

CHELSEA WELCOMES GUESTS

History Reveals Interesting Facts About Our Community

Sylvan Township
October 18, 1830, Cyrus Beckwith settled in the township, thus becoming the first white resident of Sylvan township. With him came Wm. A. BeGee, an employee, who helped with the erection of the first house and who the following year also took up land in his own name. It was also in 1831 that Jesse Smith and Elias H. Kelly came. In 1832 Henry Dewar arrived and also in this year came a group of families from Vermont who established what to this day is still the "Vermont settlement".

The members were Wm. A. Davis, Truman Lawrence and Orlo H. Fenn and also a Stephen J. Chase and Nathan Pierce from Orange County, New York.

In 1833 Daniel and Tully Fenn arrived as also did Amos Davis and Daphne Warner. In 1834 Mahlon Winsor, Ira Spaulding and son, Ira, Jr., Joel B. Boyington, John M. Cummings, Arnold S. Bell, Thomas H. and Isaac Godfrey, Adoniah Godfrey, Elias Congdon, M. McDougl, John R. Jewett, Samuel Dunham, Asahel Backus and John C. Winans.

While on the west side of the Short Hills, Edmund B. Conkling established himself in 1832, his wife, Sophronia Hexox, named the township Sylvan. Calvin Hexox and Joseph Peter Riggs also settled at about this date, while Hugh Davidson, ran a hotel east and Andrew Murray operated one west of the hills.

A line of stages owned by S. B. Davis ran through on the Territorial Road and mail came to Dexter. Later a postoffice was established at Lima Center.

In 1833 Eliza Friddle opened the first store at Sylvan Center and was followed by Geo. Lord in 1839 and in 1841 by J. C. Winans, who both opened stores. In 1853 a grist mill was erected.

The first death was that of Mrs. Jesse Smith. The first postmaster was Calvin Hexox, the first school teacher, Miss Harriet Wines and the first marriage was that of John C. Winans and Betsey M. Fenn.

Lyndon Township
The first record of the settling of Lyndon Township is of the arrival of Selah B. Josiah H. and Harrison W. Collins in August, 1839, on what is called Collins Plains. The following two years saw Abner Bruen, John Green, Henry G. Holmes, Michael Gilman, Samuel Royce, Nathan Rose, Dr. John Cooper, Abraham Burgett, John Twomey, Alfred Bruce, Jasper Moore, William Watts, John Coleman, Hugh Wade, David Coleman, James Stryker, William Wilcox and George Sollars, as being inhabitants of the district. In 1836 and 1837 the following families were added: Horace Leek, Eli Rockwell, Orman Clark, Jesse Rowe, Owen McIntee, John and Hugh Cassidy, Joseph Yeoman, John and Ira Gifford, John Davidson, Joseph Webster, Stephen Daw, Patrick Haggerty, William Rott and Washington Beaman.

The only record of business places in the township during the early days are the taverns of Wade, Snyder, Buck Mosier and Healy.

succeeded by the Davidson Brothers. Ellisha Congdon bought grain at this point and purchased the store of James Seeley. In 1848 the station burned and in order to serve Manchester and the northern trade better and to get away from the steep grades the company decided to establish their station at Chelsea, then known as Kedron because of the brook nearby (see John XVIII-1, "over the brook Kedron, where was a garden").

The village was named Chelsea by Ellisha and James Congdon whose home had formerly been in Chelsea, Mass. The Chelsea station was erected in 1850, Ellisha Congdon then lived in a frame house where the family mansion now stands (now McKune House)—this frame dwelling is now located on South Main St., being the home of Chas. Lambert.

In the fall of 1850 the first store was built by Mr. Congdon and that same year the village was platted. Ellisha Congdon owned 160 acres east of Main St. while his brother James had 300 acres west of the same street. The next building was a blacksmith shop built by C. H. Wines for Aaron Durand and Newton Robinson, then a hotel and saloon by Asel S. Harris and in 1851 John O. Wines erected a store at Middle and Main Sts. In 1853 or 1854 William Smith from Dexter built a store and the same year Tom Hastings erected one. The following year the Fenn Brothers and Clark completed store buildings. About this time Thomas Godfrey came from Sylvan Center and erected the Chelsea House, and among the early settlers were Lewis Randall, Newton Robinson, Edward Winter, Jack Whittington, Jacob Berry and Elijah Hammond.

The first death was that of Lewis Backus. The first child born was Eddie Sargeant. The first school teacher, W. F. Hatch, in a building on East Middle St. In 1854 a school building was erected at West South and Middle Sts. and in 1860 the present site was used for the erection of a brick union schoolhouse.

Lima Township
While William C. Lennan was the first to purchase land in the township, on May 10, 1835, he did not settle there until 1839, so the honor of being first settlers fall to Jerome Loomis, who settled in June, 1835; Samuel Clements, who purchased 640 acres and settled in August, 1835.

In 1836 came Russell Parker and William Wightman; in 1837, William Wheeler; in 1839, Hezekiah Riggs, while in 1830 Marvin Cadwell, Francis Dougherty, Elias Easton, John Done, James and Thomas Mitchell.

John Davis, Calvin Winslow, Jacob White, Thomas Haffey, Lehel Scott, William Nordman, Gaudeloupe Nordman, Hiram Gregory, Curtis Hurd, Ananna Bennett, Dorcas Pierce, Hiram Andrews, R. Snell, Samuel Cooper and John Hartford came in 1831.

The first frame house built in the township was that by Jason Caldwell in 1830. The Samuel Clements large frame home was also started in this same year. Hezekiah Riggs was the first blacksmith in the township and Rufus Crossman the first merchant, while the first tavern was kept by John Hartford. Curtis Hurd opened a log tavern one and one-half miles west of the Center in 1831 and a sawmill was operated by Shaw & Arnold as early as 1834. The village was laid out in 1835 by W. A. Shaw, J. B. Freer and Abram Arnold in 1838 and at one time had two hotels, three stores and other businesses.

Two Men Killed When Auto Strikes Truck

Two men were killed, one being burned beyond recognition, in an accident which occurred about 11:30 Tuesday evening near the Harry Prudden home, south of Chelsea on U.S. 12.

William Watts of Detroit, returning from Benton Harbor with a truck load of fruit, had stopped by the side of the road to change a tire, and his truck is said to have been well lighted with flares. An Oldsmobile, containing Theodore Lahna of 686 W. Willis St. and Oscar Lantz of 404 West Canfield St., Detroit, who were traveling at high speed, crashed into the truck and the car was immediately enveloped in flames. The two men, recently employed in St. Joseph, were en route to their homes in Detroit.

Lahna, the driver of the car, was between 30 and 33 years of age, and unmarried. He received a compound fracture of the skull, and other injuries from which he died almost instantly. Lantz, who was badly burned, was identified by a drivers' license found in his pocket.

The bodies were taken to the Staff funeral home and later removed to Detroit. The local fire department was called to extinguish the blaze.

Interest Is Evident In Freshman College

Considerable interest is being manifested in the possibility of establishing a Freshman College in connection with the Chelsea high school, under P.E.R.A. The following outline of courses has been sent to the superintendent by H. Z. Wilbur of Michigan State Normal College who is the head of the work in this territory.

Potential credit courses: English Rhetoric 1, Introduction to Poetry, History and Social Science; Political Science, English History, Greek History, Language: French, German, Latin, Mathematics: Trigonometry, Higher Algebra, Science: Botany, Chemistry, Physics, Physiology, Speech Interpretative Reading. A number of graduates of the 1932-33 and 34 classes have signified their intention of taking this work but the number is quite a few short of the number necessary to have the college classes established. The superintendent would appreciate it very much if you would get in touch with him by Friday noon of this week if you are interested in this work. It is a grand opportunity to acquire a year of college work at very little expense. There is no tuition and the only expense would be for books and instructional material.

EARLY HISTORY WRITTEN BY PIONEER OF CHELSEA

An account of Early Chelsea, by Mrs. Anna E. Sears, was published in the Women's Souvenir Edition of The Chelsea Standard of December 19, 1909, reading as follows:

The first train of cars on the Michigan Central railroad came into Dexter on July 4, 1841. Large numbers came from several miles around that village to celebrate that event and the day. The next year cars were running through the land on which the village of Chelsea is now located. The first station was about two miles west of this village and was called Davidson station. No depot was built there until 1846 or 1847. Then a rough structure was erected, which was burned in 1848.

The Congdon brothers, Ellisha and James, who came to Michigan in 1835, owned the land upon which Chelsea is built. Main street dividing the two farms, used their influence and held out inducements for the railroad company to build their station at this place, offering to donate the necessary amount of land needed for the business of the company, which offer was accepted. In 1850 a depot was built.

The first building erected in the village was the store of Ellisha Congdon, which was built in the summer of 1849 and stood where the building of the Glazier Steve Works now stands, on the north side of the railroad tracks. This first building is now used as a dwelling and stands on the corner of East street and the street running south of the railroad track, now owned and occupied by Mrs. Georgia Canfield.

The village was platted in 1850 and given its present name. At that time the farm house of Ellisha Congdon and his store were the only buildings in the village. Soon after this, Ellisha Congdon built for himself a commodious house on the site where the McKune house now stands. This house was burned in '60 or '61 and was replaced by what is now known as the McKune house.

The first shipment of goods from Chelsea on the Michigan Central railroad was made May 8, 1850, and consisted of one barrel of eggs weighing 130 pounds, and was sent to parties in Detroit. On the 6th, two boxes of oak grove cemetery was established in September of 1860.

In April, 1870, a fire swept away the entire row of business buildings on the west side of Main street, between Middle street and the railroad. In November, 1876, fire destroyed all the buildings on the east side of Main street between Middle street and the Chelsea House. The buildings destroyed by these two fires were built of wood and were replaced by substantial structures of brick.

