Burglars Continue Local Activities

Chelsea and vicinity are sharing in the activities of burglars to a more than welcome degree, a number of robberies having been committed here during the past few months. Safes have been carried away, one safe has been broken into and now more thefts have been reported.

When Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Burkhardt returned from Minnesota the past week, they found that their residence in Lima township had been burglarized during their absence. The loss was discovered about August 20 by Miss Cora Feldkamp, who was looking after the home. Several articles of jewelry, consisting of a watch, fob, four band rings and one set ring, are missing. Entrance was gained by prying open an east window, the burglars escaping by the cellar door. A lady's tie was found in the bushes under the window.

Burglars entered through a rear window of Palmer's garage Thursday night, and four wheels and four tires were taken from a car. This is the second time within a few weeks the Palmer garage has been burglarized, the first haul being more than $100 in cash.

It is reported that several bicycles and large toys have been stolen from different parts of the village recently.

Beissels Celebrate 25th Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beissel on N. McKinley street was the scene of an enjoyable family party on Sunday, the occasion being the celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Lovely bouquets of autumn-flowers formed the house decorations, carrying out a color scheme of pink and white. White tapers tied with pink gauze lighted the tables where dinner was served to twenty-five guests. Following the dinner a reception was held, during which Mr. and Mrs. Beissel were presented with a chest of silver and a silver tea service. Guests at the party included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Abrahamson of Grand Forks, N. D., Mr. and Mrs. Frank McNaney, daughters Merle, Dorothy and Louise, Mr. and Mrs. John Brower and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Otney and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton McNaney, John Rock, William Davis, Edward Conkin and Miss Frances Luscombe of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Foster, daughter Peggy and Miss May Welsh of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foster, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Foster, Miss Lena Foster and John Beissel of Ann Arbor, Roy Breitenwischer of Manchester, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Wheeler and family, Mrs. Robert Wheeler and daughter Joan of Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Beissel are life-long residents of Chelsea. They were married in 1909 in Ann Arbor by Bishop E. D. Kelly, and have three sons and two daughters.

Bandits Take Cash From Frank Leach

Three men, said to be foreigners, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leach of Lima township about 8:30 Wednesday night, held them up at the points of guns and ordered them to turn over any money which they had in the house. They tied Mr. Leach with sheets while they searched the house after being told that $25 which Mrs. Leach gave them was all the cash they had in the house. They did not offer to harm Mrs. Leach.

Evidently the men had received a tip from someone who knew the habits of the Leaches for they intimidated that Mrs. Leach carried large sums of money, and she was the one who had the $25, but luckily Mr. Leach had purchased some lambs on Wednesday and their cash was low.

ROTHFUSS-HORNING WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George Rothfuss of Lima announced the marriage of their daughter, Marie, to Ernest Horning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Horning of Sharon. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, September 5, at St. Paul's parsonage. Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. The couple was attended by Miss Betha Horning, sister of the groom, and Walter Rothfuss, brother of the bride. The bride was attired in pink crepe and carried Talisman roses, while Miss Horning wore a dress of blue crepe and carried Ophelia roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Horning enjoyed a wedding trip to the Century of Progress. They will make their home with the bride's parents for the winter.

CHELSEA STORES will close Wednesday evenings, beginning next week.

Chelsea's Birthday Celebration Will Be Widely Advertised

Every former resident of Chelsea and vicinity will receive a personal invitation to attend the 100th Birthday Party and Homecoming on October 5th and 6th. The invitations which are being printed bear greetings from the present inhabitants to the Old Timers and carry a hearty invitation for them to attend and meet their old neighbors. The invitation committee is asking for help in securing the present addresses of former residents and if you can furnish them with the names and present residence of any they will appreciate it greatly as it is hoped that none will be left out—your list may be turned in at the Chelsea State Bank, Wm. Kolb's, Miller's Barber Shop or at the Standard office and the committee will send the invitation out next week.

Forty large roadside signs are being made to be placed alongside the highways in this vicinity and other posters and window cards will be used to call attention to "Our Party."

The sports committee will have a complete list of events ready for next week and entries will be set out for so that the events can be staged without delay or confusion. The prizes, which the merchants have generously donated will make winning worthwhile.

While it is too early to publish the program of attractions in its entirety, the present set-up will provide for acts and entertainments each hour of the two days and two stands will be set up so there will be no long delays in the program.

A complete history of Lima, Sylvan and Lyndon townships, together with Chelsea, will be published in "The Chelsea Standard" of October 4 and the local store windows will be used as a gallery for any old time pictures which may be loaned for the celebration. If you have any old-time pictures or portraits the committee in charge of decorations will see to it that they are properly displayed and safely returned.

Any suggestions as to how the days can be made more enjoyable for guests will be appreciated by Legion members and open meetings will be held by the various committees each Thursday evening at 7:30, at Kolb's hall, to which all are cordially invited.

Fitzgerald and Lacy Lead in State Vote

As the result of the primary election on Tuesday, Michigan voters have for their choice for governor at the November election, Frank D. Fitzgerald, Republican, and Arthur J. Lacy, Democrat, who was the choice of his party, defeating Governor Wm. A. Comstock. Fitzgerald easily outdistanced his nearest rival, Alex J. Groesbeck, for the nomination.

