Reception Given For Rev. and Mrs. Mumby

The usual monthly Fellowship club meeting of the Methodist church was turned into a reception Monday evening to welcome the coming of Rev. and Mrs. Fred Mumby to the pastorate of the church.

It was a very large and representative gathering of the pastors and people of all the Chelsea churches. After a very sumptuous supper, Philip Broesamle called the company to order and announced two solos: A violin solo by Mrs. Broesamle and a vocal solo by George Atkinson, both of which were much enjoyed. Mr. Broesamle then turned the meeting over to Rev. Wm. J. Baumer, who called upon the pastors present for words of greeting. The speakers in turn were: Rev. P. H. Grabowski of the Evangelical Lutheran church; Rev. Henry Lenz of the Salem Methodist church; Rev. Fred Wolf of the Congregational church. They were followed by Rev. N. N. Clark, an aged member of the Detroit Conference now residing at the home.

These addresses were cordial and hearty in welcoming Rev. and Mrs. Mumby to Chelsea. Interspersed with much pleasant, some happy banter and a share of good advice, the spirit of the occasion rose to a veritable love-feast. Rev. and Mrs. Mumby, who came from Marine City after a pastorate there of nearly ten years, responded. Their smiling faces and happy expressions of appreciation inspired confidence in them, and gave promise of a very successful ministry here.

Hinderers Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hinderer in Sylvan township was the scene of an enjoyable party Sunday, when about 32 guests assembled as a surprise in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. The visitors brought a delicious dinner which was served at a table decorated with bowls of sweet peas and baby breath, and centered with a silver trimmed wedding cake, with a miniature bride and groom. As souvenirs of the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer were presented with several pieces of silver.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Claire Holt and children of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bohne, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Horning and Miss Martha Bristle of Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miles and children of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Horning and family and Miss Eleanor Feldkamp of Manchester.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Chelsea Public Library has added a number of new books to their shelves. Among these are a very nice collection of new children's books. These include stories for the wee folks with the most fascinating pictures as well as delightful tales for the older children. Moccasin Trail by Reed Fulton, and Montana Rides by Evan Evans are Western stories packed with thrilling adventures, which the older boys and girls will like.

A number of the pay shelf books have been transferred to the free shelves and new additions to the pay shelf are:

Precious Jeopardy—Lloyd Douglas. Within This Print—Barnes. Oil for the Lamps of China—Hobart.

Hardy Perennial—Hull.

As the Earth Turns—Carroll.

Two new books of non-fiction are:

Mary of Nazareth, by Borden, and The Adams Family, by Adams.

Watch next week for our list of new mystery books soon to be placed on the shelves.

PLAN LINCOLN DAY BANQUET

Plans are being made for a Lincoln day banquet, sponsored by Waukegan county republicans, to be held on February 12 at Masonic Temple, Ann Arbor. The dinner will be a county-wide event, to which all are invited. Included on the committee who will direct the sale of tickets are Theo. Bahnmiller, Otto D. Luick and Mrs. G. W. Walworth of Chelsea.

MUNITH MEN DROWN

The bodies of Herman Tisich, 30, Raymond Hoffman, 30, and Verne Hoffman, 24, all of Munith, were found floating Tuesday on Little Portage lake, 16 miles northeast of Jackson. The men had been missing from their homes since Monday. The former was a nephew of Mrs. Caroline Tisich of Chelsea, and was a brother-in-law of the Hoffmans.

Will Observe 25th Anniversary At St. Paul's On Sunday

At special services to be held Sunday, January 28, the Beginners' Class of St. Paul's Sunday school will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its organization. Starting with 18 members, during the 25 years 936 children have been enrolled, the largest class being in 1910, with an enrollment of 53.

The Beginners' department was organized in 1909 by Miss Lillie Wackenhut, who has been superintendent continuously since that time. Mrs. J. N. Strieter, who assisted as organist, still holds that position, having served at intervals during the period of years.

Sessions of the class have always been held in the little white schoolhouse at the rear of the church, which was originally used for confirmation instructions, held every day of the week.

The schoolhouse was built shortly after the erection of St. Paul's church, which was dedicated in 1868. It is an old-frame structure, heated by a stove, the furniture including the first organ used in St. Paul's church, and the old walnut desk used by all pastors of the church for confirmation instructions. About five years ago a piano was purchased. Pastors of the church during the 25 years have been Rev. Albert A. Schoen of Dexter, Rev. G. W. Krause of Ohio and Rev. P. H. Grabowski, the present pastor.

On Sunday morning the Beginners' class will entertain their parents with a program at the schoolhouse during the Sunday school hour. The old church organ will be used.

The afternoon and evening programs will be held in the church, all those taking part being former members of the Beginners' class.

The program at 2:30 will be as follows:

Piano solo—Oleta Seitz.

Chorus—"Onward, Christian Soldiers"; "Hark, 'Tis the Shepherd's Voice."

Song—"Our Prayer"—Four children.

Prayer—Eva Geddes, Katherine Lindauer.

Song—"We Will Follow"—Mrs. Niehaus' class.

Trio—"Mrs. W. Breitenwischer, Caroline and Robert."

Song—"Jesus Loves Me"—Beginners.

Piano solo—Lawrence Dietle.

Song—"Jesus Bids Us Shine"—A. Koch's class.

Offering.

Song—"Jesus is the Children's Friend"—Raymond, Marjorie and Lloyd Schaefer.

Cymbal solo—Junior Niehaus.

Song—"The Rainy Day Brigade"—Mrs. W. Kusterer's class.

Song—"I Love to Come to Sunday School"—Betty Seitz and group of girls.

Piano solo—Paul Pielemeier.

Reminiscences—Lillie Wackenhut.

Trio—"Suffer the Children"—Mrs. O. D. Schneider, Mrs. Dexter Davenport, Miss Anne Schneider.

Piano solo—Estel Seitz.

Solo—"I'll Stand by My School"—Ruth Luick.

Lord's Prayer.

Closing song—"Now the Day is Over."

The evening service will be held at 7:30 and the following program will be given:

Piano solo—Oleta Seitz.

