A COLLEGE PROFESSOR Invented this Miracle Pen to Guard All Students (from Pens that Suddenly Run Dry)

A Wisconsin professor discovered that often it wasn't students' brains but their pens that ran dry—caused failure in classes and exams. That led to the birth of the revolutionary, endless Vacuumatic, perfected by Parker, and GUARANTEED MECHANICALLY PERFECT.

It never runs out of ink unless you let it. For it holds 12,000 words of ink, and shows the ink level—shows when to refill.

The Point is gold. Gold combined with precious Platinum—skillfully fashioned to write 3 ways.

Popular Couples Are United In Marriage

Winans-Oesterle
The ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Mary Jean Winans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Winans, and Donald John Oesterle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oesterle, was solemnized at 7:30 Friday evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. P. H. Grabowski, pastor of St. Paul's church. The attendants were Mrs. Russell McLaughlin of Chelsea and Paul Skeel of Ann Arbor.

The bride wore a white colored suit, with hat and accessories of brown. Her corsage consisted of white and red snapdragons and dark red roses. Mrs. McLaughlin was attired in a brown suit. Her accessories were blue, and tulle roses formed her corsage.

A reception for 40 was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The table, centered with the white wedding cake, was illuminated with yellow candles.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Oesterle are graduates of Chelsea high school, and Mrs. Oesterle later attended the Nurses' Training school at University hospital. They are residing in the Bohnet apartments on Orchard St.

Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman
Michigan Press Association
Lansing—When it comes to dramatizing himself into the front page, Gov. Frank Murphy has demonstrated that he is becoming a master of mass psychology.

The recent relapse from nervous exhaustion, requiring him to recuperate at the University hospital in Ann Arbor, is another illustration. Before he went to the hospital, he parried a question that he might become a candidate for president in 1940, backed by a third party group of liberals, and then countered with the suggestion that President Roosevelt might be drafted for a third term.

Observers immediately recalled that Murphy visited the White House just a month ago, immediately after the Wisconsin-Lafollette had paid a visit there.

The Governor's nervous breakdown, which he suffered while on vacation in California, again served to remind the public that Michigan's executive settled the automobile sit-down strikes. And that action was responsible for Murphy's meteoric rise into national fame.

Central Fibre Prod. Co. Increases Floor Space

The Central Fibre Products Co., local industrial plant, has just completed improvements to four sections of the building known as the saw-tooth, which is a part of the North Main street property which they own, and occupy. A complete new roof was placed on these sections and new glass was placed in the windows. This improvement provides about 4000 square feet of additional floor space which will be used for storage, and gives the company total floor space of 12,000 square feet.

Two twisting machines were moved from the Detroit plant of this concern last week to the local plant, and are being set up in readiness for operation. Manufacturing operations are being carried on at a rapid pace in both plants of the company, and the management anticipates a steady increase of business during the fall and winter months. Products which are manufactured by this company include tacking strips and paper deaming cord which are used in automobile body construction, and paper deuce twine.

Seitz-Mayer

Miss Oleta H. Seitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Seitz, and Carl J. Mayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mayer, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at the parsonage of St. Paul's church, with Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. The attendants were Miss Betty Marie Seitz, sister of the bride, and Alfred D. Mayer, brother of the groom.

The bride wore a dress of Schiaparelli blue crepe, with burgundy accessories, and a corsage of gardenias completed her costume. The bridesmaid was gowned in duobonnet crepe, with accessories of navy blue and Tulle roses formed her corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mayer left on a two weeks motor trip to Quebec and the New England states.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school, Michigan State Normal College and the University of Michigan, and is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority. For the past four years she was teacher of English in the Chelsea high school.

The groom also graduated from Chelsea high school and is assistant cashier at Chelsea State Bank. They will make their home at 505 East St.

Political Activity

As cooler days arrive in September, political activity has been perking up. Tenth district democrats, holding a rally on Friday, September 10, at Houghton, centered attention on Mr. Theodore I. Fry, state treasurer, and thereby gave rise to speculation that Fry is the logical man for Murphy's successor should the Governor accept a federal post or otherwise decide not to seek re-election.

With a budget deficit of many millions in the offing, Fry has plenty of financial worries on his mind.

State Rally Sept. 17-18
At Bay City next Friday and Saturday, Sept. 17 and 18, Republicans will hold a state-wide rally to size up the 1938 campaign and to look over likely candidates for office.

Michigan's first republican today is United States Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg who is "highly regarded" throughout the state to use the exact words of the state.

The complete schedule for the season is as follows:

- Sept. 24—Chelsea at Clinton.
- Oct. 1—Tecumseh at Chelsea.
- Oct. 8—Chelsea at Saline.
- Oct. 15—Dundee at Chelsea.

Last Band Concert To Be Given Saturday

The last of the series of summer band concerts presented by the Chelsea high school band will be played at the intersection of Main and Middle streets on Saturday evening, September 11, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Following the custom established in previous programs, the concert will consist of a variety of compositions. In addition to marches and concert selections, there will be an element of novelty introduced through the use of "Pop Goes the Weasel" and "Old MacDonald Had a Farm", featuring the several departments of the band in solo passages.

After concluding its present concert series the band will prepare to appear at some of the football games during the fall, and will later be considerably revised by the addition of new instruments in preparation for the winter concert season.

HONOR BRIDE-TO-BE

The Lincolns were hostesses at a delightful party on Thursday given at the summer home of Mrs. E. E. Storms, Cavanaugh Lake, in honor of Miss Viola Krumm, whose marriage to Elmer Lindon of Lima township will take place in October. Japanese lanterns and summer flowers formed attractive decorations for the event and the bouquet centering the guest table was centered with a miniature bride and groom, over which was suspended a wedding bell. Dinner was served at one o'clock.

A feature of the entertainment was a mock wedding, with Miss Krumm as the bride; Mrs. Frances Alber, the groom; Mrs. Amy Gentner, bridesmaid; Mrs. Corn Metzger, the minister; Mrs. Storms and Mrs. Isabel Berke, mother and father of the bride; and Mary Ann Gage and Loretta Lindauer, flower girls.

Bingo was played and prizes were awarded Mrs. Amy Gentner and Mrs. Lula Beutler. Miss Krumm was presented with a beautiful set of table linen.

SCOUTS PLAN ACTIVITIES

Outdoor excursions, overnight encampments, and football ushering loom large in the plans of Scout troops for the fall quarter. Most troops re-register in September and October, at which time they add many new members to their rolls. Many troops plan to hold at least one overnight encampment per month at the Newkirk Scout reservation near Dexter. Most Scouts will have an opportunity to usher in two or more of the home football games.

The fall months, too, are opportune ones for advancing in rank, continuing the progress made during the summer months.

Officials Will Frame New Drivers' Rules

While the 1937 legislature vested the Michigan State Police authorities with the responsibility of framing new mental and physical examinations for applicants for operators' licenses, the whole framework of examining and licensing will be worked out by representative enforcement officials of the state, plans indicate.

