License Granted Local Banks

That the unlimited confidence which people of this community have placed in banking institutions has been well founded is evidenced by the fact that both the Farmers & Merchants Bank and the Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank received telegrams Wednesday morning from the Treasury Department at Washington informing them that they had been granted license to reopen.

This license from the federal government removes all restrictions except discretionary power which is vested in officials of the banks. The government has forbidden withdrawals of cash for hoarding, or releases of large amounts of funds.

That the two Chelsea banks were granted license from the federal government at so early a date is conclusive evidence of their soundness, of which the community has been assured from time to time.

Appreciation has been expressed by officials of both banks to the people of our community for their patience during the period of general banking restrictions as called for by State and National authorities, and assure the general public that they will make every possible effort to render essential banking services.

Webb Farm House Destroyed By Fire

The large farm house of George M. Webb on the North Lake road was destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon, which apparently started from the electric wiring. When discovered shortly after noon, the blaze, fanned by a high wind, had gained such headway that all efforts to save the building were futile, and only a few personal articles were saved. A large shed of cordwood also was consumed. Farmers in the vicinity prevented the other buildings from catching fire. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

John O. Thompson, publisher of the Dexter Leader, and for many years prominent in the civic affairs of that village, died Sunday afternoon at an Ann Arbor hospital after a brief illness.

Mr. Thompson was born August 24, 1862, in Vermont, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leamon O. Thompson, and came with his parents to Dexter in 1868.

Senators Take Steps To Cut Cost of Liquidating Closed Banks.

By Elton R. Eaton

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 15.—Incorporated in the banking bill that is on the way through the legislature is an amendment placed there in the senate that will bring good news to the depositors of state banks that must be liquidated under receivership. The amendment takes out the "trustee" clause that closed banks have provided for receivers and attorneys appointed to liquidate the affairs of a closed bank.

Fabulous salaries and expenses paid receivers and fees amounting to hundreds and thousands of dollars charged by lawyers for their legal services given closed banks will no longer be possible, providing the amendment is not changed or dropped out.

The amendment provides that receivers and lawyers cannot take more than one per cent of the total assets of the bank for liquidating expenses. When the amendment was introduced by Senator Francis Kulp of Battle Creek, who is a well known lawyer of the Poole City, it provided that the expense should not be more than two per cent but the senate committee thought even that was too much and it was cut to one per cent. Senator Kulp declares expenses in winding up the affairs of some banks under receivership has been nothing less than outrageous. The new banking bill gives the governor, attorney general and banking commissioner practically the same control over state banks as has been invested in the president over national banks.

Governor Comstock did not stir up much legislative activity by his appeal for action on pending legislation in the few days ago. Members of the house and senate insist that they are getting legislation through as fast as is consistent with conditions and there is just as much danger in rushing through legislation that they know little about as there is in slower action.

Now that the banking bill can be regarded as practically out of the way, members of the legislature are turning their attention to one of the first administration bills presented to the legislature by Representative Southworth dealing with the taxation problem. The bill designed to meet the requirements of the 15 mill tax limit clause made a constitutional provision by the people last fall must meet hurried action or else the local governmental units will find it practically impossible to function during the next fiscal year. Some members of the senate explain that they are anxious to know what the supreme court is going to say about one of two questions that have been raised as the result of the adoption of the constitutional amendment. One of these questions is whether home rule cities were intended to be included in the amendment. They say it is going to be difficult to enact needed legislation until this point has been decided.

As indicated weeks ago in this letter, it has now been definitely decided that there will be no state fair this year. It is expected many counties that have received state aid will also be closed down this year.

The Brown-Hartman economy program has saved the taxpayers of Michigan another million of dollars. The bills that they introduced at the beginning of the legislative session to knock out the construction of armories at Alma, Grand Rapids and Detroit that former Governor Brucker put through at the last regular session of the state legislature, have passed the house. The legislative mill keeps grinding out the economy measures that either Representative Vernon Brown of Mason or Representative Hartman of the Upper Peninsula introduced. When all of them have been passed, which is likely, the taxpayers of Michigan will have been saved something like $10,000,000.

