Barbara and Patty Bycraft were riding the bicycle down North Main St. and in crossing the M. C. R. R. tracks struck a bump and were thrown from the wheel. Barbara's head struck a rail and the left side of her upper lip was cut clear through and extended into her nose, and her forehead was cut. She was given first aid treatment in the office of a local doctor and was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's hospital in Ann Arbor. Twelve stitches were taken to close the wound. No bones were broken. Patty Bycraft received slight cuts and bruises.

Reforestation

Previous articles have been written about "reforestation", "water level restoration", "wild life restoration" and other "ations". Now here's a new one: "reforestation". It was used the other day by Miss Ruth Place, a contemporary botanical writer, and seems to be just the word for this time of the year. It means to encourage the growth of wild flowers by natural preservation rather than artificial planting. On the Waterloo Project and surrounding countryside it especially applies for here is found a wealth of wild flowers, trees and shrubs. It is spring and time for nature students, picnickers, and tourists to be filling the highways with their laughter and joy. It is also the time that the shy, helpless wildlings (wild flowers) would scurry to cover if the Lord had seen fit to provide them with some means of eluding their enemies. But as it is, the shy violets and nodding hepaticas along with the bold dogwoods and showy shadblows are ruthlessly torn from the soil or limb and cast into the back seat of the cars or carried until only a wilted mass of a once lovely bloom remains. It would be absolutely unreasonable and narrow-minded to say that no flowers could be collected for nature study but we must use care and common sense in doing so. How many tourists unthinkingly gather armfuls of dogwood or trilliums at the beginning of the drive only to find that when they get home they must be thrown away. Regulations concerning the picking of wild flowers on the Waterloo Area are definitely stated in the Federal Register. Section One of the rules and regulations of the Department of the Interior is quoted as follows:

Preservation of Public Property.

Natural Features and Curiosities—

"The destruction, injury, defacement, removal or disturbance in any way of any public building, sign, equipment, marker, or other structures, or of any tree, flower, vegetation, rock, mineral formation, or of any animal, bird, or other wild life," Lansing—Paralleling Gov. Murphy's labor relations bill (House Bill 571) which would invest the state executive with authority of a strike dictator is a milk control board bill (House Bill 368 by Hatch, Priest, Jarvis and Schneider) which would give the state authority to fix the price of milk.

Both measures are far-reaching in their proposals to increase state powers.

What the labor relations bill would do to industrial centers, the farm control bill would do to rural dairy centers. Both would set up the state government as the mighty arbiter between labor and the producer.

Declares Roy McDonald of St. Clair, vice-president of the Michigan Farmers' Union, which is urging enactment of the milk control bill: "Farmers are on the verge of a strike in Michigan."

Opposing the price-fixing plan are the National Milk Producers association and the State Milk Producers association, whose officials believe that governmental tinkering of the law of supply and demand would merely increase prices, lower demand, and leave the producer no better off than he is today.

As this news letter pointed out five weeks ago, the agitation for minimum wages, maximum hours and other benefits to industrial workers could not reach the point of a state statute without a similar agitation being started among farmers for state regulation of farm prices. The gate was opened wide to such price-fixing when the United States supreme court upheld a Virginia milk price control law, declaring that the state possessed such powers in the interest of public welfare.

Settlement of many sit-down strikes in Michigan was made on the basis of higher wages to workers, (Continued on back page)

Monotony produces fatigue. Statistics show that some of our most serious accidents—in fact, the largest percentage of them—are caused by drivers smashing up on straight roads.

Possibly the solution is to have winding roads, well marked, so that the attention of the driver will be on his driving at all times. While many accidents do occur, of course, on hills and curves, a great many others occur on wide, straight, smooth highways.

It's all very well to increase your alertness when the road is full of twists, turns, and hills. Never let yourself take it too easy at any time while driving an automobile.

or of any ruins or relics, or of any public property of any kind is prohibited.

Provided, that flowers may be gathered in small quantities when, in the judgment of the Project Manager, their removal will not impair the beauty of the area. Before any flowers are picked, permit must be secured from the Project Manager.

Collections for scientific or educational purposes shall be permitted only in accordance with written permits first had and obtained from the Project Manager.

