Electric Rates Are Reduced By Council

Action taken by the village council at their regular meeting Monday evening reduces by five per cent the rates to be paid for electric current in the village. Rather than make a reduction in the basic rates charged the five per cent discount will be allowed as a premium for payment on or before the 20th of each month, making the total discount 15 per cent for the prompt payment of bills. This reduction is effective on all electricity used after January 1, 1936.

This action by the council is in appreciation to patrons who have used an increased amount of current since a reduction in rates was made last spring. Although the reduction at that time meant a saving of approximately $1800.00 to consumers in 1935, the gross and net revenues for the Electric and Water Department were above the previous year. Approximately $4000.00 was spent by the municipal plant for water main extensions during the year.

Over the period of 18 years since the municipal plant discontinued the manufacture of current and has distributed current purchased from Consumers Power Company, more than $500,000.00 gross revenue has been received, showing a net profit of approximately $90,000.00 to the village in addition to extensive improvements which have been made, including construction of the large standpipe, according to figures submitted to the council by Peter M. Bohm, who has been superintendent of the plant during that period.

As the result of the profit added to the village treasury each year by the municipal plant, it has been possible to keep the local tax rate unusually low.

A representative of the Dow Chemical Co. was present at the Monday evening meeting and the village officials placed a blanket order for 25 tons of calcium chloride. Provisions of the order are that if the village desires to purchase the chemical in the spring the Dow Co. will get the order, and is a guarantee against any rise in price. However, if prices should decline the village would get the benefit of the 50 tons purchased last year only 40 tons were used in treating the streets, which leaves 10 tons for use this year.

Otto Schanz, street maintenance man, was appointed deputy marshal at the Monday meeting, at no increase in salary.

Sanitarium Attendant Killed By Chelsea Man

Carroll O. Van Gundy, 25-year-old attendant at Mercywood sanitarium, Ann Arbor, died early Saturday morning at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital from injuries inflicted Friday when Paul Murphy, 20-year-old mental patient threw a water glass which struck his head. An autopsy disclosed that his skull was fractured and that he had suffered a brain hemorrhage.

Murphy, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy of Lyndon township, was registered at the hospital late Friday afternoon. Van Gundy had registered for work at the institution as a means of earning money to finance his education in the University medical school, and had been there only a half hour when the attack occurred. It was presumed that Murphy had asked for a glass of water and then had struck the attendant when he brought the tumbler. Van Gundy's home was in Mommouth, Ill., where the body was taken Saturday.

An investigation is being conducted by Prosecutor Albert J. Rapp, who will consult with relatives of Murphy in regard to having him committed to a state hospital.

HONORED BY HOME BOARD

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fletcher were in Detroit on Monday and attended the quarterly business meeting of the Board of Managers of the Chelsea Methodist Old People's Home. Mr. Fletcher, who is a member of the board, was appointed assistant treasurer of the Home.

A. B. Clark was painfully injured Monday when he fell on the ice in the alley at the rear of his store, cutting a deep gash just about his left eye. Three stitches were required to close the wound.

Site for Postoffice Building In Chelsea Accepted Monday

Announcement was made by the Treasury and Postoffice Department building committee in Washington on Monday that they have accepted the site for a new postoffice building in Chelsea. The site which has been accepted is at the corner of South Main and South streets, and the purchase will include the property of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Notten, now used as the Chelsea Private hospital, and 26 feet of Main street frontage from the A. W. Wilkinson lot, which will not disturb the house on his property.

According to information coming from Washington the total purchase price of the site is $12,200.00. The site has a Main street frontage of 141 feet and is 128 feet in depth on South street.

A condition of the purchase is that Mr. and Mrs. Notten shall vacate their property within 30 days after the deal is consummated. The Nottens have an option on the McLaren house, East Middle street, and they plan to purchase that property and conduct their hospital there.

It is expected that drawings will be made in the near future for the local federal building and bids for the construction will be sought, so that actual construction will not doubt be underway by early spring. No information is available as to the contemplated disposition of the Notten house, but the building will perhaps be sold to the highest bidder for wrecking or removal from the property.

A total of $85,000.00 has been appropriated for the total cost of the new postoffice building, which includes the site, drawings, and construction.

The site on which the postoffice will be built was purchased by John C. Winans in 1851 from Ellisha Congdon, one of the founders of the village, and the original house erected thereon was the first residence in Chelsea with the exception of the Congdon homes. The Wilkinson property was a part of the original Winans lot.

The local postoffice, which was located in the Schneider building on Main street for many years, was moved to the building formerly occupied by the Kempf Commercial & Savings Bank on August 11, 1935.

CHELSEA BOXER WINS

Ralph Holbrook, local boy representing Morry Hoffman's Boxing club, won his match in the Detroit tournament last Saturday night. His opponent, Wilson Sims of Detroit, had been favored to win the bout, however, Ralph knocked out Sims in the first round after 70 seconds of fighting.

Holbrook will compete again next Friday night at the Masonic Temple, Detroit. Should he win he will advance to the finals and fight for the state championship at the Olympia on Friday, January 17. Ralph is training hard daily and if nothing happens his trainer has high hopes of a championship.

Association Officers Confer With Attorney

Alfred Lindauer, Theo. H. Bahnmiller and Jas. Park, officers of the US-12 Highway Association, were in Detroit on Monday where they conferred with Walter Nelson, Farmers' Union attorney who has offered his services in the interest of Chelsea and vicinity on the matter of fighting the relocation of US-12 past Chelsea. According to the committee it is expected that satisfactory terms can be arranged with Mr. Nelson for remuneration in the event he succeeds in the fight against the relocation.

Realizing the benefit to Chelsea if the new highway is constructed in its present location, local business men are expected to raise a fair portion of funds necessary to employ an attorney to represent the community. With Chelsea being the natural gateway to the Waterloo Federal Park project, thousands of tourists who would otherwise enter the park at a point a few miles west of the village where the new highway will touch the project, would come through the village, which would naturally be a benefit to practically every business place.

It is understood by the committee, however, that the large portion of the necessary funds to employ an attorney will be raised by business places at the South Main street intersection, where business depends to a much greater extent on transient trade. Also, farmers whose property would be ruined by relocation will make a substantial contribution.

Funds raised for this purpose will not be paid the attorney unless he is successful in his efforts to prevent relocation of the highway.

College Band Will Give Concert Here

The Albion College band, composed of forty students and directed by Prof. Conway Peters of the music faculty, will appear in Chelsea at the public school auditorium for a concert on Thursday evening, January 16. Chelsea high school Seniors are sponsoring the event.

The band is completing preparations for its annual concert tour which begins with a week of travel in eastern Michigan during the week of January 13 and will be concluded with a second week of concerts in March.

Over 12,000 persons heard the band in concerts in numerous southern Michigan cities and towns last spring. Prof. Peters, who came to Albion in September, 1934, introduced many innovations on the tour, including a popular musical fantasy, annotated programs, and college songs. When the band appeared in its home concert a year ago, the auditorium was nearly filled to capacity.

The program which the band will give here includes most of the numbers which received praise in last winter's concerts, as the band is visiting a different group of high schools and communities than in 1935. Soloists will be Paul Goodman, Negaunee, trumpeter; Robert Hargreaves, Belding, violinist; and Bert Cornell, Albion, trombonist. All are accomplished artists.

