Plan Organization of Livestock Auction Co.

More than thirty-five farmers and business men were present at the meeting held in the Kiwanis rooms last Friday night, called to determine what action should be taken in the matter of perfecting a local organization for the purpose of securing financial support for construction of stockyards in Chelsea.

It was the opinion of most of those in attendance at the meeting that a livestock auction sales company would be successful in Chelsea if properly organized and conducted, and it was decided to make an effort to finance construction of suitable stockyards for this purpose.

W. D. Skran, manager of the Owosso stockyards, attended the meeting and explained the entire plan of operation of the livestock auction sales system and stated that in his opinion the territory which would be served by Chelsea is much better than at any point in Michigan. This opinion was given by Mr. Skran as the result of a careful survey which he has made to determine the amount of livestock raised in this part of the state.

Subscriptions for the financing of such a venture here are well under way and it is expected by the committee in charge that sufficient capital will be secured within the next few days. After the organization is completed it will take approximately 90 days to construct the stockyards and do the necessary preliminary work before sales are started.

The purpose of a livestock auction sales company is to secure for farmers a higher price than they realize at terminal markets, with less shrinkage than is experienced when livestock is hauled a greater distance. At sales conducted on this plan buyers are present from packing companies and everything is sold at auction to the highest bidder and shipment is made on the day of sale. Sales are held one day of each week and if the organization plan is successful here the auction would no doubt be held each Wednesday.

Water Main Extensions Will Be Relief Project

Because of difficulties anticipated in the construction of the storm sewer project planned by village officials as a work relief project, the plan has been abandoned. The route of the sewer would be so level that it would have been necessary to go at least 12 feet in depth at some points and it was feared that quicksand would be encountered, which would make the project too difficult for the benefits to be derived.

To replace the sewer construction plan a work relief project has been approved by the county relief director which calls for the construction of water main extensions in the village to eliminate practically all "dead ends" of the present water supply lines. Considerable complaint has been made by residents who live near the dead ends because of the stagnant condition of the water supply at those points.

The new project will employ as many or perhaps more men than the sewer construction would have employed and it is expected the work will be started this week. Present plans call for completion of the job by July 1st.

He first entered the employ of William Schatz, where he remained nearly two years. The greater portion of the time he had conducted barber shops in the village, having been associated with Oliver Kitley, Ernest Webber, Glenn Harboure and J. S. Tuttle, the latter having been his partner for about 15 years.

He was married September 4, 1906, to Miss Ida Mast, and is survived by the widow, two sons, William of Ann Arbor and Marvin at home; three brothers, Curtis H. of Willis, Eugene of East Aurora, N. Y., and William Marvin of Milford, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Young of Ann Arbor.

Modernization Cards At Chelsea State Bank

A meeting of the committee in charge of Chelsea's Better Housing Program was held at the Kiwanis rooms Monday evening, when cards listing desired projects were sorted and plans discussed for the best method of making the cards available to merchants and tradesmen who desire to contact those who plan improvements to their homes or property.

It was decided to leave the cards at Chelsea State Bank, where they are available for inspection to anyone interested in selling materials or securing employment on contemplated projects for modernization or improvements. Many cards list only painting, others call for roofing or alterations, and some call for complete modernization. There are many potential orders and a large amount of employment available if all of the home owners' plans materialize, and it is expected the plan will prove to be a real aid to the community.

Canvassers are still working and it is expected that many more cards with listed projects will be given the committee within the next few days. Out of almost 300 cards received so far, 91 home owners have listed improvements which they expect to make, either with or without financial aid.

Chain Letter Craze Prevalent In Chelsea

The 10-cent chain letters, which have swamped the Denver, Colo. post-office in recent weeks and increased the daily average of letters in the Detroit postoffice by 118,000, have reached Chelsea and from indications their spread is likely to continue.

