Large Crowd Greet Chelsea High Band

Accompanied by thirty-five townspeople, the Chelsea High School Band motored to Blissfield last Friday night where they presented an open air concert. The program was given for the purpose of encouraging the Blissfield Junior Band which is being organized and sponsored by the American Legion of that village.

A large crowd assembled to hear the concert and there was a profusion of congratulations to the youthful musicians and their director for the remarkable advancement they have made since their organization last November. Following the concert a banquet was served the organization by the American Legion.

On Tuesday of this week, Wesley Smith, director of the band, received the following letter from the C. G. Conn company, manufacturers of the instruments used by the band:

My dear Mr. Smith:

I want you and the boys and girls of the Chelsea High School Band to know how much we appreciate the help that you gave us by putting on the fine concert at Blissfield. We have heard numerous comments from various people who attended the concert.

You and all your boys and girls are to be congratulated on the remarkable progress that you have made in the few short months that you have been together. It is inspiring to us when we realize the remarkable progress that has been made in music in Chelsea under your able leadership.

With best wishes to you and the young folks for your continued success, I am

Yours sincerely,

J. C. Selig, Manager.
C. G. Conn Ltd., Detroit Branch.
The band will give a concert here on Saturday night of this week.

Bauer Farm Buildings Destroyed By Fire

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the buildings on the William B. Bauer farm, known as the Howard Everett place, six miles southwest of Chelsea, about 8:30 Saturday evening. The dwelling house, two large barns filled with hay, a small barn, hog house and tool shed were burned, also 200 chickens.

Most of the household goods were saved. The loss is covered by insurance.

COMPTON-RALSTON WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Williams was the scene of a quiet wedding Wednesday afternoon, when the former's sister, Mrs. Verna Compton of Middletown, Ohio was united in marriage to Walter Ralston, also of Middletown, in the presence of the immediate family. The attendants were Miss Margaret Williams and Robert Williams, niece and nephew of the bride. Rev. A. E. Potts officiated. Bouquets of yellow garden flowers decorated the rooms and the dining table was covered with a yellow damask cloth and centered with yellow tulip poppies and yellow tapers in green holders. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston left late Wednesday afternoon on an extended motor trip through northern Michigan.

SOLDIERS ARRESTED

After crowding several cars into the ditch, three Camp Custer soldiers were arrested at Lima Center Saturday evening by local deputies and officers from the sheriff's department at Ann Arbor. They are Hubert Allen, charged with driving while drunk, Frank Kellerman and Cecil Jerrills, charged with disorderly conduct. The men were taken to the county jail and when arraigned before Justice Payne, Allen was fined $50 or 30 days in jail, the other two being assessed $15 each or 10 days. Kellerman paid his fine and was released.

THANKS, GEORGE!

The Standard force acknowledges with thanks the gift of a box of delicious peaches from Geo. T. English, owner of Hardacre Fruit Farm. Mr. English has clearly demonstrated to us as he has to hundreds of people so far this year, that there is no peach as good as our home-grown fruit which is allowed to properly ripen on the trees before it is picked.

Business Places Close For Fair

As announced in last week's Standard, more than thirty local business places, including both banks, will close at 12 o'clock today (Thursday) so that employers and employees may attend the Washtenaw County Fair. The public schools will also be closed for the afternoon.

Although no definite announcement has been made as to plans for Labor Day (next Monday) it is expected that practically all business will be suspended on that day.

The day will open with a big chicken dinner, which will be served at 11 a. m. under the direction of the ladies of St. Joseph's church, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Maurice O'Brien, chairman, Mrs. T. F. Enright, Mrs. Albert Gehringer, Mrs. Fred Chase, Miss Jennie McGinness, Mrs. Gilbert Madden, Miss Sara Ledwidge, Mrs. Charles Gallagher, Miss Ella Hawkins, Mrs. John McGinn, Mrs. Ed. Koch, Mrs. Frederick Cunningham, Mrs. Ella Walsh, Mrs. Emmett Farrell, Mrs. James Armstrong, Mrs. Edward J. McCarthy and Mrs. George F. Walsh.

