School will open on Monday, September 10. There will be teachers' meetings in the morning and enrollment will start at one o'clock. Students are requested not to come to the building until time for enrollment at one o'clock.

The superintendent will be in his office on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, September 6, 7 and 8 for enrollment of all students that did not enroll last spring. New students are requested to bring a list of credits earned in other schools when they come for enrollment.

Football practice will probably begin about September 4 as the first game is on September 21st with Milan, always a tough team for Chelsea. Harold Spaulding is to coach football, and will be assisted by Albert Johnson, new athletic director and coach of basketball and baseball.

The Board of Education have contracted for the purchase of a stoker, which is now being installed. Details of guaranteed fuel saving will be published later. The Board are also having the north side of the high school building and most of the grade school building weather stripped, which is going to effect a great economy in heating these buildings.

Floors of the entire school have been scrubbed, treated with a floor seal and waxed and are in very fine condition for the opening of school. There is still some painting and varnishing to be completed before the opening of school.

A special meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Florence O'Hara. Eighteen members were present and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

SUBSCRIBER 50 YEARS
The Standard is in receipt of a subscription renewal from Mrs. M. A. Churchill, Broken Arrow, Okla. Mrs. Churchill states that this is their fifty-first renewal to The Standard and she wonders if we can beat that at home. We will be glad to hear from anyone who can better this record. Mrs. Churchill also sent an entry in the "Miss Chelsea" contest, which shows she is still interested in the affairs of her old home town.

HOUSE STILL ALIVE
Many queries have been heard locally as to what is being done about the cement plant. Although the state is proceeding with dismantling operations, the proposition is not dead so far as local interests are concerned. Efforts are still being made to reopen the matter and it is hoped some definite information will be available next week.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL
Home made ice cream and cake, hot coffee and frankfurters and rolls will be served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Palmer at Clear Lake on the Friday evening of this week, for the benefit of U. B. church. Adv.

Hundreds Gather In Observance Of Centennial Event

With an estimated attendance of 1500, Rogers Corners school in District No. 2, Freedom township, celebrated its 100th anniversary Sunday with a picnic and program on the school grounds.

Morning services were held at 10 a. m. in Zion and St. John's churches, Rev. M. W. Brueckner and Rev. W. G. Mauch delivering sermons in observance of the occasion.
A basket dinner was served from 11:00 to 2:00, followed by a social half-hour. The Chelsea Band furnished music for the day.

The afternoon program, beginning at 2:30, opened with the invocation and welcome by Rev. Emil Wank of Toledo, after which a selection "El Capitan March" was rendered by the band.
Harry Nisaman of the rural educational department of Lansing was the principal speaker and his subject was "The Advancement of Rural Education during the past century and the Advantages of Rural Children."

Mr. Nisaman gave the percentage of children from rural districts who are taking advantage of the high schools, which in some districts is as low as ten per cent. He said the state is endeavoring to solve the problem by supplying public funds, thus making it possible for all rural children to obtain a high school education.

The next number on the program was an overture, "The Honor Roll," by the band, after which the history of District No. 2, Freedom, was given by the present teacher, Miss Irene Huehl.

"Nearer My God to Thee" and "School Days" were sung by the assembly.

Remarks by Miss Cora L. Haas, county school commissioner, stressed character building as the greatest problem of the public school. She mentioned the fact that at present the greater part of this work is being done in the home and the church, but the department of public education should make every effort to help in the solution of this problem.

"The Silver Glad" waltz by the band was followed by roll call of former teachers, to which responses were given by Alice Guinan Norman, Benjamin Huehl, Julius Schmid, Lillian Skinner Ingane, Martha Kusterer, Harriet Sewell Sample, Elsie Heydlauff Kalmbach and Sarah Kuhl Brown.

A telegram with greetings was received from Rev. Paul Reichert, of Walla Walla, Wash. Flowers were presented Mrs. Katherine Kuhl of Manchester, the oldest living pupil of the school, who is in her 88th year.

