Celebrate Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

A family dinner on Sunday at their home in Sylvan township celebrated the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McClure. The table was covered with a beautiful wedding-cake bearing 50 yellow tapers, flanked by silver candelabra with gold candles. Covers were laid for more than twenty guests.

Those present for the dinner, and callers in the afternoon, came from DeWitt, Waldron, Ionia, Grass Lake, Waterloo and Chelsea, Michigan, and Toledo and Grover Hill, Ohio.

Featuring the decorations was a large basket containing fifty yellow Johanna Hill roses which were presented the honor guests, also a basket of lovely yellow gladioli, zinnias, marigolds, all in shades of yellow—the gift of the Chelsea Greenhouses. Several gifts in remembrance of the occasion were presented to Mr. and Mrs. McClure. During the afternoon yellow and white brick ice cream and cake was served—the assembled guests.

Mr. and Mrs. McClure have been residents of Sylvan township for 19 years, coming here from Grover Hill, Ohio. Mrs. McClure, formerly Lucina Warner, was born December 14, 1865 near Lima, Ohio, and Mr. McClure was born March 8, 1861 near Grover Hill.

They were married September 12, 1886 and of seven children born to this union, all are living. They are: Mrs. C. O. Garrison, Wernersville, Pa.; Mrs. S. W. Tuohy, Ionia; Mrs. C. C. Morrison, Toledo; A. B. McClure, Buchanan, Mo.; W. McClure, George A. McClure, Jr., and Mrs. George W. Atkinson of Chelsea. Five of the children were present Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. McClure have 11 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. McClure's mother, 97 years of age, resides at Grover Hill, but was unable to attend the celebration.

State Police Chief Warns of "Traders"

"Easy Money," the capricious alien who lured life-savings on the rocks of disaster in the days of pyramiding fortunes, again beckons to the unwary.

Captain Ira H. Marmon, chief of detective and identification divisions of the Michigan State Police, issued a warning this week that racketeers were again active in trading their spurious securities to the gullible holders of legitimate investments.

"The state is infested with men representing themselves as stock and bond salesmen," Captain Marmon said in his warning. "Many are salesmen whose licenses have been revoked by the state securities commission."

"They make a practice of calling upon those in rural sections and promoting by glib argument an exchange of their cheap or worthless paper for trustworthy securities. We have apprehended a number of these men. Others are still eluding us."

"Usually they are well dressed, drive good automobiles and generally make a good appearance. They are fluent talkers. But they are unscrupulous and we have records of them trading farmers and retired residents of small towns out of life-savings."

"A person approached by a stranger offering any kind of an exchange of securities is urged to consult a reputable financial advisor before making any deal or allowing the would-be trader to even examine his certificates. If they do this they will save themselves money."

Bowling League Will Be Organized Here

A meeting of all persons interested in bowling with a team or entering a team in the tournament which will start October 5 will be held at the Chelsea Hotel on Friday evening, September 25, at 8 o'clock.

Harold Gueval was in Ann Arbor Monday night and attended a meeting where plans for formation of a traveling bowling league was discussed, and Mr. Gueval plans to enter a team in this league, which will start on Sunday, October 4.

It is hoped that all local men interested in bowling will attend the September 25 meeting.

Hunters Told Not To Dress Game In Woods

Small game hunters who plan to go afield after the season opens next month will be wise to tack this memo in their caps: "I will not dress my game in the woods so as to remove its identity. It's illegal."

Last year a number of sportsmen were taken into custody by conservation officers on patrol and at highway checking stations because the game they were carrying home had been dressed in the field and could not be satisfactorily identified. In the case of pheasants it was not possible to determine whether the dressed birds were cock pheasants or hen pheasants.

Some of the hunters apprehended insisted they did not know it was illegal to dress out their game before starting home in such a way as to destroy the identity; they insisted they had otherwise conformed to the law and had committed no violations. Many protested arrest with vehemence.

"We want to remind hunters well in advance of open season not to dress their game in the field; to wait until they get home and then dress it," said H. R. Sayre, chief of field administration for the department of conservation. "When game is dressed in the field and its identity removed, a conservation officer has no way of knowing whether it was legal game or illegal game. He is obliged to make an arrest. State law clearly forbids removing the identity of game."

DON'T BURN LEAVES ON STREET

Village authorities wish to warn residents of the village that it is unlawful to burn leaves on streets which have been blacktopped. Burning of leaves, or any other fire on the streets is very damaging to the surfacing and is strictly forbidden.

Local Plant Moving To New Location

Central Fibre Products Co. started Monday to move their plant from the Wilkinson building to the building on North Main street which they purchased last spring of the Houdaille-Hershey Co. Some of the equipment will be operated at the old location until other machinery is operating in the new plant.

The building which will house this thriving industry has been completely reconditioned and modernized, and plumbing and heating work, as well as electrical work, will be completed within the next few weeks. It is planned to have the plant in full operation at the new location by October 1st.

Excavation work for an addition, 50x50 feet, to connect the main building with the sawtooth building on the property has been completed, in readiness for construction work. A portion of the sawtooth building, 50x50 feet, will be repaired and will be used for storage space, as will the new structure which will connect the two buildings. There will be a truck entrance to the storage buildings, which will provide convenient unloading of supplies as well as shipping facilities.

Special Meeting Held By Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary held a special meeting on Tuesday evening for installation of their newly elected officers. A pot luck dinner was served to about 30 members and the following out of town guests: Mrs. Marie McLean, second district committee woman; Mrs. Sue Cornell, Mrs. Gertrude Cornell and Mrs. Bess Gredwich, all of Jackson. The tables were decorated with low bouquets of zinnias and marigolds.

Preceding the dinner, Mrs. Paul C. Maroney presented Mrs. Elmer Mayer, the incoming president, with a corsage. Mrs. McLean, assisted by Mrs. Edwin W. Eaton as sergeant-at-arms, installed the following officers:

President—Mrs. E. Mayer.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Clarence Bahnmiller.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Edward Schiller.

Secretary—Mrs. Albert Doll.

