July 30 To Be Chelsea Day At Navin Field

In order that Chelsea baseball fans may have the opportunity to go in a body to Navin Field to witness a game between the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees on July 30, the local Kiwanis club has made arrangements with the committee in charge of Jackson Day for Chelsea fans to join that city in their annual trip to Navin Field on that date.

A special train will leave Jackson at 12:00 o'clock noon, and will stop in Chelsea about 12:30 to take on the local aggregation. A band will be employed by the Jacksonites, and upon arrival at the Michigan Central station in Detroit a parade will form for the march of three or four blocks to the baseball park. The return trip will be made immediately after the close of the game.

Tickets for this event will be on sale at the office of The Chelsea Standard. The price will be $3.00 each, which includes round trip rail fare and a reserved seat at Navin Field.

The number of tickets which the Kiwanis club secured are limited, so fans who wish to make the trip should make their reservations early. If there are tickets remaining to be sold, July 27 will be the last day on which reservations can be made.

This will be an unusual opportunity for lovers of baseball to see a game between the leading pennant contenders, and enjoy the carefree method of travel to the game. The added pleasure of local citizens going in a body should be an added inducement for the trip.

Don't forget the date—Thursday, July 30, and secure your tickets early at The Chelsea Standard office.

Local School District Holds Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of School District No. 3-Fr., Sylvan and Lima townships, held Monday evening at the public school auditorium, J. N. Strieter and Geo. W. Walworth were re-elected to serve on the Board of Education for a period of three years.

There were 26 votes cast for one candidate and 27 for the other, there being no other nominations. The budget presented by the Board of Education estimated receipts at $34,700.00 for the coming year, with estimated expenditures of $34,000.00. It was voted to accept the budget, and to levy a tax of seven mills for school purposes, which is the same as was collected last year.

The budget for the coming year includes the expenditure of $750.00 for the athletic field on Washington street which is being purchased of Lionel Vickers. It was voted at the Monday evening meeting to transfer $250.00 from the general fund to the building and site fund, which makes it possible to complete the purchase of the athletic field.

It is planned to hold a meeting of the Board of Education sometime next week, when officers for the coming year will be named.

FAUSER-KILMER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Fauser of Sylvan announce the marriage of their daughter, Fern May, to Herbert L. Kilmer, son of Lewis Kilmer of Sylvan.

The bride is employed at the law offices of Blackman & Blackman, Jackson. After a short wedding trip—the young couple will reside near Chelsea, on the premises formerly known as the Sylvan Estates Country Club, where Mr. Kilmer is employed.

Mr. Foster sustained two broken ribs and several bruises. He was taken to Claire county hospital and was brought to his home here on Saturday. He is reported as recovering nicely.

American Legion Three-Day Carnival Opens Here Tonight

As The Standard goes to press this morning everything is in readiness for The American Legion Street Carnival which will open in full swing early this evening.

Barber & Murray Attractions, a carnival company, with whom the Legion has entered into a contract, have erected their riding devices and numerous concessions, and about six o'clock this evening should find Chelsea streets filled to capacity with people ready to take advantage of the fun and enjoyment which has been provided for their pleasure.

Main street has been closed, under permission obtained by the Legion, from Merkel's hardware to the north end of the business section and the entire street is lined with various types of stands to furnish practically any sort of fun for all ages attending the carnival.

Last minute efforts are being made to secure the services of a balloonist to entertain the public with an ascension and parachute drop. However, it appears that this type of attraction is extremely difficult to obtain and the Legion is still in communication with a concern that books this sort of talent and they have not given up the idea that they will provide this feature. In event this cannot be done, they assure the public some equally amusing attraction.

The carnival will continue on Friday and Saturday, closing late Saturday night. It is expected that the cooler temperatures will aid in bringing much larger crowds to the village than would have been present had the intense heat continued.

Surfacing Work Is Nearing Completion

Surfacing work which is being done on several local streets is nearing completion. The surfacing of Orchard street was finished Tuesday, as was a part of East street. The remainder of East street and Harrison street should be completed today, weather permitting.

Condon street has been added to this year's surfacing project and work will be started on that street, as well as the surfacing of West Middle street with a seal-coat immediately after the other streets are finished.

