INGHAM LEGISLATOR TELLS OF POLITICAL EVILS IN TALK HERE

Reviews Work of Special Session Just Concluded in Address Before Kiwanis Club.

Verne J. Brown, publisher of the Ingham County News, Mason, and member of the state legislature, gave some interesting facts concerning Michigan governmental affairs and the accomplishments of the special session concluded last week, in an address at the local Kiwanis club meeting Monday night.

Mr. Brown stated that the fact that legislation enacted at the special session reduced state expenditures a few millions of dollars, it did not mean that taxpayers of the state were as yet relieved of the tax burden which must be lifted to prevent unlimited confiscation of property to satisfy tax claims. He said the legislature had merely "administered a dose of pink pills to allay the pain until a major operation could be performed."

Equal criticism was meted out by the speaker to both major political parties for their failure to work toward relief for the taxpayer rather than catering to powerful blocs and lobbyists whose demands are usually met, with little or no thought being given to economy in government at this crucial time. Mr. Brown referred to America as "the wealthiest and most looted nation on earth." His appeal is for a fearless uprising and organization of the taxpaying public, with the purpose in mind to elect men to office who will lead the fight for tax relief, who will not work for the mere furtherance of their political ambitions, to the detriment of their constituents.

Merton Helms of Detroit, chairman of the Kiwanis International convention which will be held in Detroit last week in June, was also a guest at the meeting, and spoke briefly on convention plans. Walter Ingram of Chicago, who is with the service department of Kiwanis International, was present and also spoke briefly. Mr. Ingram will be the speaker at next Monday's meeting of the local club and will take for his subject "An Adventure in Common Sense." He is a speaker of note and an invitation is extended by the Kiwanis club for anyone interested to attend the meeting. Reservations can be made by notifying Paul E. Niehaus, secretary.

Pomona Grange Meets At Salem M. E. Church

About 30 members of Pomona Grange were present at the meeting held Tuesday evening in Salem Methodist church, North Francisco. The fifth degree meeting was called to order at six o'clock by Master Fred Norton and opened with the regular order of business. A resolution was passed opposing the tax bill now before the Senate. The order of passing the gavel will be from Manchester to Sylvan, thence to Cavanaugh Lake Grange. The latter event will take place at Salem church, Tuesday evening, June 7, and it will then be passed to Solo Grange on Tuesday evening, July 5.

About 100 were present for a pot luck supper which was served at 7 o'clock, and the open meeting which followed. A talk by Leonard Oloff, of Detroit, explained the Russian situation and the ill effects of Communism that might take place in our own country. He also spoke along economic lines.

Will Present "The Trial of George Martin"

On Sunday night at 7:30, at the M. E. church, the Michigan Pocket Testament League will present the dramatic Criminal Courts Trial, "The Trial of George Martin." This will not be a burlesque on, or imitation of a real common pleas court trial, but a faithful reproduction of one. It will be educational, as well as interesting. It reveals in amazingly realistic the Anti-Christian and Anti-American forces at work today which are undermining our entire social and religious structure. Every citizen that wishes to be informed on the current world movements is invited to be present. The Communists are preparing for a strike at the heart of world government. The Atheists are arrayed against the Christian church. What these forces are doing will be portrayed in this trial.

The trial will be presented by a cast of well-known Chelsea people, under the personal direction of P. H. Wood, the Executive Secretary of the Michigan Pocket Testament League. After the trial, those who are in school will be presented with a beautiful cloth-bound Gospel of John. Those expecting to secure a good seat are advised to be at the church early.

ST. PAUL'S L. A. S. MEETS

NATIONAL EDITORIAL
ASSOCIATIONTaxpayers Ask
Of Relief Work

By Elton R. Eaton

Lansing, Mich., May 11—Members of the state legislature are back home today talking face to face with the taxpayers of Michigan about the work of the longest special legislative session ever held in the history of the state. They are discussing in detail the various acts that were passed for bringing some sort of relief to a state that finds itself contending with the most serious economic problem it has ever known. For nearly six weeks the legislature was in session. Senators and representatives, fully realizing the critical situation their neighbors and their constituents are facing, did not act in a hurry. They hoped through their work to bring about as much benefit as possible, they explained, and because of this they believed it best to take plenty of time to make a full study of every piece of legislative matter before them.

With the exception of the additional reduction made by the senate in the administration budget bill, most of the legislation enacted provides for diversion of funds from one purpose to another. The funds that are paid into the state in the form of gasoline and automobile weight taxes will be to a certain extent diverted to the relief of counties that are unable to pay Covert road bonds and taxes. A bill, rewritten six times, amended in the senate and again in the house with more than thirty changes brought about by amendments, is now an easy thing for a legislative body of one hundred members to unite on in a hurry.

Counties that have built many miles of roads under the Covert road law were anxious to secure as much money from the state as possible to pay off obligations that are now due and demand immediate attention. On the other hand, northern Michigan and Upper Peninsula counties where only a small portion of the road program has been completed, have been anxious to retain in the highway bill as much money as possible for road construction purposes. Representatives from the northern counties declared that road building was absolutely essential to them as there was no other form of employment for thousands of men who have been thrown out of work by closed mines.

