Good Friday Service
Apr. 10—Congregational church, Rev. C. F. Wolf, presiding pastor; united choir under the direction of Paul Niehaus; Rev. F. D. Mumby, preacher.

The opening sermon on Ash Wednesday evening will be entitled "A Voice from Heaven." A challenge, "Facing the Task" will be the theme of the sermon March 4. Other subjects will be announced later.

All residents of Chelsea and the surrounding territory are invited to unite with the members of the participating churches and pastors in the series of devotions leading up to Easter.

Faculty Play Presented Monday and Tuesday

(By High School Seniors)

"Why Smith Left Home," faculty play, was a smash hit, according to the large audiences who attended it Monday and Tuesday nights at Chelsea public school auditorium. The amusing characters with their humorous dialogue, the beautiful dresses, and the clever plot all contributed to the success of the play.

The main plot dealt with the endears of Mr. Smith, played by Mr. Blecker, to rid himself of an unwelcome visit from Mrs. General Billet-doux by bribing the "lady cook" to cook even more badly than was her daily want. The success of his plan was thwarted by the fact that he was caught innocently kissing his wife's maid by mistake for her wife, played by Miss Hazard. When he was overheard assenting to General Billet-doux's proposition that they both should attend the ball which the servants had planned to give that same evening in the expected absence of the family, the plot deepened and things—funny things—began to happen. But after the several misunderstandings were straightened out, the play closed with a happy ending.

Mr. Blecker, as Mr. Smith, and Miss Hazard, as his wife, were the leading characters, each giving an excellent performance. In fact, the whole cast of teachers gave outstanding performances. The audience laughed at the antics of the "good bad cook," Lavinia, played by Miss Gibson, and roared at the actions of the two lovers, Count Von Guggenheim (Mr. Niehaus) and Miss Smith (Miss Fowlkes). Mr. Johnson, as Bob Walton, and Miss Yager, as Rose Walton, were an interesting pair of newlyweds. Two extremely funny characters were General Billet-doux and his wife, played by Mr. Waskiewicz and Miss Georg. Mr. Lyons, as Major Duncombe, and the strikingly clever maids, Julia and Elsie, all helped to bring many laughs from the crowd.

The play from beginning to end was packed with thrills, excitement, fun and laughs. Again and again, the actors were forced to pause until the hilarious laughter on the part of the audience had subsided.

FIRE DAMAGES RESIDENCE

Fire, caused by an overheated furnace pipe, caused considerable damage to the residence of Lynn Kern on South Main St., Monday forenoon, burning between the studding and joist of the living room and parlor, also bed rooms on the second floor. The local fire department extinguished the blaze with chemicals. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

One Ticket Named for Village Election on Monday, March 9

Present indications are that there will be only one ticket in the field at the village election to be held on Monday, March 9. Calls were issued for caucuses of both the Independent and People's parties for Tuesday night but only one caucus was held, that being the Independent party.

About 25 people attended the caucus and the meeting was called to order by Conrad Lehman, chairman of the party committee. Otto D. Luick was chosen chairman of the meeting, A. G. Hunsdang, secretary, and Ezra Tisch and Claude Spiegelberg were the tellers.

The following candidates were nominated:

President—Roy Harris.

Clerk—James Munro.

Treasurer—Ed. Miller.

Trustees—Conrad Lehman, Wilbur Hinderer and F. W. Merkel.

Assessor—Ed. Keusch.

Trustees whose terms do not expire are J. E. Weber, H. B. Murphy and Ernest Adam.

The first day for registration of voters was held at Sylvan town hall on Tuesday, the board of registration consisting of James Munro, village clerk, and Conrad Lehman and Otto D. Luick, appointed by the village president, Roy Harris, at the regular council meeting Monday evening.

Other days for registration will be February 21, 24 and 28, at Mr. Munro's home on Chandler street, and on Saturday, February 29, last day for registration, at Sylvan town hall.

All qualified voters whose names are not on the registration books of the village must register not later than February 29 if they care to cast their ballot on March 9.

Issues Safety Advice To Michigan Drivers

With icy roads and snow multiplying traffic hazards by throwing cars into skids and collisions, Orville E. Atwood, secretary of state, issued the following warning this week to Michigan motorists:

Protect yourself and the other fellow this slippery weather by following the advice so clearly set down in "We Drivers", that excellent little book on safe driving. Here are a few pertinent points:

Slow down by a series of brief, moderate brake actions instead of one continuous pressure, quite a distance from where you want to stop.

Do not disengage the clutch as soon as the brakes are applied but wait until the car has almost stopped.

Treat every slippery curve or turn as though it were going to be a stop.

With power turning the wheels, you are less likely to skid.

Test the surface of the road as you would test a slippery step if you are walking. Gently apply the brakes. If the car does not skid, resume speed and apply brakes again a little more firmly. You can thus determine the surface and estimate the degree of caution required for safety.

You may avoid slipping in starting by very slowly starting the engine in second or high.

GLENN CUTLER HONORED

Glenn Cutler, second miller at the Chelsea Milling Co. for the past three years, has resigned to accept a position with Knappen and Company at Augusta. Mr. Cutler began his duties on Monday, but Mrs. Cutler and family will remain in Chelsea until the end of the month.

On Saturday evening Mr. Cutler was given a farewell party at Kolb's hall by his fellow workmen at the mill. A pot luck supper was served, after which a social time was enjoyed. H. S. Holmes, on behalf of the guests, extended good wishes, to which Mr. Cutler responded. A token of remembrance was presented by the assembly.

Jurors Selected for March Court Term

The following people were named on the panel of 30 jurors for the March term of circuit court at the drawing on Saturday morning in the county building:

Ann Arbor—Mrs. Ann Butts, First ward; Mrs. Frances Denay and Frank Hugan, Jr., Second ward; Raymond Maley and William Rayment, Third ward; Mrs. Mary C. Krutch, Fourth ward; Charles Schlemmer, Fifth ward; Charles Rash, Sixth ward; and Mark Howard, Seventh ward.

Three townships had two jurors each named to the panel. Those chosen were Webster-Hardy and Edith Williams, Augusta; Theophil Strieter and Alice S. Litchfield, Selco; and M. C. Owen and Alfred Action, York. Five townships will not be represented.

Others named for jury duty are: John P. Smith, Ann Arbor township; Martin Wackenhut, Bridgewater; Edwin Kaeberer, Lima; Albert Raus, Lodi; William Steineweg, Manchester; Arthur Hynes, Northfield; Frank McCalla, Pittsfield; Fred Truesdale, Salem; Wilbur Coe, Saline city; Otto Hanson, Saline township; Leslie Bush, Superior; Lynn Kern, Sylvan; Mrs. Mary Cook, Ypsilanti first district; Mrs. Tillie Tackman, Ypsilanti second district, and Mrs. Walda Wardle, Ypsilanti township.

The new term of court will open on March 2, but the jury will be called for some time later in the week.

Boy Scout Rally To Be Held At Dexter

Dexter Scout Troop No. 1 will serve as hosts for the Western District Scout Rally and Court of Honor to be held at the Dexter Methodist church on Friday evening, February 21, according to an announcement made last week at the Council office of the Washtenaw-Livingston Council.

Each troop is asked to hold a Board of Review before this time and whatever advancements are earned will be presented at the Rally.

Those troops having 100 per cent attendance will receive blue ribbons and those with 75 per cent attendance or better will receive red ribbons.

In the Western District, Chelsea troop 1 is the largest with 30 members. Chelsea Sea Scouts have 25 members; Dexter troop 1 has 24 members; Manchester troop 1 has 17 and Bridgewater troop 1 has 11 members. The total membership of the Western District on February 1 was 107 Scouts.

A new Cub pack is being formed in Dexter with Harley Pope as Cubmaster and other Cub groups and troops are being planned.

WATER MAIN BREAKS

The water main at the corner of South Main and Orchard streets broke Tuesday afternoon and a large stream of water has been pouring through the surface of the ground and running down Main street. Workmen were attempting to reach the broken main on Wednesday and hoped to have the damage repaired before night. If the break necessitated turning the water off the section affected would be Main street from the Michigan Central to the Summit street corner, with the side streets getting water from mains to the east and west of Main street. The cause of the broken main was not known Wednesday, but it was believed the severely cold weather had caused it to pull apart. It was hoped that the water would not have to be turned off for any length of time as all pipes without circulation would soon be frozen.

TEST P. O. SITE SOIL

Geo. W. Dillon, Federal construction engineer, arrived in Chelsea this week to survey the new post office site at the corner of Main and South streets, and to have soil tests made. J. F. Albur has a force of men at work digging a 4x6 foot hole, 15 feet in depth, in order to secure soil tests which are necessary before the contract for the building can be let. The test is being made at the southeast corner of the lot, and it may be necessary to make such a test at each of the four corners on the lot.

LET NOT YOUR HEART BE TROUBLED

Saint John's Gospel, Chapter 14:17

A message from the Lord one day, So precious, came to share With me His wondrous grace and love, And lift my load of care.

The words were few, yet like a charm And solace to my heart, It touched a chord of trust which chimed Through me in every part.

"Let not your heart be troubled", child, These were the words he said, And instantly the load was gone, And every care had fled.

From henceforth, me to live is Christ, To die will be great gain, Though in this world I suffer loss, Earth loss is Heaven's gain.

Thus claiming victory over pain, Anxiety and care, Ready to go—ready to stay With Jesus—anywhere.

