Common Council Cuts Tax Rate 25 Percent

Sufficient surplus has been accumulated in the Chelsea village treasury to prompt action by the common council at their meeting Monday evening to reduce taxes 25 percent for this year, the rate being reduced from $10.00 to $7.50 per thousand assessment.

Although permanency of this reduced rate of taxation cannot be assured, it was deemed advisable by the council to reduce the rate for this year inasmuch as the treasury is in such splendid condition. This policy will no doubt meet with the approval of every taxpayer, especially during the present existing economic conditions.

At a previous meeting the council established a sinking fund, starting with $3,000.00, to which $500.00 per month will be added. This fund will be accumulated to retire sanitary sewer bonds, some of which will be retired next year.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION

The Washington Trip
By Evelyn McManus and Dean Potts

It was at one o'clock in the morning on May 29th that the people of Chelsea were aroused by the Paul Reveres, whose duty it was to awaken the Seniors.

At three o'clock of the same morning the Senior bus rolled out of town accompanied by the cheers and good-byes of friends and relatives. Our trip bade fair to be a fine one when Bob Foster started the ball rolling by "Aye, there's the rub," occasioned by the scraping of the gears, in his best Shakespearean manner. From then on until sunrise, the ever recurring "Gün-er" kept all the sleepily inclined from accomplishing their purpose. We witnessed a beautiful sunrise when passing through Blissfield, Michigan. This was a new experience for many of us.

Our first stop was at Sylvania, where we said good-bye to several cars from Chelsea.

Our next stop was at Marion, Ohio where we visited the Memorial and Tomb of the former President and Mrs. Harding. By noon we had reached Columbus where we stopped for lunch. After leaving Columbus we were forced to stop because of a flat tire—the only bus trouble that we had on the trip.

In the afternoon we began our climb into the foothills and about a quarter of six we arrived in Wheeling after a hair-raising ride around the "hair-pin" curves outside the city. We were held up just as we entered the city—but it was only to pay a toll at one of the numerous toll gates which we encountered on the trip.

We were all very anxious to unpack at the Hotel Windsor and to wash off some of the smoke and grime which we acquired during the long day's trip.

The next morning we began our 108 miles trip from Wheeling, West Virginia to Cumberland, Md. Through the mountains—and they were "real" mountains—mines and all! We stopped for lunch at Washington, Penn., a city on hills. We went through one little town where the policemen were out to "greet" us in their new uniforms.

The weather was beautiful but it was a little too warm for comfort, so we enjoyed going down hill more than up because it was breezier.

We arrived about six o'clock at Cumberland. Here we found very narrow streets and the bus had considerable difficulty in getting through them.

The next day, Sunday, we started out early for Washington. The morning was lovely, but after we left Hagerstown where we had lunch it grew dark and just before we entered Frederick it commenced to rain. The road which we traversed on entering Frederick was historically famous because the line of the army which guarded Washington during the Civil War had been entrenched along this road.

In the midst of a downpour we passed the house of Barbara Fritchie and went through the cemetery where she and Francis Scott Key, author of the "Star Spangled Banner," are buried.

We arrived at Washington, D. C., where we were welcomed by the doorman of the Raleigh. He will always stand out in the minds of the Seniors for his unusual ability to make his hat dance on his head and to sing appropriate or rather inappropriate songs.

We retired early because of the rain and the thought of the busy day before us—of which Mr. Clark had warned us before hand.

Monday morning we started out prepared for a strenuous day. We first went to the Capitol where we were taken in hand by a guide who told us some very interesting things about various parts of the building. While here we learned that we might have the opportunity of hearing the Supreme Court in session.

From the Capitol we went to the White House but were unable to see President Hoover because we had neglected to notify him of our arrival in Washington and he had already gone on his vacation.

We next visited the Union Station, one of the most beautiful in the world and then the U. S. postoffice.

From here we returned to the Capitol where we were fortunate enough to hear the Supreme Court in session. After lunch we went through the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and saw them making paper money and postage stamps—it was a great disappointment to us to think that they didn't give each of us one of those hundred thousand dollar bills as a souvenir.

The next building to be honored by our presence was the Pan-American Union. To me, this was one of the most beautiful and most impressive places on the trip. There are many, many things which might be told about this building but as space will not permit we ask you to seek information from some of the Seniors.

