Lewis Moore Injured When Cars Collide

An automobile driven by Lewis Moore, of Lincoln St., in which were his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Drudge, skidded Sunday afternoon on the icy road near Unser camp, northwest of Chelsea, collided with a car driven by Dr. A. L. Brock, who was accompanied by D. A. Riker, and plunged backwards over a 30-foot embankment. Both drivers were proceeding with caution at a very low rate of speed, and the accident was unavoidable.

Mr. Moore was severely injured about the head and it was feared had sustained a slight fracture of the skull, necessitating his removal on Tuesday to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor. Mrs. Drudge received injuries to her back and was badly bruised. The other occupants escaped injury.

Both cars were considerably damaged.

Beckwith Heads Road Investigation Comm.

George W. Beckwith, Sylvan supervisor, was appointed chairman of a committee of five supervisors to investigate alleged irregularities of the county road commission, at the special session of the county board of supervisors held in Ann Arbor, on Tuesday. Other members of the committee are Donald Comstock, Ypsilanti; Fred Blumhardt, Bridgewater; Harry Rasebacher, Ann Arbor; and John Dawson, York.

This committee was appointed as a result of the report of the committee of three supervisors appointed at the special session on Monday to investigate the matter. Their report at Tuesday's session recommended that the investigation be abandoned. Leigh Beach, Lima; Fred Blumhardt, Bridgewater; and Carl Mast, Webster, were the members of this committee. The committee of five will report at a special session of the supervisors to be held on February 24.

By a vote of 17 to 11, a motion to take the matter of the county health unit from the table was defeated at Monday's session. Those voting against the motion included practically all supervisors from rural districts in the county. Emmett Gibb, Superior, and C. F. Staebler, Ann Arbor township were the only supervisors outside of Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti who voted in favor of the proposition.

Teachers present were: Gladys Yakes, Allen Steinbach, Lucile Haselwerdt, Agnes Young, Dorothy Luck, Dorothy Schanz, Eleanor Lambertson, Marie Quinn, Ada Hall, Inez Rank, Mary Parker, Zola Marsh, Ruth Russell, Ruth Whitman, Irene Whitman, Irene Huch and Helen Conlan.

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT"

"Believe It Or Not," Dr. L. J. Paul was promulgating about the streets of Chelsea on Tuesday with a tape bouquet of one stamillion blossom which he found in the back yard at his home on Park street. Another sure sign that Spring has been here for a few days at least. Florida visitors please note!

NOTED EVANGELIST TO CONDUCT MEETINGS AT METHODIST CHURCH

Series of Interdenominational Religious Services Will Start On Sunday Evening.

Announcement has been made that a series of interdenominational evangelistic meetings will be held in Chelsea at the Methodist church, beginning Sunday evening, February 8.

E. J. Rollings, nationally known layman evangelist, will be in charge of the meetings, with Dorothy Wilson Rollings assisting as pianist and soloist. Mr. Rollings comes here direct from Monroe county, where it is reported.

E. J. Rollings

ported hundreds of people were converted and joined churches.

An inspirational song service and special music will be a feature of each evening's services. Subjects selected by the evangelist in charge are very inspiring and a successful religious campaign is predicted for the Chelsea meetings.

The services, which are sponsored by the Washtenaw County Brotherhood, will continue each evening at 7:30 o'clock, until February 22.

Scouts To Celebrate Twenty-first Birthday

Plans for Washtenaw Council, Boy Scouts of America, to celebrate the twenty-first birthday of Scouting in this country, as announced by Scout Executive Wallace F. Watt, include many events of interest to the general public.

Anniversary week opens on Sunday, February 8, and will continue through Saturday, February 14, with something being staged for every day of the week.

Sunday, February 8, is the day chosen for religious emphasis. Present plans call for every scout to be in his own church, in uniform if possible, on Sunday morning.

Tuesday will see scout exhibits taking place in many schools through Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Window displays will be placed in stores and will be of real interest to all.

On Wednesday, a council-wide banquet, with representatives from troops in Ypsilanti, Saline, Manchester, Milan, Chelsea, Dexter, Dixboro, Hamburg, Brighton, Howell, Fowlerville, Pinckney, Hartland and Ann Arbor giving one-minute reports on the activity of their troops, will be held in the Masonic temple in Ann Arbor. Scouts, scouters and their friends and parents are to take part in this banquet, which will begin at 6:30.

Thursday is known as civic good turn day.

On Friday, the scouts will do good turns about the home and plan to spend the evening with the family.

Saturday, the climax of the week, will start with the sixth session of the free swimming course at the Michigan Union pool in Ann Arbor, and close with a tremendous jamboree at Ypsilanti high school. This wet-together will include stunts and demonstrations by various troops, and will close with a big "splash-party" in the swimming pool.