Varied Attractions Expected To Bring Thousands From Far and Near To Great Celebration On Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5-6

EVENT SPONSORED BY AMERICAN LEGION

Contests, Free Stage Acts, Mechanical Rides, Boxing Show, Music and Speeches Are Features

An air of expectancy has been hovering over Chelsea for the past month—meetings and gatherings, all for just one purpose—to make Chelsea's Homecoming and 100th Birthday Party a success.

Sylvan and Lima townships were organized in 1834, and Pierceville, the predecessor of Chelsea of today, was started at this same time. Lyndon township was settled during the same period but did not become a recognized township until 1837.

Tomorrow the two-day celebration will be under way and it will show what cooperation and civic pride can do. Never has Chelsea had such a party as this will be.

Friday will be a real Children's Day—games, races and contests right after the children's parade, which will start from Van Buren and Main St.

Prizes for the boys or girls who wear the most comical costume and more prizes for those judged as having the best dress costume.

Then the sports program begins and lucky and clever boys and girls will receive their prizes at the grandstand shortly after 4 o'clock. Mechanical rides, consisting of a merry-go-round, airplane swings and Ferris wheel will be on the streets for thrilling rides for all.

A high-class vaudeville company will occupy the town hall, giving performances under the auspices of the Homecoming committee, and the Princess Theatre will have a headline act, "Aloma", furnished by the committee. Also featured comedy films.

Booths dispensing candy, popcorn, soft drinks, ice cream and lunches will be along Main street, as also the corn game for blankets, lamps, and novelties—and the old standby, the Wheel of Fortune. All the concessions are being handled locally by the committees.

A feature of Friday night will be the Ann Arbor Legion Drum & Bugle Corps and the free acts Friday and Saturday will feature "Aloma", the sensational mind-reader. Williams and Bernice in their intrepid aerial act. Mabloy's Acres, a musical comedy act—stars from Rockefeller & Pierce shows, and many others interspersed with our own local talent.

State Senator Andrew L. Moore of Pontiac will talk at 4 p. m. Friday on "State Affairs".

New features are being added to the entertainment program and at the time of going to press the full program was not as yet complete—so many more features will appear than are noted in the program published.

Parking facilities are being provided but the local residents are requested to leave their cars off the streets as much as possible.

Rooms will be needed for those staying over and all having rooms to rent are requested to register same at registration headquarters in the old Kempt bank buildings, loaned to the Legion by O. D. Schneider.

AMONG OUR PIONEER CITIZENS

Wm. H. Hammond, 82 years of age, born here and a resident of Chelsea still.

Mrs. Hannah Taylor, 92, who came here when 6 years old from England, and remembers coming from their farm north of Chelsea to do their Saturday shopping, driving a yoke of oxen to the general store kept by a Mr. Smith and a shoe shop of Mr. Lantz's. Just a few frame buildings then.

Mrs. Adelia Kousch, born in 1846 at Reidsville, Alsace-Lorraine, came to Chelsea in 1848. Another resident of 86 years standing.

James Spear, who came here at the age of three, and has 79 years to his credit as a citizen.

Ed Helmrich, who has lived in the same house on South Main St. for 60 years.

DID YOU KNOW— that the Albert Winans property on Middle street, across from Grant St., now occupied by Earl Collins, is the old schoolhouse erected in Pierceville from which point it was moved shortly after Chelsea was founded.

MRS. RUNCIMAN HONORED
Mrs. Elizabeth Runciman was honored with a family party Sunday at her home on East Middle street, in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Carlton H. Runciman of Lowell, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Runciman and daughter Nancy of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Miller of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Marty and son James of Flint.

DO YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK WHEN—

Vogel's carriage factory was in operation on Middle street back of what is now H. B. Murphy's—
John Wiley the barber and George Vinkie of Dexter carried one another across the street on a tight rope—
Tom Fitzgerald from Toronto, under the name of Tom Ryan, cleaned up the sporting fraternity on a fixed foot race, or wasn't it fixed?—
Peter Barthel's tailor shop employed 6 people—
Louis Burg made Pick-wick cigars, John Eisenman the Red Top and Weick & Hoefler the Stick Special—
Mast's Blacksmith Shop back of the stores on Main St. was the favorite spot to play marbles—
Corwin's Livery Stable caught on fire and many horses were burned—didn't the water tank burn then?—
There were steps in the sidewalk leading down North Main St. about 150 feet south of the M. C. R. tracks—
The roller skating rink was on Main St. about where the Princess Theatre now stands?

SOCIAL AND INTERESTING

The above heading appeared on the account of a wedding which was published in The Standard in February, 1888. The article appearing in that issue is as follows:

No other recent event in Chelsea has created quite so much interest in society as the marriage, on the evening of February 28, 1888, by Rev. Thomas Holmes, D. D., of Mr. Lorenzo Sawyer, residing a mile and a half north of this village, and Mrs. Huldah A. Skinner, of Ann Arbor. Mr. Lorenzo Sawyer is a brother of Hon. A. J. Sawyer of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Skinner, now Mrs. Lorenzo Sawyer, is the mother of Mrs. A. J. Sawyer. The confusion of relationships, created by this happy union, is rather exceptional. Lorenzo Sawyer becomes father-in-law to his brother, stepfather to his sister-in-law, and grandfather to his nephews.

Mrs. Lorenzo Sawyer becomes sister-in-law to her daughter, also to her son-in-law and aunt to her grandsons.

A. J. Sawyer becomes son-in-law to his brother, and brother-in-law to his mother-in-law.

Mrs. A. J. Sawyer becomes sister-in-law to her mother, and stepdaughter to her brother-in-law. The sons of A. J. Sawyer become nephews of their grandmother and grandsons of their uncle.

Somewhat tangled, but all right according to the Mosaic law. May all these relations long continue, and happiness and prosperity be the portion of the entire circle.

The above article was copied from the old issue of The Standard by Lizzie E. and Minnie Mast.

LOCAL BOY IS CANDIDATE

John P. Keisch, born in Chelsea December 25, 1909, who received his early education at St. Mary school and graduated from the University of Michigan Literary school in 1931 and from the Law school in 1933, was admitted to the bar the same year and has engaged in law practice in the office of John Kalmbach, has been made a candidate for the office of Circuit Court Commissioner of Washtenaw county.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the many expressions of sympathy and the beautiful flowers to the many neighbors and friends, and to Rev. Henry Lenz for his consoling words and to Walter and Alma Kalmbach for the beautiful songs, and to the Staffan staff for their kind deeds and sympathy during the illness and death of our loved one.

Reuben Keeler, Walter Thelen, and the nieces and nephews.

INDIAN RELICS

Nearly every farm home in the Chelsea district has or did have its collections of Indian arrow-heads. Would it surprise you much to know that no Michigan Indian ever fashioned a stone battle-axe or chipped a flint arrow-head? He had barely intelligence enough to use these weapons when furnished ready for his hand.

HOSTESS TO S. A. CLUB

Miss Dorothy Haselswerdt was hostess to the members of the S. A. club Saturday afternoon, with two tables in play. Miss Ruth Russell was awarded high honors and Miss Lucile Haselswerdt, second. A luncheon was served after the game.

CURRENT NEWS REVIEW

SO FAR President Roosevelt has not revealed his plans for relief for the coming winter, but the executive committee of the United States conference of mayors on unemployment relief has made its recommendations to him. These are, in effect, that a permanent federal relief fund should be established preparatory to the creation of a nationwide system of unemployment insurance. The report says:

"This permanent unemployment work relief fund and program should include the following features:

"1—It should include all workers of all types.

"2—The governments, federal, state, and municipal, should draw upon those benefited from the fund for work on public work-relief projects.

"3—Such benefited persons should be paid prevailing wage rates up to the amount of the determined benefits.

"4—The United States should be divided into regions for the purpose of fixing weekly benefits in accordance with the regional costs and standards of living.

"5—General administration and supervision of the plan and fund should be the responsibility of the federal government."

WHEN President Roosevelt's plan for a $75,000,000 "tree belt" from Canada to Texas, previously discussed in this column, was submitted to Controller-General McCarl, that gentleman turned it down as an improper use of funds from the $25,000,000 emergency drought appropriation. The President, however, has not abandoned the project; though he told the correspondents he was in full accord with the controller general's ruling that emergency drought funds might be used for putting men to work planting trees, but could not be used for land purchases. He said the original plan of the administration was to begin the shelter belt project with $15,000,000 of drought money, and that some of this was to be used to purchase land.

The President said the shelter belt project, designed to protect the Middle West region from future droughts, would be carried out, but that the initial funds would have to be taken from sources not yet determined.

General Johnson Resigns and Richberg Rules the NRA—Textile Industry Board Named—The America's Cup Is Successfully Defended.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© by Western Newspaper Union.

GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON steps out of the picture and the NRA is turned over to Donald R. Richberg and other "left wing" members of the New Deal management. President Roosevelt announced the greater part of the reorganization plan for the national recovery body, naming first the policy making board, with Richberg as its chairman and Secretary Perkins, Harry L. Hopkins and Chester Davis as members. A fifth member was yet to be selected, he to be the chairman of the new administrative board. Five other members of this latter body are S. Clay Williams, head of the Reynolds Tobacco company; Arthur D. White, president of Dun & Bradstreet; Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; Leon C. Marshall, labor specialist; and Prof. Walton H. Hamilton of Yale. Two ex-officio members are Blackwell Smith, assistant general counsel of NRA, and Leon Henderson, chief of the NRA division of research and planning under Johnson.

The judicial branch of the NRA was still under consideration. Mr. Roosevelt indicated that its duties might be assigned to a special department of the Department of Justice.

The recommendations of the new policy making board are subject to the will of the President, but under the terms of the executive order these recommendations must be submitted to the President by the director. Thus, Richberg will have the final voice before the President himself approves or disapproves the board's decisions.

