Bank Merger Will Be Decided Saturday

On Saturday of this week the more than two hundred stockholders of the two Chelsea banks, Farmers and Merchants Bank, and Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank, will decide if the two institutions are to be merged or continue as separate units.

Directors of both banks voted on Tuesday evening of last week to submit the proposition of consolidation to a vote of the stockholders, the voting to take place on Saturday, February 24, from 2 to 4 o'clock p. m.

If the merger is ratified by the stockholders, directors of the new institution will be elected immediately after the result of the vote is known.

The plan for consolidation as approved by the directors of both banks is in line with recommendations of the Federal and State banking departments.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Barth, W. Middle St. were given a pleasant surprise party Saturday evening in honor of their 53rd wedding anniversary. At 8:30 the friends came with well filled baskets and a beautiful gift as a token from them to Mr. and Mrs. Barth.

A lovely program was rendered, which brought much happiness, and sweet memories. Archibald Baker was toastmaster. Jack Stark rendered a most beautiful prayer, and each guest delivered beautiful messages to Mr. and Mrs. Barth. The center piece of the table was a pretty anniversary cake trimmed with frosting, roses, buds and forget-me-nots, made by Mr. Auld of Detroit.

Those who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. A. I. McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Baker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Klingham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLuckie, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. All departed at wee hours, declaring it was the loveliest and oldest wedding anniversary they had ever attended, as well as being the most ideal elderly couple they had seen honored, and wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Republicans To Hold Get-Together Here

Republicans of Washtenaw county will hold a big get-together meeting at the Chelsea public school auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 6. Final details for the meeting were arranged at a meeting held here during the past week when Lawrence Loefer of Ann Arbor, chairman of the county executive committee, met with the local Republican committee.

An effort is being made by the committee to secure Alex. Groesbeck, former governor, for the principal speaker of the evening. Other prominent Republicans will be present and give short talks, including many from Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, and Lansing.

Plans are being made to accommodate a crowd of more than three hundred men and women at the meeting. The dinner will be served at 6:30 by the Senior class of the Chelsea high school.

Local ticket sales will be in charge of O. D. Luick and Paul C. Maroney, and tickets have been sent to party leaders throughout the county for sale in their respective communities.

District Tournament To Be Held In Chelsea

The District Basketball Tournament number 9 of the Michigan State High School Athletic Association will be held in Chelsea high school gym on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 1, 2 and 3. The following teams are entered in the tournament: Michigan Center, Vanderhook Lake, East Jackson, Pinckney and Chelsea. Dexter was supposed to enter the tournament here but hasn't a basketball team this year.

In a five game tournament, No. 1 team out of the hat draws a bye, No. 2 and No. 3 play each other in the only first round game, while No. 4 and No. 5 draw byes. The first bye team plays the winner of the first round game while the other two byes play each other in the second round. The rules also provide that the entertaining school shall not draw a bye in the first round. So the Chelsea high school will play one of the other four teams in the only first night game on Thursday, March 1. The Wallace Bears have agreed to furnish a good game for the curtain raiser Thursday night. They will probably play the State Street Rangers in the first game, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Admission will be the same as has been charged during the regular season, 15c for students and 25c for adults. E. N. Risky, assistant director of the Intramural Bldg., will be the official referee. Official timers and scorers will be appointed from the local school. Mr. Cross, Mr. Thompson and Mr. Lyons will have charge of the door.

It is hoped the citizens of Chelsea will patronize this tournament. This is the first time that it has ever been held in the local gym and chances for getting the tournament here in succeeding years depends on how the local people come to the show. Remember the dates—Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 1, 2 and 3. The games will start at 7:30 on Thursday night and 8:00 o'clock on Friday and Saturday nights.

Local Project Halted By CWA Curtailment

Due to curtailment in CWA expenditures by the Federal government, local authorities who have been endeavoring to secure funds for a new combination township and village hall, have been notified by the county CWA board that the local project could not be considered at this time. Funds allotted Michigan for materials used in CWA work are practically exhausted, and the number of men now working on projects will be decreased each week until May 1st, when the CWA work will cease.

In event appropriations are made by the Federal government for resumption of the CWA next winter, Chelsea and Sylvan township should be in line for the hall project as many of the preliminary plans for the hall have been made and approved by the county board.

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Frank D. Fitzgerald
Secretary of State

Lansing, Mich.—Drunk driving increased 46 per cent during January, 1934 as compared with January, 1933, according to records of the Department of State. The information reaches the department through the financial responsibility and the motor vehicle operators' license laws.

In January of this year there were 168 persons who either pleaded guilty or were found guilty of drunk driving or 52 more than in January of the year previous.

Since the financial responsibility law became effective last October 17, a total of 450 motorists have been found guilty of some major traffic violation and have come under the provisions of the Act. Of this number but 49 have been able to show proper proof of financial responsibility as demanded by the law.

Sale of windshield stickers permits under the two-payment plan allowing legal use of 1933 plates until August 1, 1934 will start Feb. 23, according to announcement by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald.