They have resented strenuously the term "Santa Claus counties" applied to them by some who wanted all road work stopped. This term originated through the fact that northern Michigan has received in the past, few years more from the weight and gas tax funds through road improvements than they have paid into the funds.

They resent the term because of the fact, as they contend, northern Michigan for years and years through its vast mineral and timber resources, poured untold riches into the lap of all Michigan. Now that these resources have to a very great extent been exhausted and that part of the state is dependent upon the tourist business, they feel that they are entitled to more consideration than what some had figured they should have. It was the militant attitude of the representatives and senators from the upper part of the state that caused to be written into the bill amendments that provided for $2,000,000 of new road construction in the Upper Peninsula and $2,000,000 in the northern part of the lower peninsula.

Not only did they force these provisions into the highway bill but in the budget bill they forced the senate to restore a sufficient amount to permit all state parks to remain open this summer. The conservation department had announced that it proposed to keep at least 20 state parks closed this summer.

In addition to this, the northern part of the state won another victory when it required the "budget bill" to carry a provision for complete forest fire protection, another item that had been cut in the original budget bill.

The independent group of senators that set out to force much greater reductions in state expenses than had been recommended, state that considerably over a million dollars was saved by their action. The state police were cut nearly half a million and the state prisons came in for considerably more substantial slashes. No salaries under $1200 per year were cut but higher-up salaries were reduced considerably more than 15 per cent.

The house members secured enactment of a resolution calling for an investigation of gasoline prices within the state. They want to know why some sections are required to pay from two to five cents more per gallon than other sections.

The work of the legislature was completed late Friday afternoon. Never before in Michigan's history has its legislature been called to consider questions directly due to unfavorable economic conditions. Legislative leaders say they hope never again to be required to face such a situation.

Will Take Census
Of Crippled Children

A greater effort than ever before will be made this spring by county school commissioners and city superintendents to secure an accurate list of crippled children in the state of Michigan.

"Equal opportunities for all" the slogan of a democracy, can not be carried out if a complete list of all children who are in need of orthopedic care cannot be secured. It has been discovered that the census information regarding crippled children is inaccurate. This is due to the enumerator's inability to recognize cases having slight orthopedic conditions, or to the parents' unwillingness to submit the proper information. Many times parents are of the erroneous idea that it is a disgrace to own a crippled child, and consequently try to seclude the child or withhold necessary information.

Since every crippled child will sooner or later become a public liability unless properly treated at an early age, it behooves every taxpayer in Michigan to help the enumerators to locate any children between birth and the age of twenty-one who have orthopedic defects.

Children with serious deformities, but having a healthy mind, may be given training when will enable them to become self supporting citizens and happy in sharing the responsibilities of the community.

The cooperation of every thinking person is solicited in achieving the goal. Anyone knowing of a child having crippled conditions such as webbed fingers, club feet, a palsied condition, or perhaps a pronouncedly crippled limb, is urged to make this condition known to the enumerator who will call at every home in the community during the latter part of May.

Sharing Opinions

Opinions is a species of property that I am always deatrous of sharing with my friends.—Charles Lamb.

WAYNE—Someone carelessly dropped a cigaret in a woods on Palmer Road and, as happens so often, a fire resulted. When the fire subsided, neighbors prowling through the ashes found the charred bodies of six snakes, giant blueacers, one of which was 61 inches in length. Further search disclosed two more of the reptiles which, though sorely injured, were still able to wriggle. They were dispatched with clubs.—Review.

Neuhausers' Master Breeding Farm of America

ONE of the biggest real estate deals ever made in this territory was announced recently when it became known that Neuhauser Bros. of Napoleon, Ohio, proprietors of the famous "Good Luck" Hatcheries, had purchased a magnificent 353-acre master breeding farm, located on M-50, seven miles east of Jackson, Michigan, and one mile west of Napoleon, Mich.

This master breeding farm is equipped with modern buildings, some 69 in all including 84 poultry houses, 14x80, and 500 silver fox pens, the latter occupying a space of 60 enclosed acres.

The purchase of this farm is in line with a progressive program which the Neuhausers expect will result in a hatchery and fox farm of national scope of importance. These boys started in the hatchery business on a most modest scale and in late years have seen their single hatchery spread into 23 branches covering well over the north-western part of Ohio, into Indiana, Michigan and still on to Canada. They are making unceasing efforts to improve the quality of their chicks and this last farm purchase is one of the biggest steps toward chick perfection they have ever taken.

It is planned to stock the poultry houses with 16,000 laying hens of the very best bloodlines in America. They will further import stock from the internationally celebrated Tom-Barron Farms of England. In this magnificent flock there will be 20 different varieties, but about half of the birds will be big type English Leghorns and when the farm is fully stocked it can easily be seen that this will be the largest poultry breeding establishment in America. Cockerels from this farm will be distributed to all of their branch hatchery flocks so that by this mating even better quality than ever before will be found in the sturdy chicks which are now being sent all over the United States and Canada by the Neuhausers.

Just as soon as possible another Neuhauser branch hatchery will be located at their farm where chicks will be hatched from trap-nested pedigreed stock.

The Neuhausers are also interested in their silver fox industry and they plan to move all of their valuable fur-bearing animals to this farm where the very last word in equipment and housing facilities awaits them.

