Want Waterloo Project Added to Park System

By Paul May
Washington, D. C.—A move to make the Waterloo recreation demonstration project now under development in Washtenaw and Jackson counties, a permanent part of the national park system is now under consideration by the Resettlement Administration and the National Park Service, it was learned today.

The Waterloo project is one of forty-one recreation demonstration projects being developed by the Resettlement Administration in cooperation with the National Park Service.

Although the title to the land for the area rests with the Resettlement Administration, the actual work of development is being done under the technical supervision of the park service, with funds supplied by the relief administration and the civilian conservation corps.

From the forty-one recreation demonstration projects now under development by resettlement and the park service, six will be selected for a permanent place in the federal government's park system, officials said.

Originally it was planned to turn all of the areas over to the States for incorporation into the State park systems, but a revision of the original plan calls for ownership of six of the areas to remain with the Federal government.

While the actual title to the land will remain with the federal government, it is expected that the states will cooperate in the administration of the areas selected, and in working out a suitable recreational program.

Whether Waterloo will be one of the six areas selected has not yet been decided, as the projects will all be considered for some time before a final decision is made.

The areas not selected for federal retention will be turned over to the states as soon as the work of development has been completed.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
ACTION IN STILL PICTURES

Filing wide the gates! A small bundle of energy goes into action. Exposure 1/50 second at f.11.

ALTHOUGH the word "action," as a photographic term, is more frequently associated with the motion picture camera, we should not forget that it plays an important part in picture-taking with a "still" camera. We should not allow either the word "action" or the word "still" to mislead us.
There can be a lot of action represented in a picture that we distinguish from motion pictures by the word "still." The sense of action may be conveyed very strongly when the rapid or violent movement of a person, animal or object is "stopped" by a "still" camera equipped with an ultra-fast lens and a fast shutter. Take, for example, a shot of a jockey hurtling over the head of his mount as it stumbles in a steep chase. There is no sense of stillness about that, and it is an "action" shot no different from that taken by the motion picture camera, except that, instead of a series of negatives depicting changed positions of the subject, there is only one negative.
But action, photographically speaking, does not always mean the representation of violence or velocity. It may mean also the depicting of some expression or suggestion of action, which may be very slight, but the result is that the "still" picture is far from still in the meaning it conveys to us. This any ordinary camera can do.
For instance, in the photograph of a person, the way the eyes are turned, the expression of the lips, the position of a hand, the posture of the principal; Ruby Wightman, Leona Belser, Mildred Daniels, Ruth E. King, Grace Wals, Elizabeth Depew, Hazel Hummel, Mabel Weed, Florence Howlett, Winifred Bacon, Mary Weber, Ethel Davidson, Ruth Irwin.

34 YEARS AGO

Thursday, August 21, 1902
Mrs. Wm. J. Dancer, formerly Miss Jennie Hoag of this place, died at her home in Stockbridge on August 15, 1902.
O. J. Walworth has purchased the cottage of M. J. Noyes at Cavanaugh Lake.
Fred Lucht of Lima threshed one day last week from 45 acres, 1,256 bushels of wheat and from 12 acres, 618 bushels of oats.
Rev. Wm. P. Considine will arrive in New York on his way home from his recent visit to Rome and Ireland, September 4th.
Harry Kousch and Rha Alexander are in Fargo, N. D., working in the harvest fields.
Holmes & Gilbert will start their evaporator about the first of September and they expect to use about 25,000 bushels of apples this year.
Nearly 1000 persons attended the Mission services at St. Paul's church last Sunday and the offering amounted to $92.
E. G. Hoag is making arrangements to open a store in Ann Arbor where he has leased a building. Mr. Hoag and his family are making arrangements to move to Ann Arbor.

Fair Outlook Bright

Success of the Michigan State Fair this year, September 4 to 13, depends solely on "a good break in the weather," according to Secretary George A. Prescott.
"Every facility and requisite for making this Centennial fair the greatest in Michigan's history has practically been laid in our laps," Prescott said Saturday, "and apparently there is nothing to fear save cold or rain weather."
"The automotive and other industrial concerns are renting space and arranging for exhibits far beyond any of their previous efforts. Agricultural and live-stock exhibits will top any achieved in other years."

BANKING SYSTEM
SHOWS PROGRESS

State Bank Resources Grow
More Than Three Billion
Dollars in a Year

NATIONAL BANKS GAIN

American Bankers Association
Gives Details of Banking
Institutions and Notes
Stronger Condition

NEW YORK.—Continued improvement in the condition of state chartered banking institutions, with an increase of more than three billion dollars in a year in total resources, is shown in a report just issued by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association.
The report was prepared by the division's Committee on State Bank Research from data furnished by state banking departments and parallels data issued by the Comptroller of the Currency for national banks which show similar improvements.

"The combined resources of 10,473 state supervised banks were $35,724,725,000 as of December 31, 1935," the state bank report says. "Total deposits amounted to $30,526,920,000. Total loans and discounts stood at $12,430,404,000 and total investments were $14,170,421,000."

A year previous, figures in the report show, there were 10,644 state supervised banks, with combined resources of $32,680,203,000, total deposits $27,397,969,000; loans and discounts $11,060,039,000 and investments $12,583,225,000.

