Editor As Speaker

New uses for farm products is to be the theme of the Farmers Day program at Michigan State College, Friday, July 20, will be built and the principal speaker that day, Wheeler McMillen, editor, Country Home, has been investigating that subject for several years.

In an interview with Dr. William J. Hale, Midland, Mich., Mr. McMillen last year found out how one of the leading scientists in the industrial field believes farm products can be turned to other uses than food or clothing. Conversion of the products of farms into manufactured goods is not wholly new but the interest in increasing this use is at a high point now, and scientists are working overtime to develop new uses.

Mr. McMillen was chairman of part of the sessions at the agricultural-industrial conference called at Dearborn by Henry Ford, and did much of the preliminary work which made that meeting possible.

He said at that meeting, "We are today utilizing but a small portion of the productive power of our cultivated soil, and an even lesser proportion of the productive power of our agricultural energies. We who are food producers have felt ourselves limited by the inelasticity of human stomachs. Few of our customers, however rich, seem to want more than three meals a day.

"In contrast, the American people have an apparently infinite capacity, given adequate purchasing power, to consume the products of industry and agriculture other than food. Therein lies an opportunity of greater magnitude than we may comprehend without careful examination."

Michigan farmers will want to hear the message that Mr. McMillen will bring from the scientists who are working to develop processes which will turn farm products into manufactured articles. The practicability of the plan is attested by the use of such products now in the production of starch, alcohol, cellulose, and oils which have a ready sale.

The speaking program Farmers Day will follow the basket luncheon at noon. Plans are being made to have some of the high school musicians of the State furnish a band concert after lunch. Inspection of the experimental work at the College, a tractor plowing contest, and other features will occupy the morning hours.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Is there any State in the Union where the negro population is greater than the white? Also what is the negro population of the United States?

Ans.—In two States, Mississippi and South Carolina, the negro population outnumbers the whites. The present negro population of the United States is 17,892,000.

Ques.—Will you kindly answer in your good paper the correct pronunciation of "ignominious"?
Ans.—This word is correctly pronounced "ig-no-mi-nus", with accent on the third syllable, "ra", and the "a" long as in "late".

Ques.—What is the origin of the saying that the people of the world will grow weaker and wiser?

Ans.—The origin of the expression is not known. In substance, however, it occurs in "Aesop's Fables", but just why it is wrapped in obscurity.

Ques.—What do we get the word "bus" from, meaning vehicle? Does it have a plural?

Ans.—"Bus", of course, means a vehicle, and was originally "omnibus", but was shortened to "bus". However, it is now regarded as a word, and "busses" is the proper plural.

Ques.—Can you tell me if young skunks can defend themselves against enemies just like the older skunks do?

Ans.—Yes. Skunks develop their offensive habits very early in life. It is a natural instinct with them to squirt scents when they are only a few weeks old. As they grow to maturity the amount of the scent fluid carried in the gland sacs increases, and the distance with which they can shoot it, also increases.

Ques.—Why is a person's first name sometimes spoken of as his "given" name, and sometimes as his Christian name? Are they not the same?

Ans.—They mean exactly the same. The two forms came into use through the scrupulousness of the Puritans. They believed it was sacrilegious to apply the term "Christian" to any person not a member of any Christian church, including their own infants. Therefore they called a person's first name his "given" name.

Ques.—When two horses run around a racetrack side by side does the outer horse go around the inside horse?

Ans.—This is a moot question than can be answered yes or no, depending upon the definition you wish to place upon the preposition "around". All authentic dictionaries define the word "around" as "on all sides of", and as the inner horse always keeps the same side to the outer horse, it is obvious that the outer horse has not gone around the inner horse. A common definition of "around" is "encircling". If this definition is accepted, then the outer horse went around the inner horse.

Ques.—I want to ask you if rocks grow in the fields? In spite of the fact I clear my fields of rocks, I will find more there the following year.

Ans.—No. Rocks and stones are not alive according to any ordinary definition of life, and consequently they do not grow in the correct sense of the term. Some rocks and stones, however, do get larger by accretion—that is, they get larger by addition of material from without. In regions where the ground freezes, the freezing and thawing causes rocks and stones to work up toward the surface. Ice expands on freezing, and so the rocks are lifted slightly where ice forms under it. The stones do not settle back when it thaws; therefore a new supply of stones is in evidence.

Ques.—Can the North Star be seen by people from all parts of the world?

Ans.—No. The North Star can not be seen by the people from south of the equator. To people living north of the equator the North Star never sets. If you are right at the equator it may be seen from the top of a very high mountain.

