Get Federal Grant for Disposal Plant

A special meeting of the common council was held Monday evening, when a communication from Federal authorities was read which stated that the application for a Federal grant to aid in the construction of a local sewage disposal plant had been approved. Although the communication stated that there are no funds available for this purpose at the present time, the money has been appropriated by Congress and that it should be available by July 1st.

Geo. Champe of Toledo, engineer on the sewage disposal plant project, will be present at the next council meeting on July 6, as will John P. Keusch, village attorney, and the matter of proceeding with the disposal plant proposition will be discussed.

Before the Federal grant could be procured it would be necessary to hold a special election on the matter of bonding the village for their share of the cost. The government would pay 50 per cent of the cost and the village 45 per cent. The cost of the plant complete has been estimated at $54,000.00.

The application for a grant was sent to Washington last August and the approval was received last week. The plans and estimated cost of the sewage disposal plant are on file at the home of Jas. Munro, village clerk, where they can be inspected by anyone interested in the project.

At the Monday evening meeting final arrangements for the black-topping of Orchard, East and Harrison streets were discussed, and the work of hauling gravel on these streets was started Tuesday. It is expected that all gravel will be on the streets in about ten days, when the work of blacktop surfacing will be started. W. J. Emmers of Ann Arbor, engineer for the blacktopping project, was present at the special council meeting.

Plan Building On Site At Cavanaugh

A permanent building committee composed of Dr. A. L. Brock, Paul C. Maroney, Julius L. Eisele, Wilbur Riemenschneider and Edwin W. Eaton were appointed by Commander Clarence O. Bannmiller of Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 at a special meeting of the Post held in their rooms on Thursday evening, June 18.

The Legion has entered into a contract in the form of a lease with F. H. Riemenschneider for 120 feet of lake frontage at Cavanaugh Lake. This lease covers the period of life of the Legion and stipulates that the lake property is to be used for recreation and social purposes of the Legion or any organization directly under supervision and control of them. This is meant to include the Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Sea Scouts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

It is expected that some sort of a structure will be erected on the newly acquired property before late fall.

CLUBS TO VISIT NEWKIRK

Several service clubs of Washtenaw county have accepted the invitation of the Washtenaw-Livingston Council, Boy Scouts of America, to hold a regular meeting of the club at the Boy Scout Camp Newkirk, situated on the banks of the Huron river at Dexter.

One of the first clubs to accept the invitation is the Chelsea Kiwanis club which plans to have a supper and meeting on Monday, July 13.

Parents and friends of Scouts are always welcome to attend the campfire each Wednesday evening for visitors and also on Sunday.

SUFFERERS BACK INJURIES

While walking in the hay field of the barn on their farm northeast of Chelsea Tuesday forenoon, Mrs. Floyd Wala accidentally stepped into the hay chute and fell 20 feet to the floor of the barn. She crawled to the house on her hands and knees and sent the dog after the hired man. At the time of the accident Mr. Wala was away on his milk route. An ambulance was called and Mrs. Wala was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, where she was found to have sustained severe back injuries and a possible broken back.

CAPTAIN VOGEL HERE

Capt. Herbert D. Vogel, Mrs. Vogel and son, Herbert, Jr., are spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Vogel, and other relatives in Chelsea and vicinity. Capt. Vogel has been transferred from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas to the Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, and with his family will sail from New York about the middle of August.

C. W. MARONEY INJURED

Clarence W. Maroney is confined to his home on Railroad St., suffering from injuries received Thursday when he fell from the porch while working at the home of his son Paul, on East Middle St. Fortunately, no bones were broken.

Legion Carnival Dates Are Set for July 16, 17 and 18

Plans are under way, committees have been appointed and the dates set for The American Legion Carnival which will be held on the streets of Chelsea, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 16, 17 and 18.

Members of the local Legion Post expect that this year a much larger crowd will be in attendance than have attended in the past two years, due to the fact that they have gained considerable experience in staging these affairs and many new attractions will be added to the previous entertainment offered to the public.

The midway of the carnival will be lengthened out this year to make room for an additional concession in the form of a ride for the kiddies which has been added to the booking on riding devices. This, it is understood, is in the form of miniature automobiles which are controlled and it is reported that this is something new.

The Legion has petitioned the State Highway Department for the privilege of closing Main street from the north-line of the Palmer Motor Sales property to the Michigan Central railroad. Permission has already been granted by the village council for the use of this area.

Committees have been appointed by Commander Clarence O. Bannmiller to take entire charge of the Carnival and Homecoming, and are as follows: Chairman, Chester Miller; Paul C. Maroney, George Sidwell and William G. Kolb. The following sub-committees were announced at a special meeting of the Legion last Thursday by Chairman Miller:

Finance—Carl J. Mayor, Clarence O. Bannmiller, William G. Kolb and Ed. Miller.
Advertising—George W. Walworth and Irwin L. Klump.

Concessions—Paul C. Maroney and George Sidwell.

Entertainment—Edwin W. Eaton and Sidney W. Schenk.

Rides—Wilbur Riemenschneider and Dr. A. L. Brock.

Games—John O'Hara.

Ropes and Detours—Wilbur Hindorfer and Joseph Wright.

The local unit of The American Legion Auxiliary will have exclusive rights on the lunch stand as has been customary during the past years.

The Legion hopes that the public will cooperate with them and be especially generous as the profits derived from this event are to be used in creating a building fund for a structure to be erected on the newly acquired property at Cavanaugh Lake.