The board was further empowered to "promulgate administrative policies, to appoint, to employ, discharge, fix the compensation, define the duties, and direct the conduct of the personnel necessary for its administration, and to exercise all those powers heretofore conferred by executive orders upon the administrator for industrial recovery."

RESIGNATION of General Johnson, as accepted by the President, is not effective until October 15. Until then he will be busy compiling his final report and also, it is said, writing the story of his life. It was learned that he has been offered the management of industrial and labor relations of a large group of midwestern manufacturers.

This is not the time or place to estimate General Johnson's achievements as administrator of the NRA which was largely his own creation. He certainly worked hard and accomplished much, whether for good or evil. His mistakes were admittedly glaring, and not the least of them was his recent assertion that during his administration he had been in close touch with Justice Brandeis of the Supreme court. As that tribunal will have to pass on the constitutionality of NRA before long, this statement created a sensation of justice Brandeis. Of course, the jurist could take no notice of it. The "low down" said to be that Johnson did consult the justice when he was formulating the NRA and received some informal advice which he disregarded, and that later Mr. Brandeis told him he had better resign.

ORGANIZED business and the President are not at all satisfied with each other. Business leaders are nervous, and Mr. Roosevelt feels that they have too many "inhibitions" and are not doing what they should to aid recovery. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, seeking a clear statement of the President's future intentions, sent him a list of questions on expenditures, budget balancing, currency stabilization and the government's part in business, politely requesting categorical replies. Mr. Roosevelt received the questionnaire with a smile and a joke, and there was no indication of his intention to answer it.

It was revealed in Washington that the President also received not long ago a set of resolutions adopted at a secret meeting of 120 leading industrialists and financiers. These men asserted that the policies of the New Deal, along with the uncertainties of the future, are throttling economic recovery in the United States. The resolutions were not intended for publication and the President made no mention of them in his press conferences.

Still another hard rap at the New Deal came in the form of a statement by the federal advisory council, composed of leading bankers. It was contained in a set of recommendations for the federal reserve system and severely criticized the administration's monetary and economic policies, demanding a return to what the council considers sound principles.

The federal advisory council is a statutory body created by the federal reserve act to advise the federal reserve board on technical banking business conditions. It is composed of one prominent banker from each of the twelve federal reserve districts, plus a secretary.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR ICKES, as head of the federal public works administration, announced an ambitious family housing project for Chicago which, at a cost of $12,500,000, will abolish a "slum area" of 37 city blocks on the southwest side and replace demolished buildings with small apartment houses for 3,000 families. Condemnation proceedings were started in the Federal court in Chicago, and Mr. Ickes said if the property owners are reasonable in their demands the project will go through speedily. The area to be rehabilitated is inhabited now almost entirely by persons of Italian descent and, far from being a typical "slum," contains numerous neat, well-kept homes and several large apartment houses. The plan of the PWA for its rebuilding is very similar to housing projects in Moscow and Vienna, with the government supplying social and nursery facilities as well as dwellings. The work will be done through the federal housing corporation, which concerns the government owns.

MISS GRACE ABBOTT, for years one of the government's most faithful and useful servants, has resigned her position as director of the children's bureau, to the grief of her associates in Washington and the regret of every one who knows about her fine work there. Miss Abbott now becomes professor of public welfare administration in the University of Chicago and editor of the Social Service Review.

Michigan has two well defined and rugged mountain ranges. Both the Hurons of Marquette county and the Porcupines of Ontonagon and Gogebic counties hug the shores of Lake Superior. CURRENT NEWS REVIEW

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT's request that the great textile strike be called off and that the workers be taken back without discrimination, after he had received and approved the report of the special mediation board headed by Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire brought to an end the bitter struggle that had cost 14 lives and millions of dollars. The union leaders ordered the strikers to return to the mills, and all the way from Maine to Alabama the looms hummed again.

The next step was the appointment by the President of a board to adjust disputes between the workers and the employers in the industry. He named the three veteran arbiters who served in like capacity as members of the steel labor relations board—Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of North Carolina, Admiral Henry A. Wiley and James Mulienbach of Chicago.

The executive order stipulated that the board is "authorized and directed" to investigate wages, hours and other conditions in the industry to determine whether code provisions are being violated. If necessary, the board may refer its findings to proper governmental agencies for appropriate action.

The national labor relations board is made the court of appeal from any decision of the textile board. The board's findings are not subject to review by the executive branch of the government.

To start with, the board had the job of investigating numerous charges that some mill owners were discriminating against strikers. This alleged action so angered the union members that many demands for a renewal of the strike were sent in to the office of Francis J. Gorman, who directed the great walkout.

Meanwhile the leaders of the United Textile Workers went ahead with their plans to unionize the entire industry.

Wasp Digs Hole

The solitary wasp digs a hole in the ground, flies away from it for some distance, perhaps before it finds a caterpillar, which she drags to her hole (remembering the place) to deposit there together with her egg.

EIGHT per cent boost in wages, amounting to more than $10,000,000 a year, has been granted their employees by the four big packing concerns of Chicago, Swift, Armour, Wilson and Cudahy, and their example is followed by packing companies in other cities.

The wage increases were granted as a result of negotiations between the companies and their plant labor conference boards. Whether the increases were the full demands of the workers or were compromises was not stated. The plant boards are established at all points at which the companies operate and they are composed of employee representatives, half of whom are chosen by the workers themselves and half by the managements.

MORE than two thousand persons perished in a typhoon that swept over the richest industrial section of Japan in which are situated Osaka, Kobe, and Kyoto. Thousands of others were injured, and the property damage was enormous, probably running above $100,000,000. The army's munitions program suffered a great setback, for scores of factories that were turning out guns and munitions were destroyed. Losses among the fishermen and farmers also were most serious.

MAXIM LITVINOV told the League of Nations assembly that Russia still hopes for the establishment of a permanent peace conference in which the United States is a participant for the consolidation of peace movements. He asked the league council to obtain a report on whether the world disarmament conference could be resumed with a possibility of success.

LINA DEFEATS ANN ARBOR
Last Sunday the Lima Wildcats shut out the Ann Arbor Eagles, 2 to 0 at Island Park. Lefty Barth again turned in a low hit game, allowing but three hits. Battery for Lima, Barth and Novess; for Ann Arbor, Wolfe and Wertpal. This gives Lima a record of fourteen victories against four losses for the season.

Saw Wood in Water
Sawing wood at the bottom of a giant tank filled with water, is a feat given at Whale Island, Portsmouth, England, where royal navy divers are trained.

First Coins and Stamps
The first United States coins were the half-cent and cent minted at Philadelphia in 1793. Coins had been issued by the American colonies long before this, Massachusetts as early as 1652. The first coin issued under authority of the United States was the Continental dollar of 1776, in silver, pewter and brass, the design said to have been made by Benjamin Franklin. Postage stamps were first authorized in this country by act of congress of March 3, 1847, and they were placed on sale in New York on July 1 of that year. Provisional issues of stamps had been made by certain postmasters for some years before this.

Rising Wolf Mountain
Rising Wolf mountain, which lifts its multicolored and cloud capped summit high above the shores of Two Medicine lake, gets its name from the sleeping peculiarities of a white man who "went native." He also is said to have been the first white man to have set foot in what is now Glacier National park. The man was Hugh Monroe, a Scotchman, who long ago set traps along the streams of the northwest plains and in the rugged mountain-region which the Blackfeet called the "Land of the Shining Mountains."

No Insurance on Capitol
The Treasury department has turned over all government owned buildings and sites, including the United States Capitol and the post offices throughout the country. It does not place policies of insurance on the Capitol or any other federal building, whether in Washington or elsewhere. Congress appropriates no money to pay the cost of such insurance. Many of the public buildings are fireproof or practically so, and generally an open space about 40 feet wide is maintained to protect it from fires which might occur in adjoining structures.

Fish Do Not See Well
Both the sense of smell and the sense of touch are more highly developed in fishes than in the sense of sight, writes G. H. Turner in the Kansas City Times. In fact, their sense of sight is limited mainly to perception of changing lights and shadows, as evidenced by how quickly they snap at a moving object in suspension, as an object not in motion. It is for this reason, reports the United States bureau, that the sense of smell, along with touch, plays a greater role in the life of a fish, as far as obtaining its food is concerned, than that of sight.

Ruins at Antigua
Antigua, Guatemala, has ruins which rank with the most impressive in the world. The city, 5,000 feet above sea level, once had a population of 80,000.

Ohio's Marriage Laws
Ohio law states that a marriage license must be obtained in the county in which the bride resides. The marriage, however, may take place in any county in the state.

WHY WE SWITCHED TO

Mobilgas and Mobiloil

By ROBERT H. McPHERSON

Beginning Friday morning, Mobilgas with Climatic Control, Mobiloil, Mobilgrease and a full line of Mobil-Products will be available to our friends and neighbors at the forty-two service stations of the McPherson Oil Company and its Allied Dealers.

We switched to this nationally known and respected brand in the sincere belief that we could thus be of greater service to our patrons.

Mobilgas is the only gasoline with Climatic Control—pre-adjusted at the refinery to give your car top performance in any weather, at any speed, anywhere you drive. It has been proven under every driving condition you can encounter—from the extreme cold of Northern Canada to Southern Mexico's torrid heat—from sea level to high mountains—crawling through crowded city traffic and speeding over the open road—on sand roads, mud roads, and boulevards. And everywhere, Mobilgas has come through—Climatic Control has proven that it gives your car the highest usable level of performance.

Mobiloil too has received the world's approval—it is the largest selling motor oil the world around. Throughout the development of the motor car Mobiloil engineers have worked in close cooperation with the manufacturers. As cars developed faster speeds and higher temperatures with harder lubrication problems, Mobiloil kept pace at every step. Mobiloil too, like Mobilgas, has been tested under every driving condition you can imagine, in the cars of millions of motorists, and is proving every day that it gives safe, dependable, economical lubrication, completely protecting the moving parts from wear.