Gambeson, an Armor

Gambeson, or wambais, is the most ancient of armor and was used by the Egyptians. It consisted of layers of cloth, tow, or similar material, and was quilted on a lining canvas or leather.

In the Middle Ages it was worn by infantry as their only defense and by knights under their mail armor.

EDWARD E. FINNELL

Edward E. Finnell, formerly of this vicinity, was instantly killed Saturday when he was thrown from a hay wagon at the farm of Charles Campbell, near Pontiac, where he was employed and made his home.

While hay was being put into the barn with a block-and-tackle arrangement, a guy wire on one of the poles broke, allowing the pole to fall on one of the horses. The team pulling Finnell's wagon bolted and he was thrown to the ground, breaking his neck.

Born April 1, 1881 in Logansport, Ind. he was the son of Thomas and Bridget Kiley Finnell. He was educated in Washtenaw county and was married to Mary Doll. For several years they resided on the Doll farm in Lyndon township. He is survived by two brothers, James W. Finnell of Ann Arbor and Patrick Finnell of Chicago, and three sisters, Mrs. George H. Fischer of Pontiac, and Ida and Agnes Finnell of Ann Arbor.

Funeral services were held at 9:00 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Thomas Catholic church, Ann Arbor. Rev. Allen J. Babcock officiated and burial took place in Mt. Olivet cemetery, Chelsea.

Those from Chelsea who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wilkner, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Weber, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McKernan, Mrs. Joseph Merkel, Misses Margaret Miller and Ida Keusch.

Values and Sales of Land Increase

East Lansing—Better sales and better prices for farms are indications of the upturn in agriculture, according to Governor W. I. Myers, farm credit administrator.

Sales of farms by the 12 federal land banks were twice as numerous in the first four months of this year as in the same period in 1934. The actual sales were 2,398 farms this year in four months and 1,196 in 1934.

Increase in sales were greatest in the South and the Pacific Coast states. The upturn in prices for farms, beginning last year, is the first gain in farm values in 10 years. Even during the increase in values or farms in 30 states, prices declined in five states where drought damage last year was greatest.

Increased interest in the purchase of land is accredited to better prices for farm products, reduced taxes in some sections, and ability to obtain credit for financing the purchase of farms.

First mortgage loans and land bank commissioner loans by the federal land banks have enabled many farmers to refinance their debts and have permitted others to buy farms. Private corporations are becoming interested in loans on farms for the first time in a period of several years.

Distress sales of farms have decreased, due to ability of farmers to obtain credit for refinancing and to the recognition of holders of farm obligations that it is better to compromise the debts and permit the farmer to pay an agreed amount than to force the sale of the property and receive the forced sale price of the farm.

LOCAL FARMERS ADOPT
NEW ELECTRIC FENCING

A radically different method of farm fencing has recently been installed on the Ros Kalmbach, Doris Whitaker, Lemm Brothers, Oscar Kalmbach and Walter Riemenschneider farms near here.

An ordinary barbed wire carrying an electrical charge is stretched from corner post to corner post at a height of approximately three quarters of that of the animal to be fenced, and is supported at intervals of about fifty feet by short stakes.

The electrical charge carried on this type of fence is supplied by a controller which is connected with either the ordinary 110 volt current, 32 volt, 6 volt storage battery or dry cells of the "Hot Shot" type.

The controller makes it possible to use electricity safely. The current is cut down to 65-1000ths of one ampere and is sent out upon the ordinary barbed wire in surges which when contacted by an animal gives a harmless shock, the feel of which can be likened to the sting of a bee. After animals have come in contact with the wire once or twice and have received a shock each time and have leaped away with a frightened "moo" or squeal, they no longer are interested in what is on the other side of the fence. The manufacturer guarantees that one wire so charged will hold any head of cattle or will repair an old fence to make it animal tight.

The initial cost of this type of fencing is from one fifth to one tenth of the amount required to construct the usual barbed or woven wire fence. It is not necessary to form a circuit and wires can be run in any direction and brought to an end in any place, the circuit being completed when the wire is grounded by contact with an animal. Because of this fact the current consumed is so slight that the cost for the electrical energy is practically nil.

This method of fencing is comparatively new in Michigan although several hundred have been installed in the state this season. In Wisconsin, where this method has been in use for the past four years and where farmers have had an opportunity to observe its effectiveness, the old system is considered obsolete.

The new one will be constructed completely of concrete, and will have a capacity of 330,000 gallons, considerably more than the present one and will be completely under the ground, making the water much cooler.—Record.

