Scout Swimming Course In Action At Ann Arbor

The annual Boy Scout and Red Cross swimming and life saving course, under the direction of Russell H. Moore, began last Saturday morning at the Michigan Union pool, Ann Arbor. Classes for beginners and advanced swimmers will be held every Saturday morning for twelve weeks. Scouts, clubs and prospective Scouts may still enroll for the course by reporting at the Union pool next Saturday morning. The class for beginners, boys not able to swim fifty yards, meets at 10:15 and the advanced class, for boys able to swim at least fifty yards, meets at 11:15. Last Saturday morning approximately sixty boys enrolled for the beginning course and about forty-five for the advanced. It is expected that by next Saturday the total enrollment will be much larger.

A complete staff of instructors, holding Red Cross life-saving rank, is furnished. The staff, recruited largely from former classes held by Mr. Moore, gives personal direction and instruction as needed by the boys. Mr. Moore gives his personal attention to boys who have a fear of going into the water.

Land drill, game methods and various advanced and up-to-date systems of instruction combine to make the course unusually successful. In over five years of experience as a swimming instructor no boy who has taken this course has failed to learn to swim. Boys desiring to take the course are urged to present themselves next Saturday morning so they will not get too far behind the class. There is no charge, though boys are expected to furnish their own towels or purchase one for five cents from the Union.

Cavanaugh Globe Trotters Proceed

J. J. Barois received a letter this week from his brother, Fred Barois, stating that he and Ransom Armstrong were proceeding on their trip to Haung, La., after being detained at Goodwin, Miss. as a result of an accident near that place on December 19th.

The letter, written at Brookhaven, Miss. the evening of January 10, stated that they had left Goodman that morning and expected to reach their destination the following day. They had planned to leave Goodman on January 8 but were unable to do so on account of the condition of Mr. Armstrong's health. However, according to the letter, Ransom stood the trip very well, although he was still lame, it being necessary for him to use two canes in getting about.

The Cavanaugh Lake globe-trotters were injured when their car collided with another car, Armstrong being severely injured and in an unconscious condition for about two hours.

Two Musical Events Sponsored By Seniors

On Monday evening, January 19, the Ramos Mexican Orchestra will appear at the public school auditorium under the auspices of the Senior class of Chelsea high school.

The Ramos orchestra overlays its artistry and musicianship with the glamour of old Castilian Mexico. The colorful, exotic costumes of the senoritas induce an atmosphere of picturesque charm. Above all, the fire and rhythm and gracefulness which have come down to the Ramos family from a long line of Castilian musicians are uniquely pleasing.

Hesiquio Ramos, director of the orchestra, is one of the best-known musicians in his native Mexico. Born in Puebla, son of a noted painter, some of whose pictures now hang in the National Palace in Mexico City, the young Hesiquio grew up in a world of music and art. Music, however, proved to be his metier, and at the age of 22 he won first prize in the International Piano Contest at Mexico City, playing his own composition.

The Ramos Mexican Orchestra consists of Senor Hesiquio Ramos, his son Rafael, violinist, and three daughters—Lupita, Rosa and Concepcion, who play delightfully upon the mandolin, mandocello and other instruments typical of Old Mexico. The senoritas are not only instrumental musicians of high rank, but they sing with unusual charm.

The Welsh Imperial Singers appear at the auditorium tonight (Thursday) in a return engagement, also under the auspices of the Seniors.

Chelsea High Band Appears In Concert

Thursday evening, January 8, the new 48 piece band of Chelsea High School, directed by W. C. Smith, made a very successful debut. A large crowd of parents and friends were in attendance and were well rewarded. The road section of the band is under the tutelage of Watson Hart and the brass instruments under the tutelage of Wesley Smith.

The band had had but six weeks training. They played several numbers, then the road section of the band played alone. Duane Weiss, a promising young cornet player, rendered a solo. Mr. Cameron of Jackson, also played a cornet solo, setting an excellent example for the band to follow. This organization promises much and owes part of its success to the interest which has been taken by parents and friends.