Publishes Manchester Enterprise 65 Years

The Standard joins the other newspapers of the nation in extending congratulations to our neighbor, Mat D. Blosser, publisher of the Manchester Enterprise. Mr. Blosser, founder of the paper which has begun volume 65, is 85 years of age and is still active in its management. The Publishers' Auxiliary, national trade publication, says:

The mere mention that the Manchester (Mich.) Enterprise has begun volume 65 indicates that the paper has lived a long and useful life, but—

When the further information is added that Mat D. Blosser, its editor, has occupied that position continuously during the life of the paper; is hale and hearty in spite of his 85 years; that his hair is barely tinged with gray; that his carriage is erect; that his eyes are undimmed and his mental faculties are alert; that with mind and body he devotes from 12 to 15 hours a day to his work—

It makes one of the most unusual stories ever told about any publisher and his newspaper.

Considering that these facts are facts, ungarmented by any stretch of the imagination, the record of Mat D. Blosser probably stands without parallel in either past or present history.

Former Resident Tells Of Northern Beauty

The following article, "Story of Northern Michigan," was written by Mrs. Mary E. Welch of Pontiac, a daughter of the late J. L. Gilbert of this place, and was published in the Crawford Avalanche, Grayling, on July 30:

I have been wondering, as I sit looking up and down the beautiful AuSable river, if even our native state inhabitants realize the beauties and interesting sights in this state of ours.

For the last ten years I have spent my summers in the north and upon each visit my state has become more wonderful and dear to me. I am a native born; also my father was born in the southern part of Michigan. I have traveled around the world and still the beauties of my native state stand out ahead of all others, when I compare them.

This spring, I drove up 200 miles in a short time; the roads are perfect. But as I started on my trail road a mile south of the quaint village of Rosecommon, my feelings were well will I say, contentment. I slowed down my car, as I relaxed and, motoring along, I found myself humming a little tune. In the city, all hurry and excitement, we don't have time for thinking much. A few miles farther, I motored over a small bridge, and under it ran the south branch of the wonderful AuSable river, then on through the trail until looking over a small hill, I saw the smoke rolling out of a log cabin chimney, where I knew a fine supper of fresh trout would be cooked for me. This was to be my home for as long as I wished to remain. I had arrived now at the world's famous AuSable river.

The month was May, the trailing arbutus was rambling along the roads, and among the pines, and cute little scrub oaks.

The irresistible part concerning this northern country, is the natural and wholesome recreation one can have. There are golf clubs, if you must keep from getting rusty in that wonderful game; interesting northern towns nearby which you may motor to see if you care to. Here you will see the native Indians at their work, weaving beautiful articles for sale. But at home I like the narrow trails, carpeted with pine needles, and I walk along, smoking, and a bit of favorite food in my pocket, thinking some times of the times not so far distant when the red man was living here and walking these same paths. At evening, and night not settling down until nearly ten, is the time the fisherman goes forth, all dressed in waders, short coat, with all little pockets filled with necessary handy accessories for fishing, creel on her or his back, net dragging along in the swift waters. Swift, yes, for this AuSable river runs at the rate of 7 miles an hour. The fisherman is allowed fifteen trout a day, and if you are a successful fisherman, that is plenty, for the trout average in this main stream, 9 to 14 inches. The boat's and guides with their poles (poles are used because of the swift waters), are always appearing around some bend of the river, one may hear the sharp point of the pole among the stones long before the boat may be seen. Sometimes a guide will have five or six in the long river boat or canoe with him, and other times a lone fisherman intent on one thing—casting a perfect line to tempt the tricky trout. We often catch other kinds of fish in the AuSable, perch, pilot, and of course all kinds of trout. The pilot fish is considered an unusual delicacy.

There are many clubs along this river, one may hear the bugles blowing, calling the members in to dine at the usual hours. Some enjoy this manner of living while others prefer my way of having a little log cabin with a big screened porch, log fire evenings when the weather is a little damp or cool, having my own friends as moods come and go.

There is so much to write about this part of Michigan. I could tell about the beautiful homes being built, the wonderful wild strawberries, huckleberries, blackberries, etc. The state is doing wonderful things in preserving the forests and if I were to write on that now it would be in another subject, which is interesting, but I hear the bugle calling, the sweet tones drifting down to me from nearly a mile away that makes me think it is time to go to my live box down at the river's edge and pick a big rainbow trout to tickle my palate for supper.

