Rev. Mumby Writes of Recent Trip to England
By Rev. F. D. Mumby

Most of my friends know that the main purpose of my European trip was to visit my aged parents who reside in Huddersfield, Yorkshire. American tourists have a great advantage when visiting England in the fact that they are already familiar with the language if not with the topography and customs of the people. In addition to this one who is somewhat familiar with London has a further advantage and can travel by bus or street car instead of engaging the ubiquitous taxi, and cut down expenses by so doing.

A city bus took me to Euston Station, and at noon I left for the north, a journey of 142 miles. Two young men from Manchester shared the compartment with me and were just returning from a week-end in Paris. Noting that I was American they were very anxious to know what it would cost to tour in America, what it would cost to buy a used car and whether it would be difficult to get a permit to drive. They were very keen about making the trip and I just imagine they'll do that one of these days.

I arrived at my destination about 5:00 p. m. and of course received a royal welcome. It is 13 years since we paid them a visit and one sister had died since that time. I was very happy to find everyone well and of course it was a glad reunion.

If peace could be assured to Europe I am sure England would easily lead the world back to prosperity. The Thames River is lined with fine new factories, including the great new Ford plant and many others. Factories and homes are being built in almost every city visited and great slum clearance projects are under way in the down town sections.

Huddersfield is in the West Riding of Yorkshire and the seven cities of the Colne Valley are the center of the cloth producing and rayon industries. There is also a great chemical factory producing dyes for the entire nation, which has been built since the war.

The threat of war hangs over the toilers of Europe like a cloud and preparations for war such as armament, ships, aircraft, bombproof cellars, and gas masks for civilians, as well as combatants, with the uncertainty of what the next day may bring has a more or less paralyzing effect on industry. This seems to be about the only country across the Atlantic that does not have peace time conscription and the Ads. in the magazines, newspapers, on the bill boards, the screen, and over the government.

Lansing—Prospects for a second special session this fall of the state legislature grow stronger here daily despite disinterested law-makers.

The situation is being sized up about as follows:

1. The entire state welfare machinery, involving the expenditure of millions for direct pauper-relief, dependent children assistance and old age pensions, may be stopped in October by the filing of petitions for a referendum on the new state welfare setup.

2. Labor trouble is breaking out again. The furniture industry, for example, is having strikes under C. I. O. leadership.

3. Federal rural electrification is somewhat "up in the air" due to the failure of the legislature to invest the public utilities commission with power to require the state's approval of any extensions into rural areas by private utility companies.

Welfare Vote Looms
Handling of welfare money has become "big business" in Michigan, as it has become in other states.

During the early depression years, the burden of caring for jobless families became too heavy for local governments. First the state intervened; then the federal government.

Direct relief has been a centralized responsibility of the state, and the results prompted the legislature to seek a reform whereby the money would be administered locally through a county welfare commission but under definite rules and regulations as made by the state welfare commission.

Except in counties where a municipality comprises 50 per cent or more of the county's population, the welfare personnel shall consist of three members, two of whom are to be appointed by the county board of supervisors and a third member to be appointed by the state commission of public assistance.

Where a municipality is a main factor, the city shall appoint one member, the county board shall pick one, and the state commission one.

Supervisors Oppose Plan
The county supervisors through their state association opposed the welfare bills in the legislature. In fact, the activity of Melville H. McPherson of Lowell, as a spokesman for the supervisors, prompted Senator Earnest C. Brooks (D) of Holland to introduce a bill which would have abolished the state tax commission of which McPherson is the chairman.

In the welfare bills which passed, party lines being somewhat divided, is a proviso that referendum petitions must bear signatures of at least 5 per cent of the total vote for governor (this being 1,749,769) and that they must be filed with the secretary.

Art Collins Terminates Service With M. C.

Mr. Collins has been the local night operator at Chelsea since October 28, 1914, and prior to that time was located at Grass Lake and Dexter.

Art has a letter from Supt. E. E. Wright of the M. C. R. R. expressing regret at his resignation and commending him on his long years of very satisfactory service. The letter follows:

With sincerest best wishes for your future, I remain,
Yours truly,
E. E. Wright, Supt.

Trespassing Forbidden Under Horton Law
Lansing—Small game hunters who open the upland bird and rabbit seasons in Michigan this month should not go afield without a thorough understanding of the Horton trespass law, say conservation men here.

The Horton law was enacted by the state legislature in 1935 to protect landowners from illegal trespass. Under this act a hunter, who with firearms or dogs, enters upon enclosed farm lands or farm woodlots connected therewith to hunt without consent of the owner, is subject to arrest.

The law does not say that the landowner must erect signs on his property so as to prevent trespass. It applies in the case of enclosed farm lands and woodlots whether posted or not.

Authorities point out, however, that the Horton law does not apply to the northern forested areas that are unfenced and unposted against trespass.

What would you do in case you happened upon a serious automobile accident and found one or several occupants bleeding profusely from cuts? Most people would rush to call an ambulance or a doctor, or hurry the injured to a hospital.

But, how about those precious moments when you are waiting for the doctor or are enroute to the hospital? Are you capable of administering first aid to stop the bleeding? Many, many precious lives could have been saved if someone at the time of the accident had been familiar with the simple method of stopping bleeding by applying pressure with the fingers at certain points on the body, depending upon the location of the injury. You can get pamphlets or bulletins on this subject from your local drug store, library, boy scout leader, or from your insurance company.

controlled B. C. feverishly urging the young men to "Join the Air Force—It's Mechanized", or some other branch of the Service. About the end of August the age limit for enlistments was raised to 28, but there seemed to be no great desire on the part of the young Englishman to join either the Army, Navy, Marines, or Airforces.

