MAKE FISH LICENSE CHANGES

Major changes in Michigan's 1938 fish laws include reduction of the age limit for having a license to fish, from 18 to 17 years, and designation of closed seasons for pike lakes which heretofore have been open the year around.

The license section also provides that residents desiring to take all species of fish shall be required to pay one dollar for this license to be known as the "general resident fishing license."

Resident persons desiring to take any species of fish not including brook, brown or rainbow trout shall be required to pay 50 cents for a license which will be known as the "special resident license."

Pike lakes in the lower peninsula will be closed from March 2 to April 30, inclusive; those in the upper peninsula from March 16 to May 14, inclusive.

The month of April also has been added to the closed season on the "all other lakes" classification and a closed season is provided in non-trout streams on great northern pike, pike-perch, muskellunge and perch.

This event has become an annual affair that is looked forward to by all of the youngsters of this community and each year all report a most happy evening.

Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman
Michigan Press Association

Lansing—Appointment of Richard Frankenstein, C. I. O. leader, to the state emergency relief commission has brought several interesting developments.

Coming on the heels of the A. F. of L. endorsement of the governor's labor policy, as voted at a Lansing meeting called to formulate a labor relations bill policy, the Frankenstein appointment to a key position in the state relief machinery strengthened conviction of observers that Murphy will soon announce his candidacy for re-election.

Several days after the Frankenstein appointment was announced here, the C. I. O. unions held a meeting in Lansing and passed a resolution asking the governor to call a special session of the legislature to "give immediate assistance to the state's unemployed."

The resolution was adopted by 206 delegates from 74 Michigan locals.

Relief Funds Short

The C. I. O. move was heavily timed, as it immediately followed an announcement by George F. Granger, assistant emergency relief administrator, that funds available for relief work in January would fall $906,000 short of anticipated needs.

Another development is the almost unanimous belief that the legislature will be called back for a second special session early in 1938. February 1 is a date frequently mentioned.

Session topics:
1. Unemployment relief.
2. Labor relations board.
3. Minimum wage. (Dependent on congressional action).
4. Immediate benefits from unemployment compensation instead of waiting until July 1, 1938, the date set by the legislature when payments can be made to jobless workers.
5. Housing authority amendment so that municipalities of 10,000 population or more can qualify for federal housing loans.

Recession Slacks

Despite the recent recession of business which hit the industrial centers first, particularly those in the automotive field, signs are in evidence that the bottom has been reached.

Business Week, a national publication, reports that the upturn has taken place and that the recession is now in a period of convalescence.

The national business map, as compiled from federal reserve statistics, shows that Michigan still enjoys a better-than-national average for business. Times are not as good as they were expected to be, but on the other hand they are ahead of 1936, and we can all be thankful for that.

"Handcuffing" Laws

Industrial leaders in Michigan maintain that they have cooperated fully to advance the welfare of the worker.

Here is a quotation from an address by L. C. Upton, president of the Michigan Manufacturers' association and president of the Nineteen Hundred Corp. of St. Joseph:

"State legislative enactments have not crippled Michigan industry. The association has cooperated with the Administration and the Legislature in the enactment of laws for the protection of the health of workmen, and for the compensation of those who have acquired diseases in their employment.

"We have opposed the enactment of labor laws that would create further unrest, that would deprive men of the right to work, and that would deprive the individual of his right to contract with his employer. That kind of one-sided legislation, we believe, has retarded to the detriment of the worker."

New Hospital Idea

State hospitals should extend their services to the communities within the territory they serve.

This is the plan of Dr. Joseph E. Barrett, newly appointed director of the Michigan State Hospital commission.

For example, each state hospital should sponsor and maintain a system of out-clinics, which would cooperate with physicians, the courts, social welfare agencies and individuals.

Hospitals should afford facilities for training and research in mental hygiene and psychiatric nursing.

Dr. Barrett envisions an educational campaign, sponsored by the state and the physicians, whereby residents would be acquainted with early signs and symptoms of mental diseases and told what should be done.

Question And Answer Dept.

Ques.—Why are Hebrews called Jews?

Ans.—On the death of King Solomon (about 975 B. C.) ten of the twelve Hebrew tribes revolted against Solomon's son and successor, Rehoboam, and formed a separate kingdom of Israel. In 519 B. C. the ten tribes disappeared from history, except such of them that returned to their land and united themselves with the tribe of Judea. Henceforth the Hebrews were called Jews and their country Judea.

Ques.—Was Jack the Giant-Killer a real character?