"MIRACLE WOMAN" IS EMOTIONAL DRAMA

Barbara Stanwyck Marvelous in Vivid
Vital Story of Love

In the hands of an actress with the temperamental quality and histrionic genius of Barbara Stanwyck, the title role of "The Miracle Woman" becomes a flaming portrait of a woman's soul tormented by love. It is a magnificent interpretation in a story that has been brought into vivid, vital life by the clever direction of Frank Capra.

It will be shown at the Princess Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 8-9. "The Miracle Woman" provides emotional stimulation. It is sheer drama, taking a sensitive young girl, smarting from an injustice, and letting her fall into the hands of a trickster who sees big money in her oratorical powers. He exploits her power—capitalizes her faith and purity.

The louder her exhortations the deeper the conviction grows in her soul that she is a hopeless sinner—and then comes a blind boy who falls in love with the beauty that he senses in her. How his love for her—his belief in her power—leads to a showdown with her manager and her open confession that she is a sham makes "The Miracle Woman" startling drama, and provides a spectacular fire climax. It is an adaptation of a stage play by John Meehan and Robert Riskin, splendidly acted by Miss Stanwyck, David Manners, Sam Hardy, Betty Mercer and others.

CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY PRODUCES 8,000,000TH CAR

An anecdote for talk of depressions and seasonal stagnation in the automobile industry was uncovered when the Chevrolet Motor Company turned out its 8,000,000th car in its less than twenty years of existence.

The "milestone" car came off the line of the local assembly plant shortly before noon of August 25, and brings the number of six-cylinder cars built by this manufacturer, since the introduction of the larger type in 1929, to nearly three millions. Five million cars and trucks have been built in less than five full years.

No exhibition tours or other special arrangements have been made for the car, which is now on its way, along with several thousand others built the same day, for delivery to an unsuspecting owner somewhere in the region served by the Flint plant.

The car followed the seven millionth Chevrolet in a year and three months, and is the 2,845,938th six-cylinder unit turned out by Chevrolet since the changeover from a four in 1929.

The seven millionth car was built May 28, 1930. In the period between this and the eight millionth car, the products of the company forged to first place in passenger car registrations, and took the lead among all makes in production during recent months. Although organized in 1911, the company spent twelve years building the first million cars, that event having occurred in 1923. Thereafter the second and third millionth product followed at two year intervals, and the four millionth came off the line on Jan. 11, 1928, less than a year after the third. Again in 1928, on Sept. 8, another million was rounded out, and on June 25th, 1929, number 6,000,000 came off the line at Flint.

WILLIAMSTON — Within three miles of Mason there is a colony of beavers at work. For more than a mile around they can be traced by the ditches they have dug and the undergrowth taken from trees. The ditch above the dam is filled to the banks with stagnant water. Below the dam there is scarcely any water, and weeds are growing into the ditch to obstruct it still more. It is against the law to trap within 500 feet of a beaver dam, or even to disturb it in any way. If a big rain should fall this dam would be capable of flooding over 30 acres of land. There is a question as to who has the best title to the land, the beavers or the land owner. — Knterprise.

1931 BUICK IS PROTECTED FROM NOISE AND HEAT

Protection from noise and heat through a specially devised insulating system is an important feature of the 1931 Buick body by Fisher. This insulation provides an extra measure of comfort for Buick owners, in addition to the luxurious interiors and the scientific adaptation of the body construction to the extra power and speed of the Buick valve-in-head straight eight engine.

"The insulation is designed to protect both the front and rear compartments," says C. W. Churchill, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company. "In the front compartment it prevents sound and heat from penetrating the floor and dashboard of the car. In the rear compartment, the insulation acts as a seal against heat and cold, as well as drafts and noise, coming through the floor."

"The insulation in the front compartment consists of three layers of materials, each having an important function to perform. Next to the dash is a thick insulating board. This keeps out the heat and cold. Against this is laid a layer of felt three-quarters of an inch thick, which eliminates noise. Over this felt is a layer of waterproof board. The whole is finished in hand-crushed Spanish grain in a color to harmonize with the interior."

"The heat-insulating board is made of sugar cane, producing a material that has high resistance to heat and cold."

"The floor and toe boards in the front compartment are protected by heavy felt, cemented to the rubber floor mat."

