Correction

Due to a misunderstanding, The Standard stated last week that the State Liquor Control Commission had refused licenses for selling beer to Geo. Seitz and Harold Guestral. We are pleased to correct that statement and to apologize to these gentlemen for the misstatement.Wm. Kolb and Mr. Guestral went to Lansing Wednesday afternoon with the applications for themselves and Mr. Seitz. After conferring with the Liquor Commission, Mr. Guestral decided that he would not secure his license at this time. The men did not have sufficient funds with them to secure a license for Mr. Seitz.On Thursday morning Mr. Seitz went to Lansing and secured a license from the Commission, the permission being granted him without any hesitation on the part of the liquor control body, and the beverage is now on sale at the Seitz place of business on West Middle street.

Olive Winslow assembled last Thursday at her home on Washington street to assist in the celebration of her 80th birthday anniversary. A delicious dinner was served, a feature of which was a decorated birthday cake presented by her neighbor, Mrs. Christine Schottler. Mrs. Winslow received occasion. Those attending were Mrs.

Sarah Barham and Mrs. Lucille Cam-

TEACHERS MEET

The Primary Teachers of the Methodist Sunday school held their May meeting at the home of Miss Jennie Ives on Thursday afternoon. A pot-luck luncheon was served at one o'clock. Mrs. Leigh Palmer had charge of the program.Ball Season Opens Minus Ceremonies;
Play In Mud-WaterAs a result of the bravery of members of Twilight Ball League teams scheduled to play during the past week, two games have been played, and it is expected they will be recorded in Chelsea baseball history as the "muddiest" games ever played on Holmes field. With both the infield and outfield dotted with water and mud holes the boys took the chance of marring their external appearance to give the spectators a thrill and to get the long-delayed opening of the season underway.However, the ceremonious event promised for the opening of the season has been delayed because of the inclement weather. J. E. McKune, village president, who had promised to deliver the first ball of the season, appeared at the field last Thursday night and was ready for his part of the exhibition, but Dr. L. J. Paul, the league president, failed to appear. It is reported that the doctor feared the insure footing in the mud puddle directly back of home plate.If weather conditions permit, the big event will be held next Monday night. The American Legion Junior Bowl, under the direction of Wesley Smith, will parade through Main street and to the ball field, the parade to start at 6:15 sharp. The twopresidents who will take part in the ceremony at the field will lead the parade and it is hoped hundreds of townspeople will fall in line and go to the field to view the game and enjoy the musical program to be presented by the band. A free will offering will be taken at this game to help defray some of the expense of getting the field in shape for play.A request has been made by officials of the league that anyone not a member of participating ball teams do their practicing in the rear of spectators' cars, as they believe fans are entitled to this courtesy.Results of games played during the past week are as follows:Thursday—Spauldings 4, Federal Screw 3.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES KITTEL—Supt. and Matron of County Infirmary

Conducting an institution of the size and importance of the Washtenaw County Infirmary requires an order of ability not possessed in the average man and woman. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kittel are Superintendent and Matron, respectively of this institution and they are filling these offices with unusual success. It is particularly pleasing to see a man and his wife working so ideally together, in perfect cooperation, coordinating their efforts in a manner that makes the administrative machinery run so smoothly. Figures show that their management is not only efficient but also economic, saving the taxpayers large sums of money that would otherwise be expended, under a less able management. Besides the inmates are kept happy and contented and they are treated in a manner that permits them to preserve their own self respect and identity. Cleanliness throughout is something else again to merit commendation. In fact, in a word, the various departments, which come under the two offices of Superintendent and Matron, are in every way conducted so perfectly that nothing but favorable comments are ever heard and Mr. and Mrs. Kittel, therefore, well deserve these few words of praise in this special feature column.

MR. HARRY W. READING—Justice of Peace

Mr. Harry W. Reading holds the important office of Justice of Peace because he has ability of course, but also because he has the right kind of character. The citizens of Washtenaw County have little to complain of, when such men are made the recipient of political honors, since their work shows that they deserve them. It has not been the easy course path to snapshoot that Mr. Reading has been following all these years. His work has plenty of rough corners and steep places which only carefully trained men would care to encounter, but alone try to get the better of. But herein lies the merit of all Mr. Reading does. He is thorough and conscientious, his duties have been performed so ably that his fitness for higher tasks is patent and all who are in the habit of watching the municipal machinery are learning the inwardness of its efficiency. Mr. Reading is excellent timber for almost any high responsibility and it is to be hoped that the future will see him in office where he will have a still further scope for the exercise of his administrative ability which he possesses in such high degree.

