Grading of Streets Is Started By Village

Work of preparing Chelsea streets for dustless surfacing is now getting well under way. Some grading work has been done with the use of the village power scraper, and on Wednesday a large patrol grader was brought here by the S. G. Hayes Co. of Detroit, contractors on this season's street improvement work. This heavy grader will be used on streets which cannot be touched with the lighter machine owned by the village.

According to W. J. Emmons of Ann Arbor, engineer on the improvement project, the streets are in very bad condition owing to the heavy rains, and it will be necessary to install proper drainage on some of the streets before he will recommend the application of any kind of a dustless surfacing. Drainage of Madison street from Jefferson to Park is now being taken care of with a new 12-inch tile drain which will connect with another drain at Park street.

Another step in the preparation of proper base for surfacing work will be the digging-out of many sand pockets in the streets and filling with gravel. There are many of these pockets and if the sand is not replaced with gravel the base will not hold up under the traffic strain.

The engineer will not recommend the placing of either oil mix or seal coat on the streets until the base is properly prepared and for this reason there may be some delay in the final application of surfacing on some streets. However, village officials feel that to spend funds for better streets in the village without doing the work properly would be a waste of money, and they plan to follow the recommendations of the engineer.

The first shipment of oil to be used for surfacing work will arrive next week and it is hoped that work will progress satisfactorily, and that all streets in the village will be dustless before fall, surfaced with either an oil mix or seal coat.

Holstein Breeders To Hold Show on Saturday

Washtenaw county Holstein breeders have completed arrangements for their first "Black and White" show for next Saturday, July 24, at the Washtenaw county fair grounds from 9:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. 51 head of cattle of different ages have been promised by Washtenaw breeders for this event. A judging contest will be held at 10:30 for members of 4-H dairy club, Future Farmers of America, and breeders. A fine heifer calf will be given as first prize to the boy or girl winning in their contest.

Professor George Taylor of the dairy department, Michigan State College, will do the judging. E. M. Clark of the national Holstein association will give a short address at the afternoon meeting. Other prominent officers of the state association are planning to be present. Wm. Austin, Saline, will be superintendent in charge.

Holstein breeders, their families and friends are invited to this show and are planning a picnic dinner for noon.

BRIDE-TO-BE HONORED

Guests at the luncheon included Mrs. Richard Braund and Miss Gale Clark of Detroit, Mrs. Elah Johnston of Battle Creek, Mrs. Henry Thierman of Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. George Turnbull of Grosse Pointe, Mrs. Kenneth Rowe of Wayne and Miss Betty Chandler of Charlotte. ### Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alliman
Michigan Press Association

Lansing—Michigan, the air-conditioned summer resort state of America, goes on parade this week.

The occasion is the visit of approximately 850 newspaper editors from all parts of the United States—New England, East, South, Middle-West, and the great West—for the annual convention and tour of the National Editorial association. What these editors say about Michigan will be read by more than 1,000,000 persons—a vast audience.

Michigan newspapers have a personal interest in the party, as 272 of them—members of the 62-year-old Michigan Press association—are the official host. Today (July 22) the editors leave Detroit by a special air-conditioned train for Grand Rapids. Grand Rapids' two dailies, Press and Herald, and nearby weekly newspapers will show the editors why the city is known as the furniture capital of the world.

At Muskegon the publishers are to be met by a caravan of automobiles, provided by proud citizens, who will take them on a sightseeing tour. A dinner at the Elks' temple will be an exposition prelude with a newspaper editor, Archie McCrae of the Muskegon Chronicle, serving as master of ceremonies.

Lumberjack Festival

Once the lumber capital of the Great Lakes, Muskegon is today an enterprising industrial and resort center, taking full advantage of its strategic location with the aid of an up-and-coming chamber of commerce.

Along the harbor front Muskegon has created a miniature world's fair—an exposition devoted to a portrayal of the city's 100 years of history. On the very site of the exposition once stood a bustling lumbermill, roaring out lumber by the millions of feet for boats to rush to Chicago in its reconstruction days after the great fire.

The part that the lumberjack played in the early days of Michigan is being commemorated by this Muskegon fair.

