County Club Agent Gives Talk Here

At the weekly Kiwanis meeting held Monday evening at Clark's Tavern, A. E. Hagon, county club leader, gave a talk on the summer work of the boys and girls in this area, stressing the raising of potatoes. The speaker was introduced by R. B. Watrous.

Frank E. Storms, chairman of the health education committee, assigned to each Kiwanian a school in the townships of Sylvan, Lima, or Lyndon, and a health educational program will later be given in each of those schools. A public mass meeting will be held at the school auditorium, the date to be announced later, and a noted medical man will be in charge.

The Kiwanis agricultural committee, in cooperation with the county club leader and the leaders from the 4-H club projects are arranging for a big Achievement show and banquet, the date and place to be announced next week. Features of the show will be exhibits of work done in the 4-H clubs, also demonstrations by the boys and girls, a new feature for this year's show.

MacKinnon of Adrian, who was in the employ as general manager of the Purity Ice Cream Co. of that city for the past ten and one-half years, expects to begin operations within the next sixty days.

The company will occupy the large brick building on the north side of the Michigan Central railway tracks, where the large four-faced clock gives out the time of day, better known as the "tower" building.

This new local industry will engage in the sale of sweet cream and the manufacture of butter, cottage cheese, dry milk and an ice cream mix. W. R. Cabs of New York City, an engineering specialist in the installation of dairy equipment, will be here on Saturday, October 22, to lay out plans for the installation of necessary machinery for operation of the plant.

President Will Speak In Detroit Saturday

President Herbert Hoover is to deliver his third speech of the campaign in Detroit next Saturday night.

HERBERT HOOVER

President Hoover will not talk to a hand-picked audience. As far as his seating capacity goes, the doors of the huge Olympia amphitheater will be thrown open to all who desire to hear him. The Olympia seats 20,000 persons but it is expected that five times that number will seek admission to the hall.

The final decision to visit Michigan was influenced, according to word from Detroit, by the writings of the 20 Michigan editors who visited the president at the outset of the campaign; and by the thousands of telegrams which he received last week, urging that Michigan invitations be accepted.

The President's address, which will be broadcast over a national radio hook-up, will begin at 8:30.

HOLD DEMOCRATIC RALLY

A large crowd attended the Democratic rally held at the town hall last night. John C. Lehr, candidate for Congress, and Arthur Lehman, Ann Arbor attorney, were the speakers. Present governmental extravagance was attacked by both speakers in bitter attacks upon present administration of the affairs of the State and Nation. County Democratic candidates were present at the meeting.

SPECIAL SPEAKER

At the Methodist church, Sunday night, Mrs. Hurd, juvenile police officer of Jackson, will be the special speaker. Her topic will be "The Cost of Lasciviousness" and her address will be illustrated by actual experiences in dealing with juveniles.

This is a fine opportunity to hear at first hand of the dangers that face our present generation. Parents and young people are especially urged to be present.

The Inham Trio will furnish special music; an interesting service is promised.

Veterans Appeal For Armistice Loyalty

The night of the 7th of October, 1918—the Gare du Nord in Paris—an American soldier with a gash in his side seven inches long—no ambulance—a Model T Ford, with pick-up body—a ride across the great city—no lights—a Zeppelin raid last night—a taxicab, running at right angles to the Ford truck, crashes into a statue at an intersection of streets—only the noise of the crash prevents the driver of the Ford from crashing too—finally, the hospital, just outside the Porte de Saint Cloud—long weeks of confinement for this American soldier—at last on his feet again, not much the worse for the experience—a few days of enjoying the freedom of the great Paris from 5 to midnight—the walk from the hospital to the Metro station, past the home of Papa Joffe, the ride downtown on the Metro, twice under the Seine—coming again to the surface of the ground at the Place de la Concorde or at the Opera Square—long hours under the awning at the Cape de la Paix, where Kipling says the whole world goes by—going to a movie to see Charlie Chaplin—crossing the river and standing at the tomb of Napoleon—the Folies Bergere, and Gaby Deslys—missing the last train and having to hop the high fence around the hospital grounds, to escape the guard—going to church at the Madeleine—the great celebration in the Concord Square the day after Lilla was re-captured by the English—These and a host of other experiences that only Paris can provide—then, on the 7th of November, just a month after that wild night ride in the rear end of a little Ford truck, the order to stand ready to take a train for the Argonne—on November 11th—the morning of November 11th in Paris—89 American soldiers in that hospital, waiting in line all day for the order to march to the railroad station—outside the walls, and all over the city, whistles blowing bells ringing, pant-up throats shouting hysterically the whole world across the sea—on seas gone mad with joy—89 American soldiers standing in line all day long, waiting for the order to march back to the front.

The first Armistice Day! For each person, it was a different experience. But none who lived that day will ever forget it!

We have many national holidays, but only one whose significance is particularly and particularly attached to the men and women of the Legion.

The Chelsea Post of the American Legion makes an earnest appeal to the people of this community that everybody, in some way or another, shall share in its 1932 celebration of this day of days—the anniversary of the Armistice!

