Will Celebrate 24th Birthday of Scouting

Boy Scouts of the Washtenaw-Livingston Council, to the number of nearly one thousand, will open the celebration of the 24th birthday of Scouting in America, on Thursday, February 8, with a week filled with pleasures to be enjoyed and duties to be performed. Features of the week's program were announced today by Scout officials.

At 8:15 Thursday evening, local Scouts will meet at their headquarters in the Crescent hotel building, under the direction of their scoutmaster, to unite with all the other Scouts in the United States in renewing their allegiance to the Boy Scout Oath and Law, to which they subscribe when they first enter the movement.

At 12 noon on Saturday, the attention of the entire country will be centered upon the Scouts as they mobilize to hear their honorary president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, as he broadcasts by radio direct from the White House an appeal to the Boy Scouts of America, more than 900,000 in number, to assist in some "Good Turn" of national scope. Only Harry Hopkins, national director of relief, and President Roosevelt himself, will have any knowledge of the nature of this call for service, until the moment the President makes the announcement.

For this occasion, local Scouts will be mobilized at their headquarters, where radio reception has been arranged. At 12:30 the boys will be dispersed to their homes, after instructions for carrying out the President's orders have been announced.

On Sunday, each Scout will attend church, preferably in uniform, according to plans to be announced by local leaders. At 2:45 Sunday afternoon, all of the ministers of Washtenaw and Livingston counties have been invited to meet at Lane hall, the Student Christian Association building at State and Washington streets, Ann Arbor. Dr. Ray Wyland of New York City, national director of education for the Boy Scouts of America, will discuss "The Scout and His Church", followed by a general discussion. At 3:30 there will be a meeting of all men and women in both counties who are interested in the Scout movement, and Dr. Wyland will speak on "Does Scouting Make a Difference?" A complimentary tea will be served by a group of Scout mothers, and music will be furnished by Scouts from Fowlerville and Ann Arbor, with a quartet and orchestra furnished by the Son Scouts of Ypsilanti.

On Tuesday evening, the Washtenaw-Livingston Council executive board will hold its regular meeting, while on Wednesday evening a jamboree will be held for all Scouts, leaders and parents at the Intramural building on Heaven avenue, Ann Arbor. The program will include stunts, contests, demonstrations by members of the University fencing team, and a general swim. This will be open to Scouts from all parts of the Washtenaw-Livingston area without charge.

Many troops are planning pot luck suppers, window displays, parents' nights and other special events, to make this year's celebration in the 24 years of Scouting's history in America.

THREE GAMES FRIDAY

In addition to the two games which are advertised on window cards now displayed, there will be a girls' basketball game at the Chelsea public school gym Friday night. Three teams from Milan will be the opponents of the local teams. The Reserves will play at 7 o'clock; the girls will play the second game, and the Varsity league game will be the last played.

Will Apply for CWA Funds To Construct Modern Town Hall

As the result of a joint meeting of the Sylvan township board and the village council, held Monday evening, plans are under way for application to the CWA for sufficient funds to erect a new and strictly modern combination township and village hall in Chelsea.

Plans which are to be submitted will call for the raising of the township hall on West Middle street, with the new building to be erected on that site. The design of the new hall will include public rest rooms, fire equipment house, 1941 council rooms, voting booths, etc.

Representatives of both the township board and village council were in Ann Arbor on Tuesday where they conferred with Clarence Elliott, county director of CWA and direct relief work, and they were informed there would be no objection on the part of the CWA to a combination hall. When the matter of including provisions for a public library in the building was mentioned, Mr. Elliott informed the men that if a library room is constructed with CWA money a full-time librarian must be employed.

Although plans for the building are at the present time rather indefinite, the opinion of officials interested in the project is that the new building should be only one story, with full basement, and perhaps some longer than the present structure.

In order to have the local project approved by CWA officials it will be necessary to employ a registered architect to prepare plans. It is expected such action will be taken within the next few days. Both the township and village boards will confer today with the entire county CWA commission in Ann Arbor relative to the project.

Although approval of the local hall is quite probable, ultimate construction depends upon the appropriation by Congress of additional CWA funds, which action is virtually assured.

Corn-Hog Reduction Will Be Explained

Below is a schedule of meetings at which time will be discussed the Corn-Hog reduction program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. ## Death Takes Local Civil War Veteran

Samuel Glover, 85, Civil War veteran and a resident of Chelsea for the past ten years, died Tuesday morning, February 6, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. D. McManus on West Middle St. He was born in Sheffield, England, May 6, 1848, coming to America when a small child and living at Dover, N. J. At the age of 16 (passing as 17) he enlisted in the U. S. army. For one month he served on the S. S. Carolina, after which he was transferred to the North Atlantic squadron (Frigate Minnesota) and later to the gun boat Maratanza at Hampton Roads.

He participated in the engagements of Smithville, Fort Cazez and Smith Island. The 142nd New York Infantry relieved the Maratanza's crew from garrison duty. They then went to Fort Fisher and assisted in the bombardment of Fort Anderson.

The Union Jacks took possession of the fort February 22, 1865. He was then transferred to the U. S. Steamship Augusta and the Monitor, and on May 5, 1866 put out to sea. They visited all the important seaports of Europe, returning by way of the West Indies to Philadelphia, July 24, 1867.

Mr. Glover was mustered out of service July 27, and in September of that year he came to Michigan.

In 1876 he was married to Roxana Reed, and they made their home in Morley until the death of his wife in 1923, when he came to Chelsea to reside with his daughter.

He was a member of the Episcopal church and of General Wool Post, G. A. R., at Morley.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. McManus, he is survived by two grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. McManus, with Rev. Chas. F. Wolf officiating. Interment will be in Oak Grove cemetery.

Brucker To Speak At Lincoln Banquet

Mark Sugden, mayor of the city of Sault Ste. Marie, and chairman of the speakers' committee for the Republican Lincoln Day Dinner to be held at the Masonic Temple in Ann Arbor on Monday, February 12, at 6:30 p. m., announces that Wilbur M. Brucker, former governor, will be the principal speaker on the program.

W. M. BRUCKER

Arrangements have been completed for the dinner, and the program has now been completed, which promises a very interesting Republican gathering.

Purchase of tickets can be made from the ticket committee and also from the following persons:

Mark Sugden at Sault Ste. Marie.
Otto Luck at Chelsea.
Ralph Blanchard at Dexter.
Charles Black at Milan.
Dr. Lee Davison at Manchester.
Harold Carter at Whitmore Lake.
Tickets will also be available at the door.

BOYS' GIRLS' STORY HOUR

Next Saturday afternoon, February 10, there will be another Story Hour for little children at the Chelsea Public Library. All children are cordially invited to come and hear the stories. After the story hour there will be an opportunity for the boys and girls to look at the new children's books in the library. Don't forget—Saturday, 2 p. m., at the Library. If you like the Story Hour we will have more of them.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET

A Father and Son Banquet, sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church, will be held Friday evening, February 9, in the dining room of the church. Following the supper, a program will be given, with Rev. Frederick B. Mumby presiding as toastmaster.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

The Boys will play the strong Hudson Independents at the public school gym tonight. Also preliminary game. Adm. 15c and 10c. Adv.

Lansing, Mich.—If the coming special session of the legislature does not reduce substantially license plate costs, the two-payment plan will be put into effect March 1, Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald has announced.

Under the two-payment plan, motorists pay one-half of the annual weight tax and receive a windshield sticker permit for use in conjunction with the 1933 plates. The permits are legal until August 1. Upon payment of the second installment of the weight tax on August 1, 1934 license plates will be issued for the remainder of the year.

Automobiles owned by those convicted of drunk driving are practically barred from Michigan highways for three years, records of the Department of State show. There never has been a time in Michigan's history when the penalty for this offense has been so great.

Since the financial responsibility law became effective Oct. 17, 1933, a total of 471 persons have either pleaded guilty or been found guilty of drunk driving. In each instance, the driver and the vehicle he was using and others he may come under the provisions of the new law. Of this number, only 32 have been able to provide proof of ability to meet future accident claims.

