M. E. Fellowship Club Met Tuesday Evening

The Fellowship club of the Methodist church, which met in the church basement Tuesday evening, was well attended and proved to be a very successful gathering. A delightful scrub lunch was served and those in charge of the tables did excellent service. A five-piece orchestra furnished lively music and Mrs. Walsh furnished two fine solos. Brief remarks were made by Rev. Palmer and Rev. Lutz. The speaker of the evening, Rev. Fred Cowin of Ann Arbor, gave a masterly address, sparkling with wit and humor on the subject of "Bobby Burns, the Scotch Poet." John Kilmer is president of the club and he and his co-workers are to be commended for the fine programs thus far presented.

The Spirit of Christmas

The Spirit of Christmas is here again. It brings with it the custom of giving gifts, a custom that is as old as the holiday, a custom that gives ourselves and others pleasure. It holds the true meaning of good will toward men. Today, that spirit gains an added impetus, for today your dollar goes further than it ever went at Christmas time in a great many years. Today, the merchants are offering you excellent quality in every branch of merchandise, at prices that have never been so low. Today, buying is made easy for you and for your pocketbook. You have only to read the advertisements appearing in The Chelsea Standard to be forcibly reminded of the new low cost of living. Certainly, this new economic era invites buying—urges increased holiday purchasing, which includes the buying of gifts. This year your Christmas shopping list can be as long as you feel it ought to be, and everyone will be included, at less expense on your part. Part of the great Spirit of Christmas, this year, includes the spirit of buying in proportion to your yearly income, which in itself will do much to spread that feeling of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men."

CHRISTMAS in the MOUNTAINS
By Noni Mack Bailey

ALMA and her mother, orange trees and roses in the sun-bright valley with snow and frozen lakes a few hours ride away in the High Blar-raw, that's California in winter; so Marion's father, who was a New Yorker, planned to take the family to the mountains for a white Christmas. "Christmas without snow, isn't Christmas at all," he said.
Marion, her mother and father and Tom and Harry, her two cousins, made up the party of five. As they were ready to start, Prince, Marion's colt, mounted the running board of the car.

and insisted on going. With much coaxing on Marion's part he was allowed to do so.
When the snowy playground was reached there was plenty of fun with snowball battles, skating, lessons in skating with many spills and thrills.
Then the suggestion for a toboggan ride was answered with shrieks of delight.
Marion and her mother decided to let the father and boys try it first while they gathered more courage.
Prince stood by watching excitedly, wagging his tail and vowing his approval in sharp barks.
It was a thrilling ride but a safe one so Marion and her mother readily took their places for the second slide.
As they started down hill, Prince gave a quick leap, caught Marion by her coat and pulled her off the toboggan.

into the soft snow, returned like a flash and caught her mother's clothing in like manner and dragged her free of the toboggan.
Several times they made the attempt but Prince simply would not be paced and at last they had to chain him to a tree so they could take their ride. For men and boys it was at right, but Prince did not approve of so dangerous looking a sport for his little mistress and her mother.
"Well, daddy," said Marion, "I conced you to let Prince come, so I suppose I deserve to get rolled in the wet snow, but poor mother had to pay for my coaxing, too, and I am sorry."
"Let's not be sorry about anything today," Mrs. Christmas, her father replied, "there's a huge log fire in the lodge and you'll soon be warm and dry."

Cure for Homesickness
Christmas is a cure for homesickness. Awakening in an apartment joy it seems to make all spiritual home possible, all faith simple and natural and utterly certain.—American Maga-

METHODIST HOME

The members of the young ladies' class of the St. Paul's church of Highland Park are expected here Sunday afternoon and will conduct exercises in the auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. This class have been making annual pilgrimages here for the past few years, just before the holidays, and their visits are always welcome.

Mrs. Dorothy Eder was greeting her old friends in the home on Monday morning. She will be remembered by all as Miss Dorothy Yocum, who was with us so long.

On Friday, Mrs. Ione Gorton entertained Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cooper of Belleville. They were accompanied by Miss Inga Mullen of Wisconsin. They were friends of the late Mrs. Truesdale of that place.

Miss Lida Ostrander returned on Wednesday from her two-month visit with friends and relatives in Ohio and Southern Michigan. Her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Lawrence of North Adams, accompanied her home.

