Chelsea Schools Will Open September 11th

The public schools of Chelsea will open Monday, September 11 at 1:15 p. m. Teachers' meetings, both grade and high school, will be held Monday morning beginning at nine o'clock and the students of the community will report at 1:15 for enrollment and assignments. Regular classes will start Tuesday morning.

The following high school classes will be offered: English 9, 10, 11 and 12; Latin 1 and 2, elementary algebra and plane geometry, community civics, world history, American history and senior civics and economics. The courses given in science will be biology, chemistry, physics, and a year course in agriculture, consisting of half a year in farm crops and half a year in horticulture. In the commercial course there will be courses in business law, bookkeeping, shorthand and typing. The usual course in speech will also be offered.

Richard Kincaid of Grant, Mich., graduate of Michigan State College with additional graduate work at Pennsylvania State College, is to start the agricultural course under the provisions of the Smith Hughes law, and will also teach the bulk of the commercial work this year. The superintendent will have a class in shorthand, open to juniors and seniors, in order that the commercial course will be fairly complete. The Gregg system will be used.

Children of the district who are five years of age, or who will be five years of age not later than February 1, following the opening of school, will be admitted to the kindergarten. Parents who have children of the age listed in this announcement are urged to start them in the work of the kindergarten when school opens.

Marks will be issued six times a year and the state marking system will be used.

Tuition to non-resident pupils in the high school has been reduced to fifty dollars per year.

The superintendent will be in his office in the high school building on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week and asks that high school students who are in doubt as to their courses to confer with him during the four days mentioned.

Non-resident pupils are requested to bring with them the following information: Number of home school district, name of home school, director's name, director's address.

The Chelsea high school is on the accredited list of the University of Michigan and also is in full membership of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. A pleasant and profitable school year is expected.

'No Thought of Boycott' Johnson Tells Retailers

Washington—"There is no thought of boycott here," Administrator Hugh S. Johnson said in an address at the opening session of the hearings on the retail merchants' code, and with special emphasis.

"We have provided machinery here in Washington to take care of people who find the grade too steep for them. But when we find a man chafing behind the Blue Eagle we are going to step in and take that Eagle in such a way that the whole world will know it. That is only our simple and just duty to those high-minded citizens who are earnestly trying to pull this great country out of the depression. We are building up our case against cheats, and when we move against them it will mean their economic death."

General Johnson stressed "the duty of us here to protect those who cooperate and make sacrifices by investing in reemployment to lift buying power." The lesson learned during the war was that of wholehearted cooperation toward great national ends. In approaching the fourth anniversary of depression, with both State and individual relief funds nearing the vanishing point, "this country, with all of its vast resources, cannot sit still and allow drift and despair to rule. No nation, not even our own, can continue to support nearly 40,000,000 people in destitution."

He explained the attitude of NRA as to prices. "Such seasoned campaigners as you retailers know what price structure should be in such a critical time while we are restoring normal employment. You should resist advancing prices of manufacturers, and we will back you up within our limits. That is our plain duty to the public. Furthermore, it is the law, and we are here to enforce it."

SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPT. 11

St. Mary School will reopen on Monday, September 11. Arrangements for music lessons may be made at the convent.

STORES WILL CLOSE

According to information received by The Standard on Wednesday, Chelsea stores will close all day on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 4.

Governor Still Has Time To Keep His Platform Pledge

By V. J. Brown
Probably there has never been a time in the history of this nation when the average individual citizen is more disturbed than at the present moment. Generally it is said we have entered upon a new era in business and in government. It is but a short time ago when the cry of the nation was for government to get out of business. There was revolution against bureaucracy. There was a tremendous wave against public expense.

Today business has yielded itself almost entirely and without an apparent remonstrance to governmental control. Never in the history of nations has public money been spent with so lavish a hand.

In this respect Michigan is marching along with the parade. A year ago from every political platform was heard the cry for governmental economy. There was ranting against inspectors, there was opposition to almost every form of governmental activity, there were promises of cutting the expense sheets of the state in the middle, there were protests against every form of taxation, and there were promises of reform.