Earl C. Michener, former congressman from this district, polled more than double the votes received by his opponent, J. Milton Hoover of Ypsilanti, for the Republican congressional nomination. Michener will oppose the Democratic incumbent, John C. Lehr, who was unopposed in the primary.

Chelsea's only candidate in the primary race, John S. Cummings, easily won the nomination for Register of Deeds over Mark B. Suggen of Saline and will seek his fifth term at the November election.

Jacob Andrus polled the greatest majority of any candidate in the county, receiving more than 6000 of the 7000 votes cast for the nomination of sheriff on the Republican ticket.

Redmond M. Burr won the Republican nomination for state representative, with James Warner second and Jack Dunn third.

C. W. Tuomy, incumbent, won the Republican nomination for drain commissioner; Emmet Gibb for county clerk; C. E. Crittenden for county treasurer; Jos. C. Hooper and Lee Brown for circuit court commissioners.

Few of the Democratic county candidates were opposed in the primary; Mrs. C. J. McDonald won the nomination for the state senate and Owen Steffe will be the Democratic candidate for sheriff.

Very few Democrats in Sylvan township cast ballots in the primary, there being 78 votes cast for governor, as compared to 402 Republican votes cast for governor. The result here is as follows:

Sylvan Township
Republican

Governor—
Orla A. Bailey ..... 3
Frank D. Fitzgerald ..... 217
Alex J. Groesbeck ..... 174
John W. Smith ..... 8

Public School Opens With 468 Enrolled

Chelsea public school opened on Monday with the total enrollment of 468 students, compared with 439 last year, a gain of 29. Thirty students who would have attended the St. Mary high school, are enrolled in the public high school due to the fact that the parochial high school will not be conducted this year.

The enrollment in grades is as follows:

Kindergarten ..... 25
First-Grade ..... 25
Second Grade ..... 31
Third Grade ..... 30
Fourth Grade ..... 26
Fifth Grade ..... 28
Sixth Grade ..... 26
Seventh Grade ..... 32
Eighth Grade ..... 36
Ninth Grade ..... 55
Tenth Grade ..... 47
Eleventh Grade ..... 48
Twelfth Grade ..... 54

Teachers' meetings were held Monday morning. The afternoon was taken up with enrollment of students, classification, assignment to classes and of lessons. Full schedules were in effect on Tuesday.

The first football practice of the season was held Monday. The opening game will be played here on Friday, September 21, with Milan as the opponents.

St. Mary's parochial school opened this week with an enrollment of 80 pupils in the grades.

Eastern Star Play To Be Presented Tonight

On Thursday and Friday nights, September 13 and 14, the Chelsea Order of Eastern Star will stage "The World's All Right," with a cast of 100 local people, at the public school auditorium. The World's All Right completely answers the description of "something different."

The scene of the entire show is laid in a radio broadcasting studio and the radio announcer, Jimmy Waddell, is played by Bud Gulde. His sweetheart and secretary, Jane Rogers, is played by Helen Hoffman. These two young people are trying to keep a radio station from going broke. Bill collectors haunt them and talent walks out on them. Nevertheless, they are determined to put over a big program in order to sell some advertising to Mr. Dinkell of Dinkell Pickles, Inc. Clarence McBride plays the part of Mr. Dinkell, Roy Dillon plays the part of the bill collector.

The comedy lead, Joe, the office boy, is portrayed by Donald Adam. He saves the day in the end by putting an act over the air which is a sensational success. Jane Belsler plays opposite Joe in the role of Gerlie Green, the vamp of New Orleans, and sings the number which is the high spot on the radio program.

The entire show being laid in a broadcasting studio, it is unique because the audience is given a backstage view of what goes on as the programs are put over the air. When talent fails to show up and things go wrong, the radio announcer is often called upon to fill in and give character impersonations himself. In many instances that is just what takes place in this show.

President Names Board to Investigate Growing Textile Strike—Senator Lewis Says Democrats Don't Support Sinclair's Socialistic Views.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

John G. Wigant

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT took a hand in the textile strike by appointing a board of inquiry. The members he named are Gov. John G. Wigant of New Hampshire, Marion Smith of Atlanta, Ga., and Raymond V. Ingersoll, borough president of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Smith is an attorney and the son of the late Senator Hoke Smith. This board was appointed on the recommendation of the national labor relations board and its duties were thus outlined:

- 1. To inquire into the general character and extent of the complaints of workers in the cotton textile, wool, rayon, silk and allied industries.
2. Inquire into problems confronting the employers in said industries.
3. Consider ways and means of meeting said problems and complaints.
4. Exercise in connection with said industries powers authorized to be conferred by the first section of public resolution 44.
5. On request of the parties to labor dispute, act as a board of voluntary arbitration or select a person or agency for voluntary arbitration.

When it appeared they were desirable.
NRA was dealt a severe blow when the Retail Code authority resigned in a body in protest against the way the NRA is handling the code. The seven members who were the ruling body of the Retail Code for 80,000 retail code dealers, are: Roderick Stephens, New York, chairman; Milton E. Robinson, Jr., Chicago, vice chairman; Clarence V. Beck, St. Louis; William A. Clark, Boston; Charles M. Farrar, Raleigh, N. C.; Edward B. Jacobs, Reading, Pa.; and John McLachlan, Pullman, Ill. Their resignation was due to the NRA's claim that it can revise any code at any time without giving notice to the industry involved.
'As now constituted by the NRA, the code is a futile and unworkable thing, while as originally agreed upon it represented a constructive basis for improvement of conditions in this industry,' the members told General Johnson.