MISS CORA HAAS—Co. School Commissioner

No list of notables of Washtenaw County would be complete without the name of Miss Cora Haas, who is Commissioner of the County Schools, and one of the most brilliant lights of our educational system. Miss Haas has devoted years to public service in the training of the younger generation and her success is most attested by the standard of excellence attained by the schools with which she has been identified in such important capacities, during her long and fruitful career. When she was placed in her present position, one of the most responsible assignments made, it reflected in large measure, the high regard and esteem in which Miss Haas is held by those who seek the ablest woman in her profession. Honored with college degrees and a record already established, Miss Haas remains the student, ever in the search of advanced ideas and ideals, intended for the betterment of the public school system and the young men and women in her keeping. Early recognition of Miss Haas' worth in the form of higher honors, would delight her legion of friends including thousands of school teachers and faculty members.

DR. EDWIN C. GANZHORN—County Coroner

Washtenaw owes its appreciation and vote of thanks to the men who have served the county well in the duties of County Coroner. And we are pleased to make honorable mention in this special feature column of the duties of a Coroner that are as follows: It is the function of the Coroner to hold inquests over bodies of persons who have died violently or under suspicious circumstances; for the purpose of fixing the cause of such death and the responsibility therefore. Thus the responsibility of such an office is apparent and the requirements for properly acquitting oneself of these responsibilities is just as apparent. Not every one may examine a body and know authoritatively whether foul play has been done, and give therefore the technical reasons for having arrived at such conclusion. But when a man like Coroner Dr. Edwin C. Ganzhorn makes a conclusion, no one would care to dispute the decision. Dr. Ganzhorn is one of those civic spirited citizens who Washtenaw County has the right to be proud of as a man who is unselfishly giving his community in this important post. The remuneration for which he smelt. His altruistic motives are therefore all the more to be appreciated.

DR. THEOPHIL KLINGMANN—Mercywood Sanitarium

Dr. Theophil Klingmann, who is Medical Director of the Mercywood Sanitarium, is not only one of the most prominent men in his profession, but as most of us know, he has spent his entire career in the study of medicine. His proficiency in this highly specialized endeavor has long since been recognized by both laity and the profession and has borne remarkably successful fruit. Not every community of this size may boast of a man of Dr. Klingmann's talents and reason and veritable army of patients here in this community owe their present health to Dr. Klingmann's genius and indefatigable work in perfecting himself in this important branch of medical science. It is such specialists as Dr. Klingmann who deserve great credit for being so willing to give the public the benefit of his skill regardless of the financial status of the patient, and altruistic spirit that has made him much beloved and deservedly so. Dr. Klingmann spent much time in post-graduate work after graduating with his M. D. and this has been supplemented with years of practical training, in practice that is both large and important. He is also a very public spirited citizen and may well be termed as an outstanding man of affairs and one of great usefulness.

MR. ALONZO H. MILLER—Fire Chief of Ypsilanti

Holding public office is a peculiar position. So often one may be perfectly sincere and honest and meet with only criticism. Then again one may use the office for ulterior motive and be considered a star in the political firmament. But today the people are becoming better educated to the possibilities of mal administration and they are more careful and watchful than of yore. Thus today a man must be well near the mark of high standard and to attain to a good public office. Then if he succumbs to temptation that is something else again. A refreshing example, however, who has always lived his life along lines of doing service to his fellowmen and who has, by virtue of their respect, been placed in public office, is Mr. Alonzo H. Miller, who holds the office of Chief of the Ypsilanti Fire Department. He goes the even tenor of his way, is never spectacular and never makes extravagant claims; yet he is one of the most thorough and efficient men that ever held public office. Regardless of partisanship, he administers his duties in a manner that shows that kind of results that elicits the admiration of all concerned. Yet he is a faithful adherent to the tenets of his party and it takes a genius to do that and Mr. Miller well merits appreciation.