The surfacing on these streets is an oil aggregate composition, three inches in depth, containing gravel, road oil and mineral filler, which is thoroughly mixed and level to grade. It will be packed by traffic and will be kept leveled with a grader until it is thoroughly packed.

Before a decision was made by village authorities as to the proper mixture to place on the streets, the different formulas were thoroughly investigated and this surfacing was recommended by road engineers as the best low cost construction and maintenance road.

All gravel was placed on the streets two weeks ago, but the work of mixing was delayed until last Saturday because of the heavy rains on the 4th or 5th of July. As so much time was necessary to dry the gravel before mixing could be started it was deemed advisable to have the work continued on Sunday in an effort to complete the job before rainfall would again halt the work. Had it rained again before the oil and gravel were mixed it would have cost several hundred dollars to again get the ingredients in shape, in addition to the delay in construction.

Surfacing of these streets is a real improvement, and it is hoped the work will be continued each year until all streets are made dustless.

Continues Fight for Mail Delivery Service

Further evidence that Congressman Earl C. Michener is continuing his efforts to secure free mail delivery service for Chelsea is contained in a letter received by President Roy Harris from Mr. Michener this week. Petitions bearing the names of 700 local residents who desire this service were sent to Mr. Michener several weeks ago and he is doing everything possible to overcome the opposition to granting such a service for local postal patrons. Mr. Michener's communication follows:

Adrian, Mich., July 9, 1936.
Mr. Roy Harris,
President of Village,
Chelsea, Michigan.
Dear Mr. Harris:

On June 24th I wrote you concerning my effort being made to secure Village mail delivery service for Chelsea.

Under date of July 3rd I am in receipt of a letter from W. W. Howes, First Assistant Postmaster General, which is as follows:

"With further reference to your letter of June 23, concerning the establishment of city delivery service at Chelsea, Michigan, you are informed that the postmaster reports that the total population of Chelsea is about 2000, of which approximately 1400 persons reside within improved territory, which is below the 2500 minimum population requirement for city delivery service. The Department is, therefore, not warranted in authorizing the establishment of city delivery service at Chelsea."

On July 6, 1936, and in answer to the above letter, I addressed a communication to the Postoffice Department, a copy of which is herewith enclosed for your information.

It seems to me that Chelsea qualifies for Village delivery. There is a difference between Village delivery and City delivery, mentioned in the Department's letter. If the Department is making no extensions in any Villages at this time, that is one thing, but if they are making extensions (Continued on Last Page)

WHAT A RELIEF!

The extreme heat wave of the past seven days in Chelsea was broken on Tuesday afternoon when cooling breezes dropped the temperature from more than 100 degrees to 86 in a short time. There were several cases of heat prostration reported here, with just one death from a heat stroke. The victim was Mrs. Christina Carr of the Methodist Home. Chelsea and vicinity did not suffer from drought, thanks to the rain on the Fourth of July. Raspberries cooked on the bushes which meant a severe loss to the growers. On Wednesday morning the thermometer registered in the sixties, the coolest in over a week.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Why do onions make a person's eyes water?

Ans.—Onions contain an oily chemical which evaporates into the air and which happens to be very irritating to the delicate membrane on the front of the eye. The watering is an attempt of the eye to wash this irritating vapor away.

Ques.—I would like to ask you what disease causes the greatest number of deaths among civilized people?

Ans.—This is attributed to tuberculosis (commonly known as consumption). Some statisticians rank heart disease ahead of tuberculosis, but it must be remembered that heart disease is a general term for a great many diseases. Real disease of the heart is far less common than disease of the lungs.

Ques.—Why is it that water in the bottom part of a double boiler will prevent the burning of food in the top part, no matter how hot a fire a person may make?

Ans.—Regardless of how hot a fire you have, water cannot get any hotter than 212 degrees. This is the point when water begins to boil, and while it will boil faster it cannot get hotter and therefore will not burn the food in the top part of the double boiler.

Ques.—I would like to have you explain in simple words just what a chemical element is. Thank you.

Ans.—Any substance which cannot be split up into other substances except by disintegration of its atoms is known as a chemical element. For instance, iron is a chemical element. No matter what you do to a piece of iron it remains iron, or something which contains iron. You cannot make it quit being iron unless you break up its atoms; and this, in the case of iron, is not known how to do.

