Safe Is Stolen, Later Found, Minus Money

The restaurant of Wm. G. Kolb was burglarized early Sunday morning, the thieves gaining entrance through a rear window, after breaking off a key in the lock in an attempt to open the rear door. They carried away a small safe, one and a half by two and a half feet, containing about $195 in currency, $20 in coins, a revolver and insurance and other valuable papers, placing it in a truck or car driven to the door.

It is believed the burglars attempted to open the safe in the restaurant, as a knob from a hinge was found on the floor. Sheriff Jacob Anders and Under-sheriff John Osborn, as well as local officers, were called to investigate. A fingerprint expert from the Federal prison at Milan was also called to work on the case.

The safe was discovered on the grounds of the McLaren school in Lima Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Oscar Lindauer, who called Mr. Kolb. The sheriff's department was called and deputies secured fingerprints which may prove valuable in solving the crime. The door had been chiseled off the safe, the thieves taking the cash and leaving the papers in a neat pile a few feet from the safe. The McLaren school has been closed for a few days owing to illness of some of the pupils, which accounted for the delay in finding the "strong box".

Bill Wheeler, Jr., local meat market proprietor, had placed $55 in cash in Mr. Kolb's safe Saturday night for safekeeping, which was a part of the loot.

Plaque Is Presented Chelsea High School

Roscoe Bonisteel, Ann Arbor attorney, as a representative of the University of Michigan Club, visited the Tuesday morning assembly period of the local high school and presented them with a very fine honor plaque, which is to be awarded annually to the most outstanding Senior boy on a basis of scholarship, athletic ability and leadership. T. Hawley Tapping, General Alumni Secretary, was also present at the session and spoke briefly. The plaque was accepted for the Chelsea high school by Supt. H. L. Blecker, who, with well-chosen words, expressed the appreciation of the entire school for this splendid recognition.

The Senior boy to be honored will be selected by the faculty and Senior class, the name to be announced on Class Night. The boy's name will be engraved on the plaque, which will remain as the property of the school. There are only 100 high schools in the United States which have this honor-plaque.

Gallup Will Speak At Kiwanis Meeting

E. E. Gallup, of the State Department of Education and supervisor of the Vocational Agricultural Department under the Smith-Hughes law, will address the local Kiwanis club at their regular meeting next Monday evening. Mr. Gallup is a former superintendent of the Chelsea public schools and the Kiwanis club extends an invitation to local friends of Mr. Gallup to attend the meeting. Tickets may be secured of P. F. Nishaus any time before Saturday night.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

The American Legion Auxiliary met at Kolb's hall Tuesday evening, May 1, with 26 members and 11 guests present. Three new members were welcomed into the unit, which makes a total of 40 members. The unit was entertained by two delightful tap dances by Doris Jean Hildinger, Shirley Lay, and Elizabeth Makielaki of Ann Arbor, and by a ballet dance by Doris Jean Hildinger. The District Child Welfare chairman, Mrs. Cornish, and the District Rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Huber, of Jackson spoke to the group on their work and gave many helpful ideas for the work in this unit. After their talks, the president of the unit, Mrs. Brock, presented each of the ladies with a corsage of sweet peas. Delicious refreshments were served by the committee and a pleasant informal evening was enjoyed.

The first anniversary of the Auxiliary is to be celebrated with a pot luck supper on Tuesday, May 15, to which all Legion members and Auxiliary members and their families are invited.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 5 at the home of Ruth Schenk.

ENTERTAIN CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Munro entertained the Five Hundred club at their home on Saturday evening. Four tables were in play, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wolfe being awarded high honors, while Mrs. J. J. Munro and Lynn Kern received the consolation prizes. Following the game, refreshments were served.

Voters Say "No!" To Huge Spending Program In State

Taxpayers of Michigan who were qualified to vote at the special election on Monday turned thumbs down on the administration's proposition to further burden the state with a bonding issue of more than $37,000,000. The issue lost by a huge margin, final tabulation of votes being approximately 5 to 1 against issuance of the bonds.