Classes of Institutions
Of the reporting state banking institutions on December 31, 1935, 88% were commercial banks, the report states, 9% trust companies, almost 9% stock and mutual savings banks and less than 1% were private banks. The report adds:
"The parallel upward movements of deposits and total invested funds of total state supervised banks during the years 1934 and 1935, after declines in these items in 1932 and 1933, are indications of definite steps toward recovery in banking."

Based on figures assembled for total state supervised banks on resources and liabilities as of December 31, 1931 to 1935, it is noted: (1) that deposits in 1935 rose approximately 12 per cent over the previous year, as compared with an increase of about 8 per cent in 1934 over the year 1933, and declines of 7 per cent and 12 per cent in 1933 and 1932, respectively, from the preceding years of 1932 and 1931; and (2) that total invested funds increased by approximately 2 per cent in 1935 and also in 1934, while they had decreased by 9 per cent in 1933 and by 11 per cent in 1932."

Analysis Shows Stronger Position

In a survey and analysis of earnings and expenses of state banks doing a commercial business, it is brought out that in a majority of states they have increased their earning ability during 1935. On the basis of data covering 7,928 banks in 42 states, the report says:
"The most significant fact to be pointed out is that net profits of state banks—after deducting charge-offs on loans, investments, etc., and adding recoveries—were shown in 37 of the 42 states which reported in 1935, in comparison with net profits in only 11 of the 35 states reporting in 1934. Measured in terms of dollars per each $100 of invested funds, net profits in 1935 ranged between $2.40 and $1.10 per $100, with 19 states showing profits of $1.00 or over, per $100; while in 1934 net profits did not exceed $1.20 per $100 and only three states showed profits of $1.00 or over."
The report contains voluminous tables showing the resources and liabilities of all classes of state chartered institutions and detailed analyses of earnings and expenses by states and of insured commercial state banks grouped by size of banks.

Bankers Help Farmers

The conviction that 4-H Club work lays the foundation for sound citizenship and intelligent farming influenced a New York City bank executive to contribute $500 to the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers Association, to further 4-H Club activities in the state. "I am convinced that the work is so worthy, and is being so well handled that it should interest those who believe in building sound citizenship, as well as intelligent farming for the future," he said.

Unusual prominence was given this past year to agricultural work by the Tennessee Bankers Association. The Agricultural Committee report reveals hearty cooperation between bankers and extension workers. "Key bankers and county agents have been in close contact than ever before," it says. Georgia bankers have given both moral and financial backing to the Extension Service of the College of Agriculture, and activities the past year showed significant results. The phases of the marketing program emphasized in the year's work are: The retail market; roadside marketing; miscellaneous marketing (sold to the locality); bartering (exchange of commodities or services with neighbors); standardized canned products for sale prepared in homes or canning centers.

The "Emerald Buddha" is really cut from clear green jasper and is about 28 inches high. There is little doubt that the statue was carved in Ceylon in the Fourteenth century. Its history from 1436 is well authenticated, and the sacred image played an important role in many wars for its possession. Rama I. removed the emerald Buddha to Bangkok, built the temple, and surrounded it with solid gold images of Buddhas, elephants, and sacred idols.

OUR NEIGHBORS

TECUMSEH—Because of the nuisance created by the presence of thousands of starlings in the trees in the western part of the village, Mayor E. M. Campbell on Tuesday issued special permits to two men to shoot the birds. The gunners were busy in the vicinity of the Friends church on West Pottawatomie street Tuesday evening, and the drive will be continued until the birds have been controlled, Mayor Campbell said. This is the first complaint received by the village this year relative to the birds. Last year, residents of the eastern part of the village complained and a similar anti-starling campaign was successfully carried out—Herald.

HOLLY—Too lazy to raise their own: Many Holly residents report that vegetables are being stolen from their gardens. Some of the thieves are so bold that they do the trick in the daytime. The officers are now watching, and some arrests may follow—Herald.

SOUTH LYON—South Lyon's fire department traveled the greatest distance in its history to a fire Saturday night at about 10:30 when it responded to an alarm from the farm of John Zeebe on Barhardt road, 14 miles from here—about three miles from Ann Arbor—a mile south of the Plymouth-Ann Arbor pavement. Zeebe was unable to get a department from any nearer town. By the time the local apparatus could reach the place the fire had made great headway. Two barns, two tool sheds, a garage and hog house were destroyed, also the contents, including 40 tons of baled hay and several hundred bushels of grain—Herald.

PLYMOUTH—A group of officers and other officials of the Burroughs Adding Machine company of Detroit visited Plymouth Wednesday to make an investigation relative to the possible building of a factory unit on the company's 140-acre tract of land purchased a few years ago, facing on Schoecraft and Plymouth roads and adjacent to the eastern limits of the city. The visit was in the nature of a preliminary survey to select a building site as well as to determine what extensions will be necessary to provide water, gas and sewage facilities—Mail.

NORTHVILLE—Fire swept thru the top of the dairy barn at the Wayne County Training School early Monday morning, ruining 160 tons of newly cut hay and causing damages estimated at $25,000. The fire, which Clarence Elliot, training school steward who has charge of the farming activities, believes was caused by spontaneous combustion in the hayloft, was first noticed at 1 a. m. Four fire trucks and 50 men were called before the blaze was extinguished. Dr. Robert H. Haskell, superintendent of the school, and Mr. Elliot said they did not know how much damage were incurred by the fire. Mr. Elliot, however, set the feed loss at $4,000. At the time the barn was constructed, it was estimated that it cost $85,000—Record.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Can you tell me if the electric light globe is a perfect vacuum? Or can a perfect vacuum be made?