The McPherson Oil Company allied itself with the White Star Refining Company only after an exhaustive investigation, including conferences with high company officials, visits to their refinery and testing laboratories, personal talks with White Star Dealers in this and other sections of the State, and inquiries of automobile drivers.

We are convinced that when you try Mobilgas, Mobiloil and Mobilgrease in your car you will agree with us that they are the finest quality products on sale anywhere. We believe that the interests of our patrons and thus ourselves will be best served by this change and cordially invite you to make our stations headquarters for your motoring needs.

CLIMATIC CONTROL---What Is It?---What It Does.

Liquid gasoline is turned into gas vapor by the heat generated in your motor, and this vapor must mix with many times its volume of air to form the gas which drives your car. Thus the ability of the gasoline to MIX READILY WITH AIR—is all important to your car's performance. Every shift in the weather from hot to cold, from rain to shine, raises or lowers this "engine heat" and changes the conditions under which the gasoline must mix with the air. Many gasolines cannot "adapt" themselves to these changes. Mobilgas, however, overcomes this difficulty by its "Climatic Control". Climatic Control—originated by Sonoc-Vacuum—is the pre-adjustment of the specifications and refinery methods of Mobilgas so that, at either high or low altitudes, it automatically adapts itself to changes in the weather without loss of power or mileage. In other words, Mobilgas mixes better with all kinds of atmospheres and top performance—always!

Chelsea Loses Again

Chelsea journeyed to the town of Pinckney for the first time in a good many years. The Pinckney lads through hook and crook won the ball game. Mr. Spaulding's lads seemed to be in a better condition than the week previous to this game. The referee seemed to disagree with majority of the Chelsea lads and both teams had a good slugfest. Let's forget about this, and see what the boys did in the four quarters of work.

Captain Seitz won the kickoff for the second time in two games. He chose to receive, and by doing so, he received the ball on the 10 and returned it to the 33 yard line. During almost the whole first quarter Chelsea and Pinckney exchanged punts in seeing which could get the breaks. The first quarter ended with scoreless tie.

During the second quarter both teams were a bit rough. The Chelsea lads were slightly ahead of the slugging duel. Captain Seitz intercepted a Pinckney pass but the gain was only good for 20 yards. Pinckney fumbled twice during this first half, and Sowers got in close relation with the ball both times. On a triple reverse Chelsea made 40 yards but failed to put the ball over the goal line for a tally. The half ended with no score.

The third quarter was very quiet insofar as scoring was concerned. There was still plenty of work done under the "pile." During this quarter it was Williams' turn to intercept a Pinckney pass. The third quarter also ended with a goose egg for both teams.

Both teams scored in the last quarter. During the middle of the fourth quarter Chelsea was passing to gain ground but one pass which was intended for Allshouse, a Pinckney man intercepted and raced with it across the goal line. The attempted pass for the extra point was completed.

Chelsea scored late in the fourth quarter on a double reverse followed by a lateral. P. Novess accounted for the goal. Youngs attempted the extra point from placement but the ball hit one of the uprights for no score. The game ended shortly after this.

This week the boys go to Jackson to play St. Johns and a rough and good game is expected.

Junior-Senior Party

The Junior class of Thirty-four wished to start their parties once more; On Wednesday, the twenty-sixth, this was decided, and the Seniors and faculty, too, were invited.

On Friday at eight the doors opened wide, and immediately fun began inside; Everyone was ready, and at the call Games were played and enjoyed by all.

After the games, dancing took place. Each person taking part with the greatest of grace; But a party would be incomplete, it would seem, without the serving of wafers and cream.

At eleven-thirty the party was adjourned, to stay longer was impossible, we learned; Although we wished for the party to last, it is, by now, a memory of the past.

We are collecting all the signs of fall. How autumn changes our ways of living.

In our new spelling book: "My Word Book" we find many surprises. Carl Chriswell brought us a tomato worm, and we are observing it. We intend to watch it turn into a butterfly.

During our conversation periods we have had many interesting discussions concerning the coming World Series. A vote as to who was each one's favorite Tiger resulted as follows: 10 for Rowe, 7 for Gehring, 4 for Greenberg, 3 for Cochrane, and 2 for Goslin. Ask any Fifth Grade boy about their strong points, or their weak ones.

On to the Homecoming

Do you realize that dear old Chelsea is about to celebrate its one hundredth anniversary this coming Friday and Saturday—and what a gala week-end it will be!

People from many miles around are expected to attend—come and renew your old acquaintances.

Everyone will find it enjoyable to participate in the games, amusements, and contests which have been planned by the local people.

So that all children may attend the Friday afternoon activities of the homecoming, school sessions will be dismissed for the afternoon. We want the homecomers to realize the existence of our local public school.

Let's each and every one of you support this coming occasion so that it may go down in the history of Chelsea as one of its outstanding events.

The books which belong to the state have a red dot on the back and they also have the state library seal stamped upon them.

If you see one of these books please return it to the high school office. Volume 15 and 16 of the Americana are also missing.

SENIOR BAKE SALE

Our Senior class has some pretty good bakers in it. But I'm not sure it was the Seniors themselves who did the baking. What do you think? Now don't feel bad if you didn't get anything this time because the Seniors will be giving another bake sale soon—and another—and another. But be sure and get there early because you might be too late.

CHELSEA INDUSTRIES ACTIVE

Chelsea Division Of Federal Screw Works Is Model Of Manufacturing Efficiency

In our great manufacturing centers we expect to see modern factories where raw materials are almost miraculously turned into finished products but to find one of these plants here in Chelsea is indeed a surprise to those who have not followed the growth of the Chelsea Screw Co., which was organized in 1913 with $10,000 capital, by M. J. Dunkel, C. Lehman and Pauline L. Girbach. At that time the company was located in the Mack building on N. Main St. with 10 machines in operation and but five men employed.

In 1919 the company was reorganized with a capital of $50,000, all paid in, and at that time the working force had been increased to 20 men. In 1919, the main building of the present plant group was constructed, its dimensions being 40x126 feet and more men were added to the payroll. Today over 125 machines are installed in the plant, the payroll has reached

Central Fibre Products Co. Main Plant Here

With a whirl of many machines, large rolls of special fibre paper are cut into narrow ribbons and these ribbons seemingly endless, are twined and twisted by other machines to finally emerge as tough, in fact very tough, cords, which are rapidly wound on large reels to be rushed to the automotive centers for use in the bindings of the upholstery and for many other uses in these shops.

That, in a few words, is the work of the Central Fibre Products Co., a

FIBRE PRODUCTS CO. PLANT

Chelsea owned and operated plant located in the Wilkinson Building on North Main St. Contrary to usual custom, where the main plant is located in the larger city and the branch in the smaller, the Fibre Co.'s main plant is in Chelsea with a branch plant in Detroit.

Besides the above mentioned cord the plant is also engaged in turning out a tying twine for the wool clips and both products are so popular that the plant is kept steadily in production with a payroll of eight men.

The Central Fibre Products Co. was organized in 1920 and its officers and management are: Jabez Bacon, president, and Donald H. Bacon, secretary and treasurer.

Jabez Bacon, who up to a short time ago was actively engaged at his office every day, is one of Chelsea's pioneer business men, having settled here in 1871, coming from Somersetshire, England, and since that time has been an active factor in Chelsea's business life.

safety appliances, satisfactory conditions and general treatment but an evidence of the fullness and regard of the management for the welfare and safety of employees.

Order to improve working conditions, the company plan is carried on each employee, with a minimum of $1,000, all benefits accruing to this insurance being payable directly to the beneficiary designated by the employee.

One of the first Blue Eagles displayed in Chelsea was in the office window of this plant, denoting their compliance with the NRA codes for better working conditions and for the spreading out of employment through lessening working hours and employing more help.

Chelsea is indeed proud of the growth of this company and the employment of an average of 187 people as shown by their records from January 1st to July 1st of this year has been of material help to the community at large.

the Flanders Mfg. Co. Later, L. J. Hoover, the founder, moved the business to Ann Arbor, where it has had phenomenal growth until today it is the largest plant of its kind in the world.

The company, which produces a complete line of annular and taper roller bearings, ball bearings, thrust bearings, also manufactures Rain Square Sprinklers and ball bearing tie rod ends.

Walter Mack of Ann Arbor is president, with Frank Stivers, vice-pres.

C. W. LIGHTHALL

C. W. Lighthall, vice pres. and general manager, Wm. Arnold, treasurer, and Wm. E. Watrous, secretary. Mr. Lighthall is a native of this vicinity and has been with the company since its inception.

The Chelsea division has its own private railroad siding and is particularly adapted for the production of ball bearings and the shipping room is a bee-hive of activity in handling the products which go to all parts of the country.

At the present time twenty-four men and girl inspectors are employed steadily and is a valuable addition to the town's welfare.

Located on the M. & C. R. R. at Cleveland St., the local plant has a floor space of 18,000 square feet and is of daylight construction.

One of the most thriving of Chelsea's industries is the "mill" as it is locally known. There is no authentic information regarding the building of the first flour mill in Chelsea but it most likely was erected shortly after the Civil war as in 1868 there is a record of the burning of Lodd's mill. This was rebuilt and in 1879 the owners, Hatch and Rogers, sold it to Leaman E. Sparks, who, after extensive refitting, continued operating it under the name of Mayflower Steam Mills.

But even though the industry may date back a long time there is nothing old fashioned about the present mill, which, under the able leadership of Howard S. Holmes, has since 1916 forged its way to becoming one of the most up-to-date flour mills in suburban Michigan.