The band's itinerary for this trip is: January 13—Redford, Detroit; Northwestern, and Milford; January 14—Fordson, Berkley, Inlay City; January 15—Detroit Southwestern, Walled Lake; January 16—Grosse Pointe, Hamtramck, Chelsea; January 17—Royal Oak, Ferndale.

Farm Bookkeeping Makes Rapid Gain

One thousand three hundred eighty-six Michigan farmers in 60 counties turned bookkeeper in 1935, to keep a complete financial record of their farm business.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Is it true that there is a whole county in Pennsylvania which has no railroad?—What is the county seat and its population?

Ans.—Notwithstanding that Pennsylvania is the second largest State or Commonwealth in the Union in respect to population, Fulton County, which extends north from the Maryland state line to the Huntingdon County line, has no railroad.

Ques.—I would like to know what is meant by the term "visible speech". Can you give me a little light on it?

Ans.—Visible speech is a system of symbols to represent the articulate utterances of the organs of speech. Since these organs are alike in all persons and the movements in uttering sounds are the same, visible speech is in the form of a universal language.

Ques.—Why is the letter "W" called "double U"?

Ans.—It is so called because it is formed of two V's, and has the sound value of UU. It dates from the time when U and V had not been formed into two separate elementary sounds.

The financial record project is a part of the Farm Management Department extension service of Michigan State College, and was started in 1929 in 38 counties. In this work the farmers keep financial records of their farm operations, together with such additional information as is necessary for a detailed analysis of their business.

The cooperating farmers are making a determined effort to study their business in a manner that will disclose to them any weakness in their farm organization or management practices.

The county agricultural agents sponsor the project in the various counties and interested farmers may enroll by seeing their local agent. The only cost to the farmer is the price of the account book, which any person may procure from the county agent or direct from the Farm Management Department.

War Formally Declared

Against Five Countries
Only five acts formally declaring the existence of a state of war between the United States and a foreign nation have been passed by congress and approved by the President.

On June 18, 1812, a state of war was declared to exist between the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the dependencies thereof, and the United States of America and their territories.

Although the federal government never formally declared war against Mexico, on May 12, 1846, the senate passed and the President approved a house bill providing for the prosecution of the existing war between the United States and the Republic of Mexico.

On April 25, 1908, between the United States and Spain; April 6, 1917, between the United States of America and the Imperial German government; and eight months later, on December 7, 1917, between the United States and the Imperial and royal Austro-Hungarian government.

Of course the United States has been engaged in more than these wars since the adoption of the Constitution. But there were no formal declarations of war with the Barbary states, the numerous Indian wars within our borders, and the other minor conflicts in which the army and navy have taken part.

Canadian Governor Gets Opinions From Ministry
The governor general of Canada, who is appointed by the king of England as his representative in Canada, is bound by the terms of his commission, and can exercise only such authority as is expressly entrusted him.

The Canadian Year Book states that the governor general acts under the advice of his ministers, which is responsible to parliament, and as the chief executive officer of the executive, summons, prorogues, and dissolves parliament, and presents to or reserves bills.

The practice whereby the governor general served as the medium of communication between the Canadian and the British governments has been given up; direct communication between the Canadian and British governments has been instituted.

Electromagnetic Induction
Beginning his scientific career as assistant to Sir Humphrey Davy in the Royal Institution, London, in 1818, Michael Faraday won recognition as the most outstanding experimentalist of the Nineteenth century in the field of electricity and magnetism.

It is often noted that a rabid dog will continually lap woodwork about the house, such as floors and furniture. This is decidedly increased, but the dog does not swallow very much of the water.

Reason for Forgetfulness
Prof. Tunkins says he has forgot a great deal about farming, owing to his need to study compound interest.

Governor's Porto Rico

Palace is Oldest House
La Fortaleza, the Governor's Palace, is next to the oldest house in Porto Rico. Its huge tower and connecting galleries were completed before 1540.

Historic frescoes, fine mirrors and rare stained glass adorn the Governor's palace; doors, screens and other parts of native wood are rich with the patina of age.

Beyond the Governor's Palace looms the great cathedral, the burial place of Ponce de Leon, founder of San Juan. Near by is Casa Blanca, built by his children, and said to be the oldest continuously inhabited house in North America.

Quotation Not in Bible

"God helps those who help themselves." This quotation does not appear in the Bible. It is an old proverb that was first expressed in those words by Algernon Sidney in the seventeenth century.

The Great Stone Face

The Great Stone Face is the name that was given by Nathaniel Hawthorne in one of his short stories, to the natural feature known also as the Profile in Old Man of the Mountain.

Much Sediment in Yangtze River

Observations made at Hankow, 600 miles from the mouth of the Yangtze river, China, show that 5,000,000,000 cubic feet of sediment are carried past that point every year, to be deposited at the mouth of the river.

Cleopatra's Needle

Cleopatra's Needle, the most ancient monument in London, was cut out of solid stone 1,500 years before Cleopatra was born.

One of Fastest Tides

One of the fastest tides in the world ebbs and flows off Mount Saint Michel, France. After receding almost eight miles and exposing 100 square miles of ocean floor, writes S. D. Miller, II, Indianapolis, Ind., in Collier's Weekly, it comes rushing back at a speed faster than a horse can gallop.

Sanctions

RECENT actions by the League of Nations in Geneva have brought to the attention of men a meaning of the word "sanction" which is somewhat unfamiliar to many people. It may be defined as that which is designed to induce the observance of law or to preserve the integrity of mutual agreements.

It will be acknowledged by any Bible student that Jesus understood, obeyed, and demonstrated the will or law of God. He said, as we are told in John (5:30), "I can of mine own self do nothing; as I hear, I own self do nothing; I just be judge; and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me."

On page 228 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy makes this appearing and liberating statement: "If God cause man to be sick, sickness must be good, and its opposite, health, must be evil, for all that He makes is good and will stand forever. If the transgression of God's law produces sickness, it is right to be sick; and we cannot if we would, and should not if we could, annul the decree of wisdom."

Christian sanctions, then, are corrective rather than coercive; they imply pardon and peace, instead of pain and punishment, to all who acknowledge and obey the law of God, good. In other words, we have Scriptural authority for believing that as we yield to the urge of spiritual law, as we acknowledge and obey the law of divine Principle, we shall realize and manifest the purifying, harmonizing, and liberating effects which bespeak God as the loving Father-Mother of man and the universe.

GRASS LAKE—Following many years of business in Grass Lake, J. F. Rohrer closed his grocery Tuesday and will join his family in Jackson. A Mr. Marriott will open a sheet metal and furnace shop in the store. Marriotts live in the old Sawyer home which they remodeled and repaired.—News.

STOCKBRIDGE—Harold Bradley, a former resident of the village and now living in Detroit, confessed to robbing the Dancer store with Harry McKay. The men are held in the county jail at Mason. Part of the loot was recovered and the rest is in the hands of a ring of thieves in Detroit.—Brief-Sun.

DEXTER—An eleven pound Great Northern Pike was taken from the Mill Pond on a shiner Tuesday morning. Elmer Kolander was the lucky man.—Leader.