Under this plan motorists, upon payment of one-half of the weight tax will receive a permit which must be fastened on the lower right hand corner of the windshield. With this sticker in place, the 1933 license plates can be used. In event that the legislature reduces the annual weight tax in the next few months, proper adjustment will be made when the second half of the weight tax is paid, if authorized by the legislature, Mr. Fitzgerald announced.

Several new political parties will be found upon the November, 1934 ballot, according to information reaching the Department of State. The Progressive-Fusionist and the People's Progressive parties and the Commonwealth party, which is to replace the Prohibition party, already have qualified for places on the ballot. A new Farmer-Labor party to replace the one already qualified is being formed and members of the United party are planning to qualify within a few weeks.

Silver Service

The Navy department is that when silver service is used on ships of the navy, it is kept on board as long as the ship is in service. When the ship is decommissioned, the silver is sent to the nearest supply of silver at the place of decommission and kept in storage until another ship is built and given the same name, at which time the silver is presented to the new vessel. If a ship is not given the same name, the silver is usually given to a ship whose name is connected with it in some way. For instance, the silver service from the U. S. S. Indiana is used on the U. S. S. Indianapolis.

Kentucky's School Buildings

Approximately 90 per cent of all Kentucky school buildings are of frame construction.

True Exchange

THE false belief that matter is substance underlies the error of hoarding. Those who accept this false concept are afraid to spend the money they have for fear they will not get more. During times when there has not been much money in active circulation, people have in some instances resorted to bartering. The farmer who had potatoes, if he needed sugar, took his potatoes to a grocer, who gave him sugar in exchange, and this one individual supplied the need and in turn found his own need supplied.

Christian Science reveals that God, divine Love, is the only substance. Our part, then, in true exchange is the expression of love in helpful service. When we render helpful service to another we are certain to receive good in exchange. If we meet someone who seems discouraged, we may try to cheer him, and in a measure succeed. Perhaps all he may say is, "Thanks for cheering me up." It may have seemed that we did not get anything in exchange for the service rendered, but the feeling that one has helped another is a wonderful reward. Each act of loving service expresses the law of divine Love, which is operating always to bless. We should not do something for others simply with the expectation of getting a material reward, for with the love that the law of Love will give us in our hearts, for that would show that we were not animated by divine Love, and therefore were not conforming to the law of Love. We should understand that when we are motivated and animated by divine Love in doing helpful things, we are obeying the law of Love which ever operates to bless.

The Master said: "Give, and it shall be given unto you: good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over; and what men shall give, shall be given unto them again." Keeping this admonition before us we shall be careful how we think and act. Thinking loving thoughts and doing loving acts bring them back to us "pressed down, . . . and running over."

The highest reward one can receive is described by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, when she states that "the spiritual recompense of the persecuted is secured in the elevation of the soul above mortal discord and in the gift of divine Love" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 93). This reward comes in exchange for the constant desire and effort to be of true service to others. If we earnestly entertain this desire, we have taken the first step toward gaining the reward. True desire is prayer, and true prayer never returns void. The earnest and steadfast desire that we may be of service to others steadily increases our opportunities in this respect. Many have been helped in their effort by starting the day with the prayer contained in one of Mrs. Eddy's poems (Poems, p. 13):

"My prayer, some daily good to do
To Thine, for Thee;
An offering pure of Love, wherein
I leadeth me."

Christian Science points out that the real governor is divine Love, for divine Love is the only Mind; the divine Principle of true being. If we accept this fact and try to realize the omnipotence and omnibenevolence of divine Love, the one real Mind or Principle, we shall think lovingly of all and shall be inspired to do and say helpful things. This divine tendency of the human mind in the reflection of divine Love, according to the real mind, as our true selfhood and holding to this truth, we shall express tenderness, gentleness, forgiveness, tolerance, unselfishness, and great will be the reward which obedience to the law of Love will confer upon us.

When we accept the fact that divine Love is substance, for we are that unless we manifest this substance—reflect divine Love—we do not have real substance. This is the source upon which we can and must constantly draw for the benefit of all with whom we come into contact. The reflecting of divine Love is the true medium of exchange, and the more we express of the divine nature the more we have of real substance. In the measure that we realize and reflect divine Love we have the sense of joy and completeness which this realization brings. —The Christian Science Monitor.

Consider, too, these other unmatched advantages: Lowest Operating Cost, Freedom from Repairs, Gas Company Service

You can pick a dress or suit on its looks. A perfume on its smell. But when it comes to choosing a refrigerator, you need the help of cold sober facts. Facts about fundamentals.

Silence is one of these fundamental things. With Electrolux, you can expect utter and permanent silence because it has no moving parts ever to become noisy. Operating cost, too, needs careful scrutiny. Electrolux operates for less than any other refrigerator!

Repairs? Service? Absence of moving parts means there's nothing about Electrolux that can possibly wear! And your gas company backs and services every Electrolux it sells.

But see Electrolux for yourself! Examine first-hand its many conveniences . . . EXPECT MORE.

