Village To Purchase Tract for Playground

Arrangements have been made by Chelsea village officials for the purchase of a tract of land from the Chelsea Gray Iron Castings Co., lying to the north of the factory buildings.

It is planned by officials that this tract, which contains about five acres, will be improved so that it may ultimately be used for a municipal playground and park. Considerable filling will be necessary in order to make the land high enough to be utilized for playground purposes, as it is quite low at this time.

Village officials point out that a large amount of money has been spent this year to make all streets dustless, and that it will be unnecessary to spend so much for street improvements next year, so that it should be possible to start the improvement of the newly acquired parksite at that time, and that within two or three years the village should have a playground and park which will fill a longfelt need and be a credit to the community.

Official action has been taken by the Child Study club and the Kiwanis club commending the action of the council in taking this progressive step to provide a playground for children of the village, and it is believed that residents of the village will give their unanimous approval to this commendable project.

The sum of $4500.00 is to be paid for the five-acre tract when the deal is consummated. However, the village lot located just west of F. W. Merkel's residence on Park street has been sold to Martin Merkel for the sum of $250.00, which is a substantial amount of the purchase price of the land which is to be acquired.

Rev. Mumby Writes of Recent Trip to England

By Rev. F. D. Mumby

Matlock, and Matlock Bath are well known beauty spots. The latter is situated in a beautiful ravine and dominated by the High Tor. The high romantic cliffs and crags of limestone stand out boldly with the river Derwent sparkling and tumbling at the bottom of the ravine.

As a health and pleasure resort Matlock has a great reputation. The hydropathic establishments are among the finest in the country. The elevation rises to 1100 feet and the climate is bracing according to the local authorities. Caverns in the town itself possess stalactites of rare proportions and the whole district is very interesting to lovers of upland and dale scenery. Ruskin wrote, "In its very minuteness it is the most educational of all the districts of beautiful landscape known to me."

Of the many provincial places visited in addition to those already described I have not time to write now. England abounds in historic shrines and monuments and the history and folklore gleaned from monuments or told by the natives brings back incidents and dramatic events of bygone days which seem convincingly real as we look upon the background of hill, dale, and castle, which remain in the scene of action while the tombs of the actors may be found in the parish church or churchyard.

Knaresborough for instance is incredibly proud of Mother Shipton and her prophecies. Calendars, china, and other souvenirs are decorated with the figure of this quaint old prophetess or quotations from her famous prophecies.

Place names ending in "ester" such as Chester, Leicester, or Cirencester, etc., are usually of Roman origin and remain of fortifications, pavements, and baths are still in existence, most of them fairly well preserved. A Roman "hypocaust" in Ravensknowle Park a few blocks from the home of my parents was a constant challenge to my imagination and in the museum may be found remains antedating the Roman occupation.

The English Lake District is one of recognized beauty and charm and is well known to travellers from every country in the world. Those who have visited the lake district would not willingly deny themselves the pleasure again when staying in this part of the country. Each lake from Lansing — Michigan's "Flaming Forests" are on parade this week.

Jack Frost has been overly ambitious this Fall. Getting an early start in his perennial duty of daubing autumnal colors on leaves of trees and shrubs, he has just about finished the job.

Cadillac is starting its annual color tour this Friday (Oct. 8) under the escort of Howard Cook of the United States forestry department. The tenth annual Newaygo Autumn Colors tour, originally scheduled for Oct. 10, was started last Sunday and is being conducted daily until the leaves and color disappear.

Examine your state highway map. The "green" area upstate represents the choicest color attractions in the lower peninsula. The upper peninsula is also "on fire" for hundreds of miles. This week is "color week" for Michigan's forests.

Grayling for Big Pines

In the heart of the big pine country of northern Michigan (lower peninsula) is Grayling, an enterprising tourist center which has developed considerably in recent years. This county seat town serves summer resorters on nearby lakes and on the Au Sable river; famous for trout fishing. Boasting a $60,000 theater of ultra modern standards, Grayling has demonstrated its civic spirit by financing through private funds a large fish hatchery, now operated by the state. The Hartwick pines forest, a state park containing nearly 100 acres of virgin pines, was the gift of the widow of the late Major Edward Hartwick, military and lumber leader. The nearby national guard military reservation, situated on picturesque Margrethe lake and fringed by hills, was the gift of a Grayling resident who made a fortune from lumber.

Grayling residents raised nearly $1,200 to send its American Legion drum and bugle corps to the national convention in New York City. Farmers include many Danes and Finns, a thrifty lot.

Next winter you will hear more about this spot in the pine country. For Grayling will hold a winter sports festival at a nearby park with special equipment for tobogganing, skiing and skating.

Official Says School Lunch Affects Study

Michigan's million school children are back under the wing of the state's 32,000 public school instructors.

To better utilize the state's educational facilities, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, has issued a plea that more attention to good meals and hot lunches be provided for these young students.

He agrees with dieticians at Michigan State College that proper lunches mean better health and better grasp of the education that is available in schoolrooms.

"Probably one fourth of the grade and high school students eat lunch away from home at noon," the superintendent estimates. "Many of our teachers are so aware of the need for better food that they dig down into their purses to help provide warm milk and warm foods for their students. Even further than that, it is too evident that some of the million children do not have proper meals at other times of the day, breakfast for instance."

Door-breakfasts seem to be typical of too many American homes. When these are combined with inadequate lunches at noon, there is an evident loss in health and in ability to concentrate in class."

Whether lunches are packed at home or prepared in schools or school cafeterias, attention to variety and proper selection of foods is advised by extension workers at Michigan State College. Warm drinks, a warm dish, some fruit, some attractive sandwiches and a succulent food such as carrot strips, celery or tomatoes are recommended.

TEACHERS' GROUP MEETS

A meeting of the Washtenaw County Teachers' Association was held on Thursday evening in the Chelsea public school auditorium. Dinner was served by the Senior class of Chelsea high school, with covers for 170.

P. M. Pray of Saline, president of the association, had charge of the program and Mr. Hill of Ypsilanti conducted the group singing. Two violin solos were rendered by Robert Hargreaves, and Miss Jessie Neil favored with two piano solos.