PINCKNEY—In 1922 following the withdrawal of the Gordon Creamery from Pinckney, the creamery building was leased by the VanCamp Dairy Company. They took in milk here for several months but finally went into receivership, leaving the farmers in this section holding the bag for some $8,000. From that time on nothing was heard from this company, and the farmers received no money from them. We understand there were two companies, the VanCamp Dairy Co. and the VanCamp Packing Co. Thursday morning all the farmers who had been holding the bag, received checks from the company for the full amount they had coming. This will be an acceptable gift for the dairymen of this section, and, although a little late for Christmas, will enable them to celebrate New Years appropriately.—Dispatch.

PLYMOUTH—Clarence Elliott, who during the past two years has been welfare administrator of Washtenaw county, had been selected by members of the city commission to become city manager of Plymouth, filling the place that has just been made vacant by the resignation of Perry Cookingham. Mr. Cookingham left Wednesday to assume his new duties in Saginaw as the first city manager of that municipality.—Mail.

HOLLY—In Springfield township, within sight of the thousands who travel the Dixie Highway, and only a short distance from Clarkston village, a den of coyotes has been found in a side hill. Their tracks were first noticed by Wm. Sommers who lives southeast of Davisburg, and who followed their trail over a winding course of many miles to their den. The tracks were identified as those of coyotes by conservation officers, and Mr. Sommers has made every effort to trap them, with no success. He found where they had killed a skunk and partially devoured it, and he baited a trap with the remains the next night. But they managed to get the carcass without springing the trap, and left evidence of their disgust for anyone who thought they could be fooled in this manner. Every possible effort is being made to catch them alive. Their nightly run covers several miles, and the tracks indicate that there are two old ones and three cubs. It has been many years since any coyotes have been located in the southern part of the state where there was formerly a bounty of $25 on them. The coyote belongs to the wolf family.—Herald.

Thursday, January 11, 1912 A bad wreck occurred just east of the East street crossing of the Michigan Central about eleven o'clock Wednesday night. Two locomotives came together and both of them were badly wrecked. One left the rails and lay across Railroad street in front of the residence of Mrs. John Palmer. No one was injured. Two wrecking crews arrived here at one o'clock this morning and it will take hours to clear the tracks.

On New Year's day Mr. and Mrs. James Gaddes, Sr. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Their children and their families were present for the occasion.

The patrons of Wesley Canfield's milk route surprised Mr. and Mrs. Canfield on Saturday evening at their home south of town. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed. They left a large quantity of oats and corn as a token of their appreciation of his five years faithful service and for many ways in which he had accommodated them.

The old house opposite the store in Francisco has been torn down.

A house belonging to Edward and Clara Dolan of Dexter township was destroyed by fire on Sunday.

The Lima and Vicinity Farmers' club elected the following officers at the annual meeting: President, A. J. Easton; 1st vice-pres., Thomas Smith; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. Jay Smith; 3rd vice-pres., Mrs. Geo. W. Parker; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur McLaren.

Seed Germination: There is a great variation in seeds with regard to power to germinate after a number of years. The conditions under which they are stored is also of importance. The seeds of some wild plants have been tested and found to germinate after 30 years. In spite of the legends of ancient Egyptian wheat having sprouted there appears no evidence to show that wheat grains can live more than about 25 years. Most of the common farm and garden seeds will keep a few years under favorable conditions.

How Worm Gearing Originated: Worm gearing is of great antiquity. Albrecht Durer (1471-1528) made a drawing for the Emperor Maximilian of a car to be used in a triumphal procession. It is not known whether it was ever built. As known today, worm gears were first applied to driving wheels of automobiles by F. W. Lancaster of England before the close of the Nineteenth century. They were introduced to the United States in 1911 on an extensive scale by Hugh Thomas as part of the regular product of a motor car company.

Light Colors in Decorations: Light colors sometimes are considered more in keeping with the conventional schemes in homes than the preferential white or cream. The preference for a tinted paint is sometimes due to its assistance in giving softer lighting effects. Pure white, especially with strong lighting, is often too glaring for eye comfort. Some experts in color decoration consider that any color that reflects 65 per cent of the light that falls on it is suitable for ceilings.

Virgin Islands: The Virgin Islands puzzled Columbus when he sighted them on his second voyage. Amazed at their beauty and bewildered at their numbers, he could not think of enough saints in whose honor to name them, so he took a short cut and called them the Virgin Islands.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Hayes of Grass Lake entertained about 40 guests at a dinner on New Year's day, the occasion also celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. Yellow chrysanthemums and yellow tapers decorated the table, which was centered with a flowered wedding cake. A program of music, readings and recitations was given during the afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes were presented with a radio in remembrance of the event. Guests were present from Detroit, Jackson, Manchester, Brooklyn and Chelsea.

Mrs. Hayes formerly was Miss Libbie Schatz and was a resident of Chelsea previous to her marriage. They have one son, Earl Hayes of Jackson, and a grandson.

Bessemer Steel Process

Steel is nothing more than refined iron. There are countless varieties of steel, produced by many different processes, the method of production depending entirely upon the purpose for which the metal is to be used. observes a writer in the Chicago Tribune. Steel differs from wrought iron in that it is virtually free from slag, and from pig iron because it contains less than 2.2 per cent, and usually less than 1.5 per cent, carbon.

By far the greater part of the crude steel produced in the United States is made by the basic open hearth process. A smaller amount is made by the Bessemer process—a process invented by Sir Henry Bessemer in 1856. Still smaller proportions are produced by the so-called acid open hearth process, the electric process, and the crucible process.

Of the various processes the last named was the first invented, steel of earlier ages having been produced by still more primitive methods. It was in 1740 that a watchmaker named Huntsman, of Sheffield, England, hit upon the idea of making steel by melting iron in a crucible, or pot. Because this process was costly and resulted in a very limited output of steel, Bessemer turned his attention to the idea of improving metal for use in cannon. His theory, which was put into practice, consisted of using oxygen for refining the metal by forcing a blast of air on or through pig iron. On trial the method not only purified the iron, but instead of blowing cold and freezing, the metal became hot enough to remain molten even when all the carbon was gone and hitherto infusible pure iron remained. It took years of experimentation after 1856 before the Bessemer process was a commercial success.

Japan Serves Full Meal

Before Tea is Offered: In its early days the tea bush was called cha and in early English writings is referred to variously as chucha and chaw and later is called tea and tee. Oddly enough, writes a writer in Pathfinder Magazine, the tea shrub belongs to the plant family known as theaceae. From the name cha is also derived chanoyu, the Japanese word for a time honored institution, the tea ceremony, rooted in the principles of the Buddhist sect, Zen, and founded on admiration of the beautiful in daily life such as cooking, etc. This ceremony takes place in the chaboki (tea room) which is usually about nine feet square, or smaller, to suggest genteel poverty to the guest although no expense is spared in the interior. Each guest crawls into the room through a small door about three feet square and finds an alcove fitted with expensive ornaments and a fireplace for steeping tea sunk into the floor.

According to the rules of best Japanese etiquette a full meal is served before the pouring and drinking of the tea. This custom was founded under the Shogun Yoshimasa about the middle of the Fifteenth century and still flourishes among those who remain faithful to and cherish the old spirit of Japan.

Katydid Sings Death Song

The katydid's song is a tremendous rhapsody of life and death. For he has only a short time to live and he calls mightily for a mate, a voiceless female to perpetuate his species. When the notes trail off, it means that the katydid is dying and the ground is soon littered with wings and dismembered bodies. But eggs are left. Out of them larvae are hatched—slugs that drop to the ground, burrow down to nourishing rootlets and build underground cells. For 17 years (13 in the South) the katydid will live there in his tiny cell, living on the sap that flows to the rootlet, and then, properly winged, will crawl out to vault into the air and sing again his song of love.