Under the operators' license law, the drunk drivers lose the right to drive for one year, unless the license is ordered restored by order of circuit court. But unless the drunk driver is able to show financial responsibility, the license plate and the certificate of title of the automobile used are held by the Department of State for three years. The records show that drunk drivers are finding it almost impossible to furnish this proof.

The colors of the 1934 license plates were announced last week by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald. They will have yellow black numerals on a dark blue background.

Cock-of-the-Rock, Most Beautiful Bird in World

In the Venezuelan jungles near the lonely Brazilian border region, the cock-of-the-rock, sometimes called the most beautiful bird in the world, goes through a remarkable dance routine. The performance, writes a correspondent in the National Geographic Magazine, takes place on the ground, witnessed by a score or more of other flame-colored males, and their dear consorts, gathered on bushes.

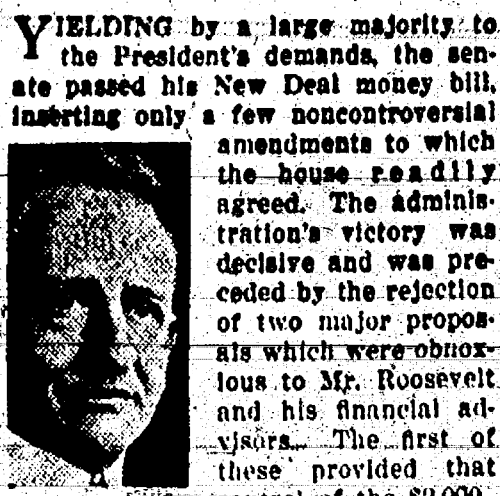

While the audience cheers approvingly, the dancer, with lowered wings and outspread pumping tail, walks round and round, scratching the ground and springing into the air. When it tires another male takes its place. There seems to be no data as to the duration of these marionettes.

Other dancers of these hills, far more numerous and even more accomplished, are the mangos. There is one little fellow with jet black coat and bluish blue cap; another, of the same diminutive size, exactly like him except that the blue cap is replaced by one of white; and a third of the same stature, with orange head and red boots.

All are denizens of the deep shadows of the undergrowth, and in the dusk might well be mistaken for little back-coated gnomes, as they go so seriously about their intricate dances. But some one has called them "gigolos," because the dancing seems to be done at the bidding of the females.

News Review of Current Events the World OverMoney Bill Passes, Dollar Is Devalued—Secretary Perkins
Proposes Federal Tax for Permanent Dole Funds—
Polish-German Peace Treaty.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Senator Glass

YIELDING by a large majority to the President's demands, the senate passed his New Deal money bill, inserting only a few noncontroversial amendments to which the house readily agreed. The administration's victory was decisive and was preceded by the rejection of two major proposals which were obnoxious to Mr. Roosevelt and his financial advisors. The first of these provided that control of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund should be given to a board of five instead of to the secretary of the treasury. This was defeated by the votes of 50 Democrats, three "radical" Republicans and the single Farmer-Labor senator. The second amendment offered was put forward by the silver bloc and was beaten only by the assistance of 17 Republican senators, for 28 Democrats were recorded in favor of it and the vote stood 33 to 45. It would have provided for the purchase and redemption of silver.

The final vote on the measure was 66 to 23. One lone Democrat had the nerve to stand out against the administration and uphold by his vote his convictions, although several others had opposed the bill in debate. The man who was true to himself was Carter Glass of Virginia, secretary of treasury under Wilson and co-author of the federal reserve act. Senator Gore of Oklahoma was paired against the measure but did not vote. Senator McAdoo of California had done a lot of opposition talking but quit with that and went into the "aye" column. All of the independent Republicans and Shippard, Farmer-Laborite, supported the bill.

Though the money bill has been summarized before in this column, it may be well to state again its main provisions as follows:

The treasury is given title to all the nation's monetary gold stocks, including $3,500,000,000 held by the federal reserve banks.

The President is authorized to revalue the dollar at 50 to 60 per cent of its present statutory gold equivalent.

Collage of gold is declared at an end. The metal is to be held in bullion form in the treasury as backing for paper currency.

The $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund is created out of the increased value of the gold accruing as a result of devaluation of the dollar. It is placed in the sole charge of the secretary of the treasury and he is given authority to expend it in virtually any transactions he may deem necessary for stabilizing the dollar abroad.

ACTION under the authority conferred on him by the new money law, President Roosevelt proceeded to devalue the official dollar to 50.00 cents by proclaiming a reduction of the dollar's gold content from 23.5 grains nine-tenths fine to 17.5 grains nine-tenths fine. At the same time the President announced the government would buy gold at a price of $35 an ounce.

The change in the dollar's gold content, the first to be made in a century, will not be immediately appreciable to the general public, but it is the expectation of the administration that it will bring about a general rise of commodity prices and that this will induce an increased volume of business, which will enable producers to make more money and therefore to raise wages. Only time can tell whether this theory is correct or fallacious.

Shortly after the President signed his proclamation, the treasury announced that a new form of currency was being prepared by the bureau of engraving to take care of the problems created by transfer of title to all federal reserve bank gold to the treasury.

At the same time, the same new currency now in circulation, will be used instead of the absolute amount to pay in gold carried by gold certificates previously issued, however, these will say:

"This is to certify that there is on deposit in the treasury of the United States of America, (blank) dollars in gold, payable to the bearer on demand as authorized by law."

al committee, that will make the country's communications systems subject to similar regulation by the federal government.

OUTSTANDING in current foreign news is the fact that Germany and Poland have signed a peace pact that is to endure for ten years. The treaty stipulates that during that period under no conditions is force to be used in relations between these countries. The successful negotiation of this pact is considered a great triumph for Joseph L. Danks, minister to Germany, and for Foreign Minister Joseph Beck, and the jubilant Poles assert that their nation must now be considered one of the great powers of Europe. They are especially proud of the way in which they have picked the plans of Munich-Litvinov, foreign commissar of Russia, who was trying to combine with Poland for a protectorate over the Baltic states. They appeared to be going along with him but were secretly conducting the negotiations with Berlin.

According to European correspondents, one reason for Germany's sudden change of policy toward Poland is Warsaw's disinclination to become in any way involved with the problem of Austria, which is expected there to turn Nazi in the near future. Polish statesmen privately state Poland does not oppose the Austro-German Anschluss (union). They claim once this is accomplished the question of obtaining a port on the Adriatic sea would become more important to Germany than the return of the Polish corridor.

Announcement of the Polish-German treaty created a sensation in Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, all of which countries have quarrels with Germany and had been relying on Poland's support.

PERMANENT dole funds in all the states, created mainly by a new federal tax upon all employers, is the latest plan of Miss Frances Perkins.

Secretary of Labor. Her scheme, which is a rather complicated, provides for the levying of the tax on the basis of "unemployed pay rolls, beginning on July 1, 1935, and calls on all state legislatures to set up unemployment funds.

In each commonwealth, the employer would be given the choice of paying the full tax or contributing voluntarily to the fund in his state. The plan is being put into the form of a bill to be introduced in congress. Cooperating with Secretary Perkins are Senator Wagner of New York and Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland.

"The proposed federal tax bill," read the formal announcement, "will work in such a way as to promote the speedy passage of state unemployment insurance laws."

"The federal bill will not define what kind of laws the states shall pass. Wisconsin is the only state which now has an unemployment insurance law, but measures are pending in many other states."

Secretary Perkins went to Indianapolis where the convention of the United Mine Workers of America was in session, and told the men that the only permanent solution of the unemployment problem is shorter working hours.

The miners, in a hot debate, denounced communism and re-nounced sections of their constitution which bar members of the communist party from union membership.

FEDERAL JUDGE ALEXANDER AKERMAN in Tampa, Fla., declared the anti-union adjustment act unconstitutional, saying it is "so full of holes you could drive eight yokes of oxen through it." He issued a writ of habeas corpus to an injunction to prevent the state control committee from enforcing prohibition orders. Officials in Washington refused to comment on the judge's decision.