BROOKLYN—Donald Rothfuss proved his prowess as an amateur aviator on a day last week when a cylinder head on his home built aeroplane popped off and he easily and softly set his plane down on the ice of Wampers Lake which has lately been his aviation field. Every part of the machine except the four-cylinder motor was built by Rothfuss, and he took that from an old motorcycle. The plane is good looking, well balanced, and of excellent design, but now it will have to be re-engined. —Exponent.

DEXTER—George Steeb has purchased the "Lander" farm in Lima township. —Leader.

NORTHVILLE—Robbers visited the Botkin Inn on Grand River about a mile east of Novi twice in the past week. Tuesday evening they held up the proprietor and his wife, and a waiter, taking about $275 in cash and several hundred dollars worth of clothes and jewelry. At about 3:00 o'clock Thursday morning prowlers again were discovered and frightened away before they had loaded a safe into their waiting machine. The safe was found half way through a window on the west porch of the Inn. —Record.

JACKSON—The Moroskos, Ernest and Katie, of Mosherville, were sentenced to 30 days in jail and probation for two years by Judge Benjamin Williams last week. They had been convicted of resisting an officer in connection with their endeavors to avoid auto license tag payment last year. —Evening Star.

MANCHESTER—The plate glass front of the Torrey building, that was smashed when an automobile skidded on the icy pavement and put the shoe shop on the retired list, has been repaired in fine shape. —Enterprise.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—I would like to ask you if it is frost that colors the leaves in the fall? If so, why is it that some of them begin to color before there is any frost?

Ans.—It is not frost that colors the leaves in the fall. The change or the coloring is due to the lack of regular supply of chlorophyll (green coloring matter). Cold retards and frost entirely kills the production of chlorophyll. In the fall a layer of cells similar to cork grows between the leaf stems and the twigs so that there will be no open wounds for sap to escape from the tree or bush after the leaves fall. Nourishment or coloring matter is thus cut off and this causes the change in color of the leaves. Dr. W. N. Watkins, of the Smithsonian Institution, points out that trees are usually more beautiful if the fall is warm and dry than when it is cold and frosty, because frost spoils even the brightest colored leaves, making them all a dark, dirty brownish color.

Ques.—I wish to ask in your valuable paper if there is any scientific rule to determine what a person should eat, how much to eat and when to eat?

Ans.—No, there is not. This varies so widely for different people because of different individual characteristics and circumstances that no general rule can be laid down. If you are uncertain about whether you are eating the proper food for you, the only thing to do is to talk it over with your doctor and let him advise you in your particular case.

Ques.—Will you please tell me if rocks grow? Or where do they come from?

Ans.—Rocks do not grow, notwithstanding it is a common belief that they do. Sometimes they get slightly larger by the addition of matter, but that is all. Rocks accumulate on the surface of the earth principally because they work up through the process of freezing and thawing of the ground.

Ques.—Who is the present governor of West Virginia and what is his politics and salary?

Ans.—H. G. Kump, who is a Democrat, is the present governor of West Virginia. His salary is $10,000 a year.

Ques.—Why is a certain species of locusts called "17-year locusts"? I was told they come every 17 years, but I positively know that they come several years in succession, which explodes that theory.

Ans.—It is true that they are so named because they come back every 17 years. Cycles of these insects overlap each other in such a way that causes some sections to have them appear every year. The 17-year locusts are a cicada that is supposed to appear at these intervals. Eggs are laid in small limbs or twigs and after they hatch the larvae fall to the ground and burrow in—sometimes to a depth of 20 feet. At the end of a 17 year period of inactivity they emerge, mature and become full grown locusts. Their life span is from four to six weeks during which they mate and lay their eggs—and the cycle begins over again. Most of the damages by these insects are caused by the weakening of the limbs where the eggs are laid. Males alone produce the noisy din accompanying the visitation.

Ques.—Is there anything a person can eat or drink that will reduce them?

Ans.—We don't know. But you might try drinking condensed milk.

Ques.—Is it a fact that the hand of a magician is quicker than the eye in the performance of magic? This seems to be a general opinion?

Ans.—No. You can see everything that a magician's hand does if you are really watching at the right moment. By cleverly planned talk or by meaningless gestures with his head, etc., he succeeds in distracting your attention to something else at the critical moment. Things to which you give your attention are the only things you see, and therefore the illusion makes it appear that his "hand is quicker than the eye."

Ques.—I am writing to ask you if the United States paid France rent for the use of battlefields and making trenches in the war against Germany?

Ans.—There is a mistaken belief that the United States government paid the French government rent for the use of battle trenches in that country. Our country, however, did rent ground for training purposes and paid a certain amount for property damage caused by excavation of training trenches.

Opium Poppies
Opium is obtained from the milky juice of the young capsules of the poppy grown in China, India and Persia. The climate must be tropical or subtropical, there must not be an excessive rainfall, and the industry can be carried on successfully only where labor and land are sufficiently cheap and abundant. The cultivation of opium poppies for the production of opium is not possible in this country, even if it were permitted by law. It is said that every species of poppy is capable of yielding opium to a greater or lesser extent.

THE MILLS OF THE GODS GRIND SLOW

My muse, my thought—
What had I ought to write about today?

Pencil and paper all in hand,
And yet, what shall I say?