Ans.—The electric light lamp is not a perfect vacuum. It is within the bounds of possibility to make a perfect vacuum, but it has never been accomplished. There are always a few detached molecules drifting around in it as gas molecules. The most perfect vacuum ever made still contains about eight billion molecules per cubic inch.

Ques.—Could Jack Dempsey whip Joe Louis or Max Schmeling if he was in the hey-day of his fighting career?

Ans.—The result of such a proposition will remain unknown forever. There is no possible way to determine it. It is simply a matter of personal opinion as to the outcome of such an event.

Ques.—Can you answer which is the longest street within the corporate limits of any city in the United States or the world? Also to settle a dispute in what direction does Hoover Avenue in Los Angeles, Calif., run?

Ans.—We have no authentic records as to the longest street within any city limits in the United States or the world, but we understand that Halstead street in Chicago has that distinction. The street is twenty-three miles long, all within the city limits, Hoover Avenue in Los Angeles, Calif., runs due north from the University to the city limits.

Ques.—What is the meaning of "gyve"?

Ans.—"Gyve," as a noun, is a shackle especially for the legs. However, "gyve" is worn sometimes in the hair, and also otherwise by ladies. The origin of the word is unknown.

Ques.—Who was it that defeated Jack Johnson, the negro, and thus won the championship fighter of the world?

Ans.—On April 5, 1915, Jess Willard defeated Jack Johnson in 26 rounds at Marianao, Cuba.

Ques.—Did Cleveland ever win a pennant in the American League, or a World's Series?

Ans.—Yes. In 1920 the Cleveland club won the pennant in the American League, and then they defeated the Brooklyn club of the National League by winning five out of seven games in a 9-game schedule.

Ques.—When was Mr. Altgeld governor of the State of Illinois?

Ans.—John P. Altgeld served as governor of Illinois from 1893 until 1897.

Ques.—Is there any place in the United States where a license to marry is not required?

Ans.—There is no place in the United States proper where people may marry without a license. However, in Alaska no such license is required.

Ques.—What is the temperature on the moon?

Ans.—When the sun shines directly on the moon the temperature averages about 250 degrees below zero. But at night, with no sun, there is nothing to keep out the cold of space. Therefore the temperature will hover around 450 to 500 degrees below zero.

Ques.—Are there any creatures that live forever?

Ans.—Scientists believe that the tiny one-celled animalcules which live in ponds and ditch waters do not die unless they are eaten by other animals or meet with some other accident. They claim that when these animalcules have grown to full size they divide in two, and when each half has grown to full size, it divides again, and so on indefinitely.

Ques.—Can you tell me what is the finest and largest building in the world?

Ans.—The Library of Congress building in Washington, D. C., is the largest and finest building in the world. After the fire in 1851 it was rebuilt and thrown open to the public in 1897.

Ques.—Why are some lobsters green while others are red?

Ans.—All lobsters are a dark green color until after they have been cooked. Then they turn red.

Ques.—We speak of "middle-aged" people. When does middle age begin?

Ans.—Middle age begins at 40 years.

Noisiest Bird
The scream of the peacock can be heard a mile away, but the noisiest bird in the world is the cockatoo. A single bird can make a din which could drown a dozen motor car horns and dim the sound of a steam whistle. The bell-bird of Brazil is a runner-up to the cockatoo. This white bird is about the size of a pigeon. It lifts its head in the air and makes a noise that sounds like the bang of a hammer on an anvil.

REGISTRATION NOTICE

One Language, One People

THE expression, "to speak the same language," is a common one. But speaking the same language may mean more than having a vocabulary in common. Figuratively, it implies having certain experiences in common; that is, having a similar outlook from which we may understand one another more readily.

Words alone have never proved to be a guarantee of understanding, even among members of the same family. Confidence and respect are not always brought about or maintained by talking—very often quite the contrary. Agreement is not always arrived at through discussions. While being able to talk freely to one another sometimes helps us to understand one another's thoughts, and should make it possible to understand one another's point of view, words do not invariably indicate one's thoughts, and talking together may produce a result quite unlike agreement.

Certainly, if we would gain anything more than a superficial sense of friendship and co-operation, we must go farther than mere words. It is apparent that between individuals and nations friendliness involves a considerable degree of what is called understanding. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, reminds us (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 282) that "when the heart speaks, however simple the words, its language is always acceptable to those who have hearts." And she explains this in her sermon, "The People's Idea of God," where she says (p. 13): "This all-important understanding is gained in Christian Science, revealing the one God and His all-power and ever-presence, and the brotherhood of man in unity of Mind and oneness of Principle." In order to recognize our true relation to each other, we must be aware of the basic oneness of God as Principle.

True understanding is of God—spiritual. Until one realizes this, no unanimity of thought can be consistently manifested. The belief that personal familiarity may breed contempt leaves no assurance that intimate association on a human basis will promote a better understanding between individuals. Evidently, agreement must be sought in acquiring ourselves with man's real qualities, qualities which proceed from divine Mind, God.

Since God is All-in-all, the children of God, the one Mind, have, in reality, an inheritance of united thinking. The brotherhood of man depends for its very being on the fatherhood of God. In proportion as we understand that in our real being we are all the offspring of one Father, ideas of one infinite Mind, our companionship and co-operation are assured, whatever may be the personal or racial differences. Brotherly love, then, is not an old wives' fable, but is based on the Science of being.