While the state at large averaged 5 to 1, many localities, including Sylvan township, voted about 10 to 1 against the proposition, and surrounding townships were even more forceful with their "nay nay".

"Although it was agreed by opponents that there were some good points in the administration's recommended program for this added tax burden, taxpayers of the state emphatically let it be known that they do not favor any added taxation at this time. While some forms of taxation have been reduced during the past few years new taxes have been imposed to offset this relief and it is believed that when taxpayers have an opportunity to voice their opinion at the polls every issue calling for added expenditures by the state will go the way of the state bonding proposition."

A strenuous campaign was staged during the past few weeks by administration leaders, some prominent Republicans joining in the efforts to convince voters that the issue should receive their approval. While Governor Comstock contended that the issue was non-partisan, many of the opposite political faith claim that the election was a repudiation of the present administration. At any rate the matter promises to be material for political mud-slinging at the fall election.

In Washtenaw county, the vote was approximately 4 to 1 against the proposition, there being 1196 "yes" votes and 4821 "no". In Sylvan and nearby townships the vote was as follows:

Sylvan—37 yes, 358 no.
Lyndon—9 yes, 56 no.
Lima—6 yes, 80 no.
Freedom—5 yes, 80 no.
Sharon—5 yes, 117 no.

Juniors Will Present 'Adam and Eva' Friday

The second and last dramatic production for this school year will be staged at the high school gymnasium Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, when the Junior class will present "Adam and Eva". Arrangements have been made with Samuel French, publisher, for the production of this play.

What truths have your "depression" experiences revealed to you? The lessons you have learned are similar to those learned by King's family, a bunch of idle wasters, who are suddenly confronted with the grand prospect of being flat, "stony" broke. You will be highly amused by their various solutions of the great problem.

In "Adam and Eva" will be found a delightful mixture of seriousness and humor.

Following are the cast of characters, some of whom starred in "Nothing But the Truth", the Sophomore production of last year, and the "Toreadors":

James King, a rich man—Junior Setz.

Corinthia, his parlor maid—Mario Haaschwardt.

Clinton De Witt, his son-in-law—Lynn Dancer.

Julie De Witt, his eldest daughter—Shirley Carpenter.

Eva King, his younger daughter—Leona Moeckel.

Aunt Abby Rocker, his sister-in-law—Katherine Hofferk.

Dr. Jack Delamater, his neighbor—Max Young.

Horace Pligrah, his uncle—Nicholas Panarites.

Adam Smith—Richard Sowers.

Lord Andrew Gordon, his would-be son-in-law—Leo Allshouse.

School To Celebrate 100th Anniversary

Red School, District No. 7, held a special meeting last Wednesday night and voted to celebrate their 100th anniversary on Sunday, June 17. It will be of great assistance to the committee if all parties knowing the name and address of former residents of the District will get in touch with one of the committee.

W. C. Pritchard,
Mrs. Edna Faulkner,

COMPLETE CONVENT REPAIRS

Repairs have been completed on the Dominican Convent, which was considerably damaged by fire several weeks ago. The Sisters of St. Dominic, who have been residing at the Convent apartments on Congdon St., returned to their home on Monday.

Huge Crowds Greet Ball League Opening

Chelsea's Twilight League ball season opened in a big way Monday evening when St. Paul's and the Trojans teams met in competition at Holmes field. The crowd in attendance was one of the largest in the history of the local league and there was plenty of support for both teams from the cheering sidelines. St. Paul's easily outplayed the Trojans and won by the comfortable margin of 10 to 4.

On Tuesday evening the Congregationalists handed the Legion team a nice package in the form of a shut-out, the final score being 7 to 0. There was also a large crowd at this game, which proves that the popularity of this local sport is not waning in the least, but rather promises to increase especially if competition is kept between the teams as the season advances.

The game scheduled for Thursday evening between the Sea Scouts and Methodists has been postponed until Friday evening of next week, so there will be no more games this week. Next week's schedule will be as follows:

Monday—Trojans vs. Legion.