Next Sunday, July 25, a concert will be given by the National High School band of Interlochen under the personal direction of Percy Grainger, composer. This event will take place at Hackley Field, high school stadium, accommodating 20,000 spectators.

Hollywood Beauties Will Appear at Fair

A bevy of Hollywood beauties who daily defy death with a smile on their charming faces just to thrill moving picture audiences and to safeguard the names that are famous in the motion picture industry will appear at the Washtenaw County Fair, Ann Arbor, Tuesday afternoon only, August 31.

The troop is headed by Mary Wiggin, the most sensational girl daredevil of her time and a girl who has doubled for practically every famous movie queen of the last five years.

When you see an automobile careening into a tree or over an embankment or crashing head-on with another car in the movies, or a girl jumping from the top of a train to a ladder hung below an airplane, or swimming in shark infested waters or doing any of a hundred other death-defying stunts it is almost a sure bet that girl is Mary Wiggin.

Her services have become so much in demand that she has been forced to groom some other girls to accept the jobs she has to turn down and the girls who will appear with her at the fair are the ones she has trained for the movie roles.

The show that will be presented is rated as the foremost daredevil program in which girls take part every put together. Many of the stunts not even male daredevils will attempt. The girls go through their hair-raising and spine-tingling acts in automobiles and on motorcycles.

There are 14 individual acts to the program, with some of them almost unbelievable, especially when it is remembered they are performed by women.

ADMITS LOCAL ROBBERIES

Kenneth Pollard, 19 years old, of 805 Spring St., Ann Arbor, was arrested at his home on Friday evening, after Peter Madden of this place identified him as the person he saw in the Geo. Seitz restaurant early Wednesday morning. He confessed to the robbery on Sunday, waived justice court examination on Monday forenoon, pleaded guilty before Judge Sample on Monday afternoon. The judge sentenced him to 10 months to the state reformatory for a term of three to 15 years, with the recommendation of the minimum term. Pollard also pleaded guilty to entering the H. H. Fenn store and confessed to robberies in Milan and Saline.

Dr. Elliott Outlines Educational Needs

Ann Arbor—Development of an enlarged community spirit in relation to educational needs was advocated here this week at the eighth annual summer education conference, by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction. Dr. Elliott was one of the principal speakers on a three-day program.

"There has been an awakening on the part of educators throughout the state to the needs for a new spirit in regard to the public's interest in school problems," Dr. Elliott said. "For the first time in history, Michigan's educational program for public schools is ranking at the top of the list. But we are faced with the problem of carrying out a functional educational program in terms with definite educational goals. This program calls for educators to instill in the minds of growing boys and girls the type of thinking that will best fit them for effective cultural, vocational and professional living in our democratic society with its changing social and economic conditions. There is a need for adjustments in school organization which would follow in the wake of changing conditions.

"The education problem in each community must be of such a nature that it will provide for local needs as well as the legal requirements of the state. The extent to which the local program exceeds the state minimum program will be dependent upon the desire and ability of the local community to establish an enlarged program.

"One of the first requirements in establishing long-term educational planning in Michigan is to enlarge the state board of education and remove from the political field the office of state superintendent of public instruction."

Newkirk Scout Camp Launches Fifth Week

More than 150 different Scouts attended the Newkirk Scout Camp near Dexter during its first four weeks of operation, and on Monday, July 19, the camp started on its fifth week with the camp full to capacity.

The camp is open to all Scouts in Washtenaw and Livingston counties as well as boys who have passed their eleventh birthday and are planning to become Scouts on their twelfth birthday.

The carefully chosen staff, the new equipment, the well balanced program and the good food of the camp have been responsible for the tremendous growth this year over the 1936 season, according to members of the camp committee.

Visitors are invited to attend the Campfire staged every Wednesday night as well as to inspect the camp on any Sunday afternoon between 2:00 and 4:30. An open house will be held next Sunday afternoon with refreshments served at 4:30.

The various service clubs of the county are planning to hold one of their regular meetings at the camp sometime during the summer. The Dexter Kiwanis club held a meeting at the camp on Tuesday evening, July 13. The Milan Rotary club held their regular weekly meeting on Tuesday evening, July 20 and the Chelsea Kiwanians will hold their August 2 meeting at the camp.