Community singing of "America" and prayer by Rev. Wenk concluded the program.

The committee in charge of the celebration wishes to thank Geo. P. Staffan and B. I. Plankell for the use of tents and chairs, the Chelsea Board of Education for tables, the Chelsea Band for music, the Red & White store, Dick and Purchase of Ann Arbor for loud speaker and service, Miss Haas and staff for programs and assistance, and all others who helped make the affair a success.
The complete history of the school will be published next week.

Homecoming Planned By American Legion

Herbert J. McKune Post of the American Legion are making arrangements for two days of gayety this fall and the date has been set for October 5 and 6. Plans are as yet just in the formation state but the special committees will be named at a meeting to be held Thursday night and their work will start in earnest. Local and outside talent will entertain for the two days' entertainment, which will include drum and bugle corps drill, athletic games, concerts and dancing, with other features which will make the event an outstanding one. While the Legion is sponsoring this festival and homecoming it is their hope that it shall be a community affair with everybody joining in.

CONCERT AND PARADE
The Chelsea and Ypsilanti Sea Scouts will put on an exhibition drill and parade on Main street next Wednesday evening before the final band concert of this season. The Chelsea Band will furnish music for exhibition. Following the drill the Ypsilanti Sea Scouts will be guests of the local Scouts at the high school gymnasium.

WILL FORM FITZGERALD CLUB
There will be an organization meeting of the Young Fitzgerald-for-Governor Club at the Chamber of Commerce in Ann Arbor, Friday evening, August 24, at 8 o'clock. Those desiring transportation will please see Gerald Luick.

Miss Josephine Liebeck Named "Miss Chelsea"

Chelsea will be represented at the Washtenaw County Fair next week by Miss Josephine Liebeck, who has been selected by a local committee to appear as "Miss Chelsea."

Many nominations were received for the contest which was scheduled to be held at the Princess Theatre on Monday night for the selection of Miss Chelsea. Many of the girls were present at the theatre that evening but would not appear on the stage for the contest. The contest was called off at that time and on Wednesday judges selected Miss Liebeck from the list of entries.

Miss Liebeck will appear at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor tonight, when the winners of contests from all the communities in the county will be presented by the theatre management.

On Wednesday of next week, the second day of the Fair, the "Queen of the Fair" will be selected. The prize to the Queen will be a free trip to the Century of Progress.

Pennant Winners To Face Trojans Tonight

Chelsea's Twilight Ball League season closed officially last Thursday evening when the Legion team maintained their first place position by defeating the Sea Scouts, the score being 4 to 1.

The Legion team has been challenged by the Trojan team, winners of the pennant last year. This game will be played at Holmes field tonight and an interesting battle is anticipated. The Trojans will have a stronger team than they have had this year, using practically the same line-up as last year. Admission will be free to this game, which will be called at 6 o'clock.

Final standings of the teams is as follows:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Legion	12	3	.800
St. Pauls	11	4	.733
Congregationals	10	5	.667
Trojans	6	9	.399
Methodists	5	10	.333
Sea Scouts	1	14	.067

Curbing Work Stops Until September 1st

Because of a shortage in FERA funds available, the work of curbing West Middle street will be stopped today, according to J. E. McKune, village president. It is planned to resume the work on September 1st.

A total of 26 men have been employed on this project, working from 8 a. m. to 23 hours each per week. Last week, there was a total of 488 work hours. The project has been under way five weeks and will be completed in about two weeks after work is resumed. Practically all funds have been furnished by the FERA.

When the curbing is completed the street will be graveled, with FERA aid.

Legion Picnic Held At Newport Beach

The first annual Washtenaw County Legion picnic was held at Newport Beach at Portage Lake on Sunday, August 19. The picnic, the first of its kind held in this county, was well attended by the local members of the American Legion, the Auxiliary and their families, more than forty from Chelsea being seated at the picnic dinner which had been prepared by the women of the local Auxiliary.