Tuesday—St. Paul's vs. Sea Scouts.

Thursday—Congregationalists vs. Methodists.

Friday—Sea Scouts vs. Methodists. Local fans who enjoy this popular sport are urged to attend the games at Holmes field during the spring and summer months. The men and boys who are members of the participating teams are playing because they like the game and they will make a real effort to provide clean and sportsmanlike entertainment for their audiences. Large crowds with "clean" rooting encourages the teams and gives them the assurance that the public appreciates their effort in staging the games, admission to which is absolutely free at all times.

Final Boxing Show at Gym Next Tuesday

A boxing show will be held at Chelsea Hl gym Tuesday evening, May 8. This will be the last local show of the season sponsored by the Legion Post, No. 31.

The Legion has been promised they will see some of the best contestants in this part of the state on the final card. Boys from Jackson, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Albion and other neighboring towns will be in action. Morry Hoffman has again secured Eddie DeWeese to appear. He will be remembered by the fans here for his quick K.O. at the last show. Since then he has won three fights in the same manner.

Chelsea will also have six or seven boys on the card, including the Proctor brothers, Russ and Les, Johnny Dvorak, John Keith, Eddie Daniels and others will be on hand to respond to the bell.

Ann Arbor boasts of a strong team of six men and these boys are matched against equally capable men from Jackson. Bobby Armstrong of Jackson will again referee the bouts.

It is very evident that the large crowd expected will include many women, as they have apparently been taken up with the sport of clean boxing. Smoking and any rough tactics were eliminated at the last exhibition and it is assured that the same order will be kept on this last card.

Advance sale tickets can again be purchased from members of the Legion and at Kolb's Restaurant. According to the last check-up on sales a large crowd will be on hand to see the final show of the season.

CULHANE-STAPISH WEDDING

Saturday morning, April 28, the wedding of Miss Kathleen Culhane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Culhane, and Mr. Charles Stapish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stapish, was solemnized in St. Mary's church with Rev. Fr. Henry Van Dyke officiating. The bride was lovely in a taffeta gown of Burnese blue with white accessories, and she carried white roses and blue forget-me-nots, tied with white and silver ribbon. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Stapish of Detroit, cousin of the groom, was attired in rose colored crepe and carried tallman colored snapdragons. Leo F. Lingane attended as best man. Following the ceremony a reception and dinner were held at the home of the groom's parents, after which the couple motored to Chicago and other western points for a honeymoon trip. The bride traveled in an ensemble of Italian blue, with blue and white accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Stapish are graduates of St. Mary's school, class of 1932. They will reside with the groom's parents, north of town.

WEEKLY NEWS-BULLETIN
Frank D. Fitzgerald
Secretary of State

Lansing, Mich.—Improved business conditions are reflected in a survey of statistics of the corporation division of the Department of State for the first two weeks of April 1934 as compared with the same period in 1933.

this year 26 corporations operating under charters from other states, requested permission to do business in Michigan. During the same period last year, but nine such requests were received.

This year 192 new corporations were enfranchised or three more than during the same period in 1933 while 34 corporations this year were allowed to increase their capitalization as compared with 18 in the first two weeks of April, 1933. In one instance a company's capitalization was increased $1,000,000.

April 23rd marked the high point of volume of business transacted by the Department of State by mail.

On that day 17,229 pieces of first class mail were sent out by the department. Included in this were more than 5,000 state warrants for weight tax refunds and approximately 4,000 certificates of titles for automobiles.

For the last two weeks of April more than 9,000 pieces of first class mail were sent out daily.

The oldest automobile licensed thus far this year belongs to Jack Martin, 3627 W. Vernor Highway, Detroit. It is a 1903 runabout.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you please state in the question column of your good paper which five states in the union have the largest population? And please state their order and population if you can.

Ans.—The five largest states in the United States, according to the 1930 U. S. census are as follows in the order named: New York, 12,588,066; Pennsylvania, 9,081,350; Illinois, 7,890,654; Texas, 5,824,715; California, 5,677,251.