Plans for the last angle of the week's activities will be arranged at a meeting of Boy Scouts to be held this evening.

Gasoline Flows From Standard Oil Tanks

The largest storage tank on the grounds of the Standard Oil Co. adjoining the M. C. tracks on North street started to leak on Tuesday and about 4,000 gallons of gasoline was lost before tanks mounted on trucks arrived here from Detroit. The district manager informs the Standard that a new and larger storage tank will be erected to replace the leaking one, which has been in use for the past 25 years.

Manchester Man Hurt When Automobile Skids

William Haselschwerdt, of Manchester, who is a well-known stock buyer in this vicinity, was severely injured about noon on Monday when his auto skidded on the ice while driving on the Waterloo road in Lyndon. The accident occurred on the portion of the highway that passes through a stretch of woods west of the home of George Bauer.

The car left the road and crashed into a tree, wrecking the machine and throwing the occupant to the ground. One of his legs was broken and his hip injured.

John Pröndergast, of Lyndon, discovered Mr. Haselschwerdt soon after the accident and brought him to Chelsea. After first aid had been rendered by a local physician, the injured man was taken to a hospital in Ann Arbor.

Rev. Felton Popular At Flat Rock Church

That Rev. and Mrs. Harry Felton, who came to the local Methodist church last week, completed a period of successful work at the Flat Rock Methodist church is well explained in an article which appeared in the weekly newspaper at that place on July 24 last year, immediately following the fourth quarterly conference which completed the year's work in that church.

The article tells of the splendid work accomplished by both Rev. and Mrs. Felton, of the extensive improvements made to the church property and new furniture installed during the year.

Dr. Martin, district superintendent, who was present at the meeting, spoke of the fine construction work done by Rev. and Mrs. Felton in that and previous charges, and at the meeting of the Synod and Pastoral Relations committee, a hearty invitation was extended the pastor to remain for another year.

With such splendid recommendations for Rev. and Mrs. Felton, the Chelsea church is assured of a successful period under their leadership.

HEARTY RESPONSE

Officers of the local Red Cross express their appreciation for the hearty response to their appeal for funds to contribute to the national Red Cross organization for relief work in the drought stricken areas of the country. Money contributed locally was forwarded to that county organization.

Washtenaw county has gone over the top in their quota to be raised.

THIEF AT LARGE

Burglary seems to be increasing in Chelsea. The latest sensation is a report that a large hound dog has been engaged in stealing dirty papers from porches about town, perhaps to provide its master with plenty of up-to-date reading material. We would lead a movement to purchase a medal for this member of the canine family if its master would train it to gather the promiscuous flow of so-called literature which is scattered on the porches and about the towns and carry it to the village dump.

BY NO MEANS "ONE OF THE STANDARD MAKES"

The leading tire companies are sometimes called "the big five"—their tires "the standard makes."

We think this is a grand "break" for the other four, but something of a hardship on Goodyear.

The fact is, Goodyear builds MILLIONS MORE tires than any other manufacturer. GOODYEAR HAS GAINED THIS WORLD LEADERSHIP BY BUILDING TIRES THAT ARE EMPHATICALLY AND CONSPICUOUSLY SUPER-STANDARD!

More people ride on Goodyear tires because Goodyear tires are BETTER tires to ride on!

They are PROBABLY superior—SUPER-STANDARD! We will show you WHY before you buy. Low 1931 prices on all types. Will you call—or shall we?

A really STUNNING new tire you ought to see—

New HEAVY DUTY GOODYEAR

It gives you extra-style, extra-endurance, extra mileage, at ordinary heavy duty prices.

Old-Age Pensions
Why Not Hunt Gold?
Bad News Comes Out
Making Flying Safe

Calvin Coolidge has written his opinion that old-age pensions are not advisable. Says he: "What a self-respecting people really needs is not a system of old-age pensions but a population made sufficiently skilled by education and sufficiently controlled and well disposed by the help of religion, so that old-age pensioning would be a superfluous, unless real reform comes from within, the problem will never be solved."

Education may some day provide for old age. Meanwhile, what "self-respecting old people" want is something to eat, and a place to sleep outside of the poor house.

They have plenty of religion, but can't eat it, unfortunately. After you have taken all the work out of an old horse, you should either knock him on the head or feed him. After it has taken all the work out of old men and women, their country can't knock them on the head and, therefore, having had their work, it ought to feed them.

The world needs more gold, and may get it. France and Uncle Sam now control the world's supply. France with the highest per capita gold reserve. Hard times have sent prospectors back to hills and mountains, their "good times easy jobs" in cities having vanished. You see more and more of them traveling the western desert country, each in his years of prospecting, probably pushing great fortunes a dozen times. To prospect is one thing, to find is another.