Republican Candidate for Re-election

JUDGE OF PROBATE

Throughout the length and breadth of our Nation during these days of economic distress, no other public official is more called upon to render fine decisions, conserve public monies, render aid and sustenance, properly, fairly and equitably administer the estates of the deceased than is your Judge of Probate.

He is forced to stand squarely on his own two feet between a tremendous and seemingly necessary demand for huge expenditures for needed aid and a similar large demand for conservation of tax dollars.

In 1932 voters should not let party affiliations interfere with the selection of the right man for this important county office. Your estate, large or small must, some day go to the probate office for apportionment to others. Every voter enters in the present economic situation and it is your dollars that are to be used to supply others not so fortunately blessed.

When spending one man's dollar for another's relief be sure to place the responsibility in the hands of a man who through long experience, a great grasp of the present needs of the unemployed and whose background of dependability, fairness and honesty dates back throughout an entire life of unselfish service to his community.

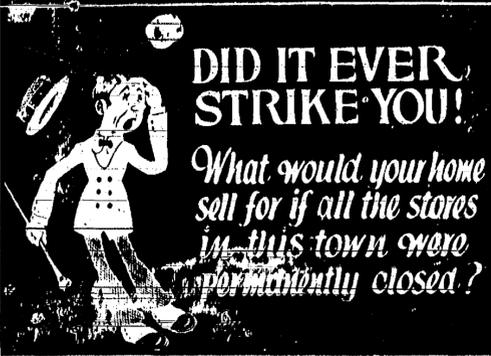

A vote for the retention of Probate Judge, Jay G. Pray, regardless of party ticket is a safeguard for YOUR property and YOUR tax dollar.

24,000 Given Jobs By Relief Program

The important part that Michigan's Republican state officials have played in unemployment relief during the past year was brought out plainly in a recent talk given by Martin J. Gloppey, deputy state highway commissioner.

From official records, he showed that the state's highway employment relief program gave work to an average of 16,200 men, with a maximum of more than 24,000 men, up to April 1, 1932. This state relief program was started a year ago.

Mr. DeClapper explained that this program gave employment to thousands of men upon work that it was possible to do by hand and that state officials co-operated with county officials and with welfare organizations throughout the state in a manner that has attracted official attention in Washington.

Because of federal aid, he explained that a monthly minimum of 245,000 men and a maximum of 390,000 men were given work in all parts of the United States last year. But when auxiliary sources such as men employed in the manufacture of materials and equipment are considered the average number of men given work by the national highway program would approximate one million.

The Michigan unemployment program was originated and put into effect by Governor Brucker and other state officers as a means whereby jobs could be furnished men within the state who get "value received" in its improved highways for its $10,000,000 expenditure. Michigan's labor specifications for maintaining wages of both skilled and unskilled labor have been adopted word for word by the national government.

5,000 Are Removed From Welfare Rolls

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 19.—When Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker recently instructed welfare and other authorities in several cities and counties to provide funds for transportation of Mexican citizens back to their own country, he gave official impetus to the greatest mass movement of nationals in the history of the United States. It has been pointed out, five thousand men, women and children will return voluntarily to their home-land.

From a financial standpoint the cities and counties will be aided by the movement, Gov. Brucker pointed out. The whole cost will be only about $15 per person, due to the very low rate agreed upon by the railroads, through generous co-operation with the federal and state authorities and representatives of the Mexican people. Most of the Mexicans are on the welfare rolls at present.

"In no sense of the word whatever should this be regarded as a deportation," Gov. Brucker said. "It should be borne in mind that all of these people desire to go back home, but they have not the funds, most of them being welfare recipients. Others who are employed are getting only enough money to live upon, without hope of saving money to return to Mexico."

"When Signor Diego Rivera, the famous Mexican mural artist, who is now in Detroit upon commission for the Detroit Institute of Arts, and his countrymen in the League of Workers and Peasants, who jointly originated the plan, showed me that all the states of Mexico had guaranteed that those poor people would be provided for upon their return, until they could re-establish and repatriate themselves, I was most happy to get the proper authorities in Michigan at work upon it."

Many of the families live in Detroit, with the others in Port Huron, Saginaw, Flint, Pontiac, Hope, Sheppard and Wadoniam.

PLYMOUTH.—At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors at Detroit this week an appropriation of $3,000 for the Plymouth public library was voted.

MILAN—With the opening of the hunting season and the devotees of sport getting enthusiastic over the prospect of bagging the game during the coming few months, the Village Council and the parks and street department are taking drastic measures to prevent the killing of game or shooting inside the village limits. Notices have been posted in the park and other vacant land in the village warning hunters that it is unlawful to hunt within the limits. Leader.

TECUMSEH—"Good time checks" or as termed by some, "anti-depression checks" will make their appearance in Tecumseh next Tuesday. The novel check stunt is a part of the program sponsored by the Tecumseh Rotary club and is intended to put more than $2,000 in circulation in Tecumseh within the next two weeks. The program, briefly, is this: At the Rotary club meeting to be held next Tuesday at the Chief hotel, every Rotarian will write a check in the amount of $10 which he will present in payment for some bill that he owes or for something purchased. On the back of the check is a qualified endorsement to the effect that the check cannot be cashed by the bank upon which it is drawn until it bears 10 endorsements.—Herald.