—Arthur Carlton.

Health Items

Lumbago

One of the best examples of a truly Osteopathic condition is Lumbago. An attack of Lumbago comes on suddenly and never while the back is in the upright position. It usually happens while bending or stooping.

If one group of muscles of the back are contracted, while bending, the pull may be unevenly distributed with the result that too much force is exerted at one particular joint. This causes one of the joints to move slightly beyond the normal range of motion and becomes locked in this abnormal position.

It can readily be seen that anything rubbed into the muscles or swallowed will not move this joint back to its normal position. Following sufficient relaxation of the muscles around the joint the Osteopathic Physician puts the joint back from whence it came. This is not as simple as it sounds because it is not an easy condition to correct. It may be that one Osteopathic treatment will bring the desired results but more often it is necessary for several. Heat and rest alone will many times give relief but it will not be permanent and the back is subject to frequent attacks, therefore the treatment indicated is that given by an Osteopathic Physician.

Anyone desiring information regarding Osteopathy may obtain such information, without obligation, by writing to Osteopathic Items, P. O. Box 881, Chelsea, Michigan.

24 YEARS AGO

Thursday, February 22, 1912

Wednesday morning Chelsea and vicinity was visited by the worst snow storm in years, accompanied by a high wind. D. J. & C. cars were hours late. A car left Ann Arbor at six o'clock Wednesday evening and arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning. Snow drifts at Steinbach's hill are 8 to 10 feet deep. From Wednesday noon until this morning not a touch of mail was delivered to the local postoffice.

The Ray View circle entertained the members of the Research club at a Washington party at the home of Mrs. E. E. Wood on Monday evening.

Mrs. Meicy Boyd, 101 years old, died at the home of Mrs. Mary Boyd on Saturday, February 17, 1912.

H. Lighthall has rented his farm to William Davidson.

John J. Baldwin has purchased of J. N. Dancer the house on McKinley street which was built the past season.

The officers of the L. O. T. M. M. enjoyed a sleighride to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leach of Lima, last Friday evening. A delicious chicken pie supper was served. Mrs. Alexander, Michael Ichelinger, Charles Paul, James Dunn and Carl Schwilke attended the Moose banquet in Detroit on Monday evening.

34 YEARS AGO

Thursday, February 20, 1902

The house and household goods of Ed. McCrow of Waterloo were destroyed by fire on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Lowry are making arrangements to move onto the Fraser farm next month.

Mrs. J. Bacon has been elected delegate and Mrs. C. M. Davis alternate from Columbian Hill, L. O. T. M., to attend the meeting of the Great Five which will be held in Marquette in July.

Mrs. B. F. Tuttle has loaned to Wm. Boland a portion of her land at Wolf Lake, and a large hotel will be erected on the same. The track of the Jackson & Suburban Railway Co. will be extended to the lake and a fine summer resort will be the result.

The Francisco power house of the Hawks & Angus line was put in operation for the first time on Saturday evening and was found to run perfectly. Cars are now running every hour between Detroit and Jackson.

State Has File of Missing Persons

Few persons can change their places of residence without, as a matter of routine, notifying certain commercial firms with which dealings or accounts are maintained. Relatively few licensed drivers of motor vehicles in the state have ever realized that the same law which requires that they be licensed also stipulates that they must notify the Department of State "immediately" of any change in residence address. Notification is made through local police and sheriff's headquarters; these officials have proper notification forms.

The 1931 licensing statute provides that failure to have any change of address recorded in the prescribed manner may be cause for revocation or suspension of an operator's or chauffeur's license.

The Department of State has been unable, on many occasions, to furnish the correct home address of licensed operators in this state when the appeal for aid in locating people sought was for the purpose of notifying friends or relatives of injuries or even death. "Missing" persons have been sought in the records of the Department of State by relatives who knew that the person sought was a licensed automobile driver in Michigan. In unsuccessful cases, failure to locate the missing person was attributable only to negligence on the part of the operator to file his change of address—whenever made—with the Department of State.

There are many instances in which badly injured persons can be identified only by the names on their drivers' licenses, but when the addresses are wrong delays in more complete identification are experienced and in some cases, of course, it is impossible ever to trace the residence.

OLDSMOBILE MORE POPULAR

Throughout the country the Oldsmobile Eight, companion car to the well known Six, is becoming more and more popular, according to D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile vice president and general sales manager.

"We find widespread approval of the roominess, luxury and comfort of the Oldsmobile Eight," he said. "People are amazed to find a quality car of this type at so low a price."

In the few months since the 1936 Eight was introduced, we have had hundreds of letters from satisfied owners, anxious to tell us how much they like this car.

"It is surprising how many of them take the same note. 'I have owned 14 or 15 automobiles,' they say, 'all of them in the high priced field, but I find my Oldsmobile Eight to be better than any other car I ever had.'"

"In developing the Eight, our engineers built into it every proven quality feature, every comfort and convenience for driver and passenger alike. Particular attention, too, was paid to the engine, and the result was one of the finest eight cylinder motors ever placed under the hood of an automobile."

"No small part of Oldsmobile's great growth in the last two years has been due to the acceptance of the eight cylinder car as a smart, fine performing and comfortable automobile."

"And no small part of Oldsmobile's reputation for solid value has been built upon the person to person advertising campaign carried on by satisfied Oldsmobile owners."

SAVAGE SCHOOL NEWS

The children and friends at Savage school celebrated St. Valentine's day Friday afternoon.

Distribution of valentines, playing of games, and the refreshments made the afternoon a joyful occasion.

Among the games played were "telephoning," a talkie with candy hearts, and "bunco." In the progressive bunco game the winners at each table during a ten-minute period got a prettily colored heart shaped tally card punched and proceeded to the next table. The winners in this game were Paul Hauer and Edward Visel, who won as a prize an extra package of motto hearts.

Your cookies decorated with frosting and cinnamon candies, whipped cream, fruit jello, and several motto hearts were served to each child. The room decorations were also appropriate—heart-shaped place cards on the windows and a valentine border ornamenting the front blackboard. The large white valentine box was cleverly covered with red and pink alternating hearts.

Among the guests present were Jerry Bauer, who also participated in the afternoon's fun.

An Addition to the House

Very few purchasable things add as much to a home—solid value per dollar of cost—as modern telephone service.

It adds security. The presence of a telephone in the house means that here no time will be lost when some sudden crisis demands the services of a doctor. It means dependable, 24-hour contact with the police. It is a valuable form of insurance, for its swiftness in summoning the fire department can easily mean the difference between trifling damage and a crippling loss.

It adds comfort. The telephone frees every member of the family, and especially the housewife, from the drudgery of unnecessary steps. It saves them bothersome errands.

It often enables them to escape hazardous exposure to disagreeable weather.

It adds enjoyment. The family accessible by telephone has greater opportunities for social pleasures. Over it they can both extend and receive invitations; they can send congratulations, or exchange greetings of the season. They can take part in "voice reunions" with distant friends or relatives—can indulge in the amenities of life to an extent denied those families without this modern, inexpensive convenience.

By delivering genuine value, telephone service of the type this Company supplies to Michigan has earned recognition as a welcome, sensible addition to the house.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Which contains the most units of heat—a ton of coke or a ton of peat?

Ans.—There is 4.7 units of heat in coke to 1 in peat. The weight of the coke is being equal. If measured equal in bulk the coke would still lead by 7 unit.

Ques.—On the new 1935 series of one-dollar currency, why is the pyramid design used, and what does the wording on the design mean?

Ans.—As yet we have no data on the new one-dollar bills. We will endeavor to have this information for you at a later date.

Ques.—Is it known how many radios are in use throughout the world? If so, how does the United States compare with other nations?

Ans.—It is not known just how many radios are in use in the world at the present time, because sales are steadily going on from day to day. Only a reasonable estimate can be made from the records of the manufacturers. On this basis there are approximately 50,000,000 radio sets in the world. Of this number about 25,000,000 are in the United States, with Great Britain and Germany trailing with about 9,000,000 respectively.

Ques.—Will you please tell me who are the members of the United States Supreme Court, and if any of them are 80 years of age or over?

Ans.—The members of the United States Supreme Court are Chief Justice Hughes, Associate Justices Roberts, Brandeis, Cardozo, Clegg, Van Devanter, McReynolds and Sutherland. None are 80 years old, but all are past 70 except Roberts, who is 82.

Ques.—Can you tell me in your good paper the home address of Mickey Cochrane, the manager of the Detroit Tigers in the American League? Thank you.

Ans.—Gordon Stanley (Mickey)

Cochrane lives at 1001 Covington Drive, Detroit, Mich.

Ques.—Why do barbers use striped poles, etc., in front of their places of business?

Ans.—This is a survival of the custom of ancient barbers who practiced surgery in their line of business. The red and white stripes represent the bandages—white for the cloth and red for the blood.

Ques.—Will you please be kind enough to tell me if the violet is the national flower of the United States?

Ans.—It is not. The goldenrod is the national flower of the United States.

Ques.—Why is food absorbed so quickly into blood?

Ans.—This is because the size of the absorbing surface is so large. The lining membranes of the stomach and of the small and large intestines, taken together, have an area of about twenty square feet. This is somewhat more than the area of the entire outside body.

Ques.—I would like to ask if you can tell me whether or not State College, Pa., is incorporated, and what its population is?

Ans.—Yes, State College, Pa., is incorporated. It has a population of 4,450.