Adding from time to time new equipment which has enabled them to turn out a superior product and telling the world through proper advertising, using both newspapers and radio, the sales have steadily mounted upwards and the distribution is now at a point where Chelsea Milling Co. products are for sale in every town in lower Michigan and upper Ohio and Indiana and through more than 2,000 stores in the New York metropolitan area.

Through the addition of six huge grain storage tanks and 14 interstices bins which were erected in the spring of this year the grain storage capacity was increased from 45,000 to 160,000 bushels. The new tanks, are 120 feet high and are a monument to the growth of the Chelsea Milling Co. Within the past year a new garage has been built.

flour, thus saving them the payment of the Federal process tax.

The mill's products consist of hard winter, soft winter and spring wheat flours, and among the specialties and packaged goods are pancake flour, special cake flour, ready-mixed biscuit flour, farina, whole wheat and graham flours.

The payroll, which has kept pace with the growth of the company now reaches 30 people, which contributes in a great way to the success of Chelsea.

It has been a pleasure and a joy to record in the pages of this 100th Birthday Edition the story of the settling of this Chelsea district and the building up of our community. The recounting of its progress and achievements can't help but enkindle in every resident and citizen of the village and vicinity a desire to do things for our home district, it inspires us to new desires—new hopes and new ambitions and gives us a better knowledge as to what the spirit of mutual helpfulness can and will accomplish.

Chelsea is without doubt one of the prettiest villages in lower Michigan, has shown a steady growth from the day of its founding up to the present time, and the future was never more promising than at the present time.

German Settlement of Washtenaw County

For a few years prior and subsequent to 1850, there was a great German emigration to the United States. It had been a period of political and social unrest in the Fatherland. The severities attending its suppression and the re-establishment of a monarchy, more absolute than before, drove thousands of Germans of the higher classes and of marked intellectual culture to seek the hospitality offered by the United States.

Not all were revolutionists, nor even revolutionary sympathizers, but all had the ambition to enjoy a greater measure of freedom than their native land offered.

To Washtenaw county came many of these German families and they have proved a valuable factor in our business and social life.

Our industries are progressive and as recounted in this edition have enjoyed steady growth since their inception. From the industrial standpoint Chelsea is indeed fortunate. Factories employing many men are steadily in operation and are producing finished products which are finding new markets all the time. Our manufactured products are among the highest grade articles possible of production because of the modern type machines and equipment used in their making, and the users who require these particular articles are more and more turning to Chelsea as a reliable and steady source of supplies. Newspaper and radio advertising are continually building up a greater demand for our products and the supplying of these new outlets are keeping the workmen steadily and profitably employed.

The wages paid by Chelsea's concerns are up to the standard for the work performed and the working conditions are of the best—labor troubles are unknown and this speaks well for the cooperation of the concerns in making things as pleasant and profitable as business permits.

Our shopping district is above the average for villages of our size and has become the shopping center for miles around. Well stocked shelves and modern equipment with courteous help and wise buying enables the merchants to give to the shoppers full value for their money and because of their better offerings, lower prices and helpful service the volume of business is steadily increasing over last year and bids fair to continue in good volume for the balance of this season.

Our well shaded streets—well kept lawns and modern homes speak strongly of that pride and love of home instilled in us by our pioneer ancestors and the very few vacant homes in the village is another indication of the better business conditions existing.

Our educational facilities are unsurpassed by any other village in Michigan. Our public and parochial schools are under competent leadership and the personnel of the teaching staff is highly efficient and well trained.

Highways adjacent and leading into the community are well taken care of and provide us transportation facilities to all points, and garage service is competent and trustworthy.

Being situated on the main line of the Michigan Central also provides us with better travel and shipping facilities.

Chelsea is fortunate in its professional personnel—six doctors, three dentists, two undertakers and two hospitals take care of its needs in a manner most cities would envy.

All in all we in Chelsea are fortunate and in looking over possibilities of future growth, the outlook is indeed promising for here in Chelsea farm products, grain, stock and dairy create a market place and industries keep payrolls steady.

Chelsea has gone far on the road of progress and will go farther!

First History of This District Is Interesting

Although it is only 100 years since the first white settlement was made in the townships of Lima and Chelsea, so quickly was the district settled, so rapidly did the soil respond to cultivation, so rapid was the march of events, and so bewildering the inventions which brought it into communication with the settled East that today the appearance of an old and long settled country is all about us.

The actual pioneers have all passed away and our only knowledge of their life and hardships are gained through the written records and histories of early days.

Not much more than 250 years have passed since the first white man crossed the district, for in 1680 Robert Cavalier de La Salle, with four Frenchmen named Huniud, La Violette, Collin and Daubray, and a Mohican Indian journeyed through here from Fort Creve Coeur on the Illinois River (a little below what is now Peoria) enroute to Fort Frontenac near the entrance to the St. Lawrence River.

This is the first authentic information as to its visitation although in the writings of Father Segard, mention is made of the Huron and Grand Rivers being the sites of his labors in 1632 and Pere Marquette visited this vicinity in 1673. But from the time of La Salle's journey no mention is made of this territory although French traders did visit it to carry on their trade and barter with the Indians. The French traders were against any colonization as they desired only posts enough to which they could take their furs and have them transported to Europe. To cultivate the land would drive away the wild animals and Indian hunters and hurt their trade. So although a permanent post was established at Detroit in 1701 it was more than a century and a quarter before the first settlement was made in this vicinity.

In 1805 the Territory of Michigan was formed and in 1807 the Indian title in Washtenaw County was absolutely extinguished by a treaty made by Gen. Hull at Detroit with the Chippewas, Ottawas, Wyandottes and Pottawatomies. Two years later the first successful settlement in Washtenaw County was established on the Huron River at what is now Ypsilanti, by Gabriel Godfrey, Francois Pepin and Romaine Du Chambre, three Frenchmen from Detroit. For years this was a most successful trading post and was known throughout southern Michigan and Ohio as "Godfrey's on the Pottawatomie Trail."

On March 6, 1812, Congress set aside 6,000,000 acres for the soldiers in the war with Great Britain, of which 2,000,000 acres were to be surveyed in Michigan. Each soldier was to receive 160 acres fit for cultivation. The government surveyors reported that there were no lands in Michigan fit for cultivation. This astounding report was:

"The country on the Indian Boundary line from the mouth of Grand Auglaize river and running thence for about fifty miles, is, with some few exceptions, low wet land, with a very thick growth of underbrush, intermixed with very bad marshes, but generally very heavily timbered with beech, cottonwood, oak, etc., then continuing north and extending from the Indian boundary eastward, the number and extent of the swamps increase with the addition of numbers of lakes, from twenty chains to two or three miles across.

"Many of the lakes have extensive marshes adjoining their margins, sometimes thickly covered with a species of pine called 'tamarack' and other places covered with a coarse high grass, and uniformly covered from six inches to three feet (and more at times) with water. The margins of these lakes are not the only places where swamps are found, for they are interspersed throughout the whole country and filled with water, as above stated, and varying in extent. The immediate space between these swamps and lakes, which is probably near one-half of the country, is, with a very few exceptions, a poor, barren, sandy land on which scarcely any vegetation grows, except very small scrubby oaks. In many places that part which may be called dry land is composed of little short sand hills, forming a kind of deep basins, the bottoms of many of which are composed of a marsh similar to the above described. The streams are generally narrow, and very deep compared with their width, the shores and bottoms of which are, with a very few exceptions, swampy beyond description; and it is with the utmost difficulty that a place can be found over which horses can be conveyed with safety.

"A circumstance peculiar to that country is exhibited in many of the marshes by their being thinly covered with a sward of grass, by walking on which evinced the existence of water or a very thin mud immediately under their covering, which sinks from six to eighteen inches from the pressure of the foot at every step, and at the same time rising before and behind the person passing over. The margins of many of the lakes and streams in a similar situation, and, in many places, are literally afloat. Taking the country altogether, so far as has been explored, and to all appearances, together with the information received concerning the balance, it is so bad there would not be more than one acre out of a hundred, if there would be one out of a thousand, that would in any case admit of cultivation."

But what a different description was contained in the letters sent back East by the first settlers.

It was not until 1825 that a public highway was surveyed through Washtenaw County. In that year Orange Blodson surveyed a road from Detroit to Chicago, which ran through Ypsilanti and Saline. A second road, known as the Territorial Road, was started in 1829, and its building has been described by General Edward Clark in his reminiscences: "In the summer of 1829, the opening of a territorial road through the counties of Washtenaw, Jackson and westward to the mouth of the St. Joseph river, was the subject of discussion by the people in the counties named. It was known to the parties that the federal government was engaged in making the Chicago road a military road from Detroit to Chicago, through the southern tier of counties in the territory. At that time the road leading through the next tier of counties north, had its western end at Clement's farm, on section 24, in the township of Lima, some seven or eight miles west of Ann Arbor."

Believing that the land and other inducements were as good in the second tier of counties as in the first, an effort was made to have opened a competing road and draw a part of the emigrants to Michigan on a new route—at any rate to give them a choice. Mr. Botsford volunteered to go through from Ann Arbor to the Chicago road and post notices and call attention of the people on the route to the importance of the subject, if notices were written calling a meeting at Ann Arbor. The offer was accepted, the notices were written, and a meeting was held. It was resolved to petition the legislative council at its next session, to appoint commissioners and a surveyor to lay out a road. A petition was circulated and signed, it is believed, by every man on the contemplated route. The act was passed, and Orrin White, of Ann Arbor, Seeley Neal of Superior and Jonathan F. Stratton were appointed commissioners. Mr. Stratton was surveyor as well as commissioner.