These men often spend a lifetime without reward. More money has been put into gold mines and gold hunting than has ever been taken out. But even the oldest prospector never looks discouraged. Hope is back of the sunburned face and gray beard, and fortune is always just ahead. You needn't feel sorry for him. Trying is the only thing in life worth while—possession is nothing. And he is trying, and full of hope. A young gentleman spending his dead father's money in a fashionable gambling house might well envy the old prospector seeking a "scrub stake" for just one more trip.

Wise men that invest in American values, foolish people that gamble in those values, will probably be deceived as to real conditions during the next few months.

The bad news of 1930 will come out now, in the corporation reports showing what happened, profits down, gloomy change in earnings. And this will frighten those that do not realize conditions.

Dozens of these sad statements will come out, and the foolish will say:

"Everything is going to the dogs; I shall sell what I have." The fact is that things are coming back, having "gone to the dogs" last year.

If you are wise you will hold what you have. The healthy man has his little illnesses. Uncle Sam has just had his.

The situation is described by Otto H.
Kahn, accurately, thus: "In a few years we shall look back and find it hard to believe that the best American properties once sold at today's ridiculous prices."

Television, which means "seeing afar," has its real beginning, and in the usual way. Men made tools of bronze to kill each other more easily than with flints, and the iron came to supply better killing tools. Now bronze and iron are useful apart from killing. Television is used to flash stock quotations, a whole row of them, to any earthly distance in a fraction of a second, making the stock ticker as old-fashioned as the stage coach. Young Mr. Vincent Astor, enchanted by the Galapagos islands, would have on his yacht an instrument that would show him, before any Wall Street man could know it, that he made a mistake buying sugar stocks.

Later television will be useful apart from stock speculation. Some Kin-stein, Moses, Mahommed—or Spinoza of the future, may be seen and heard by the whole world standing on Mount Ararat, sending out a message of vital importance that nobody but him self will understand.

Gandhi is freed by Britain after nine months in a comfortable jail and is said to find freedom oppressive.

Leading $20,000,000 Asiatics is not an easy task, when 500,000,000 of them insist on killing the others, and there is no particular place to avenge any test. Prince Beldin was killed off every year, and tel-ligent and well meaning . . .

Of all scientific theories made accidentally, one of the strangest comes from Juliet, the Doctor. Watson ordered a transfusion of "parent's" blood, in the case of a fifteen-year-old girl suffering from infantile paralysis.

Another doctor misunderstood him to say "parrot's" blood, and accordingly made a transfusion of blood from the heart of a living parrot.

Doctors say the child is getting well.
A thousand doctors will exclaim
"bosh."

Michigan Happenings

Thirty-two Michigan counties have been included in the officially designated national drought area. Farmers in these counties, will be authorized to receive seed and fertilizer loans under the $45,000,000 drought Relief Act recently enacted by Congress. The counties listed are: Genesee, Jackson, Washtenaw, Aillagan, Cheboygan, Clare, Dickinson, Eaton, Hilldale, Ingham, Kalamazoo, Lake, Manistee, Mason, Montcalm, Montmorency, Newaygo, Oakland, Oceana, Ogemaw, Osceola, Otsego, Presque Isle, St. Clair, Sanilac, Schoolcraft, Van Buren and Wexford.

The supreme court at Lansing upheld the constitutionality of the 1929 law, which exempts automobile drivers from liability when a passenger is injured in an accident not caused by gross negligence. The act, of course, does not include drivers who carry passengers for hire. Passed by the legislature two years ago in answer to a demand from drivers who were being sued by friends and even relatives after being involved in accidents, the law recently was held unconstitutional by the Kent county circuit court.

Michigan has 471 men engaged in the taking and selling of minnows. There is also a large number of boys under 18 years old engaged in the same business, but their number cannot be determined, since they are not required to secure a license. In 1929 the State legislature adopted a law requiring a license of all persons over 18 years of age taking minnows for commercial purposes. The year 1930 was the first full year in which the law operated.

The fifth blood transfusion to save the life of a 2-year-old baby suffering from an unusual form of anemia was performed at Grand Rapids with a 17-year-old boy as the donor. Physicians expressed the hope that the transfusion would be the last needed to put the infant, Jacqueline Joy Haslam, on the road to recovery. Stuart Dodge, 17, brother of Robert Dodge, 15, who also gave blood to the baby, was the donor. The boys are Grand Rapids high school students.

Plans for constructing an international tunnel under the St. Clair river between Port Huron and Sarnia, similar to the Detroit tube, were announced by H. L. Stevens, of Stevens and Stevens, Port Huron attorneys. Stevens verified a report that his firm had given an option to W. J. Scott, a Sarnia promoter, for the purchase of a block in the rear of the Harrington hotel, adjacent to the river, as an American terminal.