Ans.—No. This was the name of a famous hero in the literature of the nursery, the subject of one of the Teutonic or Indo-European legends.

Ques.—What do spiders make their webs out of? Can the webs be imitated by man?

Ans.—The hinder half of the spider's body, the abdomen, is without appendages, except for two or three pairs of very small projections, called the spinnerets. Each of these has numbers of openings at the tip through which a fluid is forced at will. This fluid hardens immediately when it comes in contact with the air and furnishes the silk which a spider uses to spin the web. The various species of spiders make their own type of web.

Ques.—Is the story of Joan of Arc a myth?

Ans.—No. It is a fact recorded in history. In the war between England and France, during the reign of Charles VII of France, the English had laid siege to Orleans. They were about to surrender when a 17-year-old girl presented herself to the king and begged to head the French army against the English. In desperation the king acceded to her supplication. As a result she saved Orleans with the loss of only one man, while the English lost 6,000. This was followed by many other decisive victories, and lastly when she attempted to raise the siege of Compienne, she fell into the hands of the English, who to gratify their revenge, caused her to be burned at the stake in the public square at Rouen.

Ques.—Can you tell me what a kippered herring is?

Ans.—A kippered herring is so called because it is split, salted and smoked.

Ques.—I was born on Jan. 8, 1908. Was that date on Thursday?

Ans.—No. The year 1908 was a leap year. Because of that fact January 8 was on Wednesday. Had it not been a leap year, "Thursday" would have been the correct day of the week.

Ques.—What are sirens? And why are some weird whistles so named?

Ans.—In mythology the Sirens were three sea nymphs who had the power of enticing mariners to their destruction on dangerous rocks by their sweet music. It is now applied to any smooth-tongued person who lures the innocent from the path of righteousness; also in many cases by volunteer fire departments as a signal of imminent danger or destruction.

Ques.—Is the moon round, like a ball, or the Earth?

Ans.—No. The moon is shaped like a football. The reason it looks round to us is because the end of the moon is always pointing directly at the earth. Therefore, we only see one end of the moon.

Ques.—Why are Congressmen called "Solons"?

Ans.—"Solon" was the name of a great Greek legislator, and one of the seven wise men of Greece, who lived in Athens between 638 and 558 B. C. From this fact "Solon" has been applied generally to all legislators.

Ques.—What is the average size of storks? And what country are they native to?

Ans.—The familiar white stork is native to Germany and Holland. A stork's height is about four feet when standing, and the body measures about three feet in length. It is unlawful to kill them, and therefore they are very tame.

THE YEAR Old and New

By Philander Johnson
in the Washington Star

HAPPY NEW YEAR comes to view.
I'll say "Happy Old Year!" too.
Since a share of happiness
Lies in memories we possess.

Old year, we cannot forget
Duties that were bravely met,
Nor the courage that was taught
When the hours with doubt were fraught.

Old year, 'mid the shades of gloom
You have offered many a smile,
Like the sunshine, clear and warm,
That must conquer every storm.

Be the future what it may,
Pioneers have shown the way.
Happy New Year comes to view—
I'll say "Happy Old Year!" too.

The children made some good free-hand pictures pertaining to Christmas. They also made some greeting cards to give to one another.

The eighth grade is studying the Geography of Michigan. They are adding things to their Michigan Geography booklet.

Packs a key to friendship
To buoy us all year through
We bid you welcome, New Year—our dreams we trust with you, Forging ill of all the past, we start the book anew.

Chesse Wizardry
Chesses, every epicure recognizes, rely for their distinctive flavors on a fungus called penicillium. Its function is to create the mold without which most chesses would be distastefully anaemic. Included in its family group are innumerable sub-varieties, each with a singular characteristic. Those famous Roquefort caves in France, where millions of chesses ripen annually, are infested with Penicillium Roqueforti, and its presence accounts for this local industry's world-wide reputation, according to London Tit-Bits Magazine.

Coil of Snakes

The rattlesnake is typical of the snakes that coil before striking. As soon as it is alarmed, it throws its body into a coil, with head raised a little above the rest of the body. When ready to spring, the muscles of the upper part of the snake are suddenly contracted, so as to straighten the body abruptly and thrust the head forward in a direct line. As the upper part of the body only is employed, the snake never strikes at a greater distance than one-third to one-half its length.

Zero Milestone Gift to Nation

The zero milestone at Washington, D. C., was a gift to the nation by the Lincoln Highway association, and is used as the "point for measurement of distance from Washington on the highways of the United States."

