Many Michigan Farm Earnings Are Higher

Earnings on many Michigan farms in 1936 improved for the fourth consecutive year and in several sections were the highest since 1928, according to figures released this week by E. B. Hill of the Michigan State College farm management department.

Hill's report was based partly upon the records of 178 central Michigan farmers who participated in the 1936 farm accounting project, which showed the average farm income (receipts less expense) to be approximately $2,500 in 1936 as compared with $1,751 in 1929. Most of the farms were located in Clinton, Ingham, Barry, Livingston, Washtenaw, and Jackson counties.

In the general farming and livestock areas of Michigan farm earnings have improved since 1933. Hill explained, however, that earnings in all sections of the state have not improved consistently.

Improved prices for potatoes and beans during the latter part of 1936 was an important factor affecting the earnings of the farms in the regions producing those crops. Prices for dairy products improved during 1936, and grain prices rose during the latter part of the year because of the decreased feed shortage caused by the drought.

Hill explained that although many farmers have participated in improved farm earnings during the last two-year period, it will be necessary for the improved incomes to continue for a number of years to offset the very unfavorable earnings for the years immediately preceding 1934.

Farm expenses, which decreased each year from 1929 to 1934 showed a slight increase in 1936. Feed purchases per farm were about $100 less in 1936 than in 1929. Hill explained that this decrease is probably an indication that farmers, in general, are growing more of their own feed requirements.

Hill's report is contained in the current number of Agricultural Economic News, which may be obtained from the bulletin room, Michigan State College.

Lansing—The conclusion of several commentators at Lansing is that Governor Murphy has swapped issues in getting the legislature to pass a civil service bill and in vetoing his own labor relations bill. Whereas labor relations might easily become a liability to the administration that carries favor with labor unions, because of the picketing restrictions in the bills, civil service is a non-partisan cause that resounds with governmental righteousness.

At least, such is one interpretation that is being given here. In the meanwhile, the governor's strategy for 1938 is becoming more apparent. He seeks to put the republican senate on the defensive. He plans to keep the legislature on the job, wear down the leaders' resistance as he did in labor mediation efforts, and get them to pass new bills.

Card in the deck of his "New Deal" for Michigan include rural electrification, a bid for farm votes; teachers' tenure fund; lower minimum hours for women in industry; and central finance control "to balance the budget". Some sort of a state NRA plan for industry and business, giving to intrastate commerce what the federal hour-wage act would do for interstate commerce, is far from being unlikely for the future.

G. O. P. Campaign

A rally in Bay City the middle of September will mark the opening of the republican campaign for the 1938 elections. Governor Murphy's attitude on labor matters, regarded by the vascillating republican critics, has led to a feeling that the 1937 minority party has a chance in 1938 to effect a comeback in popular favor. Local favorites are being groomed for the gubernatorial nomination.

Republican leaders expect that Murphy will run for re-election. But if the governor accepts a federal post at Washington, the picture would be drastically changed, as the logical candidate in Michigan would probably be Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner. Van Wagoner demonstrated his ability as a vote-getter in an off-election year, running ahead of local republican candidates in several upstate counties.

Former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, a one-termer, is being mentioned as a candidate for the United States Senate should Arthur Vandenberg resign in 1940 to try for the presidency. Hoisting a liberal banner with an eye for industrial votes, Fitzgerald last week endorsed the Wagner-Steagall low-cost housing bill with this indictment: (Continued on next page)

Post Office Moved To New Location

Chelsea's new post office was opened to the public on Monday morning, moving of the fixtures from the Schneider building to the new building at the corner of Main and South streets having taken place Saturday night and Sunday. Everything was in readiness to render service as usual on Monday, and there were many words of praise concerning this beautiful new building which was visited for the first time by many patrons from Chelsea and vicinity.

Postmaster H. D. Witherell asks that children refrain from unnecessary loitering and playing in the lobby, because of the interference with regular patrons of the post office. Mr. Witherell also requests patrons who have lock boxes to be sure to bring their key with them when desiring to get their mail as it is a hindrance to other service if employees are required to give service in this way.

In addition to the regular hours which have been maintained at the post office there will be stamp window service on Saturday afternoons but there will be no general delivery or money-order service.

The lobby of the post office is being left open until 8 o'clock p. m. for the convenience of people who have lock boxes.

HOG CHOLERA INCREASING

The worst outbreak of hog cholera ever known in this vicinity has broken out in Freedom and Sylvan townships. The disease has been positively diagnosed at six different farms, one of these cases being in the village.

There is no cure for hog cholera, and the disease is easily spread by dogs or other animals as well as people. However, it can be prevented by vaccination before the hog shows any signs of sickness. The disease spreads rapidly; entire droves becoming diseased within a few days.

Vaccination of hogs can be done only by a licensed veterinarian. Dr. C. C. Lane reports having vaccinated over 900 hogs in the surrounding territory. A double treatment is given in most cases and makes them permanently immune. A single treatment immunizes for only a few months.

Ceremony at Lake Unites Local Couple

The summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George Turnbull at Cavanaugh Lake was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday evening when her sister, Miss Dora B. Chandler, daughter of Edward H. Chandler, and the late Mrs. Chandler, became the bride of Lyle J. Haselswerdt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Haselswerdt of Chelsea.