We next visited the Red Cross building which is situated near the Pan American. Here we found a History of the Red Cross in the form of a Museum and their work in various wars as well as in Society.

From the Red Cross building we visited the D. A. R. building which is the headquarters of that organization and which contains like the Red Cross, a historical museum.

It has always been the custom for the class to visit the Congressional Library on Sunday evening, but because of the rain this trip was postponed until Monday evening. So after dinner we visited the library. This is a beautiful building containing some of the most beautiful mosaics in the world.

Tuesday morning we arose prepared for the day's plans. We first went to Arlington Cemetery where we saw the Memorial Amphitheatre, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Lee Mansion, the Field of the Dead, and the Monuments of men such as Sheridan and Taft.

From Arlington we went to Alexandria, a town famous in history, where we visited first the Masonic lodge room where Washington was worshipped Master.

From here we went to the Carlyle House which, as you know, was the birthplace of the Constitution, the meeting place of Washington and Braddock, and the headquarters of Gen. Braddock.

Before leaving for Mt. Vernon, we went to Christ church where we saw the pews occupied by Washington and Lee.

Arriving at Mt. Vernon we first went through the various "out buildings" and then to the House and to the tomb of Washington. On the way out we passed through the garden which is a replica of the garden of Martha Washington.

We returned to Washington via Alexandria and upon arriving went at once to the Corcoran Art Gallery out were unable to see much because it was closing time. From here we went to the Lincoln Memorial which contains a wonderfully lifelike statue of Lincoln. To me this was the most impressive memorial which could possibly ever be erected to the memory of the man.

At six-thirty everyone met in the lobby from which we preceded to the dining room where we had a lovely dinner. After the dinner, we attended the theater in a body and then returned to the hotel to rest for the next day's climb up the Washington Monument.

Our last day in Washington proved about the most interesting of all. We had a long day planned. The bus was waiting at 8:30 a. m. to take us to the Botanical Garden where our pictures were taken. The garden, itself, is a very beautiful place with a wonderful view of the Capital in the background.

Leaving the garden we drove to Washington's monument, a very awe inspiring spectacle on a bright sunny morning. Mr. and Mrs. Clark, as per usual, took the elevator to the top while the Seniors and teachers waited up. The summit of the Monument being 555 1/2 feet about the ground, I assure you it was a very leg tiring task but the view of the city from the top was well worth the effort spent.

Next we visited the Smithsonian Institute and saw a great many interesting relics and antiques including Lindbergh's plane "The Spirit of St. Louis" and Sheridan's horse. On leaving the Institute we went to the National museum where a great many more interesting things were displayed. From there we went to the Freer Art Gallery.

From the Art Gallery we toured the entire city, passing all the foreign embassies and completing the tour with a visit to the New Washington Cathedral where Pres. Wilson and Admiral Dewey are buried. The Cathedral itself is not completed and will not be until 1939. But the basement and several Chapels are finished, also a very beautiful Roman garden. On leaving the Cathedral we passed by a completed miniature of the Cathedral which gave us somewhat of an idea how beautiful and large it will be when finished. This completed the last day in Washington.

Bright and early Thursday morning we left for Philadelphia, stopping at Valley Forge. Here we saw the old camping grounds of Washington. Also a very beautiful chapel built by Dr. Burk, a very interesting old gentleman. He showed us about the Chapel and asked us to sing the Star Spangled Banner and America to the organ, which we did. Dr. Burk is asking all the states to furnish one bell for a very large bell tower which is being erected there. He has received 30 bells so far, ranging in size in proportion to the population of the states sending them. Michigan has just sent theirs, it being the third largest. Dr. Burk had the organist play them for us. The music is considered about the most beautiful of all instruments. We left Valley Forge and continued on to Philadelphia, crossing the Blue Ridge Mountains on the way. We arrived in Philadelphia about 6:30, staying at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel that night.

Friday morning about 8:30 we left the Hotel and visited Independence Hall, where we saw the Liberty Bell and many other early American relics. From there we visited Carpenter's Hall where the first Continental Congress met. Then to the Hall of the Supreme Court in the old State House. After visiting all the historical points of interest we went to the Curtis Publishing Co. in which is housed the most unusual glass mosaic in the world. Next we visited the Mint where the coins of the U. S. are made.