REPAIRING BUILDING

The Central Fibre Products Co. have a force of men at work remodeling and repairing the building on North Main street which they recently purchased from the Houdall-Hershey Co. The roof at the south end of the building has been raised

A new insulated roof has been constructed on the entire 51x85-foot building, and general repair work has been progressing very satisfactorily. The company expects to move from their present quarters in the Wilkinson building to their new location by August 1.

Christmas Seal Camp at North Lake Opens

Trustees of the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium held their June board meeting recently at the Christmas Seal Camp, North Lake, inspecting the grounds and buildings. A report on the Silver Jubilee of the Sanatorium was given by the chairman, Mrs. Joseph T. Sinclair.

The camp opened on Tuesday of this week, where 120 boys will spend the first month of the season, the same number of girls to follow during the second month. Children who particularly need the resistance to tuberculosis to be derived from fresh country air, supervised exercise and wholesome food are chosen for this camp, which is supported by funds raised annually by the sale of Christmas seals.

On one of the highest points in camp it is planned to build a new permanent administration building and it is hoped that the Christmas Seal Camp may be enlarged to a "double" camp, accommodating 250 boys and 250 girls for the full two months of summer.

In the present camp there will be 11 counselors for the boys and 11 for the girls. A doctor is on full-time duty at the camp and a nurse is on duty when the girls are in camp.

Boy Scout Camp Under Full Swing

The banks of the Huron River just northwest of Dexter, ring with the sounds of happy voices these days because the Newkirk Scout Camp is already open and under full swing. The camp opened formally Sunday afternoon, June 21, with an enrollment of Scouts from Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Fowlerville, Milan, Brighton, Chelsea and other centers in Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

Another period will begin next Sunday afternoon at which time a still larger group will make up the camp. The Newkirk Scout Camp is under the leadership of Scout Executive Walter MacPeck who is serving as camp chief, assisted by Ralph Kuhl, and a staff of ten other leaders. The chief presiding over the big kitchen range is Gordon Anderson who has gained considerable experience the past two years at McKenny hall, Ypsilanti.

The camp is proportioned into three troop sites, each in charge of a Scoutmaster and several assistants. High on the bank of the Huron River, centering around the log cabin provided ten years ago by the Exchange club is a group of patrols known as the Log Cabin Group. A few rods away on the bank of the mill race are a group of tents which make up the Mill Race Troop. Several rods to the northeast is situated the Dan Beard Troop, composed of cabins and tents. Bill Strasser, Bob Weeks and Karl Kessler are the leaders in charge of the Log Cabin Troop, while Dick Sklarsky and Lee Monroe keep things happening in the Mill Race Troop. The Dan Beard Troop has as its leaders Jim Ireland, Jack Ottaway and Harrie Blocker.

Activities of the camp consist of considerable emphasis on swimming, boating, hiking, handicraft and other Scoutcraft lore. One of the projects being tackled during the first week is a camp museum on treasure island, which is part of the camp.

ANNUAL SCHOOL PICNIC

The second annual picnic of Parker school, District No. 8, Lima, was held on Sunday at the schoolhouse. A ball game furnished amusement for the boys.

Officers elected are: President—Jacob Schaefer. Vice-Pres.—Homer Parker. Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. Millie Willets. Chairman, Menu Com.—Mrs. Cynthia Parker. Chairman, Program Com.—Mrs. Elmer Schaefer.

Farmers Union Assails
Potato Cost Figures

Methods and formula used by the farm management department of M. S. C. in obtaining the average cost of growing potatoes from 214 farmers in the state were sharply criticized in a statement by the potato committee of the Michigan Farmers Union.

The average cost of production of 42¢ per bushel on these 214 farms was given by the M. S. C. The Union committee declares these figures unjust and charges the college's method of computation is not only wrong in principle, but the college professors, who devised it, are incompetent and should either inform themselves or resign their positions.

The committee's report was signed by Simon P. Martin of Stanton, chairman, John McCarthy of Edmore, secretary, Harold Lockhart of Tustin, Frank Drake of Greenville, M. M. Quistman of Grant, Julius Wernette of Remus, and Chris C. Comstock of Blanchard.

The cost of producing potatoes and other farm commodities is a question which has been debated many times. It is an issue on which many farmers and college professors are sharply divided.

Since there are two methods of determining cost—known as the unit and commodity methods—and since the unit method is used by industry in general, and since there is no principle which applies to industry which does not apply to farmers, we therefore demand that all costs be determined by this method. This method recognizes the farm as a production unit.

Into the cost must go not only man labor, horse labor, tractor machinery, taxes, interest on investment, but it must also take into consideration the relation of the commodity to the rotation of the farm crops. The soil conservation act recognizes this. These soil conservation and nurse crops occupy valuable acres on which interest, taxes, and labor must be paid while these acres are being used to maintain the fertility of the soil, which cost must be carried by the regular cash crops, such as potatoes, beans, and wheat, etc.

Another important item not included and entirely overlooked by the professors is the farmers labor. The farmer spends many hours at work which are not particularly connected with any crop. The farmer works the year around at the job—a job which has cost him many years to prepare himself, the same as a college professor or skilled tradesman. Still our college professors have him down for 18¢ per hour for the actual time spent in the field. This is 22¢ below the wage of a welfare worker, which takes no experience, training, or investment. We believe a farmer is entitled to a salary which should include managerial ability as well as physical labor. We wonder how the professor would respond to the suggestion that their wages be figured at 18¢ per hour for the number of hours actually spent in the classrooms.