Chorus—"Stand Up for Jesus"; "Faith of Our Fathers."

Prayer—Rev. P. H. Grabowski.

Music—St. Paul's Orchestra.

Vocal solo—Helen Lambert Zeeb.

Piano duet—Mrs. J. N. Strieter, Mrs. W. Kusterer.

Song—"Little Soldiers"—Group of boys.

Violin solo—Adolph Duerr.

Offering.

Saxophone solo—Earl Lehman, with Margaret Lehman, accompanist.

Address—Rev. A. A. Schoen.

Whistling solo—Paul Schneider.

Music—Orchestra.

Remarks—Rev. Grabowski.

Closing song—"God Be With You."

TAYLOR CAR DEMOLISHED

Wednesday morning when Bert Taylor, rural mail carrier, was driving onto the M. C. R. R. tracks at the McKinley street crossing, his engine stalled. He started it and went a few feet when it stalled the second time on the tracks. The second section of No. 17 westbound passenger train was approaching so Mr. Taylor quickly left his car, which was struck by the train and thrown into the signal boxes, wrecking them and the auto was completely demolished. Mr. Taylor was on his way to the postoffice when the accident happened.

New Caucus Laws Are Now In Effect

According to the statute as enacted by the 1933 session of the Michigan legislature, it is now necessary for caucus notices to be published not less than thirty days prior to the date of holding the caucus. The statute also provides that the caucus in townships shall be held the first Monday in March preceding any April election.

It will therefore be necessary for the township caucus notices to be published in The Standard on Thursday, February 1 to comply with the thirty-day notice as provided in the new Act.

Notices calling for the village caucus of the two parties, to be held on Tuesday, February 20, appear in this issue.

Annual Meeting Held By Insurance Company

The annual meeting of the Northwestern Washtenaw Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was held Wednesday, January 17, at the home of the president, Alvin D. Baldwin. There was a fair attendance, with members present from every township but one.

Officers elected were: President, Alvin D. Baldwin; secretary-treasurer, Guy A. Barton; directors, Arthur Sias of Lima, Fred Hutzel of Selo, and William Clark of Dexter. Directors holding over are George T. English of Sylvan, John Young of Lyndon and Harley Stanton of Webster township.

The financial report showed a 65 per cent collection of the 1933 assessment, with all expenses paid and a small surplus on hand. The main discussion at the meeting centered about the adoption of the new uniform policy and also the uniform Charter and By-Laws for all mutual companies. A new state law requires the use of uniform policies by January 1, 1935. The use of uniform Charter and By-Laws is optional.

REDUCTION IN AUTO LICENSE FEES SOUGHT

The Michigan Automobile Tax Reduction league, which is seeking to eliminate the present motor car tax system and substitute a fixed price for license plates, will open campaign headquarters in the Palmer Motor Sales Friday morning.

The league is circulating petitions throughout Michigan calling for a change in the automobile license law, and will place petitions in circulation in Chelsea on Friday.

The league proposes a single fee of $3 annually for light cars, $6 for cars of medium weight, and $9 a year for heavy cars. The league at present is not concerned with commercial vehicle licenses.

Mrs. C. Larkin will be in charge of the league's headquarters here. The league has organized campaign headquarters in all the principal cities of Michigan and Charles Larkin, its president, reports that approximately 200,000 signatures have already been obtained.

ATTEND INITIATION

Several members of Olive Chapter, O. E. S. were in Jackson on Tuesday afternoon and evening where they attended guest day and initiation of New Temple, O. E. S. No. 3. Dinner was served at 6:30. The work in the evening was conducted by the Worthy Matrons of Jackson county, assisted by the Worthy Matron of Ann Arbor and Mrs. E. E. Smith, the local Worthy Matron, as Electa. Members of the Star who accompanied Mrs. Smith to Jackson were Mrs. Norman Schmidt, Mrs. Ray Krontz, Mrs. J. A. Park, Mrs. Walter Harper, Mrs. Roland Waltrous, Mrs. Charles Williams and Mrs. Jay Weinberg.

Ques.—I would like to ask you what is the fastest thing in the universe that can travel?

Ans.—The fastest thing known that travels is light. Light travels at the rate of 186,326 miles per second—more than seven times around the earth.

Ques.—What is the cause of rings around the moon which occurs sometimes?

Ans.—The rings around the moon occasionally seen are reflections from millions of tiny particles, usually small ice crystals, which are floating in the air. These little crystals act like a multitude of tiny mirrors, and the light from all of them combine to form a ring.

Ques.—I am curious to know why pine trees stay green all winter. Can you answer?

Ans.—The needle of the pine tree is really its leaf, and this needle contains chlorophyll just as other leaves do. But the surface of this pine needle is tougher than the surface of the ordinary leaf, and so the chlorophyll inside it is better protected from frost and the winter's cold. That is the reason it stays green.

Ques.—When we see something funny or hear a good joke we laugh. Others may see the same thing, but they don't laugh. Now what is it that really causes the ones to laugh?

Ans.—Laughter is unknown to science. The question has been debated back and forth for years, and the answer is yet unknown. Laughter is thought to be some kind of a relief from muscular tension, like sighing or yawning. It is not known what kind of relief it is, nor why some things seem funny to one person and not funny to another.

Ques.—Can you tell me how I can start a fire when I have no matches or fire of any kind?

Ans.—The problem of starting a fire without matches or fire is not an easy one if you are not prepared otherwise. If you have a burning glass or a magnifying glass sunlight may be concentrated through it sufficient to set fire to paper or wood shavings. Also if you have a piece of steel and a flinty stone you can strike a spark just as our forefathers did before matches were invented, with a little thin paper or very dry cotton to serve as tinder you can nurse a spark into a flame.

Ques.—How can scientists tell how much the earth weighs, as there is no scales big enough to weigh it? Do they just estimate it? If so, what do they base their estimates on?