Miss Jennie Dexter of Milan was a guest of Miss Alma Rambeau on Saturday.

Mrs. Erwin Reule of Ann Arbor visited her aunt, Mrs. Sophia Elliott, on Thursday. She brought with her a friend, Mrs. Ernest Waldecker of the same city.

Mrs. Susan Danson entertained on Thursday her grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Danson of Detroit. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Brockman of the same city.

Mr. Yocum and his daughter, Miss Blanche Yocum of Manchester were callers of Mrs. Ione Gorton on Sunday. Miss Yocum is a teacher in the Detroit schools.

Mrs. Frances Robtoy's guests on Tuesday were Mrs. Dan Horkaman and daughter, Mrs. A. J. Turner, of Milan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cox and son of Fenton were callers of Mrs. Ellen Bullock Sunday. They wanted to see how their old friend was situated in her new home and if contented. They were much pleased with all they saw and learned. Why not?

Mrs. Josephine Brewer recently entertained old friends, of Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Case of Fenton were visitors Sunday. They were calling on friends and inspecting the home.

On Sunday, Mrs. Alice Chapin celebrated a birthday and her two sons from Ypsilanti and Flint, with their wives, joined with her.

The Epworth Leaguers of Belleville were here Sunday afternoon with nearly a half hundred members. They were accompanied by their pastor, the Rev. Wm. Richards, wife and daughter. An enjoyable program was given in the auditorium.

Pierce Holt returned Sunday from a week's visit at old scenes in Detroit. The home seems to be a very attractive place for all of its members as only one, Mrs. Edith West, is away visiting. Why not?

Both John Gipe and Mrs. Willard Drake are regular attendants in the family gatherings after long confinements to their rooms by ailments.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westphal of Brighton visited with the latter's cousin, Dr. W. J. Balmer and wife, Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Lemon on Sunday entertained her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lemon of Detroit.

Joseph Gibson, while walking down town Monday tripped and fell, striking his head on the stone walk. A cut in the forehead over the eye required the attention of the doctor and calls for confinement to his room for some days.

Miss Alice Brown had too much excitement while in Detroit last week and has been nursing an unruly head since. She can be found at the Home address for some time to come.

One of the great needs of the Home is a larger auditorium. The present room was planned to accommodate the needs of the first unit when it was built in 1907 and had accommodations for less than forty members. When the second unit was built a few years later it was thought the halls would accommodate the increase in members. Later, when the third unit was built, the increase was expected to take care of itself anywhere. The sign of S. R. O. (standing room only) is often realized and visitors can take care of themselves. We are looking for the good angel to relieve the strain.

Get Up Nights?

Make This 25c Test

Use this easy bladder physio to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BU-KETS, the bladder physio, containing buchu, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively as castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (5 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Locally at Burg's Corner Drug Store.

BROOKLYN — Ed Monagan has shipped 50 cars of hay from this locality this season and despite the low price range of $4 to $5.50 a ton has ten cars more to ship soon. The freight rates on the hay to eastern and south-eastern points are frequently more than the original cost of the hay. Exponent.

I WAS three weeks before Christmas. But already the atmosphere of the holiday season seemed to cover the city. Paul Ralmer felt it as he boarded the street car that took him home each evening; already men and women were loaded down with packages that had all the earmarks of Yuletide gifts.

There was something about Christmas that always thrilled Paul; he even liked to repeat the name over and over to himself. He often wished that he might be selling toys and things at Christmas instead of being office boy at the big lumber concern where he worked.

"Gee, mother!" he yelled as he went in the door; "the Daily Mirror is giving prizes for the best decorated homes at Christmas. Wouldn't it be great if we could win one of them?"

"But, Paul," Mrs. Ralmer spoke as if she hated to throw cold water on his enthusiasm, "you know we can't afford to do anything of that kind. I only wish we could for your sake," she added. "Maybe next year."

Paul looked around the sparsely furnished room before replying: "Never mind, mother," he said, "for the time, I forgot about things. Darn money, anyway; why does it always have to block the way when we want to do something we like?"

"It doesn't always block the way, Paul; in fact, most of the time the absence of it is an incentive to do big things. If everybody had money many of the great deeds that have thrilled the world never would have been accomplished. And—Paul, don't you think we have been fairly happy without a lot of it?" She looked anxiously into his face as she put the question.