Ques.—What is the distance between Japan and the Philippine Islands?

Ans.—From the extreme southern point in Japan the distance to the extreme northern point of the Philippine Islands is approximately 1,000 miles. The steamship line connecting the two countries traverses a course of 1,700 miles between Yokohama, Japan, to Manila, P. I.

Ques.—What group of islands comprise the Hawaiian Islands? And what is the name of the one Honolulu is located on?

Ans.—The group comprising the Hawaiian Islands are as follows: Nihoa, Kauai, Oahu, Molokai, Lanai, Maui, Kahoolawe, Hawaii. Honolulu is located on the southwestern shore of Oahu. It is the capital of the island group and has a population of 187,522.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you kindly state how large the moon is?

Ans.—As the moon is shaped similar to an egg it looks round to us, as we see only the big end of it at any time. The big end is always pointing toward the earth. Its diameter from end to end is 2,100 miles.

Ques.—Is the North Pole the coldest place in the world?

Ans.—No. The coldest place in the world is in central Siberia, where the weather frequently registers nearly 100 degrees below zero. As that temperature freezes mercury and most other substances specially designed instruments are used to register the temperature.

Ques.—Can a squirrel fly? Or is there any other animal that can fly?

Ans.—A squirrel cannot fly. However, it can glide for a considerable distance, which gives it the appearance of flying. The only animal that can fly swiftly and quickly is the bat. It flies just like a bird, but it is an animal, nevertheless.

MASON—During the past week water pipes have been frozen in 40 Mason homes. Several mains have also been frozen. Already the city has spent upwards of $500 in thawing mains. Repair and replacement of water meters is also going to be expensive. To prevent further damage by freezing, Glen Stevens, superintendent of utilities, requests that residents open water taps so that dripping will occur. He states that the water allowed to waste will not be charged to residents but will be deducted from water bills. If the weather turns warmer the frost will go even deeper. Mr. Stevens warns, so he urges residents to leave faucets open to the extent that water runs slightly.—County News.

PLYMOUTH—So that the rare natural beauty along the north branch of the Rouge river that flows in back of the Ford factory at Northville will not be disturbed, Henry Ford some time ago directed that the big water main that will carry from the dam north of Griswold road to the new power plant at the east end of his factory the water that will operate the big over-shot wheel, be run down under the Rouge river. Workmen have been busy for several weeks laying the big concrete pipe that will carry the water under Griswold road and the Rouge river. Not a single tree has been taken down in the construction of the water main. When the new factory was staked out, every precaution was taken to save as many trees as possible.—Mail.

GRASS LAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Sponser received word from their son, James, who is stationed in a CCC camp at Raco, of his discharge from the camp. He has signed a contract with the St. Louis Browns and will leave for West Palm Beach, Fla., the training site of the Browns the latter part of this month. James was selected on the All-American CCC baseball team last year and three years ago played first base for Bob Knapp's Spartans at which time he was just a youngster.—News.

ANNUAL REPORT OF MICHIGAN BELL SHOWS BUSINESS GAIN

Improvement in business of the Michigan Bell Telephone company during 1935 reflected the improvement in general business, the annual report of operations, presented by George M. Welch, president, at the annual meeting of stockholders Thursday, February 18, indicating a net gain of $2,783,727, an increase over 1934 of 6.7 per cent in local messages and 0.7 per cent in long distance messages.

A total of 130,063 telephones were connected during the year, and 104,200 were disconnected, the gain of 32,783 telephones, the gain of 21,062 in 1934; the total gain for the two years represents approximately one-quarter of the telephones lost from the peak of May, 1930. The company had 585,029 telephones in service December 31.

Net income was $5,975,722, compared with $4,539,948 a year ago. Total operating revenues, from which all fixed charges, wages, taxes, and operating and other expenses were paid, amounted to $32,783,727, against $30,718,695 the previous year. Total operating expense was $21,435,552, compared with $21,230,983 in 1934; not including taxes, which were $3,883,624, an increase from $3,127,309.

The ratio of net earnings for 1935 to the cost of plant and other assets, was 4.2 per cent, compared with 3.7 per cent in 1934. Dividends of $4.75 per share (4 3/4 per cent) were paid on the company's stock. Plant investment was increased $1,532,555, gross construction amounting to $6,887,699. Total plant and investments of the company at the end of the year amounted to $174,957,045, and total assets were $181,000,087. Depreciation reserve, accrued to meet loss of investment in depreciable plant upon its retirement from service, was $33,797,105, as against $29,183,542 at the end of 1934. Unappropriated surplus was $3,687,160, a net increase of $737,620.

Infrequency of service complaints, and the company's records of trouble, indicated that a high quality of service was continued throughout the year, the report says. Improvement in the quality of long distance service was evidenced by the ability of the company to complete, or furnish a report, on 94.4 per cent of all long distance calls while the calling parties held the line. Increasing success attended sales effort and collections improved.

Rate changes included one made effective June 1, last, when the company eliminated the evening discount period on station-to-station long distance calls, between 7 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., and advanced the lower night discount period to 7 p. m. The report also mentions the January, 1936, revision, which brought further long distance service savings to Michigan telephone users by the introduction of a reduced person-to-person night and Sunday rate and the extension of the reduced night station-to-station long distance rate to all day Sunday.

In January, 1935, the Michigan Public Utilities Commission again denied application for increase of rates, but granted the company a hearing, which was completed in July. The company filed its brief that month, followed by the brief of the City of Detroit in September and that of the attorney general in December. Filing of the company's reply brief is expected this month.

Appreciation is expressed by the board for the effective effort of the employee-body to maintain the quality of the service at high levels. The report states, also, that bronze Theodore N. Vall medals, for acts of outstanding public service, were awarded during 1935 to four employees of the Plant department: James M. Taylor, plumber, Detroit; Ephraim J. Hills, powerman, Detroit; Kenneth Freeman, installer, Detroit, and George H. Behm, combinationman, Roseville. In each case, the employee had saved or helped save a human life.

The Roman Empire

In the Via del Impero in Rome, on the wall of the Basilica of Constantine, there are four huge mural maps in marble, showing the growth of the ancient Roman empire until it reached its height under Trajan (98 to 117 A. D.) The fourth of these maps shows the Mediterranean sea as entirely Roman. Included in the empire of that time are the modern Italy, France, Spain, Portugal, England and Wales, Belgium and Holland, Switzerland, part of western Germany, Austria, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Albania, Bulgaria, Greece, Turkey, Armenia, Iraq, Syria, Palestine, Arabia, Egypt, Libya, Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco.

Color of Mercury

At ordinary temperatures mercury is a bright, silver-white metal, hence its old name quicksilver, that is, live silver. It solidifies to a highly crystalline solid when cooled to minus 40 degrees centigrade, and is then ductile and malleable and softer than lead. Unlike water, it contracts on solidifying, and therefore sinks in the liquid metal. Water, on the other hand, expands, and solid ice floats on the liquid water.

Forecast Wireless

James Clerk Maxwell (1831-1879), the famous mathematician, had the unique triumph of proving that wireless must exist more than 20 years before the first wireless signal was detected. His figures proved that wireless waves exist and he measured the speed at which they must move, although wireless waves were as yet undiscovered.

Vigorous Happy People-- Big and Little-- When Essential Vitamins are Sealed in Their Food!

Your physician will tell you that old-fashioned cooking methods waste much of the health-giving elements in your diet. Electric cookery seals in the nourishing juices, so that food retains fully its delicious original flavor. It preserves the necessary vitamins and vital mineral salts which the body demands for proper development.

Another and equally important benefit is due to the fact that an electric range consumes no oxygen. For every cubic foot of fuel consumed by an open flame range, six cubic feet of air are de-vitalized. This robs your kitchen and the whole house of life-giving oxygen. With fuel cooking, the heat and fumes damage the complexion and militate against a healthy skin.

A TOE TOUCH

OIL-HUSHED to a sigh of silence under Buick's style-tapered bonnet, a great-powered valve-in-head engine waits to unleash a torrent of action at your command.

There's thrill in it—and triumph over time and distance. But most important—there's eyewink obedience.

Teamed up with this ablest of driving forces is the newest and most highly perfected system of hydraulic brakes.

The quickest of stops is velvet smooth under their self-energizing action. On the wettest of streets there will be no slowing, no swerves, for they are automatically self-equalizing.

Their action has the smoothness of a closing hand, increasing its grasp steadily to the maximum. Their steel-tensioned grip would halt a heavy truck, but it takes only a touch of a daintily-shod toe to put them into action.

We call them "tip-toe hydraulics," and how apt the name is you'll never know until you drive a Buick and sample for yourself their softness and their velvet command.

The first few times you sit behind a Buick wheel, you may find yourself traveling faster than you think. No car is more buoyantly smooth in its power-flow, more deceptively effortless in its swift flight.

But no car is more surely under control at all times—quicker, smoother, easier in its stopping. If you must drive with an eye on the passing minutes, do so in a Buick which matches engine eagerness with tip-toe braking sureness, offsets highspot go-ability with dependable stop-ability.

$765 to $1945 are the list prices of the new Buicks at Ford, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout as standard equipment.

STRAIGHT AS A STRING

Every stop is a straight-line stop with Buick's "tip-toe" hydraulic brakes. All four wheels are always equalized; the only adjustment is an occasional tightening as brake bands wear. For emergency stops and for parking purposes, the hand brake conveniently at the left under the dash, operates the two rear brakes mechanically.