Work for Farmers
Italy's Achievement
Hope Deferred
We Rebuke Liberia

An important proposition for unemployment relief, in which President Hoover is said to be interested, would use some of the money that the government will spend on improving country roads, connecting farms with great highways.
On such work farmers with their horses, plows and wagons could be profitably employed.

Highways need reusers in the shape of country roads leading to the farms, and farmers need access to highways. And they also need work.

Building great highways of concrete, reinforced with steel, is important. But that work gives no opportunity to the farmers. Done by special machinery, heavy trucks, and a few workmen, it offers no opportunity to the average unemployed.

The fact is revealed that five of Italy's finest flyers were killed, and three others injured on the marvelous "formation flight" across the Atlantic to Brazil. The news was concealed at first, in order not to spoil the joy of Italy at the great achievement.
"There is sorrow now, but the glory of the achievement is not diminished, but made greater by the courage of the survivors, continuing their flight, and completing it successfully, according to orders."

Men that die in the effort to add lustre to the name of their country never die vainly.

"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick." That's in the Bible, and it is also a decision handed down by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, telling Judge Clark of New Jersey that he was mistaken. The prohibition amendment was adopted legally. It stands, and is the law of the land.

Secretary Stimson warns the negro republic of Liberia that slavery must be abandoned. Investigation proves that high officials of the negro republic, including the vice president, are engaged in the slave trade, and persist in it.

This seems surprising considering that Liberia was planned as a haven from slavery.

But many of our best people, North and South, approved of slavery a little while ago, and we can hardly blame the Liberians for lagging a little behind, especially as slavery is about their only source of profit.

Good news for those that hear with difficulty on the telephone. The company will supply an "amplifying device" making the incoming voice louder.

Mr. Walter S. Gilford, president of the big company, informs the writer that all the Bell companies will supply the apparatus for use at a nominal charge. A friend in Ohio to whom the writer suggested it tried the device, and writes: "For the first time in years I have been able to hear my children talking to me from the Pacific coast."

If you are interested, write to your telephone exchange.

"Men fear death, as children fear to go to the dark; and as that natural fear in children is increased with tales, so is the other."

So Bacon said of our most widespread fear.
Marshal Joffre, who has the gratitude of his nation following him to the grave, quoted often the saying, "Not me, but the three hundred thousand men I have led."

"Death-bath ten thousand doors for men to take their exit." And they all lead to peace, rest, freedom from the world's worries, responsibilities and anxieties. It is fortunate for the race that divine wisdom makes us cling to life. If we were all as wise as Bacon and as philosophical as the old Greeks, many would be missing.

In Britain 20,000 weavers have started the kind of strike that, in the long run, can never succeed. They are not striking against lower wages; on the contrary, better wages are offered them. They are striking against an arrangement that would enable each man, without overtime, to take care of eight looms instead of four, and earn more. They say that if one man takes care of eight looms that will put other men out of work.

That's what stage coach drivers said when the locomotives came. Type-setters said it when linotype machines were invented. There are more printers than ever, better paid, and railroads employ 1,000 times as many as stage coaches ever did.

Germany has a startling idea for fighting unemployment. Adam Dietrich, finance minister, suggests the use of government money to increase industrial pay rolls by actually replacing unemployed doles with actual productive wages.

Germany's government, now paying at the rate of $750,000,000 a year to 4,000,000 men out of work, gets nothing in return.

Her Work Was Never Done

The old farm had an awful lot for women-folks to do. No matter how Ma managed things, her work was never through. Three times each day the hungry ate. Three times each day they dined. And spoiled the labor of her hands, And left a wreck behind.

A baby with a throbbing tooth. Would always fuss and fret. When springtime came with rugs to beat. And clucking hens to set. And weekly wash-day rolled around. And days of ironing too. And if she paused to rest at all. She'd patch a shirt or two.