Ralph Witherspoon of Ypsilanti gave a report of the meeting of the Regional Council, held September 25 in Pontiac. Saxton, a magician, furnished entertainment for the remainder of the evening.

Injunction Asked In US-12 Highway Case

A petition has been filed in circuit court at Ann Arbor for an injunction restraining the state highway department from taking possession of a strip of land on the Alfred Lindauer farm as part of the right of way for the new US-12 highway near Chelsea. Following the condemnation hearing held in Ann Arbor on September 8, Commissioner Van Wagener ruled that there was a necessity for condemning the land for highway purposes and upheld that the nine farm land owners affected had been offered fair amounts for their land. Four of the nine owners are reported to have agreed to accept the amounts offered by the state highway department but Mr. and Mrs. Lindauer and four others have refused.

The Lindauers, whose farm would be divided by the new highway, so that the barns would be on one side and the bulk of the farm on the other, claim that the amount offered is not sufficient compensation. The Lindauers also contend that they were not notified of Commissioner Van Wagener's determination to take the land in sufficient time to appeal from the decision.

A hearing on the petition has been adjourned until Saturday, October 9, at 9 o'clock a. m. by Circuit Judge George W. Sample.

Local people interested in the proceedings ask that a large representation of local citizens be present at the hearing on Saturday, as it is believed the expression of interest in the case will have a favorable bearing on the decision to be rendered in granting the injunction.

Scout Council Names Assistant Executive

Hall Woodall, 28, graduate of the University of Alabama and of the National Training School for Scout Executives, was chosen last week to serve as Assistant Executive of the Washtenaw-Livingston Boy Scout Council. Mr. Woodall has a background of six years of Scouting service covering work as a Patrol Leader, Senior Patrol Leader, First Mate of a Sea Scout group, Assistant Scoutmaster, and as a Scoutmaster. He has been employed in the Council office of the Black Warrior Council, with office in Tuscaloosa, Alabama on a part-time basis during his University years.

Mr. Woodall will assist in all phases of the work of the Council, first familiarizing himself with the routine set-up of the Council office. He will speak at the Key Scouts conference at Camp Newkirk on October 9 and at the get-together of Scoutmasters and their ladies on Sunday afternoon, October 24 at Camp Newkirk.

Mr. Woodall served as personal clerk in the business office of the National Jamboree organization in Washington this summer, and thus has a common interest background with 64 Scouts and Scouters of this council who participated in the National Jamboree.

Mountain Pete Will Appear Here Friday

Members of the local post, American Legion, are sponsoring a dance and entertainment which will be held at the public school auditorium on Friday evening of this week. Mountain Pete and His Mountaineers, WXYZ radio stars, will furnish music for the dance, and as an added attraction they will present a full half-hour of special entertainment for dancers and spectators. The dance program will start at 9 o'clock and close at 1 o'clock.

Never "Grown-Up" is a misnomer, according to one expert, because at no definite time in life does a person stop growing mentally.

proclaim at this city of Otsego county.

Its high elevation prompted state officials to select the city as a site for a new tuberculosis sanitarium.

Millions of years ago when the ice glaciers receded from the northern part of North America, a belt of sandy dirt loam was left on the surface of the land from Traverse City on the west coast to Alpena and Harrisville on the east coast.

Like the Aroostook region in northern Maine, this belt across northern Michigan is ideal for the culture of potatoes. Gaylord is the self-appointed capital of Michigan spuds.

"Deep Sea Fishing"

One of the novel sports attractions offered by Michigan is "deep sea fishing."

The phrase is somewhat of a misnomer, but it does provide the thrills of ocean fishing to a limited degree and with all the hazards.

Traverse City promotes its Muskogean tour fishing on Grand Traverse bay of Lake Michigan. There are numerous fishing camps, equipped with motor cabins, which cater to this highly specialized sport.

Petoskey and Charlevoix share honors from the popularity of cabin trolling for gamy steelhead trout, imported from Northwest Pacific lakes and now propagated in state hatcheries. The steelhead strikes best when the temperature is near freezing and when the west winds are howling over the lake.

Through the courtesy of Arthur Hinkley, editor of the Petoskey Evening News, we had the privilege of enjoying a three-pound steelhead landed by Art's wife on Lake Charlevoix. In flavor and texture, it excelled anything we tasted in Maine last year.

"One-Armed Bandits"

Taking a cue from Michigan, the Illinois liquor control commission has cleaned up several cities where the slot machine racket had infested drinking places to a point where merchants were complaining of unpaid bills.

One town of several thousand inhabitants had 80 of these "one-armed bandits."

Michigan's control commission wavered temporarily after promulgating its prohibition of the coin devices from state licensed establishments. The showdown came when the Michigan State Elks association petitioned for exemption on the grounds that proceeds were used exclusively for charity.

The commission, led by Chairman Edward W. McFarland, rejected the plea, suggesting diplomatically that the matter be taken up with the state legislature. The house gambling committee tried to create sentiment for licensed gambling until the Attorney General Raymond Starr divested it of legal authority. The Elks' appeal adds another incentive to the movement which will likely come to a head in 1939.

Backfire on Saloon. When the state legislature revised the liquor act, permitting return of the saloon bar and opening the way to local sanction of liquor by the glass, legislative prophets warned of a future rising protest from the voters.

Senator Brooks, democrat of Holland, forecasted a popular reaction to further encouragement of the use of hard drinks.

At the annual convention of the Michigan Baptist association at Sault Ste. Marie last week, Judge E. J. Millington of Cadillac, state president, declared that "the saloon has come back" and that a non-sectarian conference would be held in the lower peninsula this month to map a campaign against liquor sales by the glass.

In the meanwhile, the liquor commission contemplates installation of illuminated signs over entrances of state liquor stores. Clerks may wear attractive jackets. Display cases may contain a bottle of each kind of spirits for sale.

The state is going to try to capture a larger share of liquor sales, most of which now go to the private designated distributors.