Ans.—In the first place you must remember that "weight" is merely a word to determine the attraction of gravity. Scientists first determine the attraction between a small piece of matter, say a tiny ball of pith and a huge mass of lead. Then they determine the attraction of the earth for the small ball of pith. This will be a great many times as much as the attraction of the mass of lead for the pith ball. The earth is just that many times heavier than the mass of lead.

Ques.—Can you tell me if there are people on the planet Mars?

Ans.—The answer to this question depends upon what you may think of the so-called canals discovered on the face of Mars. If the canals are really straight lines stretching across the face of Mars they are not likely to be accidental. Therefore we must conclude that some intelligent being made them. But many astronomers think that the canals are not real, and that the idea of their straightness is only an optical illusion. Now this leaves the question of the habitation of Mars still open.

Ques.—I read an article in a magazine recently saying the country around the North and South Poles was once warm? How do they know it was?

Ans.—In samples of rock which explorers have brought back from the Polar Regions, geologists have found fossils of plants which grew only in warm countries. Evidently these plants once grew near the Poles.

Ques.—Is it ever proper to place the guest of honor in the arm chair at the head of the dining table? If so, where would the host sit?

Ans.—If the guest of honor is a woman, she should sit at the right of the host. If the guest is a man, he should sit at the right of the hostess. The honor guest should never sit at the head of the table.

CURRENT NEWS EVENTS

REPUBLICAN members of the house ways and means committee proposed two important tax reforms. A constitutional amendment authorizing the taxation of federal and state government bonds was suggested by Representative Allen T. Treadway, with the statement that there are now some $40,000,000 of such securities outstanding and free from taxation.

Representative Isaac Bacharach proposed the restoration to the federal tax laws of a credit against earned income. His plan, Mr. Bacharach declared, would lighten materially the tax burden of the small salaried class without seriously cutting into present income tax revenues.

PUERTO RICO has a new governor who may please the islanders better than did Robert H. Gore. He is Gen. Blanton Winship, former judge, advocate general of the army, and a man of experience in insular affairs. He served in Cuba and the Philippines as an adviser to the highest American officials in those parts. Also he was a military aide to President Coolidge. His home town is Macon, Ga. Mr. Gore, whose administration was bitterly and constantly attacked by island politicians, resigned, stating his reason was ill health.

President Roosevelt also selected a new chief of the weather bureau in Washington in the person of Willis F. Gregg. He succeeds Dr. Charles F. Marvin.

TWO thousand or more persons were killed and 10,000 injured by violent earthquakes that shook all parts of India. The full measure of the disaster will not be known for some time, but airplane surveys revealed that

Exchange Your Wheat
For Flour

Under the terms of the new law assessing a processing tax of 30c per bu. on each bu. of wheat ground, a farmer producing his own wheat is exempt from this tax on flour made from wheat of the SAME TYPE RAISED.

Where all soft wheat flour is taken in exchange for soft wheat there is no tax whatever.

Where a hard wheat flour or a blended flour is taken in exchange there is an exemption on the amount of soft wheat flour in the blend.

Exemption from this tax can only be obtained AT A MILL. At no other place can you obtain your exemption.

We are exchanging flour for wheat on the following schedule. Where hard wheat is used in the blend we absorb the tax in the amount of flour given in exchange.

ACME FLOUR—For finest bread baking—26 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

PIONEERS FLOUR—The best all purpose flour—28 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

PHOENIX FLOUR—The best for pastry baking—32 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

OUR NEIGHBORS

BROOKLYN—Cripple fishing has been good on Clark's Lake the past week with diminishing ice as an added hazard. The fishermen use small minnows and have been getting good catches of the "calico bass."—Exponent.

SOUTH LYON—Farmers in the vicinity of New Hudson who have been victimized by chicken thieves will be glad to learn that the two men responsible for the depredations will be tried this week. One of them, Clyde Thomas, was killed while resisting state troopers near Detroit, while his companion, Leonard Goetz, was captured, and admitted among many others, the New Hudson thefts. State troopers were in New Hudson Wednesday with Goetz, who identified the many places in that vicinity which the two men had robbed. The men were wanted for questioning for thefts in Jackson county, and that is where Goetz will stand trial.—Herald.

Michigan Department of State

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Frank D. Fitzgerald
Secretary of State

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 24.—The first step toward allowing voters of Michigan to express themselves as to lowering license plate costs and gasoline taxes, was taken last week when officials of the Automobile Club of Michigan filed forms of two petitions with the Department of State.

The petitions were submitted at this time in order to obtain approval to their correctness in form.

The first petition would add a new section to the state constitution prohibiting the gasoline tax collected by the state from exceeding two cents a gallon. At the present time the state gas tax is three cents a gallon.

The second petition also adds a new section to the constitution fixing the amount that can be charged for automobile license plates. Instead of 55 cents per hundred pounds as at present, the petition calls for a maximum rate of 35 cents per hundred or a reduction of approximately 36 per cent. In order to place the proposals before the voters, 161,000 signatures must be obtained and filed with the department.

Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald has been advocating substantial reductions in license plate costs for several months. His plan calls for amendments to existing laws by the legislature rather than by mandate of the constitution. The fact that 33,000 fewer license plates had been sold on Jan. 17, 1934 than on the same date in 1933 is evidence of the necessity for reducing the weight tax. On Jan. 17, only 60,836 of the 1,800,000 motor vehicles in Michigan had obtained 1934 license plates.

A pamphlet containing all motor vehicle laws enacted by the legislature subsequent to 1931 will be available for distribution by the Department of State next week. The pamphlet will be supplemental to the compilation of motor vehicle laws published in 1931.

ENTERTAINS BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Dorothy Cavanaugh entertained at a delightful party Saturday afternoon at her home in Plymouth, complimenting Miss Alice Miller of Royal Oak, whose marriage to John Henry of that village will be an event of the coming week. Miss Cavanaugh was formerly associated with Miss Miller as teacher in the public schools at River Rouge.

Guests at the party included Mrs. J. Edward Weber and Miss Ruth Russell of Chelsea. Bridge furnished the diversion for the afternoon, with three tables in play, and Mrs. Weber was awarded high honors. Refreshments were served after the playing. Black-bowls holding bouquets of yellow bebs chrysanthemums were matched by black holders in which yellow tapers burned.