Jesus repeated the commands of Moses: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind; and, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself' (Matthew 22:37, 39). The highest of essential unity of all Mind's Ideas. The understanding that God is the source of all true thought and action makes men brethren. The acceptance and understanding of the infinity of God, good, is the only basis for genuine unanimity. When we seek the divine way, we shall find that we have true sympathy in our relation to each other. We shall perceive that it is divinely natural to live and think unitedly.

The discovery of God's universal law of spiritual accord, and the natural result of applying this law in the thoughts and lives of men, give us confidence to overcome what may appear to be insuperable differences of human opinion. We find that man is the image of God, Love. In His Universe is no Babel of tongues, no confusion of many minds. Here is assurance of the possibility of a perfect reconciliation, and we begin to understand what St. Paul meant when he said, "Wherefore putting away lying, speak every man truth with his neighbor: for we are members one of another" (Ephesians 4:25). . . . The Christian Science Monitor.

See Our State Fair Governor Urges

Through the State Fair Board, Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald has issued a proclamation asking all residents of Michigan to try and pay a visit to the Fair this year.

"It is entirely proper and fitting," he wrote, "that the 87th Michigan State Fair should be used as an instrument to celebrate the 100th anniversary of Michigan's statehood by depicting the progress which we have made and the results which have been obtained from the time our ancestors carved out of the Old Northwest Territory the prosperous and dynamic State of Michigan."

Cities Progress

"One hundred years ago we were less than 20,000 people, scattered along the Detroit river and the southern borders of the State. Indians still roamed the forests and the interior of Michigan was practically an unbroken wilderness."

Rich State

"Today we have over 18,000,000 acres of land in farms with a valuation of nearly $900,000,000. More than 1,897,000 horses and cattle graze on the hills, valleys and flatlands of our state. We rank fourteenth in the value of the farms and eighteenth in the number of farms. In 1934, the income to the farmers of this commonwealth was estimated to be $115,069,000. Our industrial development has startled the world and the products of our shops and factories are found upon the farms, the roads, and in the homes of every civilized people in the world."

"SATISFIED"

(A song by Captain Casey)

I love to tell the dear old story,
The blessed story of His love;
It fills my soul with wondrous glory,
It points me to the things above.

He gives me balm for every sorrow,
He takes my anxious care away;
I'm sure to have a bright tomorrow,
A fore taste of Eternal day.

I hale Him now my Lord and Master,
I'm sealed with His own signet ring;
Soon in the courts of Alabaster,
I'll hale Him my eternal King.

I soon shall rise with youth immortal,
Life's weary tolls be over past;
Safe - safe beyond Heaven's swinging portals,
I'll reach my home and crown at last.

I'm satisfied—I'm satisfied
With Jesus, Christ the crucified;
With Jesus Christ the Crucified,
I'm satisfied—I'm satisfied.

—Arthur Carlton.

Schools To Receive State Seal Copies

In order that the official seal of the State of Michigan may be made familiar to school children of the state, Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, has had authentic copies of it made for school distribution. The reproductions of the seal are appropriately colored to bring out the features specified by the legal description of the seal. The copies will be appropriate for framing by each school.

Actual distribution to the some 6,000 public schools of the state will be handled by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The reproductions will be received in the near future, with distribution of school supplies by the state school head. Distribution to the approximately 500 parochial schools in Michigan, will be handled by John J. O'Hara, Auditor General.

The drawing of the seal from which the official reproduction was made, was prepared this summer under the direction of Dr. Louis Webber, Deputy Secretary of State. The move was decided upon by Atwood because of widespread laxity through many years, in the printing of reproductions of the seal for various official uses throughout the capitol, on stationery and forms of various kinds. For ordinary use, reproductions of the state seal are not sufficiently large to permit inclusion of many details provided by law.

There is no more pressing governmental problem today than the question of past due taxes. Both the property owner and the various departments of the state are vitally affected. The state needs the revenue to operate in the interest of its citizens and the property owner wants to save his landed possessions.

While other states were floundering around with the problem Michigan officials went ahead and worked out an equitable solution. It had whole-hearted support last year and it is receiving it again in 1936.

State officials are to be commended for working out this tax plan and giving it educational publicity.

Don't forget to do your part. Pay your second installment of taxes before September 1st if you come under the plan. If you haven't joined up, do so now. Also, if you can afford to pay all your back taxes at this time do it. You will save materially in interest charges and you will have one less economic worry on your mind.

The Palsades
The Palsades is the name given to a series of massive cliffs on the west bank of the Hudson river. From near Haverstraw, N. Y., these extend south to Weehawken, N. J., a distance of about 30 miles. These precipitous cliffs rise almost directly from the water's edge, varying in height from 200 to 500 feet. They consist of basaltic trap rock or diabase, in marked contrast to the surrounding country.

Reason for Weeping
The Brown family had fattened the hog, which they had canned for future use on the table, and they had fattened the yearling they had slaughtered and canned. When the trylog-size chickens were plump and fat, they, too, had been killed and canned.

One morning Mr. Brown lifted little Robert onto his lap, remarking: "My, my, but this child is getting fat!" The little fellow immediately burst into tears. "I don't want to be killed!" he sobbed.

DON'T NEGLECT TAX PAYMENT

September 1st is the deadline for the payment of the second annual installment of taxes under the Michigan ten-year plan. Many property owners have already met their obligations and protected their rights. Incidentally they have avoided the last minute rush and congestion of county treasurers' offices.