DR. ALEXANDER G. RUTHVEN—President of University of Michigan

America is a nation formed by many races as varied and dissimilar as the hues of the spectrum, but welded into an unbreakable and uniform whole. As has been said by many, it is the "melting pot of the world" where men of various nationalities, natures and temperaments, are placed into the crucible. It is certain that the fusing agents, responsible for the melting and blending, must be powerful and extraordinarily steady. The foundation and essential structure of every state in the Union, regardless of locality, or individual peculiarity, has always been formed by this same fusing element—men of sturdy character and indomitable purpose who over rode all obstacles and who, by the very fire of their patriotism and resolve, welded those about them into a mighty, unified community. Michigan, therefore, owes her prosperity to citizens of this staunch type, who have and are forging ahead, totally unconcerned of the vital part they are playing. Each section contributed its quota of such men and among their ranks is Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, who has been President of the University of Michigan since 1930. To have attained to that position, explains in itself the success of Dr. Ruthven's career, and the progressive manner in which he has lived his life. It is such citizens of Ann Arbor who are shining examples of worthiness and who are citizens we like to commend in this column. Dr. Ruthven surely merits such praise.

MR. R. A. CAMPBELL—Mayor of Ann Arbor

Being the chief executive of a municipality like Ann Arbor is no sine-cure. It requires a constructive trend of mind not possessed by every one. Mayor R. A. Campbell takes his work seriously and feels that the reward of seeing Ann Arbor constantly grow in population and financial importance is reward all sufficient. Mayor Campbell has come to the front in political life and municipal progress because of his level head, which he knows how to use without losing it. His uniformly square deal habit, has made him a leader. His fulfillment of the arduous duties of the office has well proved his fitness, showing a manner of doing things thoroughly and never by halves, a thoroughness that is characteristic of this able executive. Mayor Campbell has not arrived at the highest pinnacle within the reach of his abilities nor has he obtained the full reward of his deserts, but he bids his time. He is a true example of loyal adherence to his friends. Meanwhile the seething and surging of politics are never at rest, although they seem remarkably calm on the surface. But the man who is true to his principles and his friends never need fear. He stands pat like Mayor Campbell and you may always know where to find him.

MR. ALBERT J. RAPP—Prosecuting Attorney

Mr. Albert J. Rapp, who so ably holds the office of Prosecuting Attorney of Washtenaw County, must cope with all the best legal ability and some times be pitted against a battery of these legal lights. There are some Prosecuting Attorneys who adopt the policy of convicting in all cases, regardless of extenuating circumstances, their desire for personal aggrandizement and political ambitions being too great to temper their views with the demands of real justice. Mr. Rapp has the viewpoint that his office is a public trust and not a machine to lift him to dizzy heights in the political arena, using unfortunate souls who have erred against society, as mere puppets to serve as stepping stones for his personal advance. Not Mr. Rapp. If the crime is the first offense or committed under circumstances that seem to condone it, due consideration is given by Mr. Rapp. It is such fairness and humanity that makes him so beloved and feared at the same time, for the hardened offender suffers from his unmitigated prosecution, which is both thorough and effective. After all, such men deserve political punishment all the more, though they do not ask it. Mr. Rapp is a man who indeed well merits a place higher up in the realm of public service.

MR. GEO. H. SANDENBURGH—City Engineer of Ann Arbor

Engineering fills the average mind with the exploits such as the world has never seen before. The days of romance and magic have been elapsed. Technical skill has produced something more wonderful. With this as a preamble, we are ready to appreciate the value of engineering talent in bringing to pass some of the notable works of a municipal nature during the past decade. The department of engineering of Ann Arbor has given a good account of itself during the time, but is doubtful if ever before has it made a better showing than under the expert guidance of Mr. Geo. H. Sandenburgh, the present able City Engineer. Men who have earned their spurs are given a fuller scope for the exercise of their abilities and in his case there has been no exception. To be so well fitted for the arduous duties of this office requires a thorough and vigorous training that has taken many years to acquire. Thus it is seen that some of the more important branches of city service must be the only badge that permits the wearer to pass through the gates of recognition the true sense of the word, recognition that brings proper reward. Mr. Sandenburgh is indeed a valuable and conscientious citizen and public servant, holding a high place among the people of this community.

