Bridgeport, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechtel left on a trip to Montague and Rogers Park, Ill. They will make their home at 66 Chapel street, Kitchener, Ont.

Guests present at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Canfield of Holly and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dell of Ypsilanti.

HONORED AT DINNER

Wm. Atkinson was guest of honor at a family dinner given at his home Sunday in celebration of his birthday anniversary. The large birthday cake, centering the table was decorated in pink and white. Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Love of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Max Friedrich of Flint and Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Alber and family of Sharon.

Niehaus Elected Head Of Alumni Association

Paul Niehaus was elected president of the Chelsea High School Alumni Association at the annual banquet Friday evening in the school gymnasium. Other officers for the ensuing year will be: Mrs. Edward McKune, vice president; Mrs. Wilbur Riemenschneider, secretary; Paul Maroney, treasurer.

Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, Ann Arbor and Kalamazoo were represented by members of the association and their friends who attended the dinner and dance that followed. Donald Bacon was toastmaster and one of the added highlights of the program was a toast delivered by John Hindelang of Detroit.

The banquet room and tables were prettily decorated, the ceiling being hung with a canopy of yellow and white crepe paper. Baskets of marguerites and yellow tapers in glass holders were set on the tables, that of the 1930 class being hung in the class colors, yellow and lavender.

The three-course dinner was served by members of St. Paul's Auxiliaries.

Power, More of It
Leisure and Money
Some Gangster, Napoleon Welcome to BrazilImportant to the human race are physical power and mental power.
Mental power has stood still for about two thousand years. Physical power is constantly increasing.A German has found a way to increase the power of engines, gasoline, Diesel or steam, from 20 to 60 per cent, his new kind of turbine using the power of exhaust gases.Lufthansa, great German air company, has ordered a Diesel engine built on the new plan for airplane engine. Fuel oil will be used.Germany leads the world in mechanical invention and in chemistry.
Professor Claude, one of the world's most distinguished physicists, informs the French Academy of Science that he is making progress in his effort to utilize power from the ocean.
A small fraction of the tide's power would make all other power unnecessary. The tides, once harnessed, would run our machinery as long as the sun and moon combine to raise and drop the waters of the ocean.Professor Claude's experiments use the warm water at the surface of tropical seas to operate a turbine, the water being converted to steam by means of a vacuum. Cold water from the depths of the sea is used to recondense the steam and renew the vacuum.It is complicated for the nonscientific mind, but if there is "an inexhaustible store of power in tropical sea water," that certainly will make a great difference to enormous populations living near the equator in comparative idleness.The death of Sir Henry Segrave, brilliant, courageous Englishman, will be regretted everywhere.He had developed new speeds in motorboats and automobiles, and was killed when a boat in which he was going 100 miles an hour turned over and sank.Mr. Nelson Rockefeller, grandson of John D. Rockefeller, writes on "The Use of Leisure" in the Dartmouth alumni magazine. The article is well written, serious.In time the young man's problem will be "the use of money." His father and grandfather do not live extravagantly. They give away a great deal, but compound interest is more powerful than their giving. With any sort of management the third generation of Rockefellers should have at least five billions of dollars. A large sum to use satisfactorily.Napoleon said his government could not last if he allowed liberty to the press.Chicago gangsters seem to have heard about that. A gangster bullet in the back of the head killed Alfred Lingie, Chicago Tribune reporter.Lingie, it seems, knew more about gang criminals than a reporter ought to know, according to gang standards.
Chicago takes seriously this latest killing. But conviction is improbable.
The killer, probably, was some youth in his teens, fortified with cocaine.
Paid for the job, he did not know the name of the man he killed, perhaps doesn't know it yet.It is hard for detectives to work in the absence of any motive.President-Elect Julio Prestes de Albuquerque of Brazil, coming to visit us, will be welcome everywhere. As head of Brazil's government, he represents a gigantic empire, magnificently typical of wealth and greatness in America.Larger than the United States, with sea water power much more powerful than Niagara, a soil of fertility indescribable, diamond mines whose blue-white products surpass all others, and,
most important, an intelligent, patriotic, hard-working people, our guest from Brazil speaks for a nation of whose friendship this country may be proud.Wall Street continues to worry small folk, and reflect the actions of bigger men.Little ones worry, and sell, big ones that have been buying and stocks, part of which of shares are a loss, as yet, and are not.so they let the market slide down but a little while, then steady it.
Thus you may see a tender father gently catch his little child as it jumps from a height.
But one of these days the child may be seriously bumped.New York city clinics announce "free plastic surgery." If you don't like your face the city will change it for you if you have a good reason.
No beauty parlor business will be done, no face lifting to hide wrinkles.
The idea is to improve faces that interfere with securing employment.
Deformed noses, "cavittower" ears, torn lips, caved-in cheek bones that make faces repulsive, will be attended to.Grover Alexander, famous baseball pitcher, is "unconditionally released" by the Philadelphia National league club. It means that his day is done.
Such is fame, when you acquire it with arms, legs, physical strength.