Early in September, Oscar G. Olander, Commissioner of the Michigan State Police, and other state police officials, will meet with Department of State executives headed by Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, to make preliminary plans for revision of practices pertaining to examinations and licensing of automobile drivers.

The executive committees of the state associations of Police Chiefs, Sheriffs and Prosecuting Attorneys will later be invited to attend conferences so that uniform practices may more quickly be put into practical operation throughout the state when they are perfected.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

The American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday evening at Kolb's hall for the first meeting of the year, which was also their annual meeting. A report of the District meeting held in Adrian on July 11 was given by Mrs. Julius Eisele. Mrs. Paul Maroney reported on the State convention held in Detroit in August.

An invitation from the Jackson Auxiliary to attend the membership drive dinner to be held Monday evening, Sept. 13, was read by the secretary. Annual reports were read and plans were made for a picnic for Auxiliary members and their families to be held Sunday, September 26, at Dexter-Huron Lake.

Election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. S. W. Schenk.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. E. W. Eaton.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. John Hummel.
Secretary—Mrs. James Park.
Treasurer—Mrs. Merle Barr.
Historian—Mrs. Paul Maroney.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Mrs. Clara Rowe.

Chaplain—Mrs. Elmer Schiller.
Executive Board—Mrs. D. W. Cutler, Mrs. E. C. Hill, Mrs. H. Knickerbocker.

Installation of officers will take place October 5.

EXTEND TAX DEADLINE

Recently I said something about the action of the pedestrian. Now I am in the position of a pedestrian watching the automobile driver.

Just stand on any street intersection, or at any crossroad, or along the country road and note the actions of some of these crazy automobile drivers. They think they have exclusive rights to the highway and that all other automobile drivers and pedestrians have absolutely no rights at all.

Of course, the automobile driver has certain rights prescribed by law, but to violate all acts of decency by excessive speed, by cutting in and out, and by endangering the lives of pedestrians and other automobile drivers, is not anybody's right.

The right to live is more sacred than the right to drive.

Luxury's Lap

The luxuries of yesterday are common possessions of today. Witness the radio, electric refrigerator and other home appliances. Now it is the turn of the vacuum cleaner and washing machine, and other things electric.

The ads in this newspaper, by popularizing these articles, have widened the demand for them, paved the way for large-scale production and have thereby brought down manufacturing costs to a point where the price has enabled more families here to afford them.

Our ad pages offer one way in which advertisers can help lift the level of living to luxury's lap.

Not many of our citizens went to help out the celebration in other places. The day lacked plenty of warm sunshine to make it a real success.

Martin Eisele suffered quite a severe accident on Saturday, while threshing. A plank struck him, breaking his breast bone.

OUR NEIGHBORS

MASON—Ralph Hinkley has shod horses all his life but an experience last week unnerved him. He has shod trotters, runners, pacers, farm horses and kickers but last week he had a job of putting eight shoes on one horse. The horse was a sideshow attraction at the Ingham fair. The shoeing was not a publicity stunt, either, for the horse has actual use for seven of the eight shoes. Hoof No. 8 does not touch the ground.

PINCKNEY—Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Wilson announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Pope, to Mr. Charles Wellington Pogue, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pogue of Peterboro, Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Pogue will make their home in Detroit. Dispatch Mrs. Pogue was a former teacher in the local public schools.

MILAN—After serving the community for forty-nine years, the old bridge which has become a familiar sight to travelers along the north and south highway US-23 this week became a part of the history of the community.

Early Tuesday morning a fire broke out and a crew of men started wrecking the huge iron bridge which for nearly a half century thrust its iron fingers into the air. The bridge was built in 1888 and was located just over the county line in Milan township. The bridge has been replaced by a steel and concrete structure, located south of the old bridge, with a forty foot highway. The course of the river has been changed and is now running under the new bridge, while the old river bed is being filled rapidly by the workmen of the Ford Motor Company and the State Highway Department.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Thousands of parents throughout the nation have been eagerly awaiting the opening of the present school year for they are only too anxious to turn over the rearing of their children to the schools.

This is a task which the schools cannot accept for such parents serve as examples for their children when they are not in school. Nine or ten months work of a conscientious teacher can be nullified in an instant if a parent tells a falsehood and is caught red-handed in same.

No Pure Water

It isn't possible to prepare any substance of such purity chemically that it would be completely free of all foreign matter whatever. Absolutely pure water would be injurious to the human body and to all other delicate living things. All drinking water contains mineral elements. Whether water is injurious or conducive to the health depends entirely on the presence or absence of disease-producing foreign matter, in it, or the proportion of minerals.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Who was William Clyde Fitch? And where was his native country?

Ans.—Clyde Fitch was an eminent playwright and author. He was born in New York City on May 2, 1865, and made that city his home. His most notable dramas were "The Masked Ball" and "The Moth and the Flame."

Ques.—Is Friday an unlucky day, and the No. "13" an unlucky number?

Ans.—No. Only the superstitious believe or seem to believe—in the various forms of superstition. Friday was so named after Frigg, a Scandinavian goddess.

Ques.—Why are the ancient Egyptians pictured with a sort of a corrugated hood that hangs down over the back of the neck?

Ans.—That which you seem to think is a hood is nothing more nor less than hair. The ancient Egyptians were extremely careful in taking care of and dressing the hair. The hair was carefully curled in spiral ringlets which hung straight down to the shoulders, and which was quite artistic.

Ques.—Can gorillas talk so that they can understand each other? To what country are they native?

Ans.—Gorillas do not talk. The voice resembles a bark, though it is like a roar when the animal becomes enraged. In their wild state the gorillas mate for life and live in families like humans. They build hammocks in trees where they rest and sleep. Instinctively they understand each other's barking chatter.

Ques.—How old is the English language?

Ans.—Our modern English language is the outgrowth of Old English, which was introduced into England at the time of the German Conquest. Old English was entirely Germanic in its general character and grammatical construction. The German Conquest was in A. D. 450. Modern English differs so materially from Old English that very few words of the latter resemble the English of the present time.

Ques.—Can you tell me who Hebe was and what became of her?

Ans.—Hebe was a female character in mythology, and was the most attractive and joyous personification of eternal youth. She was deprived of this office because of an accident she sustained and was succeeded by Ganymede. Hebe later became the bride of Hercules.

Ques.—On what day of the week was Benjamin Harrison born?

Ans.—Benjamin Harrison was born on Tuesday, that being the day of the week of Aug. 20, 1833—his birthday.

Ques.—I love to fish and would thank you if you would tell me what to do when I get a bite?

Ans.—Just scratch.

Ques.—What is the largest city in New Hampshire? And what is its population?—Is it Concord?

Ans.—The largest city in New Hampshire is Manchester, with a population of 176,834. Nashua is second, with 31,463. Concord third, with 25,228.

Ques.—Will the earth ever stop spinning?