The mailbag service, slow they say,
Someone has overstepped;
The trouble, no one seems to know,
And yet—and yet—and yet:

Why will not people deal, deal square
With dear old Uncle Sam?
Why scheme, and play the crook way,
O shame on all your plan!

While Roosevelt, with Congress
And a million people try
So hard to right the ship of State,
You play the dirty game.

Be sure your sin will find you out,
Infallible but true—
The Mills of God grind slow, but
Grind,
Beware, lest they grind you.

Girls' Team Victors In Milan Game

Last week Friday, Feb. 9, we played Milan here at the school gymnasium. It was a good game and there was a large crowd.

The line-up for Chelsea team was as follows: Helen Hindelang, center; Jean Irwin and Jean Blecker, guards; Helen Hofferick, forward; Zilpha Shaver and Jane McFarland, forwards; Leona Moeckel, Barbara Blecker, running center; Helen Adams, due to no sub guards, replaced Jean Irwin.

The game at the end of the half was 16 to 5 in favor of our girls. In the third quarter Milan made four points and Chelsea eight, making the score 24 to 9. In the last quarter Chelsea made two more points but Milan did not make any. The final score was 26-9, with Chelsea as victors.

The girls are doing well and hope to continue the good work.

Hi-Lights of The News

Thru the Eyes of a Senior

A great deal of public opinion has been aroused in opposition to the Vinson Bill recently presented in this column. Much of this fervor has been aroused by fear of American Imperialism, armament races, and world war over armaments. After all, it seems on close consideration that most of these fears are groundless. True, the Vinson bill calls for several new ships and the revamping of others but this cannot be accomplished in a day. The absolute minimum of time for building a battleship is two years. It is probable that these ships will not have been built by the time that is considered a record. Our treaty obligations cease in 1936 and an armaments conference will undoubtedly be called to draft new agreements. What a powerful weapon this appropriation becomes when it is held over the heads of the respective delegates. It will serve to show the world that America can and will enter any armament race which the rest of the world wishes to propose. Still, a ship which will not have been built by the time it would be needed in 1936, is a waste of money. It is a waste of money to build a ship which will not have been built by the time it would be needed in 1936, is a waste of money.

Recent speeches against the Administration are still using those old faithful references to Lincoln and Washington to justify their opposition. The bait is good. It was good when Lincoln and Washington said it. It is good now when political leaders say it today. Still, there is always the not too apparent possibility of misapprehension of their words. Speak or use certain phrases from both men to justify conservatism. It is a waste of money to build a ship which will not have been built by the time it would be needed in 1936, is a waste of money.

A Few Questions By A Curious Person

What's this about making baskets for the other side? Don't never do that again, Maude!

Who's this little girl from North Lake that's been quarreling with Helen?

What's this about Duane being surprised last week? I hear everyone had a good time. Did Duane get a spanking? He's 19, you know.

Who won all the bets on the games last week?

Who has their maps done for History?

Who were the two girls from here and the two boys from St. Mary's that went to the show Friday night?

Anyone having any information in regard to these questions please get in touch with me. Thank you, too much!

Mary Jane blushed one day, just because Jim "went and say" "My little turtle dove, let's get married and live on Love".

Elementary News

First Grade

They want to tell you how proud they are in telling that Jimmy Dickson has been neither tardy nor absent this year. Isn't that a nice record? Donna Burman has never been absent this year, and that too is something to be proud of. Donna! Old Jack Frost kept half of them home, Monday morning.

Second Grade

These boys and girls have been busy writing poems about "Snow Flakes", which they haven't quite completed. But, watch for next week's issue. They will be in. We wish to thank Marjorie Umstead for the lovely Valentine. We hope she received as many as we.

Third Grade

The 3rd grade visited the postoffice. We found out many interesting things. We watched Mr. Witherell and Mr. Rowe postmark the letters. We are going to build a postoffice in our third grade room.

Fourth Grade News

The following officers of the Girls' and Boys' Council were elected by ballot at the beginning of the new semester:

President—Charles Lane.
Vice President—Richard Kinsey.
Secretary—Marian Eisele.
Treasurer—Lillian Koith.

This year instead of a Valentine box we had a Valentine tree which Lawrence Dieble made and decorated. Mrs. Steiner received a big Valentine in the form of a box of fruit.

We had a Lincoln story hour during English period on Lincoln's birthday. Leonard Spiegelberg contributed the most interesting story, we believe, about Lincoln's pet pig.

Marvin Wolf contributed some fine pictures, a cabin and a miniature cannon made from parts of a cannon used on the battlefield of the Civil war.

On Thursday, Charles Panamier gave a very interesting report in our room on Admiral Byrd's South Polar Expedition, which we have been studying.

He explained many things which we have not understood. Come again, Charles.

In connection with our study of Switzerland we are reading Heidi, by Johanna Spyri.

Those who had a perfect score in Arithmetic every day last week were: Lillian Allhouse, Jeanne Meservey, David Spaulding, Margaret Stone, Eunice Spaulding, Marilyn Wolf, June Crawford.