Ques.—Can you answer in your paper where the Catalina Island is located? Is it inhabited? What country owns it?

Ans.—The Island of Catalina is located about 20 miles southeast off the coast of Long Beach, Calif., or about 30 miles from Los Angeles. The Island belongs to the United States, and is an integral part of California. The Island has one city, with a population of 1,897. Avalon is the name of the place.

Ques.—What was the form of life that first inhabited the earth?

Ans.—This is not known, and probably never will be known. In 1933 scientists unearthed 500 feet beneath the surface of the Sahara Desert parts of a pre-historic skeleton of an animal that was estimated to be more than 60 feet in length and more than 20 feet high, and they have placed the time of its existence about two thousand million years ago. While that is a very long time ago, there is no certainty that it was the first form of life to exist on the earth.

Ques.—When Noah took into the Ark his collection of all living things on earth can you tell me where he kept the bees?

Ans.—We do not know. Probably in the archives.

Ques.—Are white shoes any cooler than black or tan shoes?

Ans.—No. They look cooler, but there is no appreciable difference. Most people act on the theory that what looks cool, must be cool. White is a repellent of heat, and while it keeps out heat, it also keeps heat in.

Ques.—I would like to know just how many a "few" is. Can you answer?

Ans.—"Few" cannot be considered as meaning anything other than anything which it is in connection with a number stated or implied. For instance, if a whole division of warriors went into battle and lost all their men except about 500, you would be consistent in saying that only a few survived. Again, if 500 men attended a ball game, and one man left before the game was over; it would be very ridiculous to say that only a few remained for the finish. A "few" is considered only in the point of view.

Ques.—Can you tell me what the Association of City Reserve Bankers are organized for?

Ans.—This organization is composed of bankers as individuals—not banks. It was organized in 1912, and flourishes in all parts of the United States. Its purpose is to provide a medium for exchange of ideas and information among its members on matters concerning banking laws and practices.

Ques.—Why do some people call the Hawaiian Islands the "Sandwich Islands"?

Ans.—"Sandwich Islands" is one of the nicknames for Hawaii, because it lies about half way between America and Asia. Hawaii has two nicknames—the other being "The Crossroads of the Pacific," which was given because of its midway position in the Pacific ocean.

Ques.—I would like to ask you how long small grain can be kept for seed?

Ans.—This depends upon the keeper. Under ideal conditions small grain may be kept for 30 to 35 years before life in it is extinct and will not germinate. Ordinarily, small grain will be dead and will not germinate after 10 years.

Ques.—Salvage Yourself a Vessel. Wrecked vessels abandoned by the owners, according to maritime law, become the property of the persons who salvage them.

By new adjustments in the control room, the heavier, slower parts of this already excellent gasoline are now converted into lighter, faster units. Other words into more Live Power! This means that Standard Red Crown Superfuel is speed-charged for those who want to get there in a hurry. But for those who like to drive more leisurely this extra, useable Live Power means low-cost operation. Whether you're speed-minded, or economy-minded, you really ought to try a tankful of this more spirited gasoline.

ECHOES OF SLAVE DAYS AND SONGS

The mocking bird that sang so sweet Above poor Hallie's grave, Doan sing his little song no mo' In summer evenin's shade. Fo' many a year 'twas hard to sing, My banjo lay unstrung, Of Kitty Wells, an' Nelly Grey, My song was left unsung. An' down beside the cornfield, seems I heard dat mournful sound. Same as de day they lay away Ole massa in de ground. Ise livin' in de cabin now, I has some aches an' pain, But tryin' to make it shelter-me From cold, an' wind, an' rain. Fo'-long—fo'-long, Ise gwine to join My darling Nelly Grey, An' sing with Kitty Wells again The songs so yesterday. But now Ise here, an' she will be Contented to remain, An' send to you the echoes from Log cabin in de lane.

How many
will you need this season?

YOU can get many extra years of service from your standing fence lines if you will remove each year the rotting wood posts and replace them with Red Tops. In this way, by degrees and with the outlay of but little money at any one time, you can give your fence lines an entirely new foundation—get more years of service from the fencing. Then when new wire is needed your permanent Red Top Fence Posts are already in place.

