Fire, believed to have been caused by a faulty chimney brought the fire department out twice Wednesday

3 TEAMS IN RUNNING FOR STANDARD TROPHY AS FINAL DATE NEARS

Odd Fellows, Masons and Legion Have Chance for Honors; Closing Game On Thursday

Three teams, the Odd Fellows, Masons and Legion, are tied for leadership in the third series of the Twight League schedule as the season nears the closing date, which is next Thursday. The I. O. O. F. team won the first two series, but will also have to win the concluding one to capture the Chelsea Standard trophy, now on display in the Vogel & Wurster store. In case the Masons or Legion win the series now coming to an end, the issue will be decided in a play-off game.

The Methodists did the heavy work in the schedule for this week, having figured in three of the four games played. The results follow:

Thursday, July 17, Legion 8, Methodists 5; Friday, July 18, Methodists 5, K. of P. 4; Monday, July 21,

P. In addition, the I. O. O. F. will west of Chelsea and crashed into a

Auto Ship-Wrecked For Want Of Red Shirt

A ship-wrecked sailor in mid-Atlantic can flag down the fastest Cunard liner with any old kind of a shirt, but if you want to stop a Michigan Central passenger train, it's gotta be a red shirt.

Last Sunday afternoon an expedition was cruising into Chelsea harbor along the Cavanaugh Lake road, when their auto foundered on the tracks near the Methodist Home. With one wheel gone, and not a tug in sight, the occupants could not move their vessel. Resorting to the immemorial shirt, that has been making history from the time of Robinson Crusoe down, they halted an oncoming freight. The freight, however, was coming in on another track, but the crew informed the stranded mariners that a passenger would bear down on them shortly, making plenty of knots.

Drafting a passing auto, they rushed up the track a half mile or so to meet the passenger—and again brought the old shirt into play. The passenger, however, rushed on, as if it didn't know what a shirt was made for, and splashed head-on into the marooned auto, scattering bolts over fourteen counties. Then it hove to, and the engineer disembarked to scan the damage.

"Should have used a red shirt," he opined. "That would have stopped us."

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—As I take your good paper will you please be kind enough to settle a dispute by answering which is the oldest city in the world?
Ans.—We are sorry we cannot give you a positive answer on this. It is believed, however, that Damascus, the chief town of Syria, is the oldest city in the world.

Ques.—I am going to get married pretty soon. Now, if you can answer all kinds of questions please tell me the best way to do it.
Ans.—Just begin now to set aside a sinking fund for matrimony.

Ques.—Recently a farmer showed me a fence post that was as hard as iron and he said it was petrified wood. Can that be true?
Ans.—We doubt it. Petrification of wood through the replacement of the wood tissues by silica or other minerals occurs only after long burial under favorable conditions. Water charged with dissolved minerals infiltrates through the wood; and particle by particle takes the place of the organic matter. This does not occur within a short period, nor does it occur while the wood is exposed to the atmosphere. The belief that standing fence posts sometimes petrify evidently arose from the fact that fossil or petrified wood is often used for posts. Possibly that might have been one you saw. Many persons who see these posts of petrified wood mistakenly suppose that they petrify after being set. Slabs of limestone are used for posts in many parts of the country.

Ques.—Next to a beautiful girl what do you consider is the most interesting thing in the world?
Ans.—When we are next to a beautiful girl, we are not at all concerned about statistics.

Ques.—When did Terrence Mac Swiney make his long fast? How long was it and what was it for? Did he starve to death?
Ans.—Yes, Terrence Mac Swiney starved to death on the 74th day of his fast. It occurred in 1920. Mac Swiney was the Lord Mayor of Cork, Ireland, and he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, the chief charge against him being the possession of seditious documents. He was confined in Brixton prison, London, on Aug. 12, 1920, and died Oct. 25 of the same year. He ate nothing in those 74 days and only took water and medicine.

Ques.—In reading ancient history I have often wondered if the Egyptians or any of the ancients had glass, or if it is a modern invention? If they did not, how did they make their houses light?
Ans.—There is no doubt the ancients knew the art of glass making. Glass has been found in Egyptian tombs dating back 1,400 years B. C. This glass has almost the same chemical composition as modern glass.