It has been said above that there is a wealth of wild flowers in the park; not in numbers but in kinds. Almost every flower native to southern Michigan may be found here. Perhaps one has to tramp for hours before a certain kind is found. The writer has tramped miles throughout Michigan and has seen very few fringed gentians and these in almost inaccessible places. Why? Because man, as the economist, has cleared the land for farming. (Waterloo Project is eliminating this detrimental factor on the project area.) And man, as the tourist, picnicer, and hiker has unthinkingly picked the flowers in his enthusiasm and joy of finding them. But one must remember that one gentian picked means numberless flowers forever kept from the eyes of future nature lovers. It takes much training to be able to see a lovely thing and keep from picking it. But it is better to use a camera and preserve the flowers' beauty as long as possible, or pause before a flowering dogwood or blushing trillium and let its beauty of form and color sink into the soul so that in days to come it will flash upon the inward eye and bring back the joy of first beholding it.

The second detrimental factor of the wildlings is being encouraged by the Waterloo Project, that is, the picnicer, the tourist, and nature student are welcome. But most of all we must have the attractions to bring them here: the trees, the animals, the fish and wild flowers. Trees can be planted, animals introduced, fish raised, but when it comes to the flowers the problems begin. There are laws to protect the fish, the birds, the trees and animals. But outside of the park the poor wild flower is free to everyone's grasping hand. And even then it cannot run and hide as can the bird or animal. So what can the poor thing do? Nothing, except rely upon the kindness and thoughtfulness of man.

If, for any reason, one desires to collect wild flowers for study be sure they are not rare or will not wither up in a few minutes after picking. A box lined with damp cotton is the best way to keep one's specimens while in the woods or field. A sheet of waxed paper to cover them in the box is of great benefit.

No matter what one's walk in life may be, whether a farmer, a poet, an engineer or an artist, the charm and beauty of a wild flower brings about some undefinable response in the breasts of all. Preserve this beauty for the future nature students by sharing the all-to-fleeting beauty of the flowers with the lover of beauty who may tread the same trail tomorrow.

FARMERS' UNION NEWS

N. C. Peterson, H. Harvey, L. Loveland, W. Horning, E. Maute, C. Bertke, E. Bristle, F. Kennedy, F. Seitz, E. Dancer, E. Eisenmann, D. Harr and A. Lindauer of Sylvan and Lima Local 254 of the Farmers' Union motored to Lansing on Wednesday evening, May 12, to attend the public hearing of the Milk Control Board Bill. Speakers in favor of the bill were Mr. Bramble, State Master of the Grange; Mr. Hull, president of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association; Mr. Beach, secretary of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association; Mr. White of Kalamazoo; and opposing the bill were Rep. James Helme; Chas. Lockwood, an attorney from Detroit; Roy McDonald, vice-president of the State Farmers' Union; an attorney from the milk distributors' group of Saginaw; and Walter Nelson, an attorney representing the Farmers' Union of Detroit.

By the applause given the speakers against the bill the sentiment of the audience was very plainly determined as against the measure. The meeting was very well attended.

Products of the Coconut

Familiar products of the coconut, in addition to the milk, are hair, oil and creams and fibre for mattresses. Some products, however, are not so familiar. Items such as cups and saucers, brooms, vinegar, cattle food, soap, candles, margarine, perfumes, honey and treacle, baskets, rope and ship's cables, are among the hundred and one other articles of commerce. Ink may be added to the list. This is made from coconut shell charcoal and is of good quality.

Collie, Intelligent Dog

The collie is one of our most intelligent, companionable, and beautiful breeds. It is happiest where it has plenty of room for exercise, because it is an active dog. The point is that the breed actually comes from a long line of working dogs that like to work, and they learn quickly. They like their homes and watch over them. However, there are breeds that are used a great deal for watch or guard duty.

MASON—Dr. D. L. Caswell, superintendent of the state game farm, is jubilant over the hatching of five Canadian goose eggs in the game farm incubators. The hatching of geese by incubators is rare and former experiments at the game farm with the eggs of wild geese have been unsuccessful. Nineteen eggs of Canadian wild geese were gathered after the snow storm, April 15. The storm made a quagmire of the nesting grounds used by the geese. Despite the failure of former experiments with goose eggs another attempt was made to hatch out the eggs this spring. Success attended the experiment and now conservation authorities throughout the United States are seeking information regarding the recent hatching. —County News.