Original "Permanent Wave"

The permanent wave, so called, was invented by a woman. In 1878 a patent was issued to Milton T. Orin of Kansas City, and this was the first apparatus with which all of today's machine character are modeled.

RADIO-AMATEURS

By One of 'Em.

At the beginning of these little articles from now on we are going to list the various local stations according to the amount of traffic (messages) they handle in the week. So all you Chelsea hams let W8AJC know your message total by radio so that we can have a little BPL all of our own. What say, fellows?Also there will be station descriptions until all the local stations have been described. These little descriptions will help you people get acquainted with the radio men that live next door to you and who are handling your messages in such fine shape.
— W8BDI"Dexter's Pioneer Radio Station."
Owned and operated by E. E. Hein-inger, further, R. F. D. 1, Dexter, Mich.Mr. Heininger's station is unique and efficient and is a typical "ham" station. The complete station is built into an old organ console which is placed in one corner of his dining room, and looks very much like an ordinary desk. The receiving set is exceptional for its ability to pick up long distance stations. Holland was heard with good volume on the loud speaker. I believe this is more than most of us can say for our sets.It consists of the usual detector and two stages of audio, but is unusual in the respect that the detector tube and first audio are both screen-grid types. Infact the receiver at W8BDI is one of the best I have ever heard. The next thing of interest is the frequencymeter which Mr. Heininger keeps accurately calibrated from the standard frequency transmissions of special stations. This little device enables the operator to tell at all times the frequency he is working on and to check up on the frequency of the stations he is receiving. The operator can listen to his own set while sending, thereby being assured of perfect transmission.
The transmitter at W8BDI is of the usual Hartley Circuit and is of very low power, which enhances the novelty of some of W8BDI's records. This low-powered transmitter uses an ordinary UX 171-A tube and 200 volts of "B" battery. The reason I stress the fact that everything is "ordinary"
is to show how, by proper adjustment, un-ordinary things can be done. W8-BDI has worked consistently with the West Coast on the 80 meter band, a thing that few eastern stations can boast of, regardless of their power.
People passing on the road and looking over in Mr. Heininger's field might think that he had started a private telephone company, but by closer observance would find the "telephone" line to be one of the most efficient aerials for the Amateur Radio Transmitter. It is about 400 feet long and works on the third harmonic when W8BDI is in the 80 meter band.The over all efficiency of this little station is remarkable, mostly due to the care with which Mr. Heininger built all the equipment. It's a fine little station, folks. Take a drive out and see it. I know Mr. Hein-inger will welcome you and be glad to show you how it works.Fruit Flies Damage Unsprayed CherriesMichigan cherry growers who live north of the two southern tiers of counties are warned by the entomology department at Michigan State College to be prepared to spray their orchards for the control of the cherry fruit fly, which causes severe damage to un-sprayed cherries.
The effectiveness of the spray depends almost entirely upon the timeliness of its application. The spray must be used after the adult flies emerge and before they lay their eggs upon the fruit.Observation cages are maintained in several places in the state to enable the entomology department to determine the exact time that the flies attain the adult age and are ready to lay eggs. As soon as this date is determined, warnings are broadcast to apply the spray before a certain day. County agricultural agents get these warnings directly from the entomology department.The spray recommended for use on sour cherries which are to be washed or scrubbed before being used for food is two and one-half pounds of powdered arsenate of lead in 100 gallons of water to which the grower may add lime-sulphur if he wishes. Two and one-half gallons of lime-sulphur in 100 gallons of water should be used for sour cherries which will not be washed. One-half gallon less limesulphur per 100 gallons of water should be used for sweet cherries. No arsenate of lead should be used in any spray for cherries which will not be washed before they are eaten.