Better Car Titles

The familiar buff colored automobile title form will shortly be replaced with one of different color and style, Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has announced.

Two reasons cause the new form: A color against which typewriting is more legible, will be chosen; the 1937 legislature passed an act which requires additional information on the face of the title.

The new law, passed with immediate effect, but not yet operative, will require that all chattel mortgages taken on motor vehicles to guarantee payment of accessories and the like, be endorsed on the face of the car's title, with a true copy filed with the Secretary of State, in addition to the original filed with the Register of Deeds of the county in which the contract is made.

The purpose of the law is to protect innocent subsequent purchasers of cars on which chattel mortgages previously taken and never discharged, might be executed. In such instances, the new owner would have the choice of completing payment for an accessory he believed included in the car's purchase, or of surrendering the car to the seller of the accessory.

Heretofore cautious purchasers of used cars were faced with the nearly impossible task of checking the chattel mortgages recorded with the registers of deeds in 83 counties. Case endorsed the new law as a protective measure.

M. S. C. Will Show
Science of Farming

There may be "nothing new under the sun" but the staff of Michigan State College intends to show a parade of new agricultural science to the thousands of farm visitors in the annual Farmers' Day program on the campus at East Lansing, Friday, July 30.

New type barn roof construction is involved in one agricultural engineering demonstration. Miniature buildings will be tested for stresses and roof load limits. New floor finishes for cement, wood and tile will interest farmers as well as their wives.

Grazing management and time of cutting alfalfa are farm crops offerings during the day. In addition the department will show results of sugar beet transplants, time of plowing sweet clover for beans, soybean varieties and culture and potato experiments.

Twenty-six brood mares and their colts will be one of the program features for the animal husbandry department. The dairy department will exhibit results of a breeding program with proven sires. Forestry staff members will show how to handle blowing sand with tree plantings. Poultry demonstrations will include use of summer shelters for growing pullets.

The annual program starts off in the morning with a new type pulling endurance contest for competitive teams matched against a pair of college geldings. Trophies for the best team and the best teamster are offered by the Michigan Horse Breeders' association.

After the contest and departmental programs, the afternoon entertainment and education will include a fact parade depicting sources and size of Michigan's agricultural income. E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture, V. R. Gardner, experiment station director, and R. J. Baldwin, extension director, will make brief addresses.

Abyssinians Used Coffee
as a Food for Soldiers

Coffee was used by the Abyssinians for centuries before anyone else learned of its merits. Besides making a beverage of it, these people used it as a war food, mixing pulverized, roasted coffee, with grease and molding it into balls. It was the only food they carried on short marches, relates a writer in the Kansas City Star.

Later its use as a beverage spread through Arabia into Egypt and to Constantinople. Venice accepted it early in the Seventeenth century and next England, the student body at Oxford setting the example. Soon its use had spread over Europe and coffee houses became the meeting places for those interested in politics and other current questions.

Many religiously inclined among both Mohammedans and Christians denounced coffee as an intoxicating and insidiously pernicious drink; statesmen saw political danger in the discussion which marked the attendance at the coffee houses and governments opened new sources of revenue by heavy taxation on every gallon of coffee brewed.

Beans have been cultivated since long before there was any recorded history. They are known to have been eaten by the ancient Egyptians and Greeks; and when the first voyagers reached the western continent they found beans growing. Natives of this country added corn to give the world the dish known as succotash.

Potoskey Is Next

At 1 p. m. Friday the editor's special train will arrive at Potoskey to be greeted again by an automobile caravan that will take the visitors for a drive over the noted drive along Lake Michigan to Cross Village. This drive through lake-skirting forests truly merits the acclaim which it has received.

For his zealous care of the forest-way, State Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner recently was given national honors. Tall tree sentinels have been preserved. Your car must be driven slowly, lest you miss much of the grandeur that nature provides and that man has guarded.

Indian maidens are to serve luncheon to the visitors at Seven Mile Point whose high bluffs give spectators an unrivaled view of the lake.

Thence to Cross Village where native Indians will perform a ceremony. At Mackinaw City the newspaper guests will be shown the state highway dock and will be taken over the Straits-to-Mackinac Island on a state-owned and operated ferry.