Today Michigan is whittling along in the same old maze of spending. What over has been saved by economies applied to the ordinary affairs of government is eaten up by new spendings of new commissions and new agencies.

Before the summer is over there will be more inspectors on the road at state expense than ever traveled the highways and byways of this commonwealth before.

A little more than a year ago this writer in closing his first series of articles on state affairs, used these words:

Oligarchy of Spenders
"Michigan is ruled by an oligarchy of spenders who have their ears attuned and their eyes focused upon certain blocs and minorities who have learned to make themselves heard and seen. The taxpayer will never receive his deserved recognition until he too makes his power a virtue, forceful portfolio of election issues. Public waste will never be swept aside by those who fatten at public feed troughs."

Killing Rats
"Farmers frequently find it profitable to take a day off and kill the rats which infest his granaries. And by this is meant no insult to those who (Continued on page two)

A Statement To The Public

Stories that the Chelsea Milling Co. have been taking advantage of farmers in charging them a tax on their wheat exchanged for flour have been in circulation the past few days. This is a serious charge for anyone to make and is entirely contrary to the facts.

There are two forms of taxes for which any flour milling company is responsible. These are the state sales tax of 9 per cent on all retail sales, and the processing tax of 80c per bushel on each bushel of wheat ground for flour.

Any producer of wheat is exempt from this processing tax, if he exchanges wheat for flour AT A MILL. He is not exempt when he exchanges at any other place. This exemption applies ONLY TO FLOUR MILLED FROM THE SAME TYPE OF WHEAT GROWN BY THE PRODUCER. Since the wheat grown in this community is entirely soft winter wheat, the only flour on which the tax is exempt is soft wheat flour.

Many farmers have been accustomed to using a hard wheat flour or a blended flour for bread baking. In exchanging wheat for this type of flour the exemption applies ONLY TO THE PROPORTION OF SOFT WHEAT IN THE BLEND. A processing tax must be paid on any hard wheat flour obtained in an exchange for soft wheat.

The custom prevailing at the Chelsea Milling Company is to absorb the processing tax in the amount of flour given per bushel of wheat. In collecting the state sales tax the farmer may pay either in cash or in wheat.

The United States Government is making every effort to see that these new tax laws are strictly observed. Every farmer, in claiming his exemption must make affidavit that he raised the wheat and will use the flour only for his own household.

Should any individual know of a violation, either on the part of a producer or a mill, it is their duty to report it to the nearest Federal office. In this case the local postmaster. He will see that the violator is properly dealt with.

The Chelsea Milling Co. have an advertisement in another part of this paper which explains their method of exchanging on various grades of flour.

Hog Reducing Program Has Many Schedules

The emergency hog program which calls for the purchase of 4,000,000 pigs weighing from 25 to 100 pounds and sows with a minimum weight of 175 pounds, and showing definite evidence that they are due to farrow this fall, has become operative at six middle western markets. Washnaw county swine growers will be able to secure permits for the Detroit market from County Agent H. S. Osley, Extension office, court house, Ann Arbor, within a few days.

The schedule of base point prices to be paid for pigs is as follows:

Weight	Price per 100 lbs.
25-30 lbs.	$0.50
31-35 lbs.	0.25
36-40 lbs.	0.00
41-45 lbs.	0.75
46-50 lbs.	0.50
51-55 lbs.	0.25
56-60 lbs.	0.00
61-65 lbs.	0.75
66-70 lbs.	0.50
71-75 lbs.	0.25
76-80 lbs.	0.00
81-85 lbs.	0.75
86-90 lbs.	0.50
91-95 lbs.	0.25
96-100 lbs.	0.00

To be purchased on basis of average weight per lot with minimum weight of 25 pounds, maximum weight of 100 pounds, and maximum range of weights of 30 pounds on individual pigs in each lot. Prices paid for sows for the account of the Secretary of Agriculture will be the current market price at the market where purchased, plus $4.00 per head, and without the customary docking.