Ans.—Scientists do not think it will because there is no friction to impede its motion. If there was air in the path of the earth's orbit in outer space it would have a tendency to stop the spinning as also its circuit around the sun.

Ques.—I wish to know why a bat can fly around in the dark without hitting anything?

Ans.—Bats have the most sensitive ears of any known living thing. They can hear echoes reflected from walls, trees or any other obstacle and this tells them where such things are. Instinctively they can dart hither and thither even if they are totally blind.

Badge From the Georges

When the late King George was prince of Wales, it occurred to someone to honor him by getting all the prominent Georges of Britain to combine and present him with a badge on which all their names would be inscribed. Dukes and peers, lords and ministers, high churchmen and members of parliament, and among them all, the name of the jeweler's workman, also a George, who, laboring on the badge desired to have his name associated with it, asked, and was graciously given permission.

States and Religion

The first amendment to the federal Constitution states that congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. Article 6 of the Constitution states that no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States. As Bryce's "The American Commonwealth" points out every state constitution also contains precisely forbidding the creation of an established church.

TO BE OF GOOD COURAGE AND WAIT

When the evening shades have gathered At the end of a tiresome day, I was footsore and weary, Almost too tired to pray.

Depressed in my nerve and spirit, Nearly sinking beneath my load, Near previous to be of a sudden surprised

By the Christ of the Emmaus road— Read St. Luke 24:13.

Sometimes He has proven the nearest When it seemed He was farthest away, Hope gone—the stone from the door of my heart.

Seemed never would be rolled away— Of a sudden a flash light from glory, Beyond all my power to portend, The Christ of the Emmaus Road was there, My Saviour—Comforter—Friend.

To fathom the depths of his mercy, To be of good courage and wait, When Satan is pressing the standard, And crowding my heart's wicket gate, Is the victory that overcometh, As it did on the Emmaus road, When the sad broken hearted disciples

First greeted their Saviour and Lord—

—Arthur Cartlon.

Knights Templar Dates

Back to the Middle Ages

The Knights Templar or Knights of the Temple mentioned in Ivanhoe was one of the great military religious orders of the Middle Ages. Organized in the year 1118, during the Crusades, to aid in the defense of Jerusalem, they called themselves the Order of Poor Knights of Christ, or Knights of the Temple of Solomon from their headquarters in Jerusalem. They grew to be one of the most powerful organizations in Europe, and their great wealth aroused the jealousy and cupidity of princes. Finally in 1312 the order was suppressed and their property was seized, largely by the French and English kings.

The present Knights Templar is a Masonic fraternity, notes a writer in the Detroit News. The American encyclopedia states that the tradition that the "Baldwin Encampment," which up to the middle of the Nineteenth century had been conceded to be the witness that Masonic Knights Templars were descendants of the Knights of the Crusades, is not accepted. Its earliest accredited document bears date 20 December 1780.

The first reference to the Knights Templars as allied to Masonry is dated 1789. The theory is that a connection existed between the chivalric order of Knights Templar and the fraternity of Operative Masons in medieval times, because bodies of skilled workmen erected the Templar strongholds in the Holy Land and their churches and priories in Scottish Masonry of the transmission of the chivalric degrees ever since the execution of the last Grand Master of the Templars, Jacques de Molai, in 1314.

Iceland Island Settled

In Part by Irish Monks

Iceland, an island in the north Atlantic, has an area of 39,709 square miles, nearly equal to that of Kentucky. It is built up of volcanic rocks, pierced by fjords and gorges, creating rugged but beautiful scenery. Glaciers are numerous, the largest being Vatna, which rises 6,400 feet above sea level.

The island was settled in part by Irish monks toward the end of the Eighth century, the Northmen coming 100 years later. Between 830 and 1264, relates a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Iceland was an independent republic, but by the "Old Treaty" of 1263 the country recognized the rule of the king of Norway. In 1381, Iceland, together with Norway, came under the rule of the Danish kings, but when Norway was separated from Denmark in 1814, Iceland remained under the rule of Denmark. Since December 1, 1918, it has been acknowledged as a sovereign state, and is united with Denmark only through the identity of the sovereign.

During June and July there is practically no night in Iceland. The sun goes down for a few minutes at midnight, but soon rises again. Cattle raising is the leading occupation of the island. Sheep, of which millions are raised, are diminutive in size, their fleeces being very thick. The country has long been famous for its culture and literary activities.

Strange Toads From Brazil

Among the curious aquatic creatures in the aquarium of the London zoo are the Pipa toads from the swamps of Northern Brazil. Their heads are triangular in shape and as flat as half-crown pieces. Their "fingers" are long and slender and terminate in star-shaped tips, while the toes are so broadly webbed that, when extended, they resemble half-opened umbrellas. Their eggs, reports a London paper, up to about a hundred in number, are deposited, with the help of the male, upon the back of the female, where they sink into the skin, which, during the breeding season, is spongy and yielding. The cavities so formed become covered after a few days with a horny lid. Nearly three months later the young tease-lit up the lids and emerge as perfect little toads.

words of Governor Murphy in an eastern newspaper interview: Vandenberg is expected to be the key voter, and he may take the reins in shaping the party's policy.

In the background, but still a vital and powerful factor, is former Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald of Grand Lodge, constitutional conservative, balancer of the budget, and popular on Main Street. Fitzgerald has been corresponding with friends throughout the state.

"Take Off a Hide"

Other possibilities include O. L. Smith, Detroit attorney and former Groesbeck lieutenant; Hal H. Smith, Detroit attorney (both of these, like Toy, are being boosted to capture Wayne county's vote, 49 per cent of the state's total); Melville McPherson of Lowell, a rural leader; Howard Lawrence of Grand Rapids, secretary to former Gov. Fred W. Green and former state treasurer; and Mayor Daniel A. Knaggs of Monroe whose Coolidge-like handling of the steel strike there skyrocketed him into prominence.

In the words of James F. Thompson, chairman of the republican state central committee, Michigan Republicans want candidates "who can go out and take off a hide."

Whether or not our winter weather is cold, we're going to have a hot time in Michigan, politically. That much is apparent—if nothing else is certain at present.

The Detroit Times, constant champion of the Governor, since his mayoralty days, recently blasted at Murray D. Van Wagoner as the "state democratic czar" because of his campaign fund of $51,617. The accounting was made openly and candidly in a report filed in the Ingham county circuit court. It was shown that Van Wagoner turned $17,494.10 over to other democratic candidates.

Huge Apple Surplus

Michigan's apple crop is a bumper one.

Seizing upon this opportunity to create additional good will and to demonstrate how a state-wide marketing system can benefit both growers and consumers, Michigan chain food stores are going to take over the surplus apple crop in Michigan.

Consumers will soon become "apple conscious".

"Yes, we have no apples" may be a Michigan sales slogan. And why not?