From the mint we went to the Philadelphia Gallery of Art which is fashioned after the Greek parthenon. Here we saw many great paintings. Upon completing the tour of the city we left for Williamsport. We stopped at Annapolis where we witnessed the closing of the graduation exercises, we arrived in Williamsport about 7:00 o'clock. We stayed in the Lycoming Hotel for the night.

Saturday morning we left Williamsport for Gettysburg. Here we spent two hours on the battlefield. We saw most of the memorials to the states, and to the divisions of the armies. Touring the battlefield which covers 25 square miles we visited the National Cemetery in which is located the great National Monument to the soldiers who fought in the Civil War.

After leaving Gettysburg we started for the North where we were to stay all night. Gettysburg also ended the points of interest which we were to visit so we thought but the most beautiful and most fascinating part of the trip still lay ahead of us. We followed the Susquehanna trail from Williamsport through the Allegheny mountains. This was a very beautiful sight, mountains on both sides of the bus, rising out of a dense green valley through which we were passing. The weather was quite rainy but this added to the beauty of the mountains. The clouds hung very low obscuring the tops of the mountains with occasional breaks through which could be seen heavy foliage of the trees.

In many places tiny streams would come winding down the mountainside to form miniature falls over some tiny cliff before finding its way to the Allegheny river which followed the course of the valley through which we were driving. The last two nights were spent in York and Erie, Penn. These days were spent in driving and proved uneventful except for the beautiful mountain scenery.

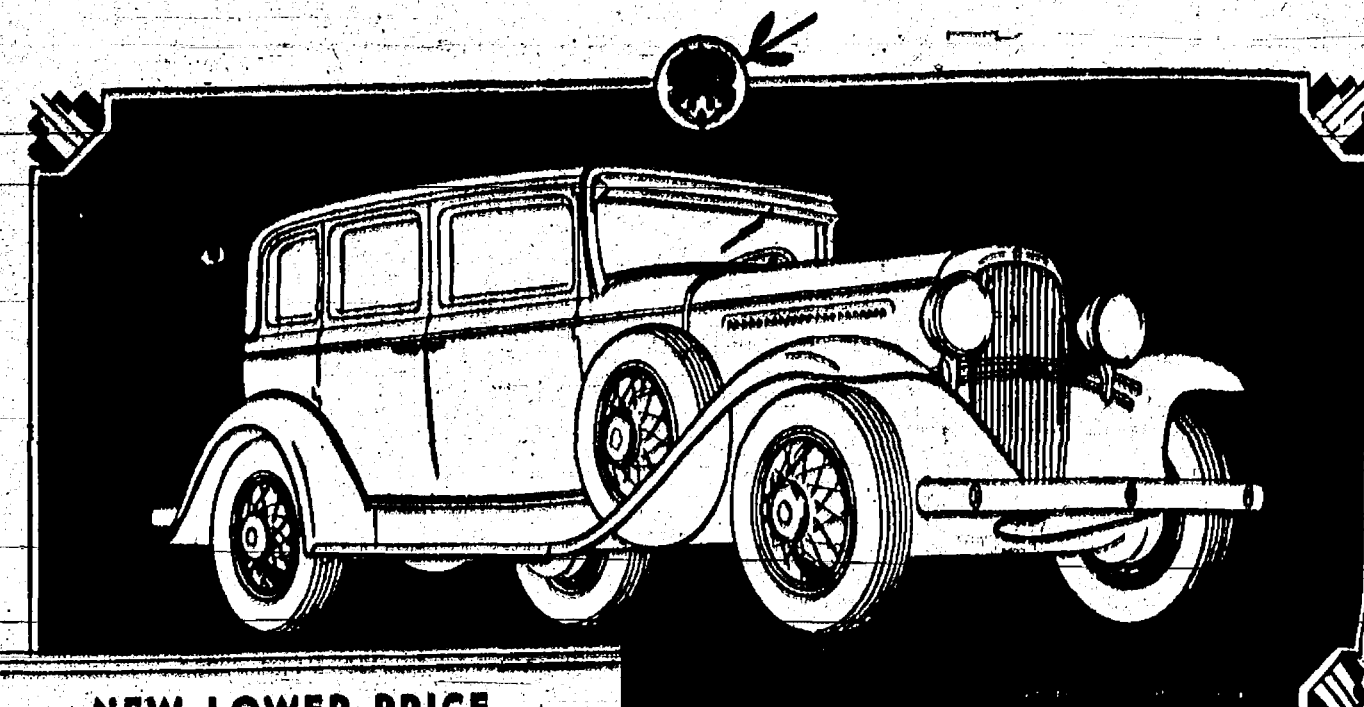

We received a glorious homecoming as a climax to the trip which had already been such a wonderful success. We arrived back in the old home town about 8:00 o'clock, a very tired but wonderfully pleased group of students.