Officials of the state in conducting this year's educational campaign are endeavoring to bring home to the property owners that to carry out the terms of their agreement they must be sure and make this second payment by September 1st.

They are also hopeful that those who did not come under this legislative act in 1935 will do so this year. Provision is made for this action, and it may be taken at very small interest cost.

Incidentally returns indicate that a considerable number of property owners are paying up their entire back tax assessments, thereby saving considerable money in future interest charges.

There is no more pressing governmental problem today than the question of past due taxes. Both the property owner and the various departments of the state are vitally affected. The state needs the revenue to operate in the interest of its citizens and the property owner wants to save his landed possessions.

While other states were floundering around with the problem Michigan officials went ahead and worked out an equitable solution. It had whole-hearted support last year and it is receiving it again in 1936.

State officials are to be commended for working out this tax plan and giving it educational publicity.

4-H Livestock Winner to Receive Gold Medal

The Thos. E. Wilson gold medal for the outstanding county 4-H livestock club member is again offered in all counties of Michigan, announced the National Committee on Boys and Girls club work.

It and other attractive prizes provided in this national contest are to be awarded club leaders at the close of the feeding and showing season. Reports of county winners must be submitted to the state leader's office to allow for judging before November 2. Forms for the use of contestants may be secured of county agents.

The winner of state honors receives a $50 gold watch and becomes eligible to compete for one of four all-expense trips to the 15th National Club Congress to be held in Chicago Nov. 27 to Dec. 5 in connection with the International Live Stock Exposition. From the four trip winners three will be chosen to receive cash scholarships of $300, $200 and $100.

In addition to giving 18 boys successful in the six annual past contests a start on college careers, participation by hundreds of others has helped them to master problems of livestock production and to establish valuable herds of their own. Their examples also have led to the adoption of better practices by entire communities in livestock farming.

Tree Bark Beetles
Battle Orchard Bark

Fruit trees in Michigan weakened by adverse weather in 1936 as well as in preceding seasons need extra protection against the fruit tree bark beetle which thrives and breeds in recently dead and dying wood and ridges twigs of vigorous and healthy trees as well.

In pointing out August as one of the two breeding seasons for the beetle, Ray Hutson of the entomology department at Michigan State College, suggests burning brush piles left from pruning, taking out dead or dying trees and removing from orchard blocks any of the larger pieces of dead wood that may have been saved for firewood. Burning brush piles must be carefully guarded, of course, because of the dry weather fire hazard.

The two types of injury that occur include injury to trees of low vitality that are easily killed by the tunnelling of the beetle during breeding. The other injury is caused by the beetles boring into healthy twigs and bark in search of a feeding or breeding place, then leaving to find less vigorous wood when the trees counter attack with a flow of gum.

The fruit tree bark beetle also proves a pest in related ornamentals such as flowering crab and quince. The beetle is about one twentieth of an inch long. It is a dark brownish black in color and is believed to be of European origin. When the bark of trees has been punctured, the beetle and larvae are revealed by paring down the bark carefully with a sharp knife. Commercial orchard operators are warned by Professor Hutson to clean up abandoned orchard blocks to protect adjacent healthy producing orchards. Branches that broke from heavy bearing or storms should be removed.

Mother Goose Theory Applied
The old Mother Goose method of handling stray sheep applies to stray mules, also, it would seem from an occurrence in Scranton, Pa. "Leave them alone and they'll come home," dragging their tails behind them," quoted an official of a coal company, when notified by an amateur "Buffalo Bill" that he was organizing a crowd to round up the 12 mules who had wandered from the company's yard.

Sure enough, the mules came home after reaching territory unfamiliar to them, dragging their tails behind them—as predicted, and expected.

Rare Luther Bible
A Bible illustrated by pictures painted by Martin Luther, the great German reformer, and bearing many notes in his handwriting, was discovered by a Danish bookseller. He purchased a collection of books from a German family. Among them was the precious Bible. Besides notes in Luther's writing, the Bible bears notes written by other leading figures in the German Reformation movement. These include Melancthon, the reformer who was acknowledged to be the movement's leading scholar.

The Victoria Cross
The Victoria Cross, the great award for valor, was instituted by Queen Victoria, during the Crimean war. The crosses were then, and still are, made from the metal of Russian cannon captured at Sebastopol.

A Man With Friends
Happy is the man with his own cluster around him, a man working freely at his art or craft, a man with fast friends, a man with good fellows, a man with brave friends, a man with an altar. Freedom and self-discipline; freedom and sacrifice; freedom and festival and a foretaste of heaven—these things make for happiness.

Work
If your work is distasteful, love it into shape, and keep in your mind a desire for something better and more congenial and make yourself worthy of such work when it comes your way. No matter how uncongenial your task is today, consider it a blessing that you have employment, and push along to better things.

Age for Presidents
The President must be a natural born citizen and at least thirty-five years old, but no maximum age is specified. William Henry Harrison, sixty-eight at the time of his inauguration, was the oldest at time of election, but James Buchanan, nearly seventy when he left office, was the oldest in office.

Invented Archimedian Screw
Archimedes invented a number of mechanical devices for increasing human power, including the Archimedian screw for raising water from a lower to a higher level. By means of various ingenious military engines of his own devising he succeeded in keeping the Romans out of Syracuse for three years.