Health Items

The Cause of Ill Health

The cause of any condition is of primary importance to the Osteopathic Physician. The conditions presented determine the type and method of treatment and no two cases are treated exactly alike. There is a cause for every effect and the cause must be dealt with to give relief.

It has been proven in laboratories as well as in practice that slight displacements (lesions) of the bones of the spine are one of the chief causes of disease. These displacements are caused in a variety of ways—accidents, strains, improper posture are but a few. Indirectly these lesions bring about an impairment in the blood, nerve and lymph supply to some organ or part of the body. As a general rule the patient experiences no pain or ache in the back but if a slight pressure is made over one of these lesions soreness will be felt.

All this being true it can readily be understood that if a certain ailment is caused by a lesion (or displacement) of a bone the only chance of a recovery from such an illness is to have this bone put into its proper position. Only an Osteopathic Physician can tell if this displacement is causing the ailment and the Osteopathic Physician is the only physician that can correct it.

There are, of course, other things to be considered in any illness. Some of these causes will be spoken of in future articles. If any reader desires information regarding Osteopathy, such information may be obtained by writing, Osteopathic Items, P. O. Box 331, Chelsea, Michigan.

Surprise and Fear

The element of surprise, even a joyous one, is at the first instance akin to fright on account of the unexpectedness it brings with it—the sudden impression on the senses. The blinking of the eyes, both of the babe and the adult, is usually the rule and persists through life, surprise always being mixed with fear.

I WONDER WHAT JESUS WILL SAY

When I enter the portals of Heaven With hope, fruition fulfilled, When those gone before come to greet me, When with unfettered glory I'm filled, When one who outshines all the others In love's crystal light leads the way, And I stand before Christ the Redeemer, I wonder what Jesus will say.

Will He reach out both hands to receive me? Will there be a bright smile on His face? Will the word "Inasmuch" thrill my spirit? Will the rapture that fills all the place?

Will He say, your mansion is finished, I've prepared it especially for you, Enter in, enter into my glory, Because, my dear child, you've been true.

He has promised all this, my dear brother, All this, my dear sister, and more, He is pulling today at your heart's strings, Today he knocks at your door. He brings you the blessed assurance, If your heart is with Him in accord, You'll some day receive the glad-sounding—

"Enter into the Joy of your Lord"

—Arthur Carlton.

Napoleon Encouraged Canning

What has Napoleon to do with tinned peaches—and all other fruits, fish and meat we buy in tins? This—that it was he who inspired the idea of preserving food of different kinds in tins. He thought how valuable fresh vegetables would be, from the health point of view, to the sailors aboard his ships when on long voyages. So he offered a prize to anyone who could introduce a method of keeping vegetables fresh. The prize was won by a Frenchman named Appert, who proposed the idea of preserving the vegetables in sealed tins. And Appert's method of preserving is still broadly the one followed with all food tinning. —Pearson's Weekly.

Adrian's speedy St. Joseph team handed the local All-Stars their first defeat Tuesday night at the public school auditorium in the opening game of the season. The score was 30 to 21. It was Adrian's fourth straight victory in five days. Adrian established a 15 to 9 lead at half time after a nip and tuck battle, but was forced to the utmost to increase the lead. Chelsea rallied in the second half to tie the count, but Adrian, one of the fastest teams in this part of the country, pulled away to take the opening game. Lighting, Long a Puzzle, Now Under Man's Control

Primitive man reasoned that lightning was fire from Heaven. Fire was destructive, but it was also the greatest gift of the gods to man. It provided warmth, protected him from predatory animals and gave savor to his food. Lightning filled him with awe, for it also could produce destruction for it also could produce lightning of life and must be propitiated with sacrifices. Modern science, however, not only knows just what lightning really is, but knows how to handle it and control its great powers. Artificial lightning of millions of volts power is now generated and so named that a man can be enveloped in the crashing, snapping, darting bolts and emerge from the electrical flames unharmed. Scientists also know how to measure the power of lightning. A single severe stroke probably lasts not more than 150 one-millionths of a second, the average current in the stroke during this time to pass this much charge to earth must be 100,000 amperes, or about the current required by 200,000 lamps. The maximum power in a severe stroke when it hits a conducting rod, such as a transmission line, is of the order of two billion kilowatts.—Montreal Herald.

Aborigine Tribe Sleeps in Odd Pyramid Fashion

The Cupichin Pyramids, who for many years have sought to educate the wild aborigines of the Maranhao forests and convert them to Christianity, tell of a quaint, if somewhat oppressive, sleeping habit among the Arubu tribes, according to a Brazil correspondent in the Washington Post. All in the tribe sleep in one cabin. The eldest lie on the ground. The middle-aged lie on top of the old ones, the younger lie on top of the middle-aged, and so on, until the youngest are at the top of the pyramid.

Christians in Armenia

Since Year 303 A. D. The Armenian is a little above middle stature, robust, slightly olive in complexion, and usually with straight black hair, prominent nose, and high, wide brow. He is alert, adaptive, and remarkable for his industry, quick intelligence, and business aptitude. The women are frequently beautiful, with dark eyes and regular features.

Odors of Many Blossoms Are Far From Agreeable

Throughout the ages, scents have exercised a fascination over mankind. In far-off days, says Tit-Bits Magazine, incense and frankincense were used in the temples of most religious orders. On a granite tablet at the base of the Sphinx there is still to be seen a representation of King Thothmes IV burning incense as an offering. It was the custom to prescribe certain perfumes in cases of illness. The smell of white violets was said to be good for the digestion, while a perfume made from vine leaves was supposed to keep the mind clear.

As Aztecs Reckoned Time

According to the Aztec system of reckoning time, the years were grouped into 52-year periods, and the end of each era was met with the recurring dread on the part of the Aztecs that the world, also, would end unless they could recreate the sun. In order to insure the dawn of another day and a new era, they made supplication to their gods with elaborate religious ceremonies, sacrificial offerings, gladiatorial combats and many pagan rites.

The Rhinoceros

In every sense of the word the rhinoceros is a terrifying beast, and that fact makes him one of the most interesting. He weighs generally some four or five tons, and carries the most perfect suit of natural armor of all the animals. The horn of the rhinoceros has always been a source of interest. In the East, particularly the belief still exists that it possesses magical properties. In the true sense it is not horn, being actually formed of hair which grows from the skin!

The camel-style bridge, built in the days when the Crusaders were something more than an anti-prohibition unit, humps itself over the White Drin river in northern Albania, a country that traveling Americans very seldom see because it is too far from London and Paris. The Rhinoceros

In every sense of the word the rhinoceros is a terrifying beast, and that fact makes him one of the most interesting. He weighs generally some four or five tons, and carries the most perfect suit of natural armor of all the animals. The horn of the rhinoceros has always been a source of interest. In the East, particularly the belief still exists that it possesses magical properties. In the true sense it is not horn, being actually formed of hair which grows from the skin!

Camel-Style Bridge

The camel-style bridge, built in the days when the Crusaders were something more than an anti-prohibition unit, humps itself over the White Drin river in northern Albania, a country that traveling Americans very seldom see because it is too far from London and Paris. The Drin bridge was the world's original whoopee ride, and is thought to have inspired the automobile roller-coaster parks that hold forth in this country.