Only the immediate families witnessed the ceremony, which was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Ray W. Barber. The attendants were: Miss Dorothy Haselswerdt, sister of the groom, and Robert Farmer of Grand Rapids. Refreshments were served, after which the couple left on a motor trip.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school and Michigan State Normal, and for several years has been a teacher in the Scripps school on Belvidere Ave., Detroit. The groom, also a graduate of Chelsea high school and an attendant at Michigan State Normal, is employed in the office of the Chrysler Corporation, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Haselswerdt will make their home at 8945 Agnes Ave., Detroit.

Counties Get Share of Gas Tax Collections

Lansing—The state highway department this week vouchered $1,275,000 to the counties from gasoline tax collections. Current returns cover half the annual payment to the counties from gasoline tax revenues authorized when the weight tax was reduced 36 per cent by the special session of the legislature in 1934. A similar sum from the same source was sent the counties in January.

With the current payment, counties have now been vouchered $20,645,881 to date this year from highway revenues. Current returns include the payment of $20,784.34 to Washtenaw county.

Local Boys are High in Judging Contest

The Southeastern Jersey Parish show held at Ann Arbor on Tuesday, August 10, brought together some of the finest bred Jerseys in the country. "The Oaklands" and "Dhu Varren" herds were exhibited at intervals between the show ring classes.

A judging contest for Smith-Hughes and 4-H club members was made up of four rings of four females each. On each of these classes each contestant was required to place the cattle and on one class to give written reasons. Twenty-nine contestants participated. A total of 500 points were possible. Awards were presented to the five high contestants. A show-halter Jersey history, and three 100 lb. sacks of feed were presented to the boys. Howell, Glad Blanc, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Chelsea took honors.

Wilbur Beeman led the local boys with 409, Veryl Hafley 391, Bob Gilbert 385, Max Hepburn 357, Raymond Ives 354, Joseph Bartok 344 and Gerald Heurion 327. Beeman was presented with a 100 lb. sack of 30 per cent dairy ration by the MacMillen Feed Mills, Ft. Wayne, Ind. for his achievement. Congratulations, Wilbur!

Another livestock judging contest will be held during the Washtenaw County Fair. Let's plan for it, boys. Rules will be found in the county premium catalog.

F. F. A. Plans Tour

The Chelsea Chapter of F. F. A. plan to leave Monday morning, Aug. 16 for the Upper Peninsula. Camping along Lake Superior, sight-seeing, including the Soo Locks, Straits of Mackinac and Tahquamenon Falls, along with sports should bring back a lively group of boys at the end of the week.

SEVERE STORM HERE

Chelsea and vicinity was visited by a severe rain and electrical storm about six o'clock Sunday evening. Streets, yards and fields were flooded. The residence of John Eder, Sr. was struck by lightning and the roof and chimney were slightly damaged, but no fire resulted. This is the fourth time the house has been struck by lightning during the past several years. A large hickory tree, just west of the John Haselswerdt farm house on the Seo church road was broken off even with the fence and fell across the highway.

Besides the reading group, the homemaker should consider provisions for writing, sewing, rest, conversachildren.

Every livingroom needs a day bed, a couch, or a day-sport to enable one to rest without having to use a reguplaced in the dining room, or even in a corner of the kitchen.

Provisions should be made so that first carrying chairs across the room.

In addition to adding an appearance

Have you ever examined the extension cords and sockets in your home?
There are few who have now at some time had a shock from fixtures, wires, switches, or appliances. Some even say that it isn't their mind that is faulty.

The only reason that some of us survived the experience is that we were standing on and touching nothing but some dry, non-metallic substance not connected to a ground, such as a floor, a rug, or a chair, which was a sufficiently good insulator to prevent a fatal shock.

We will not always be so fortunate if we remain so careless. Be careful with these extension cords, sockets, and lighting fixtures. It will be well worth your time to make a thorough check of them.

Michigan Mirror

There is one issue that, like the poor, is always with us. What to do about liquor has always been a social problem, and today is no exception.

Seeking a source for additional state income, the legislature authorized the state liquor control commission to increase public prices 15 per cent. The increased funds were to be spent in providing needed hospital facilities. The legislature also put its stamp of respect on the old-fashioned saloon by permitting the bar to return. Paradoxically, it restricted drinking to persons of 21 years or more of age.

At a national liquor control conference at Mackinac Island, Governor Murphy deplored a tendency to exploit liquor in order to get more taxes. Public morality must come first, he declared.

Then came Edward McFarland, commission chairman, with the declaration that Michigan has too many drinking places and that prices should be reduced so that saloon keepers could compete with bootleggers.

Of direct interest to local communities is the fact that the legislative body of each municipality must declare before September 19 whether they want liquor by the glass within their jurisdictions. Model resolutions are being sent to each town and city by the state commission. If cities fail to act and citizens do not effect a referendum, all present liquor-by-the-glass places will continue until May 1, 1938 when licenses will be cancelled and no new ones will be issued.

The wet-dry battle is on again.
Gambling Again
By a surprise drastic order of the state liquor control commission, the slot machine racket was put on the run in Michigan. The commission issued an order making operation of a slot machine in an establishment prima facie proof for revocation of a liquor license. Coming as it did right in the midst of a summer tourist season, the prohibition caused consternation in many sections.

Simultaneously the house of representatives, prodded by Rep. Elton Eaton, crusading editor at Plymouth, authorized a legislative investigation of gambling conditions in Michigan.
Rep. John Hamilton and Rep. Chester

Russell Wheelock returned home on Saturday from Ypsilanti after spending two weeks with his son, George Wheelock and family.
Walter Mayer and Carl Schneider are spending this week on a vacation trip in northern Michigan.
Mrs. Ida Damon returned home on Friday after spending two months with her daughter in Chicago, and enjoying a tour of Illinois.

end in Dexter as guests of Mr. and ris of Kalamazoo were week-end rich, returned to her home in Hopkins tained at the home of Mrs. D. E.