February Called Cabbage

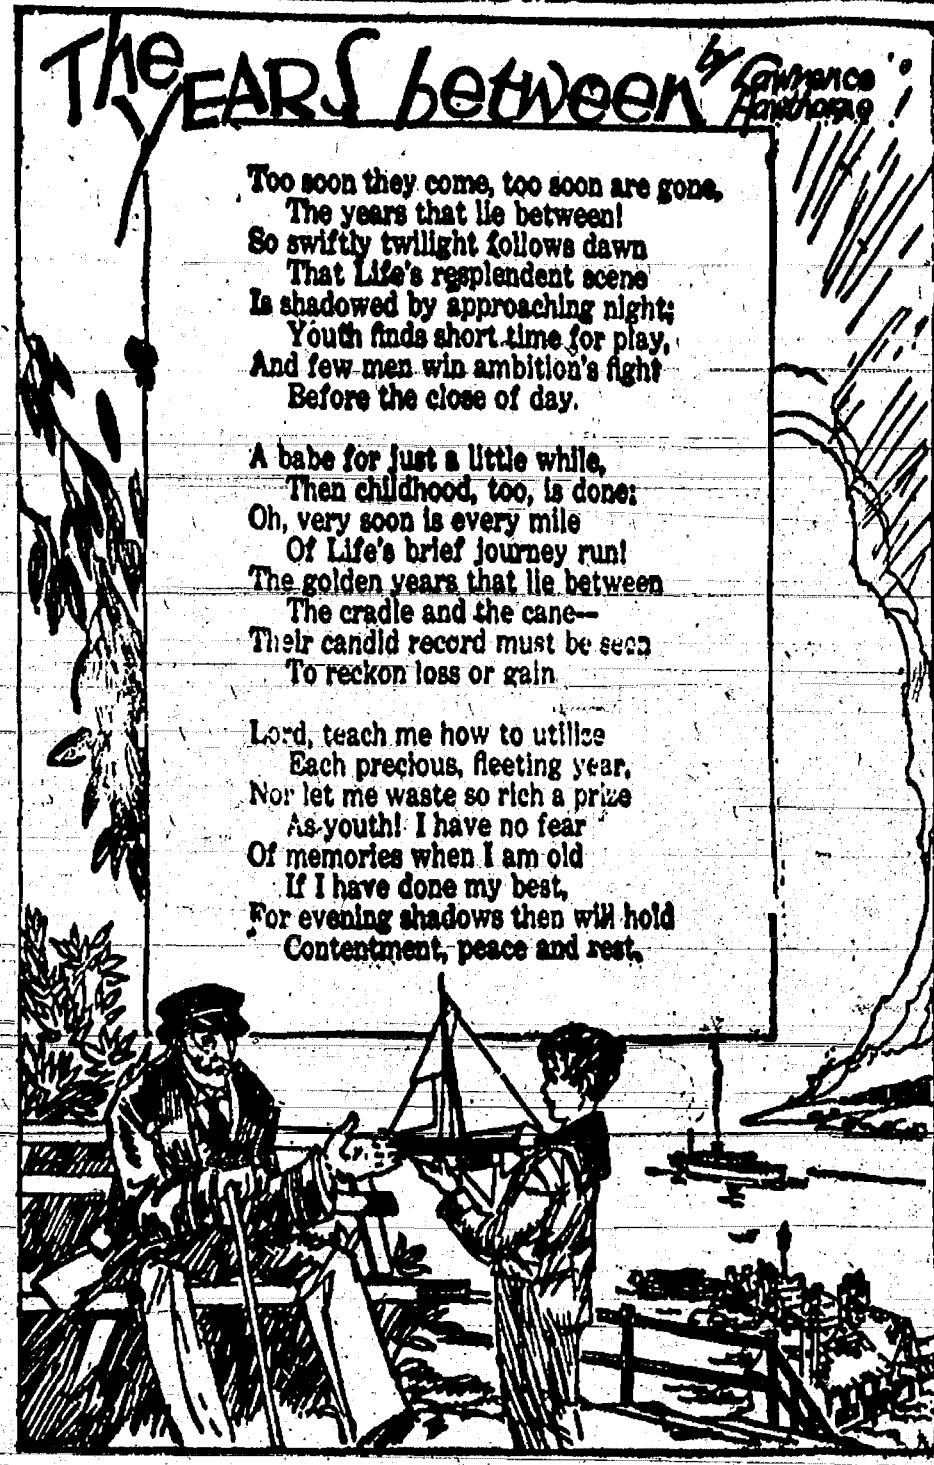

The ancient Saxons called February Sproutale, or the Sprouting of the Cabbage. Later, this was changed to Sunmonth, or sunmonth, because it was at this period that daylight increased and the pruning of trees began.

The word February comes from the Latin, "februare," meaning "to expiate," because, during this month the Roman ceremony of purification took place. Originally, it was the last month of the year, and not until 462 B. C. did February assume its present place.

When Julius Caesar reformed the calendar, he gave 31 days to each alternate month from January, and 30 to the others, with the exception of February, which got 28 in leap year and 29 every other year. But when Augustus took power, he was unwilling that the month named after him should be shorter than those on either side, so he took a day from February and added it to August. So that, three months of 31 days should not run consecutively, he reversed the other two.

Honolulu Has "Kiss Tree"

The kissing noises echoing through the halls of Queen's hospital in Honolulu herald love in bloom all right but not the common patient nurse kind. The hints of osculation come from the rare Bombax tree, whose curious banana-shaped buds break into pink fuzzy blossoms.