Right now is a good time to check your fence lines. Count up the number of Red Tops you will need for replacements. Include the number you will need for the new boundary and cross fences that you plan to build and add to the list several extra bundles of Red Tops to keep handy on the farm—for emergency fence repairs and for the movable or temporary fence that you will want to throw up in a hurry throughout the season.

Come in and let us show you on a Red Top post the exclusive features that make it the best steel post your money can buy.

Elementary News

Second Grade

We are making "Transportation Notebooks." On our easel we are doing free hand drawings.

Third Grade

The 3rd grade visited Mr. Dietle at the Kiegar Hatchery on Thursday. We saw the incubation, chickens coming out of the shells and many interesting sights. Mr. Dietle gave us all a checkbook pencil when we left.

We are using water colors for the first time in the 3rd grade.

We have been studying ants. This is one of the stories a 3rd grader, Doris Parsons wrote:

"The Ants Cows"

Ants have little cows. These cows live in trees; The ants stroke the cows with their antennae.

They carry the milk in their mouths; They carry it to the baby ants. The ant cows are really plant lice, called aphids.

Fourth Grade

In Arithmetic, we have finished all the different types of long division using a two figure division. Our next step is to learn to divide all types with a three figure division. This is one of the Fourth Grade requirements of our new Arithmetic which we are using this year.

In English, we are learning "The May Queen," by Tennyson, in honor of our Queen of the May. She will send a copy of this poem to her mother on the day preceding the coronation. The origin of the May-Pole Dance was in Rome when the Roman girls danced around a living tree with streamers of red flowers woven together instead of cloth streamers as we now use them.

This was a part of their festival to celebrate the coming of Spring and the banishing of Winter.

It was given in honor of Flora, the Goddess of flowers and was the beginning of the modern May-Day Festival with its May Pole Dance.

Fifth Grade

We are making "Geography Notebooks." Some of the boys made bird houses and brought them to school.

Sixth Grade

We have studied some of the French Masters and have made reproductions of some of their paintings. Some of them were very fine. We have also studied primitive plants and animals and have made large pictures representing the age of Reptiles.

Some of our bird scrapbooks have many interesting facts, stories and pictures about birds.

The trees outside our window are convenient resting and feeding places for birds.

Two nuthatches, several mourning doves and a downy woodpecker have posed for us.

Doris Allshouse brought a lovely cactus blossom to school on Friday.

Mrs. Sidney Schenk visited us on Wednesday.

The Sophomore Tour

In order to complete their scrapbook, "Chelsea Industries," the Sophomore English class was kindly escorted through two of Chelsea's many prosperous industries: the Hoover Steel Ball Company and the Chelsea Milling Company. Each member of the class was presented with a box of Jiffy Mix flour.

The Sophomore speech class went to Ann Arbor to the Hill Auditorium, Friday, to hear Rattle Creek and Ferndale debate on the following proposition: Resolved, That the Federal Government should have ownership of the radio stations.

Miss H., to pupils—How many have ever seen a mine?

P. P. (Excitedly raising his hand)—I have.

Miss H.—What was left when they were through mining? (Meaning what kind of ore).

P. P.—A hole.

It once happened that a science teacher asked this question, just as the last bell rang: "What is marrow?" The pupils were anxious to get out of class so a brilliant scholar suddenly pipes up, "To-morrow is Tuesday."

The freshmen are "writing up" the Hi-Light this week. And they'll be successful, you bet! They will write news that is news. For, the freshmen have never failed yet.

The Freshmen 25 Years in the Future

Mr. and Mrs. Richards, the late Jane McGaffigan, have just returned from their wonderful summer home in the South Seas on the Island of Virgin.

Royal McBride is still trying to make the Indian ride the Buffalo.

After five years of engagement, the Honorable Lester Proctor and Doris Rogers have at last united in marriage. They can be found at any time at their chicken ranch, the "Cock-a-doodle-do" on the Manchester road.