It was Senator Leon Case of Water-vliet that provided the depositors of the banks of Michigan with a right to have their day in court during consideration of the new banking bill. Over 9,000 people crowded the senate chamber during the public hearing that Senator Case arranged for the depositors on the bill. He declared that the bankers had been given plenty of opportunity to express their views and he demanded that the depositors receive the same consideration.

The efforts of a few senators to head off the bill that provides for a reduction of salaries for supreme judges as well as circuit judges has been temporarily successful. The bill has gone back to the senate judiciary committee, but it will not be there for long as a number of senators who favor the cut.

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Frank D. Fitzgerald
Secretary of State

Lansing, Mar. 8.—It is estimated that at least 500,000 automobiles that otherwise would have been barred from the highways, will continue to operate as a result of the recent law adopted by the legislature, that permits the Secretary of State to accept one-half the 1933 weight tax now and the remainder by Aug. 1.

As a result of this plan which was introduced in the legislature by Sen. Herbert P. Orr, at the request of the department, the state will receive gasoline tax revenues which otherwise would have been lost, while automobile owners will not be deprived of the use of their property.

Under the Orr bill and a resolution adopted by the legislature, 1932 license plates can be used until Mar. 15. After that date all vehicles must be equipped either with 1933 license plates or with 1932 plates and a windshield sticker, showing that one-half the 1933 weight tax has been paid.

The stickers are six by three inches and are printed in light orange and blue. They are to be placed on the lower right-hand corner of the given closed banks will no longer be possible, providing the amendment is not changed or dropped out.

Geo. S. Davis Writes
Interesting Letter

An interesting letter was recently received by a local friend of Geo. S. Davis, former employee of The Standard, who went to Amarillo, Texas, last November to reside with his daughter, in which Mr. Davis relates some very interesting experiences, and we are pleased to print the letter, in part, knowing it will be of interest to many local people. The letter follows:

In traveling here after leaving Chelsea, covered some 1,200 miles, going from Jackson to central Ohio, through Indiana, Illinois to St. Louis, from there through a portion of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and portions of northern Texas and it took two days and one night to make the trip, and if it had not been for the chair cars that my fare included it would have been a tough one.

Have lost considerable of my surplus cash and it is rather hard for me to wait very far so that usually I call a ten-cent taxi which will take me to any part of the city, which is spread over many miles and has a population of nearly 50,000. There is many men and women unemployed and the city maintains a public kitchen in the central part from which is distributed a rich vegetable stew to various subdivisions about the city and is kept hot by the persons that have the care and doing out of same.

The vegetables are contributed by the residents and dealers as well as by some of the growers and the beef and hogs are given by the ranch owners. The members of each family are given one gallon for each member of the household which is enough to supply them for three meals. The contents consist of large portions of beef or pork and all kinds of vegetables and for housekeepers they can get the same for 10 cents per gallon from the kitchen in their neighborhoods.

We have taken one trip to the one hour drive and got two and a half gallons for 25 cents and found it to be very fine and far cheaper than the very fine material could be bought at the markets, and also saved the expense of the gas with which it would be required to use in cooking it. Really this stew is what most people call an Irish stew. What we purchased made three meals for the three of us and some was thrown in the waste can.

We are about once a week having a feed of Pinto beans and they are really very good and rather a heavy food. Now for a slight description of this panhandle country. The elevation is 3,600 feet above the sea level, and is a flat or prairie country and is a sand soil which, when wet, and a person steps into it, will gather up in persons shoes from one-half to one-inch thick and it requires a knife to free the sand from the footwear. The fuel is natural gas. The surrounding territory here is largely occupied as ranches where horses, cattle and hogs and some sheep are raised and many acres of wheat are grown.

Most of the ranches, or rather the small ones, are a section of land, but the large ones contain a range of several sections. The U. S. Government has located here a field from which it gets a supply of helium gas that is used in the Navy. This is said to be the largest output of the three fields owned by the government. I do not know where the other two fields are located.