Fifth Grade

These children have been taking trips to Florida. Here's a letter one girl at home received:

Dear Dad:

How are you and all the folks back home? When I arrived in Columbus the day before yesterday, I went in the part where the factories are. It was quite early in the morning. The train passed many factories before it stopped. Some of these factories are used for the manufacturing of boots and shoes. Others are used for the manufacturing of wagons. There are many repair shops where engines and cars are repaired. There are also many meat packing plants.

When I got off the train, I took a taxi and went to the Hotel Disler. I was very tired and went to bed.

In the morning I went to church because it was Sunday.

I went to one of the churches near the hotel. It was a very fine church. Then I returned to the hotel to eat, and got my things packed, to start early the next morning.

Yours truly,
Grace Riemenschneider.

We enjoyed a very lovely Valentine party Wednesday. Just as the first Valentine was passed out, we rolled apples down the aisle for Miss Williams.

Sixth Grade

We were glad to have had only one tardy mark during last month. Peggy Blecker brought in a piece of purple henna from Scotland. She also read some poems about henna.

Most of us have gone "star gazing" and know many of the common winter constellations.

Can February March?
No, but April May;
But you out of June,
Don't July about it.

Duane W. Jim, what are you trying to do? Make a fool of me?
Jim P. No, I never interfere with nature.

"Harmonies"

We often go around singing some songs that has taken to your choice of a good melody and perhaps a favorite.

The theme song of Journalism club members is sung to tune of "Around the Corner".

In Chelsea High School we love to be. We're proud to be here as you see; We'll do our best.

And hope for the rest,
And keep up our pep and—
Fall into step with all the Faculty.

Fortunately we were able to acquire the favorite song, "Popular Melody", of our faculty and several students. Some were taken by surprise and requested a few hours to think it over.

Mr. Lyons—Paradise.
Miss Barrus—Smoke Gets in Your Eyes.
Miss Hazard—Good-Bye, Little Girl, Good-Bye.

Mr. Cross—Singing in Bath Tub.
Mr. Thompson—Wagon Wheels.

Gossip and School Spirit

How often we hear some bit of scandal or gossip, scarcely believable and hitherto unthought of. However, it will make us the center of interest while retelling it. The slanders, as gossip usually is, may be from reliable or wholly unreliable source, with or without foundation, we tell it anyway, and the process goes on without end. Did you ever stop to think of the possible serious consequences of your act? The story goes from school through where it often originates to homes throughout the town. It is retold from house to house in this manner: "Have you heard the latest about...?" Many people do not care for proof and believe things as they come from the slanders and consequently a good name is spoiled then and there. The gossip, of course, reaches the ears of business men and ruins many chances for positions in the subjects' home town all because we believed idle gossip. Perhaps we had no idea of ruining anyone's reputation, only started the gossip in fun, yet the damage has been done and is irreparable. How much better it would have been if we had kept silent until proof of the gossip, or even then it would do little harm to keep it to ourselves.

Now in regard to the school spirit part of it. There is much more to School Spirit than loyalty to school organizations. When gossip gets started it travels fast and faster. Much of it reaches prospective freshmen and their parents. A wrong impression is formed of high-school life and many rural eighth grade graduates needlessly stay out of high school. The next time you are told gossip search out the truth and, if you do not find it brand the slanders as such, avoid him and treat him as such an offender should be treated.

Many Happy Returns!

THE STUDENT FRATERNITY MURDER

Milton Propper

CHAPTER I—Stricken during initiation into the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, Stuart Jordan, university student, died almost immediately. A physician declared he was poisoned, and my Rankin, Philadelphia detective, takes charge of the investigation.

CHAPTER II—An injection of cocaine into the back of Rankin's head, the student's shoes are marked with thumbprints, his only known relative is his uncle, Howard Kerrick, St. Louis banker, also his guardian, and his heir.

CHAPTER III—Two students from the vicinity of Vandalia, Ill., Jordan's home town, Ralph Buckley and Walter Thompson, are charged with the murder. The fact that a St. Louis physician, Arnold Prince, was chiefly responsible for Jordan's admission into the fraternity. A prominent lawyer, Edward Fletcher, present at the initiation, also engages Rankin's attention.

Rankin went to the dormitory post office and introduced himself to Mr. Thorpe, in charge of sorting and distributing incoming mail, questioned him as to letters Jordan might have got. But the postmaster never had occasion to notice his particular mail. Still, he said, as the boy owned a letter box, number 307, and a corresponding key, he probably received a great deal of it. He promised faithfully to watch for further communications and apprise Rankin of them.

It was three-fifteen when the detective reached the Phi Beta Sigma house. Anthony Graham opened the door for him, and Stanton, looking more harassed than ever, joined them in the hall. Before leaving headquarters, Rankin had phoned the fraternity, requesting that Larry Palmer and Ben Crawford await his arrival; the president said that they had been there since two o'clock.

Rankin apologized for his tardiness. "It took me longer than I expected to settle the other details of the case. Now, Mr. Stanton, if you will allow me to have the living room alone for a short while, I'll speak to them in there. Separately, of course; it is material which you send in first."