The birds too long have paused to place the chapel on the brow. And sung the praises of the man. Behind the sturdy plow. The time has come to recognize the value and the charm. Of her who fed the hungry men. And chickens on the farm.

DEALER TELLS OF MODERN TREND IN WHEEL DESIGN

The wheel, one of mankind's oldest and greatest inventions, has usually consisted of many component parts such as hub, spokes, felloe and rim, more or less tightly held together—until Henry Ford developed the Ford one-piece steel spoke wheel, in which hub, rim and spokes are all welded together by electricity into a strong, one-piece construction.

Those who have studied the modern trend in architecture, in furniture and decoration and in art have noticed that the fundamental idea is to express the practical strength of this sturdy mechanical age in as simple and as beautiful manner as possible, by simple rather than by pretentious designs," said L. G. Palmer, local Ford dealer. "With its clean-cut construction and straightforward simplicity of design, in which each spoke shows the line of direction of a force, what could be more modern than the design of the Ford one-piece steel spoke wheel?"

SCHOOL NOTES

BASKETBALL DOPE

Friday evening games, with Saline. The Chelsea girls got off to a good start and succeeded in holding the lead throughout the whole game. The score at the end of the first half was 12 to 7.

The second half was another well-played period in which both teams played hard. Saline to gain the lead and Chelsea to retain the lead. But to Saline's misfortune the final score was 17 to 12 in favor of Chelsea.

The second game was played between the Reserve teams of Saline and Chelsea, in which Chelsea was again successful.

The first half was well played on the part of both teams, neither doing but very little scoring but as the whistle blew for the half to end, Chelsea was leading, 6 to 2.

In the last half the Chelsea Reserve stepped way out ahead and while they were running the score up they were holding Saline to their lonesome points until the last few minutes when they finally managed to make three more points which made the final score 17 to 5.

The last game of the evening was played by the Varsity teams of the two high schools.

The Chelsea boys didn't seem to believe in fooling around and began to do their scoring right from the start, and before the Saline boys knew what was happening the quarter ended, 10 to 2.

Again in the second quarter Chelsea went to work dropping the ball through the net which seemed to be a matter of impossibility for Saline for the half soon ended with Chelsea leading 22 to 2.

The second and third quarters were a little slower with not quite so much scoring but Saline finally made a field goal and a foul shot to bring the final score up to 32 to 5.

Tuesday night the high school met Wayne high school in a very fast and exciting game from beginning to end.

The two teams played very close basketball in the first quarter, each holding the other to two points. But in the second quarter the Wayne defense gave way and Chelsea ran the score up to 9 to 2 before the half ended.

The third quarter was when the game began to hold interest for Wayne began to break through Chelsea's defense and soon caught up and then took the lead by one point as the quarter ended with the score 13 to 12.

The last quarter held the most exciting moments as the time was getting less and first one team and then the other would be in the lead. Finally there were only a few seconds left and Wayne was still in the lead 17 to 16. With the crowd in an uproar Chelsea dropped the winning basket to save the game with the score 18 to 17 in their favor.

DISMISS COUNTY ENGINEER

By action of the county road commission, A. R. Bailey, for the past eight years engineer-manager of the commission, was dismissed last Friday afternoon. According to George W. McCalla, chairman of the road board, the action was taken in the interests of economy. Mr. McCalla also stated that no engineer would be employed this year, and that Ernest Allmendinger, engineer in charge of new road construction, will be placed in charge of all commission activities as general superintendent.

LUCKY NINE MEETS

Miss Lettie Kaercher was hostess at a pleasant card party Tuesday evening, the guests including the members of the Lucky Nine club. High honors in 500 were awarded Misses Viola Seyfried and Amanda Koch. Mrs. Clarence Dietle receiving the consolation prize. Lunch was served after the game. Mrs. Allyn Kaercher of Ann Arbor was an out-of-town guest.