About 18 miles from here is a large territory that produces considerable crude oil and gasoline and natural gas. The natural gas is piped to territories from the fields as far as Chicago and Denver and considerable gasoline is extracted from this gas by a series of extracting plants, one of which is about three miles from the house here and I have visited it, as the owner is a very close friend of the family.

Have taken several drives in the country with members of the family and there are some wonderful sights in and around the canyons that are about 20 miles north and west of the city limits. About 25 or 30 miles from here there is a petrified forest and some of the pieces that I have seen in the yards of residents here are very handsome and an added attraction to the appearance of the home-steads.

The weather here is generally bright with plenty of sunshine and the nights are quite cool almost the year around, and the water is of an alkali nature and is given a treatment of some kind at the water plant to make it drinkable.

Vegetation of all kinds has to be given water to keep it growing, as the rainfall here is very light. On the ranches here many windmills are seen in various parts of the ranges and at the homes of the older residents of the city elevated tanks and windmills are a common sight. We have about the same cold weather here have been having in Michigan, but without the snow, and there has been one slight fall of rain or snow since I came.

The negroes and Mexicans here live in sections of the city of their own and are not allowed to mix with white people in the public vehicles or in the theatres, and also have their own schools and teachers. Neither are they allowed to drink water from the same fountains in the stores that are used by the white race, but are provided with special containers arranged for them. In the public conveyances they are given quarters in the rear and on the railways they have a car of their own and are kept in them and when you meet either of the two races on the public walks they usually give you a wide berth when you meet them. Regards to all my acquaintances, Geo. S. Davis, 315 No. Pierce St., Amarillo, Texas.

Rural Music Program
Sponsored By M. S. C.

Rural children of Washtenaw county have had the rare benefit of systematic music instruction during the past year under the direction of Miss Mary Ann Collings of the music department of Michigan State college.

The results of this training will be demonstrated to the public at a musical festival to be held in Ann Arbor sometime in May. Rehearsals for the event are now beginning.

The program has been carried on throughout the year by means of group meetings of the teachers once each month in various centers of the county and visits of the director to the schools. The training has consisted of the learning of art songs, folk songs and songs for primary children, complete music appreciation, folk dances, studying of the American symphony, and compiling of music scrap-books. Teachers have also been taught the essentials of conducting.

The culmination of the year's music work will be the music festival, at which children from the fourth through the eighth grades will sing the songs they have learned throughout the year and children of all grades will present the Highland fling, the folk dance chosen for this occasion.

Participation in the program has been county-wide, with the approval and co-operation of Miss Corn I. Hays, county commissioner of schools. This type of music instruction, although new in Washtenaw county has been carried on for some time in other parts of the state. At the present time this county is one of fourteen counties here are benefiting by this service from Michigan State college.

Don't Get Up Nights
Physic the Bladder With Juniper Oil

Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of RUKETS, the bladder physic, also containing buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. J. V. Hurg, druggist, says RUKETS is a best seller.

Stocks May Rise Stocks May Fall

But, "Nothing But the Truth" Will Do.

How many of you have ever bought seven thousand dollars worth of stock, lost it, got it back, and "thirty-five dollars" to boot? The way times are now—call it pretty good, don't you? Come and see how it's done. It might put a bug in your cap.

It's "Nothing But the Truth", sponsored by the Sophomore class, under the direction of Virginia Barrus, will be given Thursday evening, March 16. Following is the list of characters:

Bob Lynn-Dancer.
Guinn Raleston-Leona Moeckel.
Mr. Raleston-Richard Sowers.
Mrs. Raleston-Irene Stofor.
Van Dueson-David Winans.
Dick Donnelly-Wilbur Tisch.
Bishop Doran-Nicholas Panarites.
Mable Jackson-Boris Boon.
Sable Jackson-Marjorie E. Sout.
Ethel-Jane Dancer.
Maid-Ruth Daniels.
Almost everybody tells a white lie in business, but "Bob" tried to convince his partners that you could tell the truth in business.
He set out to tell the truth for 24 hours—did he do it? Come and see!