In talking with many of the older men I found there seemed to be a decided opinion that if war came we should not be able to stay out of it. I assured them we had no intention of getting mixed up in another scrap because we did not feel that we had received very much benefit or gratitude for our previous assistance. When I mentioned that ignoring the war debt while spending staggering sums for warlike purposes had persuaded America that it would be better for her to stay home and mind her own business, and that it would be difficult to convince this nation otherwise, the tendency was to change the subject.

Of course England is a great place to spend a vacation and groups of young people from this country, and all the European countries including Germany and Italy, are walking, or cycling, from one ruin or scenic spot to another, staying overnight in Youth Hostels, getting acquainted with one another and with the various countries visited. I think this movement ought to create friendships that should mean much to the peace of the world in the near future. Perhaps the wish is father to the thought' but it is a prospect devoutly to be desired.

Being a Minister I not only preached on the first Sunday in England, and the last, but tried to discover the condition and position of the churches. Of course July and August is not a good season to observe the church in action. The annual conference of the Methodist Church was in session in the nearby city of Leeds; it was well attended by both ministers and laymen, and the spiritual tone was fine. Frankly I could not detect any great difference between the churches of that country and this. Both seem to be absorbed in doing a difficult task indifferently well without any settled conviction that results would be satisfactory. Religion is being put to the acid test in these tumultuous days.

Two great religious conferences, one at Oxford and the other at Edinburgh sought to discover some method for interchurch and international cooperation looking toward peace and brotherhood. In the idealism of these conferences there was a genuine prophetic note but in the working out of practical plans for concerted action the difficult nature of the problem dampened the ardor of the prophets.

England with but little more territory than the State of Michigan, has about 40 millions of people, consequently there are many large towns (to become a city over there it would be necessary to build a Cathedral). Only those towns that boast a cathedral and have become in remote or recent times the seat of a Bishop, are designated cities.

The Colne Valley in the West Riding of Yorkshire is one of the most densely populated spots in the world. The towns adjoin one another and thousands of acres of the surrounding country are rolling moorland with but a few inches of soil supporting the heather which was just covering the hills with a purple carpet at the end of August and providing ample cover for the grouse which seems to be the only edible food provided by the Moors with the exception of a few bilberries.

One rainy Saturday afternoon three of us tramped through the Wessendene which contains hills, springs, waterfalls, and reservoirs belonging to the city and furnishes an ample water supply by gravity pressure for the factories and homes in the valley. Some of the Dales we visited are famous for their scenic beauty, and others for their pastoral charm. Boulton Abbey and Castle and Fountains Abbey were visited and these interesting and beautiful ruins tell again the story of the faith and skill of the builders of centuries ago. Harrogate and Ilkley are charming modern inland resorts and introduce us to the Wharfe upon whose banks these beautiful specimens of the ancient religious houses of medieval England may be found.

Derbyshire is the scenic County and is often called The English Switzerland. It was the next county to the south and we visited Glossop, Buxton, where there is a famous Spa known and patronized the Romans in the early centuries of English history. Bakewell in whose ancient parish church the tombs of the Vernons may be found, including "Sweet Doll of Haddon Hall." The romance of Dorothy Vernon is told and retold by the natives whenever they converse with tourists, especially those from abroad.

Haddon Hall is one of the most famous country homes of England and has been called "A Poem in Stone." The present Duke of Rutland who owns the place refuses admission to the public and has planted so many trees and shrubs along the side of the road that we were only able to get a glimpse of it by stopping the car and peering through the tiny openings that will very soon be entirely closed by the growth of the newly planted shrubbery. I understand the present Duke came into possession of the estate about six years ago. I confess I was disappointed but there was nothing that could be done about that.

After partaking of an excellent noonday luncheon at the Rutland Arms surrounded by the insignia of the famous Dales houses of this part of England I discovered that Chatsworth House, the residence of the Duke of Devonshire was open to the public, the Duke and his party being at Bolton Castle for the grouse shooting.

Chatsworth is also a very famous mansion where kings and queens have often been entertained and sometimes resided. The State apartments are decorated in the lavish style of the 16th and 17th centuries. Walls and ceilings are covered with priceless paintings by famous artists and the intricately beautiful wood carvings by Watson, a local artist of humble parentage, beggar description. The grounds and gardens are gorgeous and my only regret was that all cameras had to be checked at the entrance lodge along with canes, umbrellas, handbags, etc. The great deer park was filled with deer peacefully feeding like so many cattle and the great old trees framed this stately home as we crossed the lovely bridge spanning the ancient moat and took a last look at Chatsworth on our way to Matlock.

retary of state within 90 days after adjournment.

October 29 is the deadline. It is the opinion of Senator Brooks that filing of the petitions would automatically suspend the state welfare machinery. Attorney General Raymond Starr may be asked to settle the legal question, one which has an important bearing on a second special session this Fall.

$5,650,000 Power Loans

Armed with $5,650,000 in federal loans, the Rural Electric administration at Washington—REA in the New Deal alphabet—is sponsoring a vast program in Michigan.

Over 2,305 miles of power lines, now being stretched, will go electricity to 10,000 Michigan farms. Such, at least, is the publicized objective.

How the experiment will work out is a subject of heated discussion. The arguments evolve around (1) private utilities have "robbed up" the entire rural areas where extensions of power lines can be made to pay out; and (2) electric rates can and will they be reduced?

Legalize Gambling?

While the liquor control commission has routed the slot machine operators and Attorney General Raymond Starr continues to demand cleanups in metropolitan areas, the legislature's special investigating committee is doing all it can to popularize the idea of legalized gambling.

In fact, the main purpose of the three-man committee, comprised of Representatives Carl DeLano, John Hamilton and Chester Fitzgerald, was "let out of the bag" the other day. Representative Hamilton said that futile efforts to suppress gambling justified only one conclusion—regulate it through state licenses.