Paul was his old happy self when he replied: "Bet your life we have. Why, all the fellows say they'd rather come to our house than anywhere else. And—mother, if dad had lived we could have been as well off as the best of them!"

In the hours that followed Paul seemingly forgot about the newspaper prize, but his mother did not. That night, after he had retired, she sat down in the little living room and pondered the matter over. Was there any way that she could help him to carry out his desire? What a happiness it would be to give him the joy of competing in the contest!

Suddenly she started from her chair and a smile came over her face. Her thoughts had drifted back through the years, back to childhood days. She remembered out on the farm how her mother had taught her to fashion many beautiful Christmas decorations out of scraps of tinfoil and colored paper. Always there had been a box in the attic where everything of this sort had been stored away.

And, as is often the case, the things we do in childhood stay with us; so she herself had continued to save bits of paper and other things as her mother had, and now there was a huge box of it stacked away in the closet. Perhaps out of it she could fashion something that would enable Paul to enter the contest?

For a whole week two busy persons worked across the table from each other every evening. Carefully small rolls of tinfoil and rolls of green and red paper were smoothed out and fashioned into Christmas decorations. Out of the discarded pieces of silver paper and tinfoil a great gleaming star began to take shape, a star that seemed to fill the whole room with its radiance. For, from the moment that mother and son began working upon it, it seemed to them as if the Star that led the Wise Men was shining again. From the love and care they had put into its making it seemed to be taking on real life, and all unconsciously their voices grew low and hushed as they worked upon it. And slowly from the red and green paper letters were formed, huge letters along simple lines that told the message that the angels had made Earmarks of Yuletide Gifts

New Chevrolets Now Displayed Aid Employment Throughout U. S.

Right: Head-on View

Chevrolet's new car for 1932, embodying silent Synchro-Mesh transmission in combination with selective free-wheeling as standard equipment at no extra cost, and practically every proven automotive advance of recent years is now displayed at dealers' showrooms throughout the country.

While remaining in the price class in which it won world leadership this year—the new 1932 models offer features heretofore considered exclusive to the high price field, as well as a new front-end mounting never before shown on any car.

Called the Great American Value for 1932, the new line is in support of this slogan a twenty percent increase in power, faster acceleration, top speeds of 65 to 70 miles an hour, new bodies with a modern streamlined styling, down-draft carburetor, counter-balanced crankshaft, finger-touch front seat adjustment and many other refinements over the 1931 models, which from the standpoint of public acceptance, were the most successful in the history of the company.

In addition to interest centering on the cars themselves, the announcement at this time has national significance in that activity brought on by production of the new cars is expected, at conservative estimates, to add materially to the earnings of 300,000 people throughout the country just before the holiday season and before the severe winter season sets in.

The company's 21 domestic plants are all busy producing cars as fast as production manufacturing limits will permit so that deliveries may be made with the least possible delay. More than 40,000 of the new cars already have been built for dealers' showrooms displays, and more than that quantity are expected to roll off the assembly lines during the present month. The new car is the first in the low price field to offer the combination of silent Synchro-Mesh transmission with selective free-wheeling as standard equipment at no extra cost. A control button on the instrument panel enables the driver to use the free-wheeling device only when he desires, and he is thus able to utilize the full braking power of the engine when desired.

The front-end offers a radically changed appearance with a new type radiator, a radiator grille built integral on all models, a double-lens searchlight, a new hood ornament, and which are mounted bumper-shaped hood ornaments and a trumpet-type horn just beneath the left headlamp. All models have adjustable hood-ports chrome plated on all the sport and de luxe models, and all have cost-conscious controls from the driver's seat.

With the new streamlined bodies, the external sun visor has been eliminated, and its purpose is now served by an internal visor adjustable to any position in front of the driver. The left front window also has an adjustable internal visor adjustable to any position in front of the driver. On the top rail of the instrument panel is a removable ash tray for the convenience of passengers.

Robber rails, six assist cords, window shades, arm rests, and ash trays on both sides of the rear seat; dome light, foot rests, large door pockets and many other big-car refinements are standard with various models in the new line.