STAFF directors of the National Emergency council met with Administrator Hugh Johnson and were amazed to learn from him that Secretary of Labor Perkins had already appointed many of the labor advisers in their offices without consulting them. Nathan Straus, Jr., of New York and George Crook of California were among those who questioned the propriety of this course.

"I am not here to discuss the wisdom of the matter," was the general brusque reply. "The appointments already have been made."

THREE daring Russian aeronauts ascended in a stratosphere balloon to the record height of 67,935 feet, according to their radioed messages, and then perished when their balloon crashed 350 miles southeast of Moscow. Their instruments were destroyed, so their claim to a new record cannot be established.

HAVING read of speeches in the Japanese parliament predicting that Japanese auxiliary vessels would outrank those of the United States by 1936 and that Japan would withdraw from the proposed naval conference of 1935, our senators prepared to rush through the Vinson naval construction bill which had been passed by the house. It calls for expenditures of $475,000,000 and $507,000,000 over a five year period in order to bring the United States forces up to twenty strength.

In Tokyo Kenkichi Yoshizawa, former foreign minister, proposed to the house of peers that the 1935 conference be abandoned, expressing fear that Japan would be forced to wreck it. He and other Japanese statesmen, however, reiterated that there was no conceivable reason for war between their country and the United States. Minister of War Hayaashi also denied that Japan was making preparations for war with Russia, and said the Japanese army in Manchukuo would not assist in any attempt to extend the boundaries of that state.

Russia has a chip on its shoulder, and the convention of the all-union Communist party widely cheered Stalin when he warned everybody "not to poke their snouts into the Soviet potato patch." The delegate added:

"It is a mistake to think an ambition to wage war against the Soviet union and share its territory is held only by Japanese military circles. We know very well that it is shared by some political circles in Europe."

This last remark, it was believed, was intended as a reference to Germany.

SOLUTION of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping and murder may come as a result of the arrest in Chicago of Vernon Snulley, former South Dakota ranchman who started on a career as a kidnaper two years ago. He readily admitted that he "snatched" Charles Roettcher of Denver and Haskell Bohn of St. Paul, but denied any connection with the Lindbergh tragedy. However, the authorities are in possession of various facts and clues which they believe may link him with that case.

Two Illinoisans, Frank Souder and Gale Swolley, were taken to the Joliet penitentiary to begin serving life sentences for the kidnapping of James Hackett of Blue Island.

Indiana authorities were preparing to try for the murder of a postman in East Chicago, John Dillingier, bank robber and desperado, who was captured with several of his gang in Tucson, Ariz. The outlaw was rushed by airplane to Indiana to prevent his extradition to Wisconsin, where he was wanted for robbery.

CAMILLE CHATEAUMPS and his French ministry didn't last as long as had been expected. Without waiting for a vote by the chamber of deputies that would oust them, the cabinet members all handed their resignations to President Lebelin, being unable longer to withstand the storm of attacks resulting from the Bayonne bond swindle. Former President Gaston Doumergue was entrusted to negotiate a compromise, but failed on the ground that he is too old to head the government in such a critical time. Herriot and Laval, both former premiers, were the next possibilities, but it was feared both had too many political enemies, though they are respected and have clean records. However, Poincaré, undertook the job of forming a new government.

WHILE President Roosevelt was celebrating his fifty-second birthday with relatives and close personal friends in the White House, many thousands of his fellow citizens were enjoying parties, balls and other entertainments arranged to mark the anniversary. These took place in hundreds of cities, towns and villages all over the country, and the proceeds will be turned over to the Warm Springs Foundation for Victims of Infantile Paralysis.

THOSE who attempt to graft on the Public Works administration are going to have a hard time getting away with it, according to Secretary of the Interior Ickes. Addressing the convention of the Associated General Contractors of America in Washington, the secretary warned them that exclusion on bids for contracts or manipulation of specifications to us to eliminate competitors would be uncovered by the government agents and punished. He pointed to the indictment of Lieut. Gov. Nels G. Kraschel of Iowa and an associate as a sample of what cheats may expect.

"I am not pronouncing judgment in this case," said Mr. Ickes. "If those men now under indictment are innocent they have nothing to fear. If a jury of their neighbors find them guilty, they will pay the penalty."

"There are two points to this story and that is the reason I have told it to you. One is that the Public Works administration will pursue any charge of graft or corruption or chiseling regardless of where the trail may lead. The other point is that even an officeholder of high degree does not have enough political pull to escape the outstretched hand of justice if he offends against the law."

Criminal prosecutions in six cases involving complaints of graft in the Civil Works administration were ordered by the division of investigation of the Public Works administration. Three of the cases are in Kentucky, one in Maryland, one in Arkansas, and one in Indiana.

TRI-COUNTY D. H. I. A. REPORT

Honors for high individual production for the month in the Tri-County D. H. I. A. were won by a two-year old purebred Holstein owned by Norman Topping of Stockbridge producing 83 pounds of butterfat in 25 days.

This is a record to "shoot at". The 3 and 4 year old class is led by Herman Schmidt's purebred Holstein with 70 and 64.6 pounds of fat for the 31 day period. Herman Schmidt, who had high herd average last month has the place of prominence for this month with an average of 1235 lbs. of milk and 42.86 lbs. of butterfat, including dry cows. There were 16 cows in the Association producing over 50 pounds of fat and 23 cows producing over 1250 pounds of milk. Listed below are the names of the owners of the cows producing 50 lbs. of fat or more: J. B. Livermore, Max Kalmbach, and Clair Barnum of Gregory; Herman Schmidt of Munth; G. F. Haffey of Chelsea; Walter Breininger of Dexter, and N. S. Topping of Stockbridge. Following are the owners and the butterfat production of the high cows in each class—2 year old class: Norman Topping, purebred Holstein, 1362 pounds milk, 83.0 lbs. fat in 25 days; J. B. Under the terms of the new law assessing a processing tax of 30c per bu. on each bu. of wheat ground, a farmer producing his own wheat is exempt from this tax on flour made from wheat of the SAME TYPE RAISED.

Where all soft wheat flour is taken in exchange for soft wheat there is no tax whatever.

Where a hard wheat flour or a blended flour is taken in exchange there is an exemption on the amount of soft wheat flour in the blend.

Exemption from this tax can only be obtained AT A MILL. At no other place can you obtain your exemption.

We are exchanging flour for wheat on the following schedule. Where hard wheat is used in the blend we absorb the tax in the amount of flour given in exchange.

ACME FLOUR—For finest bread baking—26 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

PIONEERS FLOUR—The best all purpose flour—28 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

PHOENIX FLOUR—The best for pastry baking—32 lbs. per bu. of wheat.

Electrolux is silent now

...silent forever

Consider, too, these other unmatched advantages—Lowest Operating Cost, Freedom from Repairs, Gas Company Service

You can pick a dress or suit on its looks. A perfume on its smell. But when it comes to choosing a refrigerator, you need the help of cold sober facts. Facts about fundamentals.

Silence is one of these fundamental things. With Electrolux, you can expect utter and permanent silence because it has no moving parts ever to become noisy. Operating cost, too, needs careful scrutiny. Electrolux operates for less than any other refrigerator!

Repairs? Service? Absence of moving parts means there's nothing about Electrolux that can possibly wear! And your gas company backs and services every Electrolux it sells.

But see Electrolux for yourself! Examine first-hand its many conveniences... EXPECT MORE.

PALMER SCHOOL NEWS

The children who were not absent during January are as follows: Agnes, Maryann, and Stella Czubko, Bernard Hamilton, Florence and Mary Belle Smith, Betty Low and Irene Wahl. Our teacher, Mrs. Alda Lehmann, and three girls from our school attended the music meeting held at Grass Lake Friday afternoon, January 26. We are progressing very nicely with our music work.

Recent visitors to our school were Evelyn, Janette, and Virginia Lehmann of North Francisco, and Marion Downer of Chelsea.

Our school was closed Wednesday, February 1, to allow our teacher to attend the County Teachers' Institute at Farmington.