The Hi-Light

Edited By The PUPILS OF THE CHELSEA PUBLIC SCHOOL

Concert

Last Tuesday night the band and orchestra made their first public appearance before a Chelsea audience. The first part of the program consisted of the following numbers played by the orchestra and brass quartet: "War March of the Priests," by Mendelssohn; "Lullaby" by Brahms; and the quartette played "Deep River," a Negro melody. The orchestra finished by playing "Unfinished Symphony" (Excerpt) by Schubert.

The second half of the program consisted of the band, which was assembled on the stage, playing "Military Band" by Paul Yoder as the curtain opened. The other numbers played were "Poem" by Zerkko Fihlah; "Come Sweet Death" by Bach; "Sylvia" by Oley Speaks. On this number Duane Weiss played a solo, "Blind Man's Movie" by Paul Yoder, with Rolly White as soloist; "Military March" by Harold Bennett. This brought to a close a successful evening which we have strived for for a long time.

At the beginning of the year we elected officers for both organizations, but we decided we would have the same ones for both groups. Those who were elected are: Manager, Larry Prudden; Asst. Manager, Larry Fitch; Personnel Manager, Carner Bloom; Librarian, Adolph Duerr.

At the end of the year letters will be awarded to members that have the required points for attending rehearsal regularly.

We wish to extend our thanks to our mothers and fathers for co-operating with us to present this concert, the merchants who have given us the patronage by placing their ads on our program sheet, and to the public who attended the concert.

Faculty Steak Roast

Mr. Wallis can broil steaks very nicely, judging from the taste of the steak at the faculty steak roast which was held Thursday night at Delhi. The students might have enjoyed seeing Mr. Hargreaves and Mr. Wallis having a steak-eating contest for which the prize was a banana.

Mrs. Blecker and Miss Jean Irwin were guests at the steak roast. Teachers of both elementary school and high school were invited.

Mr. Blecker, Mr. Wallis, Mr. Hargreaves and Mr. Johnson had to change a tire on Mr. Wallis' car before they could come home.

The members enjoyed themselves so much that they intend to have another before school is out.

Inquiring Reporter

How would you like to have an activity period next year?

Mary Jane B.—It's swell because it makes attending class meetings much easier.

Joan W.—I like it. It gives you more time if you don't have to go to meetings after school.

Don C.—It's a great idea. Maybe this will bring more Journalism members to the meetings.

Margaret H.—I think it's a good idea for class meetings, etc. wouldn't interfere with regular classes.

Ruth Y.—It's a grand idea. You can go to class meetings, etc. and they won't take your study halls away from you.

Gretchen Burg.—It's O. K. with me. More people interested in class activities and makes better co-operation.

Chelsea Loses

Chelsea was defeated by Tecumseh on Thursday afternoon, May 13. Kennedy and Brueckner played a good game, displaying some of the famed Junior cooperation. The star of the game was Koebbe, with two doubles and a walk out of three times at bat. This display of Junior talent wasn't enough to win the game, however.

The only two errors of the game were made by Chelsea players, Spaulding and Barth. Line-ups were as follows:

Chelsea	Tecumseh
Brueckner c	Robinson
Koebbe 1b	Smith
Beaman 2b	Hunt
Prudden 3b	Cleveland
Marsh ss	Kelly
Bahnmler lf	W. Domar
Barth rf	Baashy
Spaulding cf	Hardy
Kennedy p	C. Domar

E. Haffey—Sub. for Barth.
L. Niehaus—Sub. for Marsh.

Final scores were: Chelsea, 1 run, 2 errors; Tecumseh, 2 runs, 0 errors.

Defeat Manchester

On Tuesday, May 11 Manchester came to Chelsea with hopes of defeating us, but the Chelsea nins felt the need of a victory for Chelsea and went out to win. The game was a hard-fought one right up to the finish.

The Manchester pitchers, Marx and Luckfast, played a great game and Rlyway, the catcher, also played well.

The only misfortune of the game, from Chelsea's point of view, was the necessity for removing John "Jake" Alber from the game because of an ankle injury.

The line-ups were:

Chelsea	Manchester
Brueckner c	Rlyway
Koebbe 1b	Middlemess
Beaman 2b	Mauver
Prudden 3b	Golas
Alber ss	Cushman
Bahnmler lf	Parr
Spaulding cf	Merz
Barth rf	Proctor
E. Haffey p	Marx

Marsh—Sub. for Alber.
Genness—Sub. for Mauver.
Luckfast—Sub. for Marx.

Final scores were: Chelsea, 5 runs, 4 errors; Manchester, 2 runs, 0 errors.