MASON—From present indications, residents of Ingham county may expect substantial relief from taxation when they receive their 1932 tax bill. With the state levy demanded of the county set at $125,000.00 less than in 1931, with the entire weight tax from motor vehicles being returned to the county instead of one-half as heretofore, thus making the levy for county road purposes unnecessary; with the township roads being taken over by the county to be maintained out of motor car revenues and with substantial reductions in nearly every school district on operation costs, the total budget for 1932 should be nearly three-quarters of a million dollars less than last year.—News.

DEXTER—The Dexter high school has organized an orchestra under the direction of Cyril Sortor and a glee club with Miss Lucille Ford and Mr. Owen Bigelow as instructors. Leader.

GRASS LAKE—Rally Day was observed in the M. E. Sunday school on Sunday, when 50 primary pupils presented a program of songs, exercises and test questions pertaining to the Bible. Among these was a class of 14 who passed into the intermediate department. Besides certificates, they were presented Bibles by Supt. John Warner and given in charge of their new teacher, Mrs. E. E. Kohn.—News.

MANCHESTER—Referring to the files of the Enterprise of 1876, 56 years ago, we find that on Monday night, October 8, the Peoples bank was entered by burglars who wrecked the vault and safe and got away with something like $10,000. The plate glass front of the bank was destroyed by the explosion, and other damage done. The robbers were never caught.—Enterprise.

STOCKBRIDGE—The annual Stockbridge Community Fair and Rural School Exhibit will take place on November 11, 1932. The Fair, same as last year, will be sponsored by the Future Farmers Club of the High School. Plans are being made to have the biggest and best Fair we have ever had. A fine program is being planned for the evening.—Brief Sun.

Ancient Forge Found

Dug up in the Sudan, a blacksmith's forge has been identified by ancient drawings as similar to the type used by the Egyptians 3,500 years ago. The bellows are four earthen pots with goatkin covers, which are worked up and down with the hands, and a peculiarity is that they have no valves.

INVISIBLE Your Servant GAS That Makes Ice, Heat, Water, and Cooks Food in the Modern Home The tiny, blue white flame that glows above a gas burner in your home is the only visible evidence you have of a marvelous co-ordination of mechanical and human efficiency. Consider, for a moment, the great underground network of pipes that spread out from your gas company's plant as do the limbs, branches and twigs of a great tree. Invisible carriers of an invisible fuel—these pipes save an enormous expenditure of human labor in your city. Each tiny gas flame replaces and eliminates the hauling, storing, shoveling and fire-tending required for the use of a solid fuel. Because it is the simplest and most versatile of fuels, gas brings both beauty and comfort to the modern home. Beauty through the elimination of such unsightly things as ash cans, fuel-bins, garbage pails and trash heaps; comfort by virtue of its effortless, automatic control. In the completely modern home, GAS cooks food, heats water, freezes ice, destroys rubbish and heats the home—all for an astonishingly nominal cost. Do you lack one or more of these conveniences in your home? If so, stop in and we'll be glad to estimate installation and operating costs. GENUINE GAS COKE WASHTENAW GAS CO. 211 EAST HURON Ann Arbor

FOUNDERS SALE

Is Being Continued Until Thursday, October 27

The exceptionally low prices on all items offered during this sale are being continued until Thursday, October 27

There is no doubt at all that prices during this Sale are lower than you will again see, as a great many prices on goods we now are buying for replacement are higher. Mills in a great many lines are busy, some working 24 hours a day. Stocks of goods on all shelves are low and retailers have put off buying until they could wait no longer. Manufacturers and wholesalers were in the same condition, thus forcing the mills to get busy and they are asking prices that show them at least some profit. This is adding to employment and giving labor money to spend and that should help all producers' and farmers' prices soon. The larger city stores, department stores and mail order houses are feeling this scarcity of goods and higher costs and we will come to higher prices very soon too.

You should supply yourself with your needs during this Sale, NOW!

Ford Throws His Support to President

Henry Ford, who needs no introduction in any part of the world, threw the full strength of his prestige to President Hoover Wednesday night when he made a 15-minute radio talk from his private office in Dearborn, over a national hook-up.

The motor magnate, who a few years ago was widely discussed as a possible presidential candidate as the head of a "world peace" movement, gave a short terse resume of the heroic battle which President Hoover has fought to keep the United States from feeling the depths of the world depression as have European countries.

The private Ford wireless system which allows company officials to keep in touch with Ford properties all over the world, was silent as the head of the industrial empire gave the United States his reasons for the re-election of President Hoover.

In recent years, Ford has not taken a prominent part in political activities of any kind. He has become exceedingly reticent about public statements and the radio talk last night marks one of the few times he has appeared before the microphone.

THIRTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Thursday, October 22, 1908.