Following is the text of a typical letter, headed "Prosperity Club — Faith, Hope, Charity" and bearing five names and addresses: "This chain was started in the hope of bringing prosperity to you. Within three days, make five copies of this letter, leaving off the name and address at the top and putting your name and address at the bottom, and mail to five of your friends to whom you wish prosperity to come. In omitting the top name, send that person 10 cents, wrapped in paper as a charity donation. In turn, as your name reaches the top, you will receive 15,625 letters with donations amounting to $1,562.50. Now, is this worth a dime to you? Have the faith your friend had in you, that this chain will not be broken."

Of course, the fallacy of the chain is that sooner or later they must be broken, and after every one willing to gamble a dime on them has participated, they are bound to languish.

Postal authorities have received numerous letters and telephone calls from persons asking if they would be violating postal laws in sending out chain letters themselves. They have answered by stating that such persons need not fear prosecution by the government. However, the postoffice department is seeking to run down the people promoting the plan, and are watching for cases of fraud in connection with the letters.

There also has been an influx of "one dollar letters" in Chelsea and according to reports they have been given a welcome reception by many who wish to gamble a dollar on the chance of becoming suddenly wealthy.

The marriage of Miss Cora Belle Moshier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moshier, of East Addison St., Jackson, and Robert Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall of Chelsea, was solemnized Tuesday evening, May 7, in LaGrange, Indiana. The groom is a graduate of Chelsea High School, class of 1930, and for the past 18 months has been a partner with Mr. Grimwade in the Red and White Store. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will make their home in Chelsea.

LOOKING BACKWARD

A meandering picture I'm carving here
Which takes me backward through the years,
To a far away home where loved ones were born.

And lived through the joys of the years sunny mornings.
No trouble was sought, no sorrows were brought,
We romped through woodland and glade.

With daddy and mother, with sister and brother,
The truest affections were made.
The house-advertising colonial days.

With a high gambrel roof overhead,
The attic was long and deep and wide
And held a real trundle-bed.

The rain that pattered so heavy and loud
Was music's sweetest refrain,
And many a day be it winter or May,
We have coveted that refrain.

Dear father and mother long since took their rest,
Many loved ones have been laid away,
The woodland and meadows have changed their address.

The old house has gone to decay,
However, we copy as best we know how,
The vision of those early years,
Where we romped and played through woodland and glade,
Knowing little of sorrow and tears.

Farmer Builds Chapel
A tiny stone chapel named St. Mary's of the Oaks jets out of the summit of the highest hill on a farm at Cross Plains, Wis., as the result of an answered prayer. Tossing on what he believed to be his death bed, the farmer vowed that if he recovered he would construct a shrine out of gratitude. He made good his promise.

DUNDEE—Approximately $8,000 will be spent in enlarging the tomato canning factory here, preparatory to increasing employment and production this fall. A new engine room has been built to accommodate a 125 h. p. boiler, and two 500 gallon copper kettles have been purchased. These, in addition to the four already owned, are to be used for ketchup. A wing large enough to store several carloads of empty cans, has been added to the main building. A new warehouse, 50 feet by 100 feet, is being erected near the railroad. Canned goods will be placed here awaiting shipment. The factory, located at 280 East Monroe street, is owned by Milo Van DeVenter and son Carl. It has been a growing industry since it began in 1907, and provides employment for a number of people in and around Dundee. Last year during the canning season, August to October, about 90 women and 25 men were employed. This year the factory will employ two shifts with approximately 80 women and 25 men on each shift.—Reporter.

1000-mile record
beats best mark ever set by any closed car

NEWS FLASH—Muroc Lake, Cal., April 13—36 official A.A.A. records broken by a stock Hudson Eight. Top speed—over 93 miles an hour for five miles. Average speed—over 85 miles an hour for 1000 miles and beyond. A clean sweep of every record in its class up to and including 1000 miles and 3000 kilometers, and four unlimited class closed car records. Electrical timing correct to a millionth part of a second and every record certified by American Automobile Association.

Here's what it means to you. Probably you'll never care to drive a car five miles at 93 miles an hour. Yet, it means a lot to you to have a car that can go that fast—to shoot out of traffic tangles or flash you out ahead on the highway.