The farmer in all fairness should have at least as much as the skilled worker, including a two weeks' vacation with pay, if he is to enjoy the American standard of living, educate his children and pay for their farms.

WPA Workers Are Making Inventory

Michigan waited until the centennial of her admission to statehood and for the assistance of the Works Progress Administration to take stock of one of her most prized assets—the broad rural areas that constitute the bulk of her domain.

Through the years, various state legislatures have set up elaborate procedures for putting the land on tax-rolls, transferring titles with changing ownership, and equalizing values from time to time. But the Federal Government, through the WPA, is finally making possible a complete inventory of the rural property of the state.

Under the supervision of the State Tax Commission, which sponsors the project, 1,125 WPA workers, selected largely from relief rolls and working in crews of five, are covering every Michigan county. Since the first of the year they have copied 1,081,049, or 67 per cent of the 1,621,572 descriptions on the tax rolls of the state's 1,244 townships, and they have already plotted 367,833 of these descriptions. So far they have uncovered 70,681 erroneous or missing descriptions and corrected 44,903 of them.

This data supplements field surveys by skilled workers. From these surveys and descriptions maps will be prepared of each farm and each parcel of rural land for the permanent records of the state. The inventory includes a classification as to use, cover, soil, etc., of each enclosure; a description and history of all improvements; and the collation of all data bearing on the value, ownership, and productivity of each parcel.

When the work is complete the state will have an accurate basis for developing and installing a scientific procedure for the equalization and valuation of rural property. The data will also be of immeasurable value as a basis for land planning and developing programs in the important fields of education, electrification, and transportation. The project is under the general direction of F. M. Thrum, formerly of the State Tax Commission's staff.

An original allotment of $400,000 for this project was reduced to $223,328.34, which is expected to finance the work through June. Because of its tremendous value to the state, already demonstrated in the detection and correction of erroneous and missing descriptions, officials of the tax commission will strongly urge its continuance.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—What is the size of Ethiopia navy as compared with Italy's sea forces?

Ans.—Ethiopia has no navy because it has no seaport.

Ques.—I had a very vivid dream that I found a lot of money. What does that signify, if anything?

Ans.—Dreams have no significance, and they are believed in only by the superstitious. The common interpretation among the superstitious is that the finding of money means "losses and mourning."

Ques.—I received a letter from friends in Carson City, Nev., which said they were making excursion trips on the lake, but I am told there is no lake at Carson City. Can you tell me if it is a fact, or are they spoofing me?

Ans.—Carson City is located on a small stream that is not navigable. There is no lake there. Your friends probably mean Lake Tahoe, which is about ten miles wide and fifteen miles long. It is located ten miles west of Carson City, and most of the lake is located in California.

Ques.—Why is it that we sometimes see a double image in a very thick window pane?

Ans.—A thick piece of glass has two surfaces—inside and outside. One of the images is reflected from the inner surface; the other image from the outer surface.

Ques.—Why can people who have been drowned, sometimes be restored to life by artificial respiration?

Ans.—Lack of air does not cause actual death until the tissues of the body have been without oxygen and have suffered serious chemical changes for some time—even for an hour. If you restore breathing artificially before these changes have had time to happen the tissues will recover and no harm will be done.

Ques.—Does a person's heart beat constantly without resting?

Ans.—No. A person's heart rests between beats. The actual contraction of the heart muscle takes only about a tenth of a second. Then it is through and can rest until the next contraction begins, usually about eight-tenths of a second later. Hence the heart rests about nine-tenths of a second between beats.

Ques.—What causes sound to have different pitches—some high and some low?

Ans.—Sound is produced by wave vibrations. The less vibrations, the lower the sound; and the more vibrations the higher the sound. We cannot hear a sound if it has less than thirty vibrations per second, nor hear it if it has more than forty thousand vibrations per second. They are too low or too high in pitch. The varying number of vibrations determines the pitch. So that's why some sounds are hoarse while others are shrill.

Ques.—What is meant by specific gravity?

Ans.—Specific gravity is the weight of anything as compared with water which is used as a basis. Hence a cubic foot of average rock weighs two and seventy-seven hundredths (2.77) more than a cubic foot of water. Therefore we would say "the specific gravity of average rock is 2.77."

Ques.—Why are Indians called Red Men when their skin is simply very dark, like a heavy tan?

Ans.—When America was discovered the discoverers found that the natives in this part of the world painted themselves with the juice of herbs to protect their bodies from insects. It just happened that this juice left a reddish brown over their skin. Thus they were called "red men."

Ques.—You have said that light travels at the rate of 186,326 miles a second. How far would it travel in a year?

Ans.—In one year light will travel about six trillion miles. To be exact, figure the number of seconds in a year and then multiply that number by the rate that light travels per second.

Ques.—How does baking powder work when used in baking?

Ans.—Baking powder contains chemicals which set free a gas when they are heated. The gas is carbon dioxide, the same as that which is in soda water. When a cake with baking powder in it is heated in an oven the gas makes billions of little bubbles all through the cake and this makes the cake spongy and "light."

OUR NEIGHBORS
MANCHESTER—At the business session of the Alumni Association of Manchester high school, last Thursday evening, it was voted that the association purchase seven and one-half acres of land from T. W. Rauschenberger, which is situated just northeast of the school, to be used as an athletic field by the school.—Enterprise.