EIGHT thousand, seven hundred employees of the Aluminum Company of America, who had been on strike for a month, were ordered by their union to return to their jobs when an agreement ending the walkout was signed. Both the company and the workers accepted concessions through the efforts of Fred Keightly, labor department conciliator.

AFTER Upton Sinclair, ex-Socialist who obtained the Democratic nomination for governor of California, had called on President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, he jubilantly asserted that his plan to 'End Poverty in California' was identical with the New Deal.
Washington and sought the support of administration leaders for his campaign. Mr. Roosevelt had said nothing publicly concerning Mr. Sinclair, but Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, made some pungent comments about the California nomination.

Senator Lewis

'There has been no California Democratic nomination for governor,' Senator Lewis said. 'The nomination was made by Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas and Nebraska Republicans who had moved to southern California. It was Republicans from these states who nominated Mr. Sinclair, not the Democrats nor the Republicans of California. This gentleman's nomination can be charged to that class of Republicans in Los Angeles as a general protest against conditions.'

'Senator Johnson came out for the whole of the Roosevelt policies, and was nominated by all parties. We rank him as a Democrat.
'President Roosevelt is not being disturbed by any presumption that he is endorsing the individual views of Candidate Sinclair. The President, in fact, expects very shortly before the congressional elections to make an address to America, in which he will express the Roosevelt policy and wherein the real democracy he represents offers remedies which prevent the radicalism of Socialism and the destruction of Communism.
'Under the name of democracy can never advocate or endorse a system which appropriates and confiscates honest property, whether it be the wealth of the millionaires or the weekly wages of millions of toilers.'

DONALD RICHBERG, secretary of the executive council, made another report to the President on the New Deal efforts to relieve financial pressure, showing the government has loaned more than seven billion dollars to save businesses and homes. Here are the high lights of his report:
1. RFC actually has disbursed $5,853,000,000.
2. The Home Owners' Loan corporation has advanced $1,209,445,000, ending a real estate panic and saving the homes of 432,000 families from foreclosure.
3. Five banks insured by the FDIC have failed.
4. Federal home loan bank system loans are far below capacity because of faults now being corrected.

HUEY LONG'S plans to control the primary in Louisiana were curbed by two injunctions issued by a federal and a state court, but his exposure of the administration of New Orleans by Mayor Wainmley and his friends went on unhindered. Also the 'dictatorship' laws passed by the senator's legislature became binding and put an end to much of the gay life in New Orleans, for the 'old regular' machine which has ruled the city for years was helpless. Governor Allen, Long's henchman, has full power to enforce the new laws through the state police or the militia. Dissemination of horse race news being now unlawful, the publications specializing in such information planned to leave the city.

Michigan Department of State

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN
Frank D. Fitzgerald, Secretary of State

The Department of State is a 'clearing house' for information relative to state government.
Despite the manifold duties entrusted to the department by law, every mail brings strange requests for information. These requests every week ask for information concerning the proper procedure in cases where workers fail to receive PWA checks, or where the worker feels that there is some irregularity concerning the work. In each case, the request is referred to the proper department.

Other recent requests ask for information concerning the height of high tension wires; if notaries public can perform marriage ceremonies; if the state issues peddlers' licenses. One of the strangest requests received in recent weeks called for information concerning Congressional districts in Alaska.

The automobile gasoline tax for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, was $1,600,000 more than was collected for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933. Records of the Department of State show that for the twelve months ending June 30, 1934 a total of $15,741,210 was paid into the state coffers from this source.

All campaign expense accounts, under the law, are filed with county clerks. Candidates file their personal accounts with the clerks in the counties in which they reside. County campaign committees for candidates seeking state or national offices file in their own counties while state campaign committees file their accounts in the home county of the candidate. The law requires that all expense accounts be filed within 10 days after a primary election.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Two weeks ago the Enterprise published the account of the battle between our village marshal and a big blue racer over in the north part of town.
This week our attention has been called to a fierce encounter between James Burns, 13 years old, living on north Putman street and a big water snake, a trifle less than six feet long. The Burns boy reports shooting the snake as he was trying to devour a nine pound leather back turtle, coming up the creek in low water. The big turtle was very thankful to James for his rescue from the large snake, and at once standing on his hind legs made a noise like 'thankyou several times.'—Williamston Enterprise.

A grass fire which burned over 12 acres near Sand Lake, last Thursday, destroyed a barn on the Tom Bridges farm south of the lake and threatened to burn a number of cottages on the south shore of the lake. Only the prompt action of CCC men, farmers and cottagers numbering nearly 200, and the Adrian and Onsted fire departments prevented serious loss. The fire reached within 50 feet of the South Shore cottages before being extinguished.—Tucumseh Herald.

The Birmingham Eccentric says, 'Don't drive so fast that you must say 'That's an attractive town ahead, wasn't it?''—South Lyon Herald.

The drought is credited with increasing the number of indigents at Eloise Infirmary by Dr. Thomas K. Gruber, superintendent. On Saturday the registration totaled 7,123 which is 225 more than was established at the summer peak a year ago. An all-time high was established last winter with a total of 10,220. 'Many who would be employed on farms, with conditions normal, have been forced to seek charity,' Dr. Gruber said. The institution has facilities for caring for approximately 12,000 indigents.—Wayne County Review.