Benjamin Crawford, presented himself first—the only member of the chapter he had not yet met. A dapper youth, with well-rounded features, artless eyes and blond hair, his efforts to look more mature were amusing. He seated himself nonchalantly on the sofa, adopting a pseudo-sophisticated attitude to foster the impression. But neither pose nor the fine mustache he sported could conceal the fact that he was only nineteen.

"You know what I want from you, Mr. Crawford," Rankin said. "I don't have to explain, after last night, the importance of checking the movements of every one in the house. You were absent and I couldn't do it in your stead. The question is, where did you spend your time yesterday evening?"

"It's an awful business, isn't it, sir?" Crawford replied without hesitation. "Poor Stuart. . . I had a date with a girl and missed the whole thing. . . Weren't you at the initiation at all? You didn't stay a while and leave before the ceremony was over?"

The boy shook his head. "No, I went out at least fifteen minutes before the meeting started. My date was for nine o'clock, way up in Oak Grove. As it takes almost an hour to get there, I left the house at eight."

"That's all that really matters," Rankin said. "Let me have your friend's name and address; as a matter of form, she will have to confirm your statement."

"But I can't," Ben Crawford replied. "I don't know the trouble. I don't know where to find her or what her name is. You say it was a blind date in the first place. . . A pick-up, in fact. I was never introduced to the girl. And then, when I reached the place, I was to meet her, she wasn't there. His injured tone showed he considered himself lily used. "She stood me up."

Rankin's voice was suddenly sharp. "But although she failed to keep her appointment at only nine o'clock, you had not returned to the house here-by three-thirty this morning. How do you explain the delay, Mr. Crawford?"

The student's bland pose remained unaltered. "It's a rather long story, sir. I met her first, last Thursday night, out in Oak Grove. I was waiting for a street car to take me to the subway line back into town; I had been calling on another girl, who lives at 6100, north of the first station. I left her at twelve-thirty and went to the corner of Godfrey and York roads for my car. And there was this girl by herself. I don't suppose we would have got acquainted, much as I wanted to, if I hadn't caught her looking directly at me. Then, when our eyes met, she smiled as if she wouldn't mind speaking to me, either. Conceitedly, he fingered his mustache tips. "So I opened up a conversation with her."

Rankin's lips twitched in the ghost of a smile. "And what happened then?"

"Well, I couldn't pass up anything that promising, could I? . . . Anyhow, she wasn't offended and after a while, I suggested that I might see her home. She said it was impossible that night, but if I came to, we could fix up a date together for early this week. So we arranged to meet at nine o'clock last night at the same spot; I didn't care if I missed the initiation. But she wouldn't tell me who she was or where she lived. I asked if I could phone her in the meantime, but she promised to ring me instead, on Sunday. She said that would prove she intended to show up. I gave her the frat. phone number and my name. . . Not my right name, of course." The boy smiled. "Not yet; just the one I always use until I'm better acquainted with the date."

"And did she actually call on Sunday?"

"Yes, and that's why it is so peculiar," Crawford answered. "While she didn't tell me about herself, she promised faithfully to see me last night. Yet she never turned up; I waited at the corner a half-hour, but there wasn't a sign of her anywhere."

"She was probably indulging in some fun at your expense," Rankin commented. "Even so, that accounts for where you were only until nine-thirty last night."

For the first time, the boy's aplomb was shaken and he weighed his reply. "After that I . . . he began, "Well, I suppose I may as well admit I visited another girl friend of mine." He explained apologetically: "To tell the truth, I had been counting heavily on the date and when it fell through, I was depressed; I wanted some company to cheer me. Then I phoned this girl for permission to drop in, and she agreed to my visiting her."

"When was this?" the detective asked. "What time was it, Mr. Crawford?"

"I called her as soon as I got back to town again; that was ten-ten. This girl lived in the opposite direction, in South Philly, and I had to return to town anyway to go to her apartment. That took three-quarters of an hour and I arrived at half past ten. The young man plucked nervously at his mustache. "But . . . but I can't give you any more information about her," he declared.

"You can't," Rankin demanded bluntly. "Why not? You mean you won't?"

"Well, I . . . I . . . Crawford floundered. "I don't want to get her into trouble. You see, I . . . was with her all morning; I spent the night there. A flush of embarrassment suffused his face. "If that should come out, it would be awkward; she'd probably lose her job and it wouldn't look any too nice for me, either."

"There isn't the slightest danger her name will figure in this affair," Rankin stated emphatically. "My only interest in you, Mr. Crawford, is in tracing your movements last night. As long as this girl can prove you were in her company, I am not a bit concerned with your conduct, otherwise. . . Anyhow, if necessary, I could learn her identity through your fraternity brothers. They could list your friends and then it would only be a matter of elimination."

"No, I'd rather tell you myself. Her name is Florence Dalton and she is a graduate at the University hospital here. Her place in South Philadelphia is a two-room apartment at 4020 Harmon street; she occupies it alone."

"Thank you, Mr. Crawford," the detective rose. "I think that is all I want to ask at the present. Will you please have Mr. Palmer come to next?"