Our Safety club held their first February meeting Monday morning, February 6. New officers were elected. They are as follows: President, Chester Czubko; secretary, Norman Peterson; treasurer, Irene Wahl. Next meeting will be February 19th.

The second and third grades have organized a Reading club. At the end of the year the one who has read the most books will receive the first prize. Every other child will receive a prize, also, according to the number of books read.

Stella Czubko, 3rd grade. We have received a new picture for our schoolroom. It is a picture of President Roosevelt.

We had a surprise at our school Thursday, February 1. One of our pupils came out of his cocoon. It was a beautiful Luna moth.

Betty Lou Wahl, 3rd grade. The first and second grades have been studying about the Far North. We have made a booklet about the Eskimos.

Maryann Czubko, 2nd grade.

Going-to-the Sun Mountain
The name "Going-to-the-Sun" was given to the mountain by the Blackfoot Indians in honor of the legendary visit of Sour Spirit, who came from the sun to teach them to shoot straight, to build their teepees and to hunt buffalo successfully. The entire designation was "The-face-of-Sour-Spirit-who-went-back-to-the-Sun-after-his-work-was-done-mountain." The highway skirting this mountain in Glacier National park is called Going-to-the-Sun highway.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Kindly answer the following questions through your question column: (1) Why are there fractional sections on north and west sides of townships? (2) What is meant by New Deal—you see so much in newspapers about it.

Ans.—(1) According to the surveyor's office the fractional sections were caused by an error in surveying, and it has been maintained as a matter of record of the proper township boundary. (2) The New Deal originated with President Roosevelt and it literally means a political revolution in government from the preceding four years under the Republican administration.

Ques.—Where is the Swannee River, which is referred to in the old popular song "The Old Folks at Home"?

Ans.—The river you refer to, which, by the way, is spelled "Suwanee", is a stream that rises in Georgia, flows directly south and empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you kindly answer which was the thirteenth state that ratified the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States constitution?

Ans.—The thirteenth state to ratify the repeal of the prohibition amendment was New Hampshire. This repeat is now known as the Twenty-first Amendment.

Ques.—If you and your force are so smart I want to ask you to answer this question: If a grass widower marries a grass widow what will their children be if they have any?

Ans.—Don't know—grasshoppers, probably.

Ques.—When and where did John L. Sullivan win the title of champion pugilist of the world?

Ans.—John L. Sullivan was never champion of the world. He was champion (officially) of the United States. He won the title by knocking out Paddy Ryan in nine rounds at Mississippi City on Feb. 7, 1882. This contest was with bare fists.

Ques.—What territory did the old Roman Empire cover?

Ans.—The Roman Empire extended over practically all of Europe, all of northern Africa and parts of Asia. The seat of government was in Rome where Augustus was crowned the first emperor in 27 B. C.

Ques.—What is the official language spoken in Brazil?

Ans.—The official language of Brazil is Portuguese.

Ques.—Please answer in your question column where the penitentiary for the District of Columbia is located?

Ans.—There are no penitentiaries located in the United States territories. However, they have a United States jail in Washington, D. C., as also one in Sitka, Alaska. The United States penitentiaries are located in Leavenworth, Kan.; Atlanta, Ga.; and McNeil Island, Calif.

Ques.—One Sunday recently someone took my umbrella. What course should I pursue to get it back?

Ans.—Just put an ad in this paper stating the party is known, and if he wishes to save trouble he will return it at once. Then the next morning after the day the paper is published, rummage through the pile of umbrellas poked through the transom and see if you can find yours.

Ques.—Is the inscription "Vicarius Filii Dei" on the Pope's crown a sinister or secret inscription meaning that he is destined to rule the world?

Ans.—No. The inscription on the Pope's tiara is a Latin phrase, and means (in English) "Vicar of the Son of God."

Ques.—I would like to ask you what the abbreviation "ss" means on a legal document?

Ans.—Many people think this is the abbreviation for "State Seal", but it is not. It is the abbreviation of the Latin term "scilicet", meaning "to-wit, namely, etc."

Ques.—Will you please answer in your question department what kind of a monkey is a Capuchian monkey?

Ans.—The Capuchian monkey is any of the species of ring-tail monkeys that use their tails in climbing.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your paper who is the United States Ambassador to Sweden?

Ans.—The Ambassador to Sweden is Ruth Bryan Owen.

Ques.—Who was Ananias, which pertains to liars?

Ans.—Ananias was a follower of the Apostles, who, with his wife Sapphira, was struck dead for lying, according to the Bible. See Acts V. From this it has become a popular term applied to all liars.

Mexican "Plano" Bakes Citizens
Children born in Mexican airplanes are Mexican citizens under that country's laws, says the San Francisco Chronicle. The same applies to children born in Mexican territory or on Mexican ships, whatever the nationality of their parents, and to children born abroad of Mexican fathers or Mexican mothers and unknown fathers. Nationality also may be acquired by naturalization or in the case of women, by marrying Mexicans. It may be lost by accepting any office or title of nobility from a foreign government or by accepting without permission of congress any foreign decoration or title other than of nobility unless it be of literary, scientific or humanitarian rank; or by assistance to any foreign government or national against Mexico before any international tribunal.

OUR NEIGHBORS

HOWELL—Major General Edwin Baruch Winans who was retired from the United States army October 31, 1933, is enroute to his new position as the American member of the special league commission now administering the Leticia territory in the dispute between Colombia and Peru. Major General Winans is the son of the late Ex-Gov. Edwin Baruch Winans of Michigan and was born in Hamburg where he planned to make a prolonged stay before receiving word of his appointment.—Republican Press.

BRIGHTON—The Board of Education has closed the schools for two weeks on account of the scarlet fever epidemic.—Argus.

MILAN—E. E. Brown of Ann Arbor will take possession of the Garrick Theatre today, having purchased the equipment from Harry R. Lush of Plymouth who has operated the house for more than a year. Mr. Brown will give his personal attention to the theatre and will spend much of his time in Milan in directing the selection of programs, advertising the attractions and supervising the affairs of the theatre. It is his purpose to provide Milan with the best pictures produced by the best companies and to merit the patronage of the picture loving public.—Leader. Mr. Brown is a former owner of The Standard.

MASON—High winds Wednesday afternoon were costly to C. W. Couch & Sons. Two plate glass windows, 6x10 feet were blown in. The gale on Sunday loosened the composition roof on the Knights of Pythias block. On Wednesday afternoon large sections of the roof were torn away. The loss is covered by windstorm insurance. Several bill-boards along US-127 were blown down Wednesday.—Ingham County News.

MILAN—What might have been a serious accident occurred late Sunday afternoon when the blizzard was raging the hardest at about dusk. Lt. E. R. French, Army Air Pilot, assigned to Selfridge Field, made a forced landing on one of the fields on the Steven Early farm southwest of Milan and narrowly escaped death. The pilot, alone in an army pursuit plane, was returning to his station from Dayton, Ohio when he encountered the storm and was lost in the blinding blizzard. After circling the town several times, he made the landing but the ship struck the uneven ground and crashed. The ship was badly damaged, but the pilot escaped with minor injuries. He spent the night here and returned to the field the following day.—Another Selfridge Field flier was forced down near Mayhew by the storm, but neither plane nor pilot were injured.—Leader.

Cubit and Span
The cubit and span are measures of length. A cubit in English measurement equals 18 inches; in ancient Egyptian, 20.01; ancient Greek, 18.25; ancient Roman 17.4; ancient Hebrew, 17.58. A span is the distance from the end of the thumb to the end of the little finger. In English measure it is 9 inches.

Plan To Build County Jail With CWA Funds

The Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors has authorized the building of two Ann Arbor projects with CWA funds, in case the CWA program is extended by Congress.

Contract for designing the proposed county jail was awarded by the building committee the past week to the firm of Fry and Kasarin, while Cuthbert and Cuthbert, another architectural firm, received the contract for drawing plans for the third floor addition to the county infirmary.

Working plans and estimates will be in readiness so that the work may be started without delay.