Meaning of Life

Our life is compassed round with Necessity; yet is the meaning of life itself no other than Freedom, than Voluntary Force; thus have we a warfare; in the beginning, especially, a hard-fought battle.—Thomas Carlyle.

OUR HIRED MAN

BY A. J. DUNLAP

He said he came in on the rods—

His baggage was only a box.

Sis peeked and saw only a razor,

Some cards and a pair of old Sox.

We wrings were up in the haymow

One day as he harnessed old Nell;

She stepped on his toe and he shouted

Bad names that we never would tell.

His partner who worked on the bridge gang

Got sick with a fever that fall;

Our hired man drew all of his wages

And gave him the check for it all.

He said, "If my card gets the knockout,

I want to be sure that I done

The best that I could when he lived—

He's broke, the poor son-of-a-gun."

Some day he must stand at the bar

Up yonder and answer the call

Of him who it lord of the Nations

The judge of the great and the small.

I know the great judge will remember

The oath, though a mere bagatelle,

He gave to his pard, and forget

The bad words he said to old Nell.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancas road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

Whooping Cough—One of Childhood's Great Ills

Whooping cough is one of the oldest known of child diseases, yet there are no certain treatments or preventives known. And many parents have the wrong idea about whooping cough. They regard it as a child disease that every child must have, and take little trouble to guard their children against exposure, regardless of age. But that is what makes the death rate from whooping cough greater than that from scarlet fever, measles and infantile paralysis combined. It has been estimated that whooping cough is twenty times as fatal for children under five years of age as for those beyond that age. This approximately 15 per cent of the deaths from this disease occur in the pre-school age group. In time of epidemics or even in isolated cases, the American Public Health association advises parents to keep children, particularly those of pre-school age, away from all unnecessary neighborhood contacts. If the older children get the disease isolate them until several days after the whooping ceases.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Let Opportunity Pass for Real Estate Profit

"It's astonishing," said the old settler, "how real estate has advanced in this town since I came here. The corner lot this building is on, for instance, sold once for $450."

"Well, what is it worth now?" asked the stranger.

"Five thousand."

"Well, you had a chance to get rich by investing in land yourself. I suppose you bought some real estate?"

"Yes, I bought one lot—just one."

"That has increased in value, has it not?"

"Yes, more than 600 per cent."

"That was a good investment."

"Not so awfully good, mister," said the old settler, gloomily. "I paid $10 for it, and it's worth $75 now; but it is in the cemetery. The way I figure it, I've lost a heap of money by not dying forty years ago."

Faulty Follow Through

The chief trouble with the weather man is that when he gets a good thing he seldom sticks with it. Indianapolis Star.

SIX CYLINDER SENTENCES

By DR. JOHN W. HOLLAND

True worship makes for worth ship.

Men and kites rise better against adverse winds.

Lowering our ideals gives us less to look up to.

Keep at it, boy! It takes a lifetime of failing to make a violinist.

When you allow yourself to become angry at a man, you become, temporarily his inferior.

The man whom you should watch most is the fellow who watches you from your mirror while you shave.