Ques.—I am curious to know just what is meant by specific gravity?

Ans.—Specific gravity is the weight of anything compared with the same weight of water. For instance, the specific gravity of rock is 2.77, which means that a cubic foot of average rock weighs just two and seventy-seven hundredths more than a cubic foot of water does.

Ques.—What is the difference between kerosene and gasoline?

Ans.—The main difference between the two is in the temperature at which they boil. Both of them are made by heating crude mineral oil in a still. The gasoline boils off first and is caught. The kerosene does not boil off until the temperature has been raised a good deal more.

Ques.—Can you tell me how large the universe is?

Ans.—According to scientists and astronomers—and it is generally conceded—the universe has no boundary. If it had, naturally you would ask what is on the other side? With the aid of powerful telescopes scientists have been able to reach into space for a distance of nearly two sextillion miles. Beyond this distance they know nothing about the universe.

Ques.—How old is the oldest mummy ever found?

Ans.—The oldest fossil ever found was the mummified body of a large plant-eating reptile called Trachodon which was found in Wyoming and is now in the Smithsonian Institution. This reptile lived about seventy-five million years ago. The body of the great beast was evidently dried out by the sun before it was buried in the clay. When it was found the skin was still preserved and there were signs of the muscles and the tendons.

Ques.—What does "Ras" mean in the Ethiopian language?

Ans.—"Ras" is an Ethiopian title and is equivalent to the word "General."

GOODYEAR-LEEK REUNION

The annual Goodyear-Leek reunion was held at Clear Lake on Sunday, July 12. About fifty sat down to a sumptuous pot luck dinner, coming from Battle Creek, Jackson, Rives, Leslie, Waterloo, Ann Arbor, Grass Lake and Chelsea. Henry Leek was elected president, with the same staff of helpers. Mrs. Wm. Ivory of Chelsea was the only representative of the Goodyear descendants.

MILAN—Workmen, rebuilding a house on Allen street last week, came upon several counterfeit coins hidden behind the plaster. The coins were in an old tobacco sack and as the plaster was taken off, the sack and the coins came to light. They were all dated 1888, but were evidently made some time later than that. The coins evidently date back to a time late in the 90's when a gang of federal counterfeiters were operating in this area. Many of the older residents of the community recall the gang, but not a great deal of definite information regarding the operations of the gang seems to be available. The story of the counterfeiters, their capture and sentence seems to have become somewhat of a legend, but the coins recovered last week renews the interest in the story.—Leader.

Meaning of Name Abel
The name Abel is from the Hebrew and means breath.

Relief Employees Will Write Examinations

Qualifying examinations for all stenographers, typists, and clerical workers employed by county emergency relief commissions will take place Saturday, July 18, according to a statement by Dr. William Haber, State Relief Administrator. The examination will be conducted by state field representatives or other persons appointed to act for the state commission.

Examinations for case workers and other administrative employees will take place at a later date, probably on either of both of the following Saturdays. These will be followed by qualifying tests for employees of the state office.

The time limit for the examinations will range from one and one-half to three hours. Most of the examinations will question the short answer type of question. The short answer type involves questions which can be answered with merely a true or false indication or the correct completion of a statement. Examinations for administrative positions will contain a heavier proportion of the free answer or essay type.

Identification of the writer of the examination will be sealed separately and locked up until all papers are graded and the scores recorded against a number received by the contestant by random choice.

A committee of civil experts selected by the governor and the state relief commission will be in direct charge of procedure in the examinations. Work to date has been devoted to reclassification of employees in regard to type of work performed.

The examinations to be given the incumbent employees is qualifying only, not competitive. Competitive tests will be devised for persons who wish to file applications for future employment with the county commissions, with the local people given preference.

These examinations are the result of the opinion of the governor and the state commission that the administration of relief is one of the most important functions of government and that competent, qualified personnel is a necessary requisite to good administration.

MODERN THOUGHT VS. FAITH OF OUR FATHERS

While listening thru a radio, To questionnaires sublime, The thoughts I got were those not framed By fundamental minds.

The Whale, and poor weak Jonah, Were stories hardly true, To take them as we read them Is what we ought not do.

Some miracles and parables Are fictional we're told, Are simply just to magnify Traditions that are old.