At a meeting of the county CWA commission, held Monday afternoon, the plans and estimated costs presented for the new jail project did not meet with their approval, because of the high cost of materials, which amounted to 43 per cent of the cost of the project, whereas the CWA limit on material costs is 30 per cent.

The matter was referred back to the building committee of the board of supervisors for re-consideration.

ENTERTAINMENT

Invented the "Omnibus"

The word "omnibus" is Latin, signifying "for all" and is applied in several languages to vehicles for public passengers. The omnibus was invented by Blaise Pascal, who was also the inventor of the push-cart and was granted letters patent by Louis XIV of France in 1633. While it was intended for poor people who could not afford the price of a "chair" or coach, its use by soldiers, pages, lackeys or other liveried servants, also artisans and porters, was forbidden by royal decree.

Indians and Horses

Horses were not known to the Indians prior to the advent of the white man in America. The first horses seen by the mainland Indians were those of the Spanish invaders of Mexico. A few years later De Soto brought the horse into Florida and westward to the Mississippi, while Columbus, in 1492, introduced it to the Indians of the Great Plains.

Sea Sled Is Seaworthy

A sea sled is considered seaworthy. It is not flat bottomed but, instead, the bottom is concave. It has a modified tunnel-like effect built in the fore part of the bottom of the boat, which tapers down so that the bottom of the after part of the boat is practically flat.

Galoshes

The galosh or galosh was originally a wooden shoe or clog, but later came to mean an overshoe. In 1688 there is the statement: "Galoshes are false shoes, or covers for shoes." The word is adapted from the French galoches, from low Latin galopedum, a wooden shoe.

A letter from Dorothea Richards, a foreign missionary, was read by Mrs. Louis Eppier, after which Mrs. J. N. Strieter read an article on "A visit to the Katharine Goetch Memorial." "Missions," the subject of the program, was briefly presented by Rev. Grabowski.

An interesting account of her recent trip to California was related by Mrs. Fred Setta. A short business session was held, and lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Breitenwischer and Mrs. Jacob Bareis. Twenty-seven members and one visitor were present.

Russians in San Francisco

Russia made a haphazard attempt to settle in San Francisco in 1800, and finally a Russian settlement was established a few miles to the north of the city. In 1848, two years after this country declared war on Mexico, Capt. John B. Montgomery arrived at San Francisco with the troops of war. He found the city in a state of anarchy and he raised the colors in the site where he raised the colors is still known as Portsmouth Square.

Chelsea Boys Win In Boxing Tournament

Two local boys came through as winners in the Golden Gloves Tournament held recently in Jackson, in which 142 boys of the various classes participated. The contests continued for four consecutive nights and were sponsored by the Jackson Athletic Association. The local boys represented Hoffman's Athletic Club of Chelsea. Local winners were "Bus" Spalding, who fought in the featherweight class, 124 pounds, and Paul Bradbury, entered in the bantam weight class, 113 pounds.

"Bus" held the spotlight of the entire four nights. After each of the four victories, the capacious crowd of 3,000 fans cheered him until he had reached the dressing room. He was liked by the fans because of his gameness and his willingness to mix it. On different occasions he would stand "toe to toe," fighting like a veteran. This of course met with approval from the crowd. He was referred to as a typical amateur by a certain sports writer.

Paul Bradbury also made a hit in the show. In the semi-finals he eliminated a Lansing boy who last year copped all honors in Michigan and was chosen to represent Michigan in the National Tournament in Boston. Bradbury also won the championship in his division.

Several other local boys participated in the tournament but luck of experience and misfortune eliminated them. Ralph Holbrook won his first two fights and lost in the semi-finals. John Keith also lost a close decision in his first start. "Steve" Slane was outpointed by a very close margin. "Eddie" Daniels lost his first start also. Herman Reed made a desperate rally in his final match but was nevertheless declared. The Jackson fans referred to Reed as a fighter with a K. O. wallop.

The two champions, Spalding and Bradbury, will fight in Grand Rapids for State Championship on February 18 and 19. The winners there will be sent to Chicago for National Championship.

On February 16, the two boys accompanied by their trainer, "Morry" Hoffman, will travel to the tournament via Michigan Central and will be kept in the leading hotel there.

Both boys received golden gloves as a reward for their victories in Jackson.

SOUTH WATERLOO

Cause of Waterpouts

Waterpouts at sea occur when opposite winds of different temperatures meet in the upper atmosphere, where by a greater amount of vapor is condensed into a thick black cloud, to which a violent motion is given. A partial vacuum is created in the center, which draws up the water in its vortex. When the waterpout has played itself out, it commences to disappear at the base, gradually traveling upward.

Chelsea Cagers Again Face Defeat

Chelsea High School was defeated again last Friday night! So far the boys have won but one game and this was at the beginning of the season. Something has to be done!

The game last Friday night was played at Saline and Chelsea was beaten, 12 to 13. Hunt, a Saline player, won the game in the last few minutes of the game by making a free throw. The game was not as fast as the preceding games and it appeared to be purely a defensive game. Our men had a very fine chance of winning that game but there was not the proper atmosphere of cooperation present. Most of the players of the team seem to be so sure of their positions that they do not think it is necessary to work to hold them down. It is too bad that there are not enough players out so as to make a competitive spirit among the boys; that is, if there were more boys trying for each of the positions it would become necessary for them to work and to work hard in order to maintain their positions.

Chelsea had nineteen free throws, and out of these, she made but four. This is terrible!

The guards in this outfit seem to think that to guard a man it becomes only necessary to stand in front of him. We all hope there will be a great change in the team, because it certainly could stand one.

Hi-Lights of the News

Thru the Eyes of a Senior

If there is anyone who thinks that the Navy is being neglected under the present administration as it was under the preceding one they will presently learn differently. The Navy had actually dwindled to become inferior to Japan when it should have been one and two-thirds times as large. In fact, Japanese statesmen had pointed to that fact with dismay occasioned by fear of a naval race between Japan and the United States when America woke up.

The official publication of the American Legion recently contended that if there had been a navy in 1914, there would have been no legationaries in France for the Allies could have had an effective blockade which would have introduced "King Hunger" as their chief weapon. The article presents the solemn warning that women voters not anxious to become Gold Star Mothers should support a strong Navy.

It is evident that the White House accepts this concept for the following program has been adopted or will be shortly:

- (1) 54 ships actually under construction, a total tonnage of 212,000 tons and six times the amount under construction in Japan.
- (2) Increase in the naval personnel by 2,800 seamen and 1,000 marines.

Under the Vinson Bill:

- (1) 102 new ships to replace war-craft past effective age limit.
- (2) 1,184 new airplanes.

America has for many years demanded a strong Navy and an adequate one. It is a wonderful argument for peace. Nobody wants to break into a house if there is a policeman standing by the door. Our fleet will be up to full treaty strength by 1936 when treaty obligations cease.

Worse Than That

Longfellow could take a worthless piece of paper, write a poem on it, and make it worth sixty-five thousand dollars.—That's the genius.

There are some men who can write a few words on a piece of paper and make it worth a million dollars.—That's capital.

The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and make it worth twenty dollars.—That's money.

There is a man in Paris who can take a seventy-five cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth a thousand dollars.—That's art.

A man can take a fifty-cent article and sell it for a dollar.—That's business.

I could write a check for ten thousand dollars, but it wouldn't be worth a cent.—That's tough.

I'm so absent-minded that I often think I forgot my watch, then I take it out and look at it to see if I have time to go back to get it.—That's the devil.

First Grade

Several children who have been absent are now back again, but still there are a few absent. The children hope they can come back soon, however.

Willard Carlson was passed on into the second grade by Mrs. Dancer, for he has been doing good work in school and can now go into second grade.

Second Grade

Here is a list of what we think are the loveliest things in the world:

- A flower garden.
- Ironed clothes.
- Warm sunshine.
- A healthy body.
- Good wood.
- An old woman who was nice to me (Dick Poor).

- Blue dresses.
- Baby dolls.
- Be a teacher.
- Popcorn and butter.
- Vegetables, fresh from the garden.
- A home with mother and father.

- Words.
- Writing with colored chalk.
- Blue lakes.
- Woolen sweater and a sheepskin coat.