Keep soap suds

HOT and save your elbows

When dirt clings stubbornly to wood and tile surfaces, it's seldom the cloth, the brush or the soap that are at fault. More often than not, it's because you're trying to skimp on hot water. The saving of hot water means the loss of valuable time and the maximum of tiresome hand labor. Actual tests show that hot water cleans from two to twenty times faster than lukewarm or cold water. To speed up housecleaning tasks, therefore, keep soap suds HOT at all times.

There is but one dependable way to have enough hot water for every household purpose. Install a Self-Action Gas Water Heater and there'll always be enough on hand—for bathing, shaving, the dishes, the laundry and 1,001 cleaning tasks. The cost is but a few pennies per day per person—much less than it's actually worth to you.

Mrs. Estella Bangs is improved so she joins the family circle again.

All hands are singing the praises of Miss Emma Wohlfahrt who has been

OUR NEIGHBORS

UNADILLA—Austin Gorton has been drawn to serve as a juror at the May term of the Livingston county circuit court.

HOWELL—The committee acting by appointment of the Board of Supervisors has again ordered and will have the Memorial Day flags ready for distribution about May 15th. Those persons and cemetery associations who have heretofore received the flags to mark the graves of the soldier dead for Memorial Day may have their desired number by calling at the Howell post office for them.—Republican Press.

DEXTER—The latter part of last week several carloads of material and machinery arrived and the preliminary work on the new bridge at the foot of Main street is underway. The water in the pond has been drawn down and the work of preparing for the temporary bridge, which is to be constructed at the south of the old bridge, has begun. The spans which were put in years ago for a bridge for the Bolland line are also to be removed. The bridge site is the chief point of local interest at present and no doubt will continue so until the work is completed.—Leader.

MANCHESTER—One of two small bridges between Bridgewater and Salsline near the Schable home, has been rebuilt of concrete the past winter by the County Highway commission, with L. D. Townsend, engineer-manager, which replaces one of steel construction. The Commission talked of building another bridge for the county to ditch a little faster, but evidently gave it up for the present. Some say the building of this bridge is another step nearer the paving of M-11. We hope so.—Enterprise.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I want to ask in your question column if Lindbergh has any sisters or brothers?

Ans.—Colonel Charles Lindbergh has one half-sister only, who is Mrs. Eva Christie, and lives in Red Lake Falls, Minn.

Ques.—So many people use the term "according to Hoyle." May I ask you who Hoyle is and what is meant by the expression?

Ans.—Edmond Hoyle, who was born in London in 1743 and died in 1806, became famous as a recognized authority on card games. His book on "How to Play Whist" (now called "Bridge") was recognized all over the world. His authority applied to all other card games and hence the phrase "according to Hoyle."

Ques.—What possessions does the United States own outside of the United States proper?

Ans.—Uncle Sam owns about 9,000 islands outside the boundaries of the United States proper.

Ques.—What is meant by saying that a person "thumbed his way" to such and such a place?

Ans.—There is a custom with hitchhikers to use their thumb to indicate to motorists that they want to ride. Thus, this is called "thumbing their way."

Ques.—Is "cannot" a verb or adverb, and how is it used in parsing?

Ans.—Although "cannot" is written as one word, it cannot be classed as one word according to the parts of speech. It is a combination of a verb and adverb and must be considered so in parsing.

Ques.—What was the nationality of General Custer, the great Indian fighter? I am told he was of English and Scotch descent.

Ans.—Gen. George A. Custer was not English nor Scotch. He was of German extraction. His great grandfather was named Kuster (pronounced "Kooster") who was a Hessian soldier paroled after the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga. The family then changed the name from "Kuster" to "Custer."

Ques.—To settle an argument will you kindly state in the question department of your paper if it is true that a misplaced comma once cost the United States $5,000,000?

Ans.—Strictly speaking, this is not true. However, the incident cost the United States about $2,000,000. About fifty years ago the tariff law specified that "all foreign fruit plants," etc., meaning plants for transplanting, preparation and experiment, etc., should be admitted into the United States free of duty. A clerk in copying the bill erroneously substituted a comma for the hyphen in the compound word "fruit plants," making it read "all foreign fruit, plants," etc. The result was that for about a year, until Congress could correct the error, all oranges, lemons, bananas, grapes and other fruit were admitted into the United States free of duty.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your paper what is "spiking a cannon," and how is it done?

Ans.—Long ago when old-fashioned cannons were used, the guns were disabled by driving spikes into the opening of the breach through which fire was communicated to the powder. This act was called "spiking" the cannon, and was done when it was necessary to leave the guns behind in making a retreat from the enemy, who could otherwise use the guns. The disablement, however, was only temporary. The words "spiking" has survived to our day, and means breaking or carrying away part of the breech mechanism, making it impossible to use the guns without considerable repair.

Ques.—Doesn't this winter prove that the winters are getting warmer? Our grandfathers tell us about the terrible hard winters we had in the olden days.

Ans.—There is very little change on the average in the temperatures of winter. Records show that 1918 was one of the most severe winters in the climatological history of the nation, while 1932 will go down as one of the mildest in its history. The "terrible" winters that old people tell about are for the most part imaginary, for winters on the average are as cold as they were 100 or 200 years ago. The winters seemed colder to the pioneers because they were not as well protected then as people are now. Moreover, there was a tendency for people to exaggerate the hardships of early life.