Isn't likely you'll want to drive a thousand-mile stretch at 85 miles an hour, but you do want a car with the fine engineering, power and ruggedness it takes to do this. Ordinary driving is no work at all for a car like this.

That's what it means to own a Hudson—smoother miles, more enjoyable miles—plus ruggedness and gasoline economy that make those miles cost less. You can see and drive an exact duplicate of this record-breaking Hudson Eight at any Hudson showroom. You can also see the complete list of these 36 new records, and scores of others held by Hudson-built cars. Take the wheel today and discover what this record-breaking performance means to you.

Bill Would Require Locked Auto Plates

For the second time in as many years, the legislature has had placed before it a measure involving the use of locking devices for automobile license plates. Each such plan has contemplated issuance, by the Secretary of State, of lock nuts or similar devices, which, once installed, could not be removed without ruining the license plate. Several patents have been issued for devices of this character.

Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, has not taken any official interest in this proposed legislation, but those who favor the measure have pointed out to him that the state would collect far more revenue, through stopping the transfer of plates from one car to another, than would ever be involved in the cost of supplying locking devices to plate purchasers.

Records of the Department show that about 800 persons have been convicted thus far under the Financial Responsibility Act, of driving automobiles bearing plates issued to other cars. Just what percentage of actual violation of this law is represented by convictions, is not known, of course. Other records show that in 1934, motorists of the state paid $28,703 for duplicate license plates, to replace those lost or stolen. Most of this would be saved to motorists if their plates were affixed with a locking device, friends of the measure have urged.

As to means for compelling use of the locking devices after issuance, one patented lock involves use of a thin metal disc, several inches in diameter, over the front head of each bolt; if the bolt were sawed off for removal of the plate, this would fall out and its absence would be detected almost as far as the plate could be seen. Insurance firms have indicated their enthusiasm for the bill as a means of reducing car thefts which involve the changing of license plates.

Two Hundred Attend Farmers' Union Meet

The local organization of the Farmers' Union held a meeting at Sylvan town hall Saturday evening, with about 200 in attendance. The Union, though quite new in Michigan, appears to be growing rapidly, and has several well-defined objectives in view to aid the farmer.

There were three speakers at the Saturday meeting. The first, Don Alderdyce, likened the present-day farmer to a hound which merely sits and howls while another dog takes its rabbit, and stated that the purpose of the Farmers' Union is to organize farmers so as to enable them to do something about their economic situation rather than simply to howl about it. He then introduced the principal speaker, William H. Carpenter of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Carpenter opened his speech with a prognostication of infinitely worse economic conditions within the next four years. He continued with an explicit denunciation of the Federal Administration's agricultural program, stating that the AAA's payments to the farmers have the effect of putting every one of them on the dole. As for its policy of plowing under crops and destroying products, he stated that the wealth of a country depends on the amount of goods which are produced, and that therefore it is stupid to think that wealth can be created by destroying a portion of those goods.

Mr. Carpenter attacked the money system. He claimed that because of it, the farmer receives less than one-third the value of the goods he produces. The remainder goes for profit, interest and rent.

He condemned, in general, international bankers, domestic bankers and big industrialists, and blamed them for much that is deplorable in the agricultural situation today.

Mr. Carpenter concluded by stating that the salvation for the American farmer is to put in Congress and in the legislatures men who have the interests of the farmer at heart—men who think like farmers, not like lawyers and politicians—and that organization under the Farmers' Union is the means whereby this can be accomplished.

The final speaker was John W. Lentz, president of Michigan Farmers' Union. Mr. Lentz outlined his personal theory that what the farmer wants and needs is cost of production for the commodities used in domestic consumption, so that every purchaser—dependent and chain—will have to pay the same price; after the fashion of uniformity of price practiced in the public utility field. This would do away with destructive price cutting and its resulting loss to the farmer.