CHAT 'N' SEAU MEETS

The Chat 'N' Seau were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Edward Frymuth on Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in playing buncos, and honors were awarded to Mrs. Ross Munro and Mrs. Harry Church. Lunch was served at the close of the evening. The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Lyle Chiswell and Mrs. Alvin Foor.

HOLD VALENTINE PARTY

The Pilgrim Fellowship chapter were entertained at a Valentine party on last Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Jane and Matthew McGaffigan. Twenty-five members were present. The rooms were prettily decorated in keeping with the season. The evening was spent in playing hearts, games and stunts. One feature of the entertainment was a Valentine box. Refreshments were served.

ENTERTAINS S. S. CLASS

Mrs. M. W. McClure entertained the members of her Sunday school class at a Valentine party on Saturday afternoon. Eight guests were present. Games, stunts and races provided amusement for the afternoon. A delicious lunch was served in the dining room. The table was decorated with a silver tree trimmed with red hearts and red tapers. At the close of the afternoon a Valentine box was enjoyed.

ENTERTAINS FOR DAUGHTER

Celebrating the 14th birthday of her daughter, Barbara Jean, Mrs. Sidney Schenk entertained 11 girls at a Valentine party on Friday evening. Bingo and other games furnished amusement, with prizes for the winners, after which lunch was served by the hostess. The large red heart centering the table contained favors for each guest, from which ribbons led to the various places. Red candles furnished illumination and small red hearts made attractive decorations. Several gifts were presented the honor guest.

WASHINGTON PROGRAM

The weekly meeting of the S. P. I. was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Olga Strieter, the program opening with "America," with Washington quotations given in response to roll call. Names of the presidents were recited in unison by the club, after which a duet, "El Capitan," was rendered by Mrs. Strieter and Mrs. Katherine Kusterer.

Readings were given as follows: Early Life of Washington—Olga Strieter.

Washington and the Cherry Tree—Louise Winans.

Martha Washington—Mary Schneider.

Washington at Valley Forge—Katherine Kusterer.

Washington as President—Amanda Koch.

Brief Sketch of Washington's Life—Lillie Wackenhut.

The program closed with singing of "Star Spangled Banner."

Each member was then presented with a white hatchet on which they were to write a story. The house was decorated with flags and Washington emblems.

Establish Feeding Stations

Deep snow, in most places covered with heavy crust, is creating the most serious hazard in more than a decade to the bird population of the southern half of the lower peninsula of Michigan. Conservation organizations, schools, and many other interested agencies, together with conservation officers are daily distributing tons of corn and other grains as food for pheasants, quail and other ground feeding birds. Glen Erdly, conservation officer in Westford county and Tim Porter, Cadillac conservationist, illustrate one of the typical "feeding stations." All of the officers have been permitted a drawing account by the Department of Conservation to purchase grains for food.

JOHN H. VAN FLEET

John Henry Van Fleet of Waterloo township, died Saturday, February 15 at Mercy hospital, Jackson. He was born February 17, 1855 in Solo township. For over 50 years he was in the employ of the Michigan Central railroad and November 18 of last year he came to Chelsea to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Fred Myers, on Railroad St. He is survived by three sons, Walter of Homer, Edward of Detroit and William of Waterloo township; a daughter, Mrs. Myers; 24 grandchildren, and ten great grandchildren. Standard Time Adopted in This Country in 1883

In 1707 clocks were such a luxury that the English parliament levied a tax of five shillings a year on each one of them. Following the coming of the railroads, Charles Dowd of New York, in 1870, is credited with first suggesting an international time standard, and in 1883 a plan to adopt standard time in the United States was inaugurated, effective at noon, November 18, 1883. Notes a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

The United States and Canada had decided to map the world's time by a series of meridians to be calculated in multiples of 15 degrees east and west of Greenwich, a borough of London in which is the Royal observatory, from the meridian of which longitude is figured. Fifteen degrees is equivalent to one of the 24 hours required for one rotation of the earth.

In brief, when it is 12 noon at Greenwich, it is 11 a. m. 15 degrees west of Greenwich and 1 p. m. 15 degrees east.

Time zones in this country have been arranged about midway between meridians in order that the difference between standard time and actual local time will not exceed 30 minutes. The lines that divide standard time into four zones in the United States are somewhat irregular. This is for the reason that certain places and it more convenient to adopt the standard time of a zone which a straight line wouldn't include them in.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Foster Parker, about 25 years of age, who was employed by Sidney Trolz on the Raymond farm in Sharon township, committed suicide Saturday by hanging himself in the barn. The body was discovered about 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Mr. Trolz, who missed him and started to investigate. Parker had made his home in that vicinity for the past few years, and had been employed by farmers in Sylvan and Sharon townships.

ENTERTAIN FOR BROTHER

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beal entertained at a dinner on Sunday for the pleasure of the former's brother, Chester Beal of Ypsilanti, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary. A birthday cake centered the table, where covers were laid for the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gripton and family; Mrs. R. Benedict, Charles Benedict, Misses Alice Price and Geraldine Cheever of Britton, John Beal of Ypsilanti and Gerald Benedict and son of Holland.

SURPRISE PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eschelbach in Lima township was the scene of a pleasant neighborhood gathering on Saturday evening, when 19 guests surprised them on the occasion of their ninth wedding anniversary. High score in progressive euchre, which furnished the entertainment, was held by Viola Krumm and Irvin Lounsbury, the low prizes going to Mrs. Walter Eschelbach and Elmer Lindow. A delicious pot-luck supper was served and a gift of sheets and cases was left as a souvenir of the party.

Meanings Attached to Flowers

Flowers, language and popular usage have ascribed different meanings to flowers, though there is no authoritative list or uniform agreement. Here are the names of a few: Anemone, anticipation, frailty; apple blossom, admiration; buttercup, wealth; calla lily, magnificent beauty, pride; white camellia, innate worth; cardinal flower, distinction; cornflower, delicacy; cowslip, youthful beauty; daffodil, unrequited love; daisy, simplicity, innocence; dandelion, coquetry; forget-me-not, true love; foxglove, insincerity; geranium, gentility; golden rod, encouragement; heather, loneliness; hellebore, devotion; white heather, good fortune; hollyhock, ambition; honeysuckle, friendship; hyacinth, sorrow, narcissus, vanity; orange blossom, marriage; rose, love; shamrock, loyalty; and the violet, modesty.

Swiss Niche Is Memorial

In an immense niche above the right bank of the river Rhine in the gorge of the Schöllenen, between Goshenen on the St. Gotthard railway and Andermatt in Switzerland, stands a huge Greek cross. It commemorates the famous passage of the St. Gotthard road by the Russian army under General Suvoroff in September, 1799. Clambering down the precipitous rocks in the face of a destructive fire, the Russians turned the almost impregnable position held by the French at the Cronebach and compelled them to retreat.

Biography of Casanova

Giovanni, or Jacopo Casanova de Selmgut, Italian adventurer and author, was born in 1725. He studied for the church, was rejected, and entered the army. Attracted for mystery, the practice of magic and witchcraft, his life thereafter was a tissue of roguery and amorous adventures. He was a man of learning and taste, a poet, mathematician, theologian and critic. His last years were spent as a librarian to Count Waldstein at Dux, Bohemia. His memoirs, written in French, are world famous.

Joseph Wortley, Mrs. Charles Darby and sons, William and Walter, of Lake Odessa, and Mrs. Carl Case and children, Jeanette, Wayne and Lester, of Lyons, Ohio were in Chelsea on Saturday to attend the funeral of John Wortley.

J. J. Wheatley and Richard Connors of Ypsilanti were Chelsea visitors over the week-end, attending a birthday dinner for Donald Adam on Saturday evening, and a dinner on Sunday given by Mrs. Edward Beissel, celebrating the birthday of her son, Foster.

METHODIST HOME

Mrs. Eliza Brown, formerly a resident of Bay City, and who entered the Home last fall, suffered a stroke last week Tuesday, which paralyzed one side and from which she is still lying very critically ill. Little hope is entertained at the present time for her recovery.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCalla, formerly a resident of Detroit, and a member of the Wesley Methodist church, entered the Home last Tuesday.

Mrs. John Barstow and Mr. and Mrs. Elston Anderson, all of Bay City, visited the Home on Monday and called on Mrs. Eliza Brown, who is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Barstow.

Mrs. E. P. Bennett, Matron of the Home, was called to Detroit on Monday afternoon, and will visit her son while there.

Mrs. James Melrose of Prescott, Mich. and sister of Mrs. Eliza Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Arley Osborne and Mrs. George Glaspe of Jackson, all relatives of Mrs. Eliza Brown, called upon her at the Home on Tuesday to pay their respects.

Rev. Alvin Doten, familiarly known as the sky pilot of Northern Michigan, visited the Home on Tuesday evening and gave a very interesting stereopticon lecture describing his work and experiences in the Upper Peninsula. He has charge of the East Michigan Mission work.

Mrs. Sarah McGregor, formerly of Romeo, who has been quite ill for the past few weeks, is now convalescing nicely, and it is hoped will soon be able to resume her former activities.

SOUTH WATERLOO

Verd Seigrist spent the week-end in Grass Lake, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Bostedor.

Mrs. Jacob Lutz is caring for Mrs. Clair Seigrist, who is confined to her bed with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Lantis and son visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parks, Sunday.

Ernest Moeckel, who has been confined to his bed for the past three weeks, is slowly on the gain now.