Handbook Gambling

The attempted murder of Harry Millman, former Purple gang member in Detroit and handbook operator, served to focus the spotlight again on the gambling situation in Wayne and Macomb counties. And just at a time when the legislature's investigating committee had hinted there was practically no gambling in existence.

Raymond W. Starr, attorney general, lost no time in announcing his intention to clamp down on gambling in both counties.

Sharing attention now in the popular crusading against the big bad gamblers is a senatorial committee headed by Senator Diggs, colored.

Thus the "heat" is on. The gambling room at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, is even closed, and this spot catered exclusively to visiting tourists. And all this follows on the heels of a legislature that came within an eye-brow's lash of legalizing dog racing in Michigan. Keep your eye close on developments; they may surprise you.

Location of Brain Center

The brain center, being located on the opposite side of the brain from the preferential hand and no known structural reason existing for the use of the right hand more than the left, some individuals grow up to be left-handed with the speech center on the right instead of the left side of the brain as is the case with most individuals.

Black Death in Shanghai

AS IF there were not horror enough in Shanghai, the ill-fated city found itself face to face with a new pestilence—cholera.

The outbreak of the disease, first discovered in the French concession, where most of the American population lives, was traced in large part to the sanitary difficulties in removing the bodies of Hongkong civilians killed by bombings, artillery shelling and machine-gun fire.

Sanitary officers in the concession and the international settlement fought frantically to check the spread of the dread cholera. They were hampered by Japanese military forces, which insisted upon keeping closed areas where there still remained bodies to be buried.

Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, canceled all shore leaves for sailors and ordered Chinese hands off American ships. With the port of Shanghai closed to American shipping other than warships, because of the ever-increasing danger of bombs and artillery fire, 500 Americans who had intended to leave on the next liners out of port were stranded, making a total of 2,000 American inhabitants who remained exposed to the double dangers of warfare and cholera.

Announcement by the Japanese that they had perfected a plan for bombing every air base in China was regarded as a warning to foreign nationals throughout the 3,000-square-mile of Chinese territory that they had better evacuate if they were to be safe.

Evacuation of Americans from Shanghai was difficult with the ban on shipping. Warships appeared the logical means of rescue, but there were few in the Shanghai area capable of taking aboard large loads of passengers. Accordingly, a cruiser squadron of six ships was being prepared to leave the United States, steam to Shanghai and remove those stranded there.

The Japanese embassy warned foreign nations that they had better advise the Japanese navy of movements of ships into the vast blockaded area, lest these be mistaken for Chinese supply ships. The embassy intimated that cargoes of ammunition and military supplies might be denied admittance and advised foreign ships that it might be a good idea to permit Japanese authorities to inspect their cargoes before entering the blockade.

at law no less than the conscience of mankind has always enjoined.

"His majesty's government must therefore request:

"FIRST—A formal apology to be conveyed by the Japanese government to his majesty's government;

"SECOND—Suitable punishment for those responsible for the attack;

"THIRD—An assurance by the Japanese authorities that necessary measures will be taken to prevent recurrence of events of such a character."

Tokyo's reply was temporarily withheld, pending a complete investigation.

Trouble Ahead for Ford

JOHN L. LEWIS' magic touch effected a compromise between warring factions of the United Automobile Workers of America sufficient to permit the election of officers, but that failed to cover the fierce dissension in the C. I. O. at Milwaukee's Milwaukee convention.

Several times only a fortunately timed adjournment saved a day's meeting from breaking up in a riot. The clashes were between the "progressive" faction of the union, headed by President Homer Martin, and the "unity" faction, containing most of the "left" members, who opposed Martin's program. In the end, the Lewis compromise forced Martin to retain several unitary group officers he had apparently been anxious to depose. New officers added were, however, chiefly adherents of Martin, and it was believed his faction still held control of the executive board.

Of chief importance in the convention was the decision to go ahead with the campaign to organize the employees of the Ford Motor Company. A special tax of $1 per member, which would bring in a net of something like $400,000, was voted for the purpose. Lewis predicted, "Some day Henry Ford is going to be so very tired he will be willing to accord to his employees the rights that are due them."

War May Soon Be Luxurious

ONE good argument for peace is that the rising costs of raw materials are making war more expensive than ever. This was demonstrated when London financial circles revealed that parliament was asked to vote supplementary funds to carry out Great Britain's armament program for the present year.

In February experts figured the cost of armaments at $7,500,000,000 over a five-year period. Now it is apparent that many more millions will be required. The cost of anti-mony has increased from $385 to $485 a ton, copper from $265 to $275, heavy scrap steel from $18.75 to $22.50, tin from $1,135 to $1,295, and zinc from $105 to $115. Steel ship plates a year ago cost $46.75 a ton; now they are $57.

Jersey Kids Picket Mayor

THE next thing you know babies for more milk. Spurred on by frequent accounts of industrial strike picketing—or by the encouragement of disgruntled politicians—several hundred boys between the ages of seven and thirteen years rose in revolt against the city fathers of Jersey City, N. J.

Shouting their war cry, "We want playgrounds!", the youngsters tied up traffic with their parade. They dug up cobblestones from the streets, sprinkled the pavements with broken glass, built barricades of boxes and stones which made driving hazardous for automobiles.

The boys directed their campaign against Mayor Frank Hague and United States Senator A. Harry Moore, upbraiding them with placards and mottoes condemning their alleged failure to provide sufficient playgrounds for the safety of children. Police dispersed them gently at first, but when they reorganized and resumed the picketing, the officers were forced to seize 15.

YOU Figure It Out!

IT IS true that the first session of the seventy-fifth congress appropriated a vast amount of money, but just how much? It depends upon your point of view.

Rep. John T. Edgar (Rep., N. Y.), ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, in preparing a compilation for the first issue of the Congressional Record, estimated that congress had appropriated $10,252,892,536 for use in the current fiscal year. He contended this amount of spending in one fiscal year would result in a deficit of between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000, and a national debt of more than $40,000,000,000.

Publication of Taber's statement, drew a reply from Clarence Cannon (Dem., Mo.), chairman of the committee. He presented a series of tables which he claimed proved that the last session appropriated only $8,427,005,854, of which only $7,446,046,922 was for the 1938 fiscal year.

Then, just to shanghai the wits of laymen who sought the answer to the puzzle, Carter Glass, Democratic senator from Virginia, who has often differed from the administration on points of expenditures, offered his estimate that $9,369,488,893 had been appropriated. He added that the national debt is really closer to 40 billions than the 37 billions reported by the treasury.

Puppet King for Ethiopia?

WHEN Mussolini captured Ethiopia (or did he?) it was frequently said that he would never be able to control it, much less develop it, for the Ethiopian tribes are wild and terrible. Apparently he is now coming to the same conclusion and is about to turn for help to all peoples—the former emperor, Haile Selassie.

It is known that the Italian government has made certain overtures to Great Britain to determine how she feels about the "Conquering Lion of Judah" ascending his throne once more, but strictly as a puppet for whom Il Duce would pull the strings. Britain is said to be willing because of the ever-present Italian threat along her Mediterranean coastline.