The first public telephone exchange in Ireland was opened on the 29th of January, 1880, in Castle Chambers, Belfast, with fifty of the city's leading merchants as subscribers. In order to interest them, it was necessary to persuade these merchants to allow telephones to be installed in their offices free, and the great majority continued as paying subscribers.

Physical Ills of Ants

Like Those of Humans
Ants rival humans not only in the complexity of their social structure but in the intricacy of their ailments. An insane ant, a unique phenomenon in scientific annals, has been reported by Dr. Robert Snodgrass of Berlin, according to Science Service. While observing a colony of common European species of ants, Doctor Snodgrass noticed one individual running around and around in circles. It attacked members of its own colony that came in its way and behaved in an otherwise abnormal fashion. The circles always bore to the right, and after a few days the insect's right foot and antenna began to drag. Circumstances came about that made it impossible for Doctor Snodgrass to watch the ant any longer, so he killed it and sent it to Dr. Rudolf Bruch of Zurich, a specialist interested in such matters. Microscopic dissection revealed a tumor on the left side of the insect's brain, a condition that apparently has not been reported in scientific literature before. In this brain, no bigger than a small pinhead, the nerve fibers cross each other just as they do in man's, so that injury on the left side caused difficulties with the members on the right side of the body.

Had Reasons for Being Thankful for Baldness

Everybody seems to have something to be thankful about. Being bald has its beneficial points, too, a New York Sun reporter found out.

While getting his shoes shined the other day in City Hall park, New York, the Sun's Sun reporter wondered what some shiners think about. The shoe shiner happened to be a bald-headed man without a hat.

"That wind must be cold on your head, isn't it?" the reporter asked.

"Oh, I don't mind it," the man replied. "I'd rather be bald than have long hair hanging in my eyes while working. If I was a smart man I could figure out how much time is wasted by the young shiners who have to keep brushing their hair back."

"Well, you don't have to worry about hair cuts very much, either, do you?" the reporter suggested.

"No," he said. "My wife cuts what little hair I have and she gets so much fun out of it that she pays me a dime every time I let her cut my hair."

Popular English Novelist

Sir Henry Rider Haggard (1858-1925), English novelist, was born at Bradenham Hall, Norfolk. At the time of the first annexation of the Transvaal (1877) he was on the staff of the special commissioner, Sir Theophilus Shepstone, and then became a member of the High Court there. After the cession of the Transvaal to the Dutch he returned to England and read for the bar. Haggard was knighted in 1912. He died in London on May 14, 1925.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

By GEORGE DORSEY, Ph. D., LL. D.

To Sleep—Perchance to Dream

JUDGING from their behavior, all our four-footed friends dream. Presumably their dreams are as unique as are their individual selves. I find no explanation for my dreams that does not take stock of my experience. Dreams themselves are no more mysterious than is any other phase of adjustment. Dreams and sleep are processes of adjustment based on physiological processes.

It is assumed that dreams have a biologic function. "It is the dream that really keeps us asleep," says Humphreys. He cites the sleeper and a lawn-mower outside. The sleeper dreams he hears something else: if he "heard" lawn-mower, he would have to get up and go to work. "He can only consistently go to sleep by hearing noise as something else than the sound of a lawn-mower."

That explanation is too simple; it covers too much ground. True, many dreams seem to have the function of guarding sleep. But to say that the dream keeps us asleep is as taut as to say that sleep causes dreams.

There are dreams and dreams, and sleep and sleep. Some animals and people are always dreaming; some seem never more than half awake. But inherent in life and human beings is the necessity to "come to" when life is imperiled.

When now I lay me down to sleep, what do I lay down? Obviously, not the same body that I carry to a Harvard-Yale football game. But the body that carries me to the game may be any one of 80,000 bodies in the Bowl. When half of them groan the other half cheer. One particular body may sob, another go into a frenzy of delight; another may yawn and say, "What a rotten game!"

The body I lay down may be so tired it is "dead to the world" and beyond stimulus of smoke, though my own bed-clothes are on fire from my cigarette. I do not come to until fire stimulates my skin. No dream kept me asleep, nor did nightmare arouse me.