According to the committee, the question is not a moral one—it is economic.

Investigations "Dead"

The gambling probe of the house committee ran into serious legal trouble when Attorney General Raymond Starr, in one of the most important opinions rendered in years, declared that legislative committees were without legal authority to contract obligations after final adjournment of the legislature.

Among a batch of $170 vouchers held by Budget Director Harold D. Smith was an item for $20.18 for "four chrome plated badges." The badges said: "House of Representatives—Investigator."

The question of the legislative committee status had never been ruled on by any previous attorney general. Speaker George Schroeder said the legislature "certainly will appeal to the courts." Representative Hamilton of the gambling committee retorted: "That's only one lawyer's opinion."

Billboard Regulation

Along the scenic shore drive No. 2 west from St. Ignace, which is a favorite route for tourists to the Upper Peninsula, commercial interests have already made advances to lease choice sites for advertising signs.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Commissioner of the state highway department, recently registered a protest with several firms. There is an increased likelihood that this important agency of state government will use its influence to obtain passage of billboard regulations at a future session of the legislature.

Michigan, a leading resort state, faces competition from rival vacation states.

Massachusetts, Indiana, Maryland and some Canadian provinces have enacted effective regulation on highway routes. If it is a good investment to spend public money on trees, shrubs, and picnic tables, it seems to be good common sense to protect these investments that appeal to the tourist's eye.

Millions From Sneezes!

That much of Michigan's popularity, as a tourist-destination, is due to its Great Lakes' air-conditioning with a resultant freedom from hay fever is a conclusion that merits serious consideration. Michigan leads all states in tourist income.

O. C. Durham, Chicago scientist, made a survey of ragweed pollen in various parts of North America. Upper Michigan is an ideal haven for hay fever sufferers during the months of August and September. Isle Royale leads with a rating of 2 points; Sault Ste. Marie, 6; St. Ignace, 13; Petoskey, 13; Alpena, 21; and Frankfort, 68. In contrast with Indianapolis' 124 and Peoria's 113, the two towns highest on the allergic list, these North Michigan ratings are worth a good fortune.

Michigan's sandy soil makes ideal bathing beaches on its countless inland lakes and along the Great Lakes, Michigan and Huron. Yet this same sandy soil is inhospitable to the lowly ragweed. The combination is nearly perfect. Practically, it brings millions of dollars to the state each year—all because of some worthless weeds!

"Better Than Average"

Whereas business in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska has been below the national average, Michigan enjoys the distinction along with such states as Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma and those in the Southwest and Pacific slope of having economic conditions "better than national average."

The authority is the Federal Reserve Board as reflected in check payments in 271 cities.

Considering the fact that no bonus money was injected into 1937 trade, Michigan's prosperity is significant. Industrial wages are higher; crops are generally above average, and the tourist yield was the best in years.

Curing Haddock by Smoking

The curing of haddock by smoking originated about the middle of the Eighteenth century at Findon, Scotland, the cured product being known in the market as Findon Haddock. The fish was salted and dried, and afterwards soaked and placed over a smoldering fire of dried peat to smoke.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A certain district learned to its regret recently that it was directly responsible for the dishonesty of several boys. This particular community had been the home of a notorious personage and on his escape from the penitentiary the entire neighborhood openly voiced its hope that the convict would be able to avoid the police.

As children love to mimic adults, it was only natural for the boys of the vicinity to adopt the gangster as their hero and model.

NORTHVILLE—Rev. Kemal S. North, pastor of the local Baptist church, has resigned. He has accepted the pastorate of the Grass Lake Federated church and will begin his duties on Sunday, October 17. Rev. North will also attend the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary in Chicago—Record.

HOWELL—Catching catfish at Houghton lake this summer has been a thrilling sport for quite a number of fishermen. No less than 7 or 8 of these fish weighing from 10 to 20 pounds each have been brought in, to say nothing of the smaller ones. Last week, H. B. Coy of Flint copped the prize when he landed one after a hard battle, that tipped the scale at 38 pounds, using a five-ounce fly rod and a No. 2 trout fly. This is thought to be the largest fish taken from Houghton Lake in recent years.—Republican-Press.

BROOKLYN—A lady making purchase of tableware at the Walker Tavern antique stock last week became known to the proprietors as Mrs. E. Thompson of Monee, Ill. She was born in Chicago in the home of her godmother, Mrs. O'Leary of Chicago fire fame. Mrs. Thompson declares that the fire which ravaged Chicago on Oct. 8, 1871 was not started as supposed by Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicking over the lantern. "That is just a popular fallacy," says Mrs. Thompson. "My godmother has told me repeatedly that it was started in some way by just a couple of drunken bums who slept in the hay mow." Exponent.

MASON—Danaville's old-time fire engine saved the village from a destructive fire Monday forenoon. The ancient hand-pumper was purchased more than 40 years ago. From the way it worked Monday it should be able to serve for another 40 years. Manned by shifts of willing men, the dependable old machine supplied water to extinguish the flames in the S. S. Holt building.—County News.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Will you please answer who the Maronites are?

Ans.—The Maronites are a sect of Christians who constitute a class in Syria, so named from a monk called Maron. The sect dates from the 5th century, and now numbers about 175,000. The Maronites acknowledge the Pope of Rome as their head, but have the privilege of using the Syriac language instead of Latin in their services. Also celibacy is not enforced upon their priests.

Ques.—Why is the great obelisk in Central Park in New York completely covered with unintelligible characters and symbols?