Theory of Evolution

Herbert Spencer finds that throughout the universe there is an unceasing redistribution of matter and motion and that redistribution constitutes evolution when there is a predominant integration of matter and dissolution of motion, and constitutes dissolution where there is a predominant absorption of motion and disintegration of matter.

Coat Silhouettes Fit Flare and Slenderize

It does not matter whether the coat is of fur or cloth, to measure up to fashion's standard it must be snug at the waist, flare at the hemline and have novel fur-trimmed sleeves. Coats of flat fur with lavish trim of long haired fur tell an exciting story of what's doing in the ways of fall and winter wraps.

M

MAXINE was entertaining the bridge club of which she was president with a Christmas party. The group of thirty young women gathered about the tree for their annual election.

"Before we take up the election of officers for next year," Maxine announced, "I want to review with you a little of what we have done this past year."

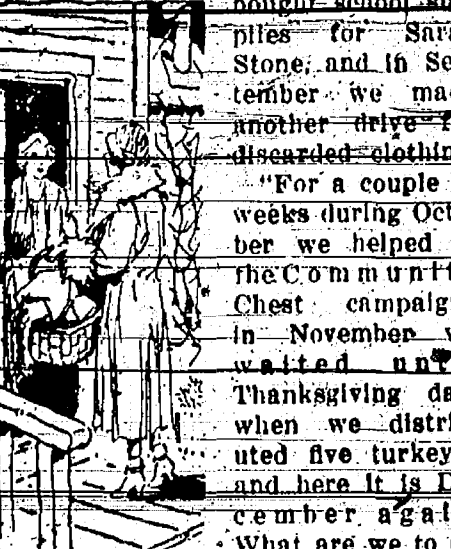

"It was at our last January meeting that we decided that good times alone would not keep our club alive. Then it was suggested that we carry the Christmas spirit through the year by considering the 25th of every month a 'Christmas anniversary,' and doing some act such as we would do if it were really Christmas time."

"On January 25 we helped the Stoney boy get a new suit. On February 25 we took out and cooked a real Christmas dinner for the Perkins family; on March 25 we arranged to buy music for the postman's boy; and on April 25 we gave him free violin lessons, and by the way, I understand he is showing real talent. In April we took care of Mrs. Perkins while she was sick, stopping in every noon to fix lunch and straighten up."

"May 25 was a Sunday, and we took all the poor children we knew to the park for the day. In June we gathered discarded winter clothing for the welfare society to put in shape for fall use."

"On July 25 we started Phyllis Bivens on to a tuberculosis sanitarium. In August we bought school supplies for Sarah Stone, and in September we gave another girl a new dress for discarded clothing."

"For a couple of weeks during October we helped in the Community Chest campaign; in November we waited until Thanksgiving day when we distributed five turkeys; and here it is December again. What are we to do this month?"

"Well," said one of the girls, "of course we have been working all month on toys for the Community tree for poor children. So I suggest that this month we spend the 25th at home, but that next year we follow the same plan, and I nominate our President Maxine for re-election."

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I would like to ask in your interesting question column just what is the difference between a civil day and an astronomical day?

Ans.—The civil day begins at midnight and comprises 24 hours in two series of 12 hours each, the first series being a. m. and the second series being p. m. The astronomical day begins at noon of the civil day of the same date, and runs 24 hours to noon of the following civil day.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you kindly answer in the question department of your paper if it is possible that the death penalty could be inflicted in the state of Michigan, notwithstanding the state has repudiated capital punishment.

Ans.—Yes. The federal government could inflict the death penalty for treason—but for treason only.

Ques.—Will you please tell me what is the Carnegie Hero Commission?

Ans.—On April 14, 1924, Andrew Carnegie placed in the hands of a commission $5,000,000 to be used as a hero fund. Its purpose is to reward men and women who perform heroic deeds, or in case they lose their lives, to care for those dependent upon them.

Ques.—May I ask you what causes sun spots on the sun?

Ans.—It is not known definitely what causes these sun spots. They constitute the outstanding astronomical problem of the age. The cause lies largely, if not wholly, exterior to the sun and probably in the configuration or aspects of the planets, known and possibly unknown, and other members of the solar system.

Ques.—Is Mount Ranier in Washington the highest mountain in the United States?

Ans.—No. Mount Whitney in California is the highest in the United States proper. It is 94 feet higher than Mount Ranier.