Mackinac Island

Amid an atmosphere of the Old World, Mackinac Island has been a favorite of vacation seekers for many decades. Air-conditioned every minute of the day by bracing breezes, the island is free from objectionable hay fever pollen and mosquitos are unknown.

United States Senator Prentiss Brown owns much of the property there. A newspaper publisher, Col. Roger Andrews of Menominee, is chairman of the state park commission. The most active promoter of the island is Stewart Woodfill who manages the Grand Hotel on a Hollywood scale, providing gorgeous suites for "The Governor of Michigan" and also for "The President of the United States."

An enthusiast for Michigan, Mr. Woodfill believes in spending money to make money. This year he has expended $50,000 into new furnishings for the "world's largest summer hotel." There, miles from a metropolis and situated like a gem in a setting of island forests, the Grand Hotel offers the simplicity of old-fashioned New England and at the same time the modern tempo of a night club and a smart spa.

Horse-carriages supply the mode of transportation. In a motor-wise state of Michigan, motor capital of automobile manufacture, Mackinac Island is unique.

Editor's Note: Michigan Mirror will devote its space from time to time to other parts of the state.

Upper Silesia Still Puzzle

BEFORE a new accord could be reached, the 15-year-old Geneva convention designed to reconcile the interests of both Poland and Germany in Upper Silesia, expired. Upper Silesia was once part of both Germany and Austria, but after the World war it was split between Germany and Poland. The people of the two sections have since that time mingled freely with one another, carrying on a live commerce unhindered over the boundary lines set by the League of Nations.

The diplomatic difficulties occurred when no solution was forthcoming for the problem of what to do with the Poles who wanted to remain in the German section and the Germans who wanted to remain in the Polish section.

6,625 Miles in One Hop!

WITH the world still thrilling with the recent flight of three Russian aviators from Moscow to the United States via the North Pole, three more Russians did it again, completing the longest non-stop flight in history.

After flying 6,625 miles from the Russian capital, Pilot Michael Gromov, Co-Pilot Andrei Yumoshev and Navigator Sergei Danilin, made a forced landing in a cow pasture near San Jacinto, Cal. A leaking gasoline line had exhausted their fuel supply as they battled heavy fog which hung over the west coast region. Their flying time was estimated at 63 hours and 17 minutes.

Obituary in Blue

GEORGE GERSHWIN, composer who lifted jazz music up to the level of the classics, died suddenly in Hollywood after an operation for brain tumor. He was thirty-eight. His "Rhapsody in Blue" was famous among the world's music lovers, his opera, "Porgy and Bess" one of the most individually American of all musical works. His "Swanee" sold more than 2,000,000 copies, his musical comedy score, "Of Thee I Sing," was a Pulitzer prize winner, and some of his compositions, such as "Strike Up the Band," "Swanee," and "Somebody Loves Me" were sung and danced to by millions. Many prominent critics called him the most original force in American music.

First to Grow Potatoes
The potato is a native of South America, apparently originating along the Pacific coast of that country, as the first published record of potatoes is found in Cieza's "Chronicles of Peru," published in 1553. The Incas called them "papas." They were introduced into Europe in the middle of the sixteenth century, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, but did not become an important crop until much later. In cultivation the tuber has become larger, and the seeds fewer, but otherwise the plant is little different from its wild form. Botanists have searched in vain for its progenitor.

The New Way to FOOD CONSERVATION and Savings Throughout the Home

Years ago, the cost of producing electricity was much greater than now. Then this country had fuel supplies in great profusion, and fuel was cheap. It was more expensive to cook electrically than with fuel. In the last decade or two, improvements in the electric art have brought the cost of electricity to its present extremely low level, while fuel supplies have diminished and increased in cost. Today, the unfavorable comparison between operating costs no longer exists; you can cook electrically for only one cent a meal per person. But the greatest savings are secured by the conservation of food. A roast cooked electrically weighs much more than one cooked by any old-fashioned method. When you cook electrically, there is no soot, no fumes to stain walls and draperies, no re-decorating expense.

THE farmer with a telephone has a big advantage when it comes to selling what he produces. And buying what he needs.