Heart Beats and Fear
Many people believe that when they get scared their hearts beat faster and faster. The truth is that the action of the glands, particularly the adrenals, during fright is such as to cause a slight initial speeding up of the heart when first scared, and this is followed almost immediately by a slowing up of the heartbeats and then the beating becomes stronger—but not faster, declares a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. People mistake the pounding of their hearts for speed.
These strong beats raise the blood pressure, pump sugar to the muscles, cause fatigue to be banished and prepare the body for defending itself. The heartbeats are stronger but not much faster.

Fitzgerald, democrats of Detroit, and Rep. Carl Delano, republican of Kalamazoo, were appointed by Speaker George Schroeder to corral some evidence.
It was Hamilton who campaigned in vain for state licensing of gambling.
And it has been Hamilton who has been an outspoken critic of Governor Murphy for "changing his mind" on labor matters.

It will be interesting to observe what becomes of the latest crusade against gambling which has been, too often, either a political football or a jackpot for campaign expenses.

Grouping furniture for usefulness such as for reading, sewing, or writ-it suggests what one may do when he home furnishing at Michigan State

The furniture should be grouped for a purpose, and separate pieces should not be left alone. Single pieces ap-

Acknowledges of the various members of the family should be considered living room may have one or more reading groups. These reading groups usually consist of two chairs turned toward each other with a table and a bookshelves are necessary. If there

OUR NEIGHBORS

HOWELL—Engineers of the state highway department were surprised and impressed when they dug about a mile and a half of aged planks recently as they proceeded with construction between Webberville and Fowlerville. Investigation revealed that the planks were a part of the old toll road between Detroit and Lansing built back in 1807. The old road followed almost the same route as US-16 today. Engineers found that the old road had been constructed of (1) hand hewn logs laid side by side on muck soil, (2) dirt piled on the logs, (3) more logs laid on the dirt, (4) more dirt on the second layer of logs, and (5) planks laid on the second layer of dirt. The old plank road was just wide enough for one wagon. Privately owned, the road was made to pay its way with tolls. Toll gates were established at several places along the line. The village of Novi today owes its name to the fact that Toll Gate No. VI was located there. By 1880 the planks began to rot. This type of construction gave way to gravel and by 1885 the road was taken over by the townships.—Republican-Press.

PLYMOUTH—Three special train loads of Pere Marquette workers from Saginaw and Bay City will spend Saturday in the Rouge park, utilizing that portion between Cass Benton park and the Northville fair grounds where the athletic field is located. This is the first time since the building of the park system that visitors have come to it in special trains, although there have been hundreds of automobile caravans bringing park visitors from various parts of the state in the past two or three years.—Mail.

TECUMSEH—The Keyless Roller Skate Company, a Tecumseh corporation, this week filed its articles of incorporation with the county clerk at Adrian. The incorporators are J. Fred Keim of Toledo, and E. C. Hellman and J. R. Thompson of Tecumseh. The company, under its incorporation rights, manufactures and sells roller skates, children's vehicles and other metal products. In announcing the formation of the company today, Mr. Hellman said that the firm plans to begin soon the manufacture of the keyless roller skate, a new invention of Fred Hedeland of Sandusky, O. The new skate, an innovation in the roller skate market, does not require the customary key. It locks automatically and fits all sizes of shoes, both men's and women's as well as children's.—Herald.

BRIGHTON—Brighton is to have a new factory in the not far distant future, according to statements made to the Argus from reliable sources. The Advance Stamping Company of Detroit which is engaged in the manufacture of small automobile parts, has decided to locate in this city after inspection of sites in several other nearby towns. The company has leased the building on Grand River which is occupied by the Walker Chevrolet Company for two years and we understand will move the factory here in a very short time.—Argus.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield The Michigan Liquor Control Commission is today enforcing its order calling for the revocation of the license of any establishment in which slot machines, baffle boards, or any kind of skill games may be found. The prohibition extends to rooms connected with rooms in which liquor is sold or served.

If county and city enforcement officials throughout Michigan follow the example of state authorities and confiscate all slot machines in establishments where liquor is not sold, Michigan will be setting an example which law abiding citizens in other states can urge their own city, county and state officials to adopt.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Is New Zealand divided into provinces? What are the three principal cities? And what language is spoken in the islands?

Ans.—New Zealand has nine provinces. Wellington, Auckland and Christchurch are the three principal cities. The official language of the islands is English, but most of the natives can speak Zealandese, a language that is the outgrowth of Spanish.

Ques.—How does coal grow?

Ans.—Coal doesn't grow. Rank and luxuriant vegetation which prevailed during the carboniferous age grew and decayed upon land and became gradually covered with sand, mud, silt and other mineral sediment. After thousands of years the mass became imbedded in the earth, and with great pressure it gradually mineralized this vegetable matter into what we now call "coal".

Ques.—Can you answer in your good paper what a camphor tree is?

Ans.—The camphor tree is one of the most beautiful of all trees and grows in China, Japan, and the island of Formosa where it grows to a height of 60 to 80 feet and is very bushy, covering an area of approximately 200 feet in circumference.

Ques.—To settle an argument will you please answer who was the first Roman Emperor?

Ans.—The first Roman emperor was Octavianus Caesar, who was given the title of "Augustus" by the Roman Senate in 17 B. C.