Ques.—I would like to change my name to one the public can spell more easily. Can you tell me what I must do to have this done? Thank you.
Ans.—While it is customary for a person to bear the name of his parents, the law assumes he is under no obligation to do so. In this country anybody may change part or all of his name at will, providing he does it in good faith. He may do this without any legal process whatever. However, it is safer to have it recorded, because it will furnish a means of future identification.

Ques.—In an argument I was told that Christopher Columbus died a pauper and in prison. Can you enlighten me on this point?
Ans.—Christopher Columbus did not die a pauper nor in prison, as many suppose. The story often repeated that he died in utter destitution is merely one of the legends with which his biography is distorted. His will indicated that he possessed considerable wealth at the time of his death in 1506.

Ques.—May I ask in your question column if Dawson City is in Alaska or Canada?
Ans.—Dawson is in Canada. It is situated in the Klondike region of the western part of the Dominion, and has a population of 3,000.

Ques.—Who was the inventor of slow-motion pictures, and how did he get his idea?
Ans.—His name was Giuseppe Gaglianini, and we understand he got his idea from two Scotchmen in a restaurant fighting for the check.

Ancient Egypt and the rule of the Pharaohs is not dead. After more than four thousand years, life has come out from this ancient civilization to Ypsilanti. When the explorers of King Tutankhamen's tomb were seeking details of the past in the inner recesses of the old stone structure, they came across a small vase of wheat. Last year O. S. Sturtevant of Ypsilanti, sent for some of the wheat and this spring he planted it in his garden. It grew, and at the present time, is nearly ripe. The wheat is of a spring variety.

Although the Detroit-Windsor tunnel has not yet been opened for traffic and the last bulkhead separating the two ends was pierced only a short time ago, the tube already has been used by aliens attempting to gain entry to the United States. Three inadmissible aliens were caught at the Detroit end of the tunnel. The three apparently believed that the Detroit end of the tube would not yet be under guard. In that they were wrong, for a guard was stationed there immediately the ceremony was over.

Apparently the trio had waded out from the shore and dropped suddenly off a ledge into seven feet of water. None of them could swim, Mrs. Grenier leaves a husband and a year-old daughter.

OUR NEIGHBORS

MILAN—The tax payers of Milan School District received a distinct and very unexpected surprise last Monday night when Charles W. Steidle, Moderator of the Board of Education, dropped a bomb shell into the annual meeting and reported that the board had decided in one of its regular meetings that the expenses of running Milan schools during the coming year could be done with seventeen and one-half mills of taxation. This was a drop of one and one-half mills from the rate of the tax roll of 1929. "The expenses of the school cannot and have not been lessened," said Mr. Steidle, "but by the economical handling of the funds we will be able to cut the taxes."—Leader.

CLINTON—Two years ago the taxes in this village were at the rate of 15 mills. On a $3,000 home this amounted to $45. Last year the rate was reduced to 10 mills or $30. This year it is 6 mills or $18. This all comes about because the village owns its own electric light plant and water works. "No account is taken of the excellent street lights and the plants are making a nice revenue for the taxpayers each year."

SALINE—A considerable saving has been achieved by school officials through the renovation of desks. Many of the old wooden desks in the school are being given hot baths in an alkali solution which removes all of the dirt and finish. They will be refinished and used in the new building as there is much wear left in them despite the fact that some of them have dates as old as 1899 carved in their sides by some of the now prominent business men of the town.—Observer.

BROOKLYN—Most corn in this locality is looking good in spite of the long time between rains. But a strange freak in the weather occurred Sunday night when the temperature started down. On Monday night it continued down until a little corn was frozen on the low ground. Fields along the marsh ground of J. W. Pierce and Walter Reading were scared and damaged by the frost.—Exponent.

NORTHVILLE—Frank Raymond, Northville's only veteran of the Indian wars, celebrated his eightieth birthday Monday. Mr. Raymond was born in Monroe, Michigan, July 7, 1850, and he is in perfect health. Not only did he celebrate his birthday, Monday, but he was rejoicing as well over the news of an increase in his pension to $72 per month. "I will never have to worry any more about the future or what I will have to do when I can't work," stated Mr. Raymond. As far as he knows he has no living relatives.—Record.

NORTHVILLE—Tough days for the Northville coppers! Bert Crouch, all decked out in his Sunday best, took a lady friend over to Crystal Lake the other night to see the sights at the popular resort. A couple of tough guys spotted the policeman from Northville. "Stick 'em up," they said. Bert stuck 'em up high—and he shelled out $2.40 of hard-earned money to these bold, tough robbers. Yep, it's tough days for some Northville coppers. Even the thugs won't let 'em alone.