Ans.—The obelisk in Central Park, New York, which is 231 feet high and 30 feet square at the base, was presented to the United States by the Khedive of Egypt in 1883, and was at once erected where it now stands. The markings on the obelisk are Egyptian hieroglyphics, symbols and characters of their language, and substantially convey the spirit of good-will by the grace of the Supreme Power.

Ques.—On what day of the week was Sept. 22, 1833?

Ans.—Sept. 22, 1833, was Sunday.

Ques.—What is the difference between polygamy and polyandry?

Ans.—Polygamy is the practice of having two or more wives at the same time, while polyandry is the practice of having two or more husbands at the same time. Both systems are practiced to some extent in various countries, particularly in Thibet and other parts of Asia.

Ques.—Will you please answer who wrote the "Marseillaise," the French national air?

Ans.—The "Marseillaise" was written by Rouget de Lisle, an officer of artillery, at Strasbourg, Germany, in 1792. The officer named this celebrated war song "Song of the Army of the Rhine," but soon after the beginning of the Franco-German war the name was changed to "The Marseillaise," and was adopted by the French republicans.

Ques.—What is an Osage Orange?

Ans.—An Osage Orange is the fruit of a tree which was native to the Osage Mountains in Arkansas, but is now found in other regions of North America. It resembles an orange in size and color, but it is not edible. The wood of the tree is highly valuable, and for which it is cultivated.

Ques.—I would like to know what causes the whirlpool at Niagara Falls?

Ans.—The whirlpool, which is a short distance from the falls, is in an "elbow" of the Niagara river. The action of the water rushing into this elbow and immediately backing out causes the water to whirl. It is one of the sights of great interest to visitors.

Ques.—Was George C. Meade a Spandard? If so, why was he given an American name?

Ans.—General George C. Meade of Civil War fame was an American. He was born in Cadiz, Spain, at the time his father was naval agent for the United States in that country.

Ques.—Where did the Newfoundland dog come from? And what is he good for?

Ans.—The Newfoundland dog originated in Newfoundland, although not an aboriginal of that island. With a double coat of warm, thick hair the dog is very comfortable in sub-zero weather. In severe cold countries he is used as a beast of burden and to draw sledges. He is excellent as a watchdog and for saving lives of human beings who are lost in severe storms and blizzards.

Ques.—Will you please answer why a certain kind of sports is called "Olympic Games?"

Ans.—The Olympic Games were the national festivals of the ancient Greeks and were celebrated every four years on the plain of Olympia. They originated in 776 B.C. but were discontinued by Emperor Theodosius in A.D. 398. In 1896 they were revived after they had been abolished 1,500 years before. While the sports became an international affair, it never lost its original name of "Olympic Games."

State Will Surface 300 Miles Annually

Lansing—State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner revealed plans this week for black-top surfacing on 300 miles of gravel trunklines a year.

The commissioner's plans were announced as bids were opened Wednesday on sixteen projects providing for the rebuilding of the gravel base on 122 miles of secondary highways. Incidental grading and drainage construction will also be required.

This work is the first step to be taken by the department for black-topping these roads. The gravel base will be built up to a depth of 6 to 8 inches, depending upon soil conditions, in preparation for later surfacing.

Oil aggregate surfacing will be applied on these roads next spring and summer. This is an improved type of black top perfected in the laboratories of the department three years ago. Much oil aggregate construction has already been carried out by the department in cooperation with the Works Progress Administration.

The 300-mile-a-year program is being financed out of the $5,000,000 annual appropriation for the department enacted by the recent legislature and Governor Murphy. The funds are to be expended on trunklines that are off the Federal Aid system. By reason of this classification, they have been ineligible for previous improvement the last few years under the cooperative state-Federal programs.

Commissioner Van Wagoner pointed out that additional gravel road mileage will also be eliminated by concrete pavements. At the present time, there are approximately 3,100 miles of gravel trunklines in the state.

M. S. C. Short Courses Will Open October 25

Short courses, started at Michigan State College in 1894, are again offered at East Lansing in a schedule which begins Monday, October 25. R. W. Tenny, director of short courses, already is sending out catalogs and obtaining registration for the courses.

Regular sessions include the principal instruction offered in general agriculture for first and second year short course students who attend until March 4, 1938. A special winter term operates from January 2 to March 4.

Nine other courses also are scheduled to begin January 3 and to be concluded March 4. These are for study in dairy production, dairy manufacturing, poultry, agricultural engineering, practical floriculture, home economics, golf course management, forestry and wild life conservation and commercial fruit production.

E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture at the college, adds that substantial enrollments continue in the agricultural division of the Michigan State College. This is evidence, he says, that throughout its 80 years—first as a pioneer and later as a leader in agricultural advancement—that those who visioned the benefits to the agriculture of a nation through the efforts of the institution visioned well.

"Our great diversity in the agriculture of Michigan makes likewise a great diversity necessary in the variety and numbers of courses offered each at the Michigan State College. Here are to be found types of instruction, whether collegiate or short course, which will fit the special needs of every individual student whether his stay may be long or short.

"Graduates of our short courses are numbered among our most successful livestock breeders, dairymen, creamery owners and managers, poultry producers, certified seed growers, and fruit growers in every nook and corner of the state."

Your Pots and Pans Will Reflect Your Smiling Face!

To have beautiful hands is a woman's delight, and electric cookery banishes the principal household task that causes rough, reddened hands—the constant scouring of pots and pans. Electric heat is just as clean and pure as sunshine and leaves no sooty, grimy deposit on utensils.

Old-fashioned flame cooking requires much air for fuel combustion and fuel ovens must have large quantities of air which pass off, carrying the fume-laden, grease-freighted air that is deposited on your walls and draperies, with an ultimate heavy cost for re-decorating. On an Electric Range, the heating element takes no air and is completely enclosed in the oven, so that nothing is carried off.
Not only is your home kept clean; the range itself has no stopped up, greasy burners. It is as easy to keep spotless as a china dish!