Automobile and merchandise bandits were busy in Milan Tuesday night and made way with one automobile and a considerable amount of merchandise. Frank Cooper, a traveling salesman for a Toledo wholesale house was the victim of the concentrated attack on the property. The merchandise which included samples of the large line of winter wearing apparel was valued at several hundred dollars. After leaving the garage, the car stopped at the Jorgenson farm just north of Milan on US-23 and the thieves filled the tank of the stolen car from the gas tank on the farm. After leaving the farm they are said to have headed north again. The car and merchandise were covered by insurance.—Milan Leader.

Considerable work is in progress on the roads at General Motors Proving Ground. The property is also to be surrounded by a new wire fence. The two jobs will take at least two months to complete.—Howell Republican Press.

CENSORED
(For a Little Girl who wanted a little dog, Oh, so much)
For the Standard, by Arthur Carlton
No matter how much pains I take in truth or allegory,
All that's required of me is this: just tell a funny story.
So?—Once upon a time there lived a wee-wee little girl,
Whose eyes were blue, whose cheeks were brown:
Her hair—O! how it curled.
Her mamma loved her, but she had to spend her hours all furled.
No little playmate cheered her heart or filled her little world.
Her mamma said to her, one day, I'm going to ask of God
To bring to you a sister, dear, No—Ask him for a dog!

No name is given, but I will leave it all for you to guess
Who?—Why it was, that she should love a little dog the best.

GEORGE A. SLOAN, president of Cotton Textile Institute, who at first claimed that two-thirds of the workers had refused to join the strike, later admitted that he was wrong and said: 'This thing is getting worse by the hour.'

G. A. Sloan

'I am deeply distressed to learn that blood has been shed in Georgia. These sad events make it plain that the forces unleashed by the strike leaders are now out of their control.
'This is no longer to be viewed as the ordinary industrial warfare which the term 'strike' implies in America. It is not a matter of leaving work and of peaceful picketing.
'The strike call was an appeal for confidence. The appeal was replied by a vast majority of our workers.
'Now lawless bands of misled people thousands in number, move across wide streams against whole communities, smash mill doors, drug men and women from work they wish to perform, and threaten with violence all who do not yield. This is an assault on fundamental American rights.'

Francis J. Gorman, director of the strike, announced that he would not revoke the strike call until the employers had accepted these demands:
1. Recognition of the United Textile Workers.
2. Reduction of working hours to 30 per week.
3. Machine loan limit and wage scale yet to be determined.
4. Promise by the companies not to interfere with union activities.
5. Provision for a mediation board within the industry to adjust disputes between employer and employee.
6. Promise by the workers and employers that there shall be no strikes nor lockouts during the life of the agreement.
7. An understanding by both parties as to the length of time the agreement shall be effective.

Frank Schweitzer, general secretary of the American Federation of Silk Workers, announced that with the walkout of 17,000 silk workers in the Paterson (N. J.) district and with mills closing in other sections, the silk industry was approximately 80 per cent shut down. Schweitzer disclosed that many unions in other industries, notably the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, were offering material aid to the strikers and supplying organizers.
The belief of the strikers that the government would indirectly finance their walkout by placing them on the relief lists was only partially justified by Relief Administrator Hopkins. He said the government took no sides in the matter and that relief would be given to strikers as to other individ-

"Coal Oil Johnny" Was Spendthrift; Died Poor

John W. Steele, the original Coal Oil Johnny of the American Oil Industry, was born in Mercer county, Pennsylvania, in 1848 and was adopted by the McClintocks, farmers on whose land oil was found. On the death of Mrs. McClintock in 1888, he inherited their farm lands and about $24,000 in cash. He went on a spending spree, disposing of the oil rights for over a million, though the cash payment was only $30,000. Beginning with nearby towns such as Oil City, he went on to Pittsburgh and then to Philadelphia. He bought fast horses, expensive jewelry and clothes and lavished them on his friends, contracted a hotel bill for $19,000, bought a half interest in a minstrel show, etc. He was swindled out of much of his wealth, though the amounts were greatly exaggerated and he claimed later that his total spendings did not exceed $250,000. In 1917 he was practically without funds, and had to seek a job on the railroad. He died on January 1, 1921, at East Cook, Neb. His autobiography (no longer listed as in print) is said to have been written largely by Samuel H. Gray, afterward stenographer in the house of representatives. —Detroit News.

Nova Scotians as Bluesones

One might readily, and with some degree of logic, conclude that the typical Nova Scotian, because of the extreme northern latitude of his native land, earned the nickname "Bluesone" through being presented with a blue nose by Jack Frost, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. Such, however, is not the source from which the word was derived. Bluesone became associated with Nova Scotia and its inhabitants as the result of a common variety of potato that in earlier times was exported in large quantities from that province to New England. The potatoes themselves were popularly known as bluesones, because one end was bluish in color, a fact that caused their name to become associated with the Nova Scotians who raised them.