Corsages were presented Miss Miller, her mother and the mother of Mr. Henry. An aluminum shower was given the bride-to-be, the gifts being presented in a cleverly arranged manner. In her corsage were tiny ribbons, to which were attached little hearts containing pictures of the rooms in which the gifts were concealed.

The Wallace Bears will play the Ford All-Stars of Jackson tonight. A good game is expected. There will be a preliminary game between Clinton and Alex Lions. The first game starts at 7:30. The Wallace Bears defeated the State-Street Rangers last Thursday, 21-19.

CHILD STUDY CLUB

The Child Study club was entertained at the home of Mrs. D. A. Riker on Tuesday evening. A delicious pot-luck supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. Roll call was "An Example in Discipline." Mrs. E. W. Eaton read a most interesting paper on "Modern Discipline" which was followed by a discussion of the subject with all the members taking part. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing Elephant Keno. The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday evening, February 13, at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Riemschneider.

DR. JAY L. McLAREN

Word was received here on Tuesday morning of the death of Dr. Jay L. McLaren who passed away at his home in Los Angeles, California, on Tuesday, January 23, 1934 after an illness of several weeks. He was 71 years old and was born in Lima township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James McLaren and a brother of the late D. C. McLaren of this place. He is survived by his wife, Frances Slack McLaren, who was a former teacher in the Chelsea public schools, a daughter, Mrs. June Hamer, three grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. William Brewer of Saginaw and Miss Nell McLaren of Los Angeles, and one brother, Wilbur McLaren, of Ann Arbor.

RECENT BRIDE HONORED

Mrs. W. D. Huston was hostess at a miscellaneous shower on Saturday evening in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Lowery of Jackson, a recent bride. The evening was spent in playing hearts, with three tables in play and honors were awarded to Miss Eleanor Lixey and Miss Rowena Brooks. Luncheon was served at a table daintily appointed in a color note of blue and silver, with blue tapers in silver holders, and centered with a miniature bride and groom. The guests included the bride's classmates who graduated from Chelsea high school in 1930, also Misses Viola Craig and Fern Fauser of Jackson. Mrs. Lowery received many lovely gifts.

JUST SITTING AROUND, ... NIGHT AFTER NIGHT

Margaret and John have lots of friends—and are well-liked by all. But they have no telephone to enable friends to reach them easily.

So Margaret and John just sit around, night after night, missing many good times. Yet, for only a few cents a day, they could have the countless advantages of telephone service.

Besides being a social asset, a telephone helps in finding employment ... in keeping in touch with one's work ... in "running" errands. And it offers priceless protection in emergencies, making it possible to summon doctor, firemen or police, instantly.

Chelsea Hi Swamps Manchester Team

Chelsea High completely outclassed their old rival, Manchester High, last Tuesday evening at the local gym. Chelsea took the lead shortly after the opening whistle and was never behind throughout the game. The Chelsea boys were playing an unbeatable brand of basketball with all of the starting players breaking into the scoring column. Chelsea played a good game, making many fine passes and keeping control of the ball during the major portion of the game due to their fine court work.

The Chelsea Reserves beat the Manchester yearlings by a 26-10 score. The Chelsea Cubs started out good and continued to set a pace too fast for the Manchester lads throughout the game.

Little Folks

First Grade—Several of the little girls find their new location so much of an adventure that they want to share the fun with their nice dolls, and have brought them to school.

Mrs. Dancer says class work is being carried on very successfully now, for they are organized and have a system which may be followed. Willetta Lantis and Doris Ann Richards have returned to school after a week of illness.

Second Grade—Are doing splendid work. They are studying the habits of the crow. Also they are using new reading books. They are very glad the library girls are returning to read to them during their library hour.

The following pupils have not been absent or tardy since the holidays: Samuel Baxter, Richard Deal, Carlton Jean, Jane and Mary Christwell, Ruth Cooper, Richard Ford, Joyce Foster, Ronald Gump, Walter Osterle, Raymond Parsons, Elaine Schmidt and Reynolds Walz.

Third Grade—Find their new room isn't as bad as it might be. They are learning multiplication facts, and have decorated the room with parrots made from colored paper.

Fourth Grade—Have their calendars for 1934 completed. They have a new game for their Arithmetic combinations. The name is "Combination Ahead." If you wish to know how we play it, come in during our arithmetic period at 10:15 o'clock. Anyhow, everybody is studying and they hope to have all their combinations mastered soon. They will then be ready to start long division.

Fifth Grade—Are writing poetry about trees to help with their nature study. They are making a collection, and have a bird's nest and tree barks so far.

Margaret Harper gave a report on the iron and steel industry of Pennsylvania. Wallace Palmer gave a report on Thomas Jefferson.

Freshmen Are Victors

The ninth grade team played Grass Lake last Tuesday. They were victors by a score of 25 to 12. Tisch and Novess were high point men. A return game is scheduled to be played here Friday after school. The boys hope to play four or five more games. Come out and root for them.

Tact

We hear a lot these days about good manners and how far they will take us on the road to success, but my observation is that tact forms such an important part of good manners that it must always be included. I do not wish to confound tact with insincerity, but I do feel that too much candor is little short of brutality, and is certainly a breach of good manners. A tactful person never feels called upon to say a disagreeable thing and this does not imply untruths either.

We are bound to have among our friends one who says "I am plain and outspoken, I always speak in my mind with great frankness—I always say just what I think." Now we are sure that such a person does what he and she says, and in all sincerity, too. But what right has a person to say just what he, or she thinks? Would it be just as well if they said just the sweet, pleasant things and left the unpleasant things unsaid? I am sure all of us have experienced little heartaches at different times—wounds especially by just such remarks as "your dress is very pretty, but a blue one would have been more suitable to your coloring." The tactful person would have omitted this latter part of that sentence—that part so unnecessary and uncalled for and really spoiled the enjoyment that was intended to be conveyed by the first part—"your dress is very pretty." Certainly, all of us have observed the tactfulness of our mothers, why, what family rumpuses we young folks would be in from morning to night only for these tactful mothers of ours who so quickly and sweetly turn aside a quarrel—some remark or a nasty, angry word, perhaps—in our family circles. Then, too, in our social functions in school and elsewhere—how we love that one person who stands out in the group—the one who makes no blunders and who seems to set everyone at ease.