"The insulation in the rear consists of thick felt pads covering the floor boards and flooring under the rear seats, upon which a rich velvet carpet is placed."

"With these features added to the mechanical refinements of the 1931 Buick, we feel that we are giving Buick owners the best value in comfort, dependability and durability that we have ever offered."

WAYNE—Faced by an extreme need of water the Wayne D. P. W. Tuesday noon completed the laying of a temporary main to Inkster to connect with the permanent main now extending to Eloise. When connections were made at 11:30 Tuesday morning the supply of water on hand at Wayne was sufficient for not more than three hours.—Review.

Will Honor Womanhood at Michigan State Fair

Detroit, Aug. 26.—A fitting tribute to womanhood will be paid by the Michigan State Fair and Exposition in its portrayal of progress Sept. 6 to 12.

In developing the general scheme for a fair this year that will more faithfully reflect the state's prominence in certain major lines by welcoming industry into the family of exhibits the governor's advisory committee has devoted considerable thought to women's interests.

Advancement in the art of home-making will be typified by a wealth of exhibits. The most up-to-date equipment for lightening the burden of housekeeping, in whose manufacture Michigan is in the forefront, should prove of special attraction to the feminine visitors at the fair and exposition.

A style salon embodying some striking effects and ranking with the finest ever staged in the country is now in the process of development. Plans for this outstanding feature call for a novel setting to display the latest modes with a nationally known director in charge.

Women painters, sculptors and workers in leather, metal, jewelry, pottery and ceramics will have a prominent part in promoting the success of the department of fine arts while the division of domestic and applied arts will display excellent specimens of lace work, bead work, tapestry and wall hangings, garment making, weaving, quilts and coverlets, rugs, lamps, etc., with a view to stimulating interest in needlework.

That the time-honored art of cookery still holds sway in woman's realm is evidenced by the many inquiries in regard to competition in the department of domestic economy. Examples of bread making, cakes, cookies, candy, canned goods, jellies, preserves, butter and jams and other intriguing culinary.

Will Discuss Changes in Village Government

Ann Arbor, Sept. 3.—The possibility of making fundamental changes in village government in Michigan, with a view to reducing operating expenses and taxes, will be the subject of first importance to village officials attending the 33rd annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League at Gratiot Inn, Port Huron, September 9, 10 and 11, according to an announcement by Harold D. Smith, Director of the League.

Village taxpayers pay five taxes as against four for any other unit of government," Mr. Smith said. "All units pay state, county, and school taxes; cities and townships pay either a city or a township tax in addition; but villages pay both village and township taxes in addition. Villages of more than 750 population can avoid this situation by re-incorporating as cities, and can provide themselves with a better and more practical governmental organization.

"At the village officials' roundtable September 10 this entire problem for the smaller villages will be thoroughly discussed, with a view to formulating a basis for action. Questions of reorganization of village government such as whether the council might not be reduced from seven to five or three, whether or not the clerk, treasurer and assessor should be appointive, etc., will also be discussed. Every incorporated village in the state should be represented, because it is only by thorough co-operation among the small villages that these improvements for their taxpayers can be brought about."

Numerous other subjects of interest to village officials are on the program. The first day's program, Wednesday, September 9, will cover scientific assessing, tax exemptions, tax delinquency, and a discussion of the new law under which tax statements must be sent out in advance. The last day, September 11, will be devoted to a thorough discussion of county government, of special interest to Michigan city and village taxpayers, because they pay more than 75 percent of all county taxes paid in the state.

Louis Brownlow, director of the Public Administration Clearing House, Chicago, will be the annual banquet speaker on September 10.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Why did they make skirts longer?
Ans.—If they hadn't, they wouldn't be skirts any longer.

Ques.—Why do they say one is "yellow" when they mean he is a coward?
Ans.—The term "yellow" in this sense originated with cockfighters. It was commonly believed that a game cock which had light or yellowish feathers in it was a mongrel and therefore cowardly.

Ques.—I wish to ask in your interesting question department why the forefinger is called the "index finger"?
Ans.—The forefinger is known as the index finger because it is the one used to point with. "Index" is derived from the Latin word meaning "to point."

Ques.—Will you kindly tell me in an early issue of your paper how asbestos is manufactured?