The fire whistle no longer will serve as a curfew warning in New Baltimore. Fire Chief Fred Schlosser complained that it was disturbing to firemen. One was taking a bath when the whistle blew. Forgetting the curfew law, he threw on his clothes and answered the call to duty. Now the village council has decided to use the bell in the old town hall.

A resolution asking that the State Administrative Board be directed to recall all the 1931 automobile license plates and to issue new plates having a more acceptable color scheme was introduced in the house at Lansing by Rep. Frank P. Darin, of River Rouge. Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, says the proposal to change the colors is "wholly impracticable."

Detroit's hawk may be avenged. Pigeons in the tower of the Mecota County Courthouse at Big Rapids have ceased to be county wards, and are just a nuisance, according to officials. The last straw was added when the birds roosted in sufficient numbers on the hands of the tower clock to stop the time piece. An effort is being made to locate the city's best marksman.

Elsworth Surles, 76-year-old farm hand, was knocked down and trampled to death by a young bull in the barn lot of the farm near Pontiac, where he had been employed for 26 years. His body was found by M. B. Halestead, owner of the farm, who went to the lot to investigate the aged employee's failure to return from his chores.

Frederick W. Gross, 20 years old, of Millington, who admitted passing a crude $5 bill which he manufactured with a brush and green ink, fainted when sentenced at Bay City by Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in Federal court to two years in the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe, O.

Apparently injured in a fall at her home a few days previous, Ruth Lillian Sipila, 4-year-old adopted daughter of R. M. Sipila of Hasel Park, suddenly died. An examination revealed she suffered a fractured skull in the fall. Ruth fell down the basement steps while watching Sipila, who was at work in the basement.

Charles Herbert, Ionia Township farmer living near Ionia, died as he was driving his automobile. The car plunged into a snowbank.

OUR NEIGHBORS

PINCKNEY—Several weeks ago Frank Morrell was arrested for being drunk and disorderly. He is said to have given information to the effect that he purchased his liquor of George Parker of Unadilla. Morrell was released and Parker arrested. Friday Parker pleaded guilty to a charge of possession before Judge Collins at Howell and was fined $25. He paid. Dispatch.

MILAN—Fifty-six pupils were named on the Honor Roll for the first semester of the present school year. The list was posted Wednesday by E. W. Mackey, superintendent of schools. Fourteen pupils in the high and junior high schools were on the honorable mention list. Of the fifty-six on the honor roll, three senior girls had all "A's" when the list was announced. Leader.

BROOKLYN—Two gangs of workmen are continuing road operations in the Walter J. Hayes State Park between Wampers Lake and U. S. 112. One of the gangs is continuing the roadbed grading and filling either side of the new bridge being constructed by the other gang. The new bridge is of cement construction and will span the small stream from Round Lake passing into Wampers Lake. It is expected that the grading of the entire course from the new park entrance on U. S. 112 at the old Egan place will be completed through the park and out to intersect the county road to Brooklyn by the time that spring opens. Exponent.

SCHOOL NOTES

Chelsea high was victorious in four out of five games played here during the past week.

The girls were victorious over the Manchester high girls in a fast and exciting game from beginning to finish, the final score being 17 to 11.

The Reserves were unfortunate in losing their game to the Lincoln Hi Reserves. This game was also fast and the Lincoln Reserves were in the lead from the start to finish, affording plenty of excitement. The score was 18 to 10.

Lincoln boys were defeated in their game by a large margin. The visitors failed to score all through the first quarter and let Chelsea get a nice lead which they held all through the game. The score at the end of the first quarter was 16 to 0, but in the second quarter Lincoln managed to score four points which looked small to Chelsea's 22 at the half.

The third quarter was fairly even, Lincoln scoring 6 points to Chelsea's 10. But the last quarter was a repetition of the first and the final score was 48 to 12.

Tuesday evening the Reserves beat the Northville Reserves in a fast and very tight game which at no time was over three or four point difference in their score. The final score was 14 to 11.

The high school also defeated the Northville team in their game. The opening quarter was one of very close playing, in which neither team could break away from the other. Chelsea was leading 6 to 5. In the second quarter the lead changed hands and at the end of this quarter Northville was leading 12 to 10.

In the third quarter both gave way a little and the lead again changed, this time to remain in Chelsea's hands. The score was 24 to 19 at the end of this quarter.

The last quarter was a but one for Northville for their defense seemed to go all to pieces and the game finally ended with Chelsea way out ahead, the score being 39 to 21.

The high school will play the Ann Arbor Hi Reserves at Ann Arbor next Friday night.

Monarch's "Cold Cure"

This prescription for a cold was advised by Queen Elizabeth: "Take a quart of new milk, put into it 2 spoonfuls of honey, 4 ounces of linseed, and as it boiles put in pieces of scarlet or red cloth and lay one piece on your stomach and one opposite to that on the back, and see you to bed; sweat and you shall be well."

The PLOW and the CANNON

By A. J. Dunlap.