Midland's Bank Robbery The vigilante movement for protection of banks against bandit raids was given 100 per cent recommendation at Midland where a sharpshooting dentist bagged his man a block away with a deer-hunting rifle.

Another reaction to the Midland foray was the revelation that the slain bandit was released on parole July, 1936, from the state prison in Jackson. Two days before the Midland gun battle the chairman of the Michigan parole board, M. Hubert O'Brien, proclaimed on the radio that the recent prison reform act, passed by the state legislature, was one of the most advanced in the United States.

It was significant that the director of the state corrections department announced, following the Midland party, that his department would inaugurate a program of "closer supervision of parolees" by requiring them to report bi-monthly to parole officers.

Extra Session Deferred According to statehouse reports, Governor Murphy has taken cognizance of the political cross winds between Lieut. Gov. Nowicki, Speaker George Schroeder, Attorney General Raymond Starr, and Budget Director

Harold Smith, and has decided to defer the second special session until winter.

While Speaker Schroeder was taking a pot-shot at Director Smith for his initiative in sidetracking special legislative committees from state funds, Nowicki walked out of the legislative council in protest against a stringent gag rule and star-chamber sessions in secrecy.

The attorney general had ruffled legislators by establishing a precedent that deprived committees of the right to incur expenses after final adjournment.

With this "teapot tempest" raging at Lansing, the governor discreetly concluded to proceed with caution. Speaker Schroeder then announced Murphy had promised that no legislation would be presented to the special session until the legislative council had studied it.

Green Slams Lewis

DENUNCIATIONS of William Green by John Lewis and of Lewis by Green come almost daily, but the attack on the C. I. O. leader by the president of the A. F. of L. in a speech in Washington was especially vigorous. He declared the beetle-browed Lewis was an opportunist who hopes to gain political power through the formation of a party combining labor and agriculture, and reiterated the opposition of the federation to the organization of such a party.

Lewis, said Green, was to blame for the bloody strike in "little steel" plants and for its collapse which he attributed to C. I. O.'s disregard of the rule that the workers themselves should decide when to strike. "Surely those who are to suffer and sacrifice in a strike ought to be accorded the right to say whether they are ready and willing to do so," Green asserted. "The issues involved in any impending industrial conflict ought to be made clear and thoroughly understood."

CHARLOTTE—The Horner mill is now opened and operating. The Horner ordered their foremen to report Tuesday morning, which they did, and accompanied by the owners and office organization, all entered the mill without opposition. Tuesday afternoon, a group of employees reported and another and new group went to work Wednesday morning, which gives rise in Eaton Rapids to the opinion that the strike is over. Sheriff Krieg and every deputy in the county were on hand Tuesday and the pickets gradually withdrew until the last one disappeared.—Republican-Tribune.

HOWELL—Dave Rubinoff gave the Maybury sanatorium patients at Northville something to write home about recently when he brought his violin to the auditorium and gave a concert. He was most gracious in his playing. He talked some, too, scoring one of his enemies of the air when he told about his violin, which was made way back in 1731. "It's 205 years old, almost as old as Eddie Cantor's jokes," Rubinoff was reported as saying.—Republican-Press.

MASON—Oklahoma's land rush, the California gold rush and the Bauhinia smelt run rolled into one would have paled before the goldfish rush at the state game farm Monday. Thousands of people were on hand to get the free goldfish. A few scores got the fish and they got them by trampling hip-deep in the ooze of the hog-wallow. Men, women and children were overcome by mob hysteria and plunged into the mire to get fish. Women who were well dressed before they jumped into the pond floundered out of the mire with mud up to their shoulders. If there is any virtue in mud baths a lot of people will enjoy good health this winter. People on shore were well entertained. Drycleaners and laundry owners are having a busy week.—County News.

NORTHVILLE—Four residents were bitten Sunday by a dog which had contracted rabies. The victims are taking Pasteur treatment.—Record.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—What caused the formation of hills and mountains on the earth?

Ans.—Originally the earth was a solid ball of molten lava. When the fire went out for lack of fuel—the lava began to cool at the surface and a solid crust was finally formed, which, with the lapse of millions of years, became thicker and thicker. This crust went in the steam and gases generated in the fiery ocean underneath; and these, acting upon the crust with enormous pressure, heaved it into ridges. At times the strain caused the crust to crack and forced the melted mass up through it, and in this way hills and mountains were formed.

Ques.—Can squirrels fly? If so, how can they do it without wings?

Ans.—Squirrels cannot fly—that is, in the same sense that birds can fly. Strictly speaking, the flying of a squirrel is merely soaring. A peculiarity of the flying squirrel is that the skin of the flanks extend in a manner capable of sustaining the animals in the air for nearly a minute, allowing them to leap and soar to a distant spot or tree. This gives them the appearance of flying.

Ques.—What is meant by the "Dark Ages"?

Ans.—The Dark Ages is a period of 600 years between the fifth and the eleventh centuries, when, in many respects, the Western Roman Empire's downfall the people seemed to have lapsed into an illiterate and barbarian state. But in a more just view it was the germinating season. The seeds of modern civilization, cast into the soil, were quickened into new institutions and new nations as we see them today.

Ques.—Is it known what day of the week that Mohammed made his flight to Medina in order to save his life from his enemies?

Ans.—The flight of Mohammed, which is called the "hijra", was on July 15, A. D. 622. This date occurred on Thursday.

Ques.—Can you tell me who, Captain Cattle was?

Ans.—Captain Cattle is a character in Dickens' "Dombey and Son". He is a good-humored, eccentric and pathetic in his simple credulity.

Ques.—What is the meaning of "sphinx"? And how did it get that name?

Ans.—In mythology the Sphinx is a she-monster who proposed a riddle to the thebans, and then murdered all who failed to guess it. The word "sphinx" is Persian, and means a "throttler", from her manner of killing her victims.

Ques.—Can you tell me how they tell the time on shipboard by the bells?