NORTHVILLE—Moving pictures of the Dionne quintuplets were taken by George L. Hathaway and Lyell Benjamin, en route to Washington with the "American Goodwill Table," which is to be dedicated as soon as final arrangements can be made. An uncle of the Dionne babies gave Mr. Hathaway a piece of wood from their birthplace. From this he will make five stars and inlay them in the famous table.—Record.

MILAN—Faced with a petition signed by nearly a hundred people of the community, the village council at their regular meeting last Friday night voted to call a special election within a short time to allow the people of the community to vote on the proposition of allowing beer parlors to remain open on Sunday. A survey of the state shows that only a small proportion of the communities in the state have the Sunday opening law, while most of them remain closed over Sunday. Milan's ordinance requires the Sunday closing. According to the state law, the matter is left for solution by the local administrative body. The Milan council is calling the election in order to get the opinion of the entire community and will be guided by the result of the election.—Leader.

First Children's Court
The first children's court was established in Chicago in 1899.

REAL COURTESY
Jones was hurrying along a street the other night, when another man, also in violent haste, rushed out a side street and the two collided with great force.
The second man looked angry, but Jones, with his inborn courtesy, raised his hat and said: "My dear sir, I don't know which of us is to blame for this violent encounter, but I am in too great a hurry to investigate. If I ran into you I beg your pardon; if you ran into me, don't mention it."
—Arthur Carlton.

Early U. S. Mail Coaches
On September 3, 1803, three commissioners appointed by President Jefferson to lay out the Cumberland (or National) road met at Cumberland, Md., to begin their work. This was the first federal project for the improvement of internal transportation and communication. By 1818 United States mail coaches were running over the road to Wheeling, then in Virginia. Eventually this highway was built westward through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to St. Louis, Mo. Of it one writer says: "It carried thousands of population and millions of wealth into the West; and more than any other material structure in the land, served to harmonize, if not to save, the Union."

Mahogany
American mahoganies have a straighter grain and more mellow texture and are found in logs of longer and wider cuttings. They are a rich, golden brown in tone. African mahogany logs are enormous, sometimes measuring from 14 to 30 feet long and from 3 to 5 feet thick. The wood is of a pale, golden brown color and is lighter in weight, with slightly larger pores than the other species. Also, it is more invisibly figured. Therefore, it furnishes three-fourths of all mahogany veneers.

Has Long Shoreline
Florida has 1,148 miles of shore line and a land area of 55,801 square miles.

GRANTED SAFETY AWARD
Local Michigan Central officials and employees are receiving congratulations for their line's share of credit for the special award granted the New York Central system by the Harriman Museum of Safety in recognition of 12 consecutive years without a single passenger fatality in train accidents.

The citation, just announced, is the first of its kind granted by the Harriman Memorial in its 25 years' existence and declares that the record for passenger safety is the best ever shown by Class 1 roads.

The certificate of special commendation declares the New York Central lines, with the Michigan Central mentioned, as are the other four lines in the system, have made a "splendid contribution to safe transportation" and recalls that these lines "operated 32,192,921 passenger miles, equivalent to 87,198 years of travel at the rate of 60 miles an hour, without an accident."

A STRONG COMPANY
Nearly every year the Holly vicinity is visited by a disastrous windstorm. It usually arrives in the spring, but two years ago it was in the late summer. In each of these blows there is a big property loss, and the numerous recurrences has taught our thrifty people that it is little short of foolhardy to try to get along without adequate and dependable insurance against loss from windstorms and cyclones.

The Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Co. of Hastings has paid many big claims in the Holly section, and we have yet to learn of a person who was not satisfied with the manner in which the loss was adjusted. They have a record of over 50 years of successful operation, and have nearly $400,000,000 of insurance in force in the state.

Conservative management has kept their rate among the lowest, the average for the entire life of the company being less than 7c per year on each $100. Last year they paid out $261,000 to policy holders. This is the biggest insurance company of its kind in Michigan, and they have 800 agents, several of whom are in the Holly vicinity. Their monthly ads in the Herald vividly portray some of the devastation wrought by the wind. (Published by The Holly Herald on June 11).

Texas First Settled by Spaniards, Near El Paso

Texas, named for Indians, was explored by Spanish expeditions under Cabeza de Vaca and Francisco Coronado between 1523 and 1542 and was first settled by the Spaniards near El Paso in 1682. La Salle established a French colony at Matagorda Bay in 1685, which, although its life was only a few years and it was voluntarily abandoned, had the effect of spurring the Spanish to efforts to secure the territory. Consequently missions were established throughout the area, one of which was the Alamo, built by the Franciscans at San Antonio in 1718.

As long as Louisiana was under French or Spanish control, the Spanish colonists in Texas lived in peace, noted a writer in the New York Herald-Tribune, but, following the Louisiana Purchase in 1803, in fact a few years earlier, adventurous Americans began incursions into Texas which, although easily repulsed by the Spanish forces, indicated unmistakably the future course of events.

In spite of the objection of the Spanish Texans to Americans, however, the Mexican government in 1821 granted a large tract of land to Moses Austin, a Missourian, and to this tract his son, Stephen F. Austin, soon after his father's death the same year, led the first band of American settlers. They founded the town of San Felipe de Austin on the Brazos river and from that time Stephen F. Austin was a leader in Texan affairs.

Annual Lantern Festival

an Old Japanese Custom
When it comes to celebrating a festival of lanterns in Japan the organizers of the feast surely believe in carrying out an old adage, for they "do not hide their light under a bushel." To the contrary, it blazes forth in huge lanterns, writes a correspondent in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. One lantern, which is claimed to be the largest in the world, measures 23 feet in height and nearly 16 feet in diameter. It is one of several used in the celebration of the annual lantern festival which takes place at a famous shrine in Suwa, Japan.