France, too, has been approached on the matter. Frenchmen own the important railroad from Addis Ababa to Djibuti, but one of the principal stockholders in the French corporation is Haile Selassie, and the Italians refuse to recognize his holdings. It is believed that if the French agree to the puppet monarchy the validity of the emperor's shares will not be questioned. Then France will be able to buy them.

The Ay in theointment is that Haile Selassie will have none of this. He will resist his fate entirely with the League of Nations, of which Ethiopia is still a member. Meanwhile the continual raids by native tribesmen, still faithful to their emperor, leave no Italian life safe in the African country, and are making Il Duce's "colonization" a joke.

Dictator Visits Dictator

BERLIN was preparing a hero's welcome for Benito Mussolini, Italian dictator due to visit the German capital during September's closing days. Throughout the city Il Duce's obvious popularity was a realistic reminder of the friendly alliance which has developed between the two Fascist nations.

Under den Linden and the Wilhelmstrasse were being decorated with bunting, colored lights and huge German and Italian flags. Various tours and military maneuvers were planned for Il Duce's visit. He was to arrive in a private airplane, his own hands at the controls. During his stay he was to be the guest of Adolf Hitler in the presidential palace. Plans called for his appointment as honorary leader of the Fuehrer's private guard and as colonel-in-chief of a Nazi cavalry regiment.

Japs Eye Sino-Russ Pact

IN TOKYO it was widely believed that the non-aggression pact signed by the Russian and Chinese governments was accompanied by a secret military agreement which would ally the two enemies of Japan to the extent that Soviet munitions, military advisers and aviators would be dispatched to China.

The charges were that by the terms of the secret agreement China fully recognized Soviet activities in Outer Mongolia and the province of Sinkiang in return for a joint defense understanding against Japanese advance in China.

Mediterranean Menace

REGARDED as a renewal of attacks on shipping in the Mediterranean due to the Spanish civil war was the submarine attack upon the Russian freighter Timiryazev off Algiers. When the ship sank after being struck by a torpedo the captain and the crew of 29 were picked up by a fishing boat and brought to Algiers.

None of the crew could identify the attacker, although all reported they had seen a submarine's periscope just before the blast.

Louis Retains Championship

TOMMY FARR, the Welsh fighter whom all the "smart guys" thought was a set-up for Joe Louis, world's heavyweight champion, gave the "Brown Bomber" the surprise of his life in New York, when he stayed 15 rounds. Louis got the eminently fair decision, but Tommy was still fighting like a tiger when the final bell rang.

Rebels Press Santander

REPORTS from the insurgent command said that 35 villages and 1,000 prisoners had been captured by the rebels in their drive on Santander and the tiny remaining slice of the northern Spanish coast held by the government. The government admitted that some advances had been made, but refused to concede that General Franco's forces were threatening the main defenses of the Santander area.

Franco, in his new drive, was using the same tactics which eventually brought about the downfall of Bilbao after a siege of many months. Bombing planes and artillery were pounding the fortifications while other airplanes poured machine gun fire upon trenches.

Insurgents planned the Santander advance to require as little manpower as possible, so as to leave enough men at the Madrid front to start a separate offensive there if necessary. They admitted the loyalists had caught them napping with an offensive west of Madrid in July, causing them to abandon the Santander drive temporarily, but declared that "That will not happen this time."

Mamelukes in Egypt Were Former Class of Slaves

The Mamelukes were a former class of slaves in Egypt, who became and continued for a long time to be the dominant race of that country. Their name comes from the Arab word "Mamluk" meaning slave. As far back as the year 950 mention is made of them, but it is not for several centuries thereafter that they are known as a power, states a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

In the Twelfth century the Sultan of Egypt bought of Genghis Khan 12,000 Circassian, Mingrelian, Tartar and Turkish slaves, and in the year 1240 Malek Sulah made them his bodyguard, and ten years later they killed Turan Shah and became masters of Egypt. In more modern times they played an important part in the battle of the Pyramids in 1798, where they were exhibited as fine horsemen, but where they were annihilated. The great part of their number were massacred by Mehmet Ali in 1811, a remnant only escaping, and for a few years maintaining themselves at New Dongola, but these were exterminated in 1820.

The Mamelukes kept up their numbers by the purchase of Circassian and Georgian slaves; their wives of the same stock, and also acquired by purchase, generally proved childless in the climate of Egypt, and their inheritance, therefore, was usually from master to slave and not from father to son.

SPEED ACCELERATED TO MEET TODAY'S DEMAND

Electricity in itself is the fastest thing in the world and travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. It has taken years of research by engineering science to release this magic speed for cooking purposes.

The modern electric element brings glowing, intense heat into direct contact with the cooking utensils, with an absolute minimum of lost heat. There is no waiting with the improved high speed units which almost instantly respond to a turn of the control switch.

Today's Electric Range, like the automobile, has been accelerated to meet present-day requirements. This year's automobile has stream lines for wind resistance and the modern Electric Range has automatic control for drudgery resistance—it is the modern woman's demand for more speed in her kitchen.

Baby Stealing by Eagles

Classed as Pure Fiction

According to authorities, eagles cannot lift more than 12 pounds. This fact alone makes baby-stealing stories pure fiction. No acceptable proof has ever been advanced to substantiate the belief, asserts a writer in the Detroit Free Press.

"The food of the eagle is 98 per cent fish. They do not care for animal meat when fish is to be had."

It is freely admitted by ornithologists that the eagle is by nature a robber. The greedy, an expert fisherman and too small to defend itself against the big eagle, is often forced to give up its fish to the eagle. Eagles are more likely to join the buzzards in clearing shores of dead fish than to catch them alive themselves. It is generally agreed also that eagles seldom attack birds and mammals unless they are wounded or weakened by disease.

Aside from its commanding appearance and devotion to its young, the eagle has no great virtues to warrant its selection as a national bird. But it has beauty and splendid appearance. From the earliest time the eagle has inspired thoughts of courage, strength and freedom.

That is why the bird has been selected to be the national emblem for many nations, as it is the emblem of the United States.

To see the white-headed bird poised against the blue in the topmost branch of a tall tree is to witness one of the finest sights. To see it circle on widespread motionless wings, now sweeping for a moment near the earth, now rising slowly in a great ascending spiral, until almost lost against the clouds, is to be awe-struck at this symbol of freedom.

TAX PAYMENTS REACH FIFTEEN MILLION MARK

Reviewing the results of the "pay your taxes" campaign just completed by county and state officials, Auditor General George T. Gundry estimated this week that payment of delinquent taxes in the state during the last few days of August amounted to more than $15,000,000. As a result of payment either in full or on the moratorium payment plan—approximately 500,000 parcels will be removed from the tax sale list, Mr. Gundry said.