The prices are to be applicable only to pigs that are in good health and show normal growth with no body deformities at the time of delivery. Pigs of inferior quality (usually must be) commonly referred to as "range pigs," "razor backs," or "southerners" will be bought at a discount of $3.00 per 100 pounds under the base point prices wherever they are marketed.

Complete Plans for Labor Day Picnic

With the appointment of additional committees this week plans for the Labor Day picnic and homecoming to be held Monday, September 4, under the auspices of the members of St. Joseph's church and their friends, have been completed. Preparations are being made to entertain a record-breaking crowd at this popular annual event.

The work of transforming the village grove into a picnic ground is in charge of the following committee of volunteer workers: Frederick Cunningham, Dan Powers, Anthony Gallagher, Robert L. Donovan, Clarence Harris, Edward Reid, Joseph Timmons, Louis Walsh, Joseph Ziegler, Wallace Walsh, T. F. Enright, Jr., Bernard Walsh and T. F. Wolf.

Plans have been perfected in serving the chicken dinner, a feature of the homecoming, to reduce waiting on the part of those desiring to eat to the shortest possible time. Eight tables will be set with each table accommodating 24 guests, thus enabling 192 persons to eat at the same time. Each table will be presided over by a committee member assisted by six waitresses, or one waitress to every four guests, assuring excellent service.

The members of the committee presiding over tables are Miss Margaret McGuinness, Mrs. George F. Walsh, Mrs. T. F. Enright, Miss Agnes Harris, Mrs. Frank Sharpe, Miss Mildred Walsh, Mrs. Maurice O'Brien and Miss Gertrude Shields. The general chairman of the dinner committee is Mrs. A. G. Wall and Mrs. John Hoey acting as associate chairman.

A cordial invitation is extended by the members of the various committees to the residents of Chelsea and the vicinity to join with them in making the annual Labor Day picnic and homecoming next Monday a joyous and happy event. A hearty welcome awaits all in Dexter at the homecoming.

NRA Honor List

Several names have been added to Chelsea's NRA Honor List during the past week. With a few exceptions, Chelsea is now 100 per cent and it is expected the remaining few will sign the President's Re-employment Agreement within the next few days. Names added during the past week are as follows:

serve the state. The simile is employed only to point out that the taxpayer can never hope to keep the meat barrel filled as long as the bureau, boards, institutions, commissions and agencies multiply as they have in the past and consume so much and as long as the gap between private and public salaries remains at its present width. Economy—relentless and ruthless, unimpaired by sympathy, undisturbed by opposition or political expediency—must rule if Michigan is to be saved from bankruptcy.

Only the taxpayer can accomplish this end, and then only by determined effort and organized forces.

These words are as true today as they were a year ago.

Again we quote from the closing chapter of the 1932 series wherein was said: "No politician is afraid of the taxpayer vote. He gives no heed to demands for retrenchment. His sole interest lies in the creation of new jobs into which his henchmen are inducted and new commissions through which political debts may be paid."

False Prophecy

False prophecies were stoned in the streets. Fortunately, indeed, that such a pastime has been abandoned. For on April 2, 1932, this writer stated editorially: "The people of Michigan will select a man who has proved himself bigger than the cheap grafters; bigger than paid lobbyists; bigger than petty office seekers; bigger than a cabinet of salaried appointees."

And so as we come to the closing chapter of the 1933 series we shall refrain from predictions of what will be done. Quite to the contrary we shall be content to review what has happened.

People Were Aroused

The people of Michigan were aroused last November. They went to the polls in the firm belief that at last their time had come to take vengeance against those who had brought their beloved state to the brink of collapse. They swept the boards clean. Some may have been carried away with enthusiasm for beer and wine. Some probably took the opportunity to express themselves on the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution. Then again it must be confessed that many were just tired of things as they were and voted for a change. But without there marched to the polls on that November day a veritable army of voters who expressed themselves against the rising tide of public expense.