Is the price of wheat up today? What are they paying for fancy broilers? How are hogs doing? Will the cost of fertilizer go up or down? What are they quoting eggs at today?

The telephone can get you the answers — can get them quickly and cheaply. It can help you to buy when prices are low, and sell when prices are high. In just one business deal, the telephone can save or make more money for you than the service costs for many months.

I'VE FOUND A FRIEND

I've found a friend, O such a friend,
He loved me ever I knew him.
He drew me with the cords of love,
And thus he bound me to him;
And round my heart still closely twined
Those ties which naught can sever,
For I am his, and he is mine,
Forever, and forever.

I've found a friend, O such a friend,
So true, so kind, so tender,
So wise a counsellor and guide,
So mighty a defender,
From him who loves me now so well,
What power my soul can sever,
Shall life, or death, or earth, or hell—
No, I am his forever.

PINCKNEY DEFEATS CHELSEA

The one-run jinx which was Chelsea's Tri-County League ball team throughout the first round of the schedule followed them into the first game of the second round at Pinckney on Sunday and the local nine dropped a 4 to 3 decision to their opponents. While Pinckney was practically at full strength for the game nine of Chelsea's regular players failed to show up at the diamond and everyone from manager and umpire down to the bat boy and even one Chelsea fan saw action in the contest. Even at that, with a bit of luck they might have won as they again outthrew the opposition 14 to 9, but left 10 men stranded on the bases. The game was featured by 31 strikeouts, 16 by Haines of Pinckney and 15 by Barth of Chelsea. However, there is no doubt how the game would have ended had Chelsea's regular players been able to be there.

Next Sunday, Chelsea plays Hamburg, first-half leaders, at Wilkinson field. In the last meeting between these two teams Chelsea was routed out of a possible victory in the eighth inning, the score reverting to the end of the fifth.

Manager Reed learned Sunday that games postponed here in the earlier part of the season may be played off as parts of doubleheaders, with dates to be announced later.

at 9:00, when we have combined worship and classes. The story sermon will be on the subject: "Don't

Be a Monkey."

Attendance has kept up very well for the summer, and the Family Worship service has succeeded in keeping the loyalty of the people to the church in a very satisfactory manner. The working of this plan has depended largely upon the choir and the teachers, both of which groups have been very faithful.

After the service on next Sunday,

we open after the vacation period on Sunday, September 5 with worship at 10:00, and Sunday school at 11:15.

"Man Overboard"

MEN who go down to the sea in ships frequently see or hear about some unusual occurrences. J. W. Putman of Anaheim, Calif., who once served in the United States navy, is no exception to that rule.

One hot, sticky day as the battleships and cruisers were steaming along off the coast of China a typhoon suddenly swooped down upon them. Despite the howling wind and raging waters, the vessels managed to keep their alignment.

In the midst of the storm a lieutenant decided that he wanted a cup of coffee. So a mess boy started across the deck with a cup of coffee, a pitcher of cream and a bowl of sugar on a tray. Just as he was about to open the door to the officers' quarters, a 61-foot wave swept across the deck.

It picked up the mess boy, juggled him for a second on its crest, then carried him 308 yards astern and deposited him at the door of the officers' quarters of the next ship in line. Opening the door, he walked in and said,

"Here is the coffee you ordered, lieutenant. One lump, or two, and shall I pour in the cream?"

It had all happened so quickly that the mess boy didn't realize he was on another ship until the officer roared out: "I'm a captain, not a lieutenant!

I didn't order any coffee, and what are you doing here?"

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield
A grocer's son was taken into custody yesterday in a nearby city by an inspector of the Bureau of Weights and Measures. The young man frankly admitted that he conceived the idea of short weighing orders after having once heard his father boast of a fraudulent practice by which a slight disadvantage was gained over a customer.

It was also discovered that the young man had deliberately failed over a period of six months of ringing up on the cash register all money taken in. The court was not impressed with the father's indignation and frankly informed him that he had no complaint to make so long as he himself cheated his customers in his son's presence.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Why do we have fishworms in the ground? Aren't they injurious to the soil?
Ans.—Earthworms, better known as fishworms or angleworms, are absolutely necessary to vegetation in fertilizing the soil. It is estimated that about 30,000 earthworms in an acre of land, and if it weren't for them there would be no vegetation, and man and other animals would soon perish.