Princess Offers Epic in "Women of Leisure"

David Belasco, probably the greatest stage producer of modern times, learned early in his career the value of expensive settings. He was the first to realize that realism in a play is enhanced one hundred per cent by the introduction of furnishings that are exactly what they should be; not cheap imitations. So effective are the results he obtains that Columbia, in filming "Ladies of Leisure," the all-talking screen adaptation of a famous Belasco stage success, which is scheduled to play at the Princess Theatre on July 29 and 30, has followed his lead closely.

For example, the Oriental rugs, richly carved tables and chairs and the sumptuous velvet drapes which add to the magnificence of the artist's studio atop a New York skyscraper, where much of the action takes place, are absolutely genuine. The oil paintings that decorate the walls are well-executed reproductions of masterpieces valuable enough to be prized by any connoisseur of art.

Columbia has been equally true to the traditions of the master producer in the matter of casting, too. Every role in "Ladies of Leisure" is enacted by an artist. The list of players includes: Barbara Stanwyck, Lowell Sherman, Ralph Graves and Juliette Compton. Frank Capra, who won acclaim for his "Flight," is the director.

There is no doubt about the fact that "Ladies of Leisure" has been brought to the screen on the most pretentious scale imaginable.

Pritchard Family And Guests in Auto Spill

Mrs. Clyde Rogers of Chicago suffered a fractured right arm Sunday when the car she was driving skidded into the ditch on the Hoppe road. Mr. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pritchard and family, other occupants of the car, sustained minor injuries and the auto was considerably damaged. Mrs. Rogers was treated at University hospital.

Dealers Have Voice in Chev Advertising

Detroit—The auto-dealer now has a voice in the advertising program of his factory. Chevrolet dealers throughout the United States are taking part in a unique series of conferences being conducted by the advertising department of the Chevrolet Motor company.

These dealer conferences are held at the home office here under the general supervision of R. K. White, advertising manager. One is being held every month this summer with a different group of dealers from different parts of the country present each time.

"The object of these advertising conferences," Mr. White explained, "is to keep the home office constantly in touch with problems faced daily by the dealers so that Chevrolet advertising may be guided by actual field conditions and thus prove most effective."

The assistance given by dealers in these conferences is invaluable in adding to the efficiency of an advertising campaign, particularly the newspaper advertising, which forms the greater retail advertising force of each individual dealer.

"While every type of advertising—newspaper, magazine, outdoor and electrical and spectacular signs and trade papers—is discussed in interest attaches to the newspaper, schedule because this makes up by far the largest part of the year's budget. There are now more than 5,000 leading newspapers carrying the Chevrolet message to practically every city, town and hamlet in the United States."

"Particular care is taken in selecting the dealers invited to these conferences. Some are chosen because they have very large car contracts. Others because their contracts are very small. Every dealer also comes from a different section of the country. In this manner we get an ideal cross-section of the advertising needs of all classes of dealers in all parts of the United States."

"Each conference is of two days duration. The first day is given over entirely to the discussion of advertising, in all its phases. The second day the dealers are taken to the General Motors proving ground where they are shown the night tests the Chevrolet cars undergo before they are put on the market."

Lake Loses Oxygen; Fish Die In Swarms

Lansing—Driven up by lack of air, thousands of choice game fish, bass, blue gills, pike and perch suffocated when Jones Lake, a 25-acre lake almost within the Lansing city limits, lost its oxygen. Thousands of last year's hatch, principally speckled bass, warmouth bass and golden shiners, lay on the surface of the water gasping for air.

The department of conservation made an examination of the lake, taking samples of water at several points in various depths. It was found that the lake contained no oxygen except a slight trace at the surface. The temperature ranged from 85 degrees at the surface to 68 degrees in 20 feet at one point. An outboard motor boat was placed in the lake to disturb the water and alleviate the condition if possible until atmospheric conditions changed.

Reports of this nature reach the state conservation department every season, generally following the spring break-up when the ice leaves the lakes, and later following the spawning season when water temperatures are high. It is generally found in the smaller lakes which have no surface inlet or outlet.

The decomposition of vegetation absorbs a great amount of oxygen from the water at a time when the oxygen content is low. High winds and rain usually bring relief.