Characteristics of Birds

Birds are like people, says a writer in the Kansas City Star. They have characteristics of their own. Each tree-nesting bird has its favorite tree. The waxwing loves the cedar; the crossbill, the pine; the flicker, the chestnut or the apple in the East; the cottonwood in the West; the oriole loves the elm; and the little yellow warbler, the gooseberry bush or the willow. The robin comes the nearest to being "just folks." Always one of the first birds to arrive in the spring, he remains all summer, and is one of the last to depart at the approach of winter. When our ancestors, the Pilgrim Fathers, stepped from the Mayflower, the first bird they saw they called the robin. That was probably the limit of the Pilgrim Fathers' bird lore.

Gray Rats in Europe

The gray rats invaded Europe following earthquakes and famine in India, in 1727. They moved across Europe in 1730, and were soon thereafter led to the belief that their migrations were highly organized and even directed by leaders. They swam rivers and entered all the big cities and places where food was available. They waged war against and systematically drove out the native black rats, who had taken refuge in the villages and in the fields.

Early Gold Hoarder. Christopher, black emperor of Haiti, had a summer home in Inagua, in the Bahamas, where he hid large quantities of gold—still hidden.

Bureau of Fisheries Vias Started by U. S. in 1871

The United States bureau of fisheries, the sole federal agency concerned primarily with the conservation and utilization of the nation's aquatic resources, had its origin in a joint resolution passed by congress on February 9, 1871, authorizing the appointment of a commissioner of fish and fisheries. Originally the commission of fish and fisheries was independent and its duties were largely investigatory. They were outlined by the first commissioner, Spencer Fullerton Baird, then assistant secretary of the Smithsonian institution in the following words, which refer to the resolution of congress establishing the commission: "The resolution . . . directed that it should be the duty of the commissioner to prosecute the necessary inquiries, with a view to ascertaining whether any, and, if so, what, diminution in the number of food fishes of the coast and lakes of the United States had taken place; and to determine what were the causes of the same, and to suggest any measure that might serve to remedy the evil." In 1903 the commission was incorporated into the new Department of Commerce and Labor, becoming known as the bureau of fisheries, and on the organization of the Department of Commerce was included in the new department.

CURRENT NEWS REVIEW
REICHSMUELLER HITLER of Germany renewed his warfare on Jews and also declared all other elements opposing his regime must be suppressed.

The chancellor, addressing the annual convention of the Nazi party in Nuremberg, made a slashing attack against "Jewish influence" on German life.

He was cheered frequently during his impassioned address, clarifying again his anti-Jewish, Pan-German philosophy of political and social science as the essence of his national-socialistic doctrine for ruling Germanic races.

Earlier, a proclamation by him was read to the delegates, warning that those who dared oppose the Nazi state under his rule would be ruthlessly dealt with, and outlining his achievements as head of the third reich.

Combined with Hitler's attack on the Jews came a bitter denunciation of those "sensation-hungry correspondents interested only in external symptoms." Hitler declared they were responsible for a misconception of Germany abroad, insisted that Nazism was here to stay, and added violence and revolutions were ended.

ON THE advice of Sol Rosenblatt, divisional administrator, the NRA has indefinitely suspended the provisions of the motion picture industry code designed to limit salaries of stars and executives and to eliminate alleged unfair competitive methods in bidding for stars under contract with another company.

Mr. Rosenblatt made an investigation and in his report said: "A star or executive is worth as much as the public can be led to think he is worth by paying to see his offerings. If individual producers find it difficult to gauge in advance the possible value of these services, it is patently impossible for a code authority to exercise any more effective judgment in the matter."

RUSSIA'S ambition to be given a seat as a permanent member of the League of Nations council, favored by France and Great Britain, is opposed by Switzerland, whose delegates have been instructed to vote "no" when the question comes up.

Turkey has applied for a nonpermanent seat in the council, stating she seeks the place of China, whose term is expiring.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WALLACE thinks it may be necessary to guarantee the price of corn fodder in order to keep available supplies on farms in the drought area for relief purposes.

The farm administration is to set up an office in Kansas City for the purpose of making a survey and locating all types of animal feed. The office also will assist county drouth committees in arranging pools of individual farmers to make purchases. The government will not buy any feed itself for distribution.

BECAUSE of his unwavering opposition to what he considered the extravagant expenditures of the government and to its inflationary monetary policies, Lewis Douglas has resigned as director of the budget.

He had long been fighting against certain of the administration's policies, without avail. The two-year budget plan with its prospective deficit of seven billion dollars, presented to congress last January, did not have his approval; nor had the billion dollar deficiency appropriation bill and the schemes for the purchase of gold and silver. It was said his resignation was finally brought about by the announcement of Secretary Morgenthau that the so-called profit of two billion eight hundred million dollars resulting from the devaluation of the gold dollar would be used to curtail the public debt incurred by the New Deal.

Since currency is ultimately to be issued against this "profit," and since there is only about five billion dollars of currency now in circulation, the Morgan plan contemplates a 50 per cent inflation.

The President appointed as acting budget director Daniel W. Bell, a permanent employee of the treasury. It was understood in Washington that there would be a general rearrangement in the Treasury department which would concentrate all fiscal powers in the hands of Secretary Morgenthau.

Several officials who are not in full sympathy with the New Deal will be weeded out.