A new force in Michigan political affairs was recruited and along with that some restrictions having to do with property tax limitations and the right to vote for the spending of public money and the creation of public debt were written into the constitution.

There is no mistaking their intentions. The will of the people, and their temper was never more clearly written in the returns of an election than was written into those of the full election of 1932 in the state of Michigan.

May Still Redeem Pledge

Governor William A. Comstock still has ample opportunity to redeem his pledges to the people of Michigan. He has lost some time but he still has nearly a year and a half to correct some of the ills he promised to cure and some of the evils his own party has heaped upon a long suffering state.

Let this admonition be not misunderstood. Extravagant spending did not begin with the new deal of 1933. Its history reaches back far beyond even the political life of the present governor. It did not begin with Comstock. Neither has it ended with Comstock. It still persists with new life and new vigor.

The present governor lent his aid to a reduction of the operating budget of the state. In all sincerity he labored with the committees who wrote the operating budgets of the various institutions, departments and boards. He now finds his work and that of others who aided him, set aside and held for naught by a list of appointees and associates who flout the demands of the people and snap their fingers at budget makers. An attorney general, who himself was one of the first to increase the expense of his department, has ruled that even the legislature has no right to reduce the salary of an appointee during the term for which he is appointed.

Reductions Fought

The attorney general is supposed to know the law and it is not the province of a newspaper editor to argue that point. But a former governor saw to it that every appointee submitted to a reduction even in the middle of a budget biennium and after their appropriations had been made. This governor promised even greater reductions and the people accepted his promise. They are asking now what he proposes to do about it.

One of the leading democratic editors of Michigan, in a recent article in his own newspaper, commenting on the fact that certain state officials, appointive and otherwise, who had tilted their own salaries back to pre-depression levels, said: "Of course it is perfectly all right for republicans to draw the salaries which republican legislatures fixed, but it is entirely wrong for democrats to draw them. It is a strange political philosophy which makes it all right for one party to do a thing and entirely wrong for another to do it."

It is not that it is right for one and wrong for another. A thing is not right because another has done it. It was promised that the wrongs would be righted, not that merely those of another faith would continue the practices while the people continue to smart under an intolerable rule of common practices.

As stated above, the governor still has his opportunity. If these appointees desire to stand on legal rights, if such they have, and wallow in the emoluments of former days, the same power which appointed them can cause their removal and the appointment of others who are more amenable to the desires of the people and more in sympathy with the promises made. There are still many conscientious and able citizens of Michigan willing to do service for the state for a compensation demanded by the times in which we live.

Patronage Costly

The commission of inquiry into state governmental expense in its report which was written before the present administration took hold said of Michigan: "Exhaustive investigation has led the Commission to the opinion that the present serious financial crisis in both state and local financial affairs is not due to the acts of any single administration. Rather is it the result of more than two decades of unprecedented expansion in public service, much of which was ill-advised and unwisely administered."

The public purse has too long been looked upon as an inexhaustible hoard from which all may draw at will. Those charged with the administration of public affairs have continued for long periods in an atmosphere of concession and compromise, with minority groups seeking momentary advantage, to the end that patronage and self-interest have been substituted for statesmanship and wise leadership."

That, dear reader, is the history of the past. What shall be the history of the future? Shall it be a repetition of the old or as is indicated in some instances shall it be even worse?

The answer lies in the front office at Lansing. Unless Governor Comstock proves himself bigger than "petty office seekers"—his administration will be as bitter a disappointment as any which has preceded. In fact it might be said to be more bitter because when the people voted last fall they expected something better. They voted for a change, not merely for a change in names on the payrolls.

The real rank and file of Michigan's citizenry voted for something besides beer and betting. They voted for economy and a shifting of the burden of taxation. If they receive only more taxes extracted by other means, they will speak in louder terms at the next election than they did the last. The test is upon the administration. There is still time for reform.

Payroll Controversy

Much has been said pro and con concerning the number of employees actually on the state payrolls. Some writers have alleged that the number exceeds anything ever before experienced in Michigan while others contend that never before has such rigid economy been exercised.