Tommy Wilkinson of Chelsea has enlisted with the Nineteenth Infantry that was stationed at Fort Wayne, and will soon have to join his regiment at Mobile.

The meeting in the Congregational church Sunday evening in memory of the sailors of the battleship Maine, was attended by a large audience. The exercises consisted of singing by a male quartette and the choir, and addresses by pastors of the various churches and superintendent of the Chelsea public schools.

S. A. Mapes & Co. will open their new funeral home in a few days. Everything is new and the home presents an attractive appearance.

F. Staffan & Son, the Chelsea ice dealers, announce that they will supply ice until cold weather from the Cavanaugh Lake ice houses for $3.50.

The market the past week took quite an upward turn. Wheat brought from $1.20 to $1.35 per bushel; rye, 60c; oats, 33c; clover seed, $2.50; potatoes, 50c; beans, $1.00; butter, 12c; eggs, 8c; wool, 15c to 20c.

Owen Lodge, dental technician of Butte, Montana, tells Robert Casey about motor problems in the Rockies. He drives a Chevrolet.

An Interview by
ROBERT J. CASEY
Chicago Daily News Reporter

"IN the Rockies," said Owen Lodge of Butte, "the difference between a car and a mountain goat is that you don't have to lubricate the goat."

Mr. Lodge is a dental technician who in two years has driven a 1930 Chevrolet over 32,201 miles of canyon roads and high passes.

"Out here you can't afford to experiment with engine oil," he said as he took a steep grade to demonstrate the performance of his engine.

"When I got this car, I filled it up with Iso-Vis and I've been using Iso-Vis ever since. You may have noticed that I haven't even a carbon knock, and I've never had to grind valves."

"I don't do much driving in connection with my work but when I do drive I want to go places. I went from Butte to Eugene, Ore., last year in thirty hours—crossed two mountain ranges and ran through weather that varied from freezing to 119 degrees in the shade. I added only one quart of oil for the trip."

Mr. Lodge's 32,201 trouble-free miles prove again what Iso-Vis had demonstrated in laboratory tests and in A.A.A. tests on the Indianapolis Speedway—Positive Lubrication. Iso-Vis (a Standard Oil product) will not thin out from dilution. See the Ball and Bottle Test at Standard Oil stations and dealers.

ISO-VIS 30<sup>api</sup>

Polarine also is supplied by our new process, giving it an efficiency which is exceeded only by Iso-Vis. The price is 25c a quart.

MRS. DAVIS

You know Mrs. Davis—the little bride. Two weeks before her marriage she graduated from college with high honors. But in one respect her education had been neglected. Yesterday, for instance, she picked up the telephone and called the grocer. "I would like," she said politely, "to have some things sent up. A box of flour—three packages of breakfast food—one can of baking powder—six bottles of ginger ale—a pound of coffee—a package of—what's that? Oh, why, I'm sure I don't know what brand. Just any kind, I guess!"

No wonder the storekeeper interrupted her. He gets few orders like that nowadays. For wise housewives buy things by NAME. Not merely groceries, but kitchenware and piece goods and household appliances; shoes and shirts and garden seeds; all the thousand and one things they need. Mrs. Davis will complete her education. She will learn to study the advertisements in the newspaper, and to keep herself informed as to qualities and prices. She will take her place alongside thousands of other women as the efficient purchasing agent of her home.

Read the advertising columns of this paper regularly. They are your guide-posts to safe buying.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—From his fur post, Stuart, trader in charge, sighted an overland canoe in the lake. With his headman, Omar, he rescued the drifters, who proved to be Aurora LeBlond, daughter of a trader in the fur business, and a young man, Jim, who proved to be a charming companion. LeBlond, with her father's money, was in search of the missing girl, Aurora, who had been seen in the Sturgeon country, where the Sturgeon country had not been again molested. But one night an old Ojibwa came to their camp on the Lake of the Great Stones, which emptied into the Sturgeon.

CHAPTER II.—Before leaving, Aurora and Jim arranged to exchange notes on a certain island. During their journey, Jim and Aurora were forced to travel toward the LeBlond post. On the way he overthrew the boat, leaving his half-brother, Jim, and Jim took the Indian to LeBlond.

CHAPTER III.—Jim, with Omar, goes to discuss plans with his superior, Andrew Christie. Disappointed at the trade showing made by the post, Christie allows Stuart, at his request, one year to "make good" his leaving the post with a heavy heart, feeling he has been unjustly treated. Parada bribes an Indian to ambush Jim and Omar. The attempt fails, and Jim takes the Indian to LeBlond.

CHAPTER IV.—After hearing the story, LeBlond discharges Parada. Jim and Aurora arrange a rendezvous at the meeting they acknowledged their must elapse before they see each other again. Aurora is returning to Winnipeg and Jim is returning to the Sturgeon country as a factor of Sunset House, has planned a personal appeal to the Indian who was the subject of the story, Jim and Aurora are returning to the Sturgeon country.

CHAPTER V.—Jim, visiting the Indian camp in the Sturgeon country, finds Parada has enlisted their superior to discover the matter which he was trading with Stuart. Parada's men ambush Jim and Omar again, but they are not harmed.