Editorial

Why is it that a teacher may not leave his or her class for a minute without the pupils acting like first-graders? Must a teacher be embarrassed by a noisy and uncontrollable group of silly pranksters? Being left on the honor of the group apparently means little to some people. Erasers, books and anything in sight is hurled through the air amid shouts and dodging pupils. One's life is barely safe. This surely doesn't help the school or the pupils. This year is nearly over now, but it is not too late

Elementary News

Second Grade

Betty Scripser has been so sick that last Thursday she was taken to the hospital in Ann Arbor. We hope she can come back soon.

Last week on Thursday afternoon we had our Song Festival. We all looked very nice and we sang our best, which was very good! Our mothers came to hear us and they were much pleased with what Miss Boongaard had helped us to accomplish.

Both groups have finished their readers and will have at least one more book before school closes.

We have in our school room many different kinds of spring flowers: Cow slips, May flowers or hepaticas, iris, cherry and pear blossoms and a few apple and apricot blossoms.

Some of us had our radios tuned in Wednesday morning and heard some of the announcements and lots of the noise over in London during the King's coronation.

Third Grade

Jack has had the most perfect attendance record in the class for this year.

The third grade is studying hard to make vacation come more quickly. Most of us have some interesting place to go.

The teacher wishes to thank the pupils, especially Eldore and Edwin, for the lovely flowers they have been bringing for our newly painted vases. Arthur, Marion, and Fred made an excellent bookcase out of orange crates. Marion did a fine job on some book-ends. Some of the boys are making original designs on boards. They will color or paint their designs.

Myra won the spell-down again. Fifteen children had a perfect score in spelling Friday. Just ask one if you want to know if his score was perfect. If he did get one-hundred he'll be pleased enough to tell you in a wink.

Fourth Grade

Last Friday we received our bird leaflets and buttons from the Audubon Society. We chose the Ruby-throated Hummingbird to study first. Some of the children have decided to form a Loli club. If ten subscriptions are sent in, we will get the club buttons free and also a large picture of Loli.

The class in reading has been divided into two reading groups. Helen Loeffler was the first leader of the oral reading group and Naida Olson helped next.

Our invitations to our parents for the Music Festival were made as folders on which we sketched two birds singing.

Only two spring pictures were chosen last week. Norman Krontz's picture was first choice and Nancy Every's was second.

We are glad that James Gaunt is back with us again.

Sixth Grade

James B. is back after being out with whooping cough. We are glad he is back.

Mrs. Eaton got the Poppy Posters on Saturday, May 15. Dick S. worked on his Saturday to get it finished. The posters are at the library. Some of them are good. We hope a Sixth Grader will win the prize.

In Geography, Janet and Helen are coloring the French possessions on the world map blue.

Some of us are making Coronation Notebooks. It will give them extra credit in Geography.

We are going to have a three weeks review in music.

Early Name of Cincinnati

The name Losantiville became Cincinnati at the word of Gen. Arthur St. Clair, first governor of the Northwest territory. On a visit there in January of 1790, the rough-and-tumble soldier showed his dislike of what he called an effeminate-sounding name by ordering that the town be known as Cincinnati. This latter name was in honor of the Order of Cincinnati, a society of officers of the American Revolution.

Military Honors for Vineyard

The vineyard of Clos-Vougeot near Dijon, France, is the only spot of its kind in the world that is accorded military honors by the army of its country. Ever since about 1810, when a certain colonel made his regiment salute it because he liked its wine, every body of troops passing that way has also stopped and honored it in this manner.—Collier's Weekly.