Early in January, 1830, the commissioners started from Sheldon's, on the Chicago road, and ran the line of the new road west. When they reached Ann Arbor, a party of eight volunteered to go on with them to Grand River. Henry Rumsey, Samuel Van Fossen, Zenas Nash, Jr., William Hunt, Edward Clark, Mr. McGarty, Alexander Laverty and J. Bennett were the eight. They had provided themselves with an active yoke of oxen and a lumber wagon, a tent, blankets, provisions, rifles and axes. The object of the volunteers was to mark the road as fast as it was surveyed. The two parties kept together and spent the first night on the floor of Samuel Clement's log house in Lima. Here we took on all the hay we could, for this was the last settlement. Early the next morning the parties forded Mill Creek and pushed forward. The volunteers soon found use for their axes and handspikes in felling trees and rolling them out of the road. The snow was about four inches deep, and the weather was very cold; but good progress was made each day, as the country was sparsely timbered. Each morning, after breakfast, the teams went forward, and the teamsters would find a camping ground and start a small fire and wait until the parties came up, when the axemen would fell trees and cut them into logs ten or twelve feet long, place skids on the ground and roll three logs on them, then two, then one on top. Care was always taken to build the log heaps so the wind blew lengthwise of the logs. The snow was brushed off the ground and the tents pitched, the blankets spread, and the supper prepared and eaten with relish. The evenings were spent in smoking, telling stories, and playing pranks upon each other. In this way the time was spent until the parties crossed the Grand River at the site of the city of Jackson. A rest of two days was made here in a house on land entered by Mr. Blackman, one of the commissioners and then the volunteers started back to Ann Arbor. The most serious obstacle was the crossing of Mill Creek at Lima Center. The water was nearly waist deep and the night was cold. At Clement's the same stream had to be forded again, but there the water was only knee deep. The trip occupied six or eight days.

In conclusion it may not be improper to say that in the following spring the road was used to such an extent and so many emigrants moved west of Ann Arbor on it, that the people who had made a home at Jacksonburg concluded that they would celebrate the Fourth of July in the good old-fashioned style. Gideon Wilcoxson of Ann Arbor gave an eloquent oration. About seventy persons sat down to a good dinner. Capt. Alex Laverty, who had taken up his residence there, commanded the escort. Ann Arbor furnished the orator, marshal of the day, and part of the committee of arrangements, besides about a dozen citizens. The day was all that could be desired, and everyone who took part in the celebration seemed well pleased.

CONGRATULATIONS

This is true of your community in the past—why not make it so in the future?

Again we turn to the pioneers who gave Chelsea her chance to be what she is today; those men and women of one hundred years ago whose lives are recorded on the stones of Chelsea's Cemetery.

Their memories are evoked by memorials, and the record of their deeds is everlastingly graven in stone.

At the end of another one hundred years, will the histories of Chelsea's present people be as clearly evident in memorials as is the history of their ancestors?

Why not allow us to design a memorial for your particular circumstance? A card or phone call from you will be appreciated.

We offer this service entirely without obligation.

Chelsea Electric and Water Department Owned and Operated By Village at Profit

Chelsea Electric and Water Department is one industry that can truly be called Chelsea's as it is owned by the village and is managed and operated by Chelsea residents.

Chelsea's first light plant was built by Frank P. Glazier and incorporated under the name of Chelsea Water Works as a power plant for the Glazier Stove Company and electric power and light was furnished to the residents from 1898 to 1901, at which plant would then distribute it. This arrangement has been extremely satisfactory and the village has been enabled to show a good profit each year and this item has been a means of holding the village taxes at such a low figure.

The water department through the drilling of additional wells was put into position to render service of the highest type, both for home consumption and fire protection.

Chelsea State Bank
Renders Real Service

New in name but old in experience in guarding the finances of Chelsea, the Chelsea State Bank made its bow to the public on March 1, 1934. Brought into being by the merger of the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank and the Farmers and Merchants Bank, both strong, sound banks which were re-opened immediately after the banking holiday of March, 1933, the new bank offered to the community better banking service than could be offered by two banks duplicating efforts.

Under the able leadership of the officers and manned by the combined office help of the two old banks there was brought into existence a new bank which fully understood the banking needs of the community and was ready to minister to that need with resources of over a million dollars.

The new bank which was opened in the banking offices of the Farmers and Merchants Bank has as its president, Paul G. Schaible, vice president and cashier, John L. Fletcher, assistant cashier, Carl J. Mayer, and on its board of directors: Howard S. Holmes, John Kalmbach, D. E. Beach, L. G. Palmer, O. D. Schneider, O. D. Luick, C. Lehman, A. Guile, J. S. Cummings, L. P. Vogel, A. A. Palmer, E. S. Spaulding, C. H. Kalmbach, P. G. Schaible and J. L. Fletcher.

The Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank, which before the merger was located at Main and W. Middle Sts., was founded in 1876 as a private bank by Reuben Kempf and Chas. H. Kempf under the name R. Kempf and Bro. Bankers, and was located on West Middle St. in what is now part of Burg's Corner Drug Store. In 1898 the name was changed to the Kempf Commercial and Savings Bank and at its reorganization the following officers were chosen: R. Kempf, president; H. S. Holmes, vice-pres.; John A. Palmer, cashier; Geo. A. BeGole, asst. cashier. Reuben Kempf served as president until 1900 when Harmon S. Holmes was elected and served until the time of his death in 1922, following which D. C. McLaren, at that time a member of the board of directors, was chosen to fill the vacancy and he remained as president until his death a short time before the merger.

The Farmers and Merchants Bank was organized in 1908 with the late John F. Waltrous, president and P. G. Schaible, cashier, having banking quarters on N. Main St. where E. J. Claire & Son are now located. In 1921 P. G. Schaible was elevated to the presidency and P. F. Niehaus was made assistant cashier. Larger quarters being required, due to the enlarged business of the bank, in 1927 the Michigan Portland Cement Co.'s office on So. Main and South Sts. was acquired and the bank continued in the new offices until the new Chelsea State Bank was formed and took over the building.

Personnel of the bank are all natives of this locality and all have had years of experience in their work right here in Chelsea: P. G. Schaible since 1908, J. L. Fletcher since 1906, Carl J. Mayer since 1917, P. F. Niehaus since 1919, P. C. Maroney since 1921 and Donald Adam 1931.

Chelsea Foundry Has
Modern Equipment

When we say "The Foundry" here in Chelsea, few of us realize that we are speaking of the best equipped job and production foundry between Detroit and Chicago. Most of us think of a foundry as being a place where iron is melted and poured into moulds made of sand by a few men and we do not realize that a modern casting plant must now have machinery of various types to enable them to turn out just anything under the sun that can be made of cast metal.

The Chelsea Foundry was taken over in 1929 by J. A. Merrill and since then much modern equipment has been installed. The cupola in which the metal is smelted has a capacity of twelve thousand pounds of molten metal per hour and is of the most modern type.

A huge electric traveling crane of 5-ton capacity is there to move the heavy castings and for lighter work chainfalls and hand cranes. Sand blast equipment to clean the castings, compressed air lines to blow out the molds are carried to all parts of the foundry, complete pattern shop equipment to make and repair the patterns and forms, and a railroad siding all help to make the Chelsea Foundry and Manufacturing Co. known throughout Michigan as a foundry where skill, quality and speed are combined.

Consumers Power Co. Supplies Local Current

Chelsea's electric lights and power are a product of the Consumers Power Co., who supply the village plant from which it is distributed. With headquarters in Jackson this company, which is a combination of many steam power plants and numerous water power generators, supplies practically all of Michigan with the exception of the Detroit area, with electricity and gas. Its power lines stretch over lower Michigan, supplying cities, villages and farms with this modern convenience.

DO YOU REMEMBER WAY BACK WHEN—

The postoffice was in the Durand Hatch block—

The telephone switchboard was in the Chelsea Standard office, and Geo. S. Davis was operator when not setting type—

It was the nightly custom to go down to the depot to see the Grand Rapids come in—

The skating was good on the Tuttle pond and the crowd of young folks went on the street car—

The Boland line ran a streetcar pulled by a locomotive as far as Wilkinson St. to beat the Hawke and Angus line—

Tommy Mack had fast horses and was ready for a race any time—

The traveling men stayed at the hotels and hired rigs at the local livery stables to visit the surrounding towns.

Washtenaw Gas Co. Serves This Village

One of the most appreciated and most dependable of our public utility services is that rendered by the Washtenaw Gas Co., supplied from their plant in Ann Arbor.

Gas was brought to Chelsea in the summer of 1912, the work having been started in the early spring of that year, and great interest was manifested in the laying of the large supply mains and the laterals in the village streets, and with the opening of the service many Chelsea householders availed themselves of this convenience.

Since the first day on which the pressure was applied there has been no interruption of service and the gas association's slogan of "dependable service" has been maintained.

By means of a large holder tank at the east edge of the village, with a high pressure line supplying same, and by means of a reducer which brings the high pressure to what is known as low pressure, a steady service is possible by either method.

Chelsea gas users, under a 30 year franchise granted in 1912, are being supplied artificial gas at a lower rate than is in effect in any other village of equal size in all of Michigan.

There are approximately 550 domestic users and some of the Chelsea industries are also quantity customers.

Wm. Hochrein is resident service manager and handles the servicing for Chelsea patrons.

Michigan Bell Tel. Co. Is Pioneer In Chelsea

Telephone service was established here by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in 1881 and enjoyed the exclusive business of the community until in 1896 when Messrs. Lynn Gorton and A. W. Wilkinson started the Chelsea Telephone Co., handling the rural districts mostly, and in 1901 the local company took over the Bell Company interest, combining both units into one switchboard from which better service could be rendered. The local interests were sold to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in 1904 and the city and rural service has been conducted by them since that time.

Many improvements have been introduced and long distance rates have been reduced so that many persons daily avail themselves of this great service.

W. M. Schroder, manager of the Jackson area, which includes Chelsea, reports 634 subscribers here and that the business and collections at the local office are well above the average.