Ques.—As sea water gets heavier the farther down in the ocean it is, I am curious to know if a vessel sinks in mid-ocean will it go clear to the bottom or remain suspended in the water at a certain depth?
Ans.—The ship will go to the bottom providing it weighs less than 60 pounds to the square foot, which is not at all likely. The heaviest water in the ocean, which weighs about 60 pounds to the square foot, lies at the bottom. Anything that weighs that much or more will go down all the way.

Ques.—Do the bank ballyhoosers over the radio think they are fooling the people? They or nobody else can fool my wife. I'm tellin' you.
Ans.—We hardly think they are trying to fool the people. But if nobody can fool your wife we are wondering how you got her.

Ques.—What causes a drowning person to rise three times before going down for the final time?
Ans.—A drowning person does not necessarily come up three times before finally sinking. They may or may not, according to the amount of air that is expelled from the lungs. So long as there is any air remaining in the lungs the body will rise. Usually all air is expelled on or before the body has risen three times.

Ques.—What is the weight of a cubic inch of gold?
Ans.—This depends entirely upon its fineness. A cubic inch of pure gold will weigh slightly more than two-thirds of a pound.

Ques.—What is the chicken population of the United States?
Ans.—It is not known. It is estimated to be approximately five hundred million, if you mean fowls, not girls.

Ques.—Do rabbits chew a cud as mentioned in the Bible?
Ans.—No. The cud-chewing coney mentioned in Deuteronomy 14:7 and Leviticus 11:5 was an entirely different animal from the English coney, which was the old name for "rabbit". Rabbits move the jaws as if ruminating or re-chewing, but they are not doing so. They do not belong to the ruminant family.

Ques.—When was North America first inhabited by man?
Ans.—It is not known definitely. Scientists have very strong evidence that human life existed in North America more than 20,000 years ago. In 1922 discovery of skeletal remains were dug up in Minnesota of the Mongoloid type which were petrified and buried about the time the Ice Age was coming to an end. That time was about 20,000 years ago.

Ques.—Were any of the Presidents of the United States adherents of the Unitarian church?
Ans.—Yes. There were four Presidents that were members of the Unitarian church. They were: John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Millard Fillmore and William Howard Taft.

Ques.—Which is the largest in area—the United States or Canada? Why is the population of Canada so much smaller?
Ans.—Excluding Alaska the Dominion of Canada is 750,000 square miles larger than the United States. The population which is comparatively very small, is due to the vast amount of Canadian territory that is practically uninhabited.

Ques.—Are the Greeks of our present time the same as the ancient Greeks? And do they speak the same language?
Ans.—The modern Greeks are by no means pure-bred descendants of the ancient Greeks. They are only Slavs. Their language is a greatly modified form of the ancient Greek.

"Rather Be Right Than President"
"I would rather be right than President" was the exclamation of Henry Clay. He was speaking at Preston of Kentucky. Clay so remarked when told that his advocacy of the Missouri compromise of 1820 would insure his chances for the presidency.

Recently, a test was given high school students on motor vehicle regulations, and some of the questions were so good that I want to repeat them here.

It is well for us to make a test of our own driving ability by answering the following questions:

1. At an intersection which is controlled by traffic lights, do pedestrians or vehicles have the right-of-way?
2. Does the same situation exist at uncontrolled intersections?
3. What is your state's definition of "right-of-way"?
4. What should a driver do when being overtaken and passed by another vehicle?

Take inventory of your driving habits. Be honest. Be sincere. Answer these questions yourself, and see whether or not your driving habits comply with the answers you give.

Lewis Sees the Sea

JOHN L. LEWIS sought to expand the scope of his Committee for Industrial Organization by invading the maritime industry. With Harry Bridges, west coast longshoremen's leader, he sought to unify scattered maritime unions in one big industrial organization dominated by the C. I. O. The American Federation of Labor already has two strong unions in the maritime field, so this action brings Lewis into another point of friction with William Green's organization. The nation has 250,000 marine and coastal workers.