He settled in Blissfield where he resided for two years. He then moved to Sylvan which has since been his home. He was united in marriage with Miss Hattie Steger November 11, 1862. He ran away and was captured later, and proved to be L. V. Moore, of Waterloo township, who is slightly demented and had wandered away from his home.

Historic Old Devon

The English city of Devon might be called the cradle of American history for though neither Columbus nor Cortes had any associations with that county, by far the greater number of explorers and colonizers of Northern America were born and bred there and set sail from its ports on their adventures in the New World. The very countryside reflects in its coasting beauties the imaginative genius and unyielding determination which were the chief characteristics of those old-time sea kings, for the coastline has a soft brilliance of color and coloring which is in fascinating contrast to the wild magnificence of the breezy, rolling uplands and granite tors of Dartmoor.

Charles Dickens to His Son

The twenty-sixth annual conference of the Dickens Fellowship was held at Gad's Hill place, Rochester, where Charles Dickens lived during the last 14 years of his life.

Sir Henry Dickens said he was twenty-one when his father died, and they had the closest affection for one another. He quoted the following advice given him by his father, who had said to him: "Whatever you do, my boy, remember this—do your best. Throw your whole heart and soul into it. I can assure you that in the smallest thing I have ever done in life, I have taken as great pains as if it were the biggest."—London Times.

Cole has a puzzling question which cannot be answered by the Standard Question and Answer staff so we are passing the matter on to our readers in the hope that the puzzle may be cleared up in the near future. Mr. Cole discovered that one of the pumpkins in his garden had been made a haven for a stray steel ball bearing measuring about one and one-half inches in diameter, and he is wondering how this ball entered his pumpkin. From all appearances it fell from a great distance as it would necessitate great force to cause it to enter the tough rind of a pumpkin. The only theory so far advanced is that the ball fell from a passing airplane. (Better buy a helmet). This odd specimen is now on display at the Standard office. FORD LEADS

In June, the first month when volume deliveries of the new Ford cars were available, Ford's share of total passenger car sales in the United States reached 55.9 per cent, as compared with 24.9 per cent for its nearest competitor. Ford commercial cars were 50.0 per cent of all such vehicles sold, as compared with 37.6 per cent for its nearest competitor, while Ford trucks represented 35.7 per cent of all truck sales, as compared with 27.6 per cent for the nearest competitor. Ford sales in July, as revealed by official registrations, mounted over June figures, and Ford's share of the business was increased. Ford passenger car sales reached 58.4 per cent of the total business as compared with 24.2 for its nearest competitor. Ford commercial cars were 54.4 per cent of all cars sold, giving Ford a greater percentage of the total business than all other manufacturers combined. The Ford share of national truck sales was 34.4 per cent as compared with 27.1 per cent for its nearest competitor. The reporting of registrations in August in the various states is not complete, but on the basis of reports thus far received from 34 states, Ford sales again led the field.

WILL HOLD MARL EXCAVATING DEMONSTRATION FRIDAY

A marl excavating demonstration will be held at the farm of Ben Kuhl, section 12, Sharon township, next Friday afternoon, Oct. 21, at 1:30 o'clock. The excavating machinery used in this demonstration will consist of a specially constructed bucket and drag line which can be adapted to use with tractor, truck, or horsepower. The bucket was especially designed by the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State College. It is relatively inexpensive, and efficient in its operation. Under average conditions, approximately 50 yards of marl per day can be placed on a stock pile. The equipment will be set up, and some excavation done on Thursday afternoon and Friday morning. The special meeting will be held on Friday afternoon at 1:30 at which time the details of the equipment will be explained, and the importance of marl in the improving of soil fertility will be discussed. The marl deposit on Mr. Kuhl's farm is a part of one of the extensive marl areas in western Washtenaw, says H. S. Osler, county agricultural agent. An examination of the deposits last week showed that the marl varied from three to 10 feet in thickness. Reports received from the state college show that the calcium content averages about 85 per cent, which is a very good quality of marl. Members of the agricultural engineering department will be at the meeting to answer questions concerning the use of the equipment, or on the marl, after it has been dug. Instruction sheets showing the plan and cost of building this type of marl digging bucket will be distributed at the meeting, Friday afternoon, Oct. 21. Mr. Kuhl's farm is located five miles north of Manchester, and about one mile east of the Chelsea-Manchester road. People coming from the east can follow the Rogers-Corner road west to the end of the road, then south about one-quarter mile. Approximately 75 per cent of Washtenaw soil is acid and needs lime. Marl will answer this purpose, and may be more economical in its cost. Crop production, especially growing legumes—alfalfa and clover, respond to applications of lime on acid soil. Mr. Osler reports that there has been quite an increase in the tonnage of lime used in Washtenaw county in the past few years. In 1926, 1,686 tons were used, and in 1931, 4,093 tons were used. The acreage of alfalfa has increased from 4,000 acres in 1920 to 21,000 in 1930, and still many farmers are having trouble to obtain stands on account of acid soils which can be corrected with applications of marl, or limestone. Soil fertility problems relating to the use of limestone, as well as the digging equipment, will be discussed at the demonstration Friday afternoon.

