

Mr. Farmer

Do you know that because of the present low price of feed and by keeping every animal fit, Dr. Hess & Clark are producing milk at their Research Farm at 89c a hundred, eggs at less than 9c a dozen, and saving 94c on every hog fattened.

You, too, can do this by giving your cows Dr. Hess Improved Stock Tonic. Feeding your chickens Poultry Pan-a-min, and using Dr. Hess Hog Special, which not only combats the worms but at the same time supplies a mineral balance.

Chelsea Boy Scouts And Parents Meet

Parents' night was observed last Thursday evening at the high school gymnasium by Troop 1, Chelsea Boy Scouts, and was voted the largest and most enthusiastic meeting ever held in Chelsea. About 130 were in attendance.

A pot luck supper was served, after which Eagle Scout Donald Adam presided as toastmaster, introducing Wallace F. Watt, of Washtenaw Council, who gave a splendid talk on scout work. An extensive program for the new cub movement was mapped out for boys of 10 and 11 years of age.

The following demonstrations of scout activities were put on by the local scouts:
Indian Sign Language—Manning Richards and Nicholas Panarites.
Wig Wag Signaling—Kenneth Gilbert and Andrew Gude.
First Aid—James Panarites and Paul Rogers.
Fire Making—Foster Belasol.
Motion pictures of Camp Nowkirk were also shown.

1902 Oldsmobile Makes Appearance In Chelsea

Radical departure from the original construction of motor vehicles was brought to the minds of Chelsea residents on Tuesday, when an Oldsmobile roadster, built in 1902, was driven into town. As compared to present-day styles, this car is a real antique. Donald Weldenbeck, of Three Rivers, is owner of the car, and will enter it in the "Ultimate Old Car" in Michigan contest being sponsored by the Detroit Automobile Show Association. Mr. Weldenbeck was accompanied by Ward Taylor and Lambert Radcliffe, also of Three Rivers. To enter the contest, it is necessary that the old cars be driven from their home port to Detroit. The party of three men left Three Rivers at 10 o'clock Monday morning and arrived in Chelsea before noon on Tuesday. They were unable to attain a speed of more than twenty miles an hour at any time, and as there are many hills between their home town and Chelsea this speed could not be maintained at all times.

The car is of one-cylinder design, with the motor under the driver's seat, with chain drive. The dash resembles the old buggy type, and there is no top. The two springs extend from front to rear axle.

One of the most novel devices noticed by the Standard force when they were taken for a short ride, was the intricate "free wheeling" device, a feature which is being talked about as much in new 1932 models. There is no clutch pedal at all on the car, the mere shifting of a lever at the right side of the driver's seat (which is at the right side of the car) being all the control necessary to its operation. The necessary control principally of two ketone jumps and a bulb-operated horn. Motorcycle tires are used.

Electric Ranges!

"Automobiles? Humph, They'll never be practical. Why, there'll soon be laws forbidding them. The use of the country roads!"

DID YOU EVER WONDER WHAT HE'D SAY ABOUT ELECTRIC RANGES?

If you were planning a trip to Europe, would you ask someone who had never been outside of Kansas whether the suit air really affects one's appetite? If you want to know about electric ranges, ask someone who is using one—a modern one!

We do not claim that all electric ranges are fast. However, we know that the modern electric is fast. The ranges of fifteen years ago were often very slow, to be sure; and they were expensive to operate, especially when we did not have the low cooking rates in effect today. But if you were going to buy a new car, would you go to the owner of a 1920 Model and ask him about the new Models?

Secretary of State

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—Final decision regarding the color combination of the 1932 motor vehicle license plates is to be made soon by the Department of State. Two combinations are being considered at the present time.

The first calls for black numerals on yellow background. The second calls for blue numerals on a white background, a reverse of the colors of the 1932 plates. Within the next few weeks, a decision also will be made regarding the use of Michigan-mined copper in the next year's plates.

The black on yellow color combination is generally recognized as the most legible combination possible while the blue on white is considered to have third place in legibility of color combinations.

Michigan and Ohio 1932 plates are very similar, both having white figures on a blue background. The most marked difference is in the location of the name of the state. Michigan plates have the words "Michigan 1932" above the numerals while Ohio puts the year and state below the numerals.

1932 color combinations of other nearby states are: Illinois, blue and orange; Indiana, green and white; Kentucky, maroon and white; Minnesota, maroon and gold; New York, black and yellow; Pennsylvania, gold and blue; West Virginia, black and white; and Wisconsin, yellow and blue. The Province of Ontario is using a combination of grey and black.

Approximately 300,000 motorists must obtain new drivers licenses before May 1, 1932.