Elementary News

First Grade—
Well! Well! Greetings, Esther. We are glad to have Esther Riemenschneider back to school again. It seems that it is "Dutch Week" for the first graders. They are making pictures of the Dutch people and studying about them.

Second Grade—
These people are also Dutch this week. They, too, are making pictures of windmills, dikes and the Dutch people.

Did you know that pussy willows can be found now? They can, for some second grader brought some to school.

Fourth Grade—
The Fourth grade arithmetic tournament took place last Friday as scheduled, with Earl Myers' team winning first place. His players were as follows: Theodore Combs, Lolk Palmer, Bernath McBride and George Knickerbocker. Ralph Dingle's team won second place. His players were Norman Niehaus, Helen Miller, Helen Keith and Kenneth Johns. Doris Ash's team won third place with the following: Betty Ruth Fletcher, Ruth Vettah, Ethel Hale, and Donald Wala. Margaret Harper's team was given fourth place with the following players: Donald Parsons, Dorothy Oesterle, Virgil Scripser and Walter Boone. From division, which two weeks ago seemed such a task, is really becoming very interesting.

David Potts, now of Grand Rapids, surprised his former classmates Monday by walking in during their morning exercises which he graciously did for them. He tells them that he likes Chelsea school best. Come again, David!

In Art they are interested in house construction. They have some fine specimens all finished.

In Music their new song is "Windmill." Every member can now read notes quite fluently.

Their interest in library reading is increasing under the leadership of Miss Dancer.

We hereby send greetings to our scarlet fever victims—Grace and Junior. We understand that we will soon see your smiling faces in their accustomed places. Hurry up and come back! We have missed you.

Ye Ol' Snooper's Scoop

I am beginning to wonder what this school will look like tomorrow. If everyone wears "green" like they have predicted it will look more or less like some one vegetable garden. Oh, well, it's all for the glory of dear old St. Pat.

And—need we remind you of the Sophomore play tonight. Take it from one who has seen our little Sophomores practicing that it is going to be worth your time and money to be one of the audience.

Monday afternoon in the gym, was the scene of the last in the series of inter-scholastic basketball games. The Sophomores defeated the Juniors and the Seniors trounced the Freshmen 36 to 2. The Sophomores won the tournament by securing 1,000 points.

It seems pretty good to be able to be absent from school and not have to have an excuse. But wait—there's a catch to it—your parents are notified and can deal with you in any way they see fit. (And let me tell you some of these parents sure know how to deal with Johnny if he's "skipped" school the preceding day.)

I'll be writin' for you next week.

SALINE.—If there were any doubts in the minds of the Ypsilanti Savings Bank officials concerning the effectiveness of their tour-gas installation, they were emphatically erased one morning. While business was proceeding as usual, someone accidentally touched the button releasing the gas. Within a surprisingly short time the front door of the bank became the object of a concerted rush on the part of the officials and patrons. A dozen

Seniors Dramatize Session of Congress

A very interesting and novel program was presented for the students last Friday. The Senior class dramatized the 73rd session of Congress. The student body was seated in the balcony which represented the gallery of the Hall of Representatives. The Seniors acted as Congressmen, sat in a semi-circle surrounding the speaker's desk, and the faculty were seated on the stage acting as pressmen. Miss Hazard, Senior advisor, acted as radio announcer.

The program was carried out in a very realistic manner. First, the meeting was called to order by the chairman and the sergeant-at-arms brought in all members from the outside. A prayer was offered by the chaplain and followed by the clerk reading President Roosevelt's proclamation. The first business of the House was to elect the speaker. There were two candidates—Mr. Snell (Paul Fletcher) and Mr. Rainey (Foster Beissel).

The vote was taken by calling the roll and Mr. Rainey was elected by the popular vote. The next step was Mr. Snell presenting Mr. Rainey the gavel. The President's speech was read and the whole House rose to greet Mrs. Roosevelt who suddenly appeared in the gallery among the spectators. The new bank bill was read and discussed by both the Republicans and Democrats. It was read twice, voted on, and passed by a unanimous vote.