CHAPTER VI.—Jim and Omar travel from camp to camp denouncing Jim's work. Jim and Omar are forced to trade with the Indians. Jim and Omar are forced to trade with the Indians. Jim and Omar are forced to trade with the Indians.

man whose wiles were fast drawing the net of defeat about the little fur post seemed more like something he had read—more the fancy of a dream than reality. Those brief hours of unalloyed delight had been given him to torment his memory in the years to come. She would never return to the Lake of the Sand Beaches.

The following morning, Esau left them. Traveling in a small birch bark canoe he had got by trade from an Ojibwa, the old man started ahead of them down the Sturgeon on his lone search for Jingwak. Time and again Jim had endeavored to learn how he hoped to circumvent the medicine man who had such a hold on the hunters of the Sturgeon, but Esau had kept his own counsel. With a smile, the wily old Indian had replied: "Let me be Esau see too old. Hees back no longer carry de beag load for de companion. His leg, are stiff for de winter trail. But he has seen manes 'ing and hees memory ees long. Let he nevalte come back, eat mean hees head, also, ees no good."

More he refused to say, and Omar, when questioned by the curious Jim, had shaken his head doubtfully as he explained Esau's reluctance. The old man's plan was so wild in its details and so dangerous for its success so largely on luck that Esau dared not divulge it to his chief.

So Stuart parted with his friend with misgivings in his heart. The loyal old Indian was going down the Sturgeon to fight the enemies' country, alone, to fight for Sunset House. What could he do to Jingwak there, in his stronghold, one against many?

He gripped the old Ojibwa's hand in parting. "I don't like to have you go alone, Esau," Jim said. "We ought to fight this out together."

"You and your father was de good friend of me," replied Esau, his eyes bright with feeling. "I am old man. Soon I go talk to your father. Wan I meet heem, he ask, 'Esau, how you leave de boy?' I want to tell heem de boy ees ver fine wid de beag trade at de House of de Setting Sun."

The old man's fingers gripped hard on Jim's. "Dat ees w'y I go to fin' Jingwak!"

Turning Esau showed off the canoe and was soon out of sight behind a timbered point. In the gray eyes of Jim Stuart, as he watched the dip and swing of Esau's paddle until the bent back of the old man disappeared, there was the mist of memory and the emotion of a full heart.

The father he had buried on the shore of far God's lake—what would he not give today for his companion—his and his counsel?

It was September, the moon of the mating of the caribou, September, when through the wild valleys, the lifting sun rolled back curtains of mist, veiling ridges touched here and there with yellow and gold by the magic wand of the frost; September, when the muskgees were blue with ripened berries and the loons, restless with the urge of far journeying, called at sunset across nameless lakes.

North on the vast marshes of the great bay, the legions of the geese were assembling for their autumn rendezvous—later to ride the first stinging winds south over the green seas of the spruce and the flaming islands of the hardwood ridges.

Passing over the spawning beds of the sturgeon, at the outlet of the lake of the Great Stones, where, for a mile, on the sandy bottom, the dark shapes of the huge fish were visible beneath the petersboro, Jim and Omar entered the river from which the old Ojibwa had warned them they would never return. Two days' journey downstream, where the river widened to form a large lake, Jim hoped to find the man they sought. How, when he found him, he was to break the power of the sorcerer, he did not know. But the future of Sunset House depended on it, and in his desperation, Jim was prepared to go far—how far, the man who realized that failure in the trade would mean in the end the loss of Aurora's inheritance, did not dare admit to himself.

All the morning the petersboro rode the swift current of the Sturgeon. Toward noon the drum-beat of rapids which the old Ojibwa had warned them they could not run, sounded in their ears. Then, as they dropped alongshore, with their poles toward the first broken water, they saw the portage trail leading from the river shore back into the timber.

They landed, and Omar, first swinging to his back on a tump-line a bunch of the yearling muskgees they had shot at daylight, balanced the heavy, water-soaked petersboro on its center thwart across his thick shoulders and walked briskly off up the trail. To Omar, however, the man who had packed five bags of company flour a half-mile without resting, this back load, while awkward to balance in the thick brush, was a toy.

With his tump-line, Jim lashed the two guns to a provision bag, swung it to his back, adjusted the head-strap over his forehead, and piled on the rest of their outfit, while Smoke thrashed off through the "brush" after arrow-sigons, rabbit. For a half mile the trail led to the high land back from the river, then turned toward the water. Now, under his heavy load, Jim followed the moving legs of Omar under the petersboro. From the slowly increasing clatter of the rapids, Jim judged that they were nearing the end of the carry and approaching the river; but his sweat-blinded eyes did not lift from the necessities of the man in front.

President Doumer of France Assassinated—Massie Case Defendants Set Free by Gov. Judd—House Nearly Ruins the Economy Bill.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PAUL DOUMER, venerable French president, was shot in the head and back by a Russian while attending a benefit of books by war veterans, and thirteen hours later, despite the efforts of France's best surgeons to save his life.