It seems to me, if we believe In Gideon's little band, In Moses and Joshua, With Daniel take our stand.

If the glories of Elijah's God, Are absolutely true, If the words and ways and doings Of the Prophets stay by you.

If David's faith and courage Inspire your zeal and thought, If the story of the Manger, New life in you has wrought.

Oh Brother, O my Sister, Believe it for it's true, Its faith and power will save you And sanctify you too.

—By Arthur Carlton.

 South of the Aleutian Islands near the coast of Alaska in the Bering Sea is the hatchery of many of the wildest and most destructive storms which race and rage in despoiling fur over the expansive map of these United States, observes a writer in the Washington Star. Seasoned meteorologists of the United States weather bureau keep tab on daily weather conditions in that furious Northland and speed the news of blizzards or windstorms which are incubating in the latitudes of the Arctic circle to Seattle and San Francisco, whence the reports are relayed to all parts of the country.

Naval Uniforms Old
 While the origin of naval uniforms is lost in history it is known that as early as 1603 King James required his ship captains to wear scarlet liveries richly embellished with velvet, silk lace and gold embroidery. By 1748, however, even the seamen were wearing standardized colors. The first American naval uniform, says Pathfinder Magazine, is believed to have been the green and white authorized by the Massachusetts council in 1776. The word uniform is derived from Latin words meaning "one" and "form."

Schenectady Massacre in History as Indian Fight

The Schenectady massacre of February 8, 1890, which marked the deepest inroad ever made by a foreign foe within the present historical limits of the United States, marked the first time in American history that white men had participated with Indians in the latter's savage methods of warfare, observes a Schenectady correspondent in the New York Times. It was not unprovoked, however, for in the previous summer the Iroquois, with English muskets and five kegs of English powder, had fallen upon La Chêne on the St. Lawrence river. The Iroquois killed many Canadians and burned their houses. The Iroquois remained in Canada until the fall of 1889, terrifying the inhabitants so that they were unable to harvest their crops. Frontenac, returning to Canada as governor, found it necessary to make an aggressive move to restore the confidence of his people and prevent the loss of his own savage allies. He forged the bolt that struck Schenectady at midnight on February 8, 1890, a force of 210 men, Montreal militia and Indians for the most part, which had made the journey on snow shoes over frozen lakes and snow-covered forest. Of the inhabitants of Schenectady, 100 were killed and 27 were taken captive.

Olive Crop in Italy Has Much to Do With Business.

"There is gold in the olive," says an Italian proverb, and it is true that in many parts of Italy prosperity depends upon the success of the olive crop. As, for various reasons, this success cannot be expected every year, notes a writer in the Montreal Herald, the trees are always watched with much interest and anxiety from the time of their flowering until the fruit matures. Except in a few mountainous districts, olives grow everywhere in Italy, which leads the world in oil production and exportation. But Sicily and the neighborhood of Bari contain the greatest number of trees, although the best oil is produced in slightly cooler regions, as, for instance, in Tuscany. Olive trees look very much the same the year round, since all the leaves never fall at one time. The flowers are small and white. The olives are very small until toward the end of the summer, and do not contain oil before autumn. Most varieties of olives turn a dark purple when ripe.

In different parts of Italy different methods of collecting the fruit are employed but generally it is picked by hand and carried with as little bruising as possible in flat baskets to the mill. It must be kept dry and clean and pressed at once, otherwise it is likely to spoil.

Former German Colonies
Germany has never owned or had a mandate on any part of Australia. Her acquisition of territory in Australasia began in 1884 when she annexed part of New Guinea, also the New Britain Archipelago. There was some indignation in Australia over this action, as in the previous year the Queensland government had attempted to appropriate this land but had been restrained by the British government, which assured them that no foreign power contemplated any interference in New Guinea. In 1893 Germany annexed the Marshall and Solomon Islands and in 1899 German Samoa and other islands. These constituted the German colonial empire in the south-west Pacific, near Australia, up to 1914.

Continues Fight for Mail Delivery Service

Chelsea gets consideration.
Possibly there is not much of interest in this correspondence. However, I feel that it is better that you know just how the matter is progressing.

Sincerely,
Earl C. Michener.