There is one sure test. Not a cent of money can be paid from the state treasury except upon the warrant of the auditor general. Therefore every person who receives money from the state for any purpose has his name in the warrant register in that office. Each month for several years the auditor general has prepared a list of all names on the payrolls of all departments and institutions and from that list computes the number actually employed and receiving state pay.

This writer has before him the report of the auditor general in this respect for the month of August in the years 1931 and 1932. Today, August 15, he was handed a report covering the month of July, the last available date for which this computation is available. The report for each of the months in the years specified is divided as between departments of government and state institutions. In each case the number reported is exclusive of those employed at the University of Michigan and Michigan State college. The exception is by reason of the fact that the board of regents and the state board of agriculture are each constitutional bodies which are not compelled by law to file their payrolls or other vouchers with the auditor general, each receiving their appropriations in lump sums for which each later makes detailed report to the legislature and the governor.

In August, 1931, there were employed in the several departments of state government a total of 6937 persons. In August of 1932 this number had been reduced to 6294. In July, 1933, the number had again grown to 6679. Examination of the payrolls for the state sales tax commission which came into being on July 1 with a very small number of employees during that month showed that during the first half of August the payroll had been increased to 69. A large number of inspectors and other employees are being added. It is probable that when the record is complete for the month of August, 1933, the total for all departments will exceed 6750, 456 more than were employed in all departments a year ago and within 187 of the whole number employed in August of 1931. State institutions which are required to operate strictly within the limits set by the legislature show a different result. In spite of the fact that practically every institution has a larger population than in 1931 or 1932, there has been a decrease in the number employed. In August, 1931, the total number of institutional employees were 5230. In August, 1932, institutional employees numbered 6319. In July, 1933, the number had fallen to 5211. Payrolls for the first half of August were not available.

Claims and counter claims may be made and nibs offered but there are the facts which cannot be denied. They are records of those who each year have been employed.

This shall be the closing paragraph of the 1933 series of articles dealing with the affairs of state as viewed by a member of the legislature. It has been the purpose of these articles to write the facts as they appeared. Some of these facts have been not altogether pleasant facts to contemplate or to record. To all those who have been kind enough to read, greetings are sent. To the editors of Michigan who have opened their columns to my pen, sincere appreciation is extended. If there are those who have been led to think more about the affairs of their state and its government, the purpose will have been accomplished.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your paper what is the measure in inches of "meter," "decimeter," "centimeter," and "millimeter"?

Ans.—One meter is 39.37 inches; one decimeter is 3.937 inches; one centimeter is .3937 of an inch, and one millimeter is .03904 of an inch.

Ques.—Will you kindly answer in your question column what city in Pennsylvania has the highest altitude? Also Michigan and Illinois?

Ans.—In Pennsylvania—Altoona, with 1,192 feet above sea level; in Michigan—Jackson, 944 feet; in Illinois—Rockford, 730 feet.

Ques.—I am a girl 5 feet 2 inches tall. What should be my normal weight?

Ans.—According to life insurance tables, a girl 5 feet 2 inches tall should weigh 120 pounds to be normal. This, however, is about 15 lbs. heavier than the fat to be slender requires.

Ques.—Will you please answer what is the first wedding anniversary?

Ans.—The first wedding anniversary is "cotton."

Ques.—I am curious to know what "Ph. D." stands for when written or printed at the end of a person's name?

Ans.—The abbreviation "Ph. D." means "Doctor of Philosophy," which is a title that has been conferred upon a man or woman at college.

Ques.—May I ask you on what day of the week and the date that Benjamin Franklin was born?

Ans.—Benjamin Franklin was born on Jan. 17, 1706, which date was on Sunday.

Ques.—Why is it that most men are more fond of dogs, while most women are more fond of cats?

Ans.—This is because dogs for thousands of years were the companions of men whenever they went out to hunt, while the cats always remained at home. The unconscious memories of this survive in the minds of our "instinctive" likes and dislikes.

Ques.—I would like to know why we don't hear things as well as we see things in our dreams? Can you answer that question?