After Ben Crawford left the room, his features were a deep study and his eyes held a questioning, dissatisfied look. For, despite the tale he had just heard, he still remained uncertain whether the thirty-second person at the initiation was a fraternity member or an intruder. He had no reason to doubt the boy or suspect him of lying; nor grounds for connecting him with the crime. Nevertheless, he could still have attended the ceremony the night before, provided that he managed to escape unnoticed right after Jordan collapsed. That occurred at nine-twenty-five, fully three-fourths of an hour before Crawford's phone call to Miss Dalton at ten-ten confirmed any part of his account. Before that, lacking witnesses, there was only his own word upon which to rely as to his movements. The apparently irrelevant details about his date, Rankin realized, failed to settle his whereabouts decisively.

CHAPTER IV

The Case Against Buckley

When Lawrence Palmer entered the living room, the fraternity president joined him, taking his stand by the fireplace. Palmer seated himself on the sofa. Though still unruly, his red hair was no longer unkempt; sober, and alert, an intelligent smile on his pleasant face made him a different lad from the wreck of the previous night. "I'm afraid I don't remember meeting you last night, Mr. Rankin," Palmer said frankly. "Or talking to Mr. Warwick, either. Gosh, I must have been pretty bad!" He paused and then smiled faded. "What gets me is that everybody tells me I was drugged—and with knock-out drops," he added wonderingly. "I can't see how that's possible. The only fellow with me or anywhere near me last night is a friend of mine; it's ridiculous to think he'd do something like that." He turned to the president for support. "Ted knows him too—it was Ralph Buckley. He attended our first smoker and has visited me since several times in my room."

"Ralph Buckley?" The detective's even-temperamental question did not indicate his thrill on hearing the name, or that he recognized it at all.

"Yes," Palmer answered, "he's a freshman in the college department with whom I'm rather chummy. He lives in the Harrowgate apartments at 280 Fortieth street. He comes from Illinois. . . let me see, he mentioned the place once—he wrinkled his brow in deep thought—"oh, yes, Vandalia, Ill."

Stanton opened his eyes widely in surprise. "Why, that's Stuart's home, too, Mr. Rankin!" he exclaimed excitedly. "I told you that last night, sir."

"Yes, so you did," Rankin's tone was still calm. "And that is why I'd like to learn something about Buckley." He addressed Palmer again. "What do you know of him? How did you two happen to become friends?" he asked.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Bloody Socialist Revolt in Austria Imperiling All Europe; Senate Sentences MacCracken to Jail; Permanent PWA Program Taking Shape.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

Maj. Emil Fey

IS AUSTRIA again to be the starting point of a great European war? That was the question that was worrying all the nations of the world as the civil warfare between the Austrian government and the Socialists proceeded. On the side lines watching events closely and hiding their true faces were Nazi Germany, Fascist Italy, France just recovering from its own internal row, and the rather frightened members of the little entente.

Great Britain, determined that Germany and Austria shall not be united, was warning Hitler to keep his hands off. Soviet Russia would like to put a finger in the pie but is fully occupied with the threat of war with Japan.

Vice Chancellor Emil Fey and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg of Austria were determined that the Socialists should be driven out or exterminated and the country made wholly Fascist, and Chancellor Dollfuss was going along with them. The revolt of the Socialists was evidently carefully planned and the rebels were well armed and capably led. But at this writing they had won no victory of moment and their strongholds in Vienna, mainly the huge communist apartment buildings, had been smashed by the government artillery. In Linz, Graz, Steyr and other centers the results were the same. After several days of fighting, in which two or three thousand persons were killed and many more wounded, Dollfuss gave the Socialists five hours in which to lay down their arms on promise of pardon except for the chief leaders. This brought insufficient response, and the government troops went into action again in the suburbs to which the rebels had been driven. The latter met the attack stoutly, especially in the section just across the great Reichsbrücke where they were occupying big buildings and trenches. Major Fey was in charge of the operations in and about Vienna, and Prince von Starhemberg was in command at Linz and Steyr.

Though the German government was not openly mixing in the mess, the official Nazi newspapers were egging on the Austrian Socialists. Hitler and his comrades claim that a majority of the Austrian voters are Nazis and prophesy that the time is near when Dollfuss will fall and the Austrian Nazis will be in control. The whole tone of comment in the German press expressed sympathy with the "misled" workers of Austria, and the League of Nations and its members were warned not to interfere in the struggle.

Reports originating in Paris said 75,000 Italian troops had been massed at strategic points along the Austrian frontier and that they and the Fascist frontier guard were ready for any eventuality. The Italian government officials said this troop movement had been going on for some time and was only part of a fundamental change in Italian military policy.

London correspondents dug up a story from an Austrian source, to the effect that the Austrian Socialists obtained the arms with which they were being fighting from Czechoslovakia, either from the Czech government directly or with its connivance. A railroad from Prague to the south runs through a part of Austria, and the story goes that trains loaded with arms and ammunition consigned to some mine in Czechoslovakia were emptied of their cargoes somewhere between Gmünd and Tressburg.

It is also alleged that arms have been shipped up the Danube from Pressburg to Vienna or nearby points and smuggled ashore.