Lighting, Long a Puzzle, Now Under Man's Control

Primitive man reasoned that lightning was fire from Heaven. Fire was destructive, but it was also the greatest gift of the gods to man. It provided warmth, protected him from predatory animals and gave savor to his food. Lightning filled him with awe, for it also could produce destruction for it also could produce lightning of life and must be propitiated with sacrifices. Modern science, however, not only knows just what lightning really is, but knows how to handle it and control its great powers. Artificial lightning of millions of volts power is now generated and so named that a man can be enveloped in the crashing, snapping, darting bolts and emerge from the electrical flames unharmed. Scientists also know how to measure the power of lightning. A single severe stroke probably lasts not more than 150 one-millionths of a second, the average current in the stroke during this time to pass this much charge to earth must be 100,000 amperes, or about the current required by 200,000 lamps. The maximum power in a severe stroke when it hits a conducting rod, such as a transmission line, is of the order of two billion kilowatts.—Montreal Herald.

Aborigine Tribe Sleeps in Odd Pyramid Fashion

The Cupichin Pyramids, who for many years have sought to educate the wild aborigines of the Maranhao forests and convert them to Christianity, tell of a quaint, if somewhat oppressive, sleeping habit among the Arubu tribes, according to a Brazil correspondent in the Washington Post. All in the tribe sleep in one cabin. The eldest lie on the ground. The middle-aged lie on top of the old ones, the younger lie on top of the middle-aged, and so on, until the youngest are at the top of the pyramid.

Since Year 303 A. D. The Armenian is a little above middle stature, robust, slightly olive in complexion, and usually with straight black hair, prominent nose, and high, wide brow. Odors of Many Blossoms Are Far From Agreeable

Throughout the ages, scents have exercised a fascination over mankind. In far-off days, says Tit-Bits Magazine, incense and frankincense were used in the temples of most religious orders. On a granite tablet at the base of the Sphinx there is still to be seen a representation of King Thothmes IV burning incense as an offering. It was the custom to prescribe certain perfumes in cases of illness. The smell of white violets was said to be good for the digestion, while a perfume made from vine leaves was supposed to keep the mind clear.

As Aztecs Reckoned Time

According to the Aztec system of reckoning time, the years were grouped into 52-year periods, and the end of each era was met with the recurring dread on the part of the Aztecs that the world, also, would end unless they could recreate the sun. In order to insure the dawn of another day and a new era, they made supplication to their gods with elaborate religious ceremonies, sacrificial offerings, gladiatorial combats and many pagan rites.

Politics Is Barred On WKAR Air Talks When officials of the state of Michigan begin the series of broadcasts over WKAR, the radio broadcasting station of Michigan State College at East Lansing, they will discuss, for the information of listeners, problems of state government of interest to individuals who support the government. There will be no party lines; department heads of both major political parties will be invited to speak. The state's only non-commercial radio station, in competing for attention, will offer programs unique because of the absence of appeal to anything but listener interest.

Men Operate Cathedral Attie's Old Treadmill St. Stephen's Cathedral treadmill—a huge wheel almost 20 feet in diameter, is more than 500 years old, writes a Vienna United Press correspondent. It is built into the immense attic of the famous church and, as throughout the ages, still serves to haul up building material whenever repairs become necessary. Four men tread the wheel to which an enormous hemp cable, 500 feet long and as thick as the upper arm of an athlete, is attached. Superstitious Viennese attribute miraculous forces to the cable. The touch of it is supposed to heal rheumatism and gout. St. Stephen's attic under the enormous steep roof is one of the largest in the world. It is 400 feet long, 80 wide, 140 high and subdivided into five stories. The colossal roofing rived high above the city's houses with its multi-colored glazed tiles, forming a zigzag pattern, is one of Vienna's outstanding landmarks. Each tile costs about one schilling. The total value of the roof cover, consisting of not less than 5,000,000 tiles would, therefore, be 5,000,000 schillings or about $1,000,000.

So far as listeners are concerned, WKAR became, on January 6, virtually a new station. Its transmitting frequency was changed from 1040 to 850 kilocycles; its power of 1,000 watts will give anyone in Michigan virtually "clear channel" reception, as a result. Only one broadcasting station in the state has more power; only three have as much. The state's own station is on the air 30 hours a week. The addresses by state officials will be in line with the "college of the air" theme which will emphasize culture and entertainment.

Beginning of Congressional Cemetery On March 30, 1812, Henry Ingle deeded to the Christ church vestry a square of ground known as square 1115 and the name of Washington Parish Burial Grounds was given to it. On May 30, 1849, the vestry changed the name to Washington cemetery, yet it is popularly known as the Congressional cemetery. On April 15, 1816, the vestry assigned 100 sites for the interment of the deceased members of congress. On December 15, 1823, 300 sites were donated for the same purpose. Congress afterward bought more land and erected small freestone cenotaphs, which form a conspicuous feature; made sundry appropriations for improvement, and began to add its name to the cemetery. Many congressmen and government officials are buried in this cemetery, including Tobias Lear, secretary to George Washington; William Thornton, who drew the original plans of the Capitol; George Hadfield, assistant architect of the Capitol; Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts; Vice President of the United States. Some congressmen are still buried in the Congressional cemetery; others are taken home for burial.

Saxon and Norman Names We have Saxon and Norman blood in our veins. Similarly, our Christian names are a mixture of Saxon and Norman. Alfred, Edward and Edith are old Saxon names; John (originally Jean), William, Henry (formerly Henri), Herbert and Hubert, Robert and Richard and Peter are all Norman names. Sidney was originally St. Denis. But people ran it together like "Sindenny" and presently it was pronounced and spelled Sidney. St. John is an old surname borne by some people. But that spelling has remained, although the name is pronounced as if spelled Sin-jon.—Pearson's Weekly.

Meaning of Elsteddof Elsteddof is a Welsh word which means a sitting or session, implicitly of birds. As a bird term it is probably not older than about the eleven hundreds, although the present scope of the national Elsteddof dates back to the departure of the Romans in the Fourth century. There have been interruptions in its long history, but since the remarkable Welsh revival that followed the Napoleonic wars it has been held almost every year.

Gunpowder Substances In gunpowder there are two combustible substances, sulphur and charcoal, mixed with a powerful oxidizing agent, potassium nitrate. The reason for the exclusive use of these particular constituents for such a long time lay in the fact that until about fifty years ago potassium nitrate was the only solid oxidizing agent available in sufficient amount.

"Shepherd of the Home," Name Earned by Collie "The little shepherd of the home," is the name frequently given the attractive and gentle collie. It has well earned it, asserts Albert Stall, Jr., in the Detroit News, for it is among the most affectionate and considerate of all canine friends, jealously guarding the lives and property of those it has learned to love. The blood lines of the collie are ancient, dating back to man's first association with the breed. But during the past century two distinct types have been developed, the smooth-coated and the rough-coated. The latter undoubtedly is the more popular while the former is a distinct show breed.

While no standards have been set for coloring the most fancied are black and tan, pure white and sable and white. It is essentially a working dog and in no sense can be placed in any other class. In weight it approximates 90 pounds and stands about 23 inches high at the shoulder. The collie, like other dogs of more than medium size and abundant energy, must have plenty of exercise and confinement is quite likely to bring on illness. It should be given frequent runs and left to frolic with the children as it will. The well-bred collie should cause no concern among parents as to its dependability with children. It is a natural guardian and trustworthy.