Ques.—What is the proper pronunciation of coupon? Thank you.

Ans.—This word is very commonly but erroneously mispronounced "cūpon". But the correct pronunciation is "koo-pon", with accent on the first syllable.

Ques.—Were Noah Webster and Daniel Webster brothers?

Ans.—No. The two men were related, but not closely. Noah was the great uncle of Daniel.

Ques.—What do "Soviet" and "Bolsheviki" mean with reference to the Russians?

Ans.—These are two Russian words. "Soviet" means a State, and "Bolsheviki" means the majority.

Ques.—Was either Vermont or Maine one of the original States of the Union? Will you please answer which were the thirteen original States?

Ans.—The thirteen original States are as follows: New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Ques.—Will you kindly state if John Brown was killed in battle during the Civil War? If not, how did he die?

Ans.—John Brown was not in the Civil War. He died before the outbreak of that great conflict. He was a strong abolitionist of the slaves and on Oct. 16, 1859 he collected a small force and seized the United States arsenal at Harper's Ferry, Va. He was convicted of treason and murder by the United States government at Charleston, Va., and hanged on Dec. 2, 1859. When the war broke out he was proclaimed a hero in the songs of northern armies. His daring deed was an important event that led up to the Civil War.

Ques.—Why are a certain kind of hats called "beavers"?

Ans.—Originally the fur of the beaver was largely used in the manufacture of men's hats. It is now little used for this purpose, having been supplanted by hats made from silk plush covering. As this is a good imitation of the beaver fur, the term "beaver" as applied to hats has survived.

Ques.—Can you tell me what asphalt is, and where it comes from?

Ans.—Asphalt is a mineral pitch, and is obtained from the beds of lakes. The most and best asphalt comes from the northern part of South America.

"Stink Birds" Found only in northern South America, hoatzins (also called hoatzins) resemble pheasants, are brilliantly colored in olive, brown, buff and yellow. They exhale such a strong odor natives dub them "stink birds." Relics of prehistoric times, they are gradually losing their power of flight. Rounded, stubby wings permit them to fit only near branch to branch. They live near rivers and lakes, yet do not eat fish, but instead munch leaves and fruit. If the adult hoatzin is strange, the baby is even more so. Before it can fly at all, it climbs trees with sharp claws in the ends of undeveloped wings. It is also an excellent swimmer. Both these abilities are lost, however, as it grows up.

Hyena Has Strong Bite The hyena has one of the biggest and strongest bites of any animal, but he has so little else in the way of weapons and is so weak in the feet and hind quarters that he is no real match for a lion or a tiger.

HEAVEN

We think of that bright happy country Beyond Earth's sunset of blue, Where Jesus, and dear ones are waiting, Filled with greetings for me and for you. What about this land and its beauty, Far beyond dark shadows of night, So many are seeking for knowledge—What about it? O give us the light! Heaven, God's throne, if we seek it, Brings faith that will quell all our fear, Then the virtue of faith brings assurance, Thrilling heart and all life with good cheer, Makes a triumphant happy tomorrow, Even brighter than any yet seen, And from Beulah Heights, vision of Heaven Thrill us far beyond life's fondest dream. —Arthur Carlton.

The Allegheny River

The Allegheny river rises in the high, hilly plateau region of Potter county, Pa., and flows in a general north-westerly direction and crosses into New York, to a point eleven miles north of the state line. Here it turns abruptly southwest, recrosses the state line into Pennsylvania and continues in that state to its confluence with the Monongahela at Pittsburgh.

And it is hereby made the duty of every officer, and it shall be lawful for any citizen, to stop any person who may be immoderately riding or driving as aforesaid."

GREEN SHAPES WAGE BILL

Dictates House Amendments . . . Thousands Flee China, Expecting War . . . Housing Measure Stirs Up Senate

Edward W. Pickard

SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

A. F. of L.'s WILLIAM GREEN . . . leaves White House with a smile.

Flee from the Rising Sun

WAR was still officially un- declared, but all signs indicated that Japan was making ready to prosecute a long-term conflict in North China and that the Chinese were everywhere preparing to withstand the advance of the Japanese army. Steady streams of refugees pouring out of the area while they had the chance revealed the opinion of masses of people that a great war was inevitable.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek

Tokyo was hurrying soldiers to the front. In the Fengtai-Lukouchiao district southwest of Peiping, 30,000 veteran Japanese troops massed for an attack upon five divisions of China's central government army, numbering approximately 60,000.

Further evidence of Japan's expectation of real war were the sweeping changes in military personnel made after a conference between Premier Konoye and Emperor Hirohito. Four new division commanders were named, as well as a new commander for the island of Formosa. It was regarded as significant that all of the new appointees were soldiers with extensive experience in China.

The government was attempting to push through an appropriation of $115,000,000 for operations in North China. In a desperate effort to stem the invaders, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China and commander of the Chinese army, summoned into conference at Nanking, national capital, the warlords and governors of important provinces. Plans were made to throw hundreds of thousands of soldiers at the Japanese.

The provincial rulers apparently were only too anxious. Chow En-lai, representing 100,000 communist troops, said his men were willing to become an advance guard for the major Chinese offensive. Nationwide military conscription was being conducted apace.

Japanese newspapers reported that a resolution to sever all relations with Japan was before the Chinese political council for consideration. The fear that gripped Nanking was illustrated by the government's publication of warnings against giving away military secrets and the warnings which were given government officials to get their families out into the hinterlands where they might be safe from enemy bombers.