Ans.—On ship there are several watches throughout the 24 hours. The bell strikes every half hour throughout, which determines the time consistent with the "watch" at the time being. The first watch is from 8 to midnight; middle watch from midnight to 4 a. m.; morning watch from 4 to 8 a. m.; forenoon watch 8 to noon; afternoon 8 to 4 p. m.; first dog watch 4 to 6 p. m.; second dog watch 6 to 8 p. m. In all watches the strokes are from 1 to 8; except the dog watches, which are from 1 to 4. If the bell strikes 1 in the first watch it is 8:30 p. m.; if it strikes 1 in the middle watch it is 12:30; if it strikes 1 in the morning watch it is 4:30; if it strikes 1 in the forenoon watch it is 8:30; 1 in the afternoon watch is 12:30; 1 in the first dog watch is 4:30 p. m.; and 1 in the second watch is 6:30 p. m.

Ques.—Why is it that when you are hurt while you are excited it is seldom felt until afterward?

Ans.—This is a form of hypnotism in which you are both hypnotist and subject. In your excitement your attention is so fixed on other things that is causing the excitement that you rarely have no brain power left to notice anything else at all.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A juvenile court judge recently assigned a trained social worker the task of educating the parents of a sixteen year old girl before she could again be placed in their custody.

In his instructions the judge said: "These parents have six younger daughters at home and they must be taught never to evade one of their children's questions. Take great pains to impress on them that it is far more satisfactory to frankly discuss with an inquisitive girl all phases of reproduction than put her off with generalities as they did in the case of their older daughter. Explain that to fore-arm her against future situations over which parents have no control."

Wolves Prefer Human Flesh
The natural food of carnivorous animals is the flesh of other animals. The taste for human flesh comes by accident—scarcity of game, or fearlessness of the hunting animal, so that it driven to attack and eat defenseless man, woman, or child. In White Russia, however, wolves actually eat human flesh in preference to animal.

CONCEITED

A fellow who had been to Rome Was boasting to the folks at home; Once, when I was in Rome, he said, A leap of twenty yards I made, Over a bar placed ten feet high, A dozen witnesses were by.

Come on, said one, if you will do but half, Well, think your story's true, Ah, I today am not quite well, Then stole away, While bursts of laughter from the crowd went after him, Both long and loud.

Avoid the boasting vain if you Would not be scorned and laughed at too.

—Arthur Carlton

The fences around the two parks at the Michigan Central passenger station are being rebuilt.

Edwin Keusch of this place has been drawn to serve on the traverse jury in the federal court at Detroit which will open on Tuesday, November 4.

The freight house of the Michigan Central at this place is undergoing a thorough overhauling. The old siding has been taken off and replaced with new and is being painted.

It took the children of the lower grades of the public school just one minute to clear the building in a recent fire drill.

A number of Chelsea people are attending the Fowlerville fair this week.

Harold Gilbert died on Saturday, September 20, 1913.

34 YEARS AGO

Thursday, October 8, 1903

In the watermelon contest conducted by the Standard first prizes were awarded to Leon Clark and Walter Wacker for growing the best and biggest melons.

George Wade, 22 years old, died on Saturday, October 3, 1903.

Late last week the Chelsea Lumber & Produce Co. shipped the first carloads of onions and potatoes to leave this market this year.

Dr. H. W. Schmidt has bought the lot at East and Washington street and has commenced preparations for erecting thereon a house and barn.

Harold Glazier and Herman Benter left Monday for Poughkeepsie, N. Y. where they will enter the celebrated Eastman Business College.

Have you ever caused someone to be injured? Have you ever been called upon to perform the painful duty of notifying the mother of several children that her husband has been killed in an accident?

If ever you are assigned such duty, you will realize the importance of safety and accident prevention. The grief that can strike a home so suddenly should make us all realize that we are a part of this entire scheme and that each and everyone of us should cooperate with everybody else in the prevention of accidents on our highways, in our home, and at our place of work.

Will you gamble with the happiness of your family? The man who takes chances with his own safety gambles with the future happiness of his wife and children.

LYNDON CENTER SCHOOL NEWS

The Lyndon Center school is planning a Halloween dance Oct. 29th. Melissa Balmer is in charge of this affair and it is going to be one of the outstanding events of the school term. The town hall will be appropriately decorated and a good orchestra will furnish the music. All the people of the community and their friends are invited.

Our school entered its exhibits in the Washtenaw County Fair. We received several first and second prizes. All the children have been busy putting up posters, maps, pictures and books in the school room. This makes the room very attractive.

The eighth grade has completed a great deal of interesting work in Nature Study. An extensive study was made of leaves, flowers, butterflies, moths, weed seeds, the sky and vines. Melissa Balmer has a very fine collection of moths, butterflies, beetles and moths. Her booklets of vines, leaves, wild flowers, weed seeds and the sky are interesting and very excellent. The boys caught a beautiful milk snake and after everybody studied its coloring and general characteristics they let it free.

The other pupils are making notebooks of animals, birds, farm equipment, leaves.

Our teacher brought each boy and girl one of the "Red Crown Games." We enjoy them very much.

We got our report cards Tuesday. All the pupils received good marks and we are going to work hard and keep up the good work. We want to make a good record this year.

Last Friday we all were weighed and measured in height. We all have gained in weight and height since last Spring.

The boys and girls made two stakes and pounded them in the ground. This children brought horseshoes and now we play horseshoes. We have four good players in a game.

The boys and girls are very busy making a grapevine swing. We had to clear vines away, cut down brush and worked very hard for a couple of days. Now we have lots of fun on our "Tarzan Swing."

The Civics Health club has had three meetings since school started. Melissa Balmer is president and Harold Balmer is secretary. Special duties were assigned to the pupils. We help to keep the school and the grounds in fine shape.

—Reported by Melissa Balmer.

Last Friday afternoon we had a marshmallow roast at Otto's spring. We first built a nice fire, made sticks to roast our marshmallows on and enjoyed all this very much. We also had a few bottles of pop, some crack-cake and ice cream. We played games and everybody had a good time.

School started a week earlier this year. It opened on the 30th of August.

During the past week we have been playing indoor baseball and have some good games.

During the noon hour we have had some watermelon parties. We all like a good watermelon.

—Reported by Harold Balmer.