Miss Clara Hutzel, chief operator, A. B. Sutton, combination man, and six operators compose the local force.

Yorkshire Terrier Oneof Best of Show Dogs

The body of the Yorkshire terrier, except for the black button of a nose, is hidden by the soft coat, parted un-interruptedly from the tip of the nose to the root of the tail, observes a writer in the Los Angeles Times. Artistically speaking, the hair of the long face-fall drops over his head and muzzle like a rain of gold . . . and the hair of his body falls from the back like a cascade of steel-blue. The shorter hair on the ears and legs is golden tan.

The process of development of the breed—intended to have been a working terrier—is typical of man's attempt to manufacture a type. The desire was apparently toward the production of a dwarfed, prick-eared black-and-tan terrier, possessed with sporting instinct and a coat of unexcelled length and silkiness.

As foundation stock, the old English black-and-tan wire-haired terrier . . . said to be the original sire . . . is supposed to have been used. To lengthen the coat an infusion of Skye terrier blood was employed. To impart softness and eliminate the wiry texture of the coat without reducing its length the Maltese terrier was introduced. And to more closely approach the "ideal" and tend to return to the black-and-tan coloring the Clydesdale terrier was enlisted.

The First Saddle

The first real saddle is found in the so-called Column of Theodosius at Constantinople, usually ascribed to the end of the Fourth century A. D. It is not known who invented the saddle. It was developed gradually by the ancients. The Greeks rode bare-backed at first, but a little later employed the saddle cloth. Subsequently pads or rolls seem to have been added. In medieval times the saddle was much like that of the oriental saddle of today, with high peaks before and behind. The side saddle is said to date from the end of the Twelfth century.

Voted on Slavery

Had an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which was sponsored by an Ohio congressman, Thomas Corwin, been ratified, it would have guaranteed slavery a perpetual existence, and the fight over the repeal of this amendment might some years later—even now perhaps—have run a close second to the overthrow of the Eighteenth. Receiving in 1801 the requisite two-thirds vote of both houses of congress, it was submitted to the states, but only two ratified it—Ohio and Delaware.

ELECTRICITY is cheaper than GLOOM

Good lighting is a "penny tonic." It's a tonic for the eyes and a tonic for the appearance of the home. Eyesight is priceless - the difference between good lighting with bulbs large enough to do the job - and weak insufficient, gloomy lighting - amounts to only a few cents a day. Poor lighting is no bargain, no saving. Good lighting adds cheer and color to your rooms. Most valuable, it saves the eye-strain that creates headache, nervousness, fatigue. Save eyesight with "Right Light." Enjoy your home more.

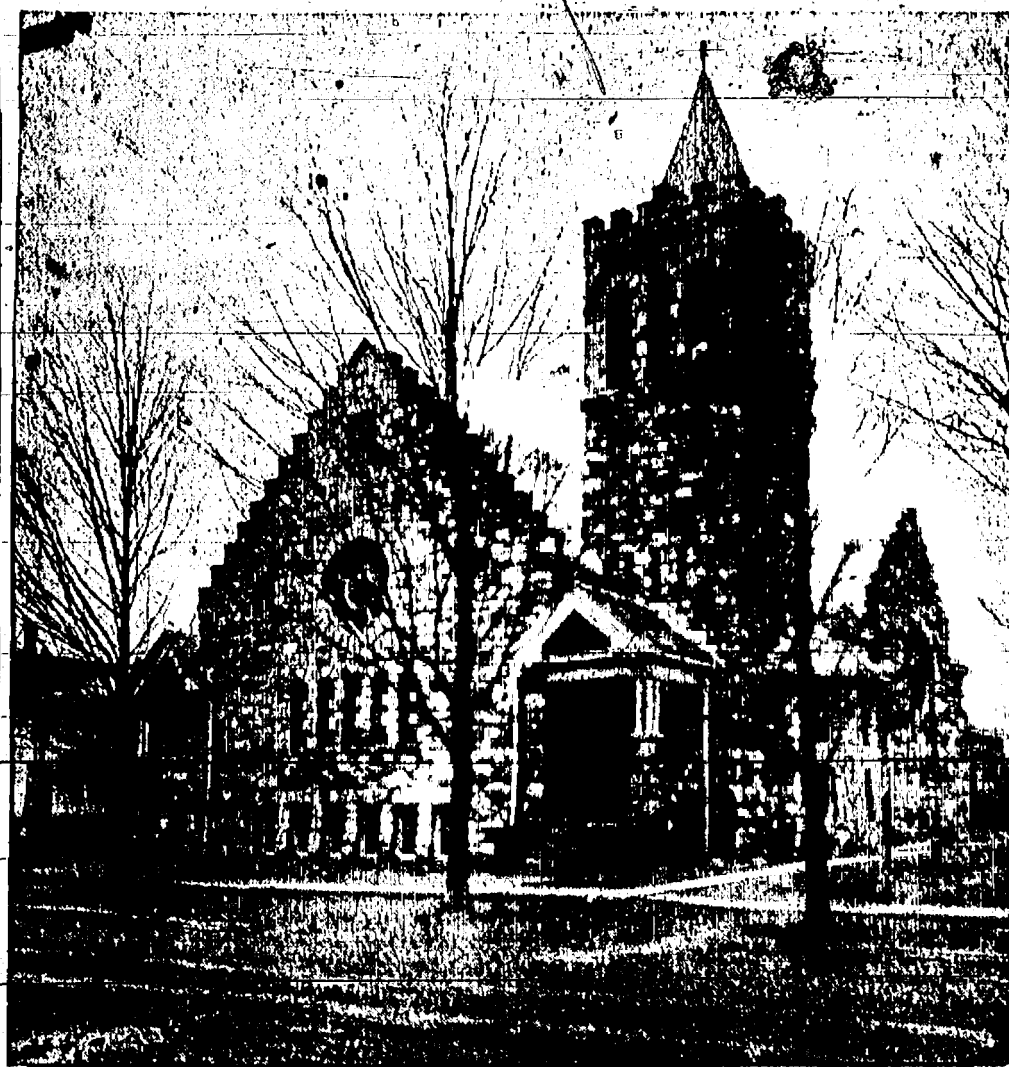

1¢

Electricity in the home today is at the lowest price in history. Its many penny priced services are worth dollars in better home lighting.

Many Uses for Bamboo Found by the Chinese

In one sense the Chinese civilization might be said to be a civilization built on bamboo. Throughout a large part of China groves of bamboo grow like trees near the homes of the people. They cut the tender tips of bamboo as we eat asparagus, and use bamboo chopsticks to eat their food. They carry rice in bamboo baskets and sweep the floor with bamboo brooms. They learn to write on bamboo paper with bamboo pens. Houses are made with bamboo poles at the corners, woven bamboo walls and roofs. Shoes and hats are made of the same light, strong material.

Not all Chinese are rice eaters. This is a mistaken impression which gained currency because the first European ships to visit China put in at southern ports, in the rice-raising lands. Millions of Chinese, particularly those in north China and Manchuria, never see rice, but depend on the soy bean and wheat for food. But it is true that many more millions eat rice. Rice grows in very wet land, land that is generally covered with shallow water at planting time. Each tiny rice seed is grown in a seed bed until it is about 8 inches high. Then the tender shoots are transplanted in even rows in the wet fields, back-breaking work, for which the planters receive very poor pay.

Australia Has Variety of Animals and Plants

Australia has more strange plants and animals than any other country in the world. And for a very good reason. In Australia plants and animals are very much like those which existed in the rest of the world millions of years ago.

At some far distant time, Australia was connected by land with Asia, and perhaps with South America as well. Then the bridge of land disappeared beneath the sea, leaving this island continent completely isolated. And while higher forms of flora and fauna developed in Europe, Asia and the Americas, life in Australia went its own way, changing little.

That's why we see in the tropical forests of this country such huge tree ferns as are found only as fossils in the rest of the world. There are lilies and tulips as big as trees. And while there are no native cats, horses, cattle, sheep, lions or tigers, there are such strange creatures as the kangaroo, the duckbill and the anteater. Some of these are connecting links between the animals of today and the huge reptiles that inhabited the earth in prehistoric times.

Australia still has plenty of reptiles - 100 varieties of snakes, three-fourths of which are poisonous. There are also several hundred kinds of lizards, some of which grow to be six feet long. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

As Sun Shines on U. S.

It is only during the summer when the sun shines continuously on some part of the United States, her territories, possessions or dependencies. For a very short time during the 24 hours of the equinox, March 21 and September 21, the whole of our territory is below the horizon in darkness.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Juvenile and Adult Leaf

It is well known that sometimes the leaves first put out by a seedling differ more or less from those which appear later. The first are known as juvenile, and the latter as adult leaves, says the American Nature association. Perhaps the case most often noted is that of the arbor vitae in which the first leaves are awl-shaped and the later scale-like.

CHELSEA'S BUILDING BOOM OF 1876

W. F. Kuntlehner and Miller Sisters now occupy the site of Barlow's Store, shown in the above photograph taken in 1876. Vogel & Wurster's ladies' department replaced the barber shop—their men's department in the building being erected. Next are buildings now occupied by Grove Bros. and Wm. Kolb.

A Grass Widow

The term is one which dates in origin to the Middle Ages, and it cannot be said just when it was coined, nor where or by whom. It is a corruption of "grace widow"—that is, widow by grace or courtesy. Originally it was applied to an unmarried woman who had a child. Later it came to designate a woman separated from her husband, and now most commonly a divorcee.

The Little Congress

The Little Congress was organized about 1920 or 1921. Anyone may be a member who is employed in a general capacity of secretary or clerk to a representative, it is primarily a debating institution. Resolutions of current interest in the house of representatives or in the senate, or both, are discussed. The rules of the house are the parliamentary rules of the Little Congress.