Up with the sun in the morning
Out where the stubble fields lie;
Stripped of the green robes of June Seared by the heat of July;
Over the hills and the valleys
Patiently, day after day,
Farm boys have followed our plow,
Turning the rich loam and clay,
Learning the lesson of life,
Taught by the sturdy old plow:
All furrows come to an end,
If you keep going, somehow.

THE OLD FARM SERIES

Up at the blaze of the bugle
Out where the battle fields lie;
Stripped of the scum of the shrapnel,
Seared by the planes in the sky;
Over the shell holes and trenches,
Doggedly, day after day,
Farm boys have followed our cannon,
Hub-deep in alien clay,
True to the lesson of life,
Taught by the sturdy old plow:
All battles come to an end,
If you keep fighting somehow.

Chairman Gus T. Hartman, of the house ways and means committee in the legislature, believes the salary of the governor of Michigan should be increased to $15,000 a year. Any change in compensation could not be made applicable to Governor Wilbur M. Brucker's present term, Hartman said, but would provide adequately for governors in the future. The governor's salary is now $5,000 a year. Governor Brucker is the first chief executive to whom the amount of salary is a matter of consequence, as he has no personal wealth.

Abraham and the Oak
There is a sturdy tradition, still existing, that the tree under or near which Abraham pitched his tent "in the plains of Mamre" (Genesis 18:8) was an oak and generations of the Jews spoke familiarly of "Abraham's oak," although as a matter of fact the Bible knows of no connection between the Father of the Faithful and the oak tree.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Can you explain in your question column what causes hicoughs?
Ans.—Hicoughs are caused by the rush of air into the larynx. This is usually due to an extension of the stomach, caused by eating rapidly or drinking excessively.

Ques.—I want to ask in the question department of your paper what became of Anne Boleyn, one of the wives divorced by King Henry VIII of England?
Ans.—Anne Boleyn was not divorced by Henry VIII. The king executed her in the Tower of London in 1536, the day following his marriage to Jane Seymour, his third wife.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your question column when and where was Henry Wadsworth Longfellow born? Was that his real name? Also when did he die?
Ans.—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born in Portland, Me., Feb. 27, 1807, and died March 24, 1882. "Longfellow" was his real name. He was the son of Stephen Longfellow, a noted lawyer of Portland, Me.

Ques.—Will you kindly tell me what is meant by the "Louisiana Purchase"? Who made the purchase?
Ans.—The Louisiana purchase was the annexation to the United States the vast region extending from the Gulf of Mexico to the British possessions west of the Mississippi river, except Texas, California, a portion of Oregon, the Gadsden purchase from Mexico, the Mexican cession and Alaska. The enterprise of coming into possession of this vast region was consummated by Thomas Jefferson, who was president at that time.

Ques.—When a pencil or stick is placed in a vessel of water and I look at it through the water it does not appear to be straight with that portion which is not submerged. Will you please explain this to me in your question column?
Ans.—This is known as refraction. When light falls on a water surface, a part of the light is reflected and part of it enters the water. The refraction of the light in the water is not the same as in the air, the light being bent or refracted as it enters the water.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you please state in the question department of your paper if Helen Keller was born deaf and dumb?
Ans.—Helen Keller was a perfect baby at birth. At the age of nineteen months she suffered an attack of scarlet fever by which she was deprived of the senses of sight and hearing. At the age of eight she was placed under the care of Anne Mansfield Sullivan, who taught her to read and write and to use the finger alphabet. Later she became a student at the Horace Mann School of New York, where she learned to talk intelligibly. She is capable of making public speeches, although she never heard a word uttered.

Ques.—Will you please answer where the Johns Hopkins University is located?
Ans.—The Johns Hopkins university is located in Baltimore, Md.

Ques.—How long is the River Jordan in Palestine and how wide is it? Also what body of water does it empty into?
Ans.—The Jordan is 150 miles long and the average width is from 30 to 50 yards. It empties into the Dead Sea.

Ques.—I am writing to ask you how manufactured ice is frozen when it is known they can make it in the summer time?
Ans.—The process of making ice involves lowering the temperature below the freezing point by permitting pure ammonia liquid to expand within iron pipes that are coiled in tanks filled with salt brine, from which the heat is drawn by the ammonia in evaporating.

Ques.—Can you explain the origin of the term "A feather in his cap"?
Ans.—In the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries a feather in the headgear of Hungarians was a mark of distinction. Anybody who killed a Turk was honored with a feather in his cap. Hence a feather in the cap came to mean an achievement to be proud of or something to one's credit.

Ques.—What is meant by the expression "shedding crocodile tears"?
Ans.—"Crocodile tears" means pretended grief. It is taken from the myth that crocodiles weep and sigh like humans in distress to lure travelers to the spot, and then shed tears while devouring their prey.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 17 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer, of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.
I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way besides looking much better.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at Fenn's Drug Store or any drug store in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly cut out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

The Kruschen way is the safe way to reduce—Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back. Adv.