Paul Pielemeier has turned out to be no one other than the second "George White." As we stepped in at the close of one of his many performances, we saw Florence McHenry and her famous tap-dancing partner, Edwin Schenk doing that spirited number, "The Caricature."

Paul Bristle and Kenneth Niehaus are running a sauer kraut factory and they manufacture weenies on the side. Their devoted wives, Mrs. Bristle, the late Julia Spaulding, and Mrs. Niehaus, the late Martha Yeager, are very able assistants in the sauer kraut business.

Theodore Mauch has at last achieved a very enviable position in the musical world, the director of the marvelous Chicago Symphony.

Emma Jane Alexander and Clara Schenk are now the private secretaries of Harley Prudden and George Goodell, Jr., who are successful lawyers in New York City.

Goodell, the late Muriel Martin, has just had a petty quarrel with her husband. She is suing him for divorce.

George Prinzing has just signed a contract to play baseball with the Detroit Tigers. The wife, Grace Kiss, is very much pleased with the proceedings.

Virginia Roethlisberger and Harold Harrison have gone into a partnership for the ownership of the dancing school, the "Hotzy Totsy," located in Chelsea, Michigan.

Harry Blecker, Jr. has followed in his father's footsteps and is now Superintendent of Schools at Pomfret, Connecticut, Mass., R. F. D.

Miss Helen Pritchard is now a celebrated opera singer.

Ruth Umstead, who is the only woman explorer of Africa ever to escape the ferocious cannibals of that continent, has just announced her intention of marriage to Ted Mauch, the conductor of the Chicago Symphony.

Robert Gilbert, who has just returned from one of his many trips abroad in search of the finest Oriental rugs for a large firm in Chicago, has just recently been married to Marion Ashfall.

Bud Myers, Leslie Bycraft and Ronald Spiegelberg have been sent by the United States to France to keep peace between the two nations. There is no doubt that their dominant personalities will seal the bonds of friendship between the two nations.

Charles Bycraft, who made himself the hero of the United States when he brought John Dillinger, Jr. to justice four years ago, has just been wounded by a gang of desperadoes. His wife, the late Ruth Lindemann, rushed to his bedside. With her efficient help he is recovering rapidly.

Laurence Tisch has now achieved the name of the second Rudy Valee. Rudy is still living but has retired.

Phillip Novess is now manager of the Cleveland Indians. His position on the team is pitcher.

Eileen Adam has just returned from an inspection of her gold mines in Alaska. She is the only woman governor ever to hold office over the Hawaiian Islands.

Kelemen Kelemen is now the wealthiest sheep owner in the West. He has a reputation of having the best grade sheep known to the world.

Elsa Barelis and Wilma Runciman have a column in the Detroit Free Press. The column is one other than "Advice to the Love-Lorn."

Ben Alger has quit the job of Superintendent of Public Instruction and is now touring the continent of United States speaking to pupils of high schools on the subject of how to act in school and gave as an example his perfect behavior in his schoolboy days.

P. W.—Say Paul, do you know the difference between a much worn dime and a quarter?

P. P.—Why no, that's beyond my thinking capacity. What is it?

P. W.—That's easy, it's 15 cents.

Don't you think the gag "Gotta go to orchestra practice" has done its duty?—C'mon let's think of a new one before the folks catch on.

Who's that blond, blue-eyed Junior who answers the call of "Moses."

Some of our more ambitious students have been observed, collecting the village's ashes and rubbish. It all goes to that fund the boys are working to get to go on a trip next summer with the Sea Scouts.

It is reported that several notes have gone from Les Proctor to Lynn Dancer. It seems Les is trying to make sure of the date of the Junior play. Hey Les, do you think she'll go?

One of our big Senior boys who is inclined to have curly hair, called up on one of his cousins one Sunday for a finger wave. But Oh! The effects. He was out of school for three whole days.

I've been informed that one of our little Freshmen boys was quite an outstanding feature at the young people's banquet. Keep it up Ted, and may you some day become a great big radio announcer, like Jimmie Wallington.