Civilians in China needed no warning. Thousands upon thousands were lined up at the railroad stations in Shanghai and in Nanking; many were women carrying children and what belongings they could not bear to leave behind. Thousands of Japanese civilians in China packed the docks awaiting ships which would carry them safely back to their homeland.

As columns of Japanese soldiers pressed forward to meet advancing troops from Nanking, there was no doubt that hostilities would continue to spread southward. It was expected a real battle would ensue when the two columns came within striking distance. Russia protested vigorously to the Japanese embassy in Nanking against the "pillaging of the Russian consulate by White Russian ruffians assisted by Japanese." The Japanese denied that any of their countrymen were implicated and ridiculed the idea that the Japanese planned any future attacks against Russian consulates.

Where Was John Lewis?

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor, emerged as the administration's favorite son in matters affecting labor as he was permitted virtually to write his own amendments to the house version of the wages and hours bill. The senate had passed the bill, 50 to 23, only after President Roosevelt had called Green to the White House and persuaded him to give lukewarm approval to the measure, with the understanding that the house would amend it.

Southern Democrats in the senate, led by Pat Harrison of Mississippi, bitterly opposed the bill, but their motion to recommit it to committee was defeated, 48 to 36. The same vigorous opposition was expected from Dixie's representatives in the house labor committee, but the "Green amendments" (so called because of the federation president's complete domination of the committee meeting) patched up the essential differences.

The bill, as passed by the senate, would create a labor standards board empowered to set minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and maximum work weeks down to 40 hours. The house committee had intended to extend the limits to permit the board to set wages at 70 cents and hours as low as 35. Under Green's influence the house committee decided to accept the senate provisions on this part of the measure, but the scope of the board was greatly curtailed by an amendment which would permit it to deal only with employers who maintain "sweatshops" and "starvation wages" through fake collective bargaining agencies.

The "Green amendments" in brief are: 1. Board jurisdiction over wages and hours in any industry only if it finds that collective bargaining agreements do not cover a sufficient number of employees or facilities for collective bargaining are ineffective.

2. Acceptance of wage-hour standards established by collective bargaining in any occupation as prima facie evidence of appropriate standards in that occupation. 3. Board cannot alter wage-hour standards already prevailing in occupation in community considered, or establish classification in any community which affects adversely the prevailing standards in the same or other communities.

4. Industries are protected against "labor-made goods." 5. "Label provision" of original act is eliminated to protect industry from what is considered a nuisance.

6. Government work is removed from the board's control and placed under the Walsh-Healey act.

Chairman Mary T. Norton (D., N. J.) of the labor committee indicated the bill would be brought up in the house under a special rule and speedily passed.

$700,000,000 for Housing

HAVING disposed of wages and hours legislation, the senate took up the Wagner-Steagall low-cost housing bill. This would authorize the flotation of a $700,000,000 bond issue by a United States housing authority. To meet operating expenses of the program's first year, $26,000,000 would be appropriated immediately. The proposed bond issue was cut from $1,000,000,000 as a compromise with the Treasury department, which objected to so high a figure.

The bill would aid low-cost housing projects in two ways. It would make loans to the full amount of contracted projects, aiding the repayment of the loans by direct grants if the sponsors kept rents sufficiently low; or it would make direct grants not to exceed 25 per cent of the cost of a project. Under this latter method, the President would be authorized to make an additional 15 per cent grant from relief funds, to be used only for the employment of labor. Sponsors would be required to contribute at least 20 per cent of the cost.

The housing authority would also be permitted to spend $25,000,000 on demonstration projects to illustrate to communities the benefits of eliminating slums and providing adequate housing at low cost. The projects would be sold "as soon as practical" to local housing agencies. Over the protest of administration leaders, including Senator Wagner and Majority Leader Barkley, the senate adopted an amendment by Harry F. Byrd (D., Va.) limiting the cost of the housing projects to $4,000 a family or $1,000 a room. Wagner objected, principally on the grounds that this would not be sufficient for projects in New York city, where it is believed much of the money will be spent.

U. S. Keeps Naval Pace

INDICATIONS were that both the United States and Great Britain would embark upon unusually large peacetime naval building programs in 1938.

Britain, according to reports in London, will lay the keels for from three to five battleships, six or seven cruisers and a proportionate quota of destroyers, submarines and smaller craft, to surpass the 1937 total of 631,000 tons, a peacetime record. It was also reported that personnel would be increased ultimately by 125,000.

With the placing of additional 1937 contracts, Britain will soon have 110 vessels under construction. These will include: 5 battleships of 35,000 tons, 5 aircraft carriers, 8 cruisers of 9,000 to 10,000 tons, 5 cruisers of 8,000 tons, 7 cruisers of 5,300 tons, 18 superdestroyers of 1,850 tons, 18 submarines of from 540 to 1,620 tons, 12 sloops and 10 motor torpedo boats.

Armament of the five new battleships will include 10 or 12 new type 14-inch guns, 12 to 16 4- or 4.7-inch anti-aircraft guns and numerous light machine guns. Upper deck armor will be specially strengthened against airplane bombs and bridges and turrets will be gas-proof.

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of American naval operations and acting secretary of Uncle Sam's navy, said in Washington that congress will be asked to provide funds for the construction of two battleships and two cruisers in the 1938 fiscal year. The admiral inferred in a press conference that the United States expects to keep pace with other nations which are planning extensive naval building. The four new ships will cost $170,000,000 and will be ready in 1942. Construction is about to begin on two other battleships, which will cost approximately $60,000,000.