Woman's Words
How's your vocabulary? Prof. Henry M. Robinson of the American flag airline has figured out that the average girl with a grade school education uses between 1,200 and 2,000 words. With a high-school education she possesses 3,000 to 4,000. After a college education she commands anywhere from 5,000 to 12,000. Shakespeare, in his plays, employed 24,000 different words.

Reminder of Old War
An old cannon was hauled from the sea at Pinnafarina, Italy, with fragments of human bones clinging to it. It is thought that a gunner was blown up with the piece when the British bombarded a fort there in 1745.

Prize for Riflemen
The Wimbledon cup was presented in 1874 by the National Rifle association of Great Britain for annual competition by the riflemen of America. It is open to any citizen of the United States. The course is 20 shots at 100 yards. Any rifle sights and ammunition may be used, and the position is prone.

Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks
cost less to operate

It is a matter of record, among more and more large fleet operators, that Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks give a lower transportation cost than any other truck of equal capacity in the market.

These firms are finding, through experience, that Chevrolet sedan deliveries are capable of 20 miles or better, to the gallon of gasoline; that Chevrolet 1½-ton trucks are making fuel records which are relatively just as high. That it costs very little to keep Chevrolet trucks in first-class working order. That Chevrolet service charges on both parts and labor are exceptionally low. That the active life of Chevrolet trucks extends well past the 50,000-mile mark.

To place your hauling on a minimum-cost basis—and keep it there—put Chevrolet six-cylinder trucks to work. A wide variety of Chevrolet-built bodies is now available. And delivered prices of Chevrolet trucks, complete and ready for work, are based on low chassis-cost and low body-cost, plus only reasonable charges for handling and financing.

In Electrolux a tiny gas flame and a tiny trickle of water are the whole "works"

OLD FATHER TIME moves fast, despite his years. Now, with the coming of Electrolux, he's made other automatic refrigerators obsolete—put them in a class with high-wheel bikes.

For this new kind of automatic refrigerator makes cold and freezes ice cubes without using any machinery at all. A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water take the place of all moving parts. They act on a liquid refrigerant which is hermetically sealed in rigid steel. The refrigerant itself is ordinary ammonia. The tiny gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off.

Contrast other refrigerators with the simplicity of Electrolux. It never makes a sound, because there is no machinery to make sound. It doesn't alternately stop and start, but works continuously.

They were on their way to spend the day with Miss Alice Bird at her cottage at the Lake. Miss Ida Maglio, a church worker and secretary to Dr. Donald, was a member of the party.

Mrs. Dora Davis is still confined to her room.

Mrs. Frances Robtoy, after confinement to her bed since Christmas with a broken hip, is able to be around in a wheel chair occasionally.

The Home continues filled to capacity. As soon as a vacancy occurs it is filled at once. The only difficulty seems to be to choose who shall have the place. The management state that if there were an additional wing built with 30 or more rooms the place would be filled in 30 days. The members of the family who are already here can consider themselves very fortunate. Criticism and fault finding are entirely out of place, especially in these times of such depression in the outside world. Hardly a week passes without inquiries from seekers of admission.

Ohio Paper Tells Of Acute Tax Situation

An article in the West Unity (Ohio) Reporter in its issue of June 11th, gives figures showing the tremendous advance in the cost of government in the state of Ohio from 1910 to 1927, and also explains a new system which is expected to relieve the present acute problem of taxation. The article follows:

The General Tax revenue fund of the State is in an acute problem for the 80th General Assembly, but there is also a great burden on the taxpayers in each local taxing district throughout Ohio.

Figures through the years of 1910 to 1927 shows the following: County levies increased 266 percent. Township levies increased 171 percent.

School levies increased 446 percent. City and village increased 279 percent.

This makes an average increase of levies of all departments of local government from 1910 to 1927 of 332.33 percent.