The meeting was adjourned, and lest we forget, some humor was added to this particular session of Congress when the head of the gavel fell as the speaker first called the meeting to order.

The following students took part in the program:

Norman Beeman, Clerk.
Earl Lehman, Chairman.
Harold Alexander, Sec. at Arms.
Theodore Christianson—Luella Huston.

Plans for the annual closing exercises are somewhat indefinite at the present time and the activities will probably be curtailed to some extent on account of the economic and financial conditions.—Leader.

MASON.—Things were topsy-turvy at the Ingham county jail Tuesday. Farmers changed over to bankers and jailers were used as paying tellers. A rushing business was done. From the time the bank opened in the morning until the closing hour at night nearly $15,000 was paid out in cash to 290 of the 328 debtors who had money coming from Ira W. Wilson & Sons. Sheriff Thomas H. Hanna claimed that more men were in jail Tuesday than at any other time in the history of the county. He said many of them asked to remain until the holiday ends.—County News.

Give Brooder Stove Proper Early Care

East Lansing, Mar. 15.—Close attention to the regulation of the brooder stove to secure proper temperatures in the brooder house during the first few days of the chick's life pays good dividends, according to poultry experts at Michigan State College, who say that it is impossible to repair the damage done by overheating chicks or of permitting them to become chilled.

Coal burning stoves are the most common type and can be easily operated if they are attended at regular intervals and are in proper operating condition. The stove should be tried out before the chicks are placed in the house, and the house should be warmed to the correct temperature before the chicks are placed in it.

Stoves in the ordinary 12 by 12 foot brooder house will require a 50 or 62 inch canopy, and about 850 chicks are all that should be placed in this size house. The temperature, near the floor at the edge of the hover should be 85 to 90 degrees F. and the rest of the house should be about 70 degrees. These temperatures can be gradually reduced as the chicks grow older.

Equipment for feeding and watering the chicks should be placed away from the edge of the hover to teach the chicks to spend part of the time in the cooler parts of the house. When the chicks crowd around the stove, the temperature beneath the hover is too low and the fire or stove should be regulated. High temperatures cause the chicks to stay away from the hover at night.

Place the brooder stove in a sand box or on an asbestos pad. This will prevent any fires being started by ashes dropping on an unprotected floor.

Indian Names in Ohio
Seventeen or eighteen counties of Ohio have Indian names. The eighth is Delaware county, which was named for the Indian tribe, Delaware, of course, is not an Indian word but a French-English name. It was applied by the settlers to the Indians who lived near the river already so christened. The Delaware called themselves the Wa-be-nah-ka, the "people from the East."

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I want to ask in your question column which was first—the chicken or the egg?

Ans.—This is a mooted question and unanswerable. It is not known how the chicken got here unless you accept the Biblical version of the creation. In this case, naturally, the chicken was first.

Ques.—Will you kindly explain in the question department of your good paper how water is formed, and what are the substances that make it?

Ans.—When oxygen and nitrogen are brought together under proper conditions, the attraction between these two elements is known as "chemical affinity," and to form water they will unite in the proportion of two atoms of oxygen to one of hydrogen. The attraction is supposed to be electrical.

Ques.—I would like to have you answer me this question: What is the origin of the term "four-flusher"?

Ans.—This term had its origin in the game of Poker, a card game. If a player gets a hand of all five cards of the same suit, it is known as a flush. If he gets four of one suit and one of another, it is known as a four-flush, which has no value at all. Sometimes a player will try to make a four-flush win by bluffing—that is, he will pretend to have a flush and attempt to defeat his opponent by betting heavily on his worthless hand in the hopes that his opponent will "lay down." If "called" he is exposed. Hence the term "four-flusher." The term is now applied to anyone who makes a bluff.

Ques.—Why did Congress grant to Maine the privilege of holding their congressional elections in September of Presidential years instead of in November?

Ans.—Congress had nothing to do with that. The United States constitution clearly states that, unless Congress makes a resolution to the contrary, "the time and place and manner of holding elections for United States Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed by the legislature."