Era Moeckel and daughter spent Monday afternoon with his brother, Ernest and family.

Lewis Wahl visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wahl, Saturday evening and Sunday.

Flying Fish Glides
The flying fish does not fly, it merely glides. Its elongated fins remain stationary in the air and give it no propulsion power, such as the bird gets from the flapping of its wings, reports the New York Herald Tribune.

This speed which the fish attains in the air is never greater than 25 to 30 miles an hour, which is inadequate for any flying glides. Motion pictures of the flying fish in action were shown before the recent meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. William Carter. These furnished evidence that the propulsion power obtained from the vibration of the fish's tail is what enables it to glide in the air. When it starts falling it can not power for a further glide if its tail alone makes contact with the water.

Many Boy Scouts Will Provide Food for Birds

Scouts and Cubs in all parts of Michigan are trying to do their Good Turn demonstrate good will toward bird life in the providing of birds with food during these difficult days for birds and other wild life.

"It isn't the cold of winter that kills birds," John H. Baker, Executive Director of the National Association of Audubon Societies explains, but "it is the lack of food. In many parts of the north the natural food supply on the ground has been completely cut off by ice and snow."

The following suggestions have been made to all Scout leaders from the committee on community service:

Nail suet on trees near a limb, or nail high on poles with a cleat under it so that birds can stand while eating. Throw out all bread crumbs, toast, grains, green vegetables near your home in a spot, protected from north wind, if possible. A spot where they can keep an eye on stray cats is desirable.

Having started this at your own home and keeping it up day after day, get out into vacant lots. Widen your range day by day.

Get out into the country and spread the food in likely places. Put sand and fine gravel out on a board. Birds need this badly.

NOTTEN ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Heydlauff of Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kalmbach visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Heydlauff on Sunday.

No services were held here at the Salem church Sunday owing to the condition of the weather and the roads.

Evidently the road department saw their shadow on ground hog day and retired for the time being. Several of the roads in the vicinity have not been opened. It has been some time since the mail man has been able to deliver mail and what roads have been shoveled out has been done by the neighbors.

L. T. Freeman delivered two teams of horses to Fred Notten and Herbert Rank.

Mrs. Almarine Rowe was in Jackson on Monday.

By climbing over snow banks Herbert Sager was able to visit his parents on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider entertained Mr. and Mrs. M. W. McClure and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riemenschneider in honor of their 49th wedding anniversary, Sunday. They also observed Mr. Riemenschneider's birthday Thursday by inviting a number of their relatives and friends to a very fine dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Heydlauff and Mrs. Hawks of Chelsea spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Notten.

Copper Was First Metal
Found by Reducing Agent

We have no record of the time when men first began to use metals. Doubtless the first ones used were those which are found naturally in a free state. Gold, for example, writes Dr. Thomas M. Beck in the Chicago Tribune, is almost always found as the metal.

Copper, although usually occurring as an ore, is occasionally found in metallic lumps as a result of some unusual combination of natural causes. And while the available terrestrial iron occurs entirely as a nonmetallic ore, small amounts of the free metal occasionally reach the earth as meteorites.

The Stone Age did not end until the chemical reaction known as reduction was discovered some ten thousand years ago. Since most of the metallic ores within our reach consist of a metal combined chemically with at least one other non-metallic element, usually oxygen, it is necessary to obtain the free metal by reducing the ore; that is, by heating it with some substance having a greater affinity for the oxygen than does the metal itself.

The earliest reducing agent to be used was charcoal, readily obtainable in the form of charcoal. Thus when copper oxide is heated with carbon, copper and carbon dioxide are produced.

The first metal made available by the discovery of this reaction probably was copper. In those ancient days metals were desired for the manufacture of cutting instruments, and pure copper is too soft for this purpose. However, some neolithic genius discovered that the addition of a little tin (another easily reducible metal) formed the alloy bronze, which was hard enough to satisfy the simple wants of the period.

A few thousand years later iron came into use and since then has remained the most important of all metals. By the year 1800 almost a dozen solid metals were known, of which only seven (iron, copper, tin, lead, zinc, silver, and gold) had any practical industrial uses.

Monkeys Vary in Size
"Monkeys" vary tremendously in size. Of the 600 species of primates—lemurs, monkeys and apes—the smallest is the marmoset, writes Chester N. Carpenter, Detroit, Mich., in Collier's Weekly, which weighs only nine ounces when fully grown, and the largest is the male gorilla, which weighs about 400 pounds or 700 times more.

Cactus 300 Years Old
The world's largest sahuaro cactus is said to be one north of Camelback mountain, 12 miles from Phoenix, Ariz. Scientists estimate its age at over 300 years. It has been known to have survived four-year periods without rainfall, in temperatures that touch 140 degrees. The plant is over 40 feet high and has 80 branches, or arms. The sahuaro blooms gloriously and bears delicious fruit each spring. It is worshipped by the Papago Indians. The cactus has thorns that can kill man or beast, yet it is a refuge of birds.

Local Boxer Loses
In State Finals

Ralph Holbrook, local colored boy, represented Chelsea in the State Boxing Tournament held at Grand Rapids last week.

Ralph entered the Golden Gloves tournament in Ann Arbor and came through victorious, winning the middle-weight title. He scored two one-round knockouts, and his final fight to win the tournament went the limit, Holbrook winning easily on points.

By winning the title at Ann Arbor his trainer, Morry Hoffman, sent his application to Grand Rapids, where the champions are matched against champions to determine the state title.

His first match in Grand Rapids ended in KO route after less than one minute of fighting. His opponent, was Jack Knus of Grand Rapids. Less than two hours later Holbrook entered the ring again to fight a boy from Pontiac who was considered the favorite by the sports writers covering the tournament. As the two boys entered the ring, the crowd, numbering 7000 people, took notice and both boys were known as hard punchers. Holbrook fought his same shuffling style and shot a right hand cross which caught the hard hitting Pontiac boy on the button. It was another victory for Holbrook.

In the final match for the state championship Ralph didn't connect solidly. The bout went the three rounds and judges awarded it to C. Mack of Flint. The crowd thought Holbrook won. The decision was booed and cheered for at least three minutes. It cost Ralph the state title to Ralph but he told Morry, his trainer, that another year he may redeem himself.

Holbrook will continue his training at Mohrlock's Garage. He will enter the tournament at Jackson on Mar. 8.

Cremation Has Been Used in the U. S. Since 1885

Cremation is one of the three common methods of disposing of human remains which antedate history, the others being simple exposure and burial or entombment, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Cremation was originally widely prevalent among the Indo-European races. Throughout northern Europe graves of the Bronze age contain no skeletons but urns for funeral ashes. Cremation was the general practice of the Romans for hundreds of years, while the Greeks also practiced it to a great extent. Many of the early American Indians burned their dead; the custom was common of old in England and in Gallie and Germanic Europe; and in India and parts of other Oriental countries it is regularly followed today.

With the spread of Christianity, however, cremation became a rare thing. Charlemagne is said to have punished with death those who practiced it. Discussions looking toward its re-establishment began a century or two ago, but nothing came of them until Italy sanctioned cremation in 1852 by revoking prohibitory laws. It was legalized in France in 1887, and had been instituted in England two years earlier. It is now practiced to some extent in almost every country.

This method of disposing of the human remains has been in practice in the United States since 1885, the first crematory in this country being established at Buffalo in that year.

B. C. Banknotes
China must be given credit for many inventions long before their re-invention by more Western nations, such as gunpowder, printing, glass, and paper. It seems the Chinese must also be given the honor of the first issue of paper money, bank-notes, as far back as 4000 years ago. The newspapers proudly recorded the bequest to the Bank of England of Five Pound Note No. 1, dated 1793, but in the Asiatic museum in Leningrad there is a Chinese bank-note dating from 1899 B. C., and the British museum has one issued in the Fourteenth century of our era. No sample of the 4000-year-old Chinese bank-notes survives, but it is known that these notes were called "flying money" or "convenience money," and that they were made of thick, coarse paper manufactured from mulberry leaves, and that their design was in blue ink.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Health Lecture

Last Wednesday, just a little before 1 o'clock, the assembly bells rang and every one came to study hall wondering what we were going to do.

Miss Hutzel from the Michigan Health Service spoke to the high school students. The theme for her speech was "The Art of Living." The main things that were discussed were Health, Character, and Personality.

After speaking to the whole high school student body, Miss Hutzel held boys' and girls' conferences separately. Many interesting problems were brought up in both groups and I am sure we all benefited by it very much.

There was a speech scheduled for last Thursday for the parents and the teachers, but due to the weather it was postponed.

F. F. A. News

Much progress has been made in preparation for the Agriculture Exhibit to be held in connection with the Michigan Centennial celebration to be held at the school on March 11, 12 and 13.

The chapter also has plans for conducting their help in supporting the life of song and game birds during the rest of the winter.

The hot lunches will be continued until the end of February and probably into March if the weather demands a hot dish.

Project plans are being filed by members who wish to take care of a summer project.

Attention All!

The Seniors of Chelsea high invite you to attend the gala pro-Lenten dance on Friday, February 21.

The Albion College dance orchestra, of state-wide fame, has consented to supply the rhythm. You'll be astounded at this orchestra which we hear is really good! This dance is for you, and if you come you'll have a real time. Don't forget the date—on Friday the 21st. Dancing from 9 to 1. We'll be seeing you.