MASON—Mrs. Floyd Rice was severely scratched and bruised Monday as a result of her struggle with a masked man who returned to her home on the Dexter Trail, about two miles south of Dansville, after she had refused to give him a cup of coffee. The attack was not reported to Sheriff Hugh W. Silsby until about six o'clock in the evening and as the masked man had a car the chances of capture are very remote.—News.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—In what years did Julius Caesar reign as the Roman emperor?

Ans.—Julius Caesar was not a Roman emperor in its strictest sense at any time. He was one of the world's greatest generals. Through his great successes in warfare Pompey became his enemy through jealousy. Caesar then crossed the Rubicon and became master of Italy, having subdued Spain, and Africa, the Roman Senate made him dictator for life, conferring upon him the title of Imperator. This was in 48 B. C. and he was assassinated by Brutus in 44 B. C.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you please answer if there ever was a person elected president of the United States who failed to take the office?

Ans.—Yes. In 1876 Samuel J. Tilden was elected to the presidency, but failed to be seated because of alleged irregularities in voting in the south.

Ques.—How does Ireland rank with the rest of the world in manufactures?

Ans.—Not so good, because the scarcity of coal in the Emerald Isle is not inviting sufficiently to encourage manufacturing.

Ques.—Is it true there are blind fish in the stream that runs through Mammoth cave in Kentucky? Are there animals there? How big is the cave?

Ans.—There is a species of fish in the cave which are known as "eyeless fish" and they are white. The cave contains various kinds of wild animals, besides lizards, crickets, frogs and bats. The cave is about ten miles long, but it requires upward of about 150 miles of traveling to explore its multitudinous avenues. The largest is the Star Chamber, which is about 500 feet long, 70 feet wide and 70 feet high.

Ques.—Can you tell me when the pyramids were built and how was the stone secured to build them? Also how long did it take?

Ans.—The pyramids were built at different times. The one called the "Great Pyramid" was the first to be built about 3,000 years before Christ. It was created by Cheops, an Egyptian king, and contains his tomb. It took 100,000 men twenty years to build this Pyramid and ten years were occupied in building a road and hauling the stone for this place.

Ques.—What is the origin of "kissing the blarney stone"?

Ans.—The blarney stone is a relic of the ancient castle of Blarney, in Ireland. It is a triangular stone suspended from the north angle of the castle about twenty feet from the top, and bears this inscription: "Cormack MacCarthy fortis me fecit. A. D. 1446," which means "Built in 1446 A. D. by Cormack MacCarthy," tradition has it that when the country of the castle was besieged by the English under Carew, Earl of Totness, who having concluded an armistice with the commander of the castle on condition of its surrender, waited long for the fulfillment of the terms, but was put off from day to day, with soft speeches instead, until it became the jest of Elizabeth's ministers and the dupe of the Lord of Blarney. From that day "kissing the blarney stone" has been synonymous with flattery and smooth deceitful word.

Ques.—Will you answer in your paper what is the height of the dome of St. Peter's church in Rome?

Ans.—From the ground to the top of the dome of St. Peter's church in Rome is 330 feet.

Ques.—Where does the party live that asked the question in last week's paper about the Statue of Liberty?

Ans.—We don't know, but we venture it is a good bet that he lives in Goofeyville.

Ques.—Who owns the largest diamond in the world, and what is the size of it?

Ans.—The Cullinan diamond is in the possession of the king of England. The jewel weighs 316 and a half carats. It was discovered in 1905.

Ques.—Where is the deepest well drilled in the world?

Ans.—The deepest well in the world is the artesian well at Potsdam, Mo., which is 220 feet over a mile in depth.

Ques.—I've heard it said that the Colossus of Rhodes was one of the seven wonders of the world. Can you tell me what it is?

Ans.—The Colossus of Rhodes is a gigantic statue in commemoration of the successful defense of Rhodes against Demetrius Poliorcetes in 304 B. C. It required twelve years for its completion, and was listed as one of the seven wonders of the world.