14 Lost in Flying Boat

IT WAS believed 14 persons were lost in the Caribbean sea when the Santa Maria, luxurious new flying boat of the Pan American-Grace Airways, crashed 20 miles off Cristobal, in the Canal Zone, after nearly completing a scheduled flight from Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Last radio reports from the pilot indicated he was trying to spiral down to the surface of the sea in a torrential rainstorm. Two United States submarines, cruising the area in the hope of picking up some survivors, found part of the airplane's shipment of mail, an engine casing, a few other parts and a bucket of ice cream floating in the water. It was feared the pilot, copilot, steward and 11 passengers, mostly Americans, were locked in the cabin and lying on the bottom of the sea, which at the point the wreckage was found reaches a depth of 1,000 feet.

Wedge to Split Loyalists

AS THE battle of Madrid continued to rage, Gen. Francisco Franco's eastern army was driving an ever-widening wedge into the territory near the junction of Teruel, Cuencu and Valencia provinces 100 miles east of Madrid. His object is to impose a barrier between Madrid and the loyalist government's capital at Valencia. Government forces all along the line of advance were reported surrendering or fleeing. Insurgents claimed to have captured large numbers of automobiles and supplies of arms, munitions and clothing.

Latest news from the Madrid front indicated that a rebel attack in the Utrera sector southeast of the city had been repulsed by machine gunners and dynamiters.

El Caudillo Is the Boss

INSURGENT Spain has a "head man" and also has a name for him now. In Germany things are bossed by "Der Fuehrer," and Italians scurry to obey "Il Duce." Now Rebel Spain has dubbed Gen. Francisco Franco "El Caudillo." Throughout the realm on walls and fences are signs bearing the motto, "Homenaje al Caudillo." "Obey the leader." And the people salute him by raising the right arm.

Franco's followers are protesting that he is not a fascist, but he has never announced just what form of government he will propose for the nation. There is said to be a scheme afoot to shape it along the lines of Portugal's corporative government. Since he openly declared on July 19 that he believes the restoration of a monarchy is vital to cohesion of Spain, it is believed that this is what he will eventually effect. Prince Juan, third son of the former King Alfonso XIII, is the likely candidate for the crown.

Women Hear War Cry

ONE of China's chief agitators for war was Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, Wellesley-educated wife of the dictator. She urged women to fight Japan "according to their ability," citing the fashion in which the women of Spain are occupying the fighting lines.

"In the World war the women of every country gave their best," she declared. "The women of China are no less patriotic or capable of physical endurance."

China is facing the gravest crisis in its history. This means we must sacrifice many of our soldiers, masses of our innocent people, much of the nation's wealth and see ruthlessly destroyed the results of our reconstruction.

Mountains in Scotland Scotland, which is a small country, contains wide valleys, immense moors, great estuaries and lofty mountains, which give an appearance of vastness. While these lofty mountains are found to measure a height of barely 4,500 feet, the towering, paradox is explained "at they rise from sea level so that the full majesty is visible to the eye, giving the appearance of great heights."

Tonic Talk

If at any time you think yourself a failure (and most of us have that feeling at times) go out-of-doors, no matter what the weather is, advises a writer in Pearson's London Week-ly, and keep on walking until you come across a man doing a job of work and doing it well. Now say to yourself: "If that man can do his job, why can't I? What others can do, I can do, too." Jonah, although badly down in the mouth, came out all right, and so can you. Tall Tales

As told to: FRANK E. HAGAN and ELMO SCOTT WATSON

The Patriotic Hen

JIM FITCH, a former resident of Manchester, N. H., remembers it just as well as if it had happened day after tomorrow. "He was riding in the cab of a locomotive on the Boston and Maine railroad with his Uncle Ira, the engineer. North of Concord a gray and white speckled hen started across the track. Uncle Ira tooted his whistle and the hen started running up the track. A moment later she disappeared. "Too bad," said Uncle Ira, "but she ought to have made up her mind about crossing the railroad sooner."

Jim was pretty sad about the fate of that hen. But imagine his surprise when they slowed down for the next stop, the brakeman went through the train calling out "Plymouth! Plymouth!" Off the cowcatcher jumped the hen and she went clucking away as much to to say "Of course, I know when it's time for me to get off!"

Suddenly she began clucking and made a dash up the street as though looking for something. As the train pulled out the last thing Jim saw was the hen stooping down and creeping into a small dog kennel in a back yard.

Three weeks later Jim went back to Plymouth to its Fourth of July celebration and he heard some more about her. That morning the patriotic hen, who traced her ancestry back to Plymouth Rock, hatched out three chickens. One was red, one was white and one was blue. But all three had bow legs because the kennel into which their mother had stepped to enter had been built for a dachshund. © Western Newspaper Union.

Joyful Mornings

LOVED hymn which has sustained and inspired many begins with the lines: "Still, still with Thee when purple morning breaketh, When the bird waketh, and the shadows flee, Fairer than morning, lovelier than the daylight, Dawn the sweet consciousness, I am with Thee."

These words emphasize the joy and light which illumine thought as one realizes the presence of God.

There may be those who do not look forward to the morning awakening, because to them it seems but the beginning of another day of care or worry or fear. And there are others who have yielded to the habit of allowing some time to elapse before arousing themselves to being thoroughly awake and responsive to good for the new day. But all may awaken each morning with joy and energy, fresh as the birds, when it is realized that, even though sleep has intervened between the experiences of one day and those yet to come in another, we are still with God, still loved, guided, supported, protected by the adorable Father of all.