Politics Is Barred On WKAR Air Talks When officials of the state of Michigan begin the series of broadcasts over WKAR, the radio broadcasting station of Michigan State College at East Lansing, they will discuss, for the information of listeners, problems of state government of interest to individuals who support the government. There will be no party lines; department heads of both major political parties will be invited to speak. The state's only non-commercial radio station, in competing for attention, will offer programs unique because of the absence of appeal to anything but listener interest.

Men Operate Cathedral Attie's Old Treadmill St. Stephen's Cathedral treadmill—a huge wheel almost 20 feet in diameter, is more than 500 years old, writes a Vienna United Press correspondent. It is built into the immense attic of the famous church and, as throughout the ages, still serves to haul up building material whenever repairs become necessary. Four men tread the wheel to which an enormous hemp cable, 500 feet long and as thick as the upper arm of an athlete, is attached. Superstitious Viennese attribute miraculous forces to the cable. The touch of it is supposed to heal rheumatism and gout. St. Stephen's attic under the enormous steep roof is one of the largest in the world. It is 400 feet long, 80 wide, 140 high and subdivided into five stories. The colossal roofing rived high above the city's houses with its multi-colored glazed tiles, forming a zigzag pattern, is one of Vienna's outstanding landmarks. Each tile costs about one schilling. The total value of the roof cover, consisting of not less than 5,000,000 tiles would, therefore, be 5,000,000 schillings or about $1,000,000.

So far as listeners are concerned, WKAR became, on January 6, virtually a new station. Its transmitting frequency was changed from 1040 to 850 kilocycles; its power of 1,000 watts will give anyone in Michigan virtually "clear channel" reception, as a result. Only one broadcasting station in the state has more power; only three have as much. The state's own station is on the air 30 hours a week. The addresses by state officials will be in line with the "college of the air" theme which will emphasize culture and entertainment.

Beginning of Congressional Cemetery On March 30, 1812, Henry Ingle deeded to the Christ church vestry a square of ground known as square 1115 and the name of Washington Parish Burial Grounds was given to it. On May 30, 1849, the vestry changed the name to Washington cemetery, yet it is popularly known as the Congressional cemetery. On April 15, 1816, the vestry assigned 100 sites for the interment of the deceased members of congress. On December 15, 1823, 300 sites were donated for the same purpose. Congress afterward bought more land and erected small freestone cenotaphs, which form a conspicuous feature; made sundry appropriations for improvement, and began to add its name to the cemetery. Many congressmen and government officials are buried in this cemetery, including Tobias Lear, secretary to George Washington; William Thornton, who drew the original plans of the Capitol; George Hadfield, assistant architect of the Capitol; Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts; Vice President of the United States. Some congressmen are still buried in the Congressional cemetery; others are taken home for burial.

Saxon and Norman Names We have Saxon and Norman blood in our veins. Similarly, our Christian names are a mixture of Saxon and Norman. Alfred, Edward and Edith are old Saxon names; John (originally Jean), William, Henry (formerly Henri), Herbert and Hubert, Robert and Richard and Peter are all Norman names. Sidney was originally St. Denis. But people ran it together like "Sindenny" and presently it was pronounced and spelled Sidney. St. John is an old surname borne by some people. But that spelling has remained, although the name is pronounced as if spelled Sin-jon.—Pearson's Weekly.

Meaning of Elsteddof Elsteddof is a Welsh word which means a sitting or session, implicitly of birds. As a bird term it is probably not older than about the eleven hundreds, although the present scope of the national Elsteddof dates back to the departure of the Romans in the Fourth century. There have been interruptions in its long history, but since the remarkable Welsh revival that followed the Napoleonic wars it has been held almost every year.

Gunpowder Substances In gunpowder there are two combustible substances, sulphur and charcoal, mixed with a powerful oxidizing agent, potassium nitrate. The reason for the exclusive use of these particular constituents for such a long time lay in the fact that until about fifty years ago potassium nitrate was the only solid oxidizing agent available in sufficient amount.

True Friend, Friendship, Defined by Authorities

Webster defines a friend as "one who entertains for another such sentiments of esteem, respect and affection that he seeks his society and welfare; a well-wisher, an intimate associate." Cicero: "A friend is, as it were, a second self; you must, therefore, love me, myself, and not my circumstances, if we are to be friends." George Eliot: "Animals are such agreeable friends—they ask no questions, they pass no criticisms"; "Best friend, my well-spring in the wilderness." Claud Mermet: "Friends are like melons. Shall I tell you why? To find one good, you must a hundred try." Pollok: "Friends given by God in mercy and in love; my counselors, my comforters and guides; my joy in grief, my second bliss in joy." Sophocles: "For who ever knows how to return a kindness he has received must be a friend above all price." J. C. and A. W. Hare: "Friendship is love, without either flowers or veil." Homer: "A generous friendship no cold medium knows." La Bruyere: "Pure friendship is something which men of an inferior intellect can never taste." Seneca: "Friendship always benefits; it'sa sometimes injures." George Washington: "True friendship is a plant of slow growth, and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity, before it is entitled to the appellation."

Chelsea Loses Close Game To Saline

On December 20, Chelsea lost her fourth game of the season to the Saline quintet, 17-14. The Chelsea cagers led the Saline squad 9-10 but failed to either hold or increase their lead. A number of fouls were committed by both sides; some were seen by the referee and some were not. Chelsea happened to be on the receiving end of the latter—consequently lost a very close and very exciting game.

The Chelsea cagers' next game will be played at Dundee tomorrow night. The Reserves won their second game of the year to bring their percentage .500. The Reserves are "getting" 1000 in the Huron Valley League. The score of the contest was 15-10. Though "One" was captain during the Milan game and secondly was high point man of the Milan and Saline game, he failed to be captain during the Chelsea-Saline game due to the ability of Capt. Meyers to stand up under fire. The last statement was confined to me by Bud. Modest chap, isn't he? Both squads were transported by a bus which was demonstrated in this manner in hope of making a sale. Mentions its a waste of gas. Right, members of the School Board?

Hello again—This is your humorist sending you his wishes for a Jolly New Year.

The thing I like about having a sense of humor is that I can cover up my ignorance—when I make a mistake people think that its my sense of humor—wait-a-minute, what did I just say? To explain if I misspell a word people think its quaintness, not ignorance on my part. Here's the first joke of 1936, even if it is old:

Mr. Johnson: How many make a dozen?
Dave S.: Twelve.
Mr. Johnson: How many make a million?
Dave: Not many.

I heard this next one, while I was traveling:
"A room for the night, please."
"Have you a reservation?"
"What do you think I am, an Indian?"

Following that we have—
Oz: I'm a fellow who believes in long engagements.
Mutz: Oh, a cautious lover, eh?
Oz: No, an orchestra leader.

Conclusion (now don't draw any):
One co-ed to another: Hippy New Year.

Remember this is leap year so take these jokes for better or worse—as you take all jokes and jokers. — So long.

Teachers' Vacation

Miss Boomgaard spent her vacation wandering about the country—hoose. She took two or three little trips. She also had a grand time at home. As a matter of fact she is glad to be back.

Miss Yager had to spend her vacation at home in bed with a cold. Reading helped to pass the time away.