MR. CHAS. J. ANDREWS—Fire Chief of Ann Arbor

Men may erect splendid buildings that are veritable monuments to human progress and attainments; yet those achievements are as naught if not protected against the ravages of the elements. Providing safe guards for the little home of the worker is as vitally necessary as guarding the tall office building of the industrialist or banker. The greater the protection against loss of life and property, the higher standing the community receives in the state and national ratings. This makes the activities of Mr. Chas. J. Andrews extremely important. He is chief of the Ann Arbor Fire Department and through his experience and well applied efforts, he has made a splendid reputation for himself and his fire fighting forces. Ann Arbor is known for its low fire losses, for a city of its size and thus it enjoys low insurance rates in keeping with the efficiency of its fire department. Chief Andrews is one of the ablest fire fighting executives in the state and is so recognized. Besides being a master fireman, he has the happy faculty of leading his force to the maximum of efforts in emergencies, saving the community thousands of dollars. Chief Andrews well merits the designation as one so worthy of the highest commendation.

MR. JACOB B. ANDRES—County Sheriff

The duties of a sheriff of a county of the size of Washtenaw County are by no means a sine-cure. It requires a man of many years experience in allied work as well as fairness of mind, bravery of spirit and a willingness to meet any exigency as it comes. The sheriff who attends strictly to his duties may be called out any hour of the night and may run afoul of the most desperate bandits. Thus being a sheriff is not the easiest or most pleasant occupation. Yet the public seldom fully appreciates the large part the sheriff plays in safeguarding its interests in so many diverse ways. Ofttimes one finds it impossible to collect a just debt and suit is instituted, and when recognized by the courts, a judgment is entered. It is then up to the sheriff to see that this judgment is satisfied. Sheriff Andres has for years been one of the most dependable and esteemed men in Ann Arbor and Washtenaw County. He has a host of friends because of his fair spirit toward his fellowmen. Since the advent of his administration of the office, he has proved to be one of the ablest officials this county has ever known.

MR. RALPH L. SOUTHARD—Police Chief of Ypsilanti

The responsibilities of the office of Police Chief requires the technic of masterly direction and execution. When Mr. Ralph L. Southard was placed in that office, his colleagues and associates felt that this was indeed an excellent selection, but more than that, the entire community felt the same way about it and ever since the day he was inducted into office Mr. Southard has been magnificently proving that they were right. In saying that we are not just trying to be nice to a man for whom we have such high esteem and respect, but we are stating a fact that no sensible person would care to dispute and that he is doing it conscientiously. He has shown his ability to lead and direct to the mutual advantage of all and in doing that he has also shown his commendable disposition to gauge his every action along channels of constructiveness that will be of benefit to the greatest number of citizens of this community. If recognition is as certain as it is provable, leadership and all the surrounding attributes of fame are the inevitable outcome of such continued success and progress, and the world of affairs of Mr. Southard's field of glory. In Washtenaw County no man has been a better public official or citizen and that is a broad statement.

MR. THOMAS M. O'BRIEN—Chief of Police of Ann Arbor

No department in Ann Arbor calls for greater ability than the Police Department. Mr. Thomas M. O'Brien's able administration as Chief of this department has elicited the highest praise from both citizenry and city officials. In fact some of Chief O'Brien's original and efficient innovations have been emulated by other municipalities. Chief O'Brien has spent many years in the realm of law and order and he is unending in punishing those who would infringe on the laws of society. However, he is a man of genial nature, always thoughtful of the comfort and rights of his force of men who may make for some personal concession, or some suggestion that may have for its purpose the betterment of the department. Since the advent of Mr. O'Brien as chief of this department, Ann Arbor has been notable for its absence of crime and disorder. The manner in which his men have been protected in a manner in which he has trained these men and inspired them with confidence and co-operative good fellowship. He is indeed one of the ablest police officials in the entire state.