Clipping of Whiskers

One of the most curious events that ever occurred in England's famous Westminster Abbey was the clipping of the whiskers on the bust of Thackeray, in the Poet's Corner. Thackeray's daughter, Lady Ritchie, had objected for years that the whiskers on each side of the face were too long, and at last asked the dean to let her have them shortened.

The dean consented reluctantly, and accompanied by a sculptor, Lady Ritchie arrived one morning for the work. The bust was taken to the crypt, where the whiskers were chiseled to their proper length. Then the sculptor nicked off the statue with a cloth, just as a barber would have after shaving someone, and it was returned to its niche.

METHODIST HOME

Miss Lillian Leeson and her friend, Miss Struthers, have been enjoying their vacation with Supt. and Mrs. Leeson, but found it necessary to leave for New York on Friday in order to be ready for their work on Monday morning. They won the hearts of the home family and we are already looking forward to their return next year.

Mrs. Poole has returned to the Home fold. On July 18 a cousin came and took her to Oxbow Lake. From there she visited Pontiac, Lake Orion and North Oxford. Last week she was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. A. C. Albertson, and niece, Mrs. Fred Bowers; also her friends, Mrs. Freer and Mrs. Roberts, with small Barbara Roberts, who was much interested in seeing how near the railroad cars could come to the building. All were well pleased with their glimpse of the Home.

Dr. and Mrs. Brown have been made happy by a few days' visit from Mrs. Brown's sister, Mrs. Berton E. Poor, who will return to Florida early in September. Mrs. Poor made many friends during her short stay.

Last Saturday, Mrs. Macaulay returned from a nine weeks' visit, the greater part of which was spent in Royal Oak and Port Huron. She said she had enjoyed her visit, but was evidently glad to get home.

Saturday was the 93rd birthday of our Mrs. Andrews. During the day she recited a poem for Supt. Leeson, and also sang for him. The family profited by the celebration, for Mrs. Andrews' niece arranged to have the entire family served with ice cream at dinner, in honor of her aunt's birthday.

Sunday brought another birthday anniversary, this being for Mrs. Leeson, and also brought a surprise, for Miss Lillian, before leaving for New York on Friday, had provided that the Home family should have cake and ice cream for Sunday dessert. A special cake, bearing the words "Happy Birthday," was made for the occasion by Mrs. Van Pelt.

Mrs. Reed and her daughter Florence, of Jackson, called on Mrs. Cook, Sunday.

Last week Miss McCalla spent a few days with her brother's family at Silver Lake.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Owen of Milford called on their mother, Mrs. Mary Owen.

On Tuesday, Dr. and Mrs. Leeson had as dinner guests Dr. Leeson's sister-in-law, Mrs. William Lewis, and her husband. They were accompanied by their daughters, Lucille and Beatrice; all are from Maryville, Missouri.

FORD SALES INCREASE

Sales of Ford V-8 cars, trucks and commercial cars in Michigan and northern Ohio have been greatly stimulated by the "harvest" campaign launched by Ford dealers last month, according to L. G. Palmer, local Ford dealer.

Awards for leading Ford dealers in the form of all-expense trips to the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas, Texas, and cash prizes for new and used car salesmen are responsible for much of the current stimulation in Ford sales, he said. The campaign opened July 1 and will close September 30.

"Presentation of Ford V-8 cars with the new interior treatment, both in standard and de luxe body types; the announcement of the new de luxe equipment for Ford V-8 trucks and the current 'Scottie' car demonstration of Ford V-8 economy also have had much to do with the way in which Ford sales are showing the present contra-seasonal upturn," said Mr. Palmer.

"We are also feeling the effects of the increasing momentum in Ford sales which became apparent in June when retail sales throughout the United States were the largest for any June since 1930. These developments are certain to exert a growing influence as the present 'harvest' campaign progresses."

Origin of Azusa

An amusing, if not romantic, story is told by some of the origin of Azusa, at the gates of the San Gabriel canyon in Los Angeles county, writes Dorothy Marie Davis in the Los Angeles Times. It has all the appearance and life of a Spanish-Indian name, and many hold it to be such. But the legend surrounding its beginning has a delightful ingenuity, which it would be a pity to discard. The time had come for the naming of the settlement and the citizens disputed which of their own surnames should be held thus for posterity. Each was unwilling to yield the honor to another and that plan was abandoned. Geographical position was considered as a background for a fine name. "Natural features were urged. None was found satisfactory. At last a solution was presented which met with complete approval. They took the first and last letter of the alphabet and added the three letters by which their country was known. They had A-Z-U-S-A, of Azusa.

"Beware the Tick"

Ticks are of particular interest to the United States bureau of entomology because they attack both men and animals, particularly farm stock. In "Beware the Tick" in the Health Magazine, Walter E. Burton points out that the most deadly of tick-carried diseases is Rocky Mountain spotted fever. In the Bitterroot valley in western Montana about 75 die of every 100 persons who contract the fever. Tularemia, or rabbit fever, about which every hunter has heard, can be contracted by persons who handle rabbits. It can also be carried from wild animals to human beings, by several kinds of ticks, much as spotted fever is transmitted. Ticks also cause what is known as relapsing fever and a peculiar form of paralysis.

Numerous Stings

Human beings have from 20 to 30 stings in their heads.