MANY of the dairy cattle bought by the government in drouth areas are of high breed and so will not be slaughtered. The federal relief administration gave out a statement saying:

"It is planned to either exchange some of these high breed drouth cattle for scrub cattle now in the possession of relief or rural rehabilitation families, or to issue them to such families where the need has been determined. Under this program the low-grade scrub cattle would be slaughtered where exchanges were made. The exchanges, or issuance of cattle without exchange, would be made upon recommendation of the various county relief administrations and county rural rehabilitation supervisors."

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—Prudence Schuyler comes from New York to Prosperity Farm, inherited from her uncle, to make a new life for herself and her brother, David, whose health has been broken by tragedy.

CHAPTER II.—The second day on her farm Prudence ventures into the barn loft after eggs. She slips on the hay and falls to the ground—would have been badly hurt had not strong young arms been there to catch her. The arms are those of Rodney Gerard, rich young man, who lives at High-an-hope-to-die. What time will we start for the circus? I'll be ready. I won't go to sleep for a minute to-night.

CHAPTER III.—Len Calloway, a rival of Rod-gerard, tries to buy the timber of Prudence's land, but she dislikes his conceited attitude and contracts with Rod to dispose of the trees. On the evening Prudence is expecting David from New York she is visited by Mrs. Walter Gerard and her thirteen-year-old daughter, Jean. They are hateful, curious persons and leave Prudence fuming.

CHAPTER IV.—A few days later Prudence comes in contact with them again when she accompanies Rod to his place. A clown comes, advertising a circus in a nearby town. Prudence goes to accompany Rod and Jean to the circus.

"I have planned to close the house on Thursday, if that suits you, Rodney. The days are getting so short."

"You needn't bother to do that, Annie. I shall remain here for part of the winter. I have decided to put about a thousand acres of woodland and it will require my personal oversight. You and Jean toddle along to New York as you planned."

"The idea! Of course I shan't desert you, Rodney. I can stay, at least until after Christmas; then my cousin, the ambassador, has asked me to visit him."

Gerard buckled on his armor of determination. He hated to hurt her, but he couldn't, he wouldn't have her under his feet, and that's where she would be.

"I appreciate your kindness, Annie, but Jim Armstrong, one of my roommates at college, who is a forester, will arrive soon to look over the timber and advise me as to what should come out. I hate like the dickens to say it, but you have been so kind to keep house for me this summer, but I would prefer not to have you here."

Jean hung herself at Gerard.

"Hey there, Kurious Kid, go slow. Want to push me into the fire?" The girl's grip tightened.

"Uncle Rod, please let me stay with you, please! I'm not going to school this winter anyway. I hate New York, and Mother and Father are always fighting, and I love to be with you, and I'll be a perfect lady, honest I will. Please let me stay. I'm—I'm always sort of peaceful with you."

Gerard's eyes were tender as he looked down at the pleading face. Peaceful. Poor, lonely kid. She did have a tough time. Not much fun living with her parents. Walter rarely came to High Ledges now. Was it too dull for him, or were there other reasons? Should he let Jean stay? He was fond of the funny little thing. Prudence Schuyler was taking an interest in her; she was making her happier, more human than the implish child she had been.

"What say, Annie? Will you let Jean stay with me until after Christmas? No," he anticipated, as his sister-in-law started to speak. "It will upset my plans to have you here; besides, you should be in New York with Walter."

"Walter doesn't want me, either." For the first time since he had known her, Rodney heard Annie Gerard acknowledge defeat. Mighty hard on her. Walter was a bad egg, of course, but she had a cruel tongue and was so affected. That didn't excuse Walt; a man should be true to his wife no matter how she developed—but—the gods be praised, the problem of being true to Annie wasn't his.

"Look here, K. K., if I let you stay, will you solemnly promise not to pry into my affairs or—the affairs of the—the neighbors?"

"Joy glowed beneath the rims. I promise I'll be the finest girl ever. Uncle Rod."

"I'll give you a try. May she stay, Annie?"

"If you want her, Rodney. The doctor said she should live out of doors this winter, so perhaps she'll be better off here in the country."

"Then hustle to New York, send down warm clothes for her and the bill to me. Take the servants with you. I'll pay them for lost time. Jean and I will be off early, perhaps before you start."

"Oh! Where?"

"There's a circus in the next town and we're going in a party."

"A party! I see. I think I know who the party will be. I wasn't born yesterday, Rodney."

"How he detested her wink, Rodney thought, as he watched her leave the room. Jean slipped her arm through her uncle's.

"She's mad!" she observed in a strident whisper.

"Cut that out, K. K. Never criticize your mother. You make good or you'll be packed off to New York on the first train. Get me?"

"I will, Uncle Rod. Cross-my-throat-an-hope-to-die. What time will we start for the circus? I'll be ready. I won't go to sleep for a minute to-night."

"Will you go with me? I'm not so old that I've forgotten the things before your father and I went to the circus. Go to bed. Get going."

He watched her as she ran to the door.

"You sure have taken on responsibility," he reminded himself.

The next morning Rodney, with Jean snuggled in the roadster beside him, stopped before the red brick house. Prudence was waiting at the gate; her vivid lips were curved in a radiant smile.

"Good morning, Jean. I'm thrilled! My heart is so light it's bouncing along on balloon tires. Will there be room for me on the front seat, Mr. Gerard?"

"Cut out that 'Mr.'—Gorgeous. It doesn't click with a circus. Rod—to you. Of course there's room in front. Hop in."