Clothes for the Needy

Women volunteers sewing for the needy under direction of the Red Cross produced 296,000 garments last year, and will produce millions of garments in the winter of 1932-33. These will be from the millions of yards of cotton cloth distributed by the national Red Cross from the 500,000 bales of cotton turned over to the organization by Congress. Cloth was sent to all chapters requesting it, and later it was proposed to send some simple ready-made garments, including trousers, overalls, underwear, stockings and sox. Huge Task of Nurses Red Cross public health nurses, who work in hundreds of communities, are meeting the greatest demands in history for their services, due to the depression. Visits in maternity cases, protecting the health of infants and children, and aiding mothers in distress due to unemployment of the bread-winners have taken them into thousands of homes. The nurses made 1,357,000 visits to or on behalf of individuals, and inspected 949,000 school children. More than 56,000 adults were instructed in home hygiene and care of the sick. Blind Readers Get Books Books in braille for reading by the blind are made by women under Red Cross direction. Last year 2,813 such books were produced in single copy and 3,538 in double copies. Fiction, biography, history, economics and school books were among those printed in braille. The Red Cross gives them 15 libraries for free distribution to blind readers. Red Cross to Enlist Great Army of Members to Fight Distress Last year 4,004,459 men and women joined the American Red Cross as members during the annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. A peace-time army even greater than this will be needed in 1932-33 to support and carry on the nationwide relief work of the Red Cross. There are 3,539 Red Cross chapters and they have 10,000 branches. Ancient Paper Chinese paper of the sixth century, recently discovered, was made of flax and mulberry fiber.

"IMPORTS" JOCKEYS (Current Short)

With the racing season on at Agua Caliente, Mexico, director Phil Rosen, who filmed Tiffany Productions' "Lena Rivers," at the Princess Theatre, Sunday and Monday, Oct. 23-24, had to take 10 jockeys with him from Hollywood to the Riverside race track for the scenes of the actual race. Those usually around the Riverside track were called to Agua Caliente. Paradoxical as it may seem, Rosen secured six from Hollywood and had to import four from Agua Caliente; the very place the Riverside boys had gone.

The cast of "Lena Rivers" includes Charlotte Henry, Morgan Galloway, Joyce Compton, Betty Blythe, John St. Polls and Clarence Muse.

Get Up Nights?

Physic the bladder as you would the bowels. Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains, arising from bladder disorders, you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. J. V. Burg, Druggist. Adv.

The Superintendent's Column

A series of survey tests have been given to pupils of grades 2 to 12. The sole purpose of these tests is to discover the present achievement of each pupil in comparison with the scores made on the tests by thousands of other pupils in all sections of America. These tests are of the standardized variety, which means that they are scored with a key that removes the personal element in the scoring and means further that the standard of achievement is set by what thousands of pupils have actually achieved, rather than by the opinions of teachers. The results of these tests will enable the pupil to know just how he or she compares in the fundamental school subjects with other pupils of his grade the country over.

The subjective type of teacher-made test will not be used at all in the Chelsea High School. Periodic tests in the various subjects will occur but the test used will always be of the "standardized" type, which are purely objective. The personal opinion of the teacher will play no part in scoring the pupil's achievement. Near the end of the year another general survey test, covering all of the fundamental subjects, will be given to all pupils. Thus, by comparing the scores made at the beginning and at the end of the school year, a measure of the pupils' progress can be obtained.

There is too great a lack of willingness on the part of our high school Juniors and Seniors in assuming responsibility for their own conduct. I hope you will pardon a personal reference in this connection, but we are better acquainted with ourselves than with others. The other students in high school are no longer children. They are old enough to be responsible for their own acts and to exercise some degree of leadership. The writer was thrown upon his own resources at the age of 14. At 17, having finished one year of college, he was serving as principal of a little 4-room school. Responsibility in his case was a matter of bread and butter necessity. I hope the parents of our upper classes will aid us in impressing upon these students the importance of "being their age."

Instead of attending the N. E. A. convention at Ann Arbor last Friday, several members of the Chelsea staff spent the day in visiting other schools in the region of Detroit and Chicago.

In these days of widespread unemployment and consequent loss of spending power, the question arises as to whether a community like ours should maintain athletic competition with other schools. Interscholastic athletics in small towns are costly. Our football season of this year will probably cost the district from $100 to $200. A certain section of the public will not spend its money except to see a winning team and, of course, not every school can have a winning team every year. Other people, who would support their own school, either in winning or losing, simply do not have money to spend for admissions. The Board of Education is now considering the possibility of severing our athletic relations with other schools and confining ourselves simply to sports played between groups of our own students. No definite action has been taken, and the Board would like to know how the general public feels on this subject. Shall we schedule a season of basketball games with other schools for the coming winter? Shall we plan to develop a baseball team next spring? Shall we arrange football games for the fall of 1933? Please write us your views on these questions or call and talk the matter over.