Stills Long in Use

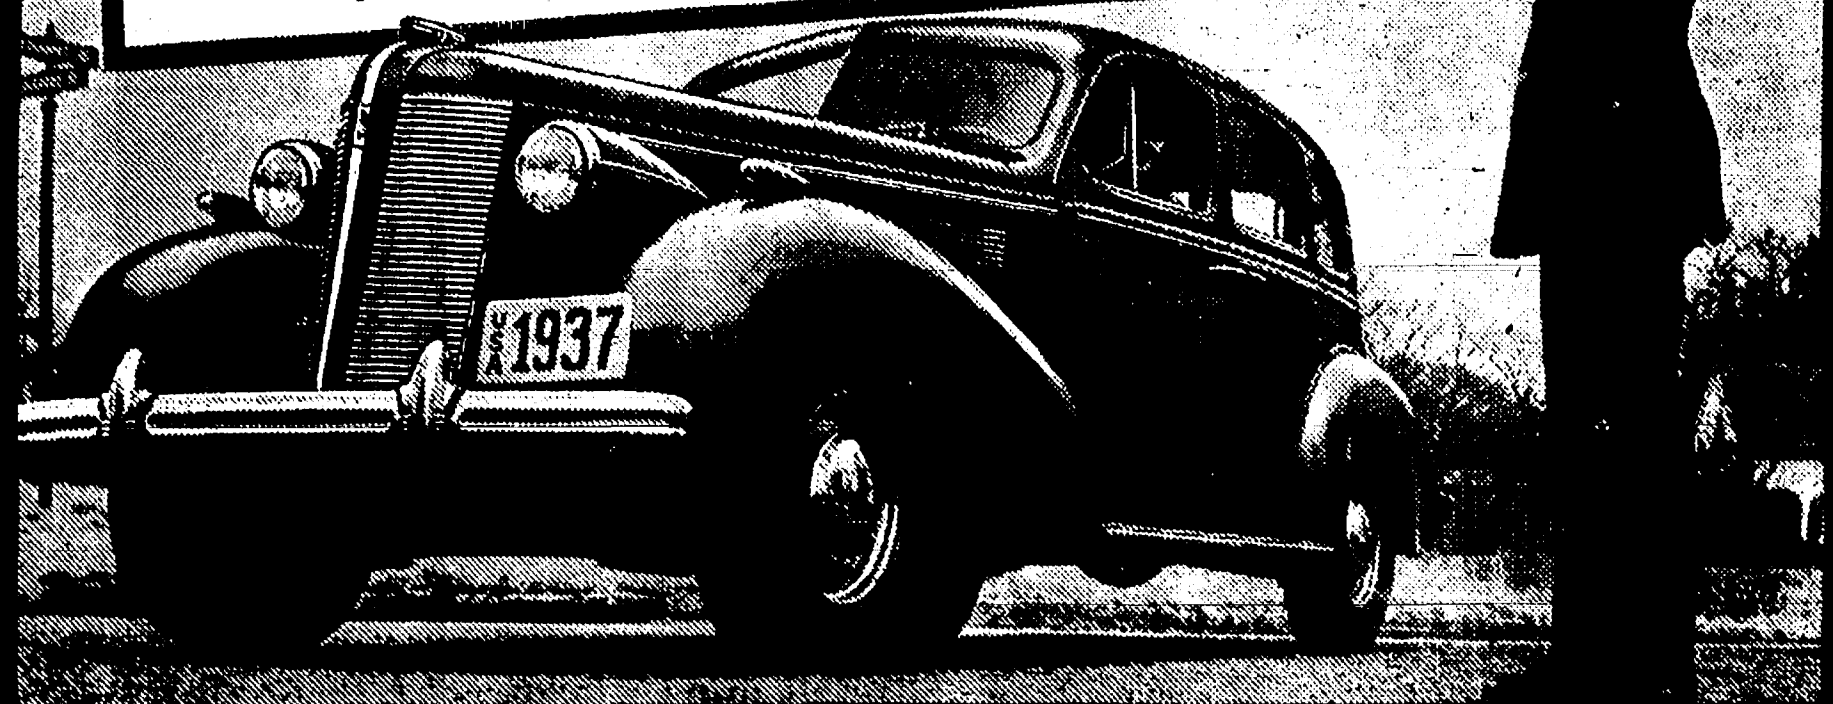

A means of utility, as well as amusement, stills have been used by all people in all ages. Their chief usefulness to man is in marshy or swampy regions, notably in France and Belgium. In some regions of the former country, shepherds, farmers and marketmen spend the greater part of their lives on stills. A French baker walked on stills from Paris to Moscow in 60 days in 1899.

Bundling into one pocket-size book all the dollar-saving facts about gasoline mileage gleaned from the World's Greatest Road Test last summer, the Standard Oil Company released today the results of millions of miles of test car driving by thousands of motorists like yourself.

Remarkable possibilities for increased economy in the public's consumption of gasoline are revealed in the statements of the test car drivers themselves.

Standard Oil Company has long felt, and the World's Greatest Road Test definitely proved, that many motorists are not enjoying the gasoline economy they might. Encouraged by the records of many drivers who were able to show savings ranging as high as one gallon in every ten, we are going to do everything possible this summer to help individual drivers help themselves to more miles per gallon.