Centennial News

Mr. Winkiewicz has been able to secure the cooperation of Dr. Leeson of the Methodist Old People's Home, in assembling items of historical interest for the Centennial Exhibit which will be held at the high school, March 11-13. Dr. Leeson has agreed to interview members of the Home to find what articles are in their possession. Since many have been residents of Michigan for many years, there is no doubt that they have many such articles.

Editorial

Now I'm not going to preach and dictate a lot of do's and don'ts to you. Even if I did, you would probably disregard them.

But seriously did you ever stop to realize that after all good manners do form the basis of our social life? And the best place in the world to practice them is right here in school.

Did it ever occur to you to let a teacher pass before you on entering or leaving a class room?

Or perhaps to pick up an article that she has dropped?

Do we keep silence when she is talking to the class, and give her our utmost attention? You know there is nothing quite so discouraging to a teacher than to find that her pupils are either talking among themselves or completely disregarding her.

Wouldn't it be just as easy for us to pardon ourselves when we rush in front of them, as it is to nearly knock them off their feet?

Why is it that some of us delight in arguing with the teachers? Are we really arguing a point or merely showing off for the benefit of the rest of the class? After all, you know teachers are not supposed to know everything.

Examine your conscience! Are you guilty of any of these faults?

From now on, let's prove to our teachers that we can be more considerate of them.

I'm sure none of us will regret it.

Eileen Adam led the scoring for Chelsea with 12 points, with La Rue Wolf a close second. The score at the half was 10-1.

Caesar Says

Greetings, my friends—to begin, I have this joke:

Maury—If I stole a kiss would that be petty larceny?
La Rue—I think it would be grand.

Hostess—When you come to the party tonight, don't wear any jewelry.
Worthy—I haven't anything valuable, but thanks for the warning.

Mr. Lyons—This gas is deadly poison. What steps would you take to escape it?
Bristle—Long steps.

Proprietor (to suspicious customer)—Where did you get that string of pearls?
Customer—From the oyster soup.

Dud (with hands over her eyes)—If you can't guess who I am, I'll kiss you.
Joan—Jack Frost, Davy Jones, Santa Claus.

The dog says "Bow-Wow" and Caesar says "So-long."

On Valentine day we all had a lovely time. Our Valentine box was filled with Valentines.

Norman Krantz brought his moving picture machine. We saw Treasure Island and Huckleberry Finn. All of us enjoyed it very much.

Our guests at the Valentine party were: Mrs. Leonard Eder, Mrs. Beal, Ronnie Eder, Earl Baku and Leon Eisman.

Fourth Grade

Mrs. Thomas Harris and Madeline Rowe were visitors in our room last week.

We had a Valentine party last Friday afternoon. Every one received many pretty Valentines. Games were played and refreshments served.

Eugene Townsend has earned a reading certificate. We are hoping more children will receive certificates soon.

Philly Vogel, Sumner Oesterle, Doris Collins, Joe Hale and Elaine Schmidt are planning a fine Dutch scene in the sand table.

Miss Kern has finished reading "The Little Dutch Tulip Girl". It described much of the country of the Netherlands, and its people. Our next book will be "Hans Brinker".

We made attractive covers for our Weekly Readers. Each person designed his own and made a chart on the inside cover on which we shall keep a record of our score for the next fifteen weeks.

Carlton Christwell brought a dish and some cake and salt. Carlton tells us this will form a pretty white substance. We are anxiously awaiting the results of this.

Eleanor Harper brought some pictures and a clipping about Norway. We are a little late in completing our Lincoln book but such interesting material was brought that it took some time to have it read. Our covers are red, white and blue. We intend to make Washington booklets too.

Last Thursday and Friday we had 100 per cent attendance but today we have five people absent and three tardy.

We have a Dutch picture book taped up. Every day we change the pictures. They are colorful pictures showing the work of the Dutch people.

Miss Boongaard was ill last Friday. We are glad to see her back again today.

Fifth Grade

During English period on Wednesday, February 12 we had our story hour in which short stories of Lincoln were contributed by Clayton Myers, Doris Parsons, Wilma Spiegelberg, Helen Grabowski, Robert Strieter, Luther Kusterer, Richard Schenk, Caroline Breitenwischer and Richard Kern.

Helen Grabowski told us about Lincoln's birthplace which she visited in Kentucky some time ago, and during Art period we reproduced this building from her description and from pictures.

Our Valentine party was enjoyed by everyone. We wish to thank the mothers and one father who helped furnish the delicious refreshments, and Mrs. Steiner wishes the girls and boys to know how much she appreciated their lovely gifts too.

Sixth Grade

We have a new flower rack in our window.

The sixth grade had a Valentine party Friday after school. We were very sorry that Winifred Schenk could not attend to it. He has been ill a long time. We hope he will be back soon. We had three cakes. One of the cakes was baked by Marvin Wolf. We have shakked our soap carrying of Lincoln's life. They look very good.

Donnie Walz and Earl Grieb and "Joe" George Washington have birthday days on Saturday, February 22. We are preparing for the event by bringing pictures for our bulletin board of

Our First Leader

Washington. In reading we are going to read the story of George Washington.

We had the election of officers. They are as follows:

President—Marvin Wolf.
Vice President—Junior Miller.
Secretary—Lawrence Dietle.
Treasurer—Robert Fisher.

In Language we are making speeches. We have decided that we should use notes in giving our speeches.

If you would have visited our room during the first half of the school year you would have noticed quotations on the black board. We are now having the ones of Washington, especially this week we will have one each day.

"Good sense and honesty are qualities too rare and too precious not to merit particular esteem."

The quotations of Washington have harder words in them than the quotations of Lincoln.

Almanac 3,000 Y.
From an Egyptian Book

An almanac is a book which gives you more than three thousand years old recently was found in one of the buried tombs of Egypt. The owner of the book said it, since he had it buried with him. It is written on papyrus, in columns, and there are 25 pages well preserved. Its chief purpose was to inform its owner whether each day was lucky or unlucky for any sort of enterprise, notes a writer in the Chelsea Plain Dealer.

Certainly it was not so important to know that a certain day was the fifth of Tebi, with a new moon and a prospect of rain, as to know that it was a day when you must not start on a journey, look at a rat, wash yourself with water, or even go out doors before daylight.

It was issued for the four years following the fifty-seventh year of Ramses the Great. The days are written in red ink, and each one is followed by three characters—morning, day, evening, each with its significant mark to denote prosperous, indifferent, or adverse. The first sign is in black ink, and the others are in red.

For example, the twenty-fifth of Thoth is marked "Good, good, mild," with the caution, "Do not go outdoors in the evening."

Viking Warriors Really Rough and Ready Fellows

Viking warriors loved a night so much that when they were stimulated by strong drink and war songs, they would fight brothers and friends, and even attack rocks and trees, notes a Trondheim, Norway, writer in the Detroit News.

Most famous of these warriors were the berserks, or champions who served as bodyguards to kings and chiefs. They fought just for the fun of it, or ten challenging one another to mortal combat. Relics of their period in Norwegian history are displayed in museums throughout the country, and in Trondheim is a rich collection which attracts many visitors.

One of Norway's berserks, Sturkader, became a combined Norse Hercules and Robin Hood. Although he delighted in fighting and killed as many as nine men in one encounter, he always protected the poor, upheld the country for its soft living and recommended eating raw meat and tainted water.

At last, worn out by age, he asked a friend to kill him, calmly submitting to death. So fierce was his look, however, that he had to turn away his face before this executioner dared to strike the mortal blow.

Measured in Feet
Written on rolls of papyrus, as they found in the tombs, New Testament books would be of this length: Matthew 30 feet; Mark 19; Luke 31; John 28 feet, 6 inches.

George Washington never occupied the White House. His executive mansions were two-story and shifted from New York to Philadelphia while the White House was still a dream, observes a writer in the New York Times. Only his name, plus that dream which was his, went to the city on the Potomac.

But in the stress of the formative years he was remembered with wide-spread festivities at his first birthday after his inauguration. Indeed, the anniversary had been limited each year, since the first President was a national hero long before he grasped the reins of government.

Raised soldiers had played him a patriotic birthday tune at Valley Forge the first one is:

"Good sense and honesty are qualities too rare and too precious not to merit particular esteem."

The quotations of Washington have harder words in them than the quotations of Lincoln.

Measured in Feet
Written on rolls of papyrus, as they found in the tombs, New Testament books would be of this length: Matthew 30 feet; Mark 19; Luke 31; John 28 feet, 6 inches.

Washington himself was busy in New York on that February 22. He was leaving from the Franklin Hotel, at the corner of Cherry and Pearl streets, to the McComb mansion on Broadway, near the newly rebuilt Trinity church. His diary for the day reveals him as an active superintendent of the disposal of his furniture.

On the twenty-third he transferred his family to the New-Abode, while under-standing citizens kindly stayed away from that day's regular levee.

Meanwhile in all 13 states, birthday balls had been held, not only by the cities with their higher social circles, but also in hamlets that could only muster a barn for a ballroom and a fiddle and fute for an orchestra. Soldiers had paraded. Guns had boomed.

and church bells rang. Banners and armlets and headbands had blossomed forth the name and often the lineaments of Washington.

In 1701, the Society of the Cincinnati held its first Washington's birthday celebration in New York, having followed Tammany's example by resolving to mark the date each year. The President and the Congress (and also the capital of the United States) had meanwhile removed temporarily to Philadelphia. But even New York's disappointment did not prevent Tammany from vying with the exclusive organization of Revolutionary officers to do honor to the day.