Treasurer—Mrs. Julius Eisele.

Chaplain—Mrs. Chester Miller.

Historian—Mrs. Sidney Schenk.

Sergeant-at-Arms—Mrs. H. Gueval.

Mrs. Maroney was presented with a past president's pin by Mrs. John O'Hara, and the installing officers also received a gift.

The new president wishes to call attention to the membership drive and requests members to pay their dues by September 20. The committee in charge of the dinner was Mesdames A. L. Brook, H. Gueval, W. G. Kolb, Edward Miller and J. Hummel. The next meeting will be held Tuesday evening, October 6.

Fifteen Parties Can Be On November Ballot

While only the two major political parties of the state held primary elections September 15, a total of 15 parties will be entitled to place the names of their candidates on the general election ballot of November 3.

Only those parties the names and vignettes of which were filed with the Secretary of State prior to last May 4, are entitled to places on the ballot. According to the records of Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, these 15 parties are: Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Communist, Farmer-Labor, Socialist Labor, Commonwealth, People's Progressive, National American, Proletarian, Liberty, Progressive, The United Party and The Third Party. However, only those parties certifying candidates will appear on the Nov. 3rd ballot.

REV. WOLF RESIGNS

Rev. Chas. F. Wolf, who has been pastor of the local Congregational church for the past three years, presented his resignation at the Sunday morning service in that church. The resignation was accepted with reluctance by the congregation. Rev. Wolf has served well in the capacity of pastor of the church and his many friends regret that he chooses to leave the community at this time. The date for his farewell sermon has not been set, but it will be in the near future. Rev. and Mrs. Wolf and their children, La Rue and Marvin, will move to Ypsilanti.

BUILDING USED CAR SHED

A used car shed, with space for 15 cars, is being constructed by Palmer Motor Sales on the south side of the garage. An old barn near the rear of the garage was wrecked to make room for a part of the construction work. The building will all be enclosed with the exception of the front, and will be an ideal display space for used cars. It is planned to have the work on the structure completed by October 1st.

OUR NEIGHBORS

PLYMOUTH—A train wreck which might have proved serious was narrowly averted Tuesday night when railroad men discovered several tie plates on the rails of the Pere-Marquette tracks just before the No. 7 passenger train was due from the east. The plates are large pieces of steel which could cause the derailing of a train which might result in serious injuries and death. It is thought the plates were placed on the track by mischievous boys who did not realize what the consequences might be, and parents are being urged to caution their children against such "pranks."—Mail.

SOUTH LYON—Mr. and Mrs. Will Duncan and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilkinson returned from a 3100 mile trip Wednesday. They traveled through Northern Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota to North Dakota. The tourists saw the Bad Lands and Black Hills of South Dakota, going as far west as the Wyoming-Montana line. They report the West in a deplorable state with not a blade of green grass anywhere; rivers and lakes are dried up and trees are dying. The only greenery to be seen was cacti and Russian thistles. They returned through Iowa and Illinois which two states appeared to have received rain. The South Lyon party was away ten days.

GRASS LAKE—Drilling will be started within 60 days on a test well on the old Jacob Walz farm, one mile west of Francisco. It was announced this week by Earl W. Morris and Hugo F. Volz, representing the Morris Oil & Gas Corporation of Ann Arbor. The news will be welcome to most residents of this vicinity for a real test will be made to ascertain if there is oil in this neighborhood. The general opinion of geologists is that Grass Lake township is the center of one of the greatest oil pools in the country.—News.

BROOKLYN—"Fire engine week"
in Brooklyn started Monday evening with a three-alarm false alarm. The inspired crew which took the engine north on a fast run to Goose creek were not the same that took the engine back, as the regular firemen arrived. Discussion by the populace and action by the council is calculated to discourage further impromptu practices with this $3600 piece of apparatus.—Exponent.

JACKSON—When the curtain came down on the summer illumination schedule of the cascades in the Sparks Foundation on Labor Day, it was estimated that total attendance this year was close to 2,000,000, or about 15 per cent more than last year. The water display has set new attendance records each year it has been operated. The nights of August 30 and September 6 again this year proved to attract the largest crowds.—Evening Star.

DON'T QUIT

When things go wrong, as they sometimes will,
When the road you're trudging seems
all up hill,
When funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing down on a bit,
Rest if you must—but don't you quit.

Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As every one of us sometimes learn,
And many a failure turns about When he might have won had he stuck it out.
Don't give up, though the pace seems slow—
You may succeed with another blow.

Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man,
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup,
And he learned too late when the night slipped down
How close he was to the Golden Crown.

(Selected)—Arthur Carlton.

Noblesse Oblige
Noblesse oblige means literally
"nobility obliges," which denotes the obligation of honorable or generous behavior associated with high rank or birth. It implies that nobility of birth makes a certain standard of conduct obligatory.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—What is the meaning of the word "caucus"? And how did it originate?

Ans.—The word "Caucus" was the name of a political club in Boston during the early part of the 18th century. At that time Indian names were popular for clubs, hence "caucus" is a corruption of the Indian word "caw-caw-was-sough," meaning
"one who advises, strives, goes ahead," etc. The meaning is generally defined as a meeting of the leaders of a party or a group of persons to decide on policies, candidates, etc.

Ques.—When is "Holy Cross Day"?
Does it ever fall on Sunday?

Ans.—Holy Cross Day has a yearly fixed date—Sept. 14. It falls on Sunday whenever it happens that Sept.
14 occurs on Sunday. The last time the day came on Sunday was in 1890;
the next time it occurs on Sunday will be in 1941. The lapse of eleven years is due to the fact that leap-year this year caused Sunday to be jumped.
Otherwise Holy Cross Day would have fallen on Sunday this 1936.

Ques.—I would like to know when Mohammed fled from Mecca? Also why did he have to flee?

Ans.—Mohammed and his wife, together with a few immediate relatives were forced to flee from Mecca in order to save their lives. The people of that city had denounced him as a madman and an impostor. He took refuge in Medina, and the date of the flight (which is called the "hijra" of Mohammed) by the Arabians) was on July 16, A. D. 622. At Medina he was received with open arms, and he began to establish his religion by ruthless warfare. In A. D. 632 he died from a fever when about to extend his religion beyond the bounds of Arabia.