Entertainment was furnished the Legionnaires and Auxiliary members by being entertained with motor boat racing. Numerous thrills were furnished by the contestants in the rough waters.
A picnic for the local Legionnaires and Auxiliary is being planned for the near future. Further announcements will be made in this regard at a later date.

RECEIVES COURT SUMMONS

Members of the local Kiwanis club were astonished Monday evening when, just as they were ready to partake of their dinner at Inverness Country Club, Deputy George Atkinson appeared on the scene and served the president of the club, Supt. H. L. Bleecker, with a court summons. The Kiwanians could not imagine what their respected president might have done, and the president seemed somewhat bewildered, and was indignant at the thought of the deputy serving a paper of this nature in such a public place. However, upon reading the summons, it turned out to be a call to the "Court of Last Resort", at the Kiwanis state convention which will be held at Traverse City on September 4 and 5. This revelation was indeed a relief to the assembly as they at first feared it would be necessary for them to "ball their chief out." Mr. Bleecker, Bob Hall and Bill Wheeler will represent the local club at the Traverse City convention.

GRASS LAKE—Three runaway boys from Starr Commonwealth home at Albion were picked up by William Bostedor, marshal, last Friday evening. They were on their way to Ypsilanti where the mother of one of the boys resides. The boys were turned over to Justice Crafts who provided them with supper and later they were returned to the Albion home by state police.—News.

BRIGHTON—Upon graduating from Brighton high school in 1920,

Miss Mildred Taylor received a class ring with B. H. S., 1920 in the set, and with her initials cut on the inside. The same year while in bathing in Worden lake the ring was lost. In August, 1934, David Singer of Lexington, Ky., while in bathing at the same place and while looking for some coins which had fallen out of his pocket found the ring. In examining the list of 1920 students the initials on the ring led to the discovery of the owner, who gratefully received the long lost jewel.—Argus.

DUNDEE—The local post of the American Legion are planning a program of entertainment for their annual Fun Fest which will be held here on Friday and Saturday, September 28 and 29. An appeal will be made to the village council for the roping off of various streets and permission to hold the carnival on the main square of the village.—Reporter.

Lay Forgetfulness to Mice The reason that a cat forgets its master is stated to be because cats eat mice, which are eminently the cause for forgetfulness. In Russia, Jewish boys are not allowed to stroke a cat lest they lose their powers of memory. This prohibition does not extend to girls, however.

Michigan Department of State WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Frank D. Fitzgerald Secretary of State

A total of 559,851 automobile drivers must secure new motor vehicle operators' licenses before the end of the year, according to records of the department of state.

The new law became effective May 1, 1931 and for the balance of that year 737,130 licenses were issued. Each license must be renewed every three years and since May 1, 1934 only 177,279 licenses were issued up to August 19.

For the first two weeks of August, licenses have been issued at the rate of 2,365 a day.

Indications that business in Michigan is on the upgrade is shown by the manner in which corporations are filing annual reports with the department of state.

According to the corporation division, over $200,000 more had been received on August 15 in payment of 1934 corporation privilege taxes than had been paid in on August 15, 1933.

All corporations authorized to do business under the laws of Michigan must file annual reports by September 1 each year. This includes not only 19,000 companies incorporated to conduct business for profit but also 6,000 non-profit companies, who do not pay the privilege tax but which must make annual accountings to the state.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

The following clipping from an Omaha, Neb. World-Herald refers to the achievements of Melvin P. Osborne, who is a grandson of Mrs. Hattie Noyes Osborne, formerly of Chelsea. The young man is also a grand nephew of Mrs. S. G. Bush of Chelsea. The article follows:

Melvin P. Osborne, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd N. Osborne, 5119 Capitol avenue, Saturday received word that he has been awarded the regional scholarship for the north central area at Yale.

For the coming year the scholarship carries an award of $850 and six hundred dollars for his sophomore, junior and senior years if his work earns a superior rating.