(COPY)
July 6, 1936.
Division of Post Office Service,
Post Office Department,
Washington, D. C.
Gentlemen:

Under date of June 23, I went to the Department personally and presented, with a formal letter, a petition signed by approximately 700 patrons of the post office of the Village of Chelsea, Michigan, which requested the initiation of village delivery service at that office.

In discussing the matter, I was advised that the receipts of the Chelsea post office for the past fiscal year entitled the office to village delivery service, so far as that particular qualification was concerned. I was advised that the matter would be referred to an inspector and the postmaster for report.

Today I have your letter dated July 3, initials above, which says that "the postmaster reports that the total population of Chelsea is about 2000, of which approximately 1700 patrons reside within improved territory, which is below the 2500 minimum population requirement for city delivery service."

Now, Chelsea is not asking for city delivery service but for village delivery service. The 1935 Postal Guide says:

"Village delivery service may be established at any village or town having a population of at least 1500 residing in territory possessing the requisite civic improvements, and having gross postal receipts of at least $5000 for the preceding year."

I was advised when I visited the Department that Chelsea's postal receipts were sufficient to entitle it to village delivery service, and it has approximately 1700 patrons residing within improved territory, when only 1500 are required, under the regulations, for establishment of village delivery service.

Since Chelsea qualifies as to receipts and as to the required number of patrons residing within improved territory, I see no reason why village delivery service cannot be allowed under the regulations.

The patrons of the office have expressed their wishes by petition and the Village is particularly anxious to secure this service. I shall appreciate it if you will give the matter of the establishment of village delivery service your careful consideration.

Thanking you, I am
Yours very truly,
Earl C. Michener, M. C.

Arsenical Residue Allowed
The provisions of the Federal Food and Drugs act of 1906, as administered by the United States Food and Drug administration, and as accepted by public health authorities, do not permit an arsenical residue of more than one one-hundredth grain of arsenic, in the form of arsenic trioxide, per pound of fruit. This limit is commonly called the world tolerance for arsenical residue.

Use for Palm Sunday Leaves
In Spain, the palms of Palm Sunday have not fulfilled their mission at the end of holy day services. Many Spanish families subsequently tie the leaves to balconies or over door lintels to ward off lightning. Elche supplies the leaves for nearly all Spain, the tops of its trees being wound to bleach the leaves to the desired whiteness.

St. Elmo's Fire

The name St. Elmo's fire has been variously explained. Elmo is an Italian corruption of Erasmus, and one of the two saints hearing this name was formerly invoked by Mediterranean sailors in time of danger, writes Charles Fitzhugh Talmun in the American Mercury. There is an Italian legend that the saint, having been rescued from drowning by a shipmaster, promised as a reward to display a wondrous light for the benefit of mariners whenever a storm was at hand. Another proposed explanation is that Elmo is none other than Helen of Troy, who, like her brothers, Castor and Pollux, was associated with comets in the nautical folklore of classical antiquity.

White Horse an Emblem
The standard of the ancient Saxons was a white horse, and thus became the emblem of the County of Kent, states a writer in Answers Magazine. A galloping white horse is the device of the House of Hanover. There is a third "white horse"—a rampant animal, the device of the House of Savoy, descended from the Saxon horse. It is from the second of these that the popular inn sign, the White Horse, is obtained, and usually the animal is depicted as galloping, according to the capacity of the artist.

Bushmaster Snakes
Bushmasters are rare in menageries, not so much on account of their scarcity in their native countries as because they seldom survive in captivity. They are highly strung snakes, and the rough treatment they receive during capture, for they are too dread to be treated gently, usually causes a hunger strike that only ends with their deaths. They are the largest and most deadly of the South American snakes.

Rest for Captain Kidd
In 1698, Captain Kidd was the owner, by purchase, of a lot of ground in a part of New York city then just being sold off in building lots. The lot was in Tienhoven street, now Liberty street, near Nassau street. There, according to accounts of the times, says the New York Sun, he erected a mansion expecting doubtless "to pass the evening of his days in the city of his adoption."

Greatest Tight-Rope Walker

Blondin (1824-1897) was the greatest tight-rope walker in history. Of all his famous tricks, many of which were performed over Niagara falls, one of his most startling was performed during an engagement at the Crystal Palace in London in 1861, where he turned somersaults on stilts on a rope suspended 170 feet from the ground.—Collier's Weekly.