Ques.—What was the given name of George Washington's father? Also what was his mother's maiden name?

Ans.—George Washington's father was named Augustine. His mother's maiden name was Mary Ball.

Ques.—I am writing to ask in your question department if English is spoken most throughout the world?

Ans.—No. The Chinese language is most spoken. Over 400,000,000 people speak the Chinese language, while English is second, being spoken by approximately 165,000,000 people.

Ques.—Will you please tell me in your question column what is the thirteenth wedding anniversary?

Ans.—The thirteenth wedding anniversary is pearl.

Ques.—How fast does the pulse beat with a baby in its first year?

Ans.—With a baby in its first year the pulse should average about 120 beats to the minute.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you be so kind as to state when, where and by whom was McKinley assassinated?

Ans.—President McKinley was shot by Leon Czolgosz on September 6, 1901, at Buffalo, N. Y., while holding a reception at the Pan-American exposition. He died from the effects on September 14.

Ques.—What state in the United States has the greatest acreage of national forests? Also which has the least?

Ans.—California leads in national forests with 23,998,288 acres, while Maryland has the least, with 4,728 acres.

Ques.—What is the "harvest moon" and why is it so called?

Ans.—The full moon nearest to September 21 is popularly known as the "harvest moon." It is so called because the moon then rises for several consecutive evenings at nearly the same hour, giving an unusual number of moonlight evenings.

Michigan Department of State

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Frank D. Fitzgerald
Secretary of State

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 9.—Michigan 1931 automobile license plates may not be honored in neighboring states after January 1, 1932, according to information reaching the Department of State.

Motorists will not be allowed to tour Ohio after Jan. 1 with Michigan 1931 plates, even though the plates are legal here until March 1. New plates are mandatory in Ohio on Jan. 1 of each year.

Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana officials have indicated that they may follow the example set by Ohio. It is possible that one or more of the states will change its plan before the first of next year, but Michigan motorists who plan to leave the state, will avoid possible delay and embarrassment after Jan. 1 by securing new license plates.

Motor vehicle registration lists for 1932 will cost but $50 as compared with $225 in former years, it was announced by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald.

The contract for the lists in 1932 was let after competitive bidding and the reduction in price is far below expectations, it was said. The price includes not only the first compilation of registrations, but all supplemental lists issued during the year.

The new series of malt tax stamps was placed on sale Dec. 1. The new series was necessary because of attempts of counterfeiters to evade payment of the tax on malt and wort. It is virtually impossible to counterfeit the present series, executives of the department claim.

HOWELL—Saturday, some 100 Christmas trees were placed by the Board of Commerce along both sides of Grand River and on Michigan Avenue throughout the business district. These trees bring the first touch of the Christmas spirit to the business section.—Republican Press.

Happy Ending of Bermuda Cruise

By LEETE STONE

"EXCUSE me," Danforth Evans said to a lovely girl leaning against the rail of the steamer Elsiebeth bound for Bermuda, the first hour out. "Excuse me; but you dropped this paper out of the book under your arm. He held it out between two fingers and his smile was very winning. "Ever so thankful. What a gorgeous day!"

"So started one of the million auto-board romances. It went like this: "Yes, isn't it? May I stop and chat awhile?"

"Please do!"

"I suppose this is just a trifling escape from too pressing matters, for you?" Danforth Evans said in his best manner. "This little voyage, I mean," he added.

"The girl turned squarely to face Danforth. "Well, get along with you on this voyage if you don't try to pull any highbrow, 'wealthy set' stuff on me. Let me tell you, you're one of the special darlings of Southampton; that you're engaged but you hate it; that you've got the next best fortune to Ella Wendell's if your father dies consistently soon."

"Oh, I know the old stuff, big boy. This is my third sea voyage."

"This outburst left Danforth Evans a bit abashed; but he rallied nobly. "Quite right! You called my little bluff, lovely lady. I was about to suggest that I had a great deal of money in my own right, and that you, you said I ought to continue this cruise down through the Canal Zone and up to San Francisco where we might get married and start a tour of the world for a honeymoon. But you called me plenty. I'm a clerk at the men's furnishings in Birmingham, and I've saved for this vacation for a year. There's the lowdown—and while I'm at it, let's not know each other's names. Let's you call me Dan; and I'll call you Nan—eh?"