Ans.—Asbestos is not manufactured. It is mined from the earth. It is like rock and is milled into loose fibers.

Ques.—I would like to know how the expression "Tell it to the marines" originated. Will you answer this?
Ans.—It is not known how this old English expression originated. It means tell our incredible and preposterous stories to greenhorns, not to persons who know better.

Ques.—What does the government pay for its helium gas for the dirigibles?

Ans.—The government pays $34 a thousand cubic feet for the helium gas which it purchases from a private firm for use in its dirigibles. A limited supply of this gas is being produced at the government plant at Amarillo, Texas, at a cost of less than ten dollars a thousand.

Ques.—What is the longest railroad in the world?

Ans.—The Trans-Siberian railroad, from Vladivostok to Leningrad is the longest railroad in the world. It is 5,480 miles in length.

Ques.—Why does the American cuckoo lay its eggs in other birds' nests? Or is it true they do?

Ans.—This is not true. The American cuckoo builds its own nests. This habit is peculiar to the European cuckoo, which never builds a nest, but lays its eggs in other birds' nests and depends upon them to bring up its young.

Ques.—Do you suppose we will have our usual quota of cranks that "rock the boat" this winter?
Ans.—No. Many of them went skating on thin ice last winter.

Ques.—Why is the line between the north and the south called "Mason and Dixon's line"?

Ans.—The Mason and Dixon line is the boundary between Pennsylvania and Maryland, so named from Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, two English surveyors, who located it between the years 1765 and 1767. When the Missouri compromise was before Congress for discussion John Randolph of Virginia applied the phrase to designate the line between the free and slave territory, and the term came into popular use. The original Mason and Dixon line was designated by milestones located at points five miles apart, on one side of which was cut the coat of arms of Lord Baltimore and on the other side that of William Penn.

Ques.—What is a metaphor?
Ans.—A metaphor is a figure of speech in which one object is likened to another. For instance, we say "the man is like a fox." This is a metaphor.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you please answer when the Chicago anarchists were executed? Also how many of them?

Ans.—Seven anarchists were condemned to die for complicity in the Haymarket riot in 1887. The government commuted the sentence of two to life imprisonment. On Oct. 10 one of the five remaining, Louis Lingg, committed suicide the day before the execution. On the following day the four remaining, August Spies, Albert R. Parsons, George Engel and Adolph Fischer, were hanged.

MANCHESTER.—Don't let anybody tell you that we are not going to have M-11 paved. It was promised us by both Governors Groesbeck and Green. We said that we needed it, they had known all along and we should have it. We have waited long enough and do not propose to be put off until other roads that are no more needed than M-11 are built. If they did not expect to build M-11 right away, why did they build a large and costly bridge here? What good is such a bridge to the state or to us without a paved way connecting with it. WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Lansing, August 26—Application blanks for state airplane registrations are to be sent to all airports in Michigan by the Department of State about Sept. 1, where owners may obtain the applications. All planes, under the new law passed by the 1931 legislature, must be registered by Sept. 18.

The fee for state registration is computed on the basis of the plane's carrying capacity and gross weight. The lowest fee is $10 and ranges to a maximum of $150 for the multi-passenger ships and the large trimotor freight planes.

Each plane licensed will be furnished with a card giving all vital information and stating that the ship has been registered. The card will be similar in size to that issued by the federal Department of Commerce and must be fastened securely inside the cockpit of the plane. Michigan laws, however, do not require that the state registration number be painted upon the wings of the plane.

Attempts of gangsters to force malt dealers to purchase counterfeit malt tax stamps, have been, to a large degree stopped, by the Department of State with the assistance of local law enforcement officers. As soon as the Department pointed out that the purchaser of counterfeit stamps was as guilty, under the 1931 law, as the seller, the activities of the gangsters in Detroit were greatly lessened.

By preventing the sale of counterfeit stamps, a rather large increase in revenue, which goes for the care of the state's tubercular patients and for a new Northern Michigan sanatorium, is expected. When the present supply of malt tax stamps is exhausted, the Department will issue a new series which will be radically different from the present stamps.