Jean bounced in her seat. "Hurry up, Miss Prue. Let's go, Uncle Rod."

The main street of the town was already lined with crowds when they reached it; it boiled with children, echoed with the cries of fakirs, blazed with mammoth black and red posters. Gerard parked the roadster on a side street. Jean's feet barely touched the ground as between Prudence and her uncle she was swept along in the hurrying crowd. She stopped short in front of a poster showing an equestrienne in rose-color tulle skirts and a brief notice, with the caption:

MADAMOISELLE MILLED

"Why, there's my cutie!"

Gerard looked at her sharply, as she bit off the next word.

"What do you mean, K. K.? You—"

"Buy the kid a balloon! Buy the kid a balloon! Say, listen! What's a circus to a kid without a balloon?"

The hatless man with an unkempt mane of black hair and a flock of colored balloons strutting at his leashes, blocked the way. Jean's eyes were like dancing stars.

"May I have one, Uncle Rod?"

"Sure. Choose the color. Have one, Prue?"

"Of course. I want that fat green one which looks as if it were about to burst from its own importance."

What fun she was! How friendly she had been on the drive over. Had she buried the hatchet she seemed always to have up her sleeve for him? She was so alive mentally and physically. Life never could get one by the throat if one had a girl like her with whom to travel through the years.

Rodney thought.

"It's coming! The parade's coming!" Prudence gripped Gerard's arm.

"Hear that, push Jean in front of him. Crushed his arm against his side to keep Prue's hand there. Far down the street was a festal sea of waving plumes, shining helmets, brilliant flags. Music, billowed forward. Snare, Drums, Cornets, Charms. He said to Prudence:

"The thrill of the Big Top. It's got me. I'm as excited as any kid in the crowd."

The girl's brilliant eyes met his.

"It's got me, too. I'm shaking with excitement. Here they come! I wonder if we'll see Chicot."

Music nearer now. A band in brilliant red coats, tall shakos on their heads, passed playing, "Stars and Stripes Forever." Countless throats tapping the rhythm. Goutless fronts humming the tune.

Everywhere the glitter of rhinestones among sequins. Everyone gay. Everyone smiling. The parade was hitting on all cylinders.

"Elephants are coming! Hold your horses!"

An enormous elephant led the herd, the scarlet coated man on his head seemed like a mitgof, the keepers strutting at his side mere pigmies.

Gerard felt Jean's fingers tighten in his, heard her quick breath of relief as the unwieldy beast passed. Prudence caught her free hand and smiled. "And she sensed the child's fear?"

A monkey-faced clown commenced to beat up a gigantic police-crown. Jean wailed:

"Chicot isn't there. He said he'd walk at me." Her eyes were deep wells of disappointment. Gerard squeezed the thin fingers sympathetically.

"Take it easy, K. K. He'll come. There he is now! See him? See him?" He caught her under the arms and lifted her for an instant. "He's on that funny little bicycle. See him?"

She nodded excitedly. He set her on her feet. "See how the big fat-faced clown on the motorcycle behind him keeps butting into his hind wheel? Chicot has a balloon. A red balloon like yours, K. K. He'll see you in a minute."

Prudence laughed up at him. "Chicot must have a magic charm for attracting hearts. Jean is positively tearing over him, and I warned to him at once."

"It he has touched your shellacked heart, I'll offer him a fortune for his—"

"You are missing the comedy," Prue reminded crisply.

As Chicot came abreast of Jean, his balloon popped. With heart-rending sob she shook the bit of rubber toward the girl.

"Well of all people! If here isn't the new lumber firm of Schuyler and Gerard eating popcorn and watching the elephants!"

Calloway's taunting voice at his shoulder sent the blood in Rodney

"Elephants Are Coming! Hold Your Horses!"

Gerard's body flushing to his ears in blinding black anger. His furious eyes met the mocking eyes on a level with his.

"Shut up, Calloway! You—"

"Take mine, Chicot! Take mine!" Jean's excited voice cut into her uncle's. She darted forward, Rodney grabbed for her, missed. The motorcycle clown, looking back in a parting wisecrack, shot forward at full speed. The crowd shrieked. Chicot caught the girl, flung her back with all his force. The panic-stricken cyclist crashed into him.

Aeons after, it seemed to Rodney

Gerard, the physician, bending over Jean's limp figure on the black half-cloth sofa in a nearby house, straightened.

"She's coming out of it all right, prolonged faint from shock. Better get her home as soon as she can sit up."

Prudence whispered:

"Don't look so agonized, Rodney. See, her eyelids are quivering."

"I'm all shot to pieces over this. I—"

"I didn't know how much I cared for the Kurious—" Gerard choked on the words.

Across the room on the floor where they had dropped him lay the clown. Rodney Gerard bent over the twisted body, laid his hand on the dirt-strewn forehead.

"You saved her, Chicot. Can you hear? You—"

"Let me in! Where's Grandpop? Let me in!"

A girl, in the cotton velvets and plumed hat of a circus rider on parade, burst into the room. Patches of rouge stood out like fever spots on her colorless face. Her black eyes were distended with fright. With a shriek she flung herself to her knees beside Chicot, put her arms under the old clown's shoulders, and lifted him until his head rested against her breast.