I believe in safety because the loss of my ability to work means suffering for those I love most. Without my help they are thrown to the mercies of a more or less indifferent world.

I believe in safety because it is effective. It provides real protection for myself and others.

I believe in safety because it is my patriotic duty to do so. No community can afford to have accidents to its citizens.

I believe in safety because I want to live the full length of my life and enjoy it to the utmost.

I believe in safety because I do not want to depend upon charity. These are just a few of the reasons why we should all believe in safety. Please read them carefully and think them over.

Wear Old-Style Boots

Modern natives of Mesopotamia wear boots similar to those appearing in 4,000-year-old Hittite carvings.

An "Island Graveyard" pitched in the South Pacific ocean, 2,000 miles from the South American coast, Easter Island fittingly has been dubbed an "Island Graveyard." For, ringing its tortuous, mountainous coast are some 200 enormous stone tombs. How did they get there? No one knows. Neither can anyone account for the colossal stone statues, one 37 feet high, which are scattered about. Some believe the people who carved those statues were the remnants of a mighty, skillful race, dwellers on a continent in the Pacific which was suddenly swallowed by the sea.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP, MOTHER

(From the old Attic Chest.)

Backward, turn backward,
O Time in your flight,
Make me a child again,
Just for tonight.Mother, come back from the echoes shores,Take me again to your arms as of yore,

Kiss from my forehead

The furrows of care,

Smooth the few silver threads out from my hair;Over my slumbers thy loving watch keep,Rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep.I'm tired of the hollow,
The base, the untrue;Mother, dear mother, my heart yearns for you.Many a summer the grass has grown green,Blossomed and faded our faces between;Yet with strong yearnings and passionate pain,Long I tonight for thy presence again, Come from the silence so long and so deep,Rock me to sleep, mother,
Rock me to sleep.

—Arthur Carlton.

THE NEW YEAR'S RECONCILIATION

by BLANCHE TANNER DILLIN

ADDIE—ROOT and Mattie Campbell had always been friends until Miss Mattie claimed Miss Addie's dog chased her cat and tore up her flowers. The fence was built and the boundary line of the two places ran so close to Miss Addie's gooseberry bush that some of the branches of the bush hung over the fence. The bush belonged to Miss Addie but the fruit on Miss Mattie's side of the fence Miss Mattie claimed. So Miss Addie picked the fruit on her side of the fence and Miss Mattie that on hers.

Last summer, being sure that Miss Mattie was away from home, Miss Addie went in through the rear gate and picked the fruit on Miss Mattie's side of the fence. The jam in the jar before her, which she had taken down from the shelf for her supper that cold New Year's eve was from that fruit. The jar had held candel ginger in Miss Addie's childhood and she recalled how she and little Mattie had eaten the ginger from it. She recalled that she and Mattie had picked gooseberries from a bush which grew near the place where the bush which had caused so much trouble now grew. She recalled the many happy times she and Miss Mattie had spent together—the times when Miss Mattie had been a real friend in need—had helped to ease some hurt or lighten some sorrow. What a pity it seemed that such friendship should ever be broken. Miss Addie's dog had been given away long ago, and Miss Mattie's cat had wandered away from home and never returned. With the two original causes of the trouble gone, wasn't it too bad for one-time friends to remain enemies? Wouldn't it be better to turn over a new leaf this New Year's day and renew their friendship?

It seemed so to Miss Addie and she resolved not to waste another minute, but do it right away! So with a jar of jam in her hand and love in her heart she went to wish Miss Mattie a happy New Year.

OUR NEIGHBORS

BROOKLYN—Lester Soules, who has lately been operating a part of the Mott farm east of Vineyard Lake as a turkey ranch shipped 2000 of the fat birds to market at Buffalo last week. The live birds left Brooklyn on Friday and were expected to reach the eastern market in prime condition for Christmas and New Years. The turkeys were shipped in modern "parlor cars" for poultry, just a thousand birds to each car.—Exponent.

MANCHESTER—Rev. Fr. Joseph V. Pfeffer, who has been pastor of St. Mary's Missions for the past 14 years has been transferred to St. Vincent de Paul's parish in Pontiac. The change will be effective next week. He will be succeeded here by Fr. McMahon, who has been assistant pastor at Port Huron. Rev. Fr. Pfeffer has gained considerable prominence throughout the country for his work in planning and constructing the "Way of the Cross" at St. Joseph's church in the Irish Hills. This "Via Dolorosa," built outdoors, is unique in its construction and has been praised far and wide. The project is now nearing completion, the fifteenth or final station now being in process of construction. It has been assured that this work will be completed in the near future.—Enterprise.