To some extent tact is innate, but to a quality that everyone of us can acquire. I have always thought the lack of tact to be like that literal expression of "pouring oil upon troubled waters" to make them become calm and still, might be applied more in our own life. To go a thorough, this world not reproving people and tell etta Lantis and Doris Ann Richards about being well bred by saying just the pleasant, delightful charming things is truly worth while. If I were to have three wishes—that I might be tactful—that I might be very rich, or that I might be tactful, I am sure I would select the tactful one with a capital T.

Girls Win Battle With Manchester

Last Tuesday night, January 16th, our girls' team won their first game of the season and believe me, it was no easy one.

The lineup for our team was as follows: Helen Adams, jump center; Barbara Blecker, running center; Jean Irwin, guard; Ruth Faist, forward; Helen Hindelang, forward; Jean Irwin, guard; Helen Hoffert, forward; Ruth Faist, and Katherine Hoffert replaced Jean Blecker.

At the half the score was 11 to 9 in favor of Chelsea but during the third quarter, Manchester made 8 points while we only made one. After our team rested they came back in full swing. The score was tied, 17 to 17, and then Manchester tied a point, making it 18 to 17. There was just two minutes left to play and these were the exciting moments for everyone. Mr. Blecker inquired himself from the timekeeper how many minutes were left to play. The girls fought very hard and raised the score 21 to 18. Then the whistle blew and the battle was won.

Barbara Blecker hurt her ankle, but there were no other casualties. You girls, each and every one of you, played a good game and need lots of credit; also we are all hoping Barbara's ankle will be better soon.

Our Game With Clinton

Friday night our girls journeyed to Clinton to play basketball with the Clinton girls' team. Arriving there we found a gym much smaller than ours.

The game started about seven. The lineup for the starting game was a little different from the expected one. Leona Moeckel took Barbara Blecker's place in playing running center. Barb hurt her ankle and was not able to play except for a few minutes. I think Leona deserves a good credit on the back for the way she played during her first game. We hope she keeps it up. Helen Hindelang and Ruth Faist played forward; Jean Irwin and Jean Blecker played guard with Eileen Adams as jumping center, and Leona Moeckel as running center.

The first half was played with

Chelsea High Loses Second League Game

Clinton High defeated Chelsea last Friday at the Clinton gym. The Clinton boys stepped out and got an early lead which they held during the rest of the game. During the first half Chelsea kept within four points of their fast traveling opponents.

After the rest period, Clinton came back with a bang and piled up a good lead and Chelsea did not threaten during the second half.

The Chelsea Reserves won a hard fought contest from the Clinton Presbies by the score of 13 to 11 in an overtime period. The game was very close at all times and two baskets by Williams in the overtime won the game for Chelsea.

Journalism Notes

Economics

The newest requirements for social success in stating your thoughts on our financial mess:

You must give out the lowdown on government plans, and explain how exchange should be left in your hands. You must glibly produce in your impressive tones. Sheaves of vital statistics on government loans.

You may issue a ponderous statement on gold. Into which massive numbers are frequently rolled.

You might even propose from your own foggy mind. George's plans of finances to aid humankind.

You can make wondrous statements and be at your ease. For they can't prove you wrong though you say what you please.

In a recent questionnaire, the question was asked, "How many Senators are there?" Of course, everyone knows the answer—ninety-five—and Huey Long.

"Balancing the Budget"

The idea of balancing the budget is most people understand it is merely to keep the expenses at a figure consistent with the income. This time-honored custom has been largely supplanted in government finances. Today, extraordinary expenses are not placed in the budget at all; that is to say, the government budget proper.

Separate budgets are prepared for agencies where such expenses are incurred. Thus we may say, if we choose to startle our citizens that the government budget is actually balanced, due to the economies accomplished in this department by President Roosevelt.

This idea of keeping emergency expenses outside the budget proper did not originate with this administration but with its predecessor. This practice was used in the Hoover administration in the appropriation for the RFC. It will probably continue indefinitely in the financial policy of our government.

Many fouls on Clinton and a few on Chelsea. The half ended with the score 5 to 10 in favor of Clinton.

Helen Hoffert replaced Ruth Faist as forward as the new half started. The next quarter was very exciting. At the end of the third quarter Ruth Faist went in and played guard in Jean Irwin's place. At the beginning of the fourth quarter Ruth again went in as forward in Helen Hoffert's place and Jean Irwin returned to guard. In the middle of the fourth quarter Barbara Blecker went in, in place of Leona Moeckel. There were no other substitutions during the whole game. They played a very good game and even if they did lose, I think they outplayed Clinton most of the time.

The game ended with the score 15 to 10 in favor of Clinton. Better luck next time, girls.

THE STUDENT FRATERNITY MURDER

By Milton Propper

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Stricken during initiation into the Mu Beta Sigma fraternity, Stuart Jordan, university student, dies almost immediately. A physician declares he was poisoned. Coming Rankin, Philadelphia detective, takes charge of the investigation.

CHAPTER II.—An injection of common sense shows to have been the cause of Jordan's death. Rankin finds all the student's shoes are marked with initials. His only known relative is his uncle, Howard Hottel, a local banker, also his guardian, and his heir.

For the following fifteen minutes, he questioned the sponsor solemnly about his contacts with the dead boy and their various conversations together. Less constrained as the inquiry progressed, Patterson appeared candid and willing to relate what he could. But, as Stanton had intimated, he could tell no more about the boy than any other member of the fraternity.

When the detective dismissed Patterson, he had discovered nothing to forward his investigation.