More than 23,000 Standard Oil Dealers have just been provided with initial allotments of the book "How to SAVE AS YOU DRIVE!" These, together with complete details of Standard's SAVE AS YOU DRIVE plan, will be distributed, starting today, to all interested drivers who request them. The books are free—while they last. Wealth and Fame

TO ONE looking out over a world of human endeavor, it may appear that the chief objective of men is to acquire material wealth and fame. While some may be striving to procure daily meals, others may be trying to gain millions. Some may seek to be heard by their neighbors, while others strive to be heard by nations. And because of erroneous mortal beliefs men often work strenuously for material wealth and fame, giving little thought to the gaining of genuine substance, that which alone sustains and prospers man.

To the materially minded, to darkened mortal sense, wealth and fame may mean merely perishable gold and personal glory, while to the spiritually enlightened they mean something far greater. They mean true substance and honor—imperishable, impersonal, and eternal. In either case, wealth and fame are two significant words.

Since God is infinite good, spiritual and eternal, can that which has only a material or temporal existence be truly good? If wealth is good, it must be of God; therefore, it is not material but spiritual, not temporal but eternal; not uncertain and perishable but certain and imperishable. Genuine wealth lies in spiritual understanding.

Did not Christ Jesus say (Matthew 6:33): "Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you?" And these words have a very simple meaning. They mean that if we seek to know and understand God aright, every human need will be abundantly met.

Now the word "fame" is defined, in part, by our dictionaries as "lofty (or exalted) reputation derived from great achievements." What achievements could be greater than healing the sick and raising the dead as did Jesus of Nazareth? Was it not surely a great achievement to feed five thousand—with "but five loaves, and two fishes"—at hand, and to have much food remaining after all had eaten. It is recorded that as Christ Jesus went about Galilee "healing all manner of sickness," "his fame went throughout all Syria" (Matthew 4:23, 24). No spiritual achievements can be greater than those of the master Christian.

The wealthiest, most famed; and most powerful individual ever to dwell among men was Christ Jesus, yet he possessed little of the world's riches. This, however, did not prevent him from meeting every human need, even for the multitudes who turned to him for help.

All will agree that power is resident in truth. And we learn through Christian Science that God is Truth, and that God is substance. Hence, genuine substance, including wealth, honor, and potency, is purely spiritual; therefore eternal. The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 468): "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay." Jesus proved substance to be God, good; hence harmonious and permanent.

He who possesses a true understanding of God and of man's relationship to Him, and sincerely strives to live the divine precepts, is vastly richer than he who may have gained great worldly possessions or mere personal popularity, but does not know God. Solomon humbly sought first of all "an understanding heart" that he might "discern between good and bad" (I Kings 3:9). Solomon was wise, indeed, for the record continues, assuring us that God not only gave Solomon "an understanding heart," but "both riches, and honor." In his parable (Luke 12:16-21) Jesus tells of "a certain rich man" who believed he had "much goods laid up for many years;" and decided to build greater storage facilities for his rapidly accumulating wealth; but "God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." And the parable continues, "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

Mrs. Eddy wrote (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous, pp. 283, 284): "Lured by false pride for gold, success is dangerous, but the choice of folly never fastens on the good or the great." Indeed, it is not sinful to express abundance or to be known and loved. Such achievements, however, should be the fruit of Christianly scientific demonstration, else one has a very uncertain claim to them. Whatever spiritual good one may acquire through his understanding of the Christ, Truth, is imperishable. As one gains true understanding, he grows rich in genuine substance, including wealth and honor, health and joy, harmony and prosperity.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Galapagos Islands

The striking feature of the Galapagos Islands from a natural history standpoint is that a large proportion of the plants and animals found there are unlike those of any other part of the world and stranger still, although separated by only a few miles of ocean, each island has its own species of the same birds and reptiles which are not found on any of the other islands.

Use for Rattlesnakes

In the desert country of the American Southwest rattlesnakes are turned to many profitable uses by the native folk. Rattlesnake barbecue are not uncommon, for the reptilian flesh is eaten with relish when roasted over a grid. Rattlesnakes are raised on farms for their skins, their oil and their venom.

Porecupine Quill

When attacked by dogs or other animals, the porcupine often inflicts severe wounds on its foes with the long quills on its hind quarters by pushing backward, and sometimes quills thus fastened in the flesh of an animal may pull out, but the porcupine has no power to detach its quills.