Since the new law requiring registration of motor vehicle operators went into effect, about 300,000 have obtained licenses. The new law requires that all licenses issued between January 1st, 1925 and January 1, 1928 expire May 1 and it is estimated that about 300,000 drivers are yet using licenses issued during that period.

and America's great response!

(Four-Door Sedan with Straight Eight engine, 1932 model)

Almost $700 less for a Buick Four-Door Sedan in 1932 than in 1922! And quality, meanwhile, so vitally advanced that there is literally no comparison between the two models! For the new Buick Four-Door Sedan for 1932, listing at $995, is a Straight Eight with Wizard Control and scores of important advancements. Here is a record of value-giving that the motor industry, represented by Buick, actually achieved. And here is how the motoring public has rewarded Buick for the achievement: Today, as a result of Buick's policy of giving greater value year after year, America is awarding Buick more than three-to-one preference over all other eight-cylinder price class. The reasons will be instantly apparent to you when you note the value-leadership of the new Buick Eight for 1932 with Wizard Control. Twenty-six models, priced from $935 to $2055, f. o. b. Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I wish to ask in your question department where the Farm Board gets the money with which to buy farm products?

Ans.—All farm products the Farm Board buys is purchased with a view of stabilizing the market for such products. They are bought from the money of the enormous revolving fund granted to the board by the federal government. The original revolving fund appropriated by Congress consisted of $250,000,000.

Ques.—How many chickens are there in the United States? Will that question hold you?

Ans.—In round numbers there are 400,000,000 chickens, counting those in (g)rumble seats, in the United States.

Ques.—Is the League of Nations still in existence? If so, how many Nations are in the League?

Ans.—Yes, the League of Nations exists. Mexico was the last country to be admitted to membership. The League now has a membership of 55 countries.

Ques.—Can you tell me if George Washington ever taught school and was he a great reader?

Ans.—George Washington never taught school, and there is no evidence that he was a great reader. He kept a diary as to how he spent his time, but in it he does not refer to any books he read.

Ques.—After the war of 1870, when France surrendered to Germany, how much did Germany make France pay for the war debt?

Ans.—Besides ceding Alsace-Lorraine, Germany compelled France to pay a war debt of five billion dollars.

Ques.—Why was the Leaning Tower of Pisa built to lean?

Ans.—Originally the Leaning Tower of Pisa was built perpendicular. It is leaning because of its foundation. It is in no danger of collapsing, but steps are being taken to re-inforce the soil at its foundation with cement. A commission appointed by the Italian government found the inclination of the Tower was increasing at the rate of about one-third of an inch every ten years. According to the law of gravitation this would require about 300 years before the Tower would fall.

Ques.—Can you tell me what is the family name of the Prince of Wales?

Ans.—Members of the royal family do not have family names in the sense that commoners do. But the family name of the British royal family has been Windsor since the World War, and no doubt if the Prince of Wales would become a private citizen his name would be Edward Windsor.

Ques.—To decide an argument will you please state in your question column which expression is correct: "He is at fault" or "He is in fault."

Ans.—We cannot decide in favor of either of you, for both forms are correct.

Ques.—Can you give me a good formula for reducing?

Ans.—The best one we know of is to move your head vigorously from side to side when asked to have another helping.

Ques.—Is there a law against the destruction of United States coins?

Ans.—There is a law forbidding the mutilation of United States coins, but there is none against the total destruction of them.

Ques.—Was Tom Thumb the smallest man in the world? Was that his real name? And when did he live?

Ans.—"Tom Thumb" was the assumed name of Charles Stratton, recognized throughout the world during his life as the smallest man on earth. He was born in 1837 and died in 1883. He was 31 inches tall at the age of 25 years, when he was married to Lavinia Warren, who was one inch taller than "Tom."

College Tests Soil
Daily, Farmers Week

East Lansing, Jan. 20—One way that visitors at Farmers Week, Feb. 1-5, can get direct benefit from the College is to accept the offer of the Soils Department to test samples of soil for anyone who brings them in during the Week.

The tests will be made in the soils laboratories from 1:00 to 2:30 each day, and the analyses will enable the farmers to speed up their programs of soil improvement. Soils samples can be taken any time that snow does not cover the ground.

To obtain fair samples, a slice of soil as deep as the ground is ordinarily plowed should be taken at five or six places in each field. The slices of soil should be thoroughly mixed, and a pint of the mixture should be placed in a clean can and stored in a warm room. If fields contain several different types of soil, samples from each type should be taken.