Mrs. Dancer had a lovely vacation. Her girls were all home for Christmas. A part of the time she spent with her daughter in Jackson. She visited the school where her daughter teaches and decided she liked dear old Chelsea public school better.

Miss Boilore spent a very happy vacation in Detroit and Fenton.

Miss Kern spent most of her vacation at her home in Manchester and enjoying doing the things she wanted to do. She also spent a few days in Detroit and Toledo.

Mrs. Steiner spent her vacation at home helping entertain the house guests of her family.

Hits and Bits

Editorial

Why is it that the rocking chair, that most essential accessory to comfortable living is disappearing from the American household? Excepting apple pie, no other institution has contributed so much to the serenity of this country. Yet, according to the Chicago Furniture Mart, almost no rockers are being made at the present time. Instead, we find wing chairs, Windsor chairs, "grandfather" chairs and great, fat overstuffed chairs. Yes, the rocking chair is definitely on the wane.

The reason? Well, it's partly because many folks don't sit at home often enough to learn the delights of a good chair. But mainly it's because of the pediatricians commonly known as baby doctors. In the days when it was not taboo to rock a baby to sleep, every mother had her own rocker, and many lullabies were composed to its creaking rhythm. But nowadays rocking upsets the infant's stomach and gives him a warped psychological perspective. So the old leather-back rocking chair has been relegated to the attic, perhaps never more to descend.

Congress Opens and President Delivers His Message at a Night Session—Neutrality and Bonus Are Due for Speedy Action.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

CONGRESS began a session that gives promise of being, not short and calm, as administration leaders had predicted, but long and lively. Right at the start President Roosevelt caused the Republicans to howl loudly by deciding to deliver his annual message on the state of the Union before a joint night session of congress so it could be broadcast at a time when the maximum number of American citizens could be beside their radios. This required a special rule in the house for without it that body can meet but once a day; and the minority leaders made no considerable objection. But Chairman Fletcher of the Republican national committee was so aroused by Mr. Roosevelt's plan that he demanded equal time on the national radio chains for a Republican reply. Mr. Fletcher was sarcastic in his comments, saying:

"The President's decision to dramatize his message and to bring down to the level of a political speech his constitutional right and duty to address the congress on the state of the Union, is understandable in the light of past performances." Senator Dickinson of Iowa denounced what he called "an attempt to use congress as the sounding board for a grand stand play by the President," but Senator Borah said he had no objection to the plan and no criticism to offer.

Anyhow, the President went ahead with his program and in his message gave his view of the nation's present condition, naturally holding that the New Deal was proving a success.

TWO major issues that call for quick consideration by congress are neutrality and the veterans' bonus. The existing neutrality law expires on February 29, and the President and his advisers have determined that a new law shall be passed which will give him broad discretionary powers with regard to shipments, loans and credits to belligerents. There is in congress a strong group, headed by Senators Clark of Missouri, Vandenberg of Michigan and Nye of North Dakota and Representative Maury Maverick of Texas, that demands extension of the present mandatory neutrality law. Presumably the new measure will be a compromise.

Speedy passage of bonus payment legislation is expected, for its provisions are determined and vigorous. Officials of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans have just agreed on a bill which will include these provisions: Immediate full cash payment of the adjusted service certificates. Refund of interest paid on loans on certificates. Cancellation of interest accrued and unpaid. Provision that veterans who do not desire to cash their certificates may draw interest upon the maturity value thereof (less principal of loan, if any), to be paid thereon from a date to be specified. Provision for issuance of special government obligations in lieu of adjusted service certificates to the value of about a half a billion dollars now held as security by the United States life insurance reserves account. The veterans' organizations estimated their united proposal would entail a cash expenditure of approximately $1,000,000,000, rather than the $2,200,000,000 generally accepted as the cost of payment.

SENATOR PAT HARRISON of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, on his arrival in Washington for the opening of congress gave out the welcome statement that no new general tax legislation would be pushed through during this session. Said he: "I don't look for it and I don't think it is in the realm of possibility." Adoption of a manufacturer's excise tax was also mentioned according to Harrison. Sen. Harrison, he pictured an unusually short session of congress with appropriation bills and amendments to existing legislation the principal business to be handled.

In the senator's opinion a compromise on the bonus, always politically vexatious, would be reached and a presidential veto would be avoided. Harrison reiterated his opposition to the Townsend old age pension plan and said it would make no progress at the new session. Many house members agreed with Harrison as to taxes. It wouldn't be good policy to pass such measures this session for there will be elections in 485 congressional districts in 1936. Pat Harrison took a crack at the Liberty Income and its legislative program offered to congress. The league, he said, was "ready to take over the legislative and judicial functions" of the national government and might be magnanimous enough to take over the executive branch as well. The senator called the league a "jobby" and described its statements as "plutocratic propaganda."

NEW tax levies of more than $350,000,000 a year went into effect on New Year's day, these being the result of delayed tax rates passed at the last session of congress. The heaviest is from the unemployment insurance and old age pensions act, which is expected to raise about $240,000,000 in taxes on industrial pay rolls. Other new taxes include: Raising of individual returns, $50,000,000. Corporation tax boost, $40,000,000. Gift tax increase, $25,000,000. Intercorporate tax levy, $30,000,000. Revision of the personal holding company and corporate liquidation tax provisions of the tax program will increase the country's tax bill. The Treasury department has made no estimate of such income.

WHAT may be expected from Elmer A. Benson, the new Farmer-Laborite senator from Minnesota, is indicated in a radio speech he made in Chicago on his way to the National Capitol. He declared he believed that capitalism is doomed, and urged a much larger ownership of public utilities and "production for use rather than for profit."

"I am convinced," he said, "that nothing short of social ownership of key industries can save us. Inasmuch as it has been demonstrated that we can produce enough for all, if our productive plant is used wisely, society must take over that plant and our financial system as well and operate them in the interests of all the people because big business definitely refuses to do so."

Mr. Benson, who has been serving as state banking commissioner, was appointed by Gov. Floyd B. Olson to complete the term of the late Senator Thomas B. Schull. He will serve until December 31, 1936. He has been a Farmer-Laborite since the birth of that party and before that was active in the Nonpartisan league in Minnesota.

FRANKLIN C. HOYT has resigned as federal alcohol administrator and his resignation has been accepted by the President with the usual expressions of regret. Mr. Hoyt cited his poor health and other personal reasons to explain his action, but in his letter to Mr. Roosevelt he plainly indicated that he was dissatisfied with the liquor control setup.

MRS. EUGENE TALMADGE, wife of the governor of Georgia, has joined Alfred E. Smith in declining an invitation to the White House. Mrs. Roosevelt asked her to be her guest the afternoon of January 8, the day before a meeting of the Democratic national committee in Washington. Governor Talmadge, a hot opponent of the New Deal, was to attend the meeting, but his wife told Mrs. Roosevelt that her cotton plantation in Telfair county demanded her attention.

"I have to get my farm started on the 1936 crops," explained Mrs. Talmadge to the reporters. "The first few weeks of the year are a busy time."

NEW DEALERS speak scornfully of the Presidential poll conducted by the Literary Digest, but everyone is eager to see what it reveals. The latest returns show a still further decline in New Deal popularity. Out of a total of 1,370,774 votes received, 828,029 answered negatively the question "Do you now approve the acts and policies of the Roosevelt New Deal to date?" This brought the negative percentage to the new high figure of 60.47 per cent. The last preceding percentage was 58.51.