LAUNCH NEW CAMPAIGN
Chicago—Believing that the automobile driver is the best judge of what motoring aids should be offered the public by the gasoline dealer, the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has launched a campaign of inquiry, called a "service survey", among car operators in thirteen central western states.
In a series of advertisements in some 1500 daily and weekly newspapers, the company is asking the motorist's opinion of the numerous services now given by Standard Oil dealers for his safety, comfort and convenience, and for suggestions which may augment or improve these aids.
To more than 120 motorists who, in the opinion of three judges, submit the most valuable suggestions before the close of the survey on June 15th, the company will pay a total of $5000. Standard Oil dealers who assist the car drivers who receive cash awards will be paid a like sum, making a total of $10,000 to be distributed.

Wolf Is Cunning
The wolf tribe is cunning. The European wolf, which resembles our timber wolf, even invades French villages during severe winters and, when hard pressed for food, has contrived to snatch babies. The coyote, a smaller species of wolf, also shows the family cunning. Usually two coyotes work together. One will start a deer and chase it around in a circle until it comes back to the starting point. The second coyote then takes up the chase. When the deer is finally exhausted both pull it down and have a feast.

Dog, Fox Bark; Wolf Howls
We are told that our domestic dog has descended from the wolf and not from the fox. Wolf and fox have many characteristics in common, but there is a very marked difference in the structure of their bodies, observes a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. Almost the only claim that can be made for a distant relationship between dog and fox is that both bark, while wolves howl.

"Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord, Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, And the God of all comfort, Who comforteth us in all our tribulations, That we be able to comfort them Which are in trouble by the comfort Wherewith we ourselves are comforted."

Oh, not alone for our own sakes, For our refreshing and rest, Does God lay His hand on the throbbing nerves

And quiet the soul oppressed. And not alone for our pleasure, For the sake of our selfish ease Does He lift the weight of our burdens

Or in the storm speak peace. We are not storerooms, but channels, We are not cisterns, but springs, Passing our benefits onward,

Lifting our blessings with wings, Letting the water flow freely To spread o'er the desert forlorn, Sharing our bread with our brothers,

Our comforts with those who mourn. Learning our lessons to teach them To others as needy as we, Lest those coming after should stumble, Smoothing a path while we see. Goodness shall follow our footsteps, And angels unnumbered surround With glory and honor He crowns us, His mercies uncounted abound.

We are weak but His power upholds us, And grants us the courage to live; We are poor but He gives us His riches

That we may have something to give. (A special selection)

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Why is a horseshoe usually considered a symbol of good luck?
Ans.—The belief that a horseshoe is an emblem of a harbinger of good luck is exceedingly ancient. In fact, its origin dates back to about the second century. Its origin is not definitely known, but one traditional theory is that the horseshoe is supposed to owe its protective powers to its fanciful resemblance to the halo that is usually pictured surrounding the heads of angels or saints.

Ques.—What is a jota?
Ans.—Jota, which is pronounced "ho-tah," is a Spanish dance in triple time. The movements resemble the waltz.

Ques.—Can you tell me what the tinfoil is made of which is used in packing cigarettes?

Ans.—The average tinfoil used in wrapping cigarettes is about five per cent tin and 95 per cent lead. A small amount of copper or antimony is added to make the foil hard and durable.

Ques.—I am told that man lives about 30 years longer on the average than he lived a hundred years ago. Why is that, if it is true?

Ans.—We have no such records. But it may be so in order to get his taxes paid.

Ques.—Who are the Hottentots?

Ans.—The Hottentots are a race of people inhabiting South Africa. They are allied to the Bushmen and the Bantus and sprung from an ancient stock of these two tribes. They are not civilized.

Ques.—Where are the Hanging Gardens which are classed as one of the seven wonders of the world? How old are they?

Ans.—The Hanging Gardens are located at Babylon. They were built about 700 B. C. by Nebuchadnezzar to gratify his queen Amyctis for the purpose of making the plains of Babylon less dreary to her when contrasted with the mountain scenery of her native land.

Ques.—Does the Congress of the United States have the right to coin and regulate the value of money, as Father Coughlin says?

Ans.—Yes. In Article I, section 8, paragraph 5, of the Constitution of the United States, it explicitly says: "The Congress shall have power to coin money, regulate the value thereof."