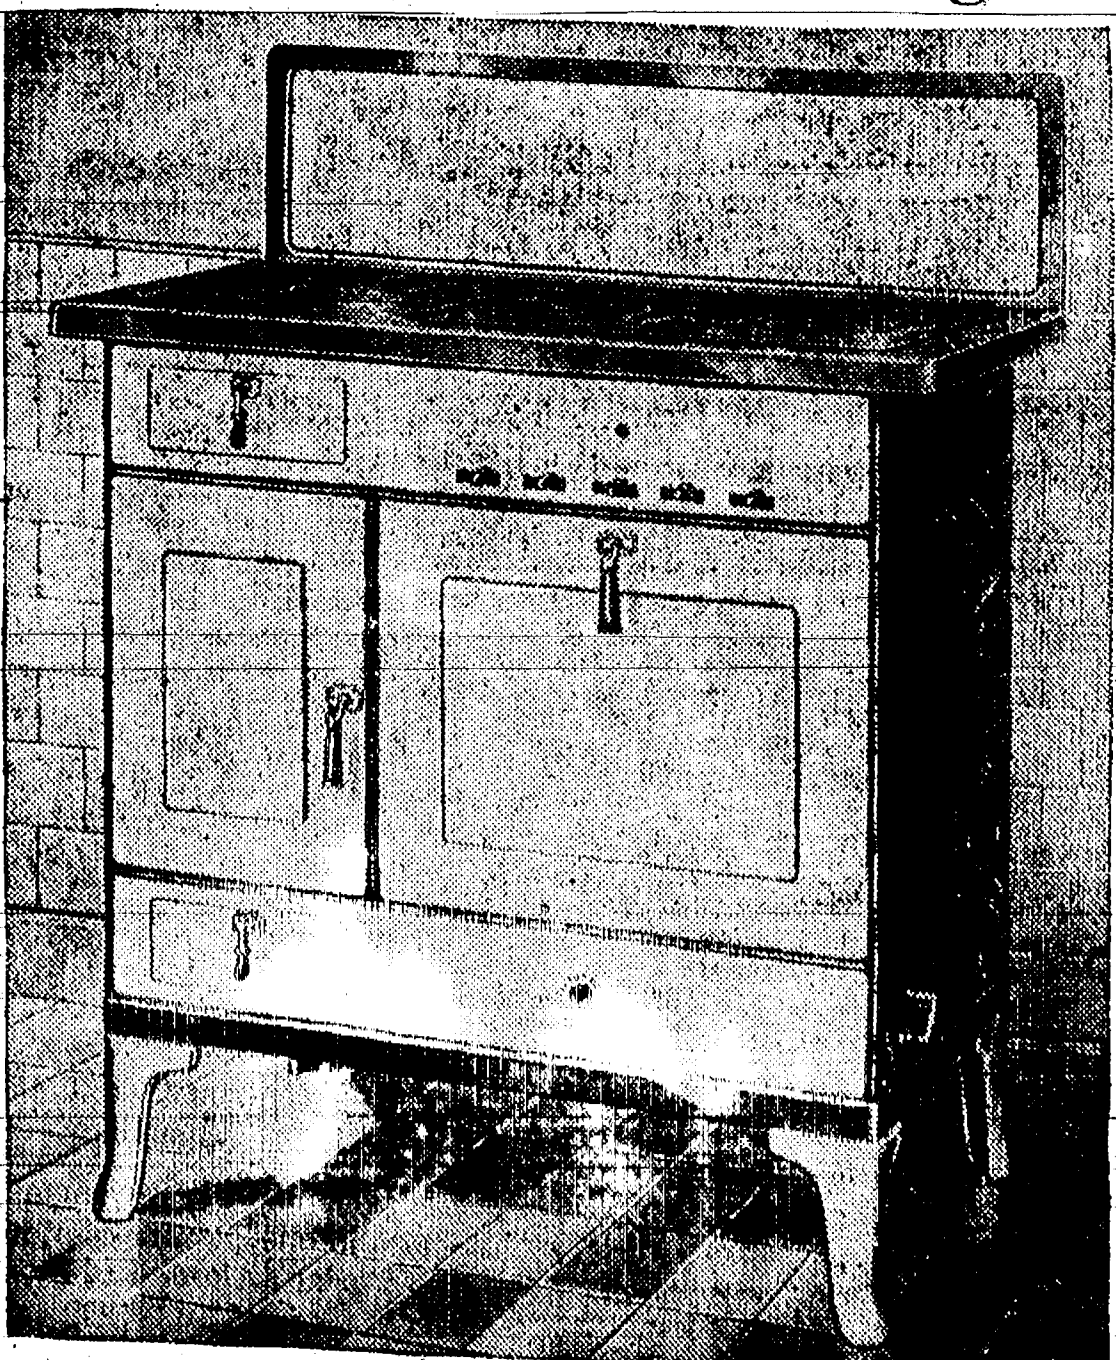

The Department does not sell stamps through traveling representatives and they can be bought only at the main office in Lansing, or at the branch offices of the Department in Flint, Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Marquette, Jackson or Detroit.

DEXTER—The public schools in this village will open for the coming school year on Tuesday, September 8.

HOWELL—The Livingston County Fair will be held in Howell, September 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Germany lost the war and victorious nations have been milking her of her gold, industriously. But Germany did not lose courage.

As this was written the giant German airplane DO-X was roaring 3,000 feet above the old Brooklyn bridge, outside this office window, on her way up the East river after a 12,000 mile flight via South America. Our biggest airplanes, flying with DO-X look smaller than kingbirds pulsing a crow.

you find a world busy, worried and excited, from China to Peru, from Peru to Maine, and from Maine around to Japan.

Wall Street decides to lend $300,000,000 to Great Britain. The proposition is that the loan shall have substantial guarantees.

What interest will Britain pay?

Brazil is throwing surplus coffee overboard. If you don't believe it you may see the actual photographs. Uncle Sam should get that coffee in exchange for wheat, keep the coffee and enough of the wheat to feed anybody that may need food during the coming winter. On hot coffee and good bread a man can live. The government could help the farmer by adding a little bacon.

Mussolini is planning his first visit to Pope Pius-XI to settle permanent. Is the "Catholic action" controversy? This Mohammed went to the mountain when the mountain would not budge.

The mountain that Mussolini is to visit was there long before Mussolini's day, and will be there long after Mussolini. It doesn't move, and doesn't hurry.

Mr. Lynch, the Chicago "luff mag-nate," a polite euphemism for "gang-bler," home as predicted, driving his own car, says the kidnappers were "most courteous." That reminds you of the Kalmuk's letter from a German prison, telling how wonderfully he was treated, with the postscript, "They shot Meyer yesterday for complaining."