Ques.—Did any of the Presidents of the United States belong to the Reformed Dutch church? And were there any who were not Christians at all?

Ans.—Andrew Jackson and Theodore Roosevelt were the only two Presidents who were affiliated with the Dutch Reformed church. Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, Millard Fillmore and William Howard Taft were not Christians in that they did not believe in the Trinity. They were Unitarians.

Ques.—Which President of the United States was the oldest at the time of his election? What party did he belong to, and how many children did he have?

Ans.—William Henry Harrison, who elected President in 1840, was 69
years old when he was inaugurated.
He had ten children—six boys and four girls. In politics he was a Whig, out of the tail of which the Republican party was born. He died one month after his inauguration. Being a Whig, he probably would have been a Republican after this latter party came into existence on the death of the old Whig party, which occurred between 1850 and 1860.

Ques.—Will you please tell me if this expression is correct: "I do not like those kind of people?"

Ans.—It is not correct. You should say "I do not like THAT kind of people." "Kind" is a singular noun and should be modified by the singular adjective "this" or "that".

Ques.—When was Rome founded?
And did they speak Latin at that time?

Ans.—The city of Rome was founded in 752 B. C. The official language at that time was Roman. For twelve hundred years Rome flourished as the "Roman Empire," having conquered
all of Italy, Egypt, Carthage, Phoenicia and Greece. But prior to that time Rome was held as a colony of Alba Longa, whose people were of great antiquity and spoke the Latin language. Hence Latin was adopted by the Romans.

Ques.—What has become of Libby Prison which was used by the Confederates of the Civil War to imprison Federal soldiers?

Ans.—Libby Prison, which was located at Richmond, Va. during the Civil War, was taken down in 1888 and removed to Chicago. It was put together in that city exactly as it existed in Richmond, and was used com-mercially for sight-seers during Chicago's World Fair in 1893. In 1900 the building was dismantled for its material.

Finds Advantage In Early Flock Culling

Selection of the best individuals to form a nucleus for the winter and spring laying flock should be done before the poultry flock is put into winter quarters, says C. G. Card, Michigan State College poultry husband-man. This work can be done quickly and easily now before bad weather sets in, he advises.

Usually not more than 30 to 40 per cent of the birds are sufficiently good to be retained after the first laying year. This is largely because the first laying year is the bird's high production year and the next year production drops about 20 per cent.
Card explained. Very few individuals are worth keeping more than two years.

Health, vigor, size, truthness to type and color as well as high egg production should be the guides to a high standard. A bird in good laying condition will have a large, broad vent that is moist and shows no pigment.

A bird that stops laying soon has a vent that is dry and puckered and shows some yellow around the edge.
A good bird should have a broad, flat, back carried well over the pelvic arches, Card says. It is obvious that the efficient laying flock is no place for crippled and sick birds. Coarac-headed hens and hens that moult before the first of August should usually be eliminated.

Cautions, however, that culling is not the only thing to be done to insure egg production. Proper housing and feeding are important factors not to be minimized. Undoubtedly, a great many discarded hens and pullets would have produced profitably had they been housed in dry, well-ventilated and well-lighted houses and fed a good ration.

Details on culling methods may be obtained from Extension Bulletin 58 of Michigan State College, a copy of which may be obtained by writing to Bulletin Room, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Editorial

Greetings! Fair class of forty, cream of the crop and apple of every one's eye. You, as Seniors, are the top class of the school. Yours is the privilege of having back seats in study hall, having important offices in school activities, and having to sell magazines. To you goes the admiration and devotion of every underclassman, thinking that if he tries hard he may some day also hold your honorable position.

Once more, greetings! You most dignified Seniors. You, as Seniors, are the class that will set a worthy example for the other classes to follow. To prove you are worthy of your position you will set a high standard of scholarship, sportsmanship, and friendship. Your attitude toward underclassmen will be one of friendly cooperation; your attitude toward your teachers will be one of helpful appreciation. Upon your shoulders rests the burden of setting forth a fine example of cooperative living. You, as Seniors, will do it!

All High Party

The eighth to twelfth grades held their annual All-High party at the Chelsea high school gym Friday evening.

The evening was spent in playing relay races, with Mr. Johnson coaching, and the Freshmen coming out in the lead.

Entertainment followed with singing by Cecilia Birch, Harley Prudden, Harry Blecker, Larry Tisch and Ted Bruckner.

Tap dancing by Betty Fletcher and Lois Palmer was also a hit of the evening.

Miss Lucille Boomgaard and Paul Pielemeier alternated in playing the piano.

Refreshments were served about ten o'clock, with dancing closing an evening of entertainment and fun.

Where Did Teachers Spend the Summer?

Where were our teachers this summer?

Miss Gibson attended school at the University of Michigan for a few weeks. The rest of the time she was at her home in Port Huron.

Miss Allen, our new Latin and English teacher, was at her home in Mendon.

Mr. Blecker and Mr. Johnson attended summer school at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Hargreaves, teacher of Social Science, and leader of band and orchestra, spent a week in July with the Albion Epworth League Institute. While there he had a band and orchestra and met many people from Chelsea. He spent some of his time at his home in Belding, where he tried his skill at carpentering. He also spent some time at the Lake Louise Christian Community near Boyne Falls in Charlevoix county. They held a music festival with WPA bands and orchestras from several nearby towns cooperating. He had planned to stay the rest of August but found out school started the 31st.

Miss Boomgaard had a grand vacation at her home in Grand Haven, doing everything she wanted to do, including sailing, swimming, improving golf score, dancing and coming back with a suntan. The temperature at Grand Haven was never above 75, which is considerably lower than it was around here.

Miss Nelson, Commercial and Economics teacher, attended the University and received her Bachelor of Science degree.

Mr. Wallis attended the Upper Peninsula State Fair. The rest of the time he was the hired man on his father's farm.