The other day a Sophomore girl (with those natural brunette curls) was overheard to say "Are my hands ever cold?" We wonder. Now where has that little Junior-boy friend from Waterloo township been keeping himself.

What's all this competition about that Sophomore girl named Jane? Better watch that stuff, Harley!

Some of our good looking Seniors are having their pictures taken for graduation. Please go easy on that camera, because some day we, as freshmen, hope to become Seniors and have our pictures taken.

THE STUDENT FRATERNITY MURDER

By Milton Propper

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Stricken during initiation into the Beta Sigma Gamma Fraternity, Stuart Jordan, university student, died almost immediately. A physician declared he was poisoned, and my Rankin, Philadelphia detective, takes charge of the investigation.

CHAPTER II.—An injection of cocaine is shown to have been the cause of Jordan's death. Rankin finds all the unknown persons but that canceled checks are not among his effects. Howard Merrick, a Junior known relative of his uncle, Howard Merrick, at his banker, also his guardian, and his heir.

CHAPTER III.—Two students from the vicinity of Beta Sigma Gamma Fraternity, Ralph Buckley and Walter Hendall, figure in the investigation. The fact is that a St. Louis physician, Arnold Prince, was chiefly responsible for Jordan's admission into the fraternity. The prominent lawyer, Edward Fletcher, present at the initiation, also engages Rankin's attention.

CHAPTER IV.—A significant fact discovered is that a student, Larry Palmer, Mr. Beta Sigma member, was suggested by Ralph Buckley to her. Rankin finds a key of the fraternity house, stolen from him.

CHAPTER V.—Jordan has been paying by check, and a month to some unknown person, but that canceled checks are not among his effects. Howard Merrick, as Jordan's guardian, had supervision of his household until he was twenty-two years old, when the boy's large fortune became his own. Jordan including cocaine, is stolen from the laboratory. A student, Ed Patterson, is suspected of purchasing the laboratory. Jordan, Rankin secures it.

CHAPTER VI.—The letter is from Edward Fletcher's young wife, and reveals that Fletcher has been suspicious of Jordan's attitude to her. On the night before the fraternity initiation the pledges, according to custom, had been invited to the laboratory and abandoned to get home as best they could. The poison stolen from the laboratory is found in Patterson's room.

CHAPTER VII

Hell-Night

The middle-aged, faded woman with motherly, gentle manners in the turn house, along the Spring Hill road, paused in her account to glance at her hard-bitten, ungainly husband; then continued for Rankin the tale of Monday night's incident.

"When this fellow first knocked on the door," she related, "it was so late we was going to send him about his business. I imagine waiting up good folk, which in bed two hours already, just to make a phone call! And he looked like a regular tramp, wearing torn clothes, a pair of dirty overalls and boots. But after he began explaining who he was, I sort of took a liking to him, because he was young and seemed to be telling the truth; so I insisted on Par opening the door for him."

"The young chap said he was from the college in Philadelphia and some other college boys, in a kind of initiation, had stranded him out here. He had no money to get back with and wanted to use the phone to call up somebody who would come for him and drive him home. The crazy things these students is for ever up to, nowa-days," she concluded emphatically. "There ain't no sense in it at all!"

"I quite agree with you, Mrs. Bellows," Rankin nodded solemnly. "You say the boy roused you about midnight? Have you any idea who this other person was or the phone number the boy gave?"

"The exchange was Gimwytwe, I know that, and he asked for somebody he called Misses or Miss Fletcher. I didn't catch which. But I didn't pay much attention to the rest of the number."

"Then you heard the conversation between them?"

"Yes, we stayed right beside the young man while he talked," Mrs. Bellows admitted. "In fact, Joe and I had to help him tell this Fletcher woman exactly where the house was and how she could reach it. After that, he hung up."

"What is the distance from Gladways to your home, Mrs. Bellows?" Rankin asked.

"It isn't very far. It only takes twenty minutes either by way of the Spring Hill road or along the Montgomery pike."