LINCOLN WHEN HE WAS 23

Depicting the Civil War President as a woodsman when he volunteered at 23, for the Blackhawk outbreak. At this period he had just been elected captain. The statue, a large bronze, is by Leonard Crunelle, well-known sculptor, and has been done at the expense of the state of Illinois. It stands on the north bank of the Rock river in Dixon, at a spot where it can be visited conveniently by tourists. Crunelle has fashioned an erect, youthful, chin-up Lincoln with a thoughtful but untroubled face.

Pen Picture of Lincoln's Last Hours

An intimate picture of the home life of Abraham Lincoln was presented last year in Lincoln's International. Combined with Cosmopolitan Magazine in an article entitled "Lincoln's Last Days," by Miss Honora Willard Morrow, which brought to light two hitherto unpublished letters of the great President's widow, Mary Todd Lincoln.

The letters were written to Frank Carpenter, a New York artist who had painted the President's portrait two years before, and a friend of the Lincoln family. They were occasioned by his request for photographs of the entire family as they were in 1861 when the President himself and the son, Willie, were alive, that from these he might build a group for a painting of the family.

The letters are the possessions of Paul Carter, Jr., of New York, who inherited them from his late uncle, Robert Carter. They reveal Mary Todd Lincoln in a light in which she has possibly never before been pictured. They show her, the author says, "not as a Xanthippe, not as a cloud, but as a lovable, cultured, suffering human soul."

"The author believes the fact that such a rich source of facts regarding the martyred Lincoln should have been neglected by biographers and historians of the day."

"Fifty years too late," she writes, "historians are beginning to realize that Lincoln's wife could have given them more than any other human being; could have given them precious facts. Nothing I have read has shown me so clearly as these letters what history has lost by their inexcusable neglect."

"For nearly fifty years the name of Mary Lincoln has been shrouded in controversy. She has been written into history as a coarse, ill-educated child; a curse to her husband and her country; and then, through the discovery of letters such as these, suddenly after a half century, reveals herself to us."

"The letters were written while the widow was still in the throes of the shock attendant to the assassination of her husband. She had, says the author, fled to Chicago and had been in a hotel in Hyde Park with her two sons."

"Throughout both letters there is evidence of her grief over the loss of her husband and her son. 'The memory of the late President is indelibly imprinted in my memory.'"

"How I wish," runs the letter, "you could have seen my dear husband the last three weeks of his life. Having a realizing sense of the unnatural conflict was near its close, and being most of the time away from W. (Washington), where he had endured such conflicts of mind within the last four years, feeling so encouraged, he freely gave vent to his cheerfulness. 'Down the Potomac, he was almost boyish in his mirth and reminded me of his original nature, what I had always remembered of him, in our own home—free from care, surrounded by those he loved so well and by whom he was so idolized."

"The Editor, I never saw him so supremely cheerful; his mirth was almost playful. At three o'clock in the afternoon he came out with me in the open carriage. In starting I asked him if anyone should accompany us. He immediately replied, 'No, I prefer to ride by ourselves today.'"

"During the ride he was so gay that I said to him, 'Dear husband, you almost startle me by your great cheerfulness.' He replied, 'And well I may feel so. Mary, I consider this day the day when I have come to a close. And then, added, 'We must both be more cheerful in the future—the war and the loss of our darling Willie—we have both been very miserable.'"

"Every word then uttered is deeply engrained on my poor, broken heart."

"In the second episode, written December 8, 1865, she refers to the late Thanksgiving day as 'the saddest of all my very sad days.' Only those who have suffered and lost what made life so well worth living for can fully understand the return of anniversaries."

"She again refers to the dead Willie and tells the artists that in the picture of him she has sent for the family group, 'Justice is not done him—he was a very beautiful boy with a most spiritual expression of face.'"

"Carpenter was running a series in a New York paper, says the author, on his White House experiences, and he had used part of Mrs. Lincoln's letter. She rebuked him with:

"I must say I was greatly surprised to see a simple letter of mine, written when my heart was bursting with its great sorrow, in print. I will forgive you in the hope it may never occur again."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"The author believes the fact that such a rich source of facts regarding the martyred Lincoln should have been neglected by biographers and historians of the day."

"Fifty years too late," she writes, "historians are beginning to realize that Lincoln's wife could have given them more than any other human being; could have given them precious facts. Nothing I have read has shown me so clearly as these letters what history has lost by their inexcusable neglect."

"For nearly fifty years the name of Mary Lincoln has been shrouded in controversy. She has been written into history as a coarse, ill-educated child; a curse to her husband and her country; and then, through the discovery of letters such as these, suddenly after a half century, reveals herself to us."