Before he went below to view the chapter room itself, Doctor Sackett, the coroner's physician, arrived and immediately began his examination of the body. At the same time a head-quarters photographer appeared; and though his service had little value, because Jordan had been moved since his seizure, he set his camera without waiting for directions.

The detective arranged with Doctor Sackett for having the remains stripped to the morgue, when his diagnosis was completed.

"With regard to the autopsy, Doctor," he then said, "see that it is begun immediately. It is absolutely essential to have the poison that killed him identified early tomorrow. Can you arrange to find that out by the first light in the morning?"

"Well, I'll do what I can," the physician grumbled. "But you must expect prompt results. With any luck, we might strike the poison on our first or second analysis; on the other hand, it might take more than a dozen eliminations to clear the ground."

Doctor Thompson remained upstairs to assist him, so that only two, Stanton, the supervisor and Mr. Fletcher accompanied Rankin below. As yet he did not understand the lawyer's connection with the fraternity; but the problem presented by the crime occupied him at the moment to the exclusion of that question. Mr. Warwick's attitude indicated some good reason for his presence and Rankin continued to accept him as a spectator.

The scene of the initiation offered eloquent proof of the confusion following Jordan's collapse. The line of chairs barely suggested the semicircle they previously formed, so many were overturned or out of place. On the table lay glasses of wine, the contents of which had been carefully placed on the floor amid the shattered pieces of the glass dropped and broken in the uproar.

Rankin's first act was to send the officer on guard at the door to Doctor Sackett, to procure from his kit several empty medicine vials. He returned shortly with three, which he filled with wine. These he carefully filled with wine, the first from the contents of the bottle, and the other two from glasses chosen at random among those on the floor. When he had corked them and set them aside, he knelt gingerly among the debris at the altar and covering his hands for protection with the folds of two handkerchiefs, he swept together the fragments of shattered glass within his reach.

Then from an inner pocket, he produced an empty envelope and put them into it, sealing the flap. The entire collection he delivered to the policeman.

"Give these bottles and the envelope to Doctor Sackett," he instructed. "In case he leaves before I am finished here, tell him to have them thoroughly analyzed by the departmental chemist. Warn him to pay particular attention to the moisture on some of the larger particles of glass."

He shut the door after the departing officer, and proceeded to discover from Stanton the relative positions, at the moment of the tragedy, of the officers on the dais, the pledges and sponsors at the altar, and the spectators seated behind them. When the scene was fully described to him, he indicated the door.

"How about that? I gather it isn't locked during the ceremony, if Patterson could enter the room after it started."

"No, there's no need for it," the president replied, "because an officer of the fraternity is posted there. We call him the sergeant at arms; his duty is to keep order in meeting and to keep the doors open to the command of the chair. He opens the door only to those who have a right to be present."

"It is improbable, then, that anyone could get in secretly, unknown to him?"

Stanton nodded emphatically. "No one could pass him, Mr. Rankin, without giving the signals by which he recognizes a brother."

"I suppose only fraternity brothers are familiar with these signals?" Rankin inquired.

"Yes, though you must remember, sir, that every chapter of Mu Beta Sigma has exactly the same ritual and ceremonies. So members all over the country know them; but no loyal frater would ever divulge them."

"That's what I thought," the detective remarked. "What about the front door of the house, Mr. Stanton?"

Could an intruder steal in, undisturbed?

"Not unless someone on the inside unlocked it for him," Stanton replied. "It's always kept locked; and only brothers and pledges have keys."

"You realize what that means," Rankin pointed out soberly. "Only members and candidates for initiation could have been present at the ritual tonight."

Mr. Warwick looked grave, and as he comprehended the dreadful implication of the statement, Stanton blanched and swallowed hard.

His voice dropped to a whisper. "Yes, I suppose that's inevitable," he admitted.

"You witnessed what took place in this room tonight?" Rankin inquired. "Yes—that is, what I could, under the circumstances. Remember, I was blindfolded and kneeling in line with the other pledges, listening to the ceremony."

"How far away, Mr. Fletcher," the detective asked, "were you from young Jordan when he collapsed?"

"I knelt on his left, facing the altar," the lawyer replied, "that is, next to his sponsor . . . or whoever took Patterson's place; he was the only one between us. George Patton was my sponsor and stood on my left."

"Can you suggest any details of the tragedy," Rankin wanted to know, "that Mr. Stanton has neglected to mention?"

"No, I can't, Rankin." The lawyer shook his head. "His story seems to have covered everything bearing on it accurately and quite substantially."

"Do you know anything about young Jordan that so far has not been brought out?"

Barly perceptibly, Mr. Fletcher hesitated; but again he answered in the negative. Rankin's forehead furrowed in thought as he once more addressed the president.

"Please have your sergeant at arms called in, Mr. Stanton," he requested. "Before I question any of the other boys, I want to find out about the exact attendance."

When the officer arrived, he proved to be a young man of medium height and stocky build, with broad shoulders and long muscular arms. Even before he was introduced, Rankin, an ardent football fan, recognized Lew Kurly, ace halfback of the university eleven.

He waited until Kurly closed the door of the chapter room behind him. "I am making inquiries, Mr. Kurly," he then explained, "about the members present at the initiation and who they were. Your president informs me that, as sergeant at arms, you guard the door at meetings and after it has begun, let in only those who can give the proper signals and passwords. I have already consulted the roll-book, and ascertained that when the roll was taken, thirty men answered. Now, can you tell me who arrived after this check-up and when they came in?"

"Let in two fellows during the ceremony, Mr. Rankin. The first one came in only ten minutes or so after it started; that was half past eight."

"According to his account, that would be Mr. Patterson," the detective observed. "What about the second chap?"

But Kurly shook his head. "I don't know who he was," he answered. "In fact, I couldn't tell Patterson, either. They were both completely masked by their robes and hoods. Anyhow, they knocked on the door correctly and exchanged the password with me, so I opened the door for them both."

Adopt Resolutions At Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Washenaw-Livingston Boy Scout Council, held this past week at Ann Arbor, the following resolutions were presented and unanimously adopted.