Ques.—When playing a game of checkers, must a person jump another man when they have a chance to do so?

Ans.—This has been the rule in all "barber shop" checker playing we have seen, and we presume the same rule would apply to professionals.

Stray Dogs Ruin Michigan Flocks

Outlaw dogs which have acquired a taste for mutton cost Michigan farmers a huge sum of money in 1930. Michigan's new executive will address the conference on Thursday evening, February 5, publication of the detailed program this week revealed.

Dr. Alexander C. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, George William Russell, internationally known Irish poet and economist; and Hon. Webster H. Pearce, state superintendent of public instruction, are others who stand out particularly among the long list of speakers scheduled for the various sessions of the week.

Authorities in practically every phase of agricultural endeavor will appear at one time or another during the five day conference. Many of them will find places on the programs of the many state farm associations which will be holding annual meetings during the week. Others will speak at the special morning "subject matter" meetings; while some will be heard at the afternoon and evening "general" programs.

Women will have special programs of their own during the mornings, joining the men for the general programs later in the day.

The Michigan dog law is quoted nationally as a model for other states to follow but this law is less valuable than it is not rigidly enforced. The head of supervisors in one Michigan county authorized the sheriff to deputize men for the sole purpose of reducing the losses of sheep in the county. Seventeen stray dogs were shot and the loss dropped from $3,020 in 1928 to $258.50 in 1929.

Some owners of sheep in certain counties formed committees which took over the work of eradicating outlaw dogs. This means appears to be effective but is not as satisfactory as to have the work done by officials who are charged with the enforcement of the laws.

Wallace Berry In Clever Role

Actor's Impersonation of P. T. Barnum High Spot of "A Lady's Morals"

At the showmanship of the late P. T. Barnum has invaded the screen.

With a complete reproduction of "Katie Garden," Barnum's famous museum in New York, Wallace Berry enacts the genial creator of world famed hoaxes and impresario extraordinary. A cast of "freaks" patterned as closely as possible after the Barnum menagerie was collected at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for the event, and Grace Moore, as Jenny Lind, re-created with Berry the singer's New York debut that was engineered under Barnum's management.

This takes place in "A Lady's Morals," Grace Moore's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle, romance based on the life of the Swedish singer in which the Metropolitan opera star will be seen Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 20 and 21 at the West Coast Theatre. Such well-known Barnum exhibits as the dwarf, "General Tom Thumb," the living skeletons, Siamese Twins and other odd characters, are seen in the picture which tells the romantic story of Jenny Lind and her lover who goes blind and leaves her for the sake of her career.

Jenny Lind's Debut in New York was the sensational event of its day. Known as "The Swedish Nightingale," she had electrified Europe with her voice. Barnum brought her to New York at the then unheard-of salary of $1,000 a performance, and she appeared for more than a year in America. Barnum's unique methods in showmanship became a byword and eventually he founded the Barnum and Bailey circus (now Ringling Brothers).

The new picture, directed by Sidney Franklin, is a vivid love romance, and fanned into it are a number of special oddities for the famous singer, including "Lovely Hour," first song written for the screen by Carrie Jacobs Bond, the original by Oscar Straus and Herbert Stothart, and operatic airs from "Norma" and "Daughter of the Regiment."

Reginald Denney, hero of "Madam Satan" and "Those Three French Girls," plays Brandt, the composer over opposite Miss Moore. Others in the amusing company, Gus Shy, Gilbert Emery, George Marion, Paul Douglas, Giovanni Martin, Rodi Ross, Mavis Villiers, Joan Standing and Judith Vosselli.

Elaborate replicas of European opera houses, famous old New York hotels and other lavish staging add a spectacular embellishment to the new production.

Michigan Happenings

The New York Central motor coach service on the Monroe branch, between Adrian and Monroe, was discontinued January 5 and a mixed freight and passenger train substituted. Two trips a day were made formerly, while the new train will make but one round trip a day. A protest will be filed with the commission by business men from Monroe, Ida, Deerfield and Petersburg.