Again for 1937--the Name That Electrified America

The FROGIL Oil Burning Circulator

with its Down-Draft Hot Blast principle of combustion, with its many revolutionary features, as --

1. NOISELESS—They are quieter than a coal burning heater.
2. ECONOMICAL—The down-draft hot blast reduces oil consumption up to 33-1-3 per cent.
3. SAFE—Engineers agree and experience has proved that they are safer than coal heaters.
4. EFFICIENT—Thousands of installations have proved they will heat twice the space heated by competitive makes of like size.
5. Built to last a lifetime!

All-Hi Party

There will be an All-Hi "Hard Time" party Friday evening, October 1, which will last from 8 to 11 p. m. Only students with activity tickets will be admitted. There will be a charge of ten cents for those without activity tickets. The committees for this party are:

Seniors—Refreshments.
Juniors—Program.
Sophomores—Clean-up.
Freshmen—Decorations.

Debate

Last Tuesday the candidates for debate met in Miss Gibson's room for their first meeting. The subject on which they are to debate is "Most of the States Should Have a Unicameral Legislature." The people who met were: S. Dingle, J. Fletcher, M. Sullivan, B. Schenk, J. Walworth, A. Martin, G. Koch and P. Bleeker. The first debate takes place some time in November.

Assembly

At the assembly Sept. 21, Mr. Bleeker made an announcement that he had been given a number of tickets to the U. M. football game, Saturday, Sept. 25. Our football team boys had first choice and the rest of the student body could obtain those tickets which were left. As this was the first game played, the tickets were half price, but from now on they will be sold at the regular price. For the remainder of the period, Mr. Hargreaves stood before us and led the singing of various songs. Miss Neil accompanied us at the piano.

Finishes Course

Mrs. Dancer finished her course in education from the U. of M. this summer and received her A. B. degree. She began studying for her degree in the fall of 1936, just after she graduated from high school. After four years of study she gave it up for the time being for marriage. When she took up her degree work again she was with people much younger than herself, but she still enjoyed the course. It also gave her a great thrill to receive her degree the same year that her eldest daughter received her degree. She considers it time and money well spent, and thinks the time is not far off when all teachers will be required to have a degree for teaching.

F. F. A. Northern Trip

The following boys left early Monday morning, August 16 for the Northern Peninsula: Paul Koch, Martin Merkell, J. D. West, Raymond Ives, Arthur Lindauer, Joe Castle, John Stoffer, Gerald Huering, Mr. Wallis and Mr. Stoffer. While on our way Mr. Stoffer had car trouble. Mr. Wallis waited at Mackinac City while Raymond Ives drove his car across the Straits. Mr. Stoffer did not get across until after dark. We drove to Mr. Wallis' brother's farm and slept in the barn for the night. The next morning we went on to Brimly State Park where we spent the week. Wednesday forenoon we visited the Soo-Locks and watched several boats pass through them. Thursday we went on the Tahquamenon trip. We started from Soo Junction on an old open trolley and went several miles through the forest. Then we took a river boat down the Tahquamenon River for 25 miles to the Tahquamenon Falls, which was a very beautiful sight. There was a narrow mud and stone path going under the Falls and Raymond Ives was the only one out of about 150 persons to go under the Falls. On this trip we saw several deer, beaver and porcupine. On Friday, August 20 we started home. Mr. Wallis stayed with his folks in the Northern Peninsula and Raymond Ives drove his car home.

What Do You Think?

Which girl yelled so diligently for Howard at the game Friday? Three Senior boys have started working at the mill. How do you like it boys? A certain Model T coupe kept driving up and down East street Sunday night. Was there a "No Admittance" sign posted? A group of Juniors and Sophomores seem to like the new Ford V-8's especially well. At least on Saturday nights. Everyone seems quite anxious for the All-Hi party Friday night. Hope that no one is disappointed. Detroit isn't such a bad place after all, is it Chiny? The lake air really had a bad effect on one of the Senior girls. Have you heard her voice yet this week.

Vocational 'Ag' News

During the Washtenaw County Fair at Ann Arbor, Aug. 30-Sept. 3, 33 students in Farm Crops, Animal Husbandry and Farm Management entered the vocational judging contests in grains, general livestock and poultry. The schools participating were Lincoln Consolidated, Ypsilanti, Central High, Ypsilanti; Milan High, Saline High and Chelsea High.

In grain judging each contestant was required to place and give reasons on a class of four plates of potatoes, four ten-ear samples of corn, four samples of wheat, and four samples of oats. The five high individuals in each class are as follows: Corn—Lat, Herbert Lohr; 2nd, Duane Rowe; 3rd, Robert Welch; 4th, Arthur Lindauer; 5th, Merle Arqueth. Potatoes—R. Roy, W. Hoover, E. Martin, J. Alber, J. Bartok. Wheat—L. Marsh, E. Koch, D. Bud, F. Hafner, D. Rowe. Oats—W. Beeman, L. Marsh, E. Honeck, R. Ives, D. Bud.

Chelsea won the grain judging trophy and the members of that team are Leon Marsh, Wilbur Beeman and Duane Rowe.

In poultry judging there were two classes of four birds each in the White and Barred Plymouth Rock varieties. The five high individuals in poultry judging were all Chelsea boys: E. Steinarway, J. Kastle, M. Leach, E. D. West, R. Welch, and the first three are members of the high team and winners of a trophy donated by the Fair.