Miss Pauver, Social Science instructor, went to Wayne University for a month. After a week in the north, she stayed home and enjoyed herself.

Miss Hannigan, seventh grade teacher, worked in the Grand Haven public library.

Another industrious member of the faculty attended summer school. This is Miss Canfield.

Instead of going to summer school as she had planned, Mrs. Steiner remained at home and nursed the sick.

Miss Lindenschmidt, fourth grade teacher, attended summer school at Michigan State Normal college in Ypsilanti. She also attended the Cleveland Exposition.

Miss Leetz, third grade teacher, observed in third grade room in Western State Teachers' college. The rest of her vacation was spent at a cottage at Gull Lake.

Mrs. Dancer spent summer touring the West with friends. She visited several places of special interest and visited several of her relatives. She deserved the grand time she had.

Miss Bollers went to the University of Wisconsin. Miss Barrus, a former teacher at Chelsea High, was her roommate. The rest of the time she just played.

HOT DOGS!

Friends—don't eat any lunch Friday noon—wait and buy a hot dog and a candy bar at the football game. Start the year out right and help the Seniors. Every little bit counts, you know.

Also, we will be selling sandwiches and candy in the lower hall Friday morning.

Elementary News

Second Grade

School opened on Monday, August 31, with 25 children entering Second Grade—9 girls and 16 boys. Two boys were strangers, Richard Osborne came from Sylvan District No. 2, and Leonard Woods from Waltham, Mass. Already our number has been reduced to 24, Hazel Buxton having moved to Charlotte.

We are starting a Nature Chart. Robert Sidwell brought us a dragonfly. Richard Osborne found a grasshopper and a cricket for us. Patty Harper brought some worms from a walnut tree. Thelma Hill brought some toad-stools, Robert Daniels a bull-head, a brown and black caterpillar and a nice green worm.

Thursday we started our Scrap Books. Most of us visited a farm this vacation, so we started with pictures which show us farm life, windmills, silos, vegetables, animals. We'll have a nice book in a little while.

Jack Chriswell brought back to us our snails. He cared for them all summer. Thank you, Jack.

Mr. Gentner looked after our crab, which is good and lively and we appreciate the care Mr. Gentner gave him.

Third Grade

There are thirty-one people in the third grade. Fourteen are girls, seventeen are boys. We all like to slide down the fire escape.

We are making a screened cage to put coconuts in. June Vall brought a tomato worm. She brought some to-mato leaves for it to eat. We are going to keep the worm to see what he turns into.

A grasshopper flew into our room. Miss Leetz caught him and put him into a jar which had holes in the cover. Arthur Paul fed him some grass. The grasshopper doesn't feel at home here so we will let him go after we have watched him for awhile.

Anne Lamberton had a nice birthday party at school September third. She was eight years old. Anne took our pictures with the camera she got for her birthday.

Fourth Grade

We have two new pupils in the fourth grade. They are: Barbara Woods from Waltham, Mass., and Rosalie Burger from the Howe school. In our geography class we have been preparing for our imaginary journey across the Atlantic to Belgium Congo. We are very interested in our new geography work books.

In our language class we have told stories about the Kingfisher. Rosalie Burger told about a baby Kingfisher that she had as a pet.

Our Conduct Chart has helped us to keep a good record. Each one started with 100 per cent on Monday and just a few have lowered their score.

We have started a club to help us in health and citizenship. The officers chosen are: President, Ileen Loeffler; vice-president, Norman Kroner; and secretary, Marjorie Umstead. Several names have been suggested for a name for the club, but none has been chosen.

Fifth Grade

Everybody seems to be happy to be back to school. Somebody said "I wish we could have school on Labor Day too," but these last few hot days have checked our enthusiasm somewhat.

We have been talking about the ways in which we have enjoyed our vacations. A few of us took trips, so during English period, we have had special reports on these trips. Thus far Elaine Schmidt has told us about her trip to Boston, Mass. She showed us many interesting snapshots which she took on the way and told us about her trip.

Since Mary Woods spent most of the way on her trip from Boston here, she told us about the fishing trips which are made from the coast at her home town.

Ruth Cooper spent some time in Arkansas. She visited Hot Springs and brought a boxful of interesting souvenirs to show us. She likes Michigan best because "it was too hot there," Ruth says.

Eugene Townsend told us about several interesting short trips which he took through Ohio.

Philip Vogel told us about a trip to North Carolina last summer.

In Art yesterday we did some figure drawing with Raymond Parsons as our model and they really look like Raymond only not as good as he really is.

We have three new girls. Bessie Rudd from Ada, Ohio. Bessie, however, spent her first week of school in Dexter. We have Mary Woods from Boston, Mass., and Constance Coburn from Ann Arbor.

Mr. Gentner has had to put a whole row of extra seats in our room.

Sixth Grade

By Margaret Knapp
We are all glad to be back to school.

We have thirty-one pupils this year. All the seats are occupied except one. We have twelve girls and nineteen boys.

Margaret Knapp brought some bird pictures and put them on the bulletin board for us. She arranged them very nicely.

We have started collecting large worms so that we can have some pre-ty butterflies and moths next spring. For geography work all of us, who could do it, traced back the birth-places of our ancestors in the Old World. Now we have shown the homelands of our families by pasting circles of colored paper on a black-board map of Europe. We discovered that most of our homelands are in Germany.

Seventh Grade

Reporter—Jeanne Meserva
Assistant—Junior Miller

Miss Hannigan made us a health chart upon which we are making red marks every morning and noon.

Several girls and boys have brought us bouquets of different flowers.

Jeanne Meserva brought a book for us to read. The name is "Bob, the Son of Battle."

In History we made some maps showing the break-up of the Roman Empire.

We have three new girls in our room. Margaret Almond from Massachusetts, Jean Roderick from Sugar Loaf farm near Chelsea, and Ada Kudd from Ohio.

A list of inventions was made in geography. We gave the inventors' names, and facts about the inventions.