In response to pitiful appeals, the "big shot," Mr. Capone, had said, "I shall see what I can do." He did see, and the kidnaped man came home. And now Chicago's police are looking for Capone to arrest him as knowing something about the kidnaping in the first place. What do you think of that for ingratitude?

Mussolini announces a program of winter work for the idle that will cost $45,000,000 and employ 100,000 men.

A talk with Mussolini might interest President Hoover and Walter S. Gifford, in charge of our problem, more than many talks with the advisory committee of sixty.

And this is said with the greatest respect for the ability of the President and Mr. Gifford and the committee. Mussolini has personally handled a nation's problems and its population, sweeping aside all other authority for years, and he possesses unique experience.

An investigating committee alleges that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., received contributions amounting to $100,000 to help him in his fight against former Governor Smith for President. This emphasizes the fact that the campaign in 1928 was a religious campaign, and not all a prohibition campaign, as many have erroneously believed.

Herndon, who flew with Pancho from New York to Japan, tells Senator Borah: "We are still in a jam. Please get us permission from Japan to fly the Pacific, nonstop to the United States."

Senator Borah will probably do his best, and the wise Japanese will say "All right, go fly, but don't fly over and photograph our fortifications this time."

Before we criticize Japan let us ask what we should say if two ex-military Japanese pilots flew to this country, over our fortifications, taking photographs on the way.

The Italian king and Mussolini, having watched nearly one thousand Italian airplanes in a mock war, do not deceive themselves or the public. They announce that if it had been a real battle it would have wiped out Spezia, Italy's shipbuilding center, in short order while the king and Mussolini looked on.

France has perhaps five times as many fighting planes as Italy, more than Italy and England combined.

But a man with five revolvers respects the man with only one, because one is enough to do a job. A thousand English or Italian airplanes, starting unexpectedly, would be enough to work unpleasant syndicates over Paris or any other European capital.