This celebration is an offshoot of an ancient Japanese custom of lighting bonfires nightly to drive away the "devils" which were believed to appear on the beach of Issiki.

Lanterns gradually began to be substituted for bonfires, each community vying with the others in making the largest lanterns.

The Falkland Islands

The group of islands in the South Atlantic about 230 miles from the nearest point of the mainland of South America were claimed by France in 1764, when the French explorer De Bougainville took possession. Three years later they were ceded to Spain. About the same time they were claimed by England on the ground of prior discovery and a small settlement was established. This action nearly caused a war between England and Spain, but in 1771 Spain yielded the islands to Great Britain by convention. Fifty years later, however, the republic of Buenos Aires claimed the group and subsequently entered into a dispute with the United States concerning the rights to the products of the islands. On representations of Great Britain the Buenos Aires withdrew and in 1833 the British flag was once more hoisted at Port Louis, since when the Falkland Islands have been a regular British colony.

Darius Tricky

In 521 B. C. the Persians selected a king in a most unique way. Competitors for the position were to meet on horseback at a designated spot, and he, whose horse first neighed was to be the ruler. Darius, later to become famous, one of the competitors, went to the place designated, the night before the event was to take place, and had a mare meet his horse at the spot. The next day, as they all met, just as soon as the horse of Darius reached the place, and recognized it as the place he had met the mare the night before he, of course, neighed, and the successful trick of Darius placed him on a throne which made world history.

The Song Sparrow

The American sparrow is lovable for his trilling song and for the good work done in destroying insects and weed seeds. Because he is a sparrow, he is often mistaken for the English sparrow and killed as a pest. The song sparrow haunts the ground, and the cover of bushes, hedges, and vine-covered fences. His cheery call usually starts with three sharp chirping whistles, ending in a long, pleasing trill somewhat like that of the canary. His back, wings, and tail are light rusty brown, streaked with brownish black. The tail is dull brown, while the top of the head is a richer red-brown. The background color of the head is gray, with a hint of brown toward the throat. The throat, breast, and underparts are grayish white, streaked with brown and blackish brown. The beak is light, grayish brown.

Tracks of Wagons Preserved

The last signs of the covered wagon caravans that crossed the continent during the gold rush days of the 1840's can be seen on the salt beds of Utah. Owing to the peculiar nature of these flats, the tracks of the wagons have been preserved on this desert by a distinct discoloration.—Collier's Weekly.

Half Price Plates Go On Sale Next Week

On Wednesday, July first, automobile license plates for 1936 will go on sale at half price, Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, has announced. The plates will be available from that date on, at the Department of State and all branch offices throughout Michigan.

Cars that have been on the highways with 1935 plates have been equipped with 1936 half-year permits or "stickers". Cars placed in operation on the highways prior to July first must be equipped either with half-year permits or with 1936 plates purchased at full price, it is pointed out.

Owners of cars which have been equipped with half price "stickers" have had at all times the privilege of purchasing 1936 plates upon payment of the balance of the 1935 license plate tax. But in any event, all operated motor vehicles must be equipped with 1936 license plates by midnight, July 31, Atwood warns. No extension of time can be granted without express action by the legislature, and none was granted last year.

All motorists are urged to replace their "stickers" with 1936 plates as soon as possible, as an accommodation to themselves. It is not physically possible to accommodate everyone in one day, or in several days. Motorists are asked to have their "sticker" registration certificate with them when they apply for their 1936 plates.

An indication of the certain volume of applications for plates is given by the fact that on June 18 a total of 446,145 motor vehicles were equipped with stickers.

Cabbage Seed Once Used as Bride's Gift to Groom

Prize cabbage seed, usually easily obtained by any gardener for a modest sum, was once guarded like a treasure and changed hands only when a bride brought some of her father's stock as a wedding gift to her husband.

This usual custom was followed in the Danish island of Amager, for nearly two centuries, observes a writer in the Indiana Farmer's Guide. Amager is a widely known vegetable culture center and it is believed that cabbage seed was first brought to the island in about 1600 when a Danish king imported some Dutch market gardeners to cultivate the island.

When one Amager family married into another, the bride brought with her a local strain of cabbage seed, but no Amager farmer would ever sell seed to a foreigner, Danish tradition has it. This tradition held until 1852 when the first Amager cabbage seed is said to have been sold.

The world is full of joy and cheer,
Of beauty and of song;
There's happiness for everyone,
And those who tread along
With gladness glowing in their hearts
Are mighty sure to find
That life is friendly to us all,
And fortune's hand is kind.

There may be clouds of grief or pain
That sometimes dim the view,
But after just a little while
The sun comes smiling through;
So, help yourself to happiness
Wherever it may be,
For God has filled the world with joy,
And all of them are free!

Why and Where the Tone of Violin Is Produced

This is roughly what happens to the sound when a violinist is playing on a Strad or similar instrument:

The string vibrates, and sets the bridge in motion. Vibrations are carried through the instrument to the back by means of the post. Emerging at the back, they flash out to the sides, because the grain of the wood goes away from the center to the sides, and vibrations must follow the grain. The grain on the sides is absolutely vertical, so that the sound is carried on to the front of the instrument, technically called the "belly."