The assassin, severely beaten by the bystanders, told the police that he was Paul Gorguloff, a Cossack and a Russian Fascist, and that he killed M. Doumer because France is aiding the Bolsheviks to ruin my country. In a diary in his pocket was an entry recording in advance his bloody deed. The man's rambling talk and the lack of real motive led to the belief that he was insane. M. Doumer was only a househead in the French state and was a gentle, reserved old man who had no enemies. Of course there was effort to show that the assassination really was instigated by the Russian communists.

Gorguloff's wife was located in Monte Carlo where they had been living since their marriage last July. She said her husband was always kind, had no Bolshevik friends and never attended communist meetings.

SWIFTLY and unexpectedly came the climax in the Massie case at Honolulu. Two days in advance of the time set for the passing of sentence on the four convicted of manslaughter in the killing of Kahahawai, Judge Davis called the defendants before him and sentenced them to ten years in prison at hard labor. Immediately thereafter Gov. Lawrence M. Judd commuted the sentence to one hour in the custody of a bailiff.

Gov. Judd, and this time having passed the navy lieutenant, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Porteus, and her son-in-law, and were set free. This procedure was in accord with an arrangement made by Governor Judd, Judge Davis and attorneys on both sides. The governor had been subjected to great pressure to pardon the defendants, and it was held that his action was in accord with the jury's recommendation of mercy.

Settlement in Hawaii was diverse, many of the natives being extremely dissatisfied with what they considered a miscarriage of justice, and most of the whites feeling that the governor should have pardoned the four outright thus preserving their civil rights. In Washington the latter view seemed to prevail, several senators and representatives being outspoken in the matter. Congressman Summers of Texas introduced a bill granting the President power to pardon defendants in the territories, and before the action in Honolulu was known bills had been introduced in both houses for a congressional pardon for the four convicted. Also a petition for a pardon was signed by eighty members of Congress and sent to Governor Judd. Dispatches from Honolulu said it was likely the prosecution of the four remaining youths accused of attacking Mrs. Massie would now be dropped. The young woman had said she was ready to go to the stand against them and once more tell of her terrible experience, but Clarence Darrow, her attorney, advised her to come home with her family and forget all about it.

The senate, without a record vote, passed a bill introduced by Senator Brigham under the terms of which a disagreement of a jury in a criminal case in the Hawaiian islands will not operate to acquit the defendants.

STIMULATED to anger by the action of Congress, President Hoover sent a special message harshly valuing the lawmakers for their failure to balance the budget by establishing economies in the cost of government. The criticism was directed especially at the Democratic-controlled lower house, but the senate, nominally controlled by the Republicans, also came in for a scolding.

Democratic leaders flew into a rage and accused the President of playing politics and of having no definite position on economy and budget balance. To this Mr. Hoover replied with a statement from the White House denying partnership and setting forth his efforts against delay in balancing the budget and such "destructive legislation" as is involved in the house bill, the Goldborough inflation measure and the proposals for enormous additional expenditures.

WHEN the house of representatives, disregarding the leadership of both parties, got through mauling the economy measure that was designed to contribute $300,000,000 savings toward balancing the budget and handed it over to the senate as an amendment to the legislative appropriation bill, there wasn't much left of the product of the special economy committee. Indeed, it was about $100,000,000 short of the mark.

By limiting government pay reduction to 25 per cent of salaries in excess of $2,500 the house knocked out $55,000,000 of the $307,000,000 it was proposed to save on pay roll cost. The house also rejected savings on veterans' benefits estimated at more than $18,000,000 and turned down the proposed consolidation of the War and Navy departments which the economy committee promised would save from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

While administration leaders laid plans to salvage some of the wreckage on the senate floor, the appropriations committee was confronted with the task of revamping the shattered measure.

Meantime, prospects of lengthy contests over each side of the triangular problem of balancing the budget—taxation, reduction in appropriations and economy—cast a fresh shadow of doubt over probability of completing the necessary session work before June 10.

MARYLAND'S preferential primary was made interesting by the contest for delegates between President Hoover and Dr. Joseph I. France, the only avowed rival of Mr. Hoover for the Republican nomination.

Though France is a Marylander and was that state's senator a dozen years ago, he was turned down by the voters in favor of Hoover by a substantial majority. This setback, however, will not serve to put a stop to Doctor France's campaign. He will keep right on trying to corral delegates elsewhere and has engaged convention headquarters in a Chicago hotel. He is his own manager.

Baltimore voters paid more attention to the matter of repealing so far as that city is concerned, Maryland's 200-year-old blue laws than to the presidential choice. On this question they cast more than 142,000 ballots and the repeal was passed by a majority of 83,000.

CALIFORNIA Democrats dealt a rather severe blow to the aspirations of Governor Roosevelt, the third within a short time. In the preferential primary they gave Speaker John N. Garner a plurality of more than 40,000 votes over the New York or Al Smith came in third, some 75,000 votes behind the Texan. Though Mr. Garner has not been an avowed candidate for the nomination, this makes him more than a forgotten son and insures the continuation of the campaign in his behalf.

President Hoover was unopposed in the Republican primary and piled up a big vote.

In Alabama the state of Democratic delegates instructed for Franklin D. Roosevelt beat the list of unattached delegates by about three to one. The New York governor also captured the South Dakota delegation. Republicans of the latter state favored a delegation instructed for Hoover and also voted to send Senator Peter Norbeck back to the senate, defeating Harry K. Brownell of Sioux Falls.