The soils samples will be tested in Room 201, Agricultural Hall. Specialists from the soils department, each day, will discuss ways to improve soils of the types from which the samples were taken.

MONVILLE COOPER

Monville Cooper, former resident of Lima township, died Thursday morning, January 19, at Kalamazoo State hospital, after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Cooper was born in 1852 in St. Charles, Mich., the first white child born in that village. His parents were Monville and Sarah Cooper. Forty-three years ago he went to Mason to make his home with an aunt, Mrs. Ella Cooper. For three years he resided in Lima with his cousin, Emmett H. Dancer and family.

He is survived by three brothers, Randolph, of Woodstock, Kansas, Henry, of Oregon, and Clifford, of Washington state.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Ball funeral home, Mason, Rev. E. Porcival officiating, with interment in Mason.

Relatives from this vicinity who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Dancer, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Dancer and son Donald, Mrs. Lillie Cooper, Mrs. Herman Pierce, and daughter Alta.

HONORED ON 80th BIRTHDAY

Honoring the 80th birthday of Orson Beaman, Sr., which came Sunday, January 17, a neighborhood party was held at the home last Saturday evening.

A delicious lunch was served, the lighted birthday cake made by Mrs. Earl Beaman, being a beautiful feature. He also received a lovely bouquet of carnations.

On Sunday a chicken dinner was served to the family from Detroit: Mrs. Clyde Beaman, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Runnaway and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blanding.

He also received a postcard shower from far and near.

Mr. Beaman was born in a log cabin east of the barns at the homestead, coming to the big brick house when two years of age. He lived there until his marriage when he moved to his present home, living there eight years, going back to the homestead until 1913, when he moved back to his present home.

MORE ABOUT BRIDGE

There has been a great deal of controversy during the past few weeks as to the relative merits of the bridge enthusiasts in Chelsea. It was recently stated, or perhaps proved, that the men were better players than the ladies. There also has been proven to a greater degree of exactness the standings of the men players.

Four local players who spend many hours at bridge (as a matter of fact they have played all night several times with no more at stake than the honor of winning) decided that it would be nice to have a local tournament along with the notorious Culbertson-Lenz match. They are none other than Albert Potts, Jr., Norman Mayer, Claude Rogers and Robert Wallace. Messrs. Mayer and Wallace challenged Messrs. Rogers and Potts to a fifty rubber match to be played at intervals at the home of Robert Wallace.

They began playing about six or eight weeks ago, and at the end of forty rubbers, Potts and Rogers admitted defeat. The score at this time was the overwhelming margin of 5200 points and 20 out of 40 rubbers in favor of Mayer and Wallace. It is understood that Mayer and Wallace are ready for the best of them now.

SOUTH LYON—A Chevrolet truck, with panel body, was consumed by flames about one and three-quarters miles east of town Tuesday afternoon. The driver, a man from Detroit, finding the atmosphere getting unusually warm, looked behind him and saw the entire back of the truck in flames. The car was loaded with empty egg crates. It is believed that sparks from a cigarette must have started the fire.—Herald.

PLYMOUTH—Numerous thefts of walnut trees have been reported in wood lots around Plymouth. From one farm, west of town, a large tree was cut down on the night of December 20 and only the good portions of it taken. Some one took it who knew all about lumber, being cut in 16-foot lengths, another section being exactly 6 feet long. It was apparently removed by a large truck that used a derrick.

TECUMSEH—The commercial classes of the Tecumseh high school have organized a Commercial club. The purpose of the club is for the study of various subjects of interest to its members.—Herald.

MILAN—The Milan Chamber of Commerce last Monday night at their regular meeting took definite steps to stop promiscuous solicitations of funds in the village of Milan. A resolution was adopted and committees appointed to draft regulations to stop unworthy organizations and individuals from making house to house solicitations for funds, the worth or need of which is questionable.—Leader.

Tuberculosis Toll Declines In 1931

Michigan continued to benefit during 1931 from its anti-tuberculosis campaign as the death rate from tuberculosis declined to a new low point of 56.2 deaths per 100,000 population for the nine months of the year. The new rate compares with 70.3 and 62.7 for the same periods in 1929 and 1930 and marks a reduction of 32 per cent in tuberculosis mortality since 1920, it is shown in data prepared by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

The lower death rate was achieved despite a 26-per-cent increase in the number of cases of tuberculosis reported for the nine month period over 1930 and in the face of living conditions favoring increased intensity of the disease, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The constantly lowering toll taken by tuberculosis is considered the result of widespread anti-tuberculosis work and improved general health conditions.