'A' Team Bows to 'B' Team in Practice Game

The "B" team defeated the "A" team on Friday, 13-0 in the practice game held in an effort to select the players for the first game held on Friday the 18th, which is tomorrow. The "B" team proved superior in punting and rushing, but lacked a few yards in passing to surpass in that field.

The "A" team, however, lost 15 yards in passing due to interrupted passes. Several penalties were inflicted on both sides, the "B" team receiving the majority of the penalties.

This week will be devoted to drilling and scrimmaging the first team which was chosen by last Friday's scrimmage. Let's all you loyal supporters be out there to root for Chelsea high school. They need your support.

Experience On the First Day of School

When I came into school on Monday afternoon I had no idea where to go. I decided to wait in the hall until some other Freshman came along and ask them where to go but it was of no use for they did not know where to go either. After the last bell had rung we were told to go to the study hall. After all of us were seated Mr. Blecker introduced the new teachers to all of the people. We were then told to go to the Algebra room. After being in there a few minutes we went back to study hall, then to Civics room, English room and Biology, coming back to study hall between each class. I was sure it would be a mix-up but I have found out that it isn't so bad as I thought it would be. I have been going through this schedule for two weeks and I am beginning to like it more all the time and I hope I will keep liking it as long as I go to school.

Magazine Sale Is On

The Senior class has divided into two sides, called the Red Pirates and Black Pirates, who will compete against each other in an effort to raise money for a Senior trip. The sale is held under the supervision of H. L. Blecker and Miss Gibson. Marjorie Umstead is appointed business manager and the contest by now has been going for four of the allotted eight days and if some senior hasn't been around by now, grab a hold of the first one in order to take advantage of the splendid offers of the Crowell Co. this year.

The team captains are Eileen Adam and Harrie Blecker, Jr. of the Red and Black Pirates respectively. Let's support the Senior class of 1937!

Operetta

Practice has gotten under way for the Senior High Operetta with Miss Boomgaard directing the music and Miss Gibson the dramatists. The operetta will be given October 23. It includes the ninth grade to the twelfth. Of course you all remember how good last year's senior high operetta was. Well, we promise you that this one will be just as good if not better. Information about it will be posted every week in the school paper so be sure and watch for it. Next week we will have the list of characters and the persons who portray them.

Wood Carving in Black Forest
For hundreds of years the Black Forest people of Germany have carried on their wood carving and homecrafts. They make cuckoo clocks, some entirely of wood, furniture, music boxes and toys. In former days many gems were cut there, and the region was famed for its glass. After the discovery of America, this last industry experienced a great boom, for traders needed great quantities of beads to trade with the Indians.

Hawaii Started Bobbed Hair
Bobbed hair for women had its American debut in Hawaii. In ancient times native women wore their hair short and men wore theirs long. But a haircut was no such easy matter as nowadays. They sawed it off with a knife of sharks' teeth.

RETIRED MINISTER GETS JOY OUT OF VISITS TO SHUTINS

The many relatives and friends of Rev. Adolph Roedel in Chelsea and vicinity will be interested in the following article which appeared in the Colorado Springs (Colo.) Sunday Gazette and Telegraph on Sunday, August 30, 1936. Rev. Roedel at one time was a member of Salem Grove M. E. church and one of his first pastoral visits was at Waterloo. Rev. Roedel visited in Chelsea and vicinity last spring. The article follows:

Interest in the welfare of his fellow man has taken the Rev. A. Roedel, 81-year-old Methodist Episcopal minister, into the homes of from 15 to 50 Colorado Springs shutins every day of the 14 years the venerable old gentleman has lived in Colorado Springs.

No other minister in the city, perhaps, makes as many calls on the ill and invalids as he does. None enjoys his work more than does the Rev. Mr. Roedel. He counts the last 14 years as among the most blessed of his long life, declaring he has found the greatest degree of pleasure and satisfaction in his pastoral work.

"Only one year have I kept a strict account of the number of visits I made," according to the Rev. Mr. Roedel. "In that year, I made 5,200 calls, which, I believe, is a fair average of my annual visits."

That many visits in a year would make his daily average about 14 calls. He has, however, many times made as many as 40 or 50 calls in one day. The retired minister was born August 24, 1855, in Chelsea, Mich., and to celebrate his eighty-first birthday anniversary, 100 friends and members of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church gave him a party last Monday evening in the church parlors.

For 31 years, the Rev. Mr. Roedel was engaged in work of the church in the San Luis valley of Colorado. He and Mrs. Roedel came to Colorado Springs in 1922 to make their home, the Rev. Mr. Roedel retiring at that time from active work in the church.

By chance he began paying calls to the sick and shutins in an endeavor to cheer them up. He found the undertaking so enjoyable, both for himself and his "hosts" and "hostesses" he increased the scope of his work by making more and more visits.

Mrs. Roedel died here last April, but he has continued to make his daily visits despite his age. His home is at 886 East Williamette avenue.

METHODIST HOME

On Thursday of last week we had as dinner guest, E. E. Calkins of Ann Arbor, who is a member of our Board and a cousin of our Miss Bidwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Postlethwaite have returned from an extended absence and we are glad to see them.

On Sunday evening Mrs. Monroe returned from spending about two weeks at her brother's home in Howell. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Yerkes and daughter Esther, and Mrs. B. Gilks, all of Howell.

Miss McCalla came back to us on Sunday after a week's absence. She had spent the time with her brother's family in Ypsilanti.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Sanson surprised us after being away about five months. Her welcome was waiting for her.

Another member of our Home group who has come back to us is Miss Fleming, who has been spending several weeks in Mt. Clemens.

Last Saturday night Mr. Drake came back and appeared at breakfast the next morning with a happy smile.

Miss Esther Fish rejoiced on Friday over the coming of friends, Mrs. Quale and daughter of Detroit, Mrs. B. E. Giles of Plymouth and Mrs. Elizabeth Christwell of the Methodist Children's Home.

Mrs. Bennett and her father, Dr. Bray, attended the Michigan Conference at Battle Creek on Thursday and Friday. They came home Friday evening in a storm which made them wish they had stayed another day.