These facts were precisely what Rankin had deduced and expected to ascertain. Since Jordan and Mrs. Fletcher could not have met before the boxing, they must have communicated with each other afterward; that was the only means by which their rendezvous on Monday night to which Mrs. Fletcher's letter referred, could have been managed. Manifestly, she had proposed it at the dance, because of her husband's absence on Monday.

When informed that the fraternity agreed made it impossible, the questions Paul Whitaker to learn what was in store for the pledges. For of that, Stuart himself was ignorant. And on succeeding, she had arranged to rescue him from his predicament as soon as he could, let her know where he was abandoned. But that ered the distance to town in a half-hour."

Mrs. Fletcher hesitated. "No... that was because we had a breakdown along the State road. It delayed us for..."

"I am very sorry, Mrs. Fletcher," the detective cut curtly across her explanation, "you persist in refusing to be frank with me. Perhaps you would prefer to make your letter and your relations with young Jordan public in court." His voice rang impressively. "Remember, you are attempting to cover a crime; and the coroner and judge won't be easily deceived."

Her gasp of fear, as she caught her breath, told him his threat had been effective.

"Court? A judge?" she exclaimed. "But I tell you that what I wrote Stuart has no connection whatever with his death!"

"I'm not convinced about that," Rankin pressed his advantage mercilessly. "Your husband was close to him when he collapsed—right beside him, in fact. He had opportunity enough to harm him."

"Surely you don't suspect Edward of murdering him?" Mrs. Fletcher's fear deepened to horror and she clutched at the pillar of the veranda for support.

The detective bit off his words. "Isn't even that possible, under the circumstances? You, yourself, dreaded how far he might go for satisfaction. And your admission would do much to influence a jury. In fact, your actions today were prompted by the fear he might be responsible for the tragedy."

"No, no," the woman protested vehemently. "He had absolutely no motive for killing Stuart. There was nothing improper in our friendship, I swear; what I wrote proves that my interest in him was perfectly innocent."

"But unfortunately, Mr. Fletcher couldn't tell that," Rankin declared. "He was guided by the apparent evidence of your unfaithfulness. It must have seemed to him that..."

"But he never found out together! When he got back, he only saw me and had no idea my companion was Stuart!"

The detective was swift to seize on her first acknowledgment of the true facts; nevertheless, his question held a note of uncertainty.

"He didn't know Stuart? How was that possible? He had plenty of cause to remember him from the dance."

"Too late to retract, she manifestly regretted her panic; but having made the tell-tale admission, she saw she had no choice but to explain it."

"No, what I mean was that Edward saw him only from a distance. Stuart slipped away without encountering him, before he arrived. So that she covered up at by herself. That is why I am sure he couldn't have harbored any real anger against him, Mr. Rankin."

"Rankin disregarded her conclusion. "Where did all this happen—your husband's interruption and the boy's escape?" he queried. "You brought him back here, I suppose, after you picked him up at the farmhouse?"

"Yes, we went... upstairs; Stuart and I were in my... bedroom; part of the time," Mrs. Fletcher paused, discomfited for an instant, then hurried on as if in self-justification. "Of course, that was just to give us a chance for a confidential chat; I wanted to learn something about him."

"Just what made you so confident," Rankin inquired astutely, "your husband would not return home Monday night; and the rendezvous would be safe?"

"Because he never did come back on the evenings, he went to town for the meetings of some real estate board," Mrs. Fletcher replied. "He attended regularly, once a month. And they always ended so late that even with a machine, that night, he drove the limousine in—he remained at some hotel."

"But for once he changed his mind," the detective commented grimly. "At the last moment, he came back."

what time did he arrive, Mrs. Fletcher?"

"It was about quarter past two in the morning, when Stuart and I were just about to leave for the fraternity. He couldn't have returned because of any suspicion of our plans, I'm almost positive; it was just an unlucky accident."

"And what occurred then?" Rankin wanted to know. "Your letter intimates there was more to it than just Stuart's escape before Mr. Fletcher caught him?"