"The increasing vigilance of physicians and sanatoriums and the loyalty of Michigan people who support each Christmas seal sale are responsible for the great success of the tuberculosis campaign," the Association declares. "As long as these forces are lined up against tuberculosis, the disease will kill fewer men, women and children each succeeding year."

Announce Speakers For Farmers Week

East Lansing, Jan. 20.—The list of speakers for the general and sectional meetings at Farmers Week to be held at Michigan State College, February 1-5, includes nearly 200 men and women prominent in all fields related to agriculture and home economics.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, L. J. Taber, Columbus, Ohio, Master of the National Grange; Dr. C. E. Ladd, Ithaca, New York, director of extension work; C. S. Brown, Washington, D. C., representative of the Federal Farm Board; Duncan Marshall, Toronto, former Minister of Agriculture in Canada; H. Ullsberger, Benton Harbor, manager Great Lakes Fruit Growers, Inc.; and John L. Lovett, Detroit, secretary, Michigan Manufacturers Assn., will be speakers on the general programs held in the afternoons and evenings.

Complete sectional programs with several speakers for each day's sessions have been arranged by many of the college departments. These meetings are held from 9:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. and are adjourned to permit everyone to attend the general meetings. Many of the sectional programs bring successful men or women direct from their farm homes to tell their methods of meeting present day conditions of producing crops and livestock.

Thirty state-wide organizations which have been leaders in better farming and living practices hold annual meetings during the week and most of them elect officers for next year.

Two programs in which entertainments will divide time with able speakers are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Waldron Man Wins Corn Championship

East Lansing, Jan. 20.—Growing 112 bushels of shelled corn per acre brings to Rhea Walling, Waldron, the title of Michigan corn growing champion for 1931, according to the farm crops department of Michigan State College, which supervised the ninth annual corn growing contest for this state.

The good crop, according to Mr. Walling, was the result of the use of high quality seed, commercial fertilizers, alfalfa and mammoth clover in the rotation preceding corn, and good cultural methods. The variety of corn grown was Gilbert's Yellow Dent. This variety was developed by Ernest Gilbert, a neighbor of the champion corn grower.

Michigan is divided into three regions in the corn growing contest to permit farmers in each section to compete against growers who produce crops under similar climatic conditions. The four leading growers in each region were announced at the same time as the champion was named.

The winners for Region 1 are Rhea Walling, Waldron, 112 bu.; N. G. Dickerson, Bloomingdale, 92 bu.; Felix Witt, Jasper, 86 bu.; and Roscoe Masters, Waldron, 85 bu. The men named in Region 2 are Arthur W. Jewett, Mason, 92 bu.; John A. Thurman, Mt. Clemens, 91 bu.; Milton Shear, Flushing, 83 bu.; and Verh Cronk, Bellevue, 82 bu. The high men in Region 3 are H. Alfred Sturm, Pigeon, 95 bu.; George H. Rae, Bay City, 86 bu.; B. and W. Crandall, Bellaire, 55 bu.; and Herbert Gittle, Pigeon.

NORTHVILLE—Along with the stories of butterflies and angelforms being called forth by this unprecedented spring weather in January, comes a story of bees swarming. At the farm home of C. W. Hamilton on the South Lyon road, five miles just west of town, a swarm of bees were lured forth from their hives by the warm sunshine one day last week and migrated to the sunny side of the house where they clung all day, finally going back to their hives. Mrs. Hamilton says to her knowledge this never has happened before, bees usually choosing summer time for swarming.—Record.

GRASS LAKE—The next time Frank Ferris buys a farm it will be one which slopes in one direction only. When the Riley drain was constructed Mr. Ferris was one of those assessed. Then along came the Grand river drain and we are told, Mr. Ferris contributed again. Then came the Grass Lake drain and Mr. Ferris liberally (by request) "forked over" again. But the Grass Lake farmer is still smiling and asserts that if there are any improvements needed in the village he will be glad to contribute to them also.—News.

"FRANKENSTEIN"

The man who made a monster.

No thriller ever made can touch it—this tale of a monster who looked like a man—conceived in madness—built with love.

Starring Colin Clive, Mae Clark, John Boles, Boris Karloff.

There have been rumors that certain parts of this picture had been removed since its first showing, but Chelsea people will see 300 feet more than was shown in Detroit at the "R. K. O. Downtown" theatre, where it had its first run in Detroit.

People of excitable or highly nervous temperaments should not attend. Children will be admitted with parents' consent, but we do not think they will be interested in the picture.

ADVICE FOR JOAN

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(as by Melville Newspaper Syndicate, (WNU Service))

H—Her problem was as new to Joan as if no other girl had ever tried to solve a similar one. Which to marry—the poor, beloved young man on the high young man whom she respected and liked and might, in time, come to love.