He stated that the purpose of the Farmers' Union is to organize farmers so as to enable them, through mass effort, to receive a fairer price for their products and to exert pressure toward the passage of therazier-Lemke bill, which proposes to refinance American farms at an interest rate of 1 1/2 per cent.

Outlines Plans for Project Development

Outlining the complete plans for development of the Federal Waterloo project, C. D. Platt, project manager for the National Parks Service told a large audience of Washtenaw sportsmen Tuesday night the specific benefits which the project would bring to residents of this county. The meeting, held in the Sylvan town hall, attracted more than twenty men from every section of the county.

Stressing the fact that there is no secrecy about the Waterloo project, Mr. Platt traced its history as follows: "This plan is a result of the desires of a committee of local Michigan men as presented to the Federal AAA commissioners at Washington. The government agents decided to secure options on a large tract of sub-marginal land in southern Michigan for the development of recreational activities."

"Sub-marginal land", as defined by the speaker, includes "that land which, under normal conditions, will not yield sufficient return for a reasonable living."

According to Mr. Platt, the objectives of the Waterloo project include the following: 1. Retirement of poor land from agriculture. 2. Rehabilitation of its farmers upon better properties. 3. Recreational development to include fishing, hunting, reforestation, game management studies, and camping facilities. 4. Development of a sanctuary for all forms of wild life. Ninety per cent of the Waterloo options (which now total over 8,000 acres), is listed as third-class farming land by the state agricultural department. The township in which most of the land is located has the lowest assessed valuation of any in Washtenaw county. However, the area is unusually beautiful, containing an abundance of wild life already, with adequate streams, lakes, forests and hills to support considerable more.

In concluding his remarks, Mr. Platt outlined the ways in which the Washtenaw Conservation Association can be of help to the project. "Through educating local farmers against the unwise practice of burning their fields each year, and through control of all other incendiary fires your organization may do the most good," he said. Other cooperative efforts include the development of game cover, use of fishing bars on reapers, discouraging "skinning" of timber regions, preventing the development of cheap business establishments adjacent to the park, and through intelligent use of the new county zoning law.

Prof. K. C. McMurphy of the Geography department of the University, for many years associated with conservation work in this state, explained several other aspects of the Waterloo development.

Mr. McMurphy also pointed out the large amount of money which the project will bring into this county. A. R. Vogel, member of the National Parks staff, stated that there have been more than 50,000 visitors to the 15-acre park at Grand Haven in a single day.

It was voted, at the suggestion of C. H. Adler, president of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, to have D. H. Haines, president of the Association, appoint a committee of five to work in conjunction with a committee from Jackson county to confer with Mr. Platt to work out an actual scheme of cooperation between the two counties and the recreational project administration.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Drake of University Heights, Cleveland, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wilson. Mrs. Maude Besty and Miss Brenda De Velos of Detroit also were Sunday visitors at the Wilson home.

We are therefore asking the people of Chelsea and surrounding territory to help us in supplying a few jobs to help our needs. We have all kinds of tradesmen, and will accept any kind of a job, no matter how small or how big. We will give anyone estimates on a job or work by the hour—your price is our price. We will clean rugs, wash windows, mow lawns, build houses, draw ashes, gravel or what have you? Leave your orders with Hazen Leach or our hall above Kroger store, which is open Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 7 o'clock, every week. Farm work is solicited.

Twilight League News

On Thursday evening, May 9 the Trojans defeated the Congregationals, 6 to 5. Dale Kern and George Baxter both pitched fine games for their respective teams, but that did not satisfy either, apparently, for Kern got one of the two hits for the Trojans at a very crucial moment, and Baxter made the only Congregational hit, at a time when the outcome was decidedly undecided.

In the Trojans' second inning, Lixey, Wallace and Howe walked, and Clark, Dvorak and Foster got on by errors. It was then that Kern clouded his double over the left fielder's head. Baxter, at this moment, replaced Dalstrom on the mound, and Wallace grounded out to and the inning. Net to Trojans—6 runs on one hit.