The old-fashioned, purely statistical type of monthly report card is being discontinued in the Chelsea schools. Between Nov. 1st and 15th each teacher will write a personal message to the parents of his or her pupils, giving a statement of the progress which the teacher thinks the pupil is making. These personal messages will be sent to parents several times during the school year.

A few of our high school students do not realize the necessity for spending some of their time outside of school in study. The typical student has four classes. He spends three periods of 40 minutes each in the library. He is actually in school only a little more than 5-1/2 hours daily. Most high school students should spend eight hours per day on school work, which means at least two hours of fully study outside the regular time spent in school.

The first step by the Jr.-Sr. High School in developing a program of training for citizenship will be taken on Friday of this week, when the student body will select a student president to preside over their assembly programs and to exercise leadership in the gradual expansion of student self-government. Nominations for this position are made through petitions signed by six or more students. At the time this is written the following named students had been nominated: Lisetta Widmayer, '33; Wallace Wood, '34; Ren Hutzol, '33; Katherine Stiffan, '33; Roger Hinderer, '34.

Attendance Report

The attendance record for the first month was very gratifying. The percent of attendance in each grade was as follows: Kindergarten 93.5, 1st Grade 97.9, 2nd Grade 97.1, 3rd Grade 95.1, 4th Grade 99.4, 5th Grade 97.1, 6th Grade 98.3, 7th Grade 98.6, 8th Grade 99.0, 9th Grade 97.5, 10th Grade 98.5, 11th Grade 97.7, 12th Grade 98.3. Attention is called specially to the very high figures for the upper grades. The past week saw an excellent start made on the second month, also. On one day last week only one high school student was absent. The percent of attendance for the entire system in the September month was 97.5.

Chelsea High Squad Wins First Game

The Chelsea football squad won its first League game Thursday by defeating the Saline team, 6 to 0, on Chelsea's new field. The first quarter started with Chelsea defending the north goal. The ball in this quarter was pushed back and forth but neither team made any headway. But at the last of the quarter Chelsea began to make yard after yard through Saline's line, but failed to push the ball over. Thus the first quarter ended with neither team scoring and the team supporters were to see a great and hard game.

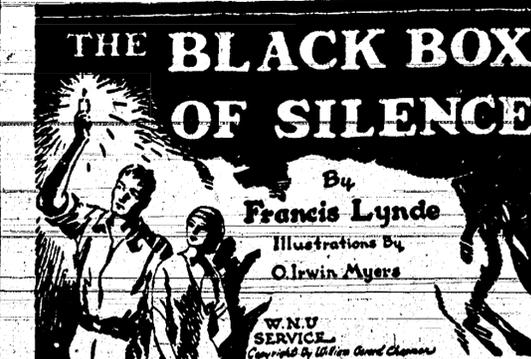

In the second quarter Chelsea started marching again toward the Saline goal, this time completing a pass from Novoss to Steiner which advanced the ball to Saline's four yard line. Then on a powerful line plunge N. Panarites pushed the ball over for the first and only touchdown of the game. Novoss failed to kick the extra point. The last of the second quarter was a free-for-all, neither team making any headway. Just then the whistle blew, ending the first half the score being 6 to 0 in favor of Chelsea.

In the beginning of the third quarter Chelsea again began to break the Saline line, but not getting near enough to score again. In the last half of the third quarter Novoss was taken from the game, caused by a bad ankle. The Chelsea team was given much support but failed to score. The fourth quarter was a dangerous one to Chelsea because the Saline team began to march through the Chelsea line, making it very annoying to the home team. Saline completed a long pass, advancing to Chelsea's twenty yard line but the home team held them and kicked out of danger. Then again Saline advanced to Chelsea's fifteen yard line, securing this yardage on end runs. Again Chelsea stopped them but it was too late for either team to score and the game ended, Chelsea 6, Saline 0. The game had no outstanding star because the whole team functioned perfectly and this won the game.

Due to a conflict with the Senior class meeting, a meeting of the history maintenance committee could not be held last Monday, but one was held this week Monday. At this meeting the duties of the committee were explained in detail and the program for the week discussed. At the general assembly this week Friday, the president of the club, Anders Gulde, will give a talk on the work of the club. A general meeting of the Museum Club will be held next Monday in the gymnasium. Other high school students may also attend this meeting.

THE BLACK BOX OF SILENCE

By Francis Lynde Illustrations by Olwin Myers

CHAPTER I—Having demonstrated the power of an extraordinary silence, the inventor of the black box, which he had perfected in the little town of Carthage, confided to a young man, Markham, the task of taking the device to the city of Chicago for the purpose of exhibiting it to the public. That night the black box was stolen from a safe in the inventor's laboratory.

CHAPTER II—Lands tells Markham the only person, besides himself, who knew the whereabouts of the safe, is Betty Lawson, with whom the inventor is in love. Markham stakes a claim to the black box, which he has hidden beneath the window of the laboratory.

CHAPTER III—Betty, daughter of a college professor, is a young woman of unusual beauty and intelligence. She is in love with Markham, but she is also in love with the inventor. She has hidden the black box in her room, and she is determined to keep it there. She has also hidden there a complete set of burglar's tools, and she is determined to use them to get the black box out of the inventor's hands.