Kid Skin From France

A fine type of kid skin comes from France. The animal, which is the young of the goat, is carefully reared to avoid blemishes on the skin. It is slaughtered when a few weeks old, while still milk fed. This accounts for the fineness and delicacy of real kid.

LOCAL F. F. A. CLUB WILL SPONSOR WLS SHOW

The Chelsea high school F. F. A. club, Band and Orchestra will bring to Chelsea another Prairie Farmer WLS community talent show on Nov. 4, 5 and 6.

Last year's production of WLS held late in January under the auspices of the F. F. A. club showed an attendance of 1600 people.

With the cooperation of the sponsoring clubs and the additional features over the last production it is expected the show will be greater this fall.

About the only incentive for the players at the last community show was an invitation to broadcast over WLS. Chicago. The girls' trio, Florence Norton, Edith Metteloe and Jeannette Brown of Plymouth, winners of the last show, enjoyed this broadcast.

The features of the new show will be the selection of two outstanding numbers during the show by local judges in dramatics, music and voice, and announcement of them on Saturday evening. Invitations to broadcast will be extended by WLS broadcasting station and perhaps a local station (not arranged for at present).

A loving cup is to be presented to the outstanding individual performance during the show. A worthwhile door prize is to be given at the Friday and Saturday evening programs.

Many school children will be given free tickets for Thursday evening, providing they are accompanied by an adult.

Make plans now to take part or attend the great community show and help the local school sponsoring clubs. You will enjoy working together for one week. Watch for coming announcements.

Authorities Advise Hunters to be Careful

Be careful! That is the advice of state conservation authorities here to those who go afield in Michigan this fall to hunt small game.

The use of extreme caution by all hunters, says the department of conservation, should help to reduce the number of persons annually killed or injured by the accidental discharge of hunting arms.

During the small-game hunting season of 1936-1937, there were 14 hunters who lost their lives and 19 others who were injured in the accidental discharge of firearms.

Statistics indicate that the average hunter may have as much to guard against in the handling of his own weapon as in the carelessness of other hunters. Eighteen hunters who were killed or injured during the small-game season last fall and winter were the victims of others, while 15 received injuries, some fatal, as a result of their own carelessness in handling guns.

The Hi-Light

EDITED BY THE PUPILS OF THE CHELSEA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Thanks

The Seniors wish to thank the mothers of the class members, and our adviser, Miss Nelson, who so kindly gave their time in helping us with the banquet we served September 30.

Assembly

On Tuesday, Sept. 28, the Activity Period was turned over to the Juniors who put on a "Professor Quiz" contest, with David Eaton and Harvey Knickerbocker asking questions on current topics and material of common knowledge. The contestants were chosen from the four upper grades—10 from each class. The Fresh and Seniors vs. Juniors and Sophomores. The Junior-Sophomore side won, with two Juniors left standing. Was it a worldly knowledge that occupied their brains, or was Mr. Luck pitching?

Eavesdropper

The eighth-grade seems to think Birch's house is a pretty good rendezvous for star gazing. I guess they did most of their gazing at a couple of Freshmen.

Is it true that Barb S. thinks she knows all the angles of breaking up a perfect romance? We wonder.

It seems that Bud has taken to a dark haired Irish girl. How about it Jim?

Can it be that Harvey K. has found a "Sugar" to suit him? It seemed that way Friday afternoon.

Why did you refuse to get in with Ted and his crowd Saturday night Betty? Is there some deep grudge or was Mary Jane a bit too anxious?

Songs To Fit

"You've Got Everything"—Duane Rowe.

"Dreamy Eyes"—Stuart Roy.

"I've Got Beginner's Luck"—Dick Kern.

"Posin'"—Cecilia Birch.

"Got a Pair of New Shoes"—Virginia Hummel.

"Everyone's Wrong But Me"—Harvey Knickerbocker.

"It's the Natural Thing To Do"—Betty Boyce.

"Stop! You're Breaking My Heart"—Chet Kennedy.

"I'm Hating This Waiting Around"—Ruth Luick.

"The Lady Who Couldn't Be Kissed"—June Floyd.

"There's a Lull in My Life"—Robby White.

"Yankee Doodle Band"—Mr. Hargrave.

All-Hi Party

Last Friday night the student body enjoyed another fine of the ever-popular All-Hi party.

A very unique program was laid out, and as a starter, games, under the leadership of Mr. Johnson, were enjoyed by all. As Master of Ceremonies, Jim Daniels called on Cecilia Birch (our song bird of the South) to lead us in a number of songs, with Miss Neil at the piano. The girls' quartet also entertained us with a fine selection of popular tunes.

Prizes for the best "hard times" costume went to Pap Palmer and Adolph Duerr. Refreshments were served by the Senior class and the remainder of the evening was enjoyed by dancing.

A good time was had by all and we hope another party is just around the corner.

Football News

Last Friday afternoon found our football team opening an aerial and running attack which baffled the boys from Tecumseh and extended our record to two victories and a tie. Spaulding and Fletcher captured the honors, each making a touchdown. Niehaus kicked a goal for the 13th point. The team has asked us to thank you for your support, and want you to be present at the game with Saline next week which will be played at Saline.

Editorial

Go into the classroom whistling loudly to show how happy you are to be there. Slam your books down and quickly turn around and start talking. Pay no attention at all to the teacher who undoubtedly thinks that because he (or she) sits in front of the room and is a few years older she (or he) is a great deal superior. Imagine! If one of your dear classmates should be late put a thumb tack on his seat. It's good while it lasts. Throwing paper wads and shooting rubber bands is a swell pastime when a lesson gets too boring. It's really quite an art. A pointed pencil stuck up through the bottom of someone's seat usually brings results. When the first bell rings rush out of the room. It saves the trouble of having to listen to an assignment that you would probably never do anyway.

Our Clubs

F. A. Club—The club had a meeting Wednesday, Sept. 29 and elected Raymond Lives to represent this chapter at the Kansas City Royal Exposition to be held October 16-21 in Kansas. More details of this will be printed later.

Band and Orchestra—The band has ordered medium weight gold sweaters and they will be worn not only at concerts, but under the capes as well.