Czechoslovakia doesn't at all like the idea of being surrounded by Fascist countries and has been encouraging democratic movements against both the German and Austrian dictatorships. Prague is full of refugee Socialists.

In Washington and put under the command of Brig. Gen. Oscar Westover by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's telegram to the President protesting against the summary cancellation of contracts led Postmaster General Farley to make public his report to Chairman Black's investigating committee justifying his action. In this Farley made sensational charges that the government had been defrauded to the extent of $10,000,000 in the letting and operation of air-mail contracts. He asserted that his predecessor, Walter F. Brown, had joined in and directed a conspiracy by which competition was smothered and all contracts were awarded by secret agreement to certain favored air lines.

SECRETARIES TICKES, WALLACE, Dorn and Perkins were named by the President as a committee to draw up definite plans for his permanent public works program. This is intended to effect great economic and social changes and will cost probably more than half a billion dollars yearly. Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers take it for granted that even after business has achieved recovery there will be from three to five billion persons still unemployed and that they must be cared for by something like the Civil Works administration.

This new project as now conceived includes these major undertakings:

Methodical development of waterways, water power, flood control, soil erosion prevention, reforestation, and other public works. On these works employment would be furnished in the manner of the present CCC and CWA.

Decentralization of industry through establishment of small industries in rural regions to enable people to make a living partly by farming and partly by factory employment. A start in this direction is now being made in the subsistence homesteads, for which twenty-five millions of recovery funds have been allocated.

Government purchase of submarginal lands unfit for cultivation, which would be added to the public domain and devoted to forest development. For this purpose twenty-five millions already have been allotted.

THE CIVIL WORKS administration gained from Congress an appropriation of $500,000,000 for its immediate uses and its workers, numbering 3,800,000 persons, received their pay. But at the same time Administrator Harry Hopkins began the task of cutting down the forces, ordering reductions of from 50 to 90 per cent. He directed that work cease on all federal civil projects not on federal or other public property. By Hopkins' plan of cutting down the total number of employees about 10 per cent a week, the CWA army will be virtually out of existence by May 1.

The largest force affected by the nonpublic property order is in the public health service. Hopkins ordered it to stop industrial control efforts employing 20,779 men, rural sanitation using 32,010 and the sealing of homes by 3,571 workers to prevent water toxicity in the Ohio valley.

COL. HORATIO B. RACKETT of Chicago was appointed director of the housing division of the Public Works administration by Secretary of the Interior Ickes. He succeeds Robert D. Kelso, a New York architect who has held the position for the last nine months.

Selection of Colonel Rackett, a member of the Chicago architectural firm of Holmberg & Root, was regarded in Washington as a move to speed up the federal housing corporation. Given $100,000,000 of public works money for low cost housing developments, it has spent very little.

PREMIER TSALDARIS of Greece doesn't accept the verdict of national government physicians, that Samuel Insull is well enough to stand deportation without danger to his life. Tsaldaris said it would be "murder" to compel the fugitive American to travel in his present physical condition, so he will be permitted to remain in Greece until his health improves. As Insull is seventy-four years old and has a clever adviser in Athens, his extradition may not be obtained for a long time if ever.

MELVIN A. TRAYLOR, president of the First National bank of Chicago and one of the country's leading financiers, died at his home of pneumonia after fighting the disease bravely for several weeks. Mr. Traylor was born in a log cabin in Kentucky 55 years ago and made his way to leadership in business by sheer ability. He also became prominent enough in politics to be considered favorably for the Democratic nomination for President in 1932. Chicago and the country sustained a considerable loss in his death.

FURNITURE AND CLOTHING TO BE DISTRIBUTED LOCALLY

All clothing, furniture, bedding, food or other materials donated locally for collection by the Boy Scouts will be distributed locally, to meet the needs of the communities where the donations are made, according to information received today from Wallace F. Watt, scout executive of Washtenaw and Livingston counties. There had been some misunderstanding on this point. Mr. Watt says: "The local scout leaders are cooperating with the CWA case workers, who will handle the actual distribution of the articles to those families and individuals who are known to them; to be in need of help."

The scouts in many communities are assisting in the repair of furniture and utensils to put them in condition for use by families. Already there has been a splendid response on the part of householders in the communities of the Washtenaw-Livingston council, according to scout authorities. One item that has been greatly appreciated is the amount of clothing and shoes for children which the collection has brought forth, since many children, especially in rural sections, have been unable to attend school, regularly for lack of such apparel.

This collection is being made by the Boy Scouts of the entire country in response to the request of their honorary president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, on the occasion of the 24th anniversary of the Boy Scout movement in America.

TEN days in jail was the sentence pronounced by the senate on William P. MacCracken for having tampered with correspondence in his files after the files had been subpoenaed by the special committee investigating air-mail contracts. The same punishment was awarded L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways. Two other defendants were acquitted. MacCracken already had been fined $100 by the District Supreme court for misrepresentation in obtaining a writ of habeas corpus before actually being arrested. He was given time by the senate to perfect an appeal from its verdict.

The army went ahead rapidly in its preparations for carrying the air mails after the cancellation of contracts by Postmaster General Farley. Field quarters for this service were opened