- A lady wearing perfume.
- A barking dog.
- Ripe pears and apples.
- School books.

- Love father and mother.
- Spelling words.
- Going to school.
- Gray elephants.

- Red satin chairs and blue shirts.
- Apple blossoms and green, baby leaves.
- Gold fish.
- Lions and tigers.

- Birthday.
- Toys animals.
- Pretty white house.
- Shining, new automobile.

- One thousand dollars.
- Street cars.
- Story books.
- Driving a flock of sheep.

- Coloring with crayons.
- School friends.
- Trees, filled with singing birds.
- Lilies and lily.
- Vegetable soup.

- Miss Bollere had each child dictate in a whisper a list of five things he thought were the loveliest in the world.

Third Grade

The third grade are studying about Africa. These are some of the things we have learned:

1. Africa is near the Equator.
2. It is a very hot country.
3. Some of Africa is a desert.
4. An oasis is a watering place in the desert.
5. Our dates come from Africa.
6. They grow in a cluster on the date palms.
7. There are a great many wild animals.
8. Some of these are hippopotamuses, rhinoceros, giraffe, elephants.

We have our room decorated with African homes and animals that we have drawn. We all wish that we might go to Africa.

Fourth Grade

Test week, likewise the coldest week of the year, is all over at once and happy days are here again!

It kept Mr. Blecker pretty busy last Monday finding comfortable places for us to work as he transported us from one room to another, books, pencils, overcoats and all for no one wanted to go home.

We have been studying Admiral Byrd's South Pole Expedition and we believe we know now how to sympathize with him. Charlie Panarites has furnished us with some fine material on the expedition.

In Arithmetic we are now ready for our Long Division story, having completed our combination review.

We all enjoyed the game "Combination Ahead" through which we gave the combinations a thorough review.

In Art, under Miss Wilson's direction we have finished transparent sheets for the window.

In Geography we began the study of Switzerland. When we get in our new room, if in time, we will study folk games in connection with it.

Fifth Grade

This class is planning a trip to Florida, and have decided just where they are going to stop along the way. My! We envy you, but aren't you afraid you will miss the nice snow?

Ralph Dingle, Bernath McBride and Kenneth John are writing up a play on "Our Trip to Florida."

In English they are discussing patriotism by giving speeches concerning it.

Sixth Grade

We are having an interesting time learning about the stars and planets. Many clippings have been brought in from magazines and newspapers. We are learning some of the most prominent of the constellations. Most of us know The Big Dipper, The Little Dipper, Cassiopeia, Orion, Chiplus.

We can also locate The Pole Star, The Two Dog Stars, Sirius and Procyon. Sirius is the most brilliant star in our sky. One clipping tells us that there will be no full moon in February. This is unusual, and happens only once in awhile.

We wrote poems last week and hope to write others during the year. We have finished reading "In the Endless Sands." It was a good story.

Looking Back

Gazing back over this semester of school we find that we have much to be thankful for. The first shining light is our superintendent, Mr. Blecker, whom we have all come to like and admire.

During the past semester our sports have won much recognition. We have had a good football team and now we find that we have a good basketball team. We have played with other teams and are proud to say that our team has won many of these games.

By the way—do you know that we have talented young people in our school? This is proved by the operation, "The Toy-maker," which was given by the grade school. Remember the princess? And the toy-maker? And the funny little clown who was so amusing? Look for them later on. They will take part in many other plays and operettas, if their success in that one proves to be prophetic at all.

The Girls' Glee club and our rising young pep rousers have done much in forwarding our assemblies to an interesting aspect.

During the semester the Seniors have given dances which have greatly enlivened Chelsea High School social atmosphere. We hope they keep it up.

As for the Journeymen club, it struggles onward trying to produce a Hi-Light of highlights that will be credit to our school, a reflection of our true selves and a source of pleasure and interest to its readers.

Altogether we have had a highly profitable semester and hope that those to follow will be equally eventful.

Dear Hi-Lighters - -

Have you ever wondered how to try to (for that's usually as far as you get) get back into Speech or Algebra class? Or had a burning desire to increase your string of boy friends to eight instead of four; or who the captain of the Reserve basketball team is rushing now?

Well, Hi-Lighters—your troubles are over! All you need to do is seek out the Personal Service Bureau and pronto, we shall by means of our paper, refer you to someone who can give you an answer right from personal experience. A blonde sophomore (not so vague if you think a minute) can readily give you the low down on the subject of increasing the number of boys on the dating list and as for who the captain of the Reserves is rushing, why that ought to be simple. Haven't you noticed him in the corner drug-store lately?

Yes, dear Hi-Lighters again, I repeat—just seek out the Personal Service Bureau and immediately you will be presented with a reference or direct answer from us. We know all, hear all, see all—and if you have your doubts—wait until next week!

For no good reason at all—
Personal Service Bureau.

THE STUDENT FRATERNITY MURDER

By Milton Propper

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Stricken during initiation into the Big Beta Sigma fraternity, Stuart Jordan, university student, dies almost immediately. A physician declares he was poisoned. Tommy Rankin, Philadelphia detective, takes charge of the investigation.

CHAPTER II.—An injection of cocaine is shown to have been the cause of Jordan's death. Rankin finds all the student's shoes are marked with thumbtacks. His only known relative is his uncle, Howard Merrick, St. Louis banker, also his guardian, and his heir.

CHAPTER III

The Dormitories

When Tommy Rankin reached headquarters at ten o'clock the following morning, he found two important reports awaiting his consideration. The first report contained Stuart Jordan's scholastic record, sent by the supervisor from the office of admissions. As Mr. Rankin had asserted, it gave little personal data about the dead boy; still, the detective gleaned from it a great deal of his past history. The facts about his parents were the same as Rankin had already obtained from the questionnaire the boy filled at the fraternity house, he hoped to elicit from Larry Palmer, now recovered from his mysterious indisposition, the explanation of how and by whom he was drugged. He could interview Ben Crawford at the same time. He had still been absent at three thirty in the morning when Rankin left and the problem of his whereabouts remained unsettled.

It was past noon when he entered the dormitory grounds. He reached Jordan's room, 315, on the third floor by an enclosed passage, outside the building, resembling a fire escape and began his hunt for the desk as the most logical place for Jordan's private possessions. In the drawers, an inextinguishable confusion reigned. It was more than the disorder of mere carelessness; as though hastily searched by someone pressed for time, the boy's papers had been tossed about in a tangle. The chamber itself, in direct contrast, was neat and clean as though recently put in order.

The single hint of anything strange in Jordan's life came from several books of check stubs in the desk. Also representing his account with the Philadelphia Western bank, the counterfoils were carefully mutilated. For a well-to-do student, the amounts were not unusually large. In addition to these, however, he had drawn a check once every month to bearer for four hundred dollars without identifying the recipient or their purpose. All he had written on the stubs were the figures and the word "bearer."

This six times regularly since the second of October, the boy had paid out this sum. And without the corresponding canceled checks, returned from the bank which had cashed them for the unknown bearer, there was no means of learning who he was.

It was in the closet in the bedroom that the detective made his second important discovery. Jordan kept most of his shoes there; and on casually inspecting them, he was startled to find two thumbtacks in the soles of each pair. All were marked in exactly the same fashion, one tack embedded in the heel and the other in the arch. And like those in the shoes the dead boy wore, they were bright and new, unscratched by rough contacts, as though put in within the past few days.

At first purpose was to help distinguish Jordan at the initiation, the criminal was evidently taking no chances that he might don an unrecognizable pair of shoes.