"The letters were written while the widow was still in the throes of the shock attendant to the assassination of her husband. She had, says the author, fled to Chicago and had been in a hotel in Hyde Park with her two sons."

"Throughout both letters there is evidence of her grief over the loss of her husband and her son. 'The memory of the late President is indelibly imprinted in my memory.'"

The Franchise Food Co., of Chicago, Niles and Battle Creek, will concentrate its three factories there.

Drinking canned heat was held responsible for the death of William Caffrey, Nathan Laberteaux and Clark Mummery, all of Marshall. Following a party at Mummery's house, Laberteaux collapsed in a downtown pool room and died a few minutes later. The others were found dead in Mummery's home. Empty canned heat containers were found in the pockets of each. None of the victims of the canned heat left relatives.

A Confederate bullet which Simon Pincus, of Brooklyn, 86-year-old Brooklyn Civil War veteran had unknowingly carried in his right leg for 67 years is one of the old soldier's proud possessions today. Pincus always attributed the limp to neuritis until an X-ray revealed the bullet. Then he recalled he had been wounded in the leg at the battle of Fredericksburg in 1863.

The War Department at Washington, D. C. approved the expenditure of $50,000 to complete the sea walls at Selfridge Field, near Mt. Clemens, as provided in the Crampton Bill. Beauty in the Bulb
What is in a bulb? Form, fragrance, color, all of spring's delights. A charm not possessed by flowers that come from fibrous roots—a stiff drawing that makes the bulb and the hyacinth, particularly perfect for a little formal planting; a grace that lifts the blowing daffodil for use in woodland spots. —In short, the very sign and symbol of the "gray world's" springing.

Sixteen years' effort was rewarded at Ludington when Art Wilson, local bowler, bowled the first perfect 300 score ever rolled in that city. Wilson has been trying all that time to make a perfect tally, but his highest previous score was 289. He opened his bowling with 235, following with the 300 score, and making a run of 17 consecutive strikes. The highest previous mark in Ludington was 297, hit by Gene Prefontaine of Grand Rapids two years ago.

Fur Bolero and Muff
Sound New Note of Chic

The program of fur fashions for fall and winter 1930-1931 promises one thrill after another, such as fur lining little boleros with cunning hands as illustrated. Sometimes the set includes a matching bag, of course it is the fur which is made up in these ensembles. Stimulating, these fur sets with cloth or velvet trunks.

DAIRY
TALK
DAIRYSUGGEST RATIONS
TO LOWER COSTSUse Wheat, Barley and Oats
in Feeding Cows.

Dairymen can cut feed costs by substituting wheat, barley and oats for corn and hay in feed in dairy rations, at present prices, and by feeding a grain mixture with a protein content that corresponds to the roughage fed, advises Prof. E. B. Morrison, head of the department of animal husbandry at the New York State College of Agriculture. He suggests formulae for use with various types of roughage for feeding dairy cows.

In these formulae wheat or barley may be used, depending on the local prices. For dairy cows these grains have substantially the same value, ton for ton. Since wheat is a heavy, concentrated feed, it is best not to use more than 100 pounds of ground wheat per ton of dairy feed. Also some bulky feed, like oats or wheat bran, should be included in the mixture.

Ground eye may be substituted for wheat or barley in these formulae. Since eye is usually not quite as palatable as these grains, it is best not to use more than 300 to 350 pounds of eye per ton of feed. When little or no legume hay is used, feed a 24 per cent total protein mixture, as: 300 pounds of ground wheat or barley; 300 pounds of ground oats; 350 pounds of wheat bran; 350 pounds of gluten feed; 200 pounds of cottonseed meal; 200 pounds of linseed meal; and 100 pounds of gluten meal.

With alfalfa hay and corn silage the grain mixture can be reduced to 16 per cent total protein, containing: 300 pounds of ground barley or wheat or barley; 300 pounds of ground oats; 200 pounds of gluten feed; 100 pounds of linseed meal; and 100 pounds of cottonseed meal.

Fish Oil as Corrective for All Dairy Cattle

There is a possibility that dairymen will soon be feeding fish oils as generally as do the poultrymen. The latter feed cod liver oil to avoid rickets in growing stock to hold the health of the laying flock and to improve hatch ability. It is now being demonstrated that fish oil that is rich in vitamin D will result in healthier calves, will increase the useful life of the cow, and is, in a measure, at least, a safeguard against breeding troubles. There is still an excess of cod liver oil over what is used for human consumption and for poultry. Investigations in the United States prove the efficacy of cod liver oil. Cod liver oil is produced annually from California sardines, as is rich in vitamin D and cod liver oil. Pure cod liver oil is equally rich. Salmon oil is just as rich. The use of these oils in dairy rations should receive more attention from the research men on our experimental farms and in our colleges.