Last Sunday, Miss Susan Sopp had the great pleasure of having as guests her nephew's family, Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Sopp and their son Robert of Los Angeles, Calif.; other visitors were her sister, Mrs. John Rickett, and Floyd Rickett, from Miss Sopp's former home, Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Love of Detroit called on Miss Bidwell, Saturday afternoon.

Miss Smith's callers on Saturday were Mrs. Carrie Lane from Chelsea and Mrs. Louis Denight from East Ypsilanti. On Sunday she most happily entertained her brother, Fred Smith from Silver, Oregon, who is in this part of the country for the first time in many years. Her sister's family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Casler and son Harold, from Ypsilanti, came with her brother.

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Jennie Allen went to visit her niece in Ann Arbor; and the next day went to Garden City to attend a reunion of the Swegles family. On her return she stopped again in Ann Arbor and came home Monday night looking as if this might be the promised land of rest.

Last Saturday we had some unusual guests. They were from the Beliger and Dodge Homes in Mishawaka, Indiana. These Homes are under the same management, but in separate buildings on the same premises. Mrs. H. Kriehbaum, the matron, who is an old friend of our Mrs. Bennett, was in charge of the little party of two members of the Home family, Miss Knell and Mrs. Conroy. As there are only eight old ladies in their building, and only fifteen in the combined Home, the size of our family surprised them. Mrs. Lansing took them through the buildings and they were greatly interested.

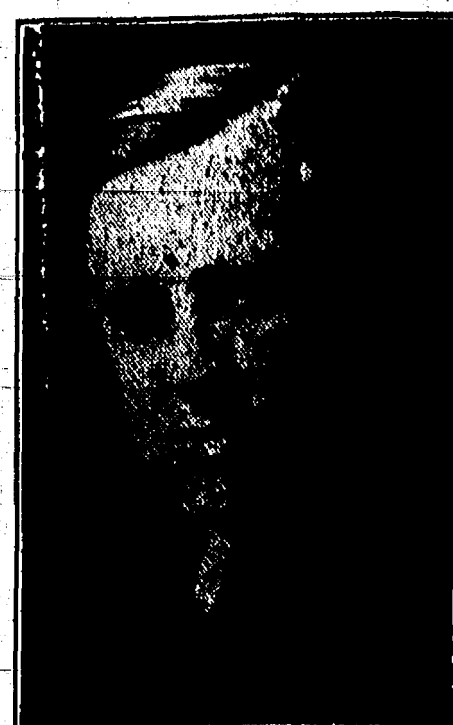

On Monday afternoon the Home had a very unexpected visit from a Mrs. Dunham who lives in Maryland. Mrs. Dunham was much interested in this Home as she is a grand niece of the late Roscoe Reed, who was for some years a member of this family; and a great granddaughter of the late Rev. Seth Reed, who was the first Home Superintendent in the founding of the enterprise, and whose portrait hangs in our parlor.

September 15th was Mrs. Danson's 93rd birthday, but she made sure of it by celebrating on the 12th, which was the only day on which her grandson could help her observe it. Besides Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Danson, her welcome guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smolinski and their two young daughters, also of Detroit. Many gifts were brought, including a delightful lunch. The friends hope to celebrate with her next year on the fifteenth.

On Tuesday afternoon the regular monthly meeting of the W. F. M. S. was held at the Home. About thirty were present and a very interesting program given. Officers were elected for the coming year.

Famous Belgian Cathedral Malines has much to interest visitors but the Cathedral of St. Rombold is the outstanding attraction of the city. It was commenced in the early Twelfth century and took 200 years to complete, and is one of the finest Gothic in Belgium. It has a solitary western tower, 324 feet in height and out of proportion with the rest of the building. Its clock face is enormous—more than forty feet across and nearly twice as large as Big Ben on the houses of parliament in London.

Democratic Senate Candidate Well Known

PRENTISS M. BROWN

The Democratic candidate for United States Senate, Prentiss M. Brown, is by no means a stranger in Washington or a newcomer in activities in the State of Michigan. He is serving his second term in the House as representative of the 11th Congressional District.

The late Speaker Byrnes of the House of Representatives appointed him to the Committee on Reorganization of the Executive Departments. This committee is generally conceded to be the strongest in the 74th Congress, and gives some idea of the standing Congressman Brown held among his colleagues in Washington.

He was also a member of the Banking and Currency Committee from which a great deal of the Recovery legislation originated. He was elected Secretary of the Democratic Caucus for the 74th Congress and served as Acting Chairman of the last two caucuses due to the absence of the chairman.

He was born in St. Ignace, Michigan, June 18, 1889; educated in the city schools, graduating in 1906; went to Albion College, graduating in 1911 with A. B. degree; a scholarship in political economy attracted him to the University of Illinois, in 1911; he became secretary to the dean of the graduate school in 1912; in 1914 he returned to St. Ignace and was admitted to the bar; practiced law with his father until the latter's death in 1920; alone for a time, then with Elmer E. Metz and Edward H. Fenlon, under firm name of Brown, Metz & Fenlon; served as prosecuting attorney of Mackinac County from 1914 to 1926; in 1930, on recommendation of the Supreme Court, appointed by the Governor, a member of the State Board of law examiners, reappointed in 1931 for 5-year term, reappointed for 5-year term in 1936 by Governor Fitzgerald; was chairman of Democratic State convention of 1924, 1932, and 1934; married June 16, 1916 to Marion E. Walker of St. Ignace; they have seven children. Elected to the 73rd Congress; reelected to the 74th Congress by a majority of approximately 7,000 over John J. O'Hara, Republican.

Lord, give me the strength of the pioneer
And the faith of his hardy soul;
Provide me with courage to persevere;
Make me fight till I reach my goal!

Let weaklings indulge in a sheltered life
Where they curse when their luck goes bad
But fit me for battle with storm and strife,
Give me brawn like my fathers had!

I want to be known as a man who wins,
As a fellow with nerve and pluck
Who finishes everything he begins,
And as one who can whip his luck!