The grain on the belly runs down, the violin from the top to the bottom, but it is cut through by those curiously shaped holes—rather like the letter "f." It is here that each vibration runs along the slant of the "f's" at the curly end of which it flicks away as at the end of a whiplash. And that, says an authority, is why those holes are there, and not just as air vents, as some people will tell you—nor just to look pretty. The whole idea is to insure "one-way traffic" of vibrations, which is why the violinist can control the vibrations so perfectly with his bow.

The back of the instrument with its divergent grain is usually made of some kind of sycamore or maple, while the belly is nearly always of pine.

Coyotes Prolific Breeders

The coyote is an animal of the open country and likes semi-civilization. They are prolific breeders and unless control measures are constantly in effect they are likely to overrun the country. While they do not bother cattle raisers they are a real menace to sheep. They would rather pull a sheep down for food than any other animal, and sheep, being among the most defenseless of all domestic creatures, are easy prey.

Companion to Planetarium

A "cosmosarium" is a kind of companion building to a planetarium. A planetarium is designed to present views of the heavens as seen from the earth, while a cosmosarium is designed to present a view of the earth as seen from the heavens. In the latter the earth is presented as a globe suspended within a spherical-shaped auditorium and appears as if seen from a distance of 20,000 miles away.

Ship Accident Resulted in Development of Glass

Thousands of years ago a ship's crew of hungry Phoenicians had an accident. Through it they learned about glass!

It all happened when they tied their boat with a cargo of soda salt to a river bank in Palestine and began building a fire to cook their food.

Finding no convenient large stones, they used huge lumps of the ship's cargo to support their pots near the flame. It was then, notes a writer in the Los Angeles Times, that the heat from the fire melted the soda, fused it with the sand of the river bank and produced a transparent substance, which in its improved form, we know as glass.

It is recorded that in 1300 B. C. the Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans had perfected glass making for beads, beakers, perfume bottles, plates, inlay designs in sacrificial cups, and even for coffins!

In the Thirteenth century glass manufacturing became an industry in that part of Czechoslovakia which was once Bohemia. It was there that a fine sand was found as a necessary ingredient. Rapid progress began immediately as Venetian, Arabic, German, and French glass flowed into artistic beauty. Some of those pieces appear in the world's leading museums.

Sea Creatures Land Animals

The popular names of many creatures of the sea indicate a real or fancied resemblance to forms of life to be found on land. Thus there are sea-spiders, sea-urchins, sea-otters, sea-snails, sea-leopards, sea-cows, sea-horses, sea-serpents and many others. Many which take their names from plant life on land, such as the sea anemone, sea cucumber, sea-lemon, and sea lily are themselves members of the animal kingdom.

Italy Once Fashion Dictator

There was a time when Italy dictated fashions for the whole world. In the Middle Ages and later, during the Renaissance, Italian modes of dress were widely copied. Traces of this ancient supremacy may still be found in the terminology of the fashion industry. The word "millinery," for instance, is derived from the Italian term "millanerie" used for certain types of Milanese fabrics.

Home of the Snapping Turtle

The snapping turtle inhabits muddy rivers, lakes and ponds in all parts of America from Canada to the Equator. It will lie in the water for hours on end with only its nostrils above the surface, to allow it to breathe. But when the necessity arises, it can remain below the surface for a long time. It crawls along the bottom seeking food, which mostly consists of snail, with occasional small water fowl. Food is roughly torn to pieces between the jaws and front claws, and this animal seems to be completely carnivorous. Like all the chelonians which inhabit water, this one has broad webbed feet, each having long, coarse nails.

Citadel of Faith

High in a mountain fortress, nestled beneath the jagged pinnacles and spires of Montserrat and 50 miles from Barcelona, is the famed historic monastery of Montserrat, Spain's great citadel of faith. Once inaccessible, the monastery dates back to the Story of the Statue, when Saracen hordes invaded Spain and destroyed the Christian churches. To save dishonor to the Statue of the Virgin, pious inhabitants of Barcelona fled with the image to the mountain fastness.

Obtaining Salt

There are several principal means of obtaining salt. The simplest of these is by the evaporation of sea water. A more important method is to sink wells to the salt deposits, force water into them to dissolve the salt, and then pump it out again. On reaching the surface the mixture is discharged into settling tanks where clay and other matter is allowed to settle, after which the brine is pumped into evaporating tanks from which the water is boiled off.

Mining Rock Salt

In the mining of rock salt, the methods are not greatly different from those employed in coal or metal mining. This is the way in which the great deposits of Livingston county, New York, are worked. The mine shafts sometimes attain a vertical depth of a thousand feet.

An Early Indian Treaty
On October 27, 1803, the chiefs of the Cherokee Indian nation executed a treaty which recited that the United States mail had been ordered to be carried from Knoxville to New Orleans and, for this purpose, granted to citizens of the United States "the free and unmolested use of a road leading from Tellico to Tombigbee." This and similar Indian treaties were, at this particular time, of vital importance. Louisiana, a vast inland empire, had but recently come under the American flag. If its few cities and its many small outpost settlements were to become, in any true sense, parts of the Union, it was essential to link them with the other states by the best available facilities for communication.

Some Comets Are Tramps
Some comets regularly belong to our sun family, and these travel in the same paths around the sun always. Others are sudden visitors from far-off spaces. These are tramps whose actions cannot be counted on, and often they disappear as strangely and as swiftly as they came. Scientists believe that they have strayed from other sun families, perhaps, and are veering crazily through space, attracted by any sun which they approach.