FOR several years at least, the people of the United States need read little if anything about Al Capone, for that eminent gentleman is now behind the bars of the federal penitentiary at Alcatraz, serving a term of 11 years for income tax fraud.

The United States Supreme Court could hardly refuse to review "Scarface's" case and his attorneys could devise nothing more to keep him out of the penitentiary. His sentence, imposed by Federal Judge William C. Coker, is ten years in Atlanta and one year in a county jail, besides a fine of $50,000. If Al believes himself he may be free again in about seven and one-half years, but it is unlikely that he will ever again be a power in the world of gangsters.

On leaving Chicago, where he had been in jail for six months, Capone said, gravely, that he was not sure at all and that he hoped Chicago would be better off and the public clamor would be satisfied.

REPRESENTATIVES of the Japanese and Chinese governments, propped up in their hospital beds, signed an agreement which ended hostilities in the Shanghai area.

A Japanese surgeon amputated the right leg of Minister Maunori Shige-mitsu soon after he signed the agreement. He was the most seriously hurt of the five highest Japanese officials who were wounded in a recent bombing.

The Japanese volunteered to start withdrawal of their troops at once "as the first step in the faithful execution of the agreement." Withdrawal is to be completed in about four weeks.

BY a vote of 44 to 21 the senate passed the Hule bill for construction of all warships needed to bring the navy up to the tonnage limits of the Washington and London naval treaties.

As the bill goes to the house it provides for modernizing five of the newest American battleships, the construction of all new ships permitted this country by treaty, and the replacement of over-age vessels. If all ships needed to bring the fleet up to treaty limits were laid down prior to 1933 the cost of the bill would be approximately 800 million dollars. If the fleet were brought up to treaty strength every ten years the cost would approximate a billion dollars, an average of 100 millions a year.

FOR about ten years there has been before congress, in one form or another, a measure designed to make steady the value of the dollar. The other day the house, after brief consideration, passed such a bill, known as the Goldborough bill, and turned it over to the senate, where it seems doomed to defeat by the Republican majority.

The proponents of this measure say it will restore the purchasing power of the dollar and stabilize commodity prices through the open market operations and redemption facilities of the federal reserve system. The bill declares it to be "the policy of the United States, that the average purchasing power of the dollar based on the 1921-1925 level of commodity prices, shall be restored and maintained by the control of the volume of credit and currency." It charges the federal reserve board, the federal reserve banks and secretary of the treasury with the duty of "making effective this policy."

Opponents of the measure, who include Secretary of the Treasury, William C. G. Hoover, and the Federal Reserve Board, maintain that the federal reserve board is to issue fiat money, and "the greatest scheme of inflation ever proposed in any country."

SEVERAL highly important decisions were handed down by the United States Supreme court. One of them, read by Justice Benjamin Cardozo, rejected modification of the packers' consent decree of 1920 to permit packers to deal at wholesale in groceries and other lines not related to the packing-house industry.

In January, 1931, the District of Columbia authorized the modification. Under the Supreme court's ruling, the packers will be prohibited from continuing in their present lines of business and must comply with the terms of the consent decree, which restricted their activities exclusively to meat and other slaughter-house products.

The tremendous business of the packers was emphasized by Justice Cardozo, who pointed out that the original decree was insisted on because of fear that the companies would otherwise be able to crush their smaller rivals. He said the packers were in a position today to do under the modified decree what was feared when the consent decree was entered. Justices Butler and Van Devanter dissented.

Ruling on a case from Texas, the court decided 5 to 4 that the state Democratic executive committee had acted illegally in barring negroes from participating in the party's primaries. The majority opinion, handed down by Justice Cardozo, and concurred in by Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Brandeis, Stone and Roberts, held that the party committee lacked this power even though authorized by statute to prescribe the requirements for party membership.

President Hoover was upheld in his controversy with the senate over the case of his appointment of George Otis Smith to the federal power commission. The case arose when, in December, 1930, the senate consented to Smith's appointment, then in January, 1931, requested the return of the nomination and voted to reconsider its vote of consent. During the interim, Smith had angered radical senators by dismissing certain power commission employees. The President refused to accede to the senate's request.

WASHINGTON Cathedral—on Mount St. Athanas, the foundation stone of which was laid 25 years ago, was opened for public worship on Thursday, Ascension day.

The first service was held in the morning in the choir and sanctuary, the first portion of the main building to be completed, and was attended by the President and Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the war President, whose tomb is in the Bethlehem chapel.

Bishops of the Episcopal church, other religious and lay leaders from all parts of the country and representatives of all ranks of official life in Washington also gathered for the opening of the beautiful Gothic edifice, about one-third of which has been completed.

GASTON MEANS, one of the country's most notorious characters, has become involved in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case. He was arrested on charges by Mrs. Evelyn Walsh Leann, wife of the Washington publisher, that she had given him $100,000 with which to purchase the return of the stolen child and that he had not accomplished that object and had retained the money. There were a lot of queer angles to the affair and the authorities had not reached the bottom of it.

GRASS LAKE—Damage estimated at $15,000 resulted from a fire which destroyed five cottages, including that of J. M. Fuller, of Grass Lake, at Pleasant Lake early Thursday morning. Lightning caused the fire, a bolt striking the Arthur Whitney cottage at the height of an electrical storm.