Ques.—Who prints the postage stamps for the United States government?

Ans.—This work is done at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing in Washington, D. C. However, up to 1894 the contract for printing postage stamps was let by contract to the lowest bidder.

Ques.—What is meant by a "lame duck," Congressman or a "lame-duck" Congress?

Ans.—The "lame-duck" session of Congress is the one that meets between the time that a President is elected and the time he takes his seat.—March 4. A "lame-duck" Congressman is one that was defeated for reelection, but is still serving on the old Congress until the new Congress convenes.—March 4.

Ques.—I was interested in your answer about the stars, and would like to ask you why stars are pointed and what makes them twinkle?

Ans.—This is an optical illusion. The stars are so far away that we can see them only as points of light. You will notice an appearance somewhat like it if you look at a street lamp through a wire screen. The lamp will seem to have long points of light, running out from it. They twinkle because it is not perfectly transparent. This causes the light to waver a little, in the same manner things outside will waver a little when we look through a window pane of poor quality glass. The wavering of light from the stars makes them seem to go out altogether for a moment, and then re-appear. Thus having the appearance of twinkling.

Ques.—Can you tell me in your question column just how the muscles of a person's body exert power?

Ans.—Muscles exert power by shortening their length. You should remember that muscles always pull—never push. For instance, when you lift your foot up, a muscle on the upper side pulls it up. And when you put it down, the upper muscles relax and the lower muscles pull it. In the same manner all other motions of the body are produced by combinations of pulls from the various muscles.

Ques.—I would like to know why spiders don't get caught in their own web the same as a fly is caught?

Ans.—Their feet are built in a special way so that they can rest upon individual threads of the web without breaking through or getting stuck fast to it.

SYLVAN CENTER SCHOOL NOTES

Did we have a Valentine party? Yes, we did! Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach mother of Betty and Carolyn Kalmbach, entertained the whole school at a Valentine party, 26 in all. You should have seen the sandwiches displayed before that hungry group. And Oh! yes, there were baked apples with whipped cream, potato salad, individual cakes with heart trimmings, and hot cocoa. That was a party we are remembering.

Our percentage has dropped this month, only 88.6 per cent, due to the fact that three of our members are under quarantine. We hope they will soon be back.

We still have a long list of those who have been neither absent nor tardy: June Floyd, Constance Freysinger, John Freysinger, Bertha Freysinger, Walter Freysinger, Veryl Hafley, Arleen Hafley, Glen Hafley, Duane Hafley, Eugene Martin, Beatrice Welch, Robert Welch, Wilbur West, L. D. West, J. D. West, Donald West, Bernadine West.

Plans for an Achievement Day program were discussed. Miss Mary Boyce and Mrs. Clarice Clark were appointed to act on this committee.

A delicious dinner was served at noon. Immediately following, Mrs. Clarice Clark and Mrs. Mabel Conk showed different collar patterns after which the ladies' dresses were fitted.

At the next meeting the dresses are to be practically finished. The ladies are requested to bring a piece of material five inches wide by fifteen inches long, to learn how to make bound button holes and set in pockets.

Odd "Blotting Paper" Powdered cuttlefish bone was sprinkled on freshly written papers to dry the ink before blotting was invented.

Treated Seed Helps Grain Crop Profits

East Lansing, Mar. 15.—One farm practice which always pays and which involves little expense and but a small amount of labor is the treatment of seeds to prevent the occurrence of common diseases, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Spring grains such as oats and barley can be readily protected from the losses caused by smut and by barley stripe. These two grain crops are always attacked by these diseases and, during some years, the toll taken is so great that the crop is unprofitable.

One pint of formaldehyde will make enough smut preventative to treat 80 bushels of oats or barley. The formaldehyde is mixed with water in the proportion of one pint to 40 gallons. Dusters made of formaldehyde or of mercury compounds also successfully protect grains from smut and are better than formaldehyde for barley stripe. Dusters usually cost more than a proportionate amount of formaldehyde and should be used as directed by the manufacturer.