Aside from this Rankin's thorough search of the bedroom produced no results. As his hunt progressed, the detective grew increasingly disturbed at the absence of private papers and letters. It seemed absurd that Jordan never received any mail; though alone in the world except for his guardian, he should surely have exchanged correspondence with Howard Merrick in five months. Yet there was no evidence that they had written each other. And still more extraordinary was the fact that the student had apparently no friends of the opposite sex. Pictures of girls, the familiar notebook of addresses and phone numbers, communications from them—all these were missing. Yet Rankin could not credit the complete and unnatural solitude that the circumstances indicated. The alternative was that he had destroyed whatever letters he got, because he was either hiding himself or some secret to which they referred. It was unlikely that anyone else had removed them. And his mysterious, untraced payments partly supported this theory. It was too early to jump to conclusions from facts susceptible of an innocent explanation; but their with the detective's wish, and left. As they filed out of the office, the policeman Wilson entered with a telegram. It was addressed to Mr. Warwick, who had forwarded it from the university. It had been dispatched from 855 Hunter street, Vandalia, at seven o'clock that morning. Rankin read the reply to the supervisor's message notifying the student's residence of his death at the fraternity house.

"DREADFUL NEWS—STOP—AM COMING EAST IMMEDIATELY BY EARLY TRAIN STOP EXPECT ME TOMORROW MORNING AT TEN O'CLOCK."

The signature was that of Howard Merrick, Jordan's relative and guardian.

Rankin had already decided upon the course of his investigations that day. Until Mr. Merrick arrived, with the illumination he might throw on the boy's life, he would learn as much as he could of Jordan's career at school. Distinctly his first step was to search the student's room in the dormitories and his belongings for some clue to the tragedy. To save time, he would question Rankin, the former Aberdeen student, while he was at the dorm; and later call on the boy from Vandalia, if only to make certain of neglecting no likely source of information. At the fraternity house, he hoped to elicit from Larry Palmer, now recovered from his mysterious indisposition, the explanation of how and by whom he was drugged. He could interview Ben Crawford at the same time. He had still been absent at three thirty in the morning when Rankin left and the problem of his whereabouts remained unsettled.

Aside from this Rankin's thorough search of the bedroom produced no results. As his hunt progressed, the detective grew increasingly disturbed at the absence of private papers and letters. It seemed absurd that Jordan never received any mail; though alone in the world except for his guardian, he should surely have exchanged correspondence with Howard Merrick in five months. Yet there was no evidence that they had written each other. And still more extraordinary was the fact that the student had apparently no friends of the opposite sex. Pictures of girls, the familiar notebook of addresses and phone numbers, communications from them—all these were missing. Yet Rankin could not credit the complete and unnatural solitude that the circumstances indicated. The alternative was that he had destroyed whatever letters he got, because he was either hiding himself or some secret to which they referred. It was unlikely that anyone else had removed them. And his mysterious, untraced payments partly supported this theory. It was too early to jump to conclusions from facts susceptible of an innocent explanation; but their regularity and covertness both suggested that Jordan was paying blackmail to someone who knew a secret he wished concealed.

If this were so, then this secret might plausibly have brought to bear on his life the forces which finally encompassed his tragic death.

Rankin left Room 315 in Croft hall after one o'clock. Polham hall was the name of the dormitory given him as Walter Randall's address; and there, he next turned his footsteps. The room, he discovered, was on the third floor, facing the grounds on the same side as Jordan's quarters.

The door was open and after knocking, Rankin entered to find the chamberwoman, at the moment busy dusting with a cloth, the only occupant. Short, middle-aged and motherly, she had gray straggling hair, a lined face and glasses over tired eyes.

The chamberwoman ceased her work to peer nervously at the visitor.

"It's Mr. Randall you're wantin', he won't be out long," she volunteered, before he spoke. "He left hardly twenty minutes ago when I was finishin' up next door and said he'd be back soon."

"He didn't, by any chance, go to a class or for lunch?" Rankin asked. "I'd rather drop in again later than wait for him now any length of time."

"Oh, no, he just went out as I could straighten out his room without his being in the way," the chamberwoman replied and elaborated volubly. "He allus stays in bed late, till most every body else is gone already; I guess he's only got a afternoon classes, since he ain't been very well. Anyhow, he's still in when I get round to tidy up."

"That's why I make it a point to do this room last. Not but what," she added hastily, "Mr. Randall ain't fully dressed when I do get here. The way some of these boys run 'round with 'most nuthin' on is a disgrace, I say; they ain't got no modesty. But he's a gentleman. It's just kind of convenient to keep this place to end with."

"Then I think I'll stay till he comes in, over in that corner where it won't inconvenience you," the detective took the chair he indicated.

The woman began to collect her cleaning appliances. "Oh, I'm done for today," she announced. "I never stay after one o'clock or half past. But I can't very well be lettin' you in here when I go off." She surveyed him shrewdly for a moment. "You ain't one of the students here, are you? I don't remember ever seein' you before."

"No, I'm not," Rankin smiled amiably at her justifiable caution. "I just wanted to speak to Mr. Randall about a rather important business matter."

"Well, I guess it would be all right if you did wait here," the woman pondered uncertainly. "We got to be awful careful, what with the boys havin' money and valubles layin' about loose and it bein' so easy to get in and steal it."

She was plainly talkative and Rankin improved the opportunity to learn something of dormitory life.

"It's quite all right," he agreed sympathetically. "I understand you can't run any gunk. . . . It must be quite a job for you to keep so many rooms in order—especially when they're occupied by college men."

"It ain't easy, sir, most of 'em is that uncooperative and careless. Mr. Randall is different. I've noticed he ain't much of a one for foolin' with them and he's too sensible to invite them into his room to make free with it. He's as neat as a pin, too, cleanin' up a good deal himself; there's so little for me to do, it's a pleasure."

"He must be a quiet sort of chap," the detective remarked, "not to mix much with the others."

"Mr. Randall is the kind that don't come to college and spend good money just for fun," the woman declared with conviction. "In a way, he has to keep to himself on account of his health; that made him miss 'most the whole autumn term. Notably, he's strange to the others. He ain't a bit stuck up, though, but is as polite and nice as can be. Nearly all the boys is good-hearted and means well, I've found out; the trouble is they ain't got enough common sense. You wouldn't believe," she went on, "some of the things they're up to, if I told you, I'll low fightin' like little children and breakin' furniture when they wrestle. Then in class fights, sometimes knockin' in the doors and climbin' out the windows."

"Rankin felt this an exaggeration. "Out the windows? How is that possible?"

"Oh, they do it all right and get away if they're careful," the chamberwoman assured him. "They go out along the wall and crawl into the next room with open windows. That's how they escape when a crowd from the other side chases them into a room. Anyhow, they're for ever poppin' in and out of each other's place that way."

She led him to the unfastened windows of Randall's chamber and pointed out the method to which she referred. From below, the decorative white molding against the wall just beneath had appeared comparatively flat; he now saw that it projected somewhat, the upper surface forming a level ledge, no more than ten inches wide. This shelf was continuous, extending unbroken the length of the facade of all three buildings.

"I suppose it could be managed," the detective said; he withdrew into the room. "But it looks dangerous."

The chamberwoman followed, nodding darkly. "That's what I allus say, sir. One of these days, somebody's goin' to fall and get badly hurt; then they'll be the very devil raised about it when it's too late."

"Have you seen the afternoon papers, today?" Rankin introduced the subject of the crime casually. "I was reading that only last night a young man was killed at a fraternity house on the campus during an initiation."

"Here at the university? No!" The exclamation mingled surprise with horror. "I don't have no time till after. I'm done work to be lookin' at news, so I ain't heard nuthin' . . ."

She broke off, suddenly interrupted by the light echo of approaching footsteps in the corridor.

"There," she stated eagerly, "I told you you wouldn't have to wait long. That's Mr. Randall comin' back now; I recognize the way he walks."

"Here's a gentleman wantin' to see you, Mr. Randall," the chamberwoman announced. "I was just sayin' to him that you'd be in again any minute."

"Thank you, Mrs. Bixby." The newcomer delayed before speaking further until she had reluctantly gathered her belongings and gone. "Yes," he asked the detective. "What is it you wish?"

There was some immediately striking quality about Walter Randall, difficult to define. Chiefly it was his somewhat pallid features, clean-shaven and exceptionally clear-skinned, with a freshness rare in a young man. They were almost cameo-like in outline; his dark and expressive eyes had long lashes, his nose, while not small, was thin and sensitive, and his mouth and chin mobile and delicate. If the description "pretty" could be applied to a boy, Rankin considered it would fit him.