Don't forget that since 1913, while building material costs have gone up 96 per cent, Fire Insurance has come down 7 1/2 per cent. You need more insurance probably; you get more—for less money than before. Before lightning strikes you out, see us.

Fire Fighters Save Fawn In Forest Blaze

Lansing—A worried doe staggered through the smoke of a forest fire, looking for her lost day-old fawn. As the flames advanced she reluctantly moved before them, ignoring the score of fire fighters working nearby.

Two men, fighting a fire near Trout Lake in Mackinac county, stopped a moment to watch her. They had rescued the fawn and made it comfortable beneath a nearby tree. The mother found the fawn and led it away.

Scores of fawns have been rescued from burning and suffocation by forest fire fighters this year. The young animals are kept as near to their former home as possible in the hope that they will be found by the does. These orphans of the fires are reared and released when they are old enough to care for themselves in the woods.

State College Tests Apple Scab Control

Repeated tests of methods for control of apple scab must be made before the worth of the method can be determined because scab is not serious every year and does not develop in all orchards in equal amounts even in bad years, the horticultural department at Michigan State College has found.

The department has made extensive tests of the controls used for apple scab in Michigan. Experiments were conducted in orchards at Morris, Belding and Fenville and in the Graham sub-station at Grand Rapids.

It was found that several sulphur sprays have not given satisfaction. Dry-mix and wettable sulphurs are said to be much less effective than lime-sulphur.

The use of casein spreader in combination with the higher concentration of lime-sulphur, two and one-half gallons in 100, did not increase the value of the spray. The addition of calcium sulphate and tobacco dust to the lime sulphur did not increase the effectiveness.

A detailed report of the experiments is given in special bulletin number 203, which can be obtained free from the director of the experiment station at Michigan State College.

HOWELL—Fire of undetermined origin broke out in the feed mill at Oak Grove about 2:30 Thursday morning and completely destroyed the building in less than thirty minutes.

This is the fifth disastrous fire in Oak Grove in the past two years. The previous fires have been of incendiary origin and it is thought the fire of Thursday morning was similarly set.

More Beef Produced Than In Past Years

The number of beef cattle on farms has begun to increase after a period of years when production was at a low point, according to a bulletin issued by Michigan State College. Farmers are advised to proceed carefully in building up their beef herds.

Beef price cycles indicate that there will be a period of a few years when the market price will gradually decline. Past cycles have run from 14 to 17 years between one period of high prices and the next.

Between these two points the prices have declined. During the past two or three years beef production has been low and prices high. It now appears that the pendulum of production is about to swing upward and that of prices downward.

Most of the present increase in beef cattle numbers is due to the increase in cattle raised in the corn belt states where farm roughages are marketed through the cattle.

Huge Forest Damage Caused By Smokers

Twenty-five per cent of all the acreage burned over by forest fires in Michigan this year occurred in four fires, says a bulletin from the state department of conservation. Three of these fires were caused by smokers.

These four fires, three of them in the lower and one in the upper peninsula, burned over an aggregate of 12,112 acres, while the actual damage to game cover and recreational grounds was hardly computable.

The largest fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, burned over 5,000 acres in Lake county.

A fire caused by a smoker burned over 4,000 acres in Grayling township, Crawford county. Forest fire fighters, both regular employees of the department of conservation and volunteers, used hand pumps, shovels, tractors, plows and back fire to stop the flames.

The biggest fire in the upper peninsula was in Mackinac county. Eight hundred acres were burned over in some excellent timber country. Forest products, including 1,500 cords of wood worth $3,375, were burned.

It is believed that about 50,000 acres have been burned over in the state so far this season.

Better Cows Raise Income From Herds

Records kept in herd improvement associations in Michigan show that it is much more profitable to keep a few good cows than a larger herd of low producers, says a bulletin sent out by Michigan State College.

One herd in the South Chippewa County association produced 3.7 times more profit above feed costs than did another herd in the same association.

It cost more money to feed the good herd but the cows produced 391 pounds of butterfat per cow and the return above feed cost was $184 for each cow. This was $91 more than the average return for all cows in the association.

Two herds in the Ogemaw association each produced about 100,000 pounds of milk during the year. One herd contained eight cows and the other 16. The profits for the owner of the small herd were three times as high as those for the owner of the larger herd.

Good cows are not confined to any one locality. The highest producing association in one month this year was in Cass county. The best producing herd was in Macomb county and the highest producing cow was in Missaukee county.