Ques.—What becomes of the millions, billions, and squillions upon squillions of pins that are made and used?

Ans.—You have us pinned with this question. However, we don't think they go any place as pins are pointed in one direction and headed in another.

Ques.—How many Catholic Popes have there been since the Christian era began?

Ans.—According to the Catholic Encyclopedia there were 261 Popes from St. Peter down to Pius XI.

Ques.—How did the phrase "O. K." originate?

Ans.—The origin of this phrase is not known for sure. However, Webster's International Dictionary (latest edition) says that "O. K." is probably derived from the Indian Choctaw word "okeh," pronounced "okay," which means "it is so."

Ques.—What is the total square mileage of the United States?

Ans.—The square mileage of the mainland of the United States is 3,026,789 miles. The area of Alaska and the island possessions is 711,606 square miles, making the grand total nearly 4,000,000 square miles.

Ques.—Why is a certain specie of birds called a "swift"?

Ans.—Swifts are so called because they are the swiftest of the bird flyers. They can out-distance or out-maneuver their enemies when attacked. It is their only defense.

Ques.—During what month do the most thunderstorms occur?
Ans.—In July, according to weather statistics.

Meerschium Soft Mineral
 Meerschium means "sea foam." It is a soft white mineral sometimes found floating on the Black sea. Most of the meerschium of commerce, however, is mined in Asia Minor, where it occurs in irregular masses. When first extracted, meerschium is soft, but hardens when exposed to heat. The mineral is first scraped to remove adhering earth, then dried, scraped again and covered with wax. The rudely shaped masses thus prepared are sent to Vienna and other centers and manufactured into finished articles.

Defining "Impeach"
 To impeach a person holding public office, from President down, is to bring accusations of misconduct against him and call him to account before a competent tribunal. In this country, the house of representatives has the power to impeach federal officers, while the senate has sole power to try all impeachments.

thus adding to the spiraling cost of products which the farmer has to buy, although farm prices have not advanced to a corresponding degree.

Passage of the milk control bill would mean higher prices for consumers by restricting competition among producers.

The legislature has already passed a trade mark bill giving the manufacturer the right to fix prices of goods to be sold in Michigan and penalizing retailers who undercut these established prices.

It is of interest to note that legislative steps to restrict competition in business inevitably lead to higher prices for the consumer to pay. The NRA and its attempts to restrain competition served to whet the appetite of independent retailers for similar state regulation now aimed principally at chain store competitors.

It now appears as if the milk control board plan, stabilizing the dairy industry in Michigan, is sought primarily by independent producers—"the little fellows"—as a means of lessening competition from the big producers, many of whom are organized nationally like chain store companies.

Michigan may have a dairy "AAA" in a few months if the milk price-fixing bill is enacted into law by the legislature.

Sale of liquor by the glass in all communities, excepting those specifically voting against it, would be permitted in Michigan under a bill favored by the House liquor traffic committee. It would set up a $500 annual license fee for taverns selling beer, wine and liquor by the glass and would prohibit sale of liquor to persons under 21.

Twenty per cent of the voters of any community could initiate a referendum on the question of sale by the glass.

Since the days of King Louis XIV of France, who imposed bone-dry prohibition on the French post at St. Ignace, Michigan has been wrestling with the liquor problem. The solution is like a mirage; it is not what you thought it was going to be.

Paul called the church "the body of Christ." And he said to this body, "Let the mind of Christ dwell in you." When the mind is ready for action, the body is always the agent of that action. If we are the body of Christ, then we should strive for his mind in all things, and when we feel that we have determined his mind, we should give ourselves to the carrying out of his will.

Green Stands for Immortality
 Green, which stands for immortality, is regarded by Mohammedans as a sacred color, and is seldom employed by the orthodox Mohammedan in weaving rugs and carpets. When Mahomet made one of his flights (hagira) from Mecca to Medina, his followers raised a flag, of green cloth, which was most accessible at the time, and thereafter it became the sacred color of Mohammedans. The irregularity of design in rugs, which may appear to be the result of carelessness, is frequently the intentional work of a devout weaver to emphasize his belief that only Allah can be perfect.

Diamond Demon-Chaser
 The Hindus believed that the diamond drove away demons and devils, according to a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. It cured any disease, especially blood poisoning and jaundice. Worn on the left arm it protected one against plague and cholera. Blind eyes washed in the water a diamond had lain in would be restored to sight, they said. It prevented madness when worn on the neck.