Ans.—Dreams are made up of things we have remembered consciously or unconsciously. The things are merely put together in different and unusual ways because of the general confusion among the brain-cell messages of the sleeping brain. We remember sights better than sounds, therefore we dream of sights as a rule.

Ques.—I would like to ask you what "vulnerable" and "invulnerable" mean in the game of bridge?

Ans.—Three games constitute a "rubber" in bridge. When either side loses a game in one of the rubbers, he is said to be vulnerable and the scoring is governed accordingly. One instance is this in playing contract bridge: If you have been doubled on your declaration, you score 50 points for making contract if you are not vulnerable, and 100 points for making contract if you are vulnerable. When not vulnerable a little slam counts 500, and when vulnerable it counts 750; a grand slam not vulnerable is 1,000 and when vulnerable it counts 1,500.

Mrs. Catherine Breitenbach, widow of the late Martin Breitenbach, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ed Summer, on August 12, 1909.

Playing hide and seek in her home with several companions during the absence of her parents, Viola, the 5 year old daughter of Edward Parks, who lives at Clarks Lake, met her death Thursday afternoon by suffocating in a trunk.

Mrs. Parks was a resident of Chelsea for several years. Mr. and Mrs. John Schieferstein and daughter are spending this week in Petoskey.

L. L. Gorton has been appointed postmaster at Waterloo to succeed his father, who has held the office since January 8, 1889.

W. B. Osborn died at his home in Sharon on Saturday, August 28, 1909. Henry Vickers has sold his farm in Lima to Ernest Schmidt.

E. S. Spaulding has purchased the milk route of John Wise. Mr. Spaulding took possession of the business on Wednesday.

C. F. Lauberg has sold his farm three miles south of Chelsea to John Haselswerdt, who has been on the Noyes farm for several years.

The 45th annual reunion of the 20th Michigan Infantry will be held in Battle Creek on Tuesday, September 14.

34 YEARS AGO

Thursday, August 31, 1899

Ransom Armstrong returned from the West on Friday.

The farmers of Waterloo have begun cutting corn.

Wm. Atkinson has sold his residence on Garfield street to Mr. Broesamle. Mr. Atkinson expects to build again on the vacant lot just north of his old residence.

James Bachman started up his evaporating works Monday. He will use 250 bushels of apples per day and give employment to 20 people while the season lasts.

The K. O. T. M. and L. O. T. M. will soon have a fine new home. They have leased the rooms over the post office and H. L. Wood & Co.'s and are fitting them up in fine shape.

Chelsea has made a good showing this season in the building of stone walks, over 14,000 square feet of that article having been put down and about 5,000 more square feet will be laid before snow flies. This makes nearly three-fourths of a mile.

A lovely hat of smoke from burning of marshes hangs over this village.

Fred B. Schussler has bought out the interest of Tom McKone in the firm of McKone & Schussler and will add a number of new men to the present working force when the new stock of tobacco arrives.

Miss Mary Haab of Ann Arbor has purchased Mrs. J. W. Schenk's millinery stock and will move it into the center store of the new Staffan block.

The annual Steinbach family reunion was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heyman Fletcher.

Miss Charlotte Steinbach left Wednesday for Plainwell where she will teach this year.

Cigar Smoke Tests Draft

Cigar smoke is used in testing the draft and pressure in boilers, furnaces, chimneys and air ducts with a glass-tube gauge. Smoke is blown into the gauge at the upper end, which is then closed with the finger. The tip of the other end is inserted into an opening in the chimney or air duct and a small stream of the air current passes into the instrument. As the air rushes in, a dividing line forms between the incoming current and the cigar smoke. Calculations on the gauge make possible a reading at the dividing line, showing the draft without making calculations.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Most Densely Populated

There are no accurate population figures of world-wide scope, as there are many millions of persons on earth who are unknown to the census taker. Available figures, however, show that the little province of Mexico, China, an island at the mouth of the Canton river and a colonial possession of Portugal, is the most densely populated country. This is according to a list given in the World Almanac. Mexico's area is four square miles, and the 1927 census gave it a population of 187,170—30,204 persons to the square mile.