Alas, the good feeling did not endure. By 1790, after John Jay had come back from England with his hated treaty, Tammany was fiercely for revolutionary France; Jefferson was its god; George Washington was actually being dubbed, in public, a pro-English aristocrat; and those who celebrated his birthday were coldly accused of being (among other things) bootlickers, idolaters, Royalists and sycophants. The country-wide birthday honors of that year, though even more lavish and vociferous than usual, presented for the first time the ogre of party, grinning at the feast.

By 1797, however, the Jay treaty was being regarded much more tolerantly, and certain French proceedings were being looked at with a little asstance. Those who refused to salute Washington on February 22, to honor a glorious record for its own sake, and to tread a measure at the evening's gala assemblies, now formed a rather conspicuous minority.

George Washington became a private citizen in that year, and was with his Alexandria neighbors at their birthday ball of February 22, 1798—an onlooker, though in his younger days he had excelled in the minut.

There was to be only one more birthday for a living Washington to adorn. He spent that one at home at Mount Vernon, presiding over a particularly joyous occasion. His adopted daughter, his pet, Nelly Custis, was being married to his favorite nephew, Maj. Lawrence Lewis.

The rejoicing went on at Mount Vernon in December of 1799 and the birthday festivities the country over were turned into mourning processions when 1800 brought the anniversary around once more. This February 22 was a universal penitence. The armlets and headbands with Washington's picture were black where once they had been gayly hued.

Throughout the country business was suspended for 24 hours. Theaters, taverns, public halls, schoolrooms and college auditoriums, village greens and parks as well as churches were given over to exercises, meetings and processions expressive of the deepest grief.

Washington, who had served by his side, seized the opportunity of relating convulsively over the anniversary of his birth in 1754, when the hostilities and the British evacuation were high in the past. Young men who had been privileged to visit him in his famous campaign tent organized birthday honors for a hero; and in that first February of the new era, the celebrations first began to resemble real occasions.

In Alexandria, Va., the town nearest to the General's stately mansion, the birthday ball was inaugurated an annual affair. In Philadelphia patriots celebrated "with that hilarity and mainly decorum ever attendant on the sons of freedom." In New York there met "a select club of Whigs" and drank to Washington and hailed him with song and sonnet and declamation.

The date thus far widely honored was February 11. Washington was born on February 11, 1732 according to the British calendar, which then officially in vogue. Nineteen years later, Britain adopted the Quaker-in-place of the Julian calendar. But the ancient dates often stuck, and it is not until 1790 that we find Washington's birthday—his first as President—being celebrated on the twenty-second of February instead of the eleventh by the Tammany society of New York.

Tammany in 1790 was patriotic, anti-aristocratic, charitable and ambitious. As yet it did not differentiate between President Washington, its adopted "Great Grand Sachem," and the second of those characteristics. In this, the initial year of government under the new Constitution, New York strove to honor the Chief Executive and also to persuade the Congress that had come to reside in its midst that New York city was the logical choice for a permanent capital.

Washington himself was busy in New York on that February 22. He was leaving from the Franklin Hotel, at the corner of Cherry and Pearl streets, to the McComb mansion on Broadway, near the newly rebuilt Trinity church. His diary for the day reveals him as an active superintendent of the disposal of his furniture.

On the twenty-third he transferred his family to the New-Abode, while understanding citizens kindly stayed away from that day's regular levee.

Percepsines in America for Two Million Years

Percepsines have been residents of North America for at least 2,000,000 years, says Science Service. Certificate of residence since late pre-glacial days was found in the form of a porcupine's jawbone in the Snake river valley, Idaho, by Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, paleontologist of the Smithsonian Institution, which has been identified by Dr. Robert W. Wilson of the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

The animal was bigger and heavier than either of the two species of North American porcupine now living. Hitherto it has been believed that porcupines migrated into North America comparatively late, for the earliest remains of the existing species were found in cave and volcanic fissure deposits that date back only to the middle of the pleistocene ice age. Porcupines have been in South America, however, very much longer than that.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Whereas, default having been made in the payments of the sums of money secured and made payable by a certain mortgage made and executed by Ivan N. Cuthbert Sr. and Minnie A. Cuthbert, husband and wife, both of the Township of Pittsfield, Washtenaw County, Michigan, as mortgagees, to the Huron Valley Building and Savings Association, of the same place, a Michigan Corporation, as mortgagee, which mortgage is dated April 14, 1928, and recorded April 16, 1928 in Liber 184 of Mortgages, on page 17 in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, Michigan.

And Whereas, the payments provided for in said mortgage have remained unpaid and in arrears for FOUR MONTHS preceding this date, and the Huron Valley Building and Savings Association, being authorized so to do by the express terms of said mortgage, and having heretofore declared by resolution properly passed by the Board of Directors of said Association, the whole sum secured by said mortgage due and payable forthwith, and that the shares of stock for which said mortgage was given to secure the payments as aforesaid were declared forfeited to said Association and that there is now claimed to be due and payable on said mortgage at the date of this notice for principal the sum of $4,915.25, for interest the sum of $1,386.74, for taxes the sum of $906.73 together with an attorney fee of $50.00 as stipulated for in said mortgage, making the whole amount due and payable in the sum of SEVEN THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED FIFTY-EIGHT and 72/100 ($7,258.72) DOLLARS, besides all other costs, claims and expenses provided for in said mortgage or incident and necessary to this foreclosure and no proceedings at law or in equity having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, Notice is hereby given that on Saturday, May 9th, 1936, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon (Eastern Standard Time), at the south front door of the Court House in the City of Ann Arbor, Michigan, that being the place in which the Circuit Court for the County of Washtenaw is held, the said Huron Valley Building and Savings Association will sell at public auction to the highest bidder the premises described in said mortgage or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage as aforesaid with interest and taxes thereon and all legal costs, charges and expenses thereon, including the attorney fee as aforesaid.

Said premises are described in said mortgage as follows: All those certain pieces or parcels of land, situate and being in the Township of Pittsfield, in the County of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, and described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a point in the center of Milan Road 324 feet north of the intersection of the center line of Milan Road with the center of Packard Road; thence north along the center line of Milan Road 116 feet; thence east at right angles with Milan Road, 283 feet; thence south parallel to Milan Road 116 feet; thence west 283 feet to the place of beginning, Pittsfield Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan. Also beginning at a point in the center line of Milan Road 324 feet north of the intersection of the center line of Packard Road with the center line of Milan Road 283 feet; thence south parallel with the Milan Road 116 feet; thence west at right angles with the Milan Road 283 feet to the center line of Milan Road 116 feet to the place of beginning. Also beginning at a point in the center line of Packard Road with the center line of Milan Road 116 feet; thence east at right angles to the Milan Road 283 feet; thence south parallel with the Milan Road 116 feet; thence west 283 feet to the place of beginning, being a part of the southwest quarter of section numbered two, Pittsfield Township, Washtenaw County, Michigan.

THE Washington monument was long a subject of discussion in and out of congress after the death of the Father of His Country in 1799 until its capstone was set in place December 6, 1884, a total of 85 years, says a National Geographic society bulletin.

On December 28, 1799, John Marshall, famous fellow-Virginian of George Washington, introduced a resolution in the United States house of representatives providing that "a marble monument be erected by the United States in the city of Washington and that the family of General Washington be requested to permit his body to be deposited under it." Martha Washington acceded to the provisions of the resolution, but nothing was done. In 1816 and 1819 the memorial was discussed in the halls of congress and again in 1824 and 1825. And again nothing was done to carry out the provisions of the resolution.

Displeased with the failure of congress to erect a memorial, influential citizens of Washington organized in 1839 to promote the project. That body became the Washington National Monument society, with Chief Justice John Marshall as its president. The society, which financed construction of the shaft until it rose 154 feet, invited American artists to submit designs for a $1,000,000 edifice. Robert Mills won the competition, but his design was not accepted. It called for a circular colonnaded building from the center of which would rise a 500-foot obelisk.

In 1848 congress passed a resolution authorizing the Washington National Monument society to erect a monument and authorized the President of the United States and officials of the society to choose a suitable site. L'Enfant, in his plan of Washington, had provided for an equestrian statue of Washington, but the spot then was a marsh. Thus the present site, only a few hundred feet away, was chosen. On Independence day, 1848, amid colorful ceremonies, the cornerstone filled with historical documents, was laid. Slowly for six years the obelisk rose skyward. Then discussion in the society and lack of funds caused construction to cease.

President Grant, in 1876, signed a bill which provided that the government take over and complete the erection of the shaft.

Norris Urges Congress to Curb Supreme Court—Oratory on Lincoln Day—Death of Charles Curtis—Long Newspaper Tax Invalid.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union

SPEAKING in advocacy of the administration's substitute farm bill, Senator Norris, the independent Republican from Nebraska, scathingly attacked the Supreme court's AAA decision and urged congress to use its right to curb the court's power. He argued that the court's decision itself was unconstitutional by the court's own reasoning and shouted "It cannot stand."

"The regulation of agricultural production, they say, is unconstitutional because it is not mentioned in the Constitution," Norris asserted. "Nowhere in that great document is there a syllable, a word, or a sentence giving to any court the right to declare an act of congress unconstitutional. Hence, when the court indulges in that pastime it is itself violating the Constitution according to its own words."