In the 6th inning the Congregationals started a rally which threatened to tie the score; Munro walked, Lehman and Dalstrom were hit by pitched balls, and Smith got to first on an error. Baxter then batted out a single, and advanced to third—the tying run, but was unable to score because Sweeney and McBride fanned, ending the game on account of darkness.

Struck out by Kern—9.

By Baxter—6, in 4 innings.

Mayer's Electric defeated St. Paul's in a technically good baseball game on Friday evening, the game having been postponed from Monday evening.

The score was 2 to 0. From the standpoint of the spectators it was quite uneventful and unexciting. Hits, runs and errors were scarce on both sides, and the game developed into a pitching duel—Hoffman against Barbour. Both exhibited a good bit of ability.

There were two doubles, one by Crocker in the first inning which scored Hoffman, and one by Schneider in the St. Paul's sixth time at bat. Schneider was unable to score when his teammates failed to emulate his fine example.

The game was called, midst much ado, at the end of five and one-half innings on account of darkness.

The following is an editorial taken from the Michigan Farmer:

There are other encouraging features in the current legislative situation. One of these is the presence and influence of John Lentz, president of the Michigan Farmers' Union. His unceasing vigilance and sound common sense inspires confidence among the members. And the Farmers' Union is a factor in this session. As a result of his efforts the Michigan Legislature has sent a 100% endorsement of the Frazier-Lemke bill to Washington. He has supported the 5c a pound tax on oleomargarine through the Senate. He has up to date prevented the passage of the oil trust bill to limit the production of oil and gas in Michigan and he is opposing a bill that seeks to create a sort of state AAA to add to the farmers' troubles.

Similar Union activities are being carried on by the National Farmers' Union at Washington, D. C.

Thank you for asking me. Of course any place of meeting you arrange will be satisfactory with me. I hope it may be at Camp Newkirk."

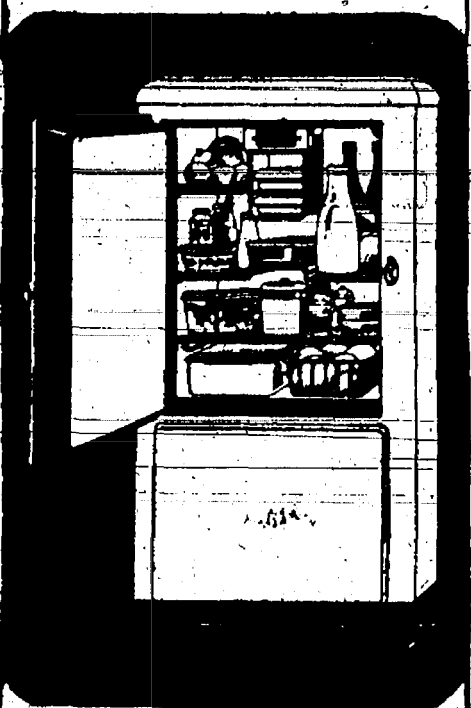

"We hope to make this gathering the biggest of the year," Mr. MacPeck said. "I know that people will come from far and near to hear Senator Copeland and to help us celebrate Scouting's 25th Anniversary."

On Friday of this week Chelsea will play Clinton on Island Park field, Ann Arbor.

Can You Believe It?

One of our bashful, little Senior boys got arrested for speeding on his way home from the game. Were the girls the cause of it, Ronnie?

Another of our Senior boys enjoys picking cowpops on Sunday afternoon in the rain, for the girls. They wish to extend their thanks for the beautiful bouquet.

The J-Hop in Stockbridge is Friday night. Are you going, Lynn?

I hear a certain Junior boy had his picture taken in a tuxedo.

What a Click!

No, the camera up to McManus' isn't broken—and it had to take a lot of shocks on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. For those two fine days found the students of Chelsea High laughing madly in and out, having their pictures taken. How the combs were worked overtime, and the power puffs flashed! Very carefully each student kept track of the number of times he was "snapped." When its picture taking time every one remembers to which club and class he belongs. All this will be followed by an eager struggle to get the first look at the proofs—if you want to see the results, order your Senior Reminder for '35, early.