Also, several new instruments have been ordered and they are expected to be here by next week. Among these are the oboe, bassoon, flute, sousaphone, string bass, and tympani.

Girls' Glee Club—New books have been ordered and are expected to arrive soon.

Elementary News

Second Grade

We have started our Elson Book 2. Soon we will begin our work books. We will like that.

On Thursday, Merle's mother, Mrs. Leach, came to visit us. We read for her and she liked our stories.

Every Monday morning we have "My Weekly Reader," our little newspaper. It tells us such interesting things about other children.

Charles Every brought us a little tree toad. We've put him in a can, and we hope he'll like to stay with us. David Slane drew us a splendid streamlined train. Douglas Vogel drew an Indian tepee.

Third Grade

Marceline spelled down the class on Wednesday. Here are Friday's perfect spellers: Frances, Harry, Helen, Jack W., Robert D., Robert S., Leonard, Dale, Edean, Marceline, Paul G., Richard, and Loren.

Thelma told us about the fine time she had on her trip to New York City and Washington, D. C. She was gone a whole week.

If the weather is kind to us we will have our roast in Bobby Daniels' back yard this Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock. Each child will bring what he wants to roast for himself.

Fourth Grade

In hygiene we have health records to check each day for four weeks. They're records like the children of the Wide-Awake Health club used.

Shirley Jean's team in spelling is still riding in the airplane. These people got A's: Thora H., June V., Jean E., Evelyn A., and Shirley Jean P. On Edward's team these people got A's: Robert F., Charles S., Barbara E., and Myra T.

Robert Faber made a desk microphone. He painted it black. Marion Dietle made the floor microphone.

In arithmetic we have our ball diamond all ready for our multiplication contest. We still need more practice.

Fifth Grade

The Girls' and Boys' Council held their election of officers on Tuesday, which resulted in the following officers being chosen: President, Earl Van Riper; Vice-president, Reynolds Walz; Secretary, Eileen Loeffler; Treasurer, Marjorie Gilson. After the election, the new president made a short speech and called a special meeting to choose two boys for playground patrol. The boys chosen were Willard Elsemann and Jimmy Gaken.

Robert Novess brought two of his horned toads to school. These toads his father sent to him from Texas. Only a few of us had ever seen one.

We used the beautiful leaves which Phyllis Hopper brought to school on Thursday in our art class. We tried to reproduce their colorings but we found Mother Nature's work was far better than ours.

Norman Krantz is our news reporter on Shiva Temple which is above Grand Canyon, just recently discovered and in which scientists are so interested today.

Those who have scored a point in spelling during the past week are: Nancy Every, Willard Elsemann, Marjorie Gilson, Phyllis Hopper and Mary Koch.

We are studying about farms. In our Social Science Readers and Nancy, who is a 4-H club girl, gave us an interesting report of her work on the farm this summer.

Sixth Grade

We are having tests in multiplication.

We are studying abbreviations in language. They are very interesting.

The sixth grade is studying Great Britain and the British Isles. We are also studying her dominions and colonies. We have received our new outline maps of the world for our desks and we can color and locate different nations and possessions of the British Empire. We have been coloring all of the possessions in the western hemisphere pink.

In our Weekly Readers we are studying China and Japan and we have a small map of Europe.

Elaine Schmidt brought a live cicada and in a few days it died. Paul Guenther brought a polyphemus moth and he said that we could kill it. So Joyce Foster, Virginia Spaulding and Eleanor Harper killed it. Miss Canfield is going to take the cocoons and chrysalids home and take care of them for the winter. Last week Miss Canfield appointed two girls to kill the moths and butterflies.

Dale Collins brought a very big butterfly for us to see. His father caught it and he brought it to us. Miss Canfield put it in a place where we could see it in our spare time. The sixth grade may earn by selling moths, butterflies and bugs to the high school people who are making a collection.

In music this week we are studying Chopin, a music composer, and Miss Neil is going to play some pieces by Chopin.

Biggers to Manage Census

UNCLE SAM is going to make a count of his unemployed nephews in the hope that this will help solve the re-employment and relief problem. Just how the census is to be managed is not yet determined, but John D. Biggers of Toledo, president of the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company, has been named administrator of the undertaking and is formulating his plans. At the suggestion of the President, Mr. Biggers has established his headquarters in the Department of Commerce, and he hopes to complete the tabulation of the unemployed before December 1.

Mr. Biggers said he proposed to do the job without salary.

Spanish missionaries of the early eighteenth century practiced irrigation in California.

Those neither tardy or absent for the month of September are: Jean, Layern, Glen, Duane, Don, Harley, Robert Teachout, Carol and William Reames, Mable Hale, Bernadine West.

Reporter, Glen Hafley, 7th grade.

Champagne Elder

Because of "something" in the apples of Devonshire, England, it is possible to make from them a drink which seems to embody many of the qualities of champagne. It is manufactured extensively and sold as champagne elder. It is made the way champagne is made.

Bar for Free Courts

CONVINCED that the independence of the federal judiciary is still threatened, despite the defeat of the plan to enlarge the Supreme court, the American Bar association in session in Kansas City, voted unanimously to authorize a committee to keep up the fight to preserve the freedom of the courts, as recommended by a special committee. That committee said: "There appears to be no likelihood that efforts to re-make the courts of the United States will not be renewed. Your special committee is of the opinion that the association ought to maintain itself in readiness to meet such issues as they may recur, rather than to rely upon impromptu organization for the purpose."

The lawyers listened to many speeches, both attacking and defending President Roosevelt's court program and his appointment of Hugo Black to the Supreme court. The climax to all this came when Matten-W. Summers of Texas, chairman of the house judiciary committee, arose to talk. He had a prepared address, but shifted to an extemporaneous talk in which he declared the people have lost control of the government of the United States and it has passed into the hands of a million people in its executive department, in which only one man was elected, and which the people could not control.

"What are we going to do about it?" Summers cried. "Are you willing to join a battalion of death to save the Constitution and the government?"

"As we look to the future, we are rapidly approaching a crisis when it will be decided whether our economic system and our government will stand or fall."