CHAPTER IV—Markham, vaguely suspicious of Canby's honesty, searches his hotel room in his absence. He finds hidden there two loaded automatic revolvers and a complete set of burglar's tools. He is determined to get the black box out of the inventor's hands, and he is determined to use the tools to do so.

CHAPTER V—At the hotel they find confirmation of their fears. Three strangers, riding in a Fleetwing, and claiming to be business men of Louisville, are seen to enter the hotel. Markham and Lands decide to follow them, although advised by Louisville police officers to do so. They follow them to the St. Joseph Hotel, where they find the black box hidden in a room.

CHAPTER VI—While he and Lands are sleeping, Markham's car is stolen and wrecked. He buys another, and he goes to the city of Chicago to get the black box out of the inventor's hands. He is surprised at the presence in the West, and explains the reason for her presence in the West to her father, who overhears a conversation between Canby and the three Louisville men which convinces him he is on the right track.

CHAPTER VII—Markham and Lands follow the three men in the Fleetwing. They find the commissary of the Chicago Police, who has been killed and robbed and two men killed. Again there was no sound of the explosion, and Brewster they learn of the killing of Canby and his party. Markham meets a distant relative, William Starbuck, who tells him that the black box is information which pleases up the evidence as to Canby's crookedness.

CHAPTER VIII—At Brewster they meet Canby. He tells them he is in the West on business connected with the black box. He has been held up and his father is with him as a guest, the professor being interested in paleontology. Canby and Brewster are assaulted on the street by knife-wielders, but both of their assailants, Honorable, Markham and Brewster, the two of them, will keep hold of their lives, evidently having become desperado.

"We have never had much to do with him, either of us," Markham evaded. Then, bluntly, "Are you going to marry him, Betty?" She laughed. "Do you know of any reason why I shouldn't?" "Perhaps not any reason that would appeal to you."

"That is dodging," she retorted brightly. "As a friend don't you think you ought to tell me if there is a reason?" "Yes; and get myself written down in your black book! No, thank you, my dear."

"All right; don't then. I'll ask them. I often wonder if boys, nice home boys like you and Owen, know how beautifully transparent you are."

"Thanks; glad you find us so. It's all right to wear a glass front when one has a clear conscience, you know."

ham to shake his head free of the stifling folds. Instantly he backed the clamper violently against the standing car, bending him over the fender until he was forced to let go to save himself from having his back broken. At that, Markham got his weapon out, but now the two were between him and the car and he couldn't fire without taking a chance of hitting Betty. The thugs saw their advantage and flung themselves upon him, the shorter of the two crouching low to grab at his legs while the other darted into a clinch and tried to twist the automatic out of his grasp. There was a whirlwind wrestling match, and in the midst of this came a glare of light and the mousical blast of an auto horn. Markham saw the headlights of an approaching car and saw Betty running to meet it, frantically waving her arms to stop it.

That ended it. As the oncoming car came to a brake-squealing stand and Smith sprang out of it, the two for their car, gained it, flung themselves in and were gone. When Smith and Betty came running up, Markham was beating the dust out of his clothes. For Betty's sake he tried to laugh the incident off. "Thought you said the short's men wouldn't roughhouse me, Mr. Smith," he chuckled.

"Good Lord—those fellows were not Harding's men? They were just plain holdups! Are you hurt?" "No; just warmed up a bit, that's all. Scare you half to death, Betty?" "Not quite that bad. But it was pretty dreadful."

As she spoke there came the crack of a gun from somewhere on ahead, and then another and a third. Betty put her hands to her ears and said, "Dear-mer are we going to get into more of it?" "I guess not," said Smith. "I'd inclined to think that was Harding, trying to stop those fellows."

A mile or more farther on they found the sheriff and two of his deputies standing in the road. Markham pulled up and waited, and Smith got out of his car and walked on to speak to the sheriff. "My guess was right," he said, when he came back. "They went by here, merely hitting the high spots, and Harding tried to stop them; shot at their tires but apparently missed the mark. Anyhow, they didn't stop. I told Harding what they did to you, and he says he'll try to trail the scoundrels and bring 'em to book. I guess we're safe to go on to town now."

A few minutes' fast driving brought them to the bridge over the Timanyon, and Smith's car turned off to the railroad station. The fast drive had been made in silence, but after Markham had helped his sometime out at the curb the young woman broke it. "Wally, where could I find you or Owen quickly, if I should need to?" she asked.

"Why, we are at the Hophra house, as you know." "Yes; but you are not there all the time." "Markham did a bit of quick thinking. 'Are you asking seriously, Betty?'" "Yes. Don't ask me why. I can't tell you yet. But..."

"I'll promise that one or the other of us will always be within reach of the hotel phone. Will that do?" "Yes, thank you. Good night." She waited until he had seen her mounding the porch steps before he drove away toward the business district.

On the way he was wondering why she had made her singular request, and he was still wondering after he had put his car up and was entering the lobby of the hotel. Looking for Lands he crossed to the counter. "The key to their suite was in his pigeonhole, which meant that Lands had not gone upstairs. Markham spoke to the clerk.