Eleven of the thirteen southern states continued solidly New Deal. Only Florida and Oklahoma voted against it. The twelve middle western farm states continued balloting more than 3 to 2 against the administration. The Rocky Mountain states, with the single exception of Utah, contributed substantial majorities against the New Deal, as did four of the six New England states, which were voting 3 to 1 against Roosevelt.

FROM his field headquarters in Dessau Emperor Hulle Seussie sent to the League of Nations a vigorous protest against the war methods of the invading Italians. The emperor charged specifically that Italian flyers, in raining explosives on the southern army of his non-law, Ras Desta Demei, near Dolo, used poison gas and destroyed a Swedish Red Cross ambulance laden with sick and wounded. A special meeting of the Swedish Red Cross was held in Stockholm to take action in this matter.

The Italian government in Rome asserted the aerial bombardment was fully justified by the alleged beheading of two Italian aviators by the Ethiopians after the flyers had crashed at Daggah Bur in Ogden. The communiqué also said it was well known that "Ethiopian chieftains take shelter under Red Cross signs when they see Italian airplanes."

Fierce fighting was going on along the northern front in Ethiopia. In Addis Ababa it was claimed that one of the emperor's armies had scored a decided victory, but there was evidence that others of his units had suffered reverses.

DISPATCHES from Addis Ababa said reliable sources there disclosed the terms on which Emperor Haile Selassie had authorized his delegation at Geneva to discuss peace. They were thus stated: Withdrawal of Italian troops from Ethiopia; recognition of the African empire's sovereignty; payment of indemnity by Italy; delimitation of East African boundaries between Ethiopia and the Italian colonies by a league of nations committee, and foreign economic, administrative, and financial aid and advice for Ethiopia only on the condition there would be no Italian influence.

DECLARING that all America is menaced with violence by the Communists, the Uruguayan government severed relations with the government of Soviet Russia. Minister Alexander Rinkin and his staff were handed their passports, and the Uruguayan charge d'affaires was recalled from Moscow. The decree, signed by President Gabriel Terra and all members of the cabinet, asserted that Montevideo was the headquarters of Communists who were plotting uprisings in all South American countries, and quoted the Brazilian charges that the abortive rebellion there in November was instigated by the Soviet government and that the Montevideo legation was its intermediary.

Dr. Jose Espalter, Uruguayan foreign minister, said: "We have proof that Montevideo was the center of a gigantic Soviet expansionist plot and that Minkin was organizing a revolution in Uruguay for next February or March."

Uruguay is the only South American nation that recognized the Soviet Russian government.

WITHOUT waiting for a ruling by the Supreme court on the validity of the Tennessee Valley authority act, Senator Norris of Nebraska, father of that and much other advanced legislation, has prepared a bill for a Mississippi Valley authority along the same lines as the TVA but immensely greater in scope. He intends to introduce the measure soon in congress. It would embrace more than half of continental United States, including all the vast plain between the Alleghenies and the western continental divide and from near the Canadian border to the delta of the Mississippi; only the Tennessee valley would be omitted from the plan.

Norris said it was an expansion of his former plan for a Missouri valley authority. Flood control would be its chief goal, he disclosed, but it also would direct the development of navigation, irrigation, hydroelectric power, soil conservation and reforestation. Like TVA it would be managed by a three-man directorate. The cost is not stated. Congress would vote funds from year to year as the work progressed.

NOTEWORTHY among recent deaths are those of Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett, hero of four wars and leader of the American first army in France where he was second in command to General Pershing; and Harry B. Smith, well known and prolific light opera librettist who wrote the books and lyrics for "Robin Hood" and many other productions.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL J. R. McCARL issued an order that blocked the plans of the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation to buy surplus farm products for relief distribution. He held that the administration could not use the 30 per cent of gross customs receipts set aside for the AAA to buy farm products to be given to relief clients. In a letter to Secretary Wallace, McCarl said relief legislation and relevant statutes provided another way to handle such purchases.

It was believed McCarl's ruling would not affect AAA plans for purchases for diversion purposes and not for relief distribution. An offer has been made for purchase of surplus potatoes from the 1935 crop, to be diverted into industrial channels. Officials said, however, they did not expect growers to take advantage of this offer because of recently advanced prices for potatoes.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORY

by Vance Wynn Public Ledger

The Man Who Cut the Wires

SOME years ago Pittsburgh was much wrought up over the robbery of a safe belonging to the Union Express company. One hundred thousand dollars was taken from the receptacle, and no one knew how it had been done. The safe came into the Union station in the usual manner, locked and guarded, and was conveyed to the office of the company in the custody of armed men.

But the messenger, who was supposed to be in charge of the valuable property, could not be found. That fact, however, gave a clew upon which the authorities were able to start an investigation. Thomas Furlong, one of the ablest railroad detectives in the United States, was put upon the case, and the first question he asked was the name of the messenger who had charge of the safe when it left the other end of the line.

That was easily answered. The man was J. J. Bingham, not only a reliable employee, but a brother of the superintendent of the express company. "Find Bingham," said Furlong, curtly.

He was found very readily at his home and was just as much astonished to hear of the robbery as the officials had been. But he was able to give Furlong some significant information: He said that he had received a telegram the day before from his brother, George Bingham, which directed him to look out for the new messenger, "J. C. Brooks."

The telegram added: "Meet him at Templeton, en route. Turn over cash and valuables to him and take receipt for same. Then report to superintendent at Parkersburg, who will give you further orders." "Obedience to orders was ingrained in J. J. Bingham, and he did exactly what he was told to do in the telegram. The suspicion that anything was wrong never occurred to him.

The men in the service were used to being shifted at short notice. He did not find the superintendent at Parkersburg in his office, and had gone home to change his clothes. The telegram was a forgery. Detective Furlong made his decision quickly. He determined to go to Templeton to get the lay of the land. While he was walking across a little girl, sitting on a log.

He got into conversation with the child and she remarked that he was not the first stranger that had been in town in the last two days. Questioned further, she said another man had been there and had torn a sheet of paper into little bits and thrown them behind the station. By rare good fortune Furlong found the scraps of paper. He got down on his hands and knees and gathered them, and after that he went into the station, and by the use of mucklugg and a fresh sheet, managed to paste them together.

The result was a blank check on a bank at Carlisle. But that was not all. While Furlong was doing his Sherlock Holmes act he found a little pocket telegraph instrument. In itself it meant nothing. In connection with other things it meant everything. The detective hastened to Carlisle, where he continued his inquiries. He talked to the station agent and wanted to know if there was a telegraph operator in town. There was one by the name of Macaulay and only a few days before he had been inquiring where he was likely to obtain a small instrument. To less than a week Furlong had reconstructed the whole affair. Macaulay, a shiftless character, needed money. He conceived the idea of robbing the express company. Getting his telegraph instrument and ascertaining the name of the messenger who would be on duty with the safe of valuables, he had gone to a lonely spot in the wood near Kintanning. He cut the wire and connected it with his pocket instrument. He sent the telegram to Bingham, met him at the appointed place and then proceeded with the safe to Pittsburgh.

Having been given the keys, he opened the safe en route and rifled it of the valuables. Then he locked it and accompanied it to the Smiley city and saw it loaded on the express wagon and started on its destination, duly guarded. Before reaching the office he slipped away and disappeared with the loot. The search for him went almost around the world, and he died before being brought to trial. WNU service.