Norris quoted from the majority opinion of the Supreme court holding that the regulation and control of agricultural production was a local affair reserved to the states and beyond the power of congress. Under that decision, he declared, not only the pending bill but "a large portion of the laws which congress has passed during the last hundred years are absolutely unconstitutional."

Of the later decision ordering return of processing taxes to the processors, the senator said Secretary Wallace perhaps was too severe in calling it the greatest legalized steal in history, and added: "But it is a gift, the greatest gift since God made salvation free."

Norris urged that congress pass a law requiring unanimous decisions by the Supreme court to overrule the acts of the legislative branch of the government.

LINCOLN day was the occasion for a flood of oratory, largely by Republican opponents of the New Deal. Herbert Hoover spoke at Portland, Ore., on the "State of the Union," which he said was a state of confusion.

In thought, government, economic life and the ideals of liberty, "The New Deal," said the former President, "has been a veritable fountain of fear. The day after the New Deal was given life at the election of 1932 began the great fear which created the bank panic of March 4. The stock boom today is not from confidence in the future; it is partly from fear of inflation."

In Greenboro, N. C., Senator Dickinson of Iowa warmly defended the Supreme court as "the only remaining guardian of the liberty of the people" and inveighed against what he said was the New Deal's "planned economy" and its "attempted robbery of the states" through the invalidated AAA and its proposed substitute, the soil conservation measure.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan was a speaker in New York city, and like his fellow Republicans he fiercely assailed the administration, terming it the "third party now in power."

Among the few leading Democrats heard was Secretary Wallace, who in Indianapolis, defended the administration. Referring to the Constitution, he declared that "most of us" thought the agriculture adjustment act was valid, and "some of us, including justices of the Supreme court, think so still."

CHARLES CURTIS, former Vice President of the United States and before that representative and senator from Kansas, died suddenly of heart disease at the Washington home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Gann. He was seventy-six years old, and was the first man of Indian blood ever to provide over to provide over the senate. He was one-quarter Kaw Indian, his grandmother having been Princess Julia of that tribe who married a French voyageur, in his boyhood Curtis was a jockey, and later a reporter. Having studied law, he became a prosecutor at the age of twenty-four in Shawnee county, Kansas, and was elected to congress in 1892. He was made senator in 1907, was defeated in 1912 and two years later was again elected senator. He was elected Vice President on the ticket headed by Herbert Hoover, and was re-elected for that position in 1922.

Mr. Curtis was greatly liked by his associates in Washington and his death caused genuine grief. President Roosevelt said:

"I am deeply distressed to learn of the sudden passing of my old friend, Charles Curtis. Whether they knew him as a senator, as the Vice President of the United States, or as the man he was in his own right, his legion of friends will remember him always affectionately, and will mourn his passing."

PRESIDENT LAZARO CARDENAS of Mexico went to Monterrey to investigate a stoppage of business and industry in protest against labor troubles attributed to Communists. He issued this ultimatum: "Employers who are followed by Mexico's social and economic struggle can turn over their industries to the workers or the government—that would be patriotic. But stoppage of activities cannot be countenanced."

Vice President Garner said: "I was always fond of him. I was associated with him in the house and senate. He was a fine man and a good friend."

ONE again the Supreme court of the United States comes to the rescue of a free press. Unanimously the nine justices ruled that the Louisiana law imposing a punitive tax on the advertising of the principal newspapers of that state is unconstitutional. The law was passed by a legislature controlled by the late Senator Huey Long. The court said of it:

"It is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guarantee."

"A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people. To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves."

"In view of the persistent search for new subjects of taxation, it is not without significance that, with the single exception of the Louisiana statute, so far as we can discover, no state during the 130 years of our national existence has undertaken to impose a tax like that now in question."

"The form in which the tax is imposed is in itself suspicious. It is not measured or limited by the volume of advertising. It is measured alone by the extent of the circulation of the publication in which the advertisements are carried, with the plain purpose of penalizing the publishers and curtailing the circulation of a selected group of newspapers."

LETTERS have been sent by President Roosevelt to the heads of the Latin American governments, inviting them to participate in a Pan-American conference, probably in Washington.

The purpose of which will be to organize the peace machinery of the western hemisphere. Our State department says the meeting will endeavor to provide means for adjusting international disputes by peaceful means. The conference may bring up the Monroe Doctrine for a new definition through multilateral enforcement.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM L. RANSOM of the American Bar association, with headquarters in Chicago, announced that Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, has accepted the chairmanship of the association's special committee on co-operation between the press, radio and bar against publicity interfering with fair trial of judicial and quasi-judicial proceedings.

N. D. Baker special committee to define standards to be recommended to lawyers, newspapers and radio broadcasters in the matter of publicity as to court trials, said the announcement is an outcome of the incidents arising in the course of the Bruno Hauptmann trial and various proceedings before governmental boards and bodies, and it is hoped that such standards can be made effective through rules of court or through legislation.

ACCORDING to the London Daily Herald, a secret decree providing for expulsion of all Jews from Germany as rapidly as possible has been prepared by Nazi leaders and laid before Chancellor Hitler for his signature. The paper said the decree provided for the confiscation of all property of expelled Jews.

This story may not be true, but there is no doubt that Hitler and his associates are determined to extirpate all the organizations and groups which they consider in opposition to the Nazi regime, and Hitler himself has declared the Jews are to blame for all the troubles of the reich in recent years. Scores of Catholic youth leaders have been arrested, charged with co-operation with illegal Communist groups, and it is predicted their organizations will be dissolved. The campaign is carried on with great secrecy. It was announced in Berlin that district governors henceforth would take orders from the Gestapo, the secret state police. This was interpreted as an indication of an immediate carrying out of promises by Nazi leaders for more ruthless, more determined action against enemies within the reich.

MRS. HUEY P. LONG, widow of the slain senator from Louisiana, took her seat in the senate to complete Huey's unfinished term, becoming the second woman member of the upper house. After eleven months she will be succeeded by Allen Alexander, speaker of the Louisiana house of representatives, who was nominated for the regular term.

AMERICA'S delegates to the naval conference in London consented to an agreement that would bind this country for five years or more to refrain from building any more cruisers in excess of 8,000 tons in size. When the news reached Washington there was immediate and loud protest in congress against what was termed a "colossal blunder."

High ranking naval officials refused to comment officially upon the London agreement, but said privately that any program which does not include the co-operation of Japan and Germany would be a failure.

TRIAL of the assassins of King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseille came to an end at Aix-en-Provence, France, with verdicts of guilty for the six defendants. For three of the band of Croats, members of the secret Ustachi society, who were apprehended, mercy was recommended, and they were given sentences of life imprisonment in French Guiana. The others, who never were caught, were sentenced to death. One of the latter is Dr. Ante Pavelich, reputed head of the Ustachi.

ESTATE chairman of Michigan and former clerk of Wayne county, which includes Detroit, State Senator A. J. Wilkowski, and 10 others of lesser prominence were convicted in Detroit of having attempted to steal the 1934 election. Eight defendants in the recount case, which had been on trial for nearly 12 weeks, were acquitted. Two other defendants had pleaded guilty, thus bringing to 20 the number facing sentence for their part in the vote-recount conspiracy.

Elmer B. O'Hara, the verdict came as the culmination of a series of calamities in a brief political career. Last November a jury in Macomb county, adjacent to Wayne, found him guilty of bribery in a drainage transaction in connection with real estate deals he had made before 1932 when he entered politics and was elected Wayne county clerk. He awaits sentence under that conviction. After conviction he was removed from office.

In the recount case O'Hara was found guilty on three counts, permitting others to alter ballots, conspiring to permit others to conduct the recount in an unlawful manner and change the result of the November, 1934, election by putting Democrats in office instead of the Republicans elected.

LEADERS of congress hope for an early adjournment, by May 1 at the latest, and therefore they pushed the new farm bill forward, trying to get it through both houses without much delay. In their desire to get away from the capital, they already had decided to let the proposed permanent neutrality legislation go by the board.

The farm bill as rewritten by the senate agriculture committee is based on the soil erosion prevention scheme. Some Democrats joined with many Republicans in opposing the measure, one of them being Senator Walsh of Massachusetts. In a statement issued to the press he declared it was a "dangerous" bill conferring "autocratic and blanket authority" on the secretary of agriculture. He said the measure was "neither valid in law nor valid in economics."

Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee said he expected definite word from the White House or treasury soon on the amount and kind of taxes that might be imposed to finance the new farm program.

Speaker Byrnes said he could see no reason why the tax measure should not emerge from the committee by the end of February.

ACTION against John J. Raskob, former chairman of the Democratic national committee when Al Smith was the Presidential nominee, and who is now president of the American Liberty league, has been begun by the government for an alleged deficiency of $1,026,340 on his 1929 income taxes. The claim was filed in an amendment to the petition recently filed against Pierre S. du Pont two days before J. J. Raskob assailed the New Deal in the petition, which Raskob described as "New Deal persecution." Mr. du Pont was alleged to have understated his 1929 income by $2,897,832 and an additional tax of $617,516 was asked. In the amended petition accusing Mr. Raskob, it was alleged that he and the industrialist engaged in "fictitious" sales of securities, one to the other, to a total of about $50,000,000 for the purpose of showing losses.

Although the mountain beaver is of a shy and timid disposition, it will fight fiercely when cornered. One of its accomplishments, which you would hardly believe from looking at the animal, is the ability to climb bushes to a height of four feet above the ground.