Oats are treated as they are shoveled over on a clean floor which has been sprinkled with the formaldehyde solution. Use the solution at the rate of two quarts of the mixture to one bushel of seed. The grain is shoveled over, piled and covered with clean sacks or canvas for from two to eight hours. The grain should then be spread out and allowed to dry. If the grain is not planted immediately, it should be raked over occasionally, and should not be permitted to freeze or to sprout.

The treatment for barley smut is the same except that the grain is left covered only two hours after applying and should be planted as soon as possible.

SOMEONE

Someone lifted a load today, from off a heavy heart.

Someone carried a lighted torch where all had been cloudy and dark.

Someone entered a prison-cell where hope was well nigh gone.

Someone called at a hospital ward and sang a cheerful song.

Someone a beautiful message gave in a mission where wrecks wash in.

Someone told of a Saviour's love and power to save from sin.

Someone to know His love and power accepted the message true.

Someone, repenting, believing right now is assured this someone is you.

Indian Children Whipped

There is a curious paragraph in Father Dablon's book "Relation" for 1679, which reads: "This year, our Hurons, having seen that, in the school at Notre Dame de Mes, boys for French children, those who misbehaved were chastised, came to the conclusion that, in order to train their own children properly, it was necessary to chastise them for their faults as was done with the French children. That is why the captain had formed the habit of now and again going around the village shouting at the top of his voice for the fathers and mothers to make known to Father Hochon the faults of their children so that the boys may be whipped by the French schoolmaster and the girls by a good matron."

As the World Revolves

A French philosopher says that man first became conscious of sin 5,000 years ago. The cycle is just about completed—he is practically unconscious of it again.—Atlanta Journal.

Muck Land Tillers To Meet In Ann Arbor

Washtenaw farmers tilling muck land are holding a meeting next Monday afternoon, March 20, with Dr. Paul Harmer, muck specialist from Michigan State College, at the Ann Arbor Y. M. C. A. at 1:30 p. m.

Dr. Harmer is an authority on the management of muck soils, and is known to many of Washtenaw county muck farmers. On account of the many inquiries that have been received by H. S. Oaler, county agricultural agent, this winter regarding the handling of muck soils, arrangements were made for this meeting.

Many farmers in the past have attended the state meeting of muck growers during Farmers Week, but this is the first opportunity that they have had to discuss muck management problems with Dr. Harmer, announces Mr. Oaler.

Many farmers having muck are finding it profitable for growing only certain crops. Some growers are having difficulty with their fertilizer applications, and disease control. Dr. Harmer will discuss these problems in detail with the growers present next Monday afternoon.

Representatives from the soils department, Michigan State College, will accompany Dr. Harmer, and will be available for testing samples of muck soil that may be brought to the meeting. The new test developed at the college during the past year for phosphorus and potash will be used for the first time in Washtenaw county next Monday afternoon. Farmers desiring to bring in samples to be tested should follow the instructions given below in securing their samples.

"Care should be taken to avoid old burnments, places where brush or refuse has been burned, old vegetable storage pits, trenches, tile lines, ditch banks, or any place at which some disturbing factor may have affected the soil reaction. Take the first sample at a depth of three or four inches, and a second sample with spade or post hole auger at a depth of 18 to 24 inches. Care should be taken that none of the surface layer fall into the second sample. Keep the soil samples separate, and labeled. If part of the field has been burned over at some time, or there are unproductive spots, more than one set of such samples may be necessary. One set of samples should also be taken from the most productive part of your field so that a comparison can be made. Half pint samples should be brought in a moist condition in a clean can.

The person bringing in the muck samples should have information regarding the muck—as to depth, years of cultivation, drainage conditions, past fertilization, condition of crops grown, and the crop to be grown in 1933.

All for Self
Santi Dova, the great Buddhist saint, declared that what is wrong with the world is that we all make self the center round which life revolves; that we think for self, and act for self, and live for self. Now, said he, I am going to cast out this self, and put the love of others in its place, will make my life revolve round that, will henceforth think for others, act for others, live for others, making them myself.—A. J. Glossip.