"O. K., Dan; now we're on a straight footing. But tell me, you aren't engaged, are you? I was kidding about that—and I hope you aren't because you've got a free look about you. Me, I'll be frank. I work in a department store, too—sales girl in ladies' lingerie. Now let's start square!"

"Right, Nan! You guessed me the first time. I was going to tell you the whole sad story of how I was engaged by fond parents to my next door neighbor's daughter while we were both in kindergarten on account of mutual money, you know. Well, we'll cut out all that. Nan, there's going to be a moon tonight. I looked it up on the office calendar. Meet me here, and let's talk some more, will you?"

"O. K., big boy—I'll meet you anywhere so long as you're square. Understand?"

"Right!"

"They met that night as naturally as water is drawn from two streams into one. At the prow of the ship where they were bathed in moonlight, and the lulling phosphorescence tinged the leaping waves with silver."

"Remember! This is a shipboard romance, Dan. Nothing serious!" Nan reproved as he put his arm gently over her shoulders.

"I know all about them," Dan flippantly responded.

"When the short sail was over, however, there was something more than flippancy and insincerity in the gaze of these two."

"It may have been a shipboard romance," Dan murmured eagerly, "but I'll find you again on land and when I do I'll keep you just remember that!"

Danforth Evans arrived at his ancestral mansion in Long Island a few weeks later after a good sailing and tanning on the beaches, quite fit for his father's brokerage office and the nerve-racking din of downtown New York. He found the house in festive array. His mother, a silver-haired dowager of society, greeted him with:

"Well, Danforth, I'm glad you're well. Otherwise I'd have been sure you'd forgotten that tonight is my party for you and Blanche—she's just back from the Sacred Heart convent."

"Oh, gee, mother! This isn't the middle ages! Why must I go through with this childish contract between dad and her—dad? Don't make me go through with this childish engagement. Why, I haven't seen her since we ate lollipop together!"

"Very well, my son. All I desire is that you meet her tonight. You must just happen to like her."

"All of which, as you know, my mother Evans was filled with a great disgust for family fates and ancestral bunk in general, as his mother escorted him through the palatial drawing room to meet the girl he had been affianced to years ago."

"There she is, son! Talking to Blanche! Isn't she sweet?"

"My God!" Danforth Evans muttered reverently. "It can't be true—mother! You're kidding me! That isn't Blanche Heyward!"

"Blanche had seen the grand approach and she turned to mother and sob."

"Oh, yes it is, Dunny—but for the purpose of a Bermuda cruise I use Lorraine Grace or just plain Nan. Instead, I recognized you the moment I saw you—that unmistakable nose—and I hated you for not knowing me. In spite of the fact that we haven't seen each other since lollipop days."

"Er. Give me a little time," Danforth Evans stammered with a beatific smile on his face.

275,000 HEAR HER

PREDICTIONS of a lower level of health and a higher tuberculosis rate among Michigan young people, caused by present-day living conditions, come true, it will not be because Princess Watassa has not traveled far enough and wide enough over Michigan to teach boys and girls how to be healthy. The Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which sends Watassa to Michigan schools, reports that in the three and one-half years she has been at work, more than 275,000 school children have heard her Indian health stories. In that time she has been in all except two of the state's 83 counties.

Grade children as well as high school students, delight to hear Watassa's legends, all of them carrying valuable health lessons for the listeners. The programs are given entirely without cost to the schools, being financed by funds secured in the December sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

The work of Princess Watassa is but one of the methods used by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association to promote health among children. Posters, bulletins, leaflets, and other health supplies are distributed widely in city, village, and rural schools. During the past twelve months alone, 45,000 copies of health literature, including "Ponds for Growing Boys and Girls" have been given to residents of Michigan.

Added health work among children, to offset insofar as possible the effects of depression on child health, is planned by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association for 1932. The extent of this work will be determined entirely by funds realized in the Christmas seal sale, in progress at the present time.

Accident Factors

Dr. Louis Lublin says that the fatal accident experience of the United States is made up of five important factors. Automobile accidents come first with 28 per cent of the accident toll; falls account for 18 per cent; these are followed by drowning with 9 per cent; then by burns with 7 per cent; and by railroad accidents with 6 per cent of the accident total.