Even though there may have been in the human experiences of yesterday evidences other than those of the peace and joy which come with the realization of God's presence, yet the dawn ushers in a new day, in which a discordant past need have no part. Each day awakes quickly, if he will immediately turn to God, and much may be accomplished if joyous, spiritual thinking is begun early. Prompt, right mental activity helps to make the day harmonious and fruitful, and to overcome any sense of discord resulting from whatever in the previous day may have been unworthy and regrettable.

Many have learned to engage at once, upon awakening each morning, in quiet prayer and contemplation of God's glory and God's gifts to His children—joy and peace and health.

It is not necessary to dwell in surroundings entirely desirable to human sense, in order to experience joyful mornings. No matter where one's home may be located, one may always realize God's power to dispel the night dreams that may have come with the darkness, or the waking dreams of a not too happy past or present experience.

Suppose one feels in the morning that the night has not been restful, one may not be glad that the dawn has come and another day has arrived. Then, if that one will turn his thoughts from self to meditate on God and His creation, he will realize that the new day promises all the possibilities of joyous, new experiences. And if one persists in thinking of God first each morning, the habit of undue self-contemplation will surely disappear.

With practical application, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, refers to the experience of sleeplessness on page 355 of Science and Health as follows: "You say that you have not slept well on days overcast. You are a law unto yourself." If one who has not slept well will refuse to voice or retain in thought that experience, and will persistently remember that God is always with His children, he will learn to anticipate only joy in the new day, knowing that also, by such true thinking, the fear, and therefore the experience of other wakeful nights will be dispelled.

When we comply with the demand to think truly before we go to sleep, we shall not awaken thinking untruly or unhappily.

Further on in the hymn quoted from above are found the words: "So shall it ever be in the bright morning, When hearts awaking see the shadows flee."

The true awakening is the heart's awakening to the truth about God and man, by which one realizes health, harmony, and peace. This spiritual awakening is possible.

Each one may voice his grateful praise in the words of the Psalmist (Psalm 139:17, 18): "How precious also are thy thoughts unto me, O God! how great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand: when I awake, I am still with thee."—The Christian Science Monitor.

SOCIAL BEGGARS THINK WORLD OWES THEM LIVING

Anna, living in a college town, might very well run a boarding house for students. Her idle son might find a very profitable job in washing dishes, and her daughter might forget her discontent if she put on a waitress' apron and cap and made herself useful.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS
A woman who never has solved her own problem. Since I first knew her, some forty years ago, when we were both girls in school, Anna has been unequal to the demands of the moment, but perfectly sure that if she had a little help she would be a great success.

At fifteen Anna said that if she only had some rich friend who could send her to New York to study dramatics she could be an actress. She wasn't going to take any job in an office or shop; she didn't propose to find herself middle-aged some day, working for a drug firm at twenty-five dollars a month!

That was forty years ago. Ever since then I have watched her floundering more and more helplessly in the mesh of life that is never going to be unravelled for her now. Tangles that the Twenties don't solve have no way of miraculously smoothing out in the Fifties. Anna has never gotten so far as to get up in the mornings and get breakfast on time; she has never liked housework—she says it is servants' business. Anna's beds are never made; her husband died a broken and disappointed man after twenty years of discontent and inefficiency. Anna's daughter and son are now following in her footsteps.

The daughter, widowed, has come home with a baby daughter; the son, unhappily married, is also living at home again as a single man. None of them has any money. None can get work. Refined and idle and eloquent, they are professional beggars. They have a large pretentious house well plastered with mortgages; a house that is falling in ruin for the want of paint and plaster. Everyone in town is sorry for them, and everyone gives them a wide berth.

Anna and her children, always very elegant about it, and with sensibilities easily hurt, have "borrowed" money from everyone who will lend it. Occasionally a news-come in town, some kind-hearted woman who has listened for the first time to Anna's story, takes up a collection for Anna. She finds ten women who will put up a hundred dollars apiece, or she has a garden party for dear unfortunate Mrs. Poore. Anna's letters of thanks are very dashing; the last one I had, had a coat-of-arms upon it.

Things will be like this now as long as Anna lives, and when she dies Anita and little Nancy will take up the good work. The world, they feel, owes them a living. Just why it does, when it doesn't apparently owe millions of equally worthy folk a living, is obscure. But the phrase is a favorite with Anna.

"I feel that there is some rich man or woman somewhere," Anna says, "who would be only too glad to give me and the youngsters the little we need to be comfortable, and to preserve our self-respect. Well! The only thing, then, is to find that person."

Frequently, hearing that one has a rich friend, she suggests it. "You know this Mr. Smith. You wouldn't want to suggest to him that it would be much smarter than having his name on the charity list to have him simply relieve me of the miseries of responsibility and anxiety that I've carried all these years. I think I've done my share! I think I've contributed enough to the general scheme of things. I deserve a rest now."

As a matter of fact she never has done anything. She never has cooked a good meal, or kept her house clean, or lived within her income even when she had an income. She has tried fifty jobs and never held one. She has spent weeks—years in explaining to her friends exactly why she couldn't do this sort of work and wasn't fitted for that. At the moment I write influential friends are being implored by Anna to recommend her for a government job of three thousand a year.

"I would have to have a car," she told me in reference to it. "Because it's really just a sort of inspection of the whole county. I think I could do that, and maybe squeeze poor darling Alan into something good on the side. He's been trying for seven years now to find something to do, and it's having a bad effect on him, poor child!"