Third Defeat

Last Friday the Chelsea team again went down to defeat at the hands of Belleville. C. Kennedy, pitching for Chelsea, was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning after allowing 7 runs. Barton, who relieved him, went the rest of the route, allowing two more runs.

Rathbun pitched the route for Belleville, allowing nine hits, while the two Chelsea pitchers allowed eight. The Chelsea players showed very poor base running. The final score was 9-3.

Tennis Tournament

No matches have been played in Senior and Junior classes.
In the Sophomore class, James Birch defeated Bud Meyers.
In the Freshman class, A. Duerr defeated W. Mayer, R. Spaulding defeated L. Tisch, R. Spaulding defeated A. Duerr.
R. Spaulding is the winner of the Freshman tournament.

Sez Me

He-man Seitz escorted Leona to the Junior play. Did you see the ox-barterer escort Miss Martin home? What's this about his piling up stones to tell how many times he visits her? I hear the Junior play cast had good times after play practice. Better watch out Jane, Mitz had the disclaimer a couple of nights. I saw Angeline up in Greek's with Dave. It's really getting serious.
Those girls from Ann Arbor must have been too much for Harley. He was absent two days last week.

THANKS!

The Junior and Senior classes wish to thank the Hindelang Hardware Co. for the furniture used in the Junior and Senior plays.

River Changes Boundary
Having altered its course in four places, the River Pachan, the boundary between Siam and Burma, has given each country two acres of land and taken two, and the channel is the official frontier.

"BIG HEARTED HERBERT" PRESENTED BY JUNIORS

The Junior play, "Big Hearted Herbert", staged by the Junior class of Chelsea High School on Thursday and Friday nights of last week was a huge success. Every member of the cast portrayed the character assigned very well, but the highlight of the performance was the work of George Woods in taking the part of Big Hearted Herbert, HIMSELF. George turned in a professional characterization which had the crowd going from start to finish. Jane Belser, his wife, remained meekly in the background until the last scene when her work as the plain wife and mother of a plain family was exceptionally well done.

Chelsea High School puts on good plays but this one caught the fancy of the crowd more than usual. The directors of the production, Miss Barbus and Miss George, are to be congratulated for their part in the success of the evening.

OUR NEIGHBORS

NORTHVILLE—"Tony," Harry B. Clark's well-known black and white horse, was purchased Friday by Henry Ford, who has been attempting to purchase him from Mr. Clark for over a year. "Tony" has become a familiar sight at the Northville Wayne county fairs during the last five years. It was just that long ago that Mr. Clark bought him in Chicago. At that time the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus were also making bids for him, but his former owners told Mr. Clark that they would much rather that he should have him than the circus. This unusual horse has not only participated in the Northville fairs but has also taken part in Michigan state fairs. In the rodeo of last year's fair, the officiating judge rode him. Mr. Ford wishes to exhibit "Tony" at his Greenfield village at Dearborn, Mr. Clark said.—Record.

PLYMOUTH—Awaiting with the greatest of hope and anticipation, their venture into a new life, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rotz and their two children are packed and ready to leave Sunday for Alaska with the 60 or more other families that are to make new homes in that country. Each day for over a week they have waited patiently and happily for final instructions from governmental agencies relative to their departure for the rich Mantamaska valley where forty acres of land, twelve of which are ready for cultivation, awaits each family.—Mail.

Electric Rates REDUCED AGAIN

How much have you helped toward this reduction? Perhaps you have not given it much thought of being part owner in a $150,000.00 or $200,000.00 corporation.

You use electricity for lighting, running your motors, ironing, and numerous other ways—why not use it for cooking and heating water? You will find it fast, clean, and above all, cheap—more so than any other fuel you can use.

Electricity is one of the cheapest good things in America!