Be It Resolved:
First: That we recognize that under the present rapidly changing economic and industrial conditions, the problem of the wise use of leisure time is a most pressing one. With recognition of this, there is the realization of the increasingly greater necessity of providing programs and facilities so that the sanest and most constructive use may be made of this leisure time. It is very evident that boys of the ages of 12 to 18 have been permanently eliminated from the ranks of industry. At the same time, for the present at least, the school year in many places is being shortened. The growth of delinquency and criminality and disrespect for lawful authority points to the need of training in practical good citizenship in childhood and youth, when life-long habits and attitudes are being formed.

While all of these facts show that Scouting is presented with its greatest opportunity since its beginning, it is also faced by the greatest responsibility in its entire history.
Second: That we accept the challenge of the Ten Year Program, which is "To reach at least one out of every four 12 year olds, and so to improve that quality of Scouting as to hold their interest for at least a four year period of active Scout training, to the end that it may be ultimately assured that out of every four new male voting citizens one shall be a four year Scout-trained man." It is felt that these boys who have been Scouts, and at least four years will be better trained citizens of finer character, through the friendship, counsel, and inspiration of their Scout leaders; through the initiative, habits of learning, widening of interests, and practical knowledge gained in the work on Scout tests and Merit badges; through their chance to learn how to get along with their fellows, cooperate, take responsibility, guide themselves, and lead others; in the frequent gatherings of an intimate group of friends for patrol and troop meetings, hikes, and camps; and through having adopted as his own and put into practice the high ideals of the Scout Oath and Law and their habitual expression through the service idea of the Daily Good Turn to others.

That this Council should examine its present status with the purpose of so improving its procedure by every one of the available means of leadership, organization and advancement, that by the year 1942 one out of every four new male voting citizens shall have had four years of Scout training. For this Council this means not only an increase in the number of Scouts, but also an increase in the length of time that they remain in troops and are under trained leadership.

Third: That we commend the manner in which churches, schools and numerous other organizations have met the responsibilities of providing leadership and facilities for the efficient carrying on of the Scout program. We believe that these institutions are increasingly realizing the advantages to themselves of a relationship to the troop which insures its stability and prestige, gains the confidence of the parents, and develops stronger loyalty of the boy himself to the parent institution. We recognize that Scouting in this area could not have achieved its present favorable conditions without this wholehearted institutional approval and support.

Fourth: That we express our appreciation of the fine service which has been rendered to the Boy Scout movement through the medium of the newspapers in the various communities. By giving favorable and extended interpretation through the press to the events and personalities connected with Scouting, they have been an invaluable means of promotion, and have contributed in marked degree to its growth.

Fifth: Whereas the revival of the Unit Type of camping, by which each Troop or Patrol conducts its own camp under its own year-round volunteer leadership, has resulted this past season in a 100 per cent increase over 1932 in boy-weeks spent in camps; and whereas, this type of camping especially demands the use of the Scout method of "Learning by Doing"; Be it resolved, that this Council approve this type of camping as its standard plan for the ensuing year.

Sixth: It has been increasingly difficult in these recent years to receive revenue to carry on an adequate Scout program in this Area. This has been very apparent to all who have sensed the real value of Scouting as a program for handling the serious youth problem of the present day. We approve the adoption by the Executive Board of the Sustaining Membership Plan. This proposal came as the result of careful and painstaking work by a committee representative of all three districts of this Council.

It will be noted that not the greatest of the virtues of this plan is the promise of financial relief arising from the substantial increase of income to supplement the insufficient and diminishing funds from the routine sources. Tremendously important as this will be for Scouting, a value at least as great lies in the fact that the Sustaining Membership Plan brings to Scouting the opportunity to find its friends in each community in the area, and to keep a continuous record of them. As it further proposes to keep contact with these friends, informing them from time to time of the purposes, plans, progress and problems of Scouting, we may well hope for most valuable help in our continued efforts to furnish "Better Scouting for More Boys."

Be it Resolved therefore that this Council in Annual Meeting assembled does heartily approve and endorse the Sustaining Membership Plan as proposed, and will give our support and earnest efforts to its success.

Resolved further that the committee be commended for its efforts in formulating the Plan, and that a note of appreciation be sent to Charles Miller of the National Headquarters Staff for his assistance to the committee.

Seventh: That we recognize that Scouting, as is true of any movement for social betterment, is founded upon the principle of volunteer leadership. That in Scouting there is ample scope for the employment of every type of ability, skill, knowledge and enthusiasm that can be found among the leading men in every community.

In this area, more than 400 men, heads of institutions conducting the troops, troop committees, district committees, members of courts of honor, field and district commissioners, merit badge counselors and most important of all, scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters, are giving freely of their time and energy to the service of boyhood, a service the value of which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Without the loyalty and enthusiasm of this numerous and devoted band of volunteers, there could be no Scout movement.

SENATORS BOHAR of Idaho, Norris of Nebraska and Nye of North Dakota, all independent Republicans whose support has been counted on generally by the administration, have started a concerted attack on the NIRA, charging that its codes foster monopolies and result in forcing the small dealers out of business. Their fight is not against the President and his policies, but against Gen. Hugh Johnson, NIRA administrator, upon whom they place the blame for the faults they say have developed.

PRACTICALLY without opposition, a measure was put through the house and senate extending the life of the Reconstruction Finance corporation for another year and providing it with $850,000,000 of new capital. There was little debate, and in the house only Louis T. McFadden of Pennsylvania voted against the bill.

CURRENT NEWS EVENTS

GERMANY'S great church quarrel goes on unabated and the Evangelical pastors are still determined that their religion shall not be nationalized. Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller, who is a confidant of Chancellor Hitler, issued a decree forbidding pastors to criticize the Nazi Protestant church administration from the pulpits under pain of dismissal from the church. But the rebellious ones, organized as the Pastors' Emergency League, defied Doctor Mueller and for the second time read to their congregations a manifesto demanding his resignation. It was up to the members of the churches, but several of the councils declared openly they would not do so.