There had come into her life two men. One, young Milton Arnold, son of the president of the local cotton mills.

The other, Barry Mason, principal of the school where she taught. Barry would inherit thousands. Barry had an invalid mother dependent on him and principals are seldom stepping stones to a fortune.

In a burst of confidence, she told her mother all about it. "They've both asked to marry me," she confessed. "But I don't know—I don't know."

Her mother, watching Joan's lovely, downcast face, did not wonder that she was destined of two men.

"Joan," she said suddenly, "why don't you spend your vacation with Aunt Carol? Go away from both of these estimable young men and think things out for yourself."

"I'm afraid," said Joan, "that if I do that, I'll surely want MIT. Just a glimpse of that sort of life—"

"As you like," said her mother indifferently.

In the end, Joan went to Boston. She was met at the station by her aunt's brown-illuminous and brown-sulphur chauffeur. She was driven to the solemn brownstone-fronted house in Back Bay, then shown to her room and told by a precise white-capped maid that her aunt would be home at five.

At five promptly, Aunt Carol, magnificently furred and gowned, came hurrying into the room and took Joan in her arms.

"Your mother wrote me," she said archly, "that you've run away from two ardent admirers. And meanwhile, we must see that you have the finest time."

Not even Aunt Arnold, Joan's aunt's sister, could have whirled through more gaiety than did Joan in the following days.

Dinners, dances, luncheons, shopping tours, opera—it was a wonder if either Barry or MIT were ever spared a thought.

And yet, lying in the exquisitely-draped four-poster, Joan's thoughts nightly traveled home. This sort of life would be hers forever if she married MIT. If she married Barry—well, of course, it was absurd to think she would know either poverty or anything remotely approaching it. What she would know would be doing her own household tasks, earning, economy, doing without this to obtain that, and if there should be a family, a constant speculation as to where dentist bills, music lessons and college educations were coming from.

Joan didn't see a great deal of her aunt, though introduced to the heavy of young people that view daughters and sons of her aunt's friends. She was swept along without effort on her part on the surge of various social activities.

It was the last night of her stay that Aunt Carol came into her room as she was undressing before the cozy little fire that burned in the grate.

"Have you settled that momentous question of choice?" she asked with a smile.

Joan shook her head.

"Take it for granted," went on her aunt, "that both are fine young men, and that their incomes being equal—Joan, do you love one of them?"

A rosy flush suffused the sweet contours of Joan's face. "I—I think so," she confessed.

Her aunt came over and laid a hand heavily with shining rings on Joan's slender shoulder. "Take the one you love, Joan. If it's the rich one—well and good. If the poor one—take him. Life brings hardships and disappointments that only love will withstand. You see, I know." She paused, then went on lightly, "I'm going to tell you a little secret, Joan. I once had the same decision to make that you have. I loved a poor young man and I married the rich one. I haven't been altogether unhappy, but I stepped in to somebody else's life and have never had time to live my own. I'll swap my luxurious house and position in society for a sweet young thing like yourself and all the boys you are going to bring your mother—a good son-in-law, your children and—she turned down and kissed her pretty niece and departed.

Joan's father met her at the station in the old car that had to be cranked before it would go. "Hope life with the plutocrats hasn't spoiled your taste for home, Joanie," he grinned.

"Between you and me, I love your Aunt Carol's lot. I was once quite sweet on her but she turned me down for a young man with a million. If she hadn't, I should never have got your mother."

Joan said "Yes" to Barry that very evening. "It's love that counts," she told him gravely. "Life brings many hardships that only love can withstand. Better marry a poor young man."

Not Barry, who did not realize what it was all about, shook her gently by her slender shoulders. "I'm not so dumb poor, Joan," he said. "And I'm due for a nice next year!" And he was indeed as he took her in his arms, at the funny little smile that lingered on Joan's cupid bow lips.

PINKNEY—We were misinformed in regard to the new road being built south of town. Instead of continuing on until it connects with the Hi-Land Lake road it will only run to Silver Lake. The road is now completed and the work of graveling it was finished last week. The Hi-Land section of it will be built later when times are more prosperous.—Dispatch.

BRIGHTON—Carl Schmidt, the genial Pere Marquette crossing watchman, reports the first robin. On one of the days of last week with a particularly spring-like atmosphere, Mr. Schmidt heard the red-breast singing in the maple trees on First street at the rear of the old Western House and upon investigation found him in the tree-top. He was probably a bird of good judgment who stayed over, deciding it was useless to make a long journey south with Florida weather prevailing in Michigan.—Argus.