Rattlesnakes Held Sacred

Rattlesnakes, believed to be the "little brothers of the underworld," are particularly sacred to Navajo Indians, because they are the literal go-betweens, carrying the prayers of the people to the deities in the dark and mysterious underworld where the gods, good and bad, are supposed to dwell. Invocations are made to the snakes in times of drought and crop failure; any disrespect shown to a rattlesnake would render these prayers useless.

Assuring Respect

"You are wise in putting the portraits of your great men on your money," said H. H. Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "It assures them some measure of modern respect."

Costa Rica

Costa Rica is divided into three rather well-defined districts. The Pacific coast is, for the most part, "native." The East coast, largely banana lands, is inhabited by Jamaica negro laborers and white overseers. And the central region, a rich red table-land rimmed with mountains, is the home of the coffee planters.

Costa Ricans and the "real" Costa Ricans—a pure Spanish race of beautiful women and industrious, prosperous men with almost no trace of the mixture of races so apparent in other Central American countries.

Racing an Ancient Sport; Runners Would Fall Dead

All down the ages, foot racing has been practiced by grownups as well as by children. The Greeks were great runners, and the foot races at the Olympic games were famous all over the world. Some of these were so strenuous that we are told that several runners actually fell down dead at the end of the course, says the Associated Press.

In England in the eighteenth century, races were run on foot for large sums of money, sometimes with ridiculous handicaps. For example, one man with a livery on his back race a fat, elderly gentleman; another hauled a cask wheel of eight miles an hour round a platform in St. Giles fields in London; and a third ran from Hyde Park corner to Brunford, nearly sixty pounds of flesh on his back.

It was quite usual at century of things in the north of England, more than a century ago, for races to run from the church door to the back house for fiftieths. As soon as the wedding was over the guests would race back to the house, and the first arrival was awarded the bride's ribbon, which was greatly prized.

Insects Show Intellect; Have Persuasive Power

Bees can be taught to select boxes containing sugar by their color; butterflies can distinguish between apple juice and other liquids by touching them with their feet and one form of ant will respond to high steatote notes from a violin. Such are some of the examples of highly developed senses described by an official in a address before the Entomological society of London.

Many insects are so highly organized, he said, that I feel compelled to credit them with faculties at least in some degree more advanced than more unconscious responses. And can recognize each other, and distinguish members of a rival colony. They even induce others to join them in some apparently purposeful action. (The causing the eyes of insects he said that in the eye of the butterfly they might be 6,000 independent compounds.)

SYNOPSIS

"We'll see whether it will or not," Eric drew the revolver, and pointed the barrel straight into the air. "Are you going?"

Eric was no longer cool. His eyes were blazing, his voice hoarse. His posture tense and threatening. George's face began to turn gray and weaken up. It didn't take that long to weaken.

But suddenly, from no visible cause, the whole aspect of the scene changed. Eric's narrowed, luminous eyes saw the difference even before Eric's and her sharp, sane fears swelled into vague monstrous shapes of terror. Somehow, Eric no longer filled the upper hand. Garg's pale lips drew into a hideous, fearful; Sindomar's hands clenched and quivered; the men crouched ready to charge. Events were whirling toward an unimagined climax. Some black plot had prospered—a thimblebolt was about to fall.

"Beside you!" It was Nan's voice, wild and shrill. "Look beside you!"

The fire was to Eric's left, so he no longer pale but red as garnets. In his powerful arms he swung a weapon primed for this scene, a native flint-axe.

There was no more time for cool-headed calculations. Eric's lifted forearm whipped down until there was one steel-blue line between his eyes and Sweden. And the last relic of the iron age did not fail.

Sweden had aimed too high. As the revolver winked in the firelight and spouted gay red flame, he was checked in mid-air, and appeared to strike not at Eric's head but at his feet. With a queer awkwardness almost comic his legs shot out behind him and he fell flat; his arms spread wide. At the back of his head the pale bulb turned slowly red.