SEN. 'JOE' ROBINSON IS DEAD
Court Plan May Have Died With Him . . . Japan, China
Face Another Crisis . . . Treasury Backs 'First Lady'

Joe Robinson Rallies the Democratic National Convention.

Falls 'Face to Battle'

WHEN Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas dropped dead of a heart attack in his apartment across from the United States Capitol, the President's plan for securing new appointments to the Supreme Court bench, even in its amended form, died with him.

Senator Robinson

That is the belief of close observers in Washington. For "Joe" Robinson was the President's tower of strength in the legislative branch of the government. He had served the Democratic party well in the senate since 1913, and as the majority leader in the upper house since 1932.

Joe Robinson's job it was to keep a smooth balance between the conservative democrats, largely of the South, and the more radical members of the party from the North and West, so that the objectives of the New Deal could be turned out of the legislative mill. Robinson never fought harder than he did in his last battle. As he worked hard and long in an attempt to get the "compromise" court plan passed, often raising his voice and exerting himself mightily in senate arguments, it was apparent to his colleagues that he was not well. Sen. Royal S. Copeland, the only physician in the senate, had several times asked him to calm himself lest he hasten his own death.

While the senate was adjourned for Robinson's funeral, administration leaders sought to rally support so the court bill could be passed, even without the late senator's leadership. But the opposition forces were equally determined to take advantage of the psychological aspect of the senate following Robinson's death—the desire to effect a peace, finish the session's business in a hurry and get away from the capital.

The forces opposed to the bill believed that when the issue came up again they would be successful in recommitting the substitute bill to the judiciary committee, an effective way of killing it. The indication of opposition greater than had been expected in the house of representatives was another factor pointing to the eventual fall of the bill.

Another battle was not long in getting under way: to decide who the new majority leader of the senate should be. Conservative Democrats were anxious to wrest a measure of control from the White House by backing Sen. Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who has been faithful to the President, but is fundamentally conservative. The more radical senators backed Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic national convention keynoter, who had been Robinson's assistant as floor leader. Another prospect was Sen. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, but it was believed his strength would eventually be transferred to Harrison.

Another thing that had Washington guessing as a result of Robinson's death was the vacancy on the Supreme Court left by the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter. Robinson, it was generally believed, was to have received the appointment.

Struggle in the Senate

TWELVE Democratic senators and one Farmer-Laborite were believed to hold the fate of the administration's substitute for the original bill which would increase the number of Supreme Court justices to 15. The administration was certain that the bill would receive at least 38 votes, with 48 necessary to a majority since Senator Robinson's death. Forty-three senators were definitely committed against it. Thirteen were still uncommitted as the battle raged on the senate floor and in the cloakrooms.

The twelve uncommitted Democrats were: Andrews (Fla.), Bone

(Wash.), Brown (N. H.), Caraway (Ark.), Duffy (Wis.), Johnson (Colo.), Lewis (Ill.), Murray (Mont.), Overton (La.), Pepper (Fla.), Russell, Jr. (Ga.) and Wagner (N. Y.). Lundeen (Maine) was the Farmer-Laborite.

The substitute for the original Ashurst bill provides for appointment of one new justice each year to every justice remaining on the court after reaching the age of seventy-five years.

New Sino-Japanese Conflict?

WAR between China and Japan was believed almost inevitable as hopes of settling a new outbreak of hostilities by diplomatic means faded out. The fighting—ensued as Japanese gendarmes attempted to take over the policing of Yunnan and Lukow-kiao, two villages in the Peiping area, near Marco Polo bridge. This, the Japanese said, was provided for in the North China treaty. According to the assertions of the Japanese war office, Chinese soldiers fired upon the gendarmes and opened up with trench mortars against the Japanese contingent at the Yunnan station. This action allegedly compelled the Japanese to make a night assault, costing 30 lives, in order to occupy the towns of Lungwangmiao and Tungshinghwan. It was said the Chinese troops had also advanced into these points.

Officials of the Hopei-Chahar council claimed the Japanese moves were in open violation of the truce. They further accused the Japanese of conducting night army maneuvers, using real bullets instead of the blanks ordinarily employed in maneuvers. As Emperor Hirohito and Premier Fumimaro Konoe conferred with military leaders and the cabinet, the Japanese people frantically prepared for the war that loomed.