I may be very tired and yet awake at the low gentle gnawing of a mouse. I curse the mouse and try to go to sleep again. Why could I not have dreamed or squinted in the wood gnawing nuts and have slept peacefully on?

I have worked late and am tired. I must be up and at work again within five hours; I need every minute of my sleep. I drop asleep, and come to with a start. I have had a horrible nightmare. I can sleep no more that night. I can discover no excuse for my nightmare: no fire, no mouse, everything quiet.

Sleep is primarily relaxation—general dropping off of the motor mechanism. But activity keeps on, though slowed down a trifle, in the digestive, respiratory and circulatory systems. The bodily functions continue; the motor mechanism goes out of action, including external receptors for outside stimuli. Consciousness quits, the mind stays on the job. Consciousness is a functioning of areas of the cortex of the brain, where knowledge is stored and sorted. When certain parts of the cortex are injured—by disease or wound—we lose control of something as though we had quite forgotten it. It may be use of part of the motor mechanism, or the speech mechanism, etc. But with the cortex out of action, we forget what we have learned.

Roused from deep sleep with the porter's admonition: "Gotta get out here in five minutes," we make a mess of dressing. Seems as though we have forgotten which shoe goes on which foot, and we blink at collar and tie as though we had never seen such things. We are not "in possession of all our faculties."

Hence, dreams mix things up. The right shoe on the left foot. A shirt-magnifying glass. And we wake up the next morning with the "faintest dream; can't make head or tail of it."

A dream may be anything. If A's dream is wish-fulfillments, A apparently is a Spanish castle builder and keeps at it in his dreams. If A's dreams are also sex, it is because A's mind dwells on sex. As wishes and sex enter into many lives, they are likely to enter many dreams.

Sometimes the frankness of our dreams amazes us. Life is frank. With the cortex out of action, we lose the guardian of our morals. The mind of the dreamer rambles around aimlessly and shamelessly. For the same reason scientists often solve problems in chemistry, mathematics, etc., in dreams: their mind was free from inhibitions. It was not afraid to try out new combinations.

We solve many different problems of conflict just before we drop asleep, or we drive them from our head long enough to fall asleep. That problem is likely to form the subject of our dreams: the body mind carries it on from the point where it was dropped by the conscious mind.

"My dream has come true!" Often they do. As I write, my body's mind wanders fore and aft and up and down. It will be surprising if it can anticipate nothing of my behavior, or my family's behavior tomorrow or next week. When our dreams do not come true—and generally they do not—the truth has little interest for dreams—we say nothing about it.

James King Is New Prexy At Olivet

Dr. A. E. Vestling, the retiring president of Olivet College, will be succeeded by Dr. James King, who has been dean of the college and professor of philosophy for the past ten years. The new president comes to his office with a thorough knowledge of the institution, as well as the good will of the constituency.

At the recent commencement exercises of Olivet college the president of the board of trustees announced an anonymous gift of $250,000 for a new women's dormitory which will be erected as soon as the central heating plant has been enlarged to take care of the new building, and plans and specifications have been approved.

It was also announced that a gift of $250,000 for a scholarship loan fund had been received from the will of the late William H. Hill of Detroit. These bequests, together with a number of smaller gifts during the past few years, brings the amount to over $1,100,000.

Another announcement that was received enthusiastically during the commencement season was that Joseph Truskowski, the famous captain of the University of Michigan's football team of last year, has accepted the position of assistant coach at Olivet college and will be the mentor for the football team next year. Under the leadership of Mr. Truskowski, it is expected that Olivet college will win its laurels in the athletic field.

Five Arrested Here For Theft Of Oil

Five men employed on a farm near Chelsea were arrested Tuesday by Marshall Atkinson and Deputy Sheriff Andres on charges of larceny in connection with the theft of oil from E. J. Bahnmiller. The five, who are supposed to be from Ohio, all live on Madison street. They came under suspicion when two casks of oil had disappeared from Mr. Bahnmiller's threshing outfit and boys had found one of the casks near their house. The two officers obtained a search warrant, and on searching the premises, found the other missing can.