STOCKBRIDGE—The gas-electric train that has formerly brought Stockbridge three mail deliveries has been taken off and a closed pouch service, a combination of passenger, express and freight train has replaced it. One train arrives from Jackson at 10:10 a. m. and the afternoon train at 2:20 p. m. There will be no change in the Star Route bus schedule arriving from Jackson at 7:50 a. m. and leaving for Jackson in the afternoon at 4:30 p. m. (Brief Sun.)

Man Lost 26 Pounds Looks 100% Better

Feels Stronger Than Ever

Just to prove to any doubtful man or woman that Kruschen Salts is the SAFE way to reduce—let us take the letter of Mr. F. J. Fritz of Cincinnati, Ohio, recently received.

He writes: "I've tried extreme dieting, setting up exercises with very little results—but the results from Kruschen are almost incredible. In 3 months I reduced from 205 to 179 pounds and feel stronger than ever—no more wheezing or gasping for breath—friends say I look 100 per cent better."

Bear in mind, you fat man, that there is danger in too much fat—try the safe way to reduce—one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on fatty meats and sweets—one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle—get it at Burg's Corner Drug Store or any drugstore in the world. ### A Shocking Crime The Ghosts May Wonder To Compete, Fight Russia Turns Lingo

The assassination of President Doumer, of the French republic, inflicts upon the people of France a sorrow shared by the whole world.

President Doumer, whose great popularity made it possible for him to defeat the powerful Briand for the presidency, is described by Lloyd-George as "an attractive speaker, an able and experienced minister of unblemished integrity, with an honorable career."

The loss of his sons in the war had endeared their President to the people of France. They looked upon him as typifying the finest qualities of the French race.

Many Americans hearing that two bullets were fired into the excellent French President by a Russian, will exclaim, "Those murderous bolsheviks!" It happens, however, that this Russian, Paul Gorguloff, is no bolshevik, but a white Russian, praying for the return of the czars and an end of Stalin. The murderous fanatic boasts that he came to Paris from Monaco to kill Doumer because France had refused to attack and drive out the soviet government.

Shanghai sends word that China and Japan ended the war out there with an armistice. American, British, French and Italian representatives signed the peace documents. Japanese soldiers will be withdrawn.

The ghosts of thousands of Chinese women, children and civilians and of Chinese and Japanese soldiers will wander, perhaps, why it was necessary to kill them.

The Southern Pacific railroad, instead of moaning and groaning about automobile trucks, is in the truck business, and successfully. Freight moved by the Southern Pacific in trucks during 1931, in California, Oregon and Arizona, showed an increase of 438 per cent over hauling done in 1930.

To meet competition, fight. You can't kill new methods that mean economy and efficiency, but you can utilize them.

Not satisfied with the worries of her ten-year plan, Russia talks about what she would do if war came. Blucher, eastern commander of the Red army, says Russia likes peace, but is ready for a fight.

The "oath of fidelity" has been administered to the Russian soldiers as "an iron call to strength and to fight."

Talking to any European government about war now is like talking to a senile passenger about pork in mid-ocean, but Russia's talk at present is intended for Japan.

The Japanese, very intelligent, probably will not be misled into imagining that they could do to modern Russia what they did under the incompetent rule of the czars.

Every year 10,000 mothers die in child birth in the United States, a record the worst of any nation on earth calling itself civilized. The mothers die because they have no care. Cows do not die in that fashion, because the Agriculture department will look after them if the farmer asks for information or assistance.

Why doesn't our proud and usually prosperous government do something about it? Or would it be paternalistic waste of money to help human mothers, since their babies are not worth half as much as a calf or a young pig, have, in fact, no commercial value?

New York's building strike is growing, 40,000 skilled men added to the city's unemployed, which is unfortunate.

Employers want to pay their men only $10 a day. Bricklayers demand $2.50 an hour, or $20 for eight hours. The more the workers make, the more they have to spend, and the greater prosperity, within reason.

This time of unemployment, however, would seem to be a good time for arbitration.

Washington's sensational news is the arrest of Gaston B. Means on complaint of Mrs. Evelyn McLean, wife of the Washington Post's owner. Mrs. McLean says she gave Means $100,000 upon his promise to recover the Lindbergh baby by use of the money. Her complaint alleges that he did not produce the baby or return the $100,000.

There is no knowing what suits have been, and may be, paid in efforts to recover the lost child.

Mrs. Alice Hargreaves, the original of "Alice in Wonderland," describes America as "loopy-turvy land."

Stock brokers will agree with her, since a stock exchange sent sold in New York for $80,000, once worth more than $500,000.

Capone, extraordinary product of bootlegging, his spirit not broken, handcuffed to another criminal, entered Atlanta prison the other day. He tells reporters, "I am through with the racket," but his mind will be on it in prison. He will endeavor to control his "mob" from his cell, relying upon a few faithful to terrify others into loyalty.

No other electric refrigerator has so many exclusive features of utility and convenience.

A mechanism almost everlasting—so efficient that it will chill foods and freeze ice in the blistering heat of a tropical summer. That's Rollator Refrigeration. And only Norge offers it.

By all means see the Norge before you buy an electric refrigerator.