Melvin was notified of his selection by Ogen Dayton Miller, director of the bureau of appointments, Yale university. The honor came to Melvin because of his extraordinary record at Central high school, and his equally excellent showing in the examinations in which he entered into competition with scholars in the seven states of the north central area, which includes Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, North and South Dakota. This was the first year Nebraska has been included in the competition.

Faculty members of Central high were delighted at the honor Melvin brought the school.

There, Melvin completed an all-A record for the four-year course. He received nothing but A's while in high school, a total of 38 altogether. In addition he was chosen as the best all around student in the senior class. A member of the junior honor society, he was elected to the National Honor society in his senior year. He was a lieutenant in the cadet regiment, a member of the road show cast, sang bass in a number of the operas, and was a member of the a cappella choir.

This year he was chosen to represent Omaha and this district in the Young Citizens' contest conducted by the American Legion and sponsored by the World-Herald.

In 1931 at the age of 14, he was one of 70 Eagle Scouts in Omaha to be chosen as Boy Scout representative on the general committee of the Omaha 10-year development council. E. R. Burke, chairman, characterized his selection as a part of the youth movement sweeping the country.

Melvin, when attending Dundee school, was awarded the Rotary honor for being the best all around boy in the graduating class.

In high school he also was interested in sports, and goes in for tennis and swimming.

Melvin plans to study medicine and surgery. He wired his acceptance of the scholarship award at once.

WILL IS WILD BOY IN LATEST FILM COMEDY

His wife wanted him to retire and play a little—but all play and no work makes Will a wild boy.

That, in brief, is the story of Will Rogers' latest picture, "Handy Andy" coming to the Michigan Theatre, Ann Arbor, on Sunday. Advance reports from the previews say this is the funniest comedy of his career. And the highlights of the story bear this out. Will is getting along comfortably in his drug store when his wife, Peggy Wood, persuades him to sell out. First he takes up pigeon raising, but he has to stop that when his pets fly all over the house. Next he takes up golf, with uproarious results. Then his wife and daughter, Mary Carlisle, persuade him to attend the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. That's when things really begin to happen.

Of course there's more to the story than that. Much more. Among other things, Will serves as cupid in his daughter's romance with a young man his wife doesn't approve of. And there's a surprise ending that can't be tipped off in advance.

TO THE WOOD—WHERE THE BIG TREES GROW

By Arthur Carlton—for The Standard

At morning's first hour at the song of the birds, The meadowlark, robin, the thrush, we have heard, To welcome the day, give a new thrill to life, For its labor and toll, its care and its strife.

But, how sweet after sunset to go to the wood, To sniff and to breathe in its silence and good Which thrills all our being at close of the day,

To commune with our heart, to meditate—Pray.

Down in the wood where the big trees grow, Where zephyrs play—There the violets grow, Where leafy boughs their courtesies give

To each other each day, so long as they live.

To the wood let me go at the close of the day, To commune with my heart, to meditate—Pray!

24 YEARS AGO

Thursday, August 25, 1910

One of the delights of the continued drought was the attempt of a man living near Saline to produce rain by a supply of dynamite.

The result was no rain but every pane of glass was blown out of his own buildings as well as his neighbors for some distance around.

Visit The Washtenaw County Fair Next Week

And what fun you'll have while doing it! What fun it will be to visit with your neighbors, meet old friends you haven't seen since last year's Fair, see all the shows, eat hot dogs, drink lemonade, watch the Rodeo in many other surprises the Fair is planning for you! It will be the best day of fun you have had in many a week—you'll find this out when you get there! It will be a day you can't forget until the next Fair rolls around.

If there is anything about the farm or in the home that you think is good enough to win a prize at the coming Fair, why not show it this year? Whether an unusually good cow, rooster, quilt, pumpkin, pig, or what-not, plan on bringing it to the Fair. You'll find out it isn't so hard to put yourself in the ribbon-winning class. That's the way all the old-time exhibitors got started.

But whether you plan to exhibit anything or not, plan on spending at least one day at the Fair. Pack grandma, grandpa, mother and the children into the old car, take in some one day of the Fair and the management will see that there is not an idle minute for you when you get there. It's your Fair, so be there!