Results of the livestock contest will be announced later. Robert Gilbert, president of last year's F. F. A., won prizes on Early Ohio potatoes and Potatoes from the Smith-Hughes exhibits. He plans to attend the short course in agriculture at M. S. C. this fall and winter. Vincent Ives has begun a four-year agricultural course at Michigan State College and was awarded a scholarship by the college, amounting to $150.00, and the scholarship will continue with high scholastic rating.

Football News

Last Friday, Chelsea journeyed to Clinton and defeated the Red Skirts, 20-7. The touchdowns for Chelsea were made by passes from Bahnmiller to Niehaus in the first quarter, and to Spaulding in the second quarter, both from a punting formation. Clinton also scored one touchdown in the second quarter, which accounts for their seven points. It was a pass from Rawson, left end, to Simmons, right end. Chelsea was then held scoreless until the last quarter when, about five yards from the goal line, Fletcher went through the line for the last touchdown of the game, the score being 20-7 in favor of Chelsea, Niehaus having kicked the extra point. The line-ups were as follows: Ends—Clinton, Rawson and Simmons; Chelsea, Niehaus and Koebbe. Guards—Clinton, Burder and Quiek; Chelsea, Brueckner and Belser. Tackles—Clinton, Werner, J. Harrison, Chelsea, Rabley and Rowe. Center—Clinton, Johnson; Chelsea, Bahnmiller. Halfbacks—Clinton, Way and Jones; Chelsea, Strieter and Schneider. Quarterbacks—Clinton, Smith; Chelsea, Spaulding. Fullbacks—Clinton, G. Harrison; Chelsea, Fletcher. Coach Cameron was able to send in quite a few of his recruits during this battle, which helped in the way that they were able to acquire actual experience on the gridiron as second-string players.

Here and There

Short sighted lady (in grocery): Is that the head cheese over there? Salesman—No ma'am, that's one of his assistants. Senior boy: Everything seems brighter after I've been out with you. Junior girl: It should—you never go home until morning. Nothing relieves the tedium of the pages of a humor magazine like a good joke. Vic H.: He's a popular poet. Stuart D.: Why, I thought he hadn't written anything for years. Vic H.: He hasn't, that's why. Caller: Won't you walk as far as the street car with me, Tommy? Tommy (aged 6): I can't. Caller: Why not? Tommy: 'Cause we're gonna have dinner as soon as you go. If a bachelor is a man who has been crossed in love, would a married man be a man who has been double crossed? Farmer: Yes, I've seen a few bad crops in my time, too. One year our string bean crop didn't even pay for the string. Neighbor: That's nothing. In 1914 our corn crop was so bad that my old dad, who has a very poor appetite, ate 14 acres of corn at a single meal.

Editorial

Instead of talking in the study halls it would be a good plan to keep still. We do not need to talk to pass time away. It annoys the rest of the students who would like to do some studying. When we are told to keep still we should do so because the teachers do not like to keep repeating the same story over. In class if everyone would keep still the teachers wouldn't have to repeat what they have already said. When we get our seats moved we wonder why, but if we wouldn't talk quite so much we could sit where we wanted to. Instead of interrupting the teachers while they are talking why not listen to them and talk afterwards? Let's try to be more quiet during the study periods. The out-door is large enough for yelling.

Elementary News

Kindergarten
Two of our little folks have left us. George Turnbull and Shirley Nagy. Both of them have gone to Detroit. We are sorry to lose them.

Joan Wheeler was out of school last week because she was sick. We are glad to have her back with us. Phyllis Moore was away on a trip last week.

Second Grade
Richard Carlson found a turtle, which he brought to school. We've named him Tommy. He is good and strong and travels quickly about our room.

Janis Turnbull's mother came to watch us work Thursday morning. We were glad to have her. Janis is returning to her home in Detroit. We are sorry to have her leave us.

Paul Niehaus, Jr. brought us a branch from the thornberry bush. It has lovely little thorn apples on it, bright red, and those we cut each had five seeds in them. Mrs. David Mohrlock, Mrs. Charles Wortley and little son came to see us Thursday morning. Please come again.

Last Tuesday was Vernon Conk's 7th birthday. His grandmother treated Second Grade to a lovely surprise. Began with candy, popcorn and birthday cake were passed around. We certainly had a good time.

Third Grade
Eldean, Marcelle and Richard have perfect spelling records so far this year. These people have spelled perfectly for two weeks: Bobby D. Loren, Henry Ray, Jackie W., Helen and Eunice. The perfect spellers on Friday were: Richard, Helen, Bobby D., Jack W., Lewis, Eldean, Marcell and Ray.

How would the third grade like a marshmallow roast some evening? Some of us have been thinking about it, but we haven't chosen a good place. Do you know one? We are working hard on arithmetic. Eunice usually finishes her written work first. The third grade is trying hard to have a perfect attendance record. Unfortunately we have two boys who don't help us much.

Fourth Grade
We have an activity period in which we have a chance to show our original talent. We call it our Radio Hour. Our station is CFGA, which stands for Chelsea Fourth Grade Amateurs. Our first program was held Friday. Myra F. and Barbara E. tap danced, Marion D. played the violin; Walter F. read a story, and Eldore C. sang a song.

Thora Hill is traveling in the East. Miss Lindenschmidt received a card from her from New York. It was a picture of the Queen Mary which Thora saw. Two teams have been organized for spelling. Shirley Jean P. is the captain of one and Edward K. is captain of the other. The team having the highest score rides in an airplane, and the other team travels by automobile.

Fifth Grade
We now have our Fifth Grade library books classified and labeled. Naida Olson had charge of the work with helpers. Naida has been chosen librarian and Elleen Loeffler her assistant. Phyllis Hopper gave us an interesting report on Greenfield Village which she visited week before last. We are glad that Philip Tompkins is able to be back to school again. The girls and boys surprised Mrs. Steiner with a fruit roll last week.