HON. MATTHEW MAX—Mayor of Ypsilanti

One of the names looming large in public life in Ypsilanti is that of Hon. Matthew Max who holds the office of Mayor. He has a notable record as a public official, is well known to political leaders and the rank and file of this community, where his activities keep him ever before the public and is one of the best liked men holding office. He is a friend of the people, regardless of partisanship, won by a distinguished advocacy of their rights, in his every action. In the office of Mayor he has made his mark, and out of his vast and intimate knowledge of local affairs, he has fashioned a platform that has been uniformly constructive and successful, winning the plaudits of all concerned and on every side. A canvas of this community would show that many of the political leaders as well as the voters in general, would stand behind Mayor Max in any fight that he might ever care to wage; for they have all been watching him in his present office and they know full well that he studies questions carefully and closely and that his mind is keyed to the responsibility he owes the people who have placed him where he is. Nothing indicates so clearly a man's character than the warm support of his neighbors and townspeople. Mayor Max is surely good timber upon which to bank as a successful man for higher office, and such he surely deserves.

REV. FATHER JOHN J. SHERIDAN—St. Joseph's and University Hospitals

The manner in which the Rev. Father John J. Sheridan lives is a fine example for emulation. His constant and tireless toil in lifting up the less fortunate, in spreading gladness and cheer unostentatiously wherever he goes, all contribute to his being one of the most beloved men in this community, beloved by one and all regardless of whether they are of the same faith. Such men are builders of a community, for after all the citizen who is inclined to recognize the spiritual truths as taught by the Roman Catholic Church, is a citizen who tries to take his place in that community as one who is imbued with responsibilities of his citizenship and who is therefore the kind of man or woman who makes that community the better by his presence. Father Sheridan, as we all know, is connected with the St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital and the University Hospital in Ann Arbor. Of course, it is no sine-cure to the priest in his work in these days of trial and want, for the depression has indeed called for the most human and unselfish toil to bring something new to order out of chaos. But who is there who would care to refute the statement, that no one is doing a nobler work, or a more unselfish or more fruitful, for the good of all, regardless of their faith, than Father Sheridan—surely no one.

MR. GEO. W. SAMPLE—Circuit Court Judge

A leading figure in legal advance in Ann Arbor is Judge Geo. W. Sample, whose activities have carried him to a high position in the profession. Judge Sample is widely known as a successful practitioner and he has won some of the most prominent decisions. He has made a worthy record on the bench and is also prominent in fraternal circles and is a member of several clubs. He has demonstrated on the bench a wide vision of life and deep feeling of responsibility towards his fellowmen. He displays also the constructive judicial spirit which counts far more than the immediate present, as an influence for the correction and reformation of transgressors who come under his decisions. Both at the bar and on the bench, Judge Sample has won distinction throughout the county, both for his forensic ability and his legal acumen, and during the years which he has been professionally active he has given his name marked significance to the people of the community. Formerly a leading barrister, today his many responsibilities incident to his judgeship keep him fully occupied. He is a thoroughly representative figure in the great fraternity of the present day and for sound judgment and professional learning that amounts to legal erudition, Judge Sample has no peer in the entire state.

DR. DAVID N. ROBB—Ypsilanti City Health Officer

There are plenty of men in their chosen field who are prominent but who will not permit anyone to say much about it. But it is public property every time a man reaches a position in any community where he is generally recognized as a leader. Dr. David N. Robb, who is City Health Officer of Ypsilanti, has always done his work effectively even though it has been quietly accomplished and without the blare of trumpets. Thus his many friends and appreciative patients would think it strange omission were we not to print a word about him in this special column. No one has gained a higher regard of his standards set by the world of medical media for his representatives to follow. Dr. Robb, busy as he is, always manages somehow or other to do his bit in any progressive movement beneficial to the city's welfare. Dr. Robb is a man who prefers to carry on unostentatiously but none the less effectively. It is such men of this type who go the even tenor of their way and accomplish much without saying much, and whose achievements are indeed well merited.