The dates are August 28, 29, 30 and 31.

HILLTOPS CLEAR By Emilie Loring

THE STORY

CHAPTER I—Prudence Schuyler comes from New York to Prosperity Farm, inherited from her uncle, to make a new life for herself and her brother David, whose health has been broken by tragedy.

CHAPTER II—The second day on her farm Prudence ventures into the barn loft after eggs. She slips on the hay and falls to the ground—would have been badly hurt had not strong young arms been there to catch her.

Prudence regarded him from under sweeping lashes. "Just why are you inflicting me with the story of your young life?"

Even the bald spot of Calloway's head went crimson. "You won't get anywhere wisecracking with me. You'll come round sooner or later to wanting me to handle your timber—"

Prudence never before had realized her capacity for fury. "I get it. Now get this. There will be no interference when you cut my timber, Mr. Calloway, for you won't cut it. I have already contracted with Mr. Gerard to do it."

"Gerard! Gerard get out lumber! That's a joke. I don't run away with the idea that because he can pilot a plane he'd stick to anything that was worth. He dances and games his days away. He'd run at the first touch of winter. As for managing a crew, his poor flabby muscles would make a fine showing in a lumber camp. They—"

Rodney Gerard's face was white, his eyes were afe, as he caught the surprised Calloway round the waist and by sheer force of arms and knees rushed him outside.

He returned and banged the door shut. He leaned against it, dusted one hand against the other, and observed somewhat breathlessly: "Saw his red car here and came back. Business seems to be opening with a whang, partner."

For the third time in ten minutes Prudence rearranged the egg-shells cups on the butterfly table, lifted the silver skittle-ball kettle to make sure that the wick of the spirit lamp on its brazier-like stand would flame at the touch of a match. She glanced at the banjo clock. Only five minutes since she had looked before? Unbelievable. Time was creeping on hands and knees. The knocker? She glanced at the clock. Not time for her brother. Who could it be?

She drew forward a thin little girl in a soft pink frock who had been standing behind her. The child curtsied demurely. She had pickish dark eyes, pale, unhealthy skin, short hair. "Won't you come in?"

Prudence wanted to snap, "No. Auction room." Mrs. Walter Gerard was so blatantly a person to whom family background would matter enormously in her estimate of a person, but she couldn't deny her father's great-grandmother.

"But, my dear, don't you realize that it is a museum piece? That man's fame as a goldsmith has reached the ends of the earth. Fancy using it!" She settled back in her chair. "As I was saying, my brother-in-law is a bachelor. In consequence, I am never at a loss for young company."

Her wink fired Prudence with an unholy impulse to scratch her. "But he's such a butterfly. He flits from flower to flower, never settles to one girl. A quite natural attitude for a rich man who has been pursued all his life, don't you think so, Miss Schuyler?"

"She was intimating what St. Puffer had said, that Rodney Gerard was in terror of being married for his fortune. Did the woman think that she needed warning? A crash saved Prudence's reputation for courtesy. Jean had been investigating the sugar bowl, the child scowled down upon it.

"How amusing that you should have imagined that, darling. Your Uncle Rodney is an indolent, good-natured boy; perhaps he might allow himself to be monopolized—for a time. You have a brother, dear Miss Schuyler?"

"Yes, I expect him at any moment." She deliberately looked at the clock. Never in her life had she been so rude, but never before had she had such occasion, she excused herself.

"Coming today! Happy girl! I'll run away, you must be busy. You will come to High Ledges when we return in the spring, won't you? We close the house soon, so I am afraid—" "Uncle Rod isn't going," Jean announced.

"Prudence blinked valiantly. "David, I'm as temperamental as ever. I forgot everything when I saw you. Mr. Gerard, remember that you promised to have tea with us."

"Thank you, Mr. Schuyler. One is apt to be stiff after a long train ride." Prudence put her arm under her brother's while Gerard stared him on the other side. They led him to the wing chair in front of the fireplace. He sank into it and closed his eyes. Her breath caught in a strangled sob. He looked up and smiled.