Those who have scored one point in spelling thus far are: Eva Geddes, Donald Elsemann, Mary Lou Platt, Willard Carlson, James Gaunt, Frank Aldrich and Roland Roberts, Marjorie Umstead and Alton Guenther. Scoring a point means keeping ones place in the spelling game line-up for one whole day by being able to spell every word correctly. We shall soon begin our World Series Arithmetic games. We will work entirely on the four fundamentals this year. James Gaken and Alton Guenther were captains of our practice games last week.

We enjoyed the stories which James Gaunt and Donna Burman read to us Friday morning. Mr. Allmendinger tuned our piano Saturday. It sounds much better. Some of us received our new Arithmetic books because we did not have enough. Some of us have new Geography books because we didn't have enough. We are making our Geography note books. We have pages 3, 6, 9, 13 in our note books now. We are going to review the first fourteen pages in Geography books.

We have received our new reading work books. They are very interesting. We have done the first two lessons. One morning last week a little yellow worm crawled across Miss Canfield's desk. She discovered they were coming from a crystal that Doris Parsons brought into our room. Miss Canfield cut it open and discovered they had eaten the worm. This was a very interesting discovery. Doris Collins brought some moths and butterflies. She took the spreading-board home over the week-end to spread them. She brought them back Monday morning to show us. Some of the other girls and boys are spreading butterflies also. During the week-end Miss Canfield went out by the Huron River and got a flower named bottle gentian or closed gentian. We have been pressing and waxing leaves. We are doing the third week of our spelling books.

Carlton brought a tomato worm. It will turn into a sphinx moth or a hummingbird moth. Last week it went into the dirt and shed its skin.

We have started to read our Weekly Readers. We enjoy them very much. We have read and answered the questions in our first Weekly Reader. A Miss Neil told us that we may have an Amateur Hour. We wish we might have one.

In the sixth grade we are trying to stop boys from shooting banded wires, tin papers and other things which may bring danger to some one. We hope other grades will heed this warning.

A LOVE SONG OF 60 YEARS AGO

The Faithfulness of Love
(From the Old Attic Chest)
When the curtains of night are pinned back by the stars,
And the beautiful moon leaps the sky,
When the dewdrops of heaven are kissing the rose,
It is then that my memory flies;
As if on the wing of some beautiful dove
In haste with the message it bears,
To bring you a kiss of affection and say—
"I'll remember you, love, in my prayer
When the beautiful angels are guarding the good
In answer to prayer I have offered to him.
I know there is one watching you;
And may his sweet spirit be with you through life,
And guide you up Heaven's bright stair,
And meet with the one who has loved you so true,
And remembered your love in her prayer."

Chorus
Go where you will on land or on sea,
I'll share all your sorrow and care,
And at night when I kneel by my bedside and pray,
I'll remember you, love, in my prayer.

No Help for Munitions Ships

ANY American merchant vessels which carry arms or other implements of war to China or Japan will do so at their own risk. President Roosevelt warned shipping concerns. This policy applies to all of the articles listed in his proclamation of May 1, 1937, when he invoked the neutrality act against both parties in the Spanish civil war.

The President's order also forbade any government-owned vessel from carrying war materials to China or Japan. Unless war is declared here has no control over other American shipping, but he warned shippers that it is ships carrying such cargo are bombed or attacked they need expect action on the part of the United States.

Seek Scotch Records.
Since 1928 Scotchmen have been seeking the return of historical Scotch records removed to London in 1890 when Edward I was conducting inquiries into the succession of the Scottish throne.

'Keep Us Out of War'

'Keep Us Out of War'
PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, anxious over conditions in Europe and the Far East, cut his vacation short and returned to Washington to discuss developments with his cabinet. After discussing the situation with Norman H. Davis, his European ambassador-at-large, and Bernard M. Baruch, and getting reports from the State department, he was said to be convinced that there was a real possibility of implication of the United States in a foreign war. Baruch called Europe a tinder box, ready to explode at any time.

In an address before an outdoor meeting of Dutchess county (N. Y.) citizens President Roosevelt had said, "World conditions are pretty serious. I am glad to say . . . that we are going to do everything we can in the United States—not only the people of the United States but the government of the United States—to keep us out of war."

Headache for the League
AT GENEVA, the Chinese delegation framed an appeal against Japanese invasion, to be presented to the League of Nations. The appeal, which urged peace-loving members and non-members to join in action against the "aggression," invoked Article 17 of the League covenant, which would invite Japan to sit in on the council of reply.

The Chinese statement charged that since mid-August Japan has thrown 60,000 troops into the Woosung-Shanghai area.

The intention of Japan . . . cannot otherwise be interpreted than to dominate Shanghai . . . and to attack Nanking, the capital," the statement said. It also declared that the Japanese blockade of the entire Chinese coast was illegal.

Eiji Amai, Japanese minister to Switzerland, made it plain that Japan had no intention of returning to Geneva to sit at any council board that discussed the Far Eastern hostilities. Nippon resigned from the League after it had judged her the aggressor in the invasion of Manchuria in 1933.

$300,000,000 in New Money
SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY MORGENTHAU has agreed to issue $300,000,000 in cash against an equal amount of the treasury's "sterilized" gold. The move was believed to have been made because of recent weakness in the market for government bonds and a 18 per cent decline in the stock market over a period of about four weeks.

In addition, the open market committee of the federal reserve board announced that it had authorized the twelve federal reserve banks to buy additional amounts of short term government securities.

In some quarters, the treasury's move was interpreted as an about face by the administration, reversing its year-old policy of trying to prevent an untimely inflation.