China's Nanking government gave orders to Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, commander of the North China forces, that his army was not to retreat for any reason, but was to be prepared to make the "supreme sacrifice" to hold its position until Gen. Chiang Kai-shek should arrive over the Peiping-Hankow railroad with 50,000 fresh troops.

As the fighting continued in the Peiping area, with no hope of an effective compromise on the two nations' demands, war seemed the probable result.

Although an agreement was reported to have been made between local Chinese and Japanese authorities at Tientsin, settling the dispute to the satisfaction of both, the national government at Nanking has continued to insist that no agreement reached locally would be observed.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Taxes

WHEN Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep., N. Y.) sought to demonstrate the unfairness of the tax invasion investigation committee, he demanded that the committee investigate the income of the wife of the President from radio broadcasts, charging that she was not paying a cent of income taxes upon those earnings.

Rep. Fish

She had turned over $39,000 to the American Friends Service committee, a Philadelphia charity, kept $1 per broadcast for herself and paid nothing whatever from her radio earnings to the government. Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson replied for her, explaining to Chairman Doughton of the congressional committee that the bureau of internal revenue had advised Mrs. Roosevelt she need pay no tax on the receipts from the broadcast. He declared the responsibility "is not that of Mrs. Roosevelt, but that of myself and others who were treasury officials at the time."

Loyalists Widen Front

THE Spanish loyalists' drive to push back the rebel forces to a safe distance from Madrid continued, with the government forces widening the front by expanding both flanks several miles. The main line of advance was in a southerly direction, slow but steady. It had progressed as far as a point halfway between Brunete and Navalcarnero. Loyalist forces were attempting to acquire control of the Quereales river banks, there to dig in and protect the right flank while the main drive continued south.

Rebel military strategists were not particularly distressed over the government advance, for they believe that if they can draw the major part of the Madrid garrison out into the open country and destroy it the advance will benefit them more than it will the loyalists. Artillery of both sides worked overtime as the rebel reinforcements came in to make the struggle more equal.

The government was reported to be using dozens of Russian tanks. They are heavier and clumsier than the rebel tanks, but they carry field pieces of great accuracy and potency. Still, a new kind of anti-tank gun developed by the rebels stopped a number of them.

Government planes were reported doing serious damage to rebel forces on the Basque front to the north. In the east Gen. Sebastian Pozas, commander of the government forces in the Saragossa-Teruel sector, claimed that Albarracin "not only has been completely surrounded, but also government troops now are fighting in the streets of the town."

Mr. Eden Has a Plan

PLANS to maintain the non-intervention patrol of Spain in a fashion that will satisfy all the nations concerned and insure against the spread of the conflict beyond the Spanish borders have been outlined by Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, has come up with a new one, as deft and perhaps as futile as any which have gone before it. It provides for the full re-establishment of land and sea control of movements of men and arms into Spain. French and British warships would patrol the coastline with German and Italian observers aboard (the Fascist nations, indignant over the Leipzig incident, have withdrawn from the patrol). This arrangement would operate only until a permanent scheme could be worked out, placing observers for the non-intervention committee in all non-Spanish seaports and airports from which men and supplies might leave for Spain, and in all Spanish ports to see that none landed there. After that, the sea patrol would be abolished.

Anthony Eden

THE national labor relations board is receiving its most exciting test in the hearings at Detroit on the United Automobile Workers' union complaint that the Ford Motor company is guilty of unfair labor practices. The U. A. W. U. is a C. I. O. affiliate; Ford is opposed to the unions. It was expected that the hearings might take a long time and may eventually reach the United States Supreme court. After the hearings in Detroit a board examiner will draw up "intermediate findings" and send them to the NLRB in Washington, accompanied by a transcript of the evidence and briefs of both sides. The board will then either order the Ford Motor company to "cease and desist" its unfair practices or dismiss the union's charges. Appeal may be taken to the United States circuit court of appeals, which has the power of enforcement which NLRB lacks. The case may reach the Supreme court if the Constitution is involved. One of the allegedly unfair practices to which the U. A. W. objects is distribution of anti-union literature by the Ford company to its employees. The company charges that a denial of this would violate constitutional guarantees of free speech and a free press.