GEORGE SPENCER was the last man in the world Ted Harris had ever dreamed of meeting when he walked up to the refreshment stand at Santa Anita park. Yet there stood George as big as life, dressed in the customary attire of a soda dispenser, dishing out peanuts, pop corn and soft drinks. As he recognized Ted he forgot all else going on about him and approached him as if he were a ghost. And then,

"Red, old boy, you of all the fellows turning up here. Why, Ted—gee, kid, I'm glad to see ya."

"Hello, George, you old son-of-a-gun. Never expected to find you here," and they were busy for the next few seconds exchanging handshakes and complimenting each other on their appearance.

Yes, it had been four years since Ted and George had been riding for the Fiddler Syndicate back in the east working together for Old Man Fiddler for two and a half years. There had always been a question as to who was the better man, but never between Ted and George. George would always say they never saw a better rider on the track than Ted Harris and Ted would always say the same about George.

When the old man died and T. V. Aldridge took the stable over, the boys quit. They could never acclimatize themselves to his methods or his penalties, and when Ted announced his intention of quitting, George went with him. Great friends these two, but like all friends, sooner or later the time came when they drifted apart.

Ted remembered reading somewhere about George getting married and had picked up a little information about him around the tracks. He guessed George would make out O. K. He was never a victim of wanderlust as Ted was. Ted couldn't stand in one place any length of time; always wanted to keep rambling.

Well, if you ever met an old pal after four years, you can imagine how Ted and George felt.

In the ensuing two hours the boys lived over the entire time that they rode together.

"But," Ted was saying, "you seem to be doing all right by yourself. George. Tell me, how's the Missus and the kid. Or is it kids now?"

"Yeah, there's three kids now, Ted. Two girls and a boy. They're great. Ted. Just what a fella needs to keep him bustlin'."

"Guess you might be right there, George, but you know me; never was much of a home man. Couldn't get the old rambling fever out of my system."

"Well, you don't seem to be lookin' the worse for it, Ted. Heard ya made quite a kum in Chicago. Last time I asked about ya, Whitey Davis told me he seen ya in Italian knockin' more over for a chunk a dough. Well, more power to ya, Ted. You always was the gambler of the combination. Not me, though. I been workin' pretty hard for my end in the last four years. I own this joint, ya know. Ain't much, but I knock out a swell place of change while it lasts, an' when it's over, I get me a job in the city till next season. Been doin' O. K. but ain't never had the urge to lay a dime on any of the mags. Yes, you always were the gambler of the outfit. Guess that's why you're always be in the money while I keep on strugglin'."

Well, there was nothing more to talk about and Ted said something in a voice that he didn't recognize as his own, about having some kind of an appointment in the city and he guessed he'd have to be running along.

"Geo, Ted," said George, "ya come all the way out here in the mornin', an' here I take up all your time an' ya don't get to see a thing."

"Aw, forget it, George. A horse race ain't anything new to me. Besides, I'll have lots of time to see them again."

"Say, that's right, Ted. Geo, but I'm a fool. All this time an' I never even ask ya to come out to the house. Let's make a date for dinner tonight at the house—thru call up—Mildred and—"

"Why she'll be ticked to death to see ya, Ted."

"Not so sure about tonight, George. I know you're busy, Ted, but here, suppose ya call me at the house. Here, I'll write the number down. There ya go. Now don't forget, I'll look for ya to call."

With a final handshake and cheery good-by, the two friends parted. George went back to selling his peanuts, popcorn and soft drinks and Ted went on his way out of the park.

As he went through the gate he took a paper from his pocket and before throwing it away took one last look at it. It read:

"Man wanted: to sell peanuts, pop corn and soda."

"Apply manager of stand at Santa Anita Race Track."

Flies Skate on Surface

Some flies, especially certain shore midges, have the power of skating on the surface of water without breaking the surface film, the hairy foot pads probably assisting them in the performance. So far as is known, only one fly possesses the power of swimming actively under water, a small marine midge found in the coral lagoons in Samoa.

Post and Postal Cards

The cards which are bought from a post office and which have stamps printed on them are properly called postal cards. The unstamped cards which are bought from private firms and which usually have a picture on one side are properly called postcards. This distinction is made by the Post Office department.

Tall Tales

As told to:
FRANK E. ELMO
HAGAN SCOTT
WATSON

Cooking Under Difficulties
TEDDY BLUE of the Three Deuce ranch in Montana remembers what an annoying time he had when he came up from Texas with a trail herd back in 1883. When the cook died, the boss found out that Teddy knew something about slingin' grub together and made him take charge of the chuck wagon.

In it he found plenty of bacon, flour, beans, baking powder, sugar, coffee and everything else needed to feed the hungry crew of punchers. But the only trouble was that they were out on a treeless plain where there wasn't a stick of wood visible anywhere.

"Then one of the punchers lit a cigarette and snuffed the still-blazing match into a bunch of buffalo grass. It flamed up and right then Teddy had an idea. He ran and got the coffee pot, filled it up, threw some bacon in a skillet and started toward the place where the fire in the buffalo grass was spreading.

Holding the coffee pot and the skillet over the flame he followed the line of blazing grass and in a short time the bacon began to sizzle and the coffee began to steam a bit. After a while Teddy said to himself, "Well, I guess she's ready to serve now." But when he looked up he discovered that he had followed the flame until he was 1 1/2 miles from camp. By the time he got back the bacon and the coffee were cold. The boys grumbled about having to eat cold chuck, so Teddy quit as cook right then and there.