A spasm of pain contorted the grotesque face. The lids under their painted brows opened. He tried to put his hand over hers. It wavered futilely and dropped. His whisper seemed to fill the still room.

"Be a good—girl, Milly. You'll be a great—rider—if you keep at it. I've kept you—with me—you're safer now. I—must—get up. Time—for my act—"

The last faint word fluttered in a slight. Chalky lids drooped over dull eyes. The crumpled figure settled lower in the girl's arms.

"Grandpop! Grandpop! Don't leave me! I can't bear it to have you hurt! First I hurt you and now—"

The physician gently loosened the girl's arms and eased the body of the old clown to the floor. Rodney Gerard laid his hand on her shoulder.

Eastern Star Play To Be Presented Tonight
(The opening number of the show is The Children's Story Hour with Mrs. Helen Baxter acting as the Tell-Me-a-Story-Lady. She is assisted by 50 local children between the ages of five and nine. Also included in this scene are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith as the mother and father of Nursery Land.
The first big chorus of the show is supported by the girls of the high school. This number opens with the song, "Smile, Smile, The World's All Right," and two dancing choruses appear in special costumes doing their routines to "Whistle and Blow Your Blues Away," and "You're in Style When You're Wearing a Smile" numbers.
Dancing Chorus—Katherine Conlan, Zilpha Shaver, May Prudon, Shirley Carpenter, Virginia Van Riper, Ruth Lindemann, Jane McGaffigan, Luella Huston, Angelina Burg, Ruth Marie Werner, Vivian McBride, Cecelia Birch, Janet Dancer, Janet Haselswordt, Genevieve Dreyer, Mildred Goodell.
Sunshine Chorus—La Rue Wolf, Winifred Palmer, Muriel Martin, Bernice Howe, Emma Jane Alexander, Marcelline Litch, Jane Balsler, Mary-Jane Riker, Lucille Heiny, Gertrude Jensen, Betty Vogel, Margaret Boehm, Peggy Bleecker, Betty Seltz, Helen Baxter.
No radio broadcast would be complete without featuring the Hill Billies in their old-time mountain songs and ballads. Such characters as Si Simpkins, the Hill Billy who cut down the old pine trees, and Hiram Ziehl, hill billy singer, are played by L. H. Adell and Paul F. Niehaus. There is also a mountain band featuring Fred Gentner, fiddle, Paul Harbour, banjo, Roy Koch, guitar and Ray Koch, guitar. A rousing square dance is done to the music of this band by Henry Werner, James Munro, Ross Munro, and Roy Dillon. The spot of the Hill Billy number, however, is the pantomime of an old-time melodrama. It is called "Frankie and Johnny" or "He Was Her Man, but He Done Her Wrong." Hiram sings the song of "Frankie and Johnny" while Si fills in the words. Loren Beutler appears as Frankie, Waldemar Grossman as Johnny, Nick Panarites as Smokey Joe, and Charles Bycraft as Nellie Hys. They pantomime the story and action with exaggerated movements, and it is a scream from start to finish.
A special scene called "Memories" featuring Katharine Fletcher as the soprano soloist who will open the number with a group of famous love songs, and the Misses Winifred Palmer, La Rue Wolf, Gertrude Jensen and Lucille Heiny with the colonial men and women who wear colorful costumes and powdered wigs and do a minuet.
Lloyd Heydlauff, well known for his speaking ability, will give a one-minute talk on "Why the World's All Right," and this speech is clever, and full of humor.
Paul Harbour will appear as Skipper Ericson and give a dramatic reading and song, "I'm Waiting for Ships That Never Come In."
A colorful revue, taking the audience by song and music through the progress of our nation, is the last spectacular number that brings the entire show to a whirlwind finish, and makes one realize from "These songs that built our nation" that the title of the show is well chosen and it is true that "The World's All Right."
Those taking part in this number are: George A. English, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, Walter Hinderer, LeRoy Mayhew, Mrs. Lea Guerin, Albert Winans, Nick Panarites, Kitevan Hawley, Matthew McGaffigan, Hubert Ives, and Mary Jean Winans.
With such a prominent cast of characters it is felt that it is true "You Will Cheer When You See The World's All Right."

Ante See Ultra-Violet Rays

Most eyes have sharp eyesight and are able to see the ultra-violet rays to which human beings are blind.

When You Need a Friend by Lawrence Hawthorne
When days're dark an' the clouds hang low,
An' the road is rough an' long;
When problems face you on every hand,
An' your plans have all gone wrong;
When troubles come, an' your luck looks bad,
An' you don't know what t' do—
Oh, then it is that you understand
What a true friend means t' you!
When times're good, an' you're feelin' fine,
An' the sun is shinin' bright;
When every day brings you some new joy,
An' the world is quite all right;
You're glad t' know that your friends're near,
An' will join you in your fun—
But you never learn what a true friend is,
Till your troubles have begun!
A lot o' folks treat you mighty well,
While you have the cash t' spend,
But pass you by with a careless nod,
When you really need a friend;
They fall you then, as they always will,
In the time o' deep distress,
An' turn t' one who can do no harm
To their pride an' selfishness.
I've had my share o' the ups-an'-downs,
That we all must meet in life,
But every time I have suffered loss
Or encountered care an' strife,
Some friend has come with a cheerin' smile,
An' has helped me see it through—
Has brought relief in the time o' need,
As our true friends always do.