"I had to rent a barn to store the Red Crown I saved"

complains Miss Janet L. String

If Miss String, secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Tall Story Club, has a fault it is that her club reports are always tinged with sadness. To wit:

"LAST fall somebody told me I'd save gasoline if I used Standard Red Crown all the time. So, without considering the consequences, I agreed to use nothing else for a year. And just look what it got me into!

"The very first day I saved a bowl full. That was fine—it wasn't in the way at all. But look—in the first week I'd saved a barrel full! By the end of the year I'd saved a tank-car full!"

"My, what a lot of gasoline to keep around the house!

"Father complained so bitterly that I had to rent a barn to store it in. And now I've got a barn full of Red Crown—and more piling up every day. I'm almost sorry I ever started."

Perhaps we should feel sorry for Miss String. But somehow we just can't bring ourselves to believe a word of her story.

We have reason to know that Standard Red Crown is an economical gasoline—but its use hardly saves that much.

Because it does have "more live power per gallon," Standard Red Crown operates a car with less waste power per gallon. What you save, in longer mileage, is well worth while over a year's time. But rather than make claims, Standard prefers to make it easy—and profitable—for motorists to find out the real facts about gasoline mileage for themselves. So, this summer Standard is conducting the most extensive road test ever attempted. You are invited to participate.

Early Use of Word Slang

The earliest use of the word slang discovered occurs in "Folger's" "History of Two Orphans," published in 1759. A more unequivocal instance is quoted in J. C. Totten's "Slang Dictionary" (1894), from a book entitled "Jonathan Wild's Advice to His Successors." Let proper nurses be signed to take care of these babes of grace (i. e., young thieves). The master who teaches them should be well versed in the cant language; commonly called the slang patter, in which they should by all means excel. In 1762 the word is found in Foote's play, "The Orators."

Scriptural Names in England

Scattered about England are many place names of Jewish, or, at least, biblical origin. The name Jericho occurs six times on the Ordnance maps, Paradise five times, and Nineveh, Mount Zion, Mount Ararat, and Mount Balaam three times. In Bedfordshire there is a Culver Wood, and in Dorsetshire a Jordan Hill. Hampshire has a Land of Nod, Cambridgeshire a Noah's Ark, and Worcestershire a Noah's Washpot. Other scriptural names scattered about the country are Hebron, Joppa, Bethlehem, Jerusalem, Gideon and Herod. The Bible Magazine.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Attend to Your Shadow Contrasts

Strong shadow contrasts, plus foreground objects and a foreground "frame," all combine to give these pictures depth and perspective.

WHAT makes some pictures seem real enough to walk right into, while others appear to be little more than a design on a flat wall?

The thing that makes the difference is that quality in a picture, variously called "perspective," "depth," or "third dimension effect," that puts objects in relief so that they appear solid, and makes it possible correctly to perceive their relative size and position.

In photography, this quality of reality is created chiefly by proper attention to contrasts in lights and shadows. Remember that to achieve reality in a painting, the artist creates light and shadow contrasts, but that in nature such contrasts do not always come ready made. They must be looked for. In nature what often seems a good picture to the eye is not a good picture for the camera lens, because of the absence of contrasts. The eye is aided by our imagination but not so the lens. In the print, the scene may turn out flat and uninteresting, especially if we try to include the whole country side in the picture.

Hence, to get perspective, pay attention to light and shadow contrasts. Look for vantage points that best reveal them. Usually the longer and more sharply defined the shadows the greater is the third dimensional effect and the appearance of reality of objects depicted. In outdoor photography there is value in taking pictures when the sun is low, because then shadows are long and accentuate the perspective. Always remember, too, the photographer's maxim: "Expose for the shadows and the high lights will take care of themselves." That, however, does not mean always to expose for a very deep shadow, but, in general, to expose to record detail in the intermediate shadows.

Another way to accentuate depth in a photograph, especially in scenic views, is to include a distinctive foreground object, which emphasizes the diminished size of objects in the distance, thus creating "depth." A human figure or tree, in the foreground, at the right or left, will often serve the purpose and at the same time add interest.

Another way is to choose a vantage point which will give the picture a foreground "frame." Such a frame often serves where long shadows and distinctive foreground objects are absent. Foreground trees with lacy overhanging boughs are splendidly useful as frames. They are full of beauty in themselves, and, if in the print they show completely in silhouette, that is to say, in dark outline without interior detail, the effect is often all the better. Everything beyond is accented by the dark tone that strikes its deep note in front.

Similarly a foreground archway in a bridge or other structure is not only an attractive element itself, but helps the eye to move forward into the picture to the scene beyond.

Study these points before you "shoot."

Washington Has a Rock

Named for Gen. Braddock
Like Plymouth, Washington has its rock, a rock which for years lay buried under the surface on the site of the Naval hospital, says the Washington Star.

The rock, known as Braddock Rock, was the landing place of General Braddock for in those days the Potomac river flowed deeply over that section of the Capital.

Braddock, seeking a place to camp for the night, set foot on the rock in reaching shore, and the name of the rock, as a natural consequence, followed.

Braddock's camp, his first on his trip to the Ohio, gave the section now occupied by the unused portion of the Naval hospital the name of Camp Hill. The Chesapeake & Ohio canal entered the Potomac near the general's landing place. The dirt dug from the canal was piled over his camp and, consequently, over Braddock's Rock. Back in the early days of the American participation in the World war, existence of the rock was discovered by a historical society and a search was started for the rock. Subsequently, it was found 8 feet beneath the surface, in the open court of H building at the hospital. A brick wall and an iron railing surround the historic spot where the British general landed.