WE Gladly Join You in Celebrating Your Centennial Anniversary. We Feel a Deep Interest in You and Your Beautiful City as it now is.

Many changes have taken place. In looking back, I recall the shaky wooden walk on the east side of the business district fronting the row of one-story old-wooden buildings. I am also reminded of how beautiful are the many maple trees fronting the home formerly owned by Doctor Gates, now deceased, which my father, who then owned this property, planted.

For a short time, to help keep in your mind this unusual event, lest you forget, and to show our interest in you, we will discount any merchandise you may wish to purchase of us, 10% from our regular price. As you know, our prices are always less and our merchandise of the latest and best.

4,000 Auto Titles Awaiting Owners
There are 4,000 automobile owners in Michigan who do not have certificates of title for their cars. That many titles are being held in a department of state unclaimed file, after being returned by postal authorities because of improper addresses. In many cases the car owner has moved and failed to leave forwarding address. In Detroit, transportation of numbers of street addresses causes many titles to be returned to the department. Owners of cars, who have not received their titles, should write the title division of the Department of State.

Records Delaying Official Canvass
Records in three Congressional and one State Senatorial districts are delaying the official canvass of the primary election. Until records are completed, the vote cannot be tabulated.

In the Fourteenth Congressional district, the question of jurisdiction of the recount has been raised. Under the law, there is some doubt whether the recount should be conducted by the department of state or by the Wayne County clerk.

Inventor of Radio
Although many inventors were at work on the theory of wireless, Mahlon Loomis, an American, successfully transmitted signals between two kites about 1865 and patented his system in 1872. He failed to develop it, however, and Guglielmo Marconi, who patented and put to practical use his system of wireless communication in 1898, is considered its inventor or discoverer. Dr. Lee De Forest is regarded as the father of the modern radio as he perfected the audion tube. In 1910, through which the voice was successfully transmitted. First regular radio broadcasts were made from KDKA, in Pittsburgh, in the fall of 1910.—Pittsburgh Magazine.

Washington's Water Supply
The city of Washington gets its water supply from the Potomac river, which is one of the principal streams in the eastern part of the United States, ranking in size just below the Hudson and Connecticut rivers. The intake is located at a low dam at the head of Great Falls about 16 miles above the center of the city. At this point the watershed has an area of 11,000 square miles and an average discharge of 11,000 cubic feet per second or 7,600,000 gallons per day.

A & P 75 YEARS OLD TODAY
The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company today announced plans for its 75th Anniversary celebration. This company started in 1859 as a single store on Vesey Street, New York. Today its anniversary sale will be celebrated by 90,000 employees in 15,000 stores serving 6,000,000 customers a day.

J. T. Patten, the oldest living member of the organization, gave reporters an eyewitness account of the company's growth.

"My first job with A & P was in May, 1875," said Mr. Patten. "The company was then sixteen years old and had only twelve stores, but a large mail order business."

"I remember well the first store I worked in. We sold only tea and coffee. Blending was done locally—if a customer found a blend too weak or too strong, she brought it back and the blend was changed to suit her taste."

"That early store would probably be considered rather ornate today. On the walls were great oil paintings of Chinese scenes. A gallery ran around the store half-way between floor and ceiling. From this gallery hung a multitude of bird cages with canaries, cockatoos and parrots; and to complete the picture there was a large fountain in the center of the store in which goldfish swam. In the center of the ceiling hung a giant chandelier with many white, gas-illuminated globes on it. Glass prisms hung from under each light. These were always carefully taken off in the early summer and the whole was covered with mosquito netting."

"I have lived in the greatest 75 years of the world's history," continued Mr. Patten. "Never before in history has there been a period of such constant and rapid change. Light, heat, power, transportation, communication, entertainment, medicine—everything from the maternity ward to the undertaker's parlor has either come into being or been drastically changed during those seventy-five years."

"These changes, of course, affected every phase of life and every activity in America. I saw them from a grocery counter, and saw their effect on food retailing. Customers began to depend on the new canned foods, on fresh vegetables summer and winter, on individually packaged foods instead of bulk."

The development of retail food distribution with the growth of America is portrayed in a series of posters by Louis Fancher to be displayed in A & P stores during the 75th Anniversary celebration.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your Question and Answer how many volunteers did President Lincoln call for (his first call) at the beginning of the Civil War? Was the call made the same day Ft. Sumter fell to the Confederates?

Ans.—Lincoln's first call was for 75,000 volunteers, which was made on Saturday, April 13, 1861—two days after Fort Sumter was captured by the Confederates.

Ques.—While Voliva, the overracer of Zion City, declares positively that the earth is flat, we are taught that it is round. But how do we know it is round?

Ans.—There are several things that prove the earth is round. One proof is that when a ship sails across the ocean it vanishes from sight, just as though it was sinking in the water. Another proof is that if you travel in any given direction you will eventually come back from whence you started.

Ques.—What harm do moles do the farmers? Do they eat the grain which has been planted?

Ans.—In some cases moles are injurious, and in others, they are beneficial to the farmers. Moles travel underground in search of grub worms and cut worms, and usually operate in marshy ground. Thus far they are beneficial. But if they stray into cultivated land in their quest for the worms mentioned, they play havoc with the soil, and thus they are injurious. They do not eat the grain.

Ques.—Where do sea shells come from which are found along the seashore?

Ans.—Sea shells were grown just like oysters, clams, water snails, and many others grew that live in the sea. When one of these shell-fish dies his shell is washed ashore by the waves. That is how they get on the beach.

Ques.—Does it rain fish worms? If not, why are so many of them crawling around on top of the ground after a heavy rain?

Ans.—No, it does not rain worms. The earth worm crawls out of the soil and onto the wet surface of the ground. They like lots of moisture, and during very dry weather they go very deep into the ground to get it.

Ques.—Why is it that the ancient people didn't suffer as much from diseases as the modern man does?

Ans.—They didn't. If anything, they suffered more from disease than modern man does. The historic skeletons, as well as mummies of the ancient Egyptians, show that they suffered from many of the same diseases we do.

Ques.—Is it a good policy to cover

Ans.—No. When ice melts, it takes up and absorbs a certain amount of heat. This is what you use ice for—to take up heat. This is why it keeps the refrigerator cool. If you cover it with paper and prevent it from melting, you will save ice, but the air in the refrigerator will not be very cool.

Ques.—Can a submarine boat receive and send out wireless messages?

Ans.—Yes. As the radio or wireless waves are ether waves, they pass through water, earth, steel and all other forms of matter in much the same way they do in passing through the air. A wireless signal will pass down through the water and can be picked up by the radio inside the submarine just as though it was on the surface.

Ques.—What is life

Ans.—The human body is made up of millions upon millions of "little grains of living matter so small that they cannot be seen except with a powerful microscope. These grains are called cells. The living matter inside these cells is called protoplasm. These same cells make up all kinds of living creatures, including plants. There is protoplasm in all of them, and protoplasm is the seat of life.

Ques.—Are there any animals that can laugh?

Ans.—So far as is known, there are no animals that can laugh. However, scientists seem agreed that the playful chatter of some of the higher apes is an equivalent of our laughter.

Ques.—What day of the week was Abraham Lincoln born?

Ans.—Abraham Lincoln, who was born on Feb. 12, 1809, was born on Sunday.

Ques.—I was born on Dec. 31, 1900. Will you please answer what day of the week I was born?

Ans.—The date given was the last day of the century, the last day of the year, the last day of the month, but the second day of the week—Monday, the day of the week on which you were born. This looks like you came nigh not being born at all.

UNITY

For The Standard, by Arthur Carlton

A sense of pity yesterday Overwhelmed my heart with care, O may I be a strong right arm And with your heartache share.

Come, dear one, tell me what it is That gives you so much grief, We'll put our hearts together and I'm sure we'll get relief.

In tender sympathy we breathed An importuning prayer; But never really truly thought Jesus was standing there.

Yes, Jesus standing, listening, heard The sobbing of our breasts; And whispered, O so sweetly, "Child, I'm here, and that to bless."

O how our load was lifted, How quickly light shown in, This was our omnipresent Lord, Redeemer, Saviour, King.

We separated for the time, But never shall forget The day we shared each other's woe, And Jesus with us met.

Heads to West. Feet to East. Old Burial Custom

In all early Christian cemeteries in Great Britain and northern Europe the graves were carefully orientated, the body being almost invariably laid with the feet pointing toward the east. This custom prevailed until a century or two ago, and is still widely observed. Even in the family burying grounds on the colonial estates of Maryland and Virginia the bodies usually lay with the head to the west. The custom arose from medieval legends and pagan practices. Christ, according to the legend, was buried in the sepulcher with his head to the west. Many suppose that Matthew 24:27 means that when Jesus comes in judgment he will appear in the east. That verse reads: "For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of Man be." Bodies, therefore, were buried with the feet toward the east, to enable them on arising on the morning of resurrection to face the east and to hurry in that direction to meet the Lord. Because of this custom, the east wind is known in Wales as "the wind of the dead man's feet." Orientation of the dead, however, is older than Christianity. The pagan Franks placed their dead in the tombs with the feet to the east; and Walter Johnson, in "Highways in British Archaeology," describes a cemetery at Charnay, France, in which all but two or three of the more than seventy graves were so orientated that the head lay to the west end.

Our Early Trade Routes Along Navigable Rivers

The early trade routes followed navigable rivers and Indian trails, notes a writer in the Washington Star. Communication between the different colonies was chiefly by water and between the three populous centers of the North—Boston, New York and Philadelphia. Roads developed slowly—as late as 1680 the state of Massachusetts ordered each town to construct a highway with the adjoining towns. The roads of Colonial New England followed roughly the routes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroads.

In the South, an excellent system of waterways navigable during the entire year because of mild climate, furnished the best means of transportation and delayed the building of roads until the middle of the nineteenth century.