He was not wearing civilian clothes, but a cadet's uniform, instead. This consisted of a dark blue coat, with brass buttons along the front, long trousers of the same color, though no puttees, a single stripe running down either side and a round flat-topped hat with a metal shield above its stiff visor. About his waist was a brown leather belt.

M. on August 30th, 1921.

AND WHEREAS, said mortgage was assigned to Mrs. Emily Jedele by the Dexter Savings Bank by assignment of mortgage dated December 16, 1921 and recorded on March 23rd, 1921 at 11:40 o'clock A. M. in Liber 24 of Assign

MORTGAGE SALE

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of money secured by a mortgage dated the 15th day of October, A. D. 1925, executed by Nathan P. Wallace and Nellie T. Wallace, his wife, who also signs in her own right, of the city of Ypsilanti, County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, to The Michigan Trust Co. of Grand Rapids, Michigan, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Michigan, trustee, which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Washtenaw County, Michigan, in Liber 171 of Mortgages on page 68, at 11:55 A. M. on October 21, 1925.

AND WHEREAS, by the terms of said mortgage it is provided that in case default be made in the payment of any installment of principal or of interest, taxes, assessments or insurance or any part thereof, on any day whereon the same is made payable, and should the same remain due and unpaid for the space of thirty days, then and thereupon the principal of said mortgage, together with all interest, taxes, assessments and insurance paid shall at the option of the mortgagee, become and be due and payable, forthwith, and default having been made in the payment of installments of principal and interest provided in said mortgage, which default has continued for more than thirty days, the said mortgagee doth hereby exercise its option to declare the principal sum of said mortgage and all accretages of principal and interest due and payable.

AND WHEREAS, the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage is the sum of $9,000.00 principal and the sum of $875.00 interest, and the further sum of $35.00; the statutory attorney fee, and the whole amount claimed to be unpaid on said mortgage is the sum of $9,875.00, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale, and in pursuance of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described, at public auction, to the highest bidder at the South Front Door of the Courthouse in the City of Ann Arbor, in the County of Washtenaw, on the 13th day of April, A. D. 1934, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day; which said premises are described in said mortgage as all those certain pieces and parcels of land situate and being in the city of Ypsilanti, County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, to-wit:

"Commencing at a point in the north line of Ainsworth Park, a subdivision in the city of Ypsilanti, one (1) foot east of the northwest corner of lot numbered nine (9) of said subdivision, thence northeasterly in the northerly line of Ainsworth Park, one hundred eleven and seventy-two one hundredths (111.72) feet; thence northerly along a line making a northeasterly angle of seventy-nine (79) degrees, twenty-seven (27) minutes and thirty (30) seconds with the north line of said plat two hundred thirty-two and forty-five one hundredths (232.45) feet to the southerly line of Michigan Avenue; thence southwesterly in the southerly line of Michigan Avenue one hundred forty-five and seventy-one hundredths (145.71) feet; thence deflecting thirty-eight (38) degrees eighteen (18) minutes to the left one hundred eighty-six (186) feet to the place of beginning, according to the recorded plat thereof;

Also beginning on the south line of Chicago Road at the northeast corner of a lot of land owned and occupied by Jennie Hovee; running thence easterly along the south line of Chicago Avenue to the lands of O. ## England, Ireland Claim

Greenest Sod in World

An English poet and essayist declares that there is no grass so beautiful as English grass, and Americans who have feasted their eyes on the English award will be inclined to agree with him, declares a writer in the Boston Transcript. But an Irishman, indignant at this boast, retorts that the real glory of grass is only to be seen in Ireland. "It is the greenest and most luscious grass," he says, "in all the world. One of the first things an Irishman remarks in England is the lesser brilliancy of the verdure. The Emerald Isle has been well and truly named."

The truth probably is that any claims to excellence in the matter of grass by England, Ireland or Scotland would be as difficult to decide as the faded claims of Minerva, Juno and Venus to possessing more matchless beauty than the other two. The misty, moist weather of the British Isles, neither parching in summer nor killing in winter, is more congenial to grass than any other region on earth. And if, added to that, there is taken into account the centuries of care of the turf in those islands, the visitor from other countries must despair of matching it at home. But, as between Ireland and England, he would be a bold man who should venture to award the prize for grass to one or the other. Perhaps the palm should go to Ireland because the bright verdure of her hills and valleys gave her her sobriquet ages ago, and may have suggested the choice of her national plant; the shamrock, and the color of her national flag. The diplomatic way to express an opinion in the matter is to declare that all British grass is good but that none is undoubtedly better than others.

Killer Whale Small, but

Match for Great Sperme

The Greenland whale, though huge, is timid and harmless, but the killer whale, much smaller, is one of the fiercest denizens of the ocean, and in the only species of cetacean which has a complete set of teeth in both jaws. Killers hunt in packs and are twice more than a match for the great cachalot or sperm whale, notes a writer in The Bilt Magazine.

According to an Antarctic explorer, in attacking the killers leap high into the air by the whale's side. Two or three of them attack its jaws until they rend them asunder. They then devour the tongue, which will frequently weigh as much as four tons, leaving their huge prey

"High Noon" and "Noon"

The term "noon" is often loosely used to designate the noon hour, while "high noon" means twelve o'clock exactly. The noon hour, or middle hour, of the day has been considered important from early times and is spoken of as the best from the Horns of the Romans, which corresponds closely with our noon hour. As early as the third century it was an hour of prayer.

Switzerland's Individuality

Switzerland, a confederation of 22 autonomous and sovereign cantons, as a nation seems to defy every canon known to political science; ethnology, geography, history, language, history and policy, all seem to negate the meaning of a nation; yet there is no European power whose future is more assured.

Fort Massachusetts

Old Fort Massachusetts was built on Ship Island near Gulfport, Miss., 12 miles out in front of Gulfport, during President Pierce's administration, while Jefferson Davis was secretary of war. This fort has long since been dismantled except one or two large stone walls which are still in place and the building is still intact.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Albert A. Haub and signed Albert A. Haub and Lydia H. Haub, husband and wife, to William C. Wiegand and Edith G. Wiegand, husband and wife, dated the 10th day of July, 1928 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Washtenaw, State of Michigan, on the 20th day of July, 1928 in Liber 185 of Mortgages, on page 224, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice, for principal and interest, the sum of $5164.86 and an attorney fee of $35.00 as provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the monies secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof,

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, on Friday, the 4th day of May, 1934 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Eastern Standard time, of said day, the undersigned will, at the southerly door, being the Huron Street entrance, to the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held, sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount so as aforesaid due on said mortgage, with six per cent interest, taxes, insurance and all legal costs, together with said attorney fee, to-wit:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situated in the City of Ann Arbor, in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: Beginning at a point on the south line of Brooklyn Avenue one hundred and forty-one feet east of the intersection of said south line of Brooklyn Avenue with the east line of Westminister Place; thence running south parallel with the east line of Westminister Place one hundred and twelve and 40-100 feet and to the north line of Krapp Addition to the City of Ann Arbor; thence east along the north line of Krapp Addition fifty and 5-10 feet; thence north to the south line of Brooklyn Avenue; thence west along the south line of Brooklyn Avenue fifty and 5-10 feet to the place of beginning, being a part of the east half of the south west quarter of section thirty-three, town two south, range six east, and commonly known as the east part of parcel "A" on a map not yet recorded but entitled "Granger's Addition west of Packard Street and south of the east and west quarter line of section thirty-three, town two south, range six east, Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan, surveyed in August and September, 1911.

Is Castor Oil A

Bladder Laxative?

No, but juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., is. Use it to drive out impurities and excess acids that cause the irritation which results in getting up nights, bladder weakness, leg pains, backache and burning. Juniper oil, buchu leaves, etc., is pleasant to take in the form of BUKETS, the bladder laxative. Use a regular 25c box. If not satisfied your druggist will return your money. You are bound to feel better after this flushing and you get your regular sleep. BUKETS guaranteed by John V. Burg, Druggist, Adv.