"I mean actually. A very serious situation is before the people. It means we have got to do something soon. We have got to balance the budget. We have got to decentralize government responsibility."

Cummings Hasn't Quit Fight

ATTORNEY GENERAL CUMMINGS in his press conference intimated strongly that the administration intends to push for the court reforms the President has demanded. To support this position he produced the annual report of the judicial conference composed of the chief justice and senior circuit judges. It recommended appointment of 16 additional federal judges.

"In this report," said Mr. Cummings, "the judiciary has capitulated. They admit now there is congestion and delay in the judicial system. They ask for additional judges to provide relief. This is a complete capitulation and a welcome one."

O'Mahoney Butts In

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, on the way to Seattle, first entered the "enemy's" country when he crossed the border of Wyoming, the state of Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, leader of the anti-Supreme court enlargement forces. Mr. Roosevelt's train reached Cheyenne in the early morning, and there, among the welcomers, was Joseph, though he had been invited to board the train. He walked alongside the President's car and Mrs. Roosevelt emerged, shook his hand and asked after Mrs. O'Mahoney.

The senator then entered the private car and he and Mr. Roosevelt shook hands and said "Hello," but the atmosphere was decidedly chilling; he took leave of the party at Casper, Wyo., after accompanying the President and his group on a drive about that city.

The Chief Executive spent two days in Yellowstone National park, and then went on to Boise, Idaho; to the Bonneville dam near Portland, and thence to Seattle.

After a pleasant visit with his grandchildren, Mr. Roosevelt boarded the destroyer Phelps and went to Victoria, B. C., for a "good neighbor" call on Lieutenant Governor Hamber.

His schedule thereafter included a night at Lake Crescent, Wash., a drive around the Olympic peninsula ending at Tacoma, and then the eastward trip with stops at Grand Coulee and Fort Peck dams, Grand Forks, N. D., and St. Paul, and a few hours in Chicago to dedicate the new Boulevard bridge over the mouth of the Chicago river.

Soviet Helping China?

JAPANESE officials in Shanghai asserted they had learned that Marshal Gaients—Blucher, commander of the Russian Far East armies, was directing the Chinese campaign against Japan by telephone from his Siberian headquarters.

According to Domei, the Japanese news agency, munitions and other military supplies are being transported by trucks into China across the province of Sinkiang from Soviet Siberia. If these reports are true it may be Stalin has decided the time has come for Russia to take sides with China openly, and that would make things tough for the Japanese invaders.

Russia Warns Japan

TOKYO officially notified Moscow that the Chinese were plotting to attack the Russian embassy in Nanking with planes disguised as Japanese aircraft, for the purpose of involving the Soviet government in the Sino-Japanese conflict. With the equivalent of "Oh, yeah?" Russia retorted with a stern warning that it would hold Japan responsible for any bombing of the embassy, intentional or accidental. The Soviet officials said they considered the reported plot a "pure prevarication showing the intention of some Japanese military powers to bombard the Soviet embassy intentionally and then try to escape responsibility."

With callous brutality Japan continued the air raids on Nanking, Canton and other large Chinese cities, the bombs slaughtering thousands of helpless civilians. The utter contempt for protests of western nations shown by Japan seemed warranted by the failure to insist on respect for the nine-power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China. For this failure Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek blames especially the United States. "This war," said he, "will last as long as Japanese aggression lasts in China."

The League of Nations adopted a resolution severely condemning Japan for the aerial bombardment of defenseless Chinese cities, and Tokyo, indignant, charged the league of acting without verifying the facts. To the protests of five great powers, previously filed, the Japanese government replied with the assertion that the bombing of Nanking was "necessary for our purpose."

The British public is becoming increasingly aroused against Japan and there is a general demand for a boycott of Japanese goods. The government has permitted an aircraft company to take a big order for fighting planes that will soon be shipped to China, and they may be manned by independent British pilots.

Yarnell's Policy Wins

ADMIRAL HARRY YARNELL was decidedly opposed to the policy of Washington to withdraw American warships from Chinese waters in the face of danger. His protests have been considered by the general board of the Navy department and his program approved. Consequently our naval vessels will remain there to protect our nationals "as long as the present controversy between China and Japan exists."

Auto Union Shake-Up

SEVERAL times Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, has intimated that there were too many radicals among the leaders of that union. Now, allegedly for reasons of economy, he has got rid of some of them. These organizers have been let out: Victor Reuther, one of the leaders in the General Motors strike at Flint, Mich., last winter; Robert Kanter, Stanley Novak, Detroit; R. D. Richter of Saginaw; Charles Rigby, Ohio; Frank McMillan, Kansas City; Eugene Stauder, Frank Barlee and Frank Schutz, Indiana.

Martin also announced he had promoted Loren Houser to be organizational director for Detroit. Elmer Dowell was made director of all General Motors locals in the nation. R. J. Thomas, international vice president, has been appointed director of all Chrysler locals, and Richard T. Frankenstein, director of the organization program among Ford-Motor-company employees.

Lester Washburn of Lansing, Mich., leader of the "labor holiday" last spring, was made director of the U. A. W. for western Michigan, and Charles Madden, Pontiac, director of eastern Michigan outside of Detroit.

Italy Wins "Parity"

GREAT BRITAIN and France yielded to the demands of Mussolini and granted "parity" to Italy in the anti-piracy patrol of the Mediterranean. That sea was divided into three zones. The Italian zone includes the extensive Italian coast line, the Tyrrhenian sea around Sardinia and, in the east, the coast of the Libyan colony. The Aegean sea is assigned to Britain; and France will guard the Syrian coast and the sea lane between Marseille and Algiers.

War Dance for Duce

BENITO MUSSOLINI, visiting Adolf Hitler for the purpose of composing and presenting to the world a statement of the intentions and demands of the Italian and German governments, was received by the Nazis with great enthusiasm. Il Duce, on the way to Berlin, stood on a hill in Mecklenburg, with Hitler and witnessed a big war dance staged by the reichsfuehrer that displayed the regained military might of Germany.