Crediting the recent advertising campaign authorized by the administrative board, with much of the success in collections, the Auditor General stated that payments this year were nearly 50 per cent greater than those of the corresponding period last year.

Due to the avalanche of descriptions paid to county treasurers they will be unable to make their returns to the state in time to prevent posting on the tax sale rolls, Gundry said. He pointed out, however, that even though the original estimate of 1,500,000 descriptions are advertised for sale those that have been paid will be withheld from sale by the county treasurers.

The Auditor General indicated that fully two-thirds of the taxpayers availed themselves of the moratorium plan for the amortization of their delinquencies.

MISSION FESTIVAL SUNDAY

One of the greatest mission festivals ever held in this section of the country will take place next Sunday, Sept. 12, at St. Thomas Lutheran church, F. A. Sattelmeyer, pastor, one mile north of Pleasant Lake in Freedom.

A large crowd is expected at all three services. The public is cordially invited.

The Rev. Marmaduke N. Carter, a famous colored missionary of Chicago, Ill., will preach at all three services. He will preach in German at the 10 o'clock morning service, German at the 2:30 o'clock afternoon service and English at the 7:30 o'clock evening service. He will also sing several appropriate solos at several occasions.

Pastor Carter is a descendant from royal families in Africa and is blessed with rare talents to carry on his work. He is an unusual, forceful, dynamic orator, being endowed with a powerful deep bass voice. Rev. Carter has been in the ministerial office for 32 years, and is pastor of one of the largest colored congregations in America. He speaks fluently in both German and English, and is very popular in church circles, and is at present secretary of the German Conference of Chicago pastors.

Bees Are Credited With Size, Beauty of Blooms

Bees have had a tremendous influence on the earth's flora and fauna. Flowers with their sweet scent, beautiful colors, and their honey pots are a combination which Nature designed to get a certain job done—to perpetuate varieties of plants that the earth will always be covered with vegetation without which man and beast could not endure. The scent and color attracts bees and the nectar bribes them to visit plants and cross-pollinate them.

In the beginning, notes a writer in the Missouri Farmer, botanists tell us, there were no flowers nor bees. Pollen was simply produced in abundance to be carried by wind and there was such waste of it, so determined was Nature not to take chances, that huge deposits of coal have been formed with pollen. When flowers and bees came the world became more beautiful. Plants with the most beautiful and the sweetest flowers were favored, given an advantage, and hence we have plants as they are today. Nor has this evolution stopped—it is still going on and a case in point is the goldenrod; the bees have so crossed it as to have developed almost numberless varieties, while the flowers of other plants are said to be growing in size and beauty as a result of the visits of their mutual friends, the bees.

A few definitions of "gentleman" follow: "He is gentle that doth gentle deeds" (Chaucer); "The man of sense, of grace, of accomplishment, of social power" (Emerson); "His nature is kind and affable to every creature" (Barnfield); "One who never inflicts pain" (Newman); "One that should leave the world untainted with falsehood or dissimulation or wantonness or conceit" (Marcus Aurelius); "Living blood and a passion for kindness does at last distinguish God's gentleman from fashion's" (Emerson); "Fineness of nature, rendering the body capable of the most delicate sensations and the mind capable of the most delicate sympathies" (Ruskin); "One who understands and shows every mark of deference to the claims of self-love in others, and exacts it in return from them" (Hazlitt).

First Artificial Eyes The first artificial eyes were manufactured by Pierre Gougelman in 1681 on Van Dam street, New York, N. Y., from glass imported from France.

Heavy Skin Evaporation An average loss of water of more than three pounds an hour through skin evaporation has been registered by coal miners.

NOT ALL AMERICAN WIVES ARE GOOD SPORTS

George grinned affectionately at her tantrum and conceded that it would be pretty hard on her, and that was the end of that.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS.

A S. A. class, American wives are poor sports. Studying them and their problems, year after year, one is forced to the depressing conclusion that most of them are but half-developed as human beings, and that in any change or crisis they are notably poor sports.

There are exceptions, of course. The exceptions are the fine mothers and wives who live out their lives in big cities or country towns or lonely farms, solve their difficulties with courage and imagination, and never trouble anyone for advice or sympathy.

There are, thank God, millions of these. One hears little of them, but they exist in their legions. They are the heart and soul and sinew of tomorrow's America, the hope of the nation.

But there are millions of the others, too, women who try to make life fit their own petty ideas of comfort and vanity and pleasure, and who turn slacker the instant life refuses to fall into the pattern. They want it to be one way, they expect it to be just this or that. Times change, unexpected circumstances arise, trouble comes, and they collapse. They become helpless burdens upon the nearest shoulder; one gets nothing but complaint and protest from them for all the rest of their days.

For example, there is Jean. Pretty, affectionate, happy when Oliver Jones married her, she settled down into a bird-cage of a new cottage charmingly and competently; she could direct a maid, drive a car, give little bridge dinners, buy clothes and have her hair set as efficiently as any girl in her group. Oliver was a successful junior member of his father's real estate firm; everything went well with the young Joneses.

Jean didn't want a baby, but Nature trapped her presently into motherhood and when he arrived she dearly loved her little boy. She had a nurse, and expenses rose alarmingly, but Jean would make no concessions and no changes because of bad times. Bills waited unpaid, Oliver worried and nagged, little Sidney was neglected and sick, but Jean rode serenely over the wreckage, charging purchases, borrowing money, and losing no opportunity to compare Oliver's failing fortunes to those of his cleverer friends.

Six years ago the whole thing went on the rocks. After the failure of his father's firm, Oliver, after months of anxious searching, finally obtained a job; but it was a humble job, checking shipments for a cannery, and he was paid only $22.50 a week. He had to live in a town Jean didn't know, she said she hated it; he had to give up his club and his car. Jean refused to share these fallen fortunes. She went to her mother. Her mother secretly admires and likes Oliver, and didn't want Jean, but that didn't matter. Jean wanted a home in which she would still be waited upon, in which she could still lie late in bed and have her room kept clean, and her dishes washed. She has not divorced Oliver, but she resents his unsuccess and despises him, and he knows it.

A Frenchwoman in her place would be living down near the cannery in one of the rentless cottages attached to the place, making her man good soups and stews, struggling to see that her child was well educated. An Italian woman would accept the change in fortunes philosophically, even gaily; it would be all in the day's work to her; the main thing would be that her man needed her. An Englishwoman usually sticks to her partner through thick and thin; the husband is the important thing, not what happens to the bank account. But not Jean!

Then there is Lucia. Lucia and I were friends when we were quite small girls and we have followed each other's fortunes ever since. Lucia married young, married a rich man ten years older than herself. They built a handsome colonial home and lived in some elegance; Lucia, furred and spoiled and lovely, was the happiest young wife imaginable.