If she gets this job, Anna will hold it just so long as it takes the higher authorities to discover that she is completely unfit to fill it. Sometimes that discovery takes weeks, sometimes months, but with Anna it always arrives, and she is sent back to idle at home among the dropping plastered walls, the broken plumbing, the dingy wood-work and rotting furniture again.

Never having solved the very first problems of her little girlhood she naturally isn't going to change now.

Even today she has a profitable source of income close at hand. In this college town one-third of the plainer homes take in boarders during the term, and make good money from it. School boys and girls are not critical tenants. Simple, good, hot food and plenty of it, and a bedside light for study hours constitute their main needs. There are scores of women in this neighborhood who support themselves by keeping boarders. Some of these women have to pay for help, or take part of their board-money in help. Anna has two assistants in her family. The idle son might find a very profitable job in washing dishes for his mother, cranking the ice-cream freezer, raking the dooryard and painting the fences. The daughter might forget her abiding and bitter discontent if she put on a waitress' apron and cap and made herself useful for the first time in her twenty-five years.

Ten dollars a week apiece from ten boarders is money. Even spending ten dollars a day on food and laundry Anna couldn't but save. But she would have to work, and the fundamental difficulty with her, and with so many like her, is that they hate work. Anna has shuddered away from the very idea of it all her life.

Right in the same block are the Swensens; small busy blonde mother, crippled father, four children. The two oldest boys sell magazines, deliver newspapers, work on Saturdays in shops, gardens, lumber yards; wherever their activities can find a few hours pay labor. They keep twenty per cent of what they make and are buying an old car. Mr. Swensen carves little wooden birds and brackets and oddities generally for one of the local cabinet makers. Mrs. Swensen cooks for a good part of the day on an old gas-stove with a loose piece of zinc reinforcing the oven. She sells soups, rolls, pies, cookies, macaroni, jams to private customers, and tow-headed Inga and Kurt deliver the cooked food in the coaster, after school.

Mrs. Swensen, shy, fair, hard-working, foreign-born, has solved her problem. She tells no story of bad times and unemployment; she is not looking for a rich stranger to finance her idleness for the rest of her days. One knows that even in her small girlhood back in Sweden little Linda Ardersen did what her mother told her to do; small, vigorous, earnest, one sees her herding geese, plumping feather-beds, sweeping a flagged old kitchen floor as if Davy Jones were after her! One knows that when George Swensen was brought home to her helpless and crushed, five years ago, she faced his tragedy, faced her own, puzzled and wept and prayed out the solution.

And the moral of all this is that almost every woman has a problem, now, today, this minute. And that there is no use dreaming of larger problems, planning for more congenial duties, until these present ones are completely solved. Until your scheme runs like clock-work, despite any difficulties, under any handicaps, it is mere waste of time to think that you would be equal to the demand if the demand were changed. If you can be a success in middle-age, you are one. If any possible combination of circumstances can make you a failure, an idle discontented parasite, then no possible combination of circumstances could make you anything else.

I say "in middle-age," because youth often has a time—may even have years—of doubt and despair, changing and failing. It is a part of youth to be defeated; it should be a part of youth to expect and defeat defeat. But when you hear from any woman over thirty-five a sad, philosophical tale of the bad fortune that has dogged her, the mischances that have baffled her, the cruel injustices that fortune has dealt her—look out! It may be Anna.

Payment of Delinquent Taxes Urged by State

In order to bring to the attention of the people of Michigan the danger of neglect to pay delinquent taxes, the State Administrative Board has authorized a State-wide campaign of advertising which calls attention to Public Act 28, passed in the 1937 session of the Legislature. (See our advertising columns.)

The Act clearly provides that properties delinquent for taxes for 1935 and prior years will go on sale in May next unless advantage is taken of the provisions for partial payment, before September 1, 1937. The Legislature has recognized that a method of relief is necessary in the case of some property-owners and has made possible the payment of back taxes on a "10 and 10 plan."

According to George T. Gundry, Auditor-General, who is charged with

GEORGE T. GUNDY
Auditor-General

the duty of supervising the operation of this law, all 1933, 1934, 1935 back taxes, as well as taxes levied in prior years, must be paid before September 1st, 1937 or else it is mandatory to place such properties on tax sale in May of next year.

The "10 and 10 plan," says Mr. Gundry, helps those property-owners who cannot pay in full at this time, by permitting the payment of 10 per cent of taxes due up to and including 1935, and allows the balance to be paid on a 10 year plan. It is decided to use this plan. Interest and penalties have been cancelled and the only added charge is a 2 per cent collection fee on the amount paid.

In order to take advantage of the provisions of the law it is necessary that 1936 taxes be paid in full. County Treasurers are fully acquainted with the Act and are already receiving applications from many taxpayers who welcome this method of discharging their tax obligations and keeping their properties from the certainty of tax sale next May. It is very important, however, that arrangements be made before September 1st, after which no further relief can be granted.

Tapped Kaiser's Telephone
 During the World War, Ludwig Ocenasek, a clever spy in Austria for the Allies, located and tapped the carefully concealed private telephone line used solely by the Kaiser and the emperor of Austria. After the Armistice, says Collier's Weekly, he repeated the feat on another secret Berlin-Vienna line, securing information that aided Czechoslovakia in becoming an independent country, for which he was honored by a monument.

Miami River in Ohio
 The Miami river in Ohio was first known as Rock river, named after the French Riviere de la Roche because of its rocky bed, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Its present name comes from the Miami Indians who settled along it after migrating from the Wabash.