Hitler's best officers and troops, armed with the latest weapons of death, put on a sham battle participated in by all land and air forces. In the nearby Baltic the German warships showed how they chase "Red" submarines; and at Wustrow the anti-aircraft batteries gave a demonstration of their effectiveness.

The huge munitions plants in the Ruhr district were visited, and thousands of workers, given a holiday with pay, cheered the two dictators heartily. Every city and village was decorated. In Berlin there were tremendous demonstrations and elaborate festivities in honor of the visitor from Rome.

In the midst of the display of war strength and preparedness, Hitler and Mussolini made speeches declaring their devotion to the cause of peace. At the same time they insisted the world must grant to Germany and Italy the recognition, and the rights they feel are theirs.

After a grand review of the Nazi army, the two dictators conferred privately. Details of the conversation were kept secret, but officials said Il Duce and Der Fuehrer not only discussed German-Italian cooperation but also talked about an understanding in southeastern Europe—the inclusion of Austria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, and possibly Rumania in a general European realignment.

Noted Merchant Dies

EDWARD A. FLENE, best known of all Boston's merchants, died of pneumonia in the American hospital in Paris. He was seventy-seven years old. Besides being a business man, Mr. Flene was a noted social economist. He was sometimes called the apostle of mass production and distribution.

Only ten days after he had charge of the American legation in Vienna, Grenville T. Emmet died of double pneumonia. He was fifty years old and was a former partner of President Roosevelt. He was minister to the Netherlands in 1933 and was given the Austrian post last July.

More Woe in Palestine

GREAT BRITAIN'S contending plan to divide Palestine between the Jews and the Arabs, with a slice for herself, came to the front again when Lewis Andrews, British commissioner of Galilee, was assassinated by a group of terrorists in Nazareth. Three men, two in Nazorean garb and one in peasant clothing, ambushed Andrews and shot him and his bodyguard to death.

Andrews had gained the esteem of extremists because of the strictness of his rule as district commissioner.

Huron Valley Development

Bridle Paths Along Beautiful Winding Shore Line Will Be Important Feature

By Dr. Henry S. Curtis

In the early days of America horseback riding was one of the chief methods of transportation, as it is still in parts of the South and West. During the Middle Ages the possession of a horse was a way of travel of earlier years has become the sport of today.

It is an expensive sport and it still the badge of wealth and a costly quest. The modern and the modern novel are doing much to give back to the sportsman, or that seemed to be slipping away.
At the University of Michigan, there are regular courses in the physical education department in which horseback riding is given full credit. There were 86 who chose this elective last year. The group met twice a week in the fall and the spring. During the summer term the demand for courses in riding exceeds the resources available.
This summer a day camp for children from eight to 14 years of age has been started at the Golf Side Riding Academy, just east of Ann Arbor. The children are collected in the Academy bus at 9 o'clock in the morning and are taken to their homes between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Each child is provided with a horse, though of course they do many other things besides learning to ride.
The trail on the Maumee is just on the edge of the town of Maumee, O. It is little used during working hours, but just about sunset, I judge 20 or 30 people must have passed during the hour I was there.
The horse is an expensive play-fellow. He has to be fed on dollar bills. Consequently the demand for horse trails will always be limited to those of a considerable means; but in a thickly populated area such as this there can be little doubt that trails will be needed. It should be possible to provide them at suitable points along the Huron Valley as a part of the proposed development.

Riders enjoy beauties of the Maumee River along this pleasant winding trail.
The distinctive mark of a sportsman. The knight in his armor was helpless without his horse. But horseback riding does not go well with automobiles and cement highways. It needs a dirt or cinder trail to be satisfactory, and the

Sunday Island
Sunday Island is one of the isles of the Kermadecs. They were the landfall of the Maori who came sailing over the Pacific to colonize New Zealand, and they have been known to the West ever since a British ship, the Lady Pembyn, found them in 1783. They were a part of call in 1791 of D'Entrecasteaux, who named them after his captain, Huon Kermadec.

placid Windermere, the largest, to Grasmere and Rydal Water, beloved by Wordsworth, possesses an idyllic charm which is difficult to describe.

Of course London, the capital city of a great empire, is visited by every tourist from America. To those who are seeing London for the first time a guide book which may be purchased from one shilling and "up" is a necessity. For those who want to see as much as possible in a limited time the sightseeing bus with a courier is available, but for those who have plans of their own and plenty of time it is a simple matter to arrange their own itinerary. Unless you are able to speak the language of other European countries visited, the conducted method of touring is recommended. In any case it is well enough to be able to read signs such as "keep out" and "do not touch", etc.

I stayed at the Royal Hotel while in London. It is centrally located in Woburn Place, just off the Strand, and is inexpensive. Westminster, the Embankment, The Law Courts, St. Paul's Cathedral and other public buildings were visited or revisited. Eats were very reasonable in any of the Lyons restaurants, and when I got so tired I couldn't walk any farther I would go to one of London's theatres for a rest. One Saturday evening, being rather fed up with things English I went to the Tivoli and saw an American picture, "Lost Horizon."

Most of my friends seem eager to know about my visit to France so of course I must not disappoint any of them.

I left London on the boat train from Victoria station for Newhaven which is about half way between Brighton and Eastbourne on the south coast. The train was crowded and consequently uncomfortable and it was a relief to go aboard the "paquetboat" which, although just as crowded, at least gave one the opportunity to be out in the open air.

The day was fine and the channel perfect in spite of the drizzle which seems to be the usual weather over there, so we do not condemn an otherwise fine day because of light intermittent showers.

The run from Newhaven to Dieppe takes about three hours, the total distance being about 65 miles. It is late afternoon when we reach the French coast and another boat train is waiting to convey us to Paris. Having to stand in the corridor most of the way from London to Newhaven, I planned to be among the first to go ashore and as soon as I landed I got a porter to take my grip and find me a place on the train. It was my first opportunity to try out my French, and it worked fine.

Foiled Grave Robbers
When the Pharaohs were originally entombed, the Egyptians cannily took great pains to foil grave robbers. Every tomb had at least two chambers. In one was a dummy of the king. The real mummy was concealed in a secret, sealed chamber.