"Seen anything of Mr. Lands?" "Why yes; he was right here a little while ago." "You don't know where he went?" "No; I hold on, yes; I do, too. Mr. Starbuck phoned for him from his office across the street, and he went over there."

"What's that?" Markham snapped. "Mr. Starbuck left in town. He went to Copah last night to meet his wife and daughter!" "He must have returned," said the clerk. "The operator said the phone call was from him."

Markham turned away vaguely disturbed. An attempt had been made to kidnap him, and only the opportune appearance of Smith's car had made it fail. Had a similar attempt been made to trap Lands? As he hesitated, he saw Smith talking to three of the lately arrived guests at the cigar stand. He turned to the clerk and asked if he knew the names of the three who were with Smith.

"I do; for a fact. They are the three gentlemen you were asking about when you came a week ago; Mr. Fleming, Mr. Cantrell and Mr. Mar when they came up he was ready with an apology. Before he could make it, the door on his side was jerked open and he was seized and jerked open of the car, one of the pair clamping a vise-like grip while the other threw a blanket over his head. It was smothered before he realized that this didn't at all square with what Smith had told him of the sheriff and his methods; that he had to deal, not with officers of the law, but with the mysterious assassins who had tried from time to time to silence him and Lands. And then the fight was on. With his arms fast clamped in the grip of the man behind him, Markham could not get at the holstered pistol under his coat. But his legs were free, and a swift kick doubled the blackholder up and made him lose his hold long enough to enable Markwas to introduce himself promptly, for the purpose of telling Smith's friends what he knew. Then he remembered that he had no proof to offer, since the three name forgers had disappeared. (To be continued)

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I am curious to know why people say "God bless you" when one sneezes. Will you kindly answer this question soon as possible?

Ans.—Sneezing has been the subject of superstition since time immemorial among almost all people. Among the ancient Greeks it was customary to say words equivalent to "Zeus bless you" and the Romans prayed for the calamity to be averted indicated by the omen of sneezing. There are several accounts of plagues and pestilences which were caused by a disease in which a sneeze was said to be a sure sign, and this is regarded as the origin of the custom.

Ques.—Was a negro's name ever offered in nomination for President at either the national Republican or national Democratic conventions. Or was there ever a negro that presided at either of these conventions?

Ans.—No negro's name has ever been placed in nomination at either of the Republican or Democratic national conventions. However, John R. Lynch, a negro, who served three terms as a Republican member of Congress from Mississippi, was temporary chairman of the Republican convention which met in Chicago in 1884 and nominated James G. Blaine for president.

Ques.—Are there any dragons in the ocean that spout up fire. I have read about them doing that.

Ans.—Dr. William Beebe, noted deep-sea explorer of New York, led a scientific search for these strange sea monsters in the Atlantic depths that are supposed to spout fire. He found creatures that answer all the descriptions of medieval dragons, but they do not spout fire. However, they shoot a luminous substance out of their mouths like quills and their fire, but it is not fire—only resembling fire.

Ques.—I want to ask in your good paper if everybody born in the United States is a citizen of this country?

Ans.—Yes. Except children born of parents that are representing foreign governments. Even if a person born of foreign parents while they were visiting here could claim citizenship by virtue of birth if he remained in the country.

Ques.—Where is Will Rogers' home. And what is his religion? And where was he educated?

Ans.—Will Rogers, the famous actor and humorist, is a native of Missouri. He is not affiliated with any religion. He was educated at Willie Bassell School at Neesho, Mo. He also attended the Kemper Military Academy at Boonville, Mo., for a short time.

Ques.—What was the date of the death of our George Washington, and what did he die from?

Ans.—George Washington died on Dec. 14, 1799. After a horseback ride for several hours through rain and snow on Dec. 12, he contracted acute laryngitis. He was bled heavily four times in combating the attack, but his strength ebbed away rapidly.

Ques.—Will you please answer how the Ozark mountains got that name?

Ans.—"Aux Arcs" is the name the French applied to a band of Indians that inhabited the region of Arkansas. "Aux Arcs" is pronounced "oze-ark," and thus the mountains were so named.

Ques.—To settle an argument we would like to have you tell us the plural of "madam." Can you answer this week?

Ans.—"Mesdames" is the plural of "madam" when it is used as a title or address. Used otherwise, "madams" is the correct plural. Therefore the word "madam" has two plurals.

Ques.—I notice in many places where dates are given in legal matters the letters "A. D." is used. Will you please tell me what these letters mean?

Ans.—These initials mean "in the year of our Lord." They are the initials of the Latin words Anno Domini.

A GOOD REASON

A professor tells this story at his own expense. He was instructing a class of boys about the circulation of the blood and to make sure that they understood him he said, "Can you tell me why it is that if I stood on my head, the blood would rush to my head, and when I stand on my feet, there is no rush of blood to the feet?" Then a small boy after pausing for a short time answered, "It is because your feet are not empty, sir."