Just as though his magazine was still charged with sudden death, Eric swept the empty weapon before him until his black eye seemed to look straight into the staring eyes of every foe.

"Who wants it next?" Eric asked, bitterly. His lip curled up, in hatred and scorn. "There's seven of you left."

—why don't you try something?" Then, as their faces turned one by one to yellow tallow: "How about you, Garge? Didn't you say you were through obeying my orders?"

There was sober truth, here. Eric promised to give the matter his attention. "But it probably can't be done

Moon as Weather Prophet Fails to Prove Correct

The moon gets blamed for a lot of things with which it has nothing to do, declares a scientist in Pathfinder Magazine. The weather bureau has failed to find proof that the moon exerts any control over the weather whatever, although its appearance in three instances does "indicate the weather according to ancient proverbs. There is nothing in the belief that moonlight causes heavy frosts. Frosts usually do occur on clear, cloudless nights, however, and it is on such nights that the moon can be seen most clearly.

A halo around the moon (or sun) does not indicate a storm, for the halo is caused by the refraction of light on tiny ice crystals in the upper atmosphere, the crystals being formed by cold air coming in contact with moist warm air—a condition that causes storms.

Sharp horns on the moon do indicate windy weather, but this is only because the winds have cleared away the dust and haze so that the illuminated portion of the moon can be seen more distinctly. There is no reason for planting and harvesting according to the moon's changes.

Many Historic Markers Abound in Buckeye State

Ohio probably has more historic markers than any other of the middle western states. During the formative period of the nation this state was the scene of events that affected the whole trend of the country's history.

A few among the many events which have been marked in Ohio were: Indian massacre, ten miles south of Ashland; Dunmore war, monument at Buckeye; battle in West of 1812, ten miles northwest of Wapakoneta; erection of Fort Hamilton, in Hamilton; battle of Plattsburgh; second "woman's right" convention in the world, at Salem; birth of Thomas A. Edison, at Milan; birth of Gen. George A. Custer, New Rumley; establishment of branch of Mormon church, at Kirtland; college for the first time in United States admits negroes, at Oberlin; Anthony Wayne defeats Indians in 1794, between Maumee and Waterville; Perry's victory, on South Bass Island; first church and school house in Ohio, at south edge of New Philadelphia; first permanent settlement in Ohio, at Marietta; world's largest ship constructed, at Akron.

Refunding Bonds

The process of refunding means the exchange of a new debt obligation for an old one. When for example a government is unable to repay money borrowed from the bond holders on the date repayment is due, it may issue new bonds and exchange them for the old ones, or sell them to obtain cash to pay off the maturing obligations. This is frequently done by railroads and other private corporations which regard their bonds as representing a portion of the capital employed in their business. The public mind states that public debt which represents capital invested in productive commercial undertakings may properly enough be refunded from time to time in this way, while there is a disapproval of the general practice of refunding the mass of public debt which represents outlays for nonproductive purposes.

Animals Tamed in Stone Age

Domestication of animals, those who have delved deepest into the world's remote past assure us, began in the old Stone Age, when the hunter's dog was sometimes buried with him. The dog is believed to have been the first animal to live with man, but just how it came about is not known. "It may have been," suggests a famous Scotch naturalist, "that attractive young wolves were taken home to please the children"—(The Logic).

Has Water Filling Stations

Egypt has its filling stations just like America, but the more common kind dispenses water instead of gasoline. In Cairo, south vendors found their water pumps which somewhat resemble the gasoline pumps used in this country and cater to customers who bring their own containers, the seller carefully measuring the desired amount and collecting for it just as does the gas station attendant here. Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Last of the Yaguans

Scientists predict that within a few years there will be no more Yaguans. This tribe, which Darwin described as the lowest order of humanity, has been reduced from 2,500 to a handful during the 30 years of its contact with civilization. They inhabit the Tierra del Fuego archipelago at the southern tip of South America and are the most southerly inhabitants of the earth.