Loyalists Ready to Pay Up
IT WAS reported in Geneva that the Spanish loyalist government and the American government had agreed upon $30,000,000 as a settlement for American claims arising out of the Spanish civil war. This, it was understood, would cover every kind of damage suffered by American business in Spain since the beginning of the war, including confiscation and appropriation of private property for military purposes, as well as material damages.

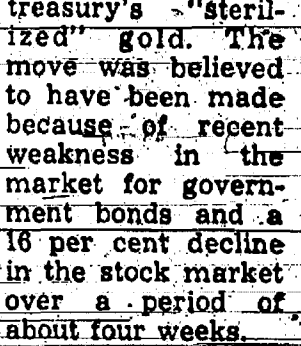

In voluntarily offering a settlement while the war is still going on, the Valencia government shattered revolutionary traditions. It was believed that the loyalists were anxious to emphasize the fact that they are not the revolutionary government, but the real government of Spain, and consider prompt payment of claims one of the best ways of keeping the respect of other nations.

Czechoslovakia Loses a Saint
THE "little father of Czechoslovakia," Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk, founder of the republic, died in Prague. He was eighty-seven years old.

It was the efforts of Dr. Masaryk in the great capitals of Europe during the World War which made possible the creation of his country. His people revered him as the symbol of their liberty, the patron saint of freedom. He was their first president, serving first in 1918, and being three times re-elected. In 1935, with old age coming upon him, he resigned his office to Eduard Benes, his colleague, who was at his bed when he lost the battle against the death he philosophically considered the common enemy of mankind.

He once said: "If it must come I shall at least know I died fighting it."

Nazis Too Busy to Fight
ADOLF HITLER, German dictator, struck what might have been a cheerful note, in conference with foreign government representatives at the Nazi rally in Nuremberg, when he declared that Germany is too busy to become involved in any war. He said that the plans which he and other Nazi leaders have for the country would take from 20 to 40 years to complete, and that war might be disastrous.

Drops "Parity Prices"

ONE of the administration's chief policies for agriculture has been abandoned, Secretary Wallace announced in Washington. "Parity prices" for farm products, he said, could not be attained. The aim now will be to give "the average farmer the same purchasing power he had in the half century before the World war."

"I don't think there is any way of getting enough money out of the Treasury," Wallace said, "to give farmers parity prices during the next ten years for cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, or any other product that is exported. You might be able to get enough for a year or two to do this. But the consumer would soon rise up in protest."

Wallace also talked about the soil conservation program, under which farmers must hold acreage of major crops below the 1928-37 average in order to obtain benefit payments. He said the only fault with this was that normal yields would be too large in view of the prospective markets.

The secretary still believes that national control over production of the major farm crops is necessary. "In my opinion," he said, "the principle of co-operative crop adjustment is sound and will eventually be applied again."

Douglas Heads SEC

WALL STREET didn't like the idea of having William O. Douglas as chairman of the Securities and Exchange commission, preferring the more conservative George C. Matthews. However, Douglas was elected to the post, succeeding James M. Landis, and to reassure the financiers he described himself as "a pretty conservative sort of fellow from the old school, a school too old for some to remember," who has in mind "no ruinous theories of social experimentation."

The commission, said the former Yale professor, is not interested in prices as such and will interfere with market trends only when the forces that shape them are artificial. "There will be direct and aggressive prosecution of any cases we discover of pools and manipulation of security prices. We are in favor of a free market, not a fixed one."

"The government cannot provide any substitute for investment judgment," he pointed out. "It can act to prevent manipulation and to prosecute fraud, but in the final analysis the investor's judgment must govern his actions. We cannot save a fool from his folly."

Roosevelt Goes West

NOMINALLY to visit his daughter in Seattle, actually to find out what recent events have done to his popularity among the people of the Middle and Far West, President Roosevelt left Hyde Park on a special train that also carried members of the White House staff and several cars full of reporters and camera men. Mrs. Roosevelt was with her husband.

The President had nothing to say, before his departure, concerning Justice Black, who was on his way back across the Atlantic and was scheduled to take his seat on the Supreme court bench before Mr. Roosevelt's return to Washington.

Plan to Fight "Polio"

JUST before leaving for the Pacific coast, the President announced that he was organizing a new foundation to direct the war against poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis. It will carry on an educational campaign supervised by experts and put within reach of all doctors and hospitals. The foundation also will see to the financing of responsible research agencies and aid the afflicted in becoming economically independent.

Mr. Roosevelt also gave approval to John Biggers' plans for a voluntary enrollment of the nation's unemployed, to be carried out with the aid of the Post Office department.

Vandenberg's Battle Cry

"WE HAVE just begun to fight" was the battle cry adopted by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan in a speech at Bay City that was taken as the opening of his campaign for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1940. He made it evident that he hopes to be the standard-bearer for a coalition party, asserting that a realignment of political parties is inevitable. Indeed, he declared, this probably was the one thing that could save our national institutions. He was not so sure that the opposition to the Roosevelt policies would unite under a new party name. Said he:

"There may be a realistic realignment which will bring like-thinking patriots into common battle front, whether they live north or south of the Mason and Dixon line, whether they live east or west of the Mississippi."

Yellow Sacred Color
The Chinese use yellow as a royal or sacred color, says a noted colorist. But to us it indicates quarantine. We even associate it with crookedness and cowardice. On the other hand, yellow arouses cheerfulness and warmth and is the symbol of light.

First English Tragedy
The first real tragedy in the English language was not written until ten years after the first English comedy, "Ralph Roister Doister," says the Montreal Herald. The authors were Thomas Norton and Thomas Sackville, Earl of Dorset. It was called "Gorboduc" and was acted by the gentlemen of the Inner Temple "before the Queen's most excellent Majesty, in her highness' Court of Whitehall, the 18th day of January, 1561."