PLYMOUTH—On Wednesday of last week an unusual accident happened to Mrs. Roy Stanley at her home on North Harvey street when she was doing her washing. A short circuit in the electric connection knocked Mrs. Stanley to the floor, turned over the washer and burned her quite badly. She was found by her neighbor and received medical aid immediately which no doubt saved her life. She is recovering slowly.—Mail.

FROM AN OLD READING BOOK OF NEARLY 100 YEARS AGO

My father was a farmer good, With corn and beef aplenty, I hoed, I mowed, I held the plow, But longed for one and twenty, For I had quite a marshal turn, And scorned a lowing cattle, I burned to wear a uniform, Hear drums, and see a battle.

My birthday came, my father urged, But stoutly I resisted, My sister wept, my mother prayed, But off I went and listed, They marched me on through wet and dry, To times more loud than charming, But lugging knapsack, box and gun, Was harder work than farming.

We met the foe, the cannons roared, The crimson tide was flowing, The frightful death groans fill my ears, I wished that I was mowing; I lost my leg, the foe came on, They had me in their clutches, I starved in prison until peace, Then hobbled home on crutches.

To The Standard:

We sincerely hope you had a real 4th of July and are able to issue your next Standard on time and with a blessing for all who read its collection of peace and good will.

Your correspondent was born near the battlefields and hills of old New England. In those days, following the early years of our National life the glorious 4th of July was ushered in soon after midnight with fire and drum, ringing of bells, and the roar of the big cannon on the public square.

Every boy in the village had a bunch of firecrackers, or a bag of torpedoes, or a toy cannon. Before breakfast, many a mother was dressing the wounds of her patriot boy who had shed his blood for the glory of his native land.

We remember those days with an old-time thrill. We hate war, but still we cherish the memories of those patriotic days, and may we never forget them.

—Arthur Carlton.

LOAN PLAN INCREASES
REFRIGERATION DEMAND

Changes in the regulations governing loans obtainable under the Federal Housing Act, enabling tenants and persons in the lower income brackets to apply for loans, has brought an increased demand for electric refrigeration in the home, according to E. J. Claire of E. J. Claire & Son, local Kelvinator dealers.

"We have received many inquiries from families living in rented houses and from those with small incomes, asking us how they can obtain a loan under the new FHA regulations for the purchase of an electric refrigerator," Mr. Claire said. "Under the new regulations, the borrower need not own or have other legal interest in the property in which the improvement is to be made. Elimination of the rule requiring the borrower to have a gross income five times his annual payment, is permitting those with small incomes, whose credit rating is good, to obtain loans for the purchase of electric refrigerators.

"Another recent change in the FHA loan regulations permits borrowers to purchase household equipment without the necessity of permanently connecting it to the house wiring. An electric refrigerator bought with a government insured loan now can be connected directly to any electrical outlet, thus making it possible for the refrigerator to be moved easily if the tenant should rent another house.

"We are ready at E. J. Claire & Son's to aid any person who wishes to apply for a Federal Housing Act loan at any time. All of our salesmen are thoroughly informed on the FHA regulations and have all the necessary papers which must be filled out by the applicant."

When Daddy was a Boy

by Lawrence Hawthorne

"When I was just a little boy,
I've heard my Daddy say,
"I had a lot more things to do
Than youngsters have today!"
An' then he goes right on an' tells
About the chores he did—
An' you can bet he makes it sound
Like he was quite a kid!

He had t' feed a dozen cows,
An' milk 'em twice a day;
He always had some horses, too,
That needed corn an' hay;
He watered 'em, an' curried 'em,
An' kep' their stables clean;
An' there was other little jobs
T' scatter in between!

He had t' saw up logs, an' then
He had t' split 'em, too;
So they'd go in the kitchen stove;
An' then he wasn't through
Until he'd carried in the coal,
An' carried out the ashes,
An' filled the water pails an' pans,
An' wiped up all the splashes!

If Daddy had t' do so much,
An' go t' school all day,
I don't see how he ever had
A bit o' time t' play;
But prob'ly he thought his work
Was such a lot o' fun
That he jus' worried every night
For fear he might get done!

Sun Dogs

Sun dogs, technically known as parhelia, appear when sunlight shines through a thin cloud composed of ice crystals floating in the atmosphere. They are the result of the refraction of the solar rays by these crystals. Sun dogs may appear at all times of the year because even in the warmest weather the temperature of the upper atmosphere is below freezing.