The chief inspector of railway mail service will also go over the route before the business men take definite action.

Reasons for the decline of the Mayan Empire, the oldest civilization of the New World, will be studied by three professors of the University of Michigan who are leaving Ann Arbor January 23 for Guatemala to carry out a biological reconnaissance. The three, Prof. Harvey H. Bartlett, director of the botanical gardens at the university; Dr. Joseph Van Tine, assistant curator of birds in the museum of zoology, and Dr. Adolph Murie, assistant curator of mammals, will work under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

The time is opportune for the State to take over the West Michigan Fair and operate it on the same basis as it now operates the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba. C. Sophus Johnson, manager of the fair, told 30 representatives, senators, supervisors and farm leaders at Grand Rapids. Johnson explained the financial affairs of the exposition have been placed in condition so the property can be turned over either to the county or State. Grounds and buildings have been appraised at $300,000 to $400,000.

Coaches and athletic directors of the Southeastern Athletic Association have been forbidden to aid newspapers in selecting all-S. E. A. teams in any sport. The league, which is made up of the high schools of Royal Oak, Pontiac, Ferndale, Fordson, Wyandotte, Monroe, Mt. Clemens, Adrian, and Port Huron, explains in a recent bulletin that "no all star team is just" and adds, "the league does not wish to be a party in the selecting of one."

Exploding lacquer barrels started a blaze which destroyed the Cavac Radio Corporation plant at Ann Arbor and caused a loss estimated by officials of the company at $65,000. Three men were in the brick building at the time of the fire but escaped. The blaze was beyond control when the fire department arrived. An adjoining coal yard and a dozen houses which bordered the plant were saved by a westerly wind.

Flint taxpayers are paying approximately $400 a day to provide malt, bottles, cans, cigarettes, and in some cases money, to persons obtaining aid from the city, according to a communication sent to the city commission. The communication is said to be supported by testimony of a police detective who took orders on the poor fund to five stores and obtained material to make home brew, it is asserted.

Four bandits entered the Kingston State Bank in a Tuscola County village, held up six persons and escaped with approximately $2,200 after forcing an official of the bank to open the safe. They left town in a car driven by fifth bandit. The bandits abandoned their car near Clifford, six miles southwest of Kingston, and fled in another automobile. It is believed they headed for Detroit.

Pinned under an overturned automobile, Mrs. Harvey Bortner, wife of a Millington farmer, was choked to death. Mrs. Bortner, her husband and three children were on their way to Clio, when the steering gear of the automobile broke, causing the car to run into the ditch. The auto tipped over and the running board pinned the woman to the ground. Other occupants of the car were uninjured.

Harry McKinney, 20-year-old college student, arrived at his home in Chicago recently bringing to an end a vacation spent riding and pushing his bicycle over ice and snow-covered highways on a sight-seeing tour of Michigan. McKinney started the trip with $3.12. The first two nights on his trip north he slept in the open, then decided to seek shelter in Joliet. He went as far north as Petoskey.

George W. Watson, of Eaton Rapids, Eaton County's new prosecuting attorney, announced that slot machines will not be tolerated in the county during his regime. He said he had been approached by several persons in regard to his attitude on the gambling devices.

Three men who manquéquered as State troopers, frightened George Roberts of Battle Creek, into posting $37 "bond" with them after they had searched his automobile and found a bottle of liquor Roberts told police.

Completion of the $18,000 community house at McQuay Park in Corunna is assured by the approval of a bond issue of $8,000. The city already has raised $10,000 for this purpose.

With the time limit for filing nominating petitions still six weeks distant, prospects are for a field of record-breaking size for Saginaw's municipal primary March 29.

Francis Bushaw, who said he was 108 years old, died at Big Rapids, following a paralytic stroke. He was born in Marysville, St. Clair County, and after many years in Canada returned to the United States and died in Meosota County during the Civil War.