Presently the firm that employed George underwent some serious setbacks, and George was asked to take a lesser salary and invest in the business what capital he had left. Lucia was indignant at the idea, and easily persuaded

Siam's King Given Bath Before His Coronation

"May you reign for 120 years!" cries the chief priest at the coronation of a Shah of Persia. When the ceremony is over the Shah appears before his people seated on a marble throne brought from Shiraz. Surrounded by princes and ministers, he puts to his lips a pipe loaded with jewels instead of tobacco, then inquires as to the welfare of his people, and expresses his hopes for the future.

The date and time of the coronation of a King of Siam is fixed by his Brahmin advisers. Before his coronation, writes a correspondent in London Answers Magazine, he has to endure a ceremonial bath seated on a dais, of which the four sides are square to the cardinal points of the compass. King and dais are enclosed by curtains, then the water is turned on. This is done no fewer than eight times, the king facing in a different direction each time, and getting a thorough soaking.

Then comes a blast of unearthly music from conch shells, during which the very wet king is dried and invested with his royal robes. He then receives the nine-storied umbrella from the Chief Brahmin, together with the crown, sceptre, sword, and other regalia.

Rice plays a very important part in Japanese coronations.

George Washington, Farmer. Washington was a mighty farmer in his day, and some idea of the extent of his farming operations may be formed from the following facts: In 1782, he had 500 acres in grass, sowed 600 bushels of wheat, 600 acres with oats, and prepared as much with barley, corn, potatoes, beans and peas. His stock consisted of 140 horses, 112 cows, 288 working oxen, heifers and steers and 800 sheep. He constantly employed 250 hands, and kept twenty-four plows going during the whole year, when earth and weather would permit.

Use of Word "Ye." "Ye" and similar expressions are merely the Anglo-Saxon or Old English method of writing the article "the." The pronunciation of "the" does not change when it is written "ye." Frequently it is incorrectly or humorously pronounced "yee" like the pronoun "ye."

Fighting Against One's Nature. Puritanism means fighting against one's human nature; consequently it is unpleasant.

'WAY BACK WHEN

FANNIE HURST LIVED LIKE HER CHARACTERS

HAVE you read "Back Street," or "Five and Ten"? Have you wept and thrilled over the shop girls of Fannie Hurst's short stories? Fannie Hurst, herself, was once a waitress, a nursemaid, a salesgirl, and a sweatshop worker. Had you met her then, you could hardly have known that some day she would be hailed throughout America as a leading novelist.

Fannie Hurst was born in Hamilton, Ohio, in 1895. She was raised in St. Louis, Mo., an only child who had many lonely hours for reading. At fourteen she submitted blank verse to the Saturday Evening Post. Spurred on by ambitions, she wrote until three and four in the morning while a student at Washington University, came to New York to complete university, and for years wrote without having a single story accepted. From the Saturday Evening Post, alone, she received 38 rejection slips.

Her first encouragement came from R. H. Davis, editor of Munsey's and success followed swiftly.

Her first book, a collection of short stories, was published in 1914, and her works appeared regularly thereafter, including "Mannequin" in 1926, which was awarded a prize of $50,000 by a moving picture corporation.

Fannie Hurst now lives in luxury in New York City. A handsome woman, she loves fine furs, rare jewels, and brilliant colors. What a contrast to the humble scenes that made possible her successful interpretation of shopgirl hearts and souls are the rich surroundings her persevering ambition has won for her.

Dresses Used in War Balloon

Richmond belles sacrificed their silk dresses vainly to the Confederate cause, when an attempt to build an observation balloon was made during the siege of the Southern capital. Too poor to buy a balloon, a patchwork affair was created out of the varnished silk garments of Virginia women. The Federal army captured it after its first ascent. A fragment of the balloon is preserved in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington.

Colman, First American Playwright Back in 1690

"Gustavus Vasa," performed in 1690 by Harvard students at Cambridge, earned for Benjamin Colman the place of the first American playwright. The earliest theater in America was built in 1716 at Williamsburg, Va., says a writer in the Indianapolis News. Fifteen years later, Mrs. Medley's company, playing "The Fool's Opera," made the first theatrical tour of the English colonies. In 1749, an attempt was made to play Addison's "Cato" in Philadelphia, but the players were arrested and the project abandoned. It was not until 1768 that a theater, the "Southwark," was built in that city. The New Amsterdam Dutch were indifferent to the theater, but after British occupation, the city's night life was gay and many young British officers took part in the theatricals.

The old John Street theater in New York was built in 1767. When the house was sold out, it brought in $800, and sporting young gentlemen of the city vied with each other for the privilege of occupying the few special seats on the stage. Washington frequently attended its performances and the greatest actors of the day, all of whom were styled "comedians," appeared. It was here that "Hamlet" made its initial appearance in America. Major Andre, later executed as a spy, was a scene painter, and many of the successful scenic effects at the old theater were his. John Henry, Irish actor, came from Covent Garden, London, to play "The Beau's Stratagem" at this theater, and became America's first matinee idol. On another occasion a group of Cherokee chiefs witnessed "Richard III." As a return favor, they offered to give an Indian war dance. The offer was accepted and billed accordingly, with the result that the house was filled to overflowing. A young English actor of those early days, Lewis Hallam, caused considerable comment, playing Romeo to his mother's Juliet.

Muskmelon May Have Been Grown as Early as 1597

Strictly speaking we don't have cantaloupes in the United States. That term refers to a certain variety of the muskmelon grown in Europe. Named for Cantalupo castle in Italy, where it was first grown in Europe, the cantaloupe has a hard warty rind and a reddish-orange flesh. However, we in the United States have blithely referred to any muskmelon as a cantaloupe, until today dictionaries discriminate between the English and the American versions, writes Lona Gilbert in the Los Angeles Times.

Don't get the idea, however, just because of the European-American linguistic differences that the muskmelon is a native of either. The melon is indigenous to Asia. Centuries ago the Egyptians borrowed the idea from the Orientals and raised an inferior melon, but a muskmelon for all that. Both the Romans and the Greeks knew muskmelons, but the latter, in writing of them, sometimes confused them with cucumbers.

Melons were brought to France in 1629 we know, and flourished thereafter, although they may have been grown in that country as early as 1597. We say "may" because the authority telling of them confused them sometimes with gourds.

True Value of Steel

The value of steel varies greatly, the price depending upon the articles into which it is fashioned. If a bar of steel costing 1 pound is made into horseshoes, the finished product would fetch about 2 pounds. If the same bar is made into needles, they would fetch 10 pounds, if into penknife blades, about 5,000 pounds, and into watch springs no less than 50,000 pounds! Very often, when made into precision instruments, steel has a greater value, weight for weight, than gold, and it is the most useful of all metals for engineering work. Without steel, as asserts London Tit-Bits Magazine, industry would be temporarily dislocated, for another metal equally cheap that would lend itself to tempering, would have to be found.