"Prudence announced in a stentorian tone, as she reached for the teakettle on the range from which to fill the silver one in her hand. Gerard seized it.

"Let me battle. I'll feel like an unemployed at this family reunion unless I can help."

"What's the matter with Nickels?" "Grand! Picture me scattering corn, calling 'Nickels! Nickels!' A little action, this morning! Eggs, Nickels, eggs!"

"After tea Gerard carried the tray to the kitchen. Prudence could hear the faint rattle of his voice as he talked to Jane Mack."

"Nothing, except that even in the late era of frozen assets the bulk of his fortune remained fluid. Mrs. St. was his authority. That woman is a regular Who's Who for this village. The fact that he is rich tells me all I want to know."

"All rich men are not alike, Prue. You and I have been unfortunate in some we have known." "David, do you think that I will ever forget the result of Juliet's marriage to a playboy? She was the sweetest big sister a girl ever had, and she died of a broken heart. Forgive me, Dave, forgive me," she pleaded, as his head dropped back against the chair and his eyes closed.

"Prudence resented his assurance. "I can't talk business now, Mr. Calloway. My brother has just arrived and I want to be with him." "I won't detain you but a moment. I came to ask once more if you will give the contract for cutting your timber to me."

"I have already told you that I have arranged with Mr. Gerard to do it." "Gerard!" Calloway shrugged. "His score. You make me laugh in the first place, suppose Gerard should stick to the proposition long enough to begin work—he won't, but we'll let it go for the sake of argument—where would he get a crew to log for him? There isn't a man in this town who would dare work for Gerard if I said 'No!'"

Prudence announced in a stentorian tone, as she reached for the teakettle on the range from which to fill the silver one in her hand. Gerard seized it.

"Let me battle. I'll feel like an unemployed at this family reunion unless I can help."

"What's the matter with Nickels?" "Grand! Picture me scattering corn, calling 'Nickels! Nickels!' A little action, this morning! Eggs, Nickels, eggs!"

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—What is the meaning of the word "putsch" and how pronounced?

Ans.—"Putsch" is a new word that cannot be found in any dictionary earlier than 1933. It is a noun, meaning "a petty rebellion" or "a popular uprising". It is German, from the Swiss dialect. The word is pronounced "pooch" (the "oo" having the same sound as the "oo" in the word choose.)

Ques.—I would like to know the origin of "crocodile tears," or why they are so called?

Ans.—"Crocodile tears" are hypocritical tears or pretended grief. This saying got its origin from the old myth that crocodiles moan and sigh like human beings in distress to allure travelers to the spot. This piece of mythology states that they even shed tears over their prey while in the act of devouring it.

Ques.—To decide a little controversy, will you please state in your Questions and Answers department the correct way to write in figures the sum "eleven thousand eleven hundred and eleven"?

Ans.—This is sort of a "catch" problem. But if you will stop to think for a moment, you will see that the "eleven hundred" is equivalent to "one thousand one hundred"; hence the correct way to write the sum would be "12,111".

Ques.—Is there any place in the United States where one can throw stones into four different States without moving from his tracks?

Ans.—Yes. At a point about one mile south of the San Juan river, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico converge. At this intersection there is a highway running east and west, and another one running north and south. It would be very possible for one to stand in the middle of this intersection and hurl a stone into the corners of the States mentioned above.

Ques.—When a baseball player bats a pitched ball fair does the ball come to a complete stop when the bat hits it and it goes sizzling into the field? If the ball is in motion all the time how can it come to a stop?

Ans.—Theoretically the ball comes to a stop the instant the batter hits it. But as the length of time it stops is so infinite, it is considered in motion all the time. There is no instrument known that can measure the length of time a ball stops when it strikes a bat to return in the opposite direction.

Ques.—When a building burns, to the ground many will say that it burned up, and equally as many people will say that it burned down. Isn't one or the other wrong? How can a building burn up and down at the same time?