British Sailors' Slang

Covers All Conditions
Sailors have a unique vocabulary, observes a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

"Barrabas" or "Scotland Yard" gives warning of the approach of a regulating petty officer. A "Bow Street Runner" is his messenger. An officer's marine service is known as "Javes" or "Punkie," the Bismarck is addressed as "Bunting" or "Bag Tearer." The "Idle Rich" are the engine-room artificers. "Jimmy" is the senior lieutenant.

The culinary department has its own particular phraseology. "Grave-chaser" or "Pantry" is the affectionate term applied to the cook. A "Train Smash" means bacon and corned beef, sausage rolls are "Dogs in Blankets," while "Two Airships in a Cloud" means that the menu includes sausages and mash.

The quarter deck, that part of the vessel reserved for officers, is known as the "Holy of Holies, and if you "Score a Battle" or are "In the dug" in the course of time you are due to appear before the captain as a defaulter.

The "Banner" is the ship's ensign.

Horse Rises on Front Feet

First, Cow the Opposite

If you live on a farm or are at all observing, you know horses and cattle get up from the ground differently. A horse rises on its front feet first, while a cow rises first on its hind ones. An Englishman has a theory to explain this. He says the difference is due to the different surroundings in which the animals were evolved.

Living for millions of years on plains where tall grass obstructed its view when it was lying down, the horse developed the habit of rising head first so it could immediately see over the grass and detect any approaching danger. This authority believes the same motive prompted the cow and its forbears to get up, hind feet first. He says the cow, descended from the deer family, has always lived in the forests and could see a greater distance with its head near the ground where there were not so many tree branches to obstruct its vision. Therefore in rising it learned to leave its head near the ground until the last possible moment.

TRUE DETECTIVE STORY

by Vance Wynn © Public Ledger

Tale of the Poisoned Dagger

THIRTY years ago, a number of men and women were murdered in the suburbs near Shanghai.

It was discovered that most of the victims had been killed by means of a poisoned dagger.

At the same time chapels and churches belonging to the foreign missionary societies were destroyed.

Demands for satisfaction came from state departments in all parts of the world, and as a consequence the Chinese government endeavored to ascertain the culprits and to punish them.

The official placed in charge of the investigation was Foo Wang, who at the time enjoyed the reputation of being the Sherlock Holmes of China.

He was patient, he was resourceful, and he never went after "his man" without getting him.

One of the things he found near the scene of the crimes was a bit of calico stamped with a number of Chinese characters.

He knew that it was a certificate of membership in a famous secret society known as the Ko Lao Hui.

This society was originally formed to battle with Chinese officials who practiced extortion upon the natives—and they were as numerous as the autumn leaves in Vallambrosa—but later its objects became anti-foreign and anti-missionary.

Foo Wang went to his home and got out his great pipe and sat down and thought.

And he finally came to the conclusion that the particular bit of calico that he had picked up belonged to Chen-kin-Lung, who was one of the most conspicuous of the Ko Lao Hui leaders.

China is a pretty big place, but Foo Wang had plenty of assistants to rely upon, and he sent them to the four corners of the Celestial empire with instructions to locate the supposed leader.

Eventually he discovered that the man he wanted was at an inn near Peking, and that with him were about twenty of his followers.

Foo Wang decided that it was about time for a round-up and he gathered his men together for that purpose.

He found the leader in one of the rooms of the place giving an entertainment to his supporters.

The Chinese detective was nothing if not original.

He posted himself upon the veranda of the inn and then sent one of his men in to tell Chen-kin-Lung that he was wanted outside on important business.

The unsuspecting leader excused himself to his friends with true celestial gravity and stepped out on the veranda.

As he did so a great bag was thrown over his head, two men seized him and he was carried, kicking and gesticulating, to a nearby wharf and placed on a vessel.

There, bound and gagged, he was taken in the direction of Shanghai.

Just before the boat reached its destination the detectives brought the suspect into the cabin and put him through the third degree—which means something in China.

But while Chen-kin-Lung might have been down he was far from being out. He smiled his inscrutable smile and said nothing.

They literally put the screws upon him but failed to elicit the slightest information.

His clothing and effects were now brought to the detective and given a careful examination.

In the flowing sleeves of one of his kimonos was found a dagger with a poisoned blade.

It had the appearance of being the weapon with which the Shanghai murders had been committed.

Also the investigators found a number of letters and communications addressed to the prisoner.

In each of them he was addressed as the "Eighth Great Prince."

This was proof positive that he was at the head of the secret society and that he undoubtedly aimed at securing the control of the country.

Among the other things found were a number of calico certificates indicating membership in the Ko Lao Hui.

Koo Wang now had more than enough evidence to send his distinguished prisoner to the block.

But he wanted to get the names of others and be besought the prisoner to make a clean breast of the whole conspiracy.

But Chen-kin-Lung was a wise Chinaman and he knew that he was sure to be beheaded.

So he remained silent. He was returned to the hold of the vessel and told that he would be given until the next morning to make a complete revelation of his mysterious society.

But the next morning he was gone—mysteriously—and nothing was ever heard of him afterward.

Flight of Birds

An authority who has spent much time in studying methods of travel and rates of speed of birds, says lamprogeons are faster and travel at the stupendous speed of 110 miles an hour. Carrier pigeons and golden plovers attain 90 miles an hour, while swallows can travel at 108, quail, 87; mallards, 50; partridges, 32; ravens, 30; teal, 44; pelicans, 31, and geese, 45.—Los Angeles Times.