Taj Mahal Regarded as World's Handsomest Tomb

Dated history of India begins about 600 B. C., but little was known of that country by Europeans until Alexander the Great's invasion in 326 B. C., says the Detroit News. The Mohammedans conquered most of the country during the Twelfth century and this was succeeded by a great Mongolian invasion.

The Mogul dynasty was established in the sixteenth century, ruling India for about 200 years. French and British trade rivalry by the middle of the Eighteenth century led to the ascendancy of the British East India company, under Clive and Hastings. The Indian mutiny of 1857 led to the transfer of the country from that company to the English crown. In 1877 Queen Victoria was proclaimed Empress of India.

The Taj Mahal near Agra, India, considered by some to be the most beautiful building ever constructed, was built by the Shah Jehan as a tomb for his favorite wife, Mumtaz-i-Mahal. It is of white marble, octagonal, and has an exquisite dome. Its construction required the labors of 20,000 men during a period of 21 years, from 1632 to 1653. Its architect was Ustad Isa.

Belgian Horse Believed Oldest of Pure Breeds

With the exception of Merino sheep, the Belgian horse probably can claim to be the oldest pure breed in the world, says the Montreal Herald.

Records show that draft horses have been bred pure in the Flemish lowlands of Northern Europe since 770 A. D. While they have not always been as heavy as they are today, the Flemish horses have served to carry knights in armor, pull chariots of war, and take part in flat races, as well as cultivate and harvest crops. It is even recorded that some Belgians have been noted for their speed and endurance, and some speeds recorded 100 years ago or more are very creditable.

Of the three well-known British draft breeds, the Clydesdale, the Shire, and the Suffolk, the first two owe much to occasional infusions of blood of the Flemish horse during recent centuries. As long ago as the Fifteenth century the Flemish horse had its legs at that time were presumably much finer than they are today.

"Feather in Your Cap"

The phrase, "feather in your cap," means that something is an honor to you. The allusion is to the very general custom in Asia and among the American Indians of adding a feather to the headgear for every enemy slain. The ancient Egyptians, and many others had a similar custom, and it is still usual for the English sportsman who kills the first woodcock to pick out a feather and stick it in his cap. The custom in one form or another seems to be almost universal. In Hungary at one time none might wear a feather but he who had slain a Turk, and it will be remembered that when Gordon quelled the Taping rebellion he was honored by the Chinese government with the "yellow jacket and peacock's feather."

Law of Life That Enriches

It is a law of life that what we give, unselfishly multiplies and returns to us. In helping others we enrich ourselves in the real things—the things that endure. We develop character—we grow in power and usefulness—we become real men and women, not dwarfs. The moment you fling open the door of your heart, and let your sympathy and helpfulness flow out to shed their fragrance and beauty upon lives that are starving for human fellowship, you begin to develop power. The moment you bottle them up you begin to strangle the best things in you, then you begin to dwarf your power and possibilities. Give and grow!

Nova Scotia Scottish

Nova Scotia, the land of Longfellow's "Evangeline" and popularly believed because of that poem to be largely French and English, is primarily Scottish, according to a correspondent. The opening of Nova Scotia's parliament is accompanied by the skirl of bagpipes, and several newspapers are printed partly in Gaelic. In the Nova Scotian county of Inverness, 72 per cent of the inhabitants speak Gaelic, while less than half in the similarly named county in Scotland can speak that ancient tongue.

Work of Storage Battery

Storage batteries, as the name indicates, supply electric power which has previously been supplied to the batteries when charged. In charging, electric current has produced a chemical change on the lead plates, so that it is chemical energy which is stored up. When the proper electrical connections are made, this chemical energy is transformed into electrical energy. When the storage battery is run down, it has no more chemical energy to transform until it has been recharged.

Windmills in Holland

The windmills in Holland were originally (and that is centuries ago) erected to pump the water from the numerous polders into the surrounding canals and thence to the sea. They were and are used for paper making, the grinding of cereals, splices, and rice, the sawing of lumber, etc., and they also drive dynamos for the generating of electricity in districts where the civil service supply of current does not penetrate.

SHANTY CASTEREN was a sparse, tough, eagle-eyed man who first saw the light of day in a shanty on the city dump. Orphaned at the age of six, he became a milk-and-bread-broiling street urchin. Later he was, variously and progressively, a pickpocket, burglar—and finally, a patient in the Larnes hospital.

It was there young Dr. Dan Allen performed a miracle of surgery by removing a bullet from the lean fringes of Shanty's heart.

The law had placed the bullet there. It also placed Patrolman Tim Moriarty at the convalescent's bedside. The guard, a talkative man, strolled down the corridor for a drink of water one night during the doctor's visit. When he returned, after a protracted give-and-take with the charwoman at the cooler, he found Doctor Allen lying unconscious beside the unattended bed.

Unconscious and alarmed, Shanty Casteren had garbed himself in the doctor's suit after tapping him on the head with the crank of a bed-raiser. The window at the fire escape was open.

In the days that followed, Shanty thought often of the strong, skillful fingers that had snatched him from the grave. Into his remorse-tortured mind came often the vision of the young doctor's dark-haired sweetheart who once had bent playfully over his bed. She was a great singer, yet Doctor Allen had brought her in to see him—Shanty Casteren!

Shanty somewhere in his mispent career had learned to read. He swore when he saw in a paper that Doctor Allen had been forced by criticism to resign from the hospital. The newspaper also had on its front page the announcement that Miss Elsie Vincent, well-known soprano, had broken her engagement with Doctor Allen and was leaving for the Coast.

And so it came to pass that anger, remorse and sympathy were blended with Shanty's native cupidity as he sat, with three mail-robbers, in a den on Eighth avenue at 2 a. m.

Four pairs of hands were deftly slitting the canvas sacks and tearing open the envelopes they contained. It had been a special delivery truck. Even intelligent people will send cash through the mails via special delivery—a fact copiously evidenced by the mounting pile of banknotes on the floor.

The name fairly leaped up and snatched Shanty between the eyes: "Dr. Daniel Allen, 210 Brighton-Place, Apt. C, City." And up in the left-hand corner the initials "G. V."