Parks in Ontario

In the province of Ontario there are three national parks, one on Georgian Bay, another at Point Pelee on Lake Erie, in southern Ontario; and the third among the Thousand Islands. The Georgian Bay park consists of thirty islands; Beauséjour, the largest, is a favorite resort. Point Pelee, the most southerly point in Canada, is a resting place for many migrating birds. Thirteen islands among the Thousand Islands, in the St. Lawrence river, between Morrisburg and Kingston, are reserved for Ontario's other recreational area.

Trousers Ridiculed

The word "trousers" seems to be derived from the French word "trousse," which signifies to tie or lace up tightly. Trousers first began to be worn about the beginning of the last century. They were much ridiculed at first, and it was hardly considered respectable to be seen in them. In October, 1819, orders were issued by Trinity and St. John's colleges, London, that students appearing in hall or chapel in pantalons or trousers should be considered as absent.

Ceramic Factories Once

Aided by Royal Patrons

In the early part of last century the arts were very much under the patronage of the rulers of the different countries in Europe. The ceramic factories in particular owed their success to the assistance given them by their royal patrons. This patronage sometimes meant real ownership, and distribution of the productions often went to favorites of the court or a severe loss to the factory. If in the end the cost was largely assumed by the taxpayers, they at least had a part in giving to posterity many of the lovely things which collectors possess today, according to a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

The art of making true porcelain such as was made in the Orient was not discovered in Europe until the beginning of the Eighteenth century. Many chemists had made experiments trying to solve this elusive substance but were not successful.

The marks of Dresden or Meissen porcelain are best known as the "crossed swords." The mark is usually under the glaze in blue. This mark was not used regularly until 1725, but became the exclusive mark after 1740. Now and then we find very beautiful cups and saucers with a yellow or ruby ground with panels of Watteau figures and bearing the mark "AR" in monogram. Such pieces are supposed to be of the earliest Meissen period, and made under the ownership of Augustus of Saxony. A piece marked with a cut across the hill of the swords means it was sold in the white and decorated outside the factory.

Mont St. Michel Tides

Among World's Wonders

One of the fastest and strongest tides in the world ebbs and flows off Mont St. Michel in Brittany. With a deep morning sound heard for miles, the tide flows, rushing back over the eight miles it has speeded at ebb-tide and within a few minutes transforms about 100 square miles of ocean bed from a stretch of sand into turbulent sea.

The highest tides of the year occur before the spring and autumn equinoxes, when the Mont is entirely surrounded by water. At other times throughout the year at the new and full moon the tide also runs high, though not reaching the equinoctial records.

Terms Used by Birdmen

Dog fanciers have nothing on bird students when it comes to strange sounding words of description. Most of the terms used by ornithologists are absolutely necessary in writing bird descriptions. For example, says a writer in the Washington Post, birdmen refer to the feathers covering the base of the quills on the wings and tail as coverts. The quill feathers of the wing are primaries. Thus, primary coverts are the conspicuous feathers at the base of the primaries. Secondaries are merely the flight feathers of the wing. Tertiaries are those secondary feathers closest to the body. Shoulder feathers are scapulars. The regions about the ears are auriculars. Dorsal refers to the back, frontal to the forehead, and crown to the top of the head. The bend of the wing is the carpal joint; the occiput, the back of the head; the nape, the back of the neck.

White Potato From America

The white potato was introduced into Ireland from this country. The Irish, however, were the first to recognize potatoes as a staple food. Sir John Hawkins, a slave trader, carried some potatoes from Virginia to Ireland about the year 1565, and Sir Walter Raleigh, who had estates in Ireland, in the county of Cork, began growing them on a large scale. He popularized them as food to such an extent that they became known as Irish potatoes.

Reservation in Hawaiian Islands

Since 1898, when the Hawaiian islands were annexed as an American territory, more than 27,000 acres have been set aside for army and navy reservations alone. Of this total 14,400 acres are being used for Schmidt barracks, largest army post in the nation. In addition to these 27,000 acres, Hawaii National park, also owned by the Federal government, contains 118,225 acres. This park is located on the islands of Hawaii and Maui.

Prince's Look in Will

Among the Jacobite relics left to National Museum of Antiquities of Scotland, at Glasgow, in the will of Sir James aidane Stewart Lockhart is a ring containing a lock of Bonnie Prince Charlie's hair. Another of the relics is the commission given by the Old Pretender, father of Prince Charlie, to Charles Stewart, fifth of Ardsheal.

Bumper Apple Crop Reported in Michigan

Five million extra bushels of apples off trees in Michigan this fall present a problem for growers but an opportunity for housewives who seek low cost foods.

Combined with a national crop of 202 million bushels of apples which is 72 per cent greater than last year, apples will be plentiful and low in price, it is pointed out by H. D. Hooper, horticulturist at Michigan State College, and member of a state and national apple stabilization committee.

Other committee members in Michigan include: Wesley Mawby, Grand Rapids; Carl Steimle, Sodus; L. H. Spencer, Farmington; Arthur Seel, Benzonia; Edward Lyman, South Haven; C. C. Taylor, Albion; Edward Payne, Fennville; R. A. Buysse, Bangor; R. L. Edwards, Metamora; George Friday, Coloma, and R. J. Martin, Bangor.

When the national crop loomed larger, the state committee had a meeting. That was June 10 and the apple crop within the state appeared to be about the equal of last year. Then rains and other weather factors boomed the crop and the trees are loaded with quality fruit.

Hooper and members of the committee are trying to stimulate increased uses for apples. Using them in cookery is recommended. Cider making is another process for using up the crop. Housewives also are encouraged to use apples in preserves and to can apple sauce for use during late winter and early spring months when storage supplies begin to dwindle.

Oldest Fortified Spot

An army survey reveals that Old Point Comfort, originally called Cape Comfort by the English settlers who established the first permanent colony at Jamestown, has been continuously fortified for a longer period than any other spot in the United States. Old Point Comfort, jutting into the Chesapeake at the tip of the Virginia peninsula, and famous for more than a century, was first fortified with rude earthworks thrown up in 1609 as a protection against Spanish men-of-war. From this simple beginning has grown Fort Monroe, largest enclosed military installation in the world.

"Swing Music" Man Is

Allowed Natural Style

The origin of the name "swing music" has been ascribed to a well-known director, who exhorted his band to "swing it," using the word in the sense of "give full swing to it," or in other words, "have each player indulge his natural bent."

According to various leaders of swing bands, it is music in which the musician expresses his personality or his carefree feelings in rhythm, riding along from the original melody but never losing sight of it. The melody is submerged but not discarded. It is total relaxation; playing as you feel the music and not as written by the composer.

When an orchestra swings, it plays polyphonically, with every instrument given an equal voice and complete freedom within its possibilities, in contrast to the symphonic European style in which the emphasis is placed upon strings and tradition.

In swing music, equal emphasis is placed upon melody, harmony, counterpoint and rhythm. There is a difference between improvisation and swing. A jam is pure improvisation by a group; if their collective improvisations are rhythmically integrated, they swing; or in other words, good jam swings. —Detroit News.