Bishop Mueller showed some inclination to resign from his position, but the militant Nazi German Christian pastors brought great pressure to bear, telling him they would support him only so long as he stuck by his decrees. The bishop also seeks to nullify all church laws passed in 1933 so he can proclaim new ones.

Reverend Doctor Richter, who is highly considered by President Von Hindenburg, declared in the Berlin cathedral that "a storm is brewing in Germany—a fight between Christianity and heathendom." In this contest, however, Hitler appears to have much more influence than the aged president, who is more and more becoming a figurehead.

CHINESE Nationalist forces after severe fighting captured Foochow, the headquarters of the rebels in Fukien province, and it was reported that negotiations were proceeding to settle the dispute between the Nationalist government and the leaders of the rebel army wild. On the request of Vice Consul Gordon Burke, an American naval party was ordered ashore from the gunboat Tulsa to protect 141 Americans in the city.

Lightning and Electricity
One reason that so many people are afraid of lightning is that they do not understand what it is. To come to a fine point, no one knows what lightning is, because lightning is electricity and what electricity is is still a matter of theory.

Put Corn And Hogs On Reduction List

Decline in exports of pork to Europe from 17,000,000 hogs in 1919 to 4,000,000 in 1933 left the United States with more pork than the domestic market can digest and a plan to reduce this surplus will be presented to Michigan farmers by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Press, radio, and talks at local meetings will be used by the extension division of Michigan State College to acquaint State farmers with the plan, and it then will be a matter for each farmer to decide whether he wants to cooperate with producers in this and other States to make the plan effective.

Corn and hogs are partners in the production plans of most farmers and these two commodities are coupled in this plan to increase farm incomes by reducing surpluses in the basic crops of the United States. The plan is quite similar to that used in reducing the wheat acreage inasmuch as it contemplates the reduction of the number of acres of corn planted and the number of pigs farrowed for pork.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace asks that the corn acreage of the country be reduced 20 per cent, and the number of pigs farrowed 25 per cent. To recompense farmers for the reduction in numbers of acres and of numbers of livestock, the secretary will make benefit payments to those farmers who sign crop contracts. Money for the benefit payments is derived from a processing tax levied upon hogs slaughtered for market. Hogs killed by farmers for home use are exempt from tax.

This plan will affect thousands of Michigan farms. Other thousands will be only indirectly concerned because their owners can not qualify as contract signers, due to the small acreage of corn grown for grain or to the minimum number of pigs raised on the farm.

Farmers who did not raise an average of 10 acres of corn for grain in 1932 and 1933 or an average of three litters of pigs per year in the same years can not sign crop reduction contracts to receive benefit payments. Corn harvested and placed in the silo can not be used in obtaining base acreage to qualify for a corn-crop-reduction contract.

It is not necessary that a farmer qualify under both the corn acreage and the hog production features of the contract. Producers can qualify for either commodity, but those who qualify only for hogs must agree not to increase their acreage of corn over the average grown in the past two years. Corn crop reduction contract signers agree to reduce their acreage at least 20 per cent and can reduce the number of acres still more but benefit payments will not be made on more than a 30 per cent reduction. Hog raisers agree to reduce the number of litters farrowed by 25 per cent.

Corn contract signers will be paid at the rate of 30 cents per bushel, less expenses, on the estimated yield of the acres taken out of production. A farmer whose average acreage of corn grown for grain in 1932-33 was 20 acres would contract to reduce this amount by four acres in 1934. A local committee of farmers inspects the four acres taken out of production and estimates the yield of corn which that land would have produced in 1934. The contract signer is paid 30 cents per bushel, minus expenses, for this estimated yield.

Signers of hog contracts will be paid $5 per head, less expenses, for 75 per cent of the hogs marketed or to be marketed from litters farrowed in the past two years. Farmers who sold 24 hogs a year for slaughter from the past two years' litters will be paid five times 18 or $90, minus the amount of the grower's share of administrative expenses.

The corn-crop contract signer agrees not to increase the number of acres of any basic crop (in Michigan this would mean wheat) above the acreage planted in 1932 or 1933, whichever year was the highest. He also agrees not to plant the land taken from corn production to any crop to be harvested, except permanent pasture. The land may be planted to prevent soil erosion or to choke out weeds but such plantings may not be harvested.

The signer of a hog contract can not have any interest in hogs not under contract, and he agrees not to increase his average production of milk or its products. He also agrees not to increase the aggregate corn acreage grown by him, whether he has a corn crop contract or not. He can not increase the average number of feeder hogs purchased for feeding.

Part of the benefit payments on both corn and hogs will be made as soon as the contracts are approved. For corn, the first payment is 15 cents per bushel and for hogs $2 per head. Payments on corn are completed with a second payment of 15 cents, minus expenses, about Nov. 1, 1934. The balance of the hog payments is made in two installments, $2 and $1, with expenses deducted.

Methods for placing these plans of reducing the production of corn and hogs before Michigan farmers will be quite similar to the methods used in the wheat acreage reduction campaign. County agricultural agents will hold local meetings and explain the plan. Local farmers who are interested will then appoint temporary and permanent committees to interview farmers, obtain signatures to contracts, review the contracts, and inspect the land taken out of corn production.

Expenses for doing the work in each county or each district, in places where more than one county is included, will be determined by the charges made by local committees. The expenses for each district will be deducted from the benefit payments due farmers in that district.

The NEW McCORMICK-DEERING Spreader Features an ALL-STEEL Box

THE new McCormick-Deering No. 1-A all-steel spreader is convenient, low-to-the-ground, simple, and compact. It features a galvanized, rust-resisting, copperized, non-warping, heavy-gauge steel box of 60 to 70 bushel capacity. Eight roller bearings and Zerk lubrication, combined with perfect alignment of all parts, make this new all-steel spreader unusually light in draft. Two horses can haul capacity loads in it all day long. The manure is torn and shredded by a saw-tooth upper beater, a spike-tooth lower beater, and a wide-spread spiral before it is spread in an even layer over the soil. Lime-spreading attachment, brake, and endgate are available as special equipment. See this new all-steel spreader at our store at your first opportunity.