While the above figures may be startling, the following are more disturbing during the same period as follows:

The debt of county government increased 480 percent.

The debt of township government increased 569 percent.

The debt of cities and villages increased 209 percent.

The debt of school districts increased 1206 percent.

All the above are true statements and were compiled by experts employed by a non-partisan body, which functions for the welfare of the state of Ohio. It is for these reasons that there must be "a halt in further taxation." Senate Bill number 32 which was passed out to the Assembly by the Special Joint Taxation Committee for consideration, provides for the election on a non-partisan ballot in each county of a commission of three, who will replace the present budget commission of Auditor, Prosecuting Attorney and Auditor. This Board or local government finance will have control over the issuance of all bonds, fixing of rates and levies in all taxing districts, and if any local subdivision desires to issue bonds and the local Board of Government finance refuses to permit them then they may take the matter to a vote of the people and the fact that the local board of government finance has refused the local subdivision the right to issue them must be printed on the ballots and the proposed issue must be approved by 60 percent of those voting on the proposition. This bill also sets up a parent or higher board known as the State Board of Government Finance, consisting of the Governor, or the Director of Finance or the head of a division of Finance as the Governor may designate, the Auditor of State or deputy Auditor of State, and the Attorney General or an assistant. As the Bill now stands there is no provision for salaries of either of these Boards, it being reasoned that each county as well as the State has public spirited citizens who would do this work honestly and without fear or favor without compensation.

Chelsea Old People's HomeA COMMUNITY ASSET

For twenty five years the Detroit Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has been conducting a beneficent work in our midst, caring for aged people. It is not a hospital though there are always some sick and very feeble folk needing the attention of doctors and nurses. One, for instance has been in her bed since last Christmas day with a broken hip and other complications, yesterday being the first day that she has been able to sit up. It is not a sanitarium, though there are a number who can get about the house only in a wheel chair, and others are entirely confined to their room. It is emphatically a HOME where old age is made comfortable, relieved from the stress of daily struggle and conducted to the close of life quietly, in congenial companionship, untroubled and unweary.

There are at present 86 in the family. The staff of helpers makes the total 98. These members remain with us for life. One lady who died recently had been at the Home for 20 years, and nearly 6 months, though the average stay is about seven years.

The property is entirely free from debt. And the current expense has been regularly met from month to month up to the present time. The members themselves all have some income, either from personal estate or by grants made quarterly by the Board of Managers. During these years also the Board has built up a considerable endowment, the earnings of which brings in about two-thirds of the annual current expenses. For the remaining third the Home is dependent upon the annual offerings from the churches within the bounds of the Conference, which includes the Eastern half of the State and all of the Upper Peninsula. As it relates to the individual members, the Home is a co-operative agency, in which self-support affords about 60 percent, the balance, or 40 percent coming from the churches.

Last year the amount paid out for wages was $11,165.00 most of which is spent by help within the community. For doctors, medicine, funeral expenses and provisions there was paid out $19,486.00 and to the members of the family for personal use $3,200.00, making a total of $33,851.00.

As an asset to the community this money is a fine commercial consideration. During the past month checks to local professional and business firms amounted to $1,273.00. This being about the monthly average making about $15,276.00 per year. If added to this the personal expenditures of the members, which is $3,200, a total of cash distributed in the town is $18,276.00 per year, not to speak of the amount put into commercial activity by wages paid the help, all of whom live here.

As another asset, should be remembered the publicity given Chelsea by the large number who visit the Home throughout the years. All who read The Chelsea Standard have noted the lists of callers. They come from all over the state and from many other states. Many of these would never have seen Chelsea were it not for their interest in the Home and its family. Last week there were 150 callers at one time. A few days later there was a company of 60 from Detroit, the following Sunday about 80 from Ypsilanti, and so it goes throughout the year.

We congratulate the Home management in the service rendered aged people and our appreciation for their contribution to our commercial welfare.

ADDRESSES KIWANIS

Declaring that an over-production of 20 percent and an under-consumption of 30 percent was the principal cause for the present controversy between milk producers and distributors on the matter of price, Thomas Burt, former manager of the Ann Arbor Dairy Co., presented some very interesting facts in a talk at the Monday evening meeting of the local Kiwanis club. Howard S. Holmes was in charge of the program.