During First Two Weeks
Feed Calves Whole Milk

It is preferable to feed whole milk to calves during the first two weeks after birth, but in case this cannot be done, whole milk feeding may be limited to one week. Small calves, such as Jerseys and Guernseys, should be given about seven and one-half pounds of milk a day. Larger calves, such as Holsteins, Ayrshires, Short Horns, etc., should be given ten pounds a day until they are at least two weeks old. If this cannot be done without too much trouble, two feedings a day will suffice, but a less smaller quantity of milk should be given. That is, a calf that will consume seven and one-half pounds a day in three feedings should be given about six and one-half pounds a day in two feedings. Overload the calf's stomach should be carefully avoided. See to it that the milk is always fed at an even temperature of about 55 degrees Fahrenheit.

Mixture for Cows

A grain mixture for cows can be compounded from three or four feeds, but a variety of five to seven grains is advisable. Such a mixture will not only be more palatable and carry grain of bulk, both features necessary to the best results. A mixture that is palatable will stimulate the flow of digestive juices which in turn will mix best with the ration when it is fed. In this way the grain mixture is more thoroughly digested and the best results are obtained.

Nellie Loved
"Rattler Jim"
By CLARISSA MACKIE

IT WAS dinner time at Nellie's hotel in Michigan, and Nellie's lunch counter in the annex was overflowing. Here, behind the line of human backs stooped over the counter, busy with knives and forks and good things to eat, stood a row of hungry men waiting for the first empty seat.

While they waited, most of them watched busy Nellie Clark as she deftly, swiftly, surely attended to each one's wants. Nellie, with her big blue eyes, her white teeth, her generous laughing smile, could have married 75 per cent of the men there at her counter, but she would have none of them.

A man slipped from his stool and the man behind him took his place at the counter and gazed hungrily at Nellie Clark. She smiled pleasantly and, with a little friendly nod, placed before him a large plate of fish stew topped by a fluffy white dumpling.

Jim Beatty consumed all of the stew and several slices of whole wheat bread and butter, a piece of fresh apple pie and a cup of coffee. Then he paused, sighed, and looked up. He was comparatively a stranger in Michigan, and the only man in the town's history who had apparently won the real notice of Nellie Clark.

After the others had all eaten and gone away, Jim Beatty's thoughts drifted another cup of coffee. "That's the very best meat I've had since I left New Hampshire," said Jim emphatically.

Nellie's eyebrow lifted. "You come from there?"

Jim nodded. "I've been a farmer all my life. When my folks all passed away, I sold the farm, stored the furniture and came west. I think maybe, I'll try to get into the 'movies'."

"Huh! That's a lousy life for a big strong man like you!"

"What else can I do?"

"Farm it out here. Land is cheap. You can get a big grant to almost nothing. Plant wheat, build a house on the property, get married—raise your own horses!" Nellie's scornful voice shook a little as she spoke.

Jim nodded and fell to dreaming about it. He had desired a change and a new life since he had been a farmer. He had overheard all his neighbors' talk about it. He had stopped at Michigan purposely on this trip to Hollywood, so that he might learn to ride like the reckless cowboys, but as yet he was not very well acquainted with them. He mounted his horse and rode out on the plains. He saw a group of cowboys lounging around a fire.

One of them croaked a hoarse halloo and beckoned. "Here you, Jim Beatty! You know a snake when you see it?"

"Of course I do."

"I don't mean garter snakes," muttered the man faintly. "I'm talking about rattlers."

"What else would you be talking about?" demanded Jim coolly, gritting his teeth so that none of them could guess that he was scared.

A murmur of approval came from the group. Jim had not come ten yards when he stopped up on a dirt road and stood perfectly still, his heart thumping heavily. In front of him were three rattlers. The first, two with heads poised, the third one slowly lifting its head, with that hellish eyes, involuntary, insistent, staring.

This cold, cold, deadly of the three, one after the other, and then he walked slowly away after his horse. Grumped around the dead rattlers were three cowboys from Rattler Creek. Jim passed them half-frenziedly, because he could not manage a smile. He was still frightened.

A half hour later he had reached the government land, and selected his acreage. Next the property he arranged to buy was a smaller tract, with a small house, just as he passed, a cowboy came riding behind him. "Hello," she cried cheerily. "Jan Beatty. It was Nellie Clark. It's heart thumping dangerously."

"What are you thinking about, Rattler Jim?" asked Nellie.

TRICK OF UNSMASHABLE MATCH BOX

Press two opposite corners of the cover of an ordinary penny match box so that it is slightly thrown out of square. Bring the box before your audience, stand the cover on its side, place the drawer upright on top of the cover, as shown in the drawing, and ask some one to try to crush it with a blow of the hand. It will be found that the two parts of the box fly in separate directions when the hand comes in contact with them.