With fumbling fingers Shanty tore open the envelope, spread out the scented square, read:

"Dear Dan: This letter will reach you early in the morning. Telephone me at once. I shall wait at the phone. If you don't call, I will take the noon plane for San Francisco. If you call, I'll give up my career—everything. . . . Shanty tucked the letter back in its envelope and scrambled swiftly to his feet.

"Hey!" rasped Red Grubbin, "What's the idea?"

He heard a snarling threat, heard Red's deadly voice commanding him to stop. As he pulled the door open, his progress over the sill was accelerated by the impact of a bullet under the shoulder blade. He did not stop running until he reached a brightly lighted street. "Six blocks," he muttered, reducing his flight to a shuffling walk. "That ain't far."

Tiny stars danced in a black curtain before his eyes, but he came finally to a large apartment-house. In the lobby he scanned the mail boxes until he found the name of Doctor Allen. With a deep sigh he dropped the blood-stained letter into the slot and rang the bell.

He started back toward Eighth avenue, pressing his hand hard at his side. The blood trickled down the calf of his leg, flowed into his left shoe.

When Shanty came within sight of the alley he saw a police car and a patrol wagon parked at the entrance. The alley was swarming with cops and detectives. Shanty gasped as he saw Red and the two others being hauled to the wagon.

Stealthily he edged around the corner and started back over the route he had traversed. He spat, and saw it was blood. His knees buckled, so that he had to grab hold of a lamp-post to keep from falling.

Maybe the doctor would get married and buy a little house in the country. He would need a gardener. Shanty choked and spat again. He would make a good gardener.

Young Stream, Old Stream

The Geological survey says that a young stream is one which has accomplished but little in the work of erosion and degradation of the land which is possible for it to do. It is characterized by irregular profile, steep slope, swift current, narrow valley, and numerous rapids, cataracts and sometimes lakes. The Colorado river is an extraordinary example of a young river. The St. Lawrence, once a mature stream, has been rejuvenated, or restored to infancy, by glaciation. An old stream is one which has reduced its basin to the lowest possible level. It would resemble the lower Mississippi; but there is probably not a river in the world which has reached that stage throughout. Rivers are seldom permitted to reach old age, but are either drowned by the sea or restored to youth by the accidents of upheaval or glaciation.

Glove Makers Shave Hides

Alfady's gloves must be delicate, thin and flexible. Mere man can stand heavier materials and is not so particular about whether the fit is skin tight or not. But nature does not make animals' hides of uniform thickness, and it is necessary for glove manufacturers to "shave" the tanned hides to uniform thickness. This operation, says the Scientific American, "consists of passing the hide under a rapidly revolving abrasive roll which grinds on the surface and reduces the thickness to the desired degree. Ordinary grinding is one thing, but hide finishing is another, and extreme accuracy is required. The least wobble in the roll would ruin a hide. This might not seem to be such a problem until one realizes the size of a hide. A machine meets these requirements without any difficulty.

Termites Mistaken for Ant

The termite is a blind, slow moving insect less than a quarter of an inch long, often mistaken for a species of ant. It originated in the tropics, but it is fairly common in the northern hemisphere. Scientists assert that it is a socialized insect with a triple caste system consisting of rulers, which govern and continue to propagate the species; workers, which bore into the wood and provide food for the termite community; and soldiers, who guard the nest, chiefly against ants, their principal natural enemy. The insects sometimes eat away entire floors of buildings, leaving only a paperlike shell that will collapse at the touch. They chew away frames or pictures, undermine roofs—even bore through tin.

Rabies-Rare Disease

Rabies in a dog is a rare disease. But fits, often mistaken for rabies by hysterical people, are common. When a dog falls unconscious, snapping his teeth together, frothing at the mouth, shaking convulsively, it is not a sign of rabies. The only sure way to tell if a dog has rabies is to confine him and watch him carefully.

Mottoes on Clock Dials

When you see a grandfather clock, always look at the dial to discover if the old clockmaker expressed himself in some ancient way. Most of those common on English clocks, are in Latin. One insisted that "Time can do no wrong," to which some was had added, "But wrong can be done at any time." Some of the clocks were intended for certain people like that which said, "By Time, all things are produced and judged." Another in Latin quoted, "Time is the soul of business."

Popular Setters

The name Lowellin is to many people synonymous with the English setter. The three varieties of setters, English, Irish and Gordon, are all endowed with good hunting qualities, but in sporting circles, the English setter is probably used to a greater extent than the others. Its performance in the field has been regarded with favor, but each variety has its own staunch supporters.

Forestry Saves Water The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' association sets out hundreds of thousands of trees annually to restore the native forests of Hawaii, chief watershed for the American sugar producing area in the islands.

"Cave-in-Rock" Was Known as Far Back as in 1744 "Cave-in-Rock" is at the southern tip of Illinois Route No. 1, the Dixie highway. Long before it was known to white men, the Illinois tribes called it the "Habitation of the Great Spirit," says Chicago Daily News.

The first recognition it received by our forefathers was on a map in Charlevoix' "History of New France," published in 1744. At that time the cave was the center of Indian life along the lower Ohio river.

However, as the Indians gradually retired at the advance of the white man, the cave took on a more ominous meaning to the early settlers. It became the rendezvous of robbers who preyed on surrounding settlements and Ohio river traffic. Driven from the cave, the robbers were succeeded by a band of counterfeiters who operated there until cleaned out in 1831. Another band of robbers took up their abode there but their life of crime was short lived, the last of the gang being executed in 1834.

Early Fire Fighters Fire fighting paid in the early days of this country. The Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., says that communities often paid fees for putting out fires. Insurance companies were also glad to reward firemen who saved insured property. Fire marks—cast iron plates placed on the fronts of houses signifying that they were insured with certain companies—spurred the firemen to extra efforts to save such homes. Rival companies raced to the fire. The stories of these races constitute some of the most colorful episodes in the history of fire fighting. Often, saving of property was a secondary factor in what was primarily a sporting event. All sorts of tricks, some of them rather unsportsmanlike, were used to slow up a rival.