MR. HARVEY C. HOLMES—Ypsilanti City Clerk

Mr. Harvey C. Holmes, who holds the office of City Clerk in Ypsilanti and who is one of the leading men of the community, owes his advancement into the list of notables, to the fact that the pendulum of praise always swings toward the men who are backed by rugged honesty of purpose. It is such men who win the confidence of the citizenry. Mr. Holmes' climb to prominence, however, has not been without its trials. But that is true of every public official, for there are always those who would have a man use his office for ulterior purpose, giving out "plums," as it were and other unwarranted favors. Thus when a man takes his office seriously and keeps in mind the interests of the taxpayers rather than a few favored ones, there is a natural inclination to criticize. But Mr. Holmes' record of treating one and all alike, and his open and straight forward manner of dealing, has been recognized and has pleased the masses. After all that is a finer tribute than the so-called "silver platter" who sometimes forgets the citizenry. Mr. Holmes is not only one of the ablest men who ever held public office, but he is a citizen who well merits that appellation. Such men are indeed well worth while.

MR. ARTH M. VANDERSALL—Justice of Peace of Ypsilanti

The idea that the goal of public office is personal gain and aggrandizement is one that has long since been exploded. Most of the men holding important public office today are doing so by the virtue of the fact that they have been public spirited citizens and have proved their success in their personal ventures, then, desiring unsolicited to aid their community, they have entered public life. In most cases they have been almost forced to take their offices by common desire of their fellow citizens. For example, Mr. Arth M. Vandarsall, who is so ably acquitting himself of the arduous duties of Justice of Peace of Ypsilanti. He might be using his talents to much better advantage were he to gauge the matter in personal gain but he is of that type who performs yeoman service to the community rather than personal advantage or gain. It is this spirit that is making Ypsilanti what it is today and is this spirit that is making Mr. Vandarsall a man who is beloved and re-pected by one and all alike. They know him for what he is and they love him for his uniform methods in aiding the community. Such men well deserve praise in the public print.

MR. WILLIAM M. LAIRD—City Attorney of Ann Arbor

City Attorney Wm. M. Laird has seen fit to engage himself in that branch of the law which deals with the public at large and he is prominent in the city administration of Ann Arbor as an expert in connection with this branch of public service. This interest, which is ever deeper than the ordinary kind time to give the city the benefit of his deep knowledge in aiding its municipal government as City Attorney. He is serving in that office in a manner that is eliciting the praise of all concerned. It is such citizens that are so-called "bulwarks of the community." Mr. Laird is one of those efficient, possessors a forceful personality that has been a contributing factor in making him to his present enviable position. Quiet and unassuming in his manner, unostentatious in his method of achieving, accurate in his interpretation of the law and well grounded on established precedents. Mr. Laird has indeed a thorough and comprehensive background upon which to build a career that could not help but bear successful fruition.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

May 9, 1933

A great thing has occurred amongst us. We have made a complete turn-around, and at last America's face is toward the future. Three years---1929 to 1932---we Americans looked backward. All our old financial and political machinery was geared to pull us out of the depression by the same door through which we entered. We thought it simply a case of going back the way we came. It failed. We now realize that the way out is forward---through it. Thanks for that belongs to President Roosevelt. Inauguration Day he turned the Ship of State around. Having observed the failure of sincere efforts to haul us back the way we came, he designed a new method---new political and financial machinery---to pull us out the way we are going---forward. He is clearing international obstacles out of the way; he does not stand in awe of tariffs. The people begin to feel that he does not take advice from the "interests"; that he has courage and loyalty to work for one supreme interest only---the welfare of the American people. That is a big achievement for two months in office.

And now we all look to what is coming; we grow less and less concerned with what is behind. We are looking for a hand-hold on the haul rope. Every man wants to do what he can, and all he can.

The best thing I can do for the Country is to create industry by building good motor cars. If I knew anything better to do, I would do it. Industry must be my contribution. Motor cars must face ahead to the future, like everything else. They are so much a part of the Nation's daily life that if they lag behind they hold the Country back.

Standard Liners Bring Results

DURING THE MONTH OF MAY

15¢

a day

buys a FULL-SIZED

FULL-POWERED

KELVINATOR

UNTIL MATERIAL COSTS GO UP!
97¢

This unusually liberal payment plan of 15 cents a day will be in effect only during the month of May. And the record-breaking low price of $97.00 is guaranteed only until material costs go up. When material costs do increase, and current reports indicate this may be expected any day, the price of this Kelvinator must go up because Kelvinator will not cheapen the product to meet a low price.