The men were lodged in the county jail at Ann Arbor. They gave their names as Morgan Joseph, 32; Raymond England, 18; (late Canaan, 26; Harry Morgan, 20; and Tamey O'Dell.

Irish Finds Prehistoric

Discovery of a prehistoric cemetery in County Meath, Ireland, is believed to prove that there are still many interesting finds in this former seat of the ancient kings of Ireland. Antiquarians declare that the rich picture lands cover valuable relics of the time when all roads led to Tara and great gatherings were held on the plains of Meath.

Charcoal Business Returns

Readers of ancient German fairy tales or of old travel guides will remember frequent references to charcoal burners, who were once met with throughout the forest, but had almost disappeared. Of late, however, they have begun to return, and the traveler who goes from Harzburg to Braunschweig by way of Torfhaus will see a number of kilns, each containing about 25 cords, and near them the smoky burners who build the kilns and watch the burning.

Vocabulary Interest

George had begun to take a decided interest in his vocabulary, which was gradually increasing day by day. One day recently he happened to overhear a conversation between his mother and her guest in which they used the word "stepmother." George's memory as well as his ambition for new words was kindled in his association of ideas he was a little confused.

"Mother," he said, after the guest had left, "what is a stepmother?"

Described

At a farm products show a little boy with chin quivering and tears showing, went up to a church booth and inquired:

"Sister, have you seen a man pass this way?"

Thriving, seven, several, hundred, at them, the woman asked: "What did he look like, honey?"

"Well," he answered, puzzled, "he had on a coat."

Declaration First in Its Effect on Mankind

Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence in a house that formerly stood at the southwest corner of Seventh and Market streets, Philadelphia, the site now occupied by the Penn National bank. It would be no straining for effect to assert, in view of the almost universal acceptance of the philosophy and principles contained in that great paper, that in time to come the site will be regarded as the most historic in the world. No manifesto ever issued by a people has had the far-reaching effects of the Declaration adopted in Philadelphia by the Continental congress on July 4, 1776.

Beyond all doubt Jefferson was the most widely read man in the Continental congress. He came to Philadelphia with the reputation of a writer of state papers that had the right thought and more papers that were brilliant with ringing sentences. Jefferson daily read in Greek, Latin, French and Italian as well as in English, the works of the greatest philosophers, historians and commentators. This circumstance accounts for the presence in the Declaration of one of the most inspiring phrases that has been incorporated in any of our state papers, says the Milwaukee Journal.

"Who does not recall the phrase: 'These colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states?' Professor Dunning of Columbia university, some years ago began a hunt to trace its genesis and managed to trace it back to the time of Pope Boniface VIII, whom he found writing to Philip the Fair of France, about 1300, in their midst, said they had no superior, 'for of right they were and ought to be subject to the Roman king and the emperor.'

Dr. James Sullivan in his study, "The Antecedents of the Declaration of Independence," has shown that three of the ideas in the historic document were known to the world by Cicero's time (106-43 B. C.). "These words," he states, "first, the conscious instituting of government by men, held by Protagoras, the Sophists and the Epicureans; second, the equality of men—on ideas advanced by the Stoics; and third, the idea of natural rights developed by Cicero." But it was in the Declaration written by Jefferson that these ideas were first combined.

Science and Humor
It is a curious fact that science, a serious and ponderous subject, sometimes conceals behind it a very keen sense of humor, else why the birth of "Alice in Wonderland," not from the brain of a professional humorist, but out of the whimsies of one Lewis Carroll, as he makes his escape from the previsions of mathematical calculations, propounded by his scholastic self? No one learning that fine poem on trees, by Joyce Kilmer, would ever suspect that it had been said of him that whenever he touched the grindstone of life, there flew up a shower of sparks. —Indianapolis News.