Ans.—While both expressions are intended to mean the same thing, the expression the "building burned down" is correct, if we wish to be precise.

Ques.—Will you tell me in your good and interesting paper if there is such a thing as a "hoop snake" (one that takes its tail in its mouth and rolls like a hoop)? If so, are they poisonous?

Ans.—The so-called "hoop snake" is very common in the Southern States. The snake is a bluish black on top, with three red lines. It is flesh-colored below, with black spots. Only superstitious people say that this snake takes its tail in its mouth and rolls like a hoop until it strikes its object of attack. There is no foundation whatever for this belief. The fact of the matter is, the snake spends most of its time burrowing underneath the ground, and is absolutely harmless. It is more properly called a "horn snake" because of two small knots on its head.

Ques.—I am told that England once had a king that could not speak a word of English. Is that true? If so, why is such a thing possible?

Ans.—Yes, it is true. King George I of England was a native of a German principality, and when he married into English royalty he became King of England. He never showed any desire to learn the language of his new kingdom, but took more interest in his native German.

Ques.—My great-great-grandfather and great-great-grandmother were born on the same date (August 29, 1830). The Bible records give the day of the week, but it is so dim we can't make out whether it is Saturday or Sunday. I am told you can tell me the day of the week in your question department.

Ans.—Sunday is the correct day of the week, as August 26, 1830 fell on that day.

Ques.—To what political party did President William Henry Harrison belong? When was he President and who was Secretary of State in his cabinet?

Ans.—President William Henry Harrison was a Whig and was elected in November, 1840. Before his death in 1841 he appointed Daniel Webster Secretary of State. President Harrison died one month after his inauguration on March 4, 1841. He was succeeded by John Tyler, the Vice-President.

PRINCE RUDIGER VON STARHEMBERG of Austria, who has just been in Italy consulting with Premier Mussolini, says the Austrian government expects a new Nazi outbreak in that country within the next few months. He says he has information that a putsch is being prepared, and that he distrusts the peace talk of the German government. He also doubts the reports of the dissolution of the Austrian people are in favor of the Hapsburg restoration, that the Yangtze is for it, and that Italy and England are neutral, but that France and the little entente would oppose it.

TWENTY years ago, August 16, 1914, the Panama canal was opened to traffic, and the figures given out on the anniversary are interesting. During the canal's existence 80,122 commercial vessels have passed through it. Tolls collected totaled $860,287,018. A total of 866,000,057 tons of cargo were carried, and the net tonnage of the ships using the canal was 308,940,519.

United States shipping totaled 35,123 vessels, which paid $101,068,410 in tolls and carried 177,008,314 tons of cargo. It had 48.8 per cent of the vessels, 47.6 per cent of the tonnage, the same percentage of tolls, and 48.5 per cent of the cargo carried.

British shipping was second, with 21,874 ships, $66,022,692 in tolls, and 66,204,012 tons of cargo. The Norwegians were third, with 4,372 vessels, $16,310,780 tolls, and 20,143,449 tons of cargo. German ships numbered 8,317; Japanese, 2,858; Dutch, 1,076, and then came the French, Danish, and Swedish.

ADMINISTRATOR JAMES A. MOFFETT inaugurated the housing administration's billion-dollar home repair program, the first loan being made by a Washington bank to Miss Alma McGrum, a home owner. In the presence of many bankers and government officials, Mr. Moffett said credit facilities were available in cities and towns with populations aggregating 80,000,000.

A booklet issued by the housing administration explains that any property owner may apply for a housing loan to any bank, building and loan association, or other financial company approved by the administration for a loan of $100 to $2,000 for improvements on the property. Notes are made to run up to three years and the only security is a good credit standing in the community and a regular income.

The finance companies may not charge more than $5 per $100 in fees, interest, or discounts, and the notes are to be repaid in equal monthly installments. Applications may be made for family residences, apartment buildings, stores, office buildings, factories, warehouses, farm buildings, garages, or any other kind of housing or business property.