DEXTER—The Washtenaw County Road Commission advises the Dexter Leader that at the regular weekly meeting held in Ann Arbor last Friday, sealed bids were received for the repair and strengthening of the steel bridge over the Huron River on "C" street. The low bid was accepted and the contractor promises to start work as soon as material is received and weather permitting will complete the work by March 15th. The schedule of work was arranged so that traffic may continue using the bridge as long as possible and will be actually closed to permit the placing of the floor steel and roadway.—Leader.

A New Year's Eve Lesson

HELEN WATERMAN

"EVERYONE will be at the New Year's party but me," wailed Ruth, "and you promised to take me."

"I know, daughter," her father responded, "but not in such a storm."

"There probably won't be any party," Ruth's mother consoled her. "They'll have it some other time."

"Imagine a New Year's party at any other time!" Ruth laughed bitterly. "I never get any fun. Cooped up here on the farm all winter, and now when there's something doing, father backs down on his promise. Scared of the storm! Why, I wouldn't be afraid to drive over alone."

"Well, you aren't going to. All right, I guess we can make it. Go get your things."

Ruth jumped up and kissed him. Her mother's protests were scarcely heard.

Before they had gone far Ruth admitted the storm was really worse than she had realized. The snow was not very deep, but the howling winds had piled it in strange drifts that made even their own gate and the familiar road seem queer and unreal. The wind shield, except where the whip swung back and forth, was blurred.

They Stumbled On Together, Feeling Their Way.

and she strained to make out the edge of the road. Her father also was having trouble.

"We'll have to turn back, Ruth," he said. "There isn't a chance. It's getting worse, too. Better to miss the New Year's party than the New Year."

"Of course, father," Ruth felt relieved.

The car swung around, the brakes jammed. The soft snow settled down under the two front wheels which hung over the edge of the road. "We're stuck, Ruth," her father said. "I doubt if I can get enough traction to back her."

They got out, scraped away the snow and tried to lift the car, but one wheel was caught. Ruth shivered. "Habit, we better hike home before the storm gets worse—and we get too cold?" asked Ruth.

Following the road proved quite a task. They stumbled on together, feeling their way, and at last the welcome lights of home showed them the right direction. "This isn't much of a New Year's eve celebration," Ruth admitted, "but it's a lesson. I'm making my New Year's resolution right now not to insist on my own way."

"That's right, honey," her dad replied, "and if you remember that, I'm sure we'll always have much happier New Years."

Armor for All

JESUS of Nazareth came bringing to the world a new concept of brotherhood, co-operation, rectitude. He taught that no longer should mankind render "an eye for an eye," and bade his followers love not only those who loved them, but all.

He said (Matthew 5:44), "Love your enemies... do good to them that hate you." Some might think this an inhuman law—that the expression of love and forgiveness is weakness. Some are afraid to show leniency, lest another take advantage of them. Others are hesitant to arbitrate, lest conciliation be one-sided and partial. Yet no one can study the life of the master Christian without recognizing his power and authority. There was nothing faint-hearted about him, although he used no worldly weapons, but practiced and preached the law of Love.

In commenting on the commandment, "Love one another, as I have loved you," the Discoverer, and Bakers Eddy, writes (Message to The Mother Church for 1932, p. 13), "No estrangement, no emulation, no deceit, enters into the heart that loves as Jesus loved." Then she asks, "Beloved, how much of what he did are we doing?"

Wars have been common because men have allowed material senses—greed, egotism, selfish ambition, and fear to prevail. Much progress has been made since the olden days when Deity was known as "a man of war," a tribal god to be worshipped with fear. A wise man proclaimed (Proverbs 20:3), "It is an honour for a man to cease from strife." Love only can liberate the world. Deeds of love, tranquillity, amicable relations with one another is becoming widespread. It is a joy to see the prayer for peace taking possession of families, communities, and nations. World peace will be the far-reaching result of individual love for God which is so deep and pure that it includes all mankind. Indeed, one cannot rightly worship God without practicing loving-kindness to his brother.

Paul, who had himself been redeemed and completely regenerated from a life of strife, narrowness, and persecution of innocent persons, stated definitely that our weapons "are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds." Later, reminding the Ephesians of the nature of their equipment "against the wiles of the devil," he told them to put on "the whole armour of God." One of the captions at the top of the chapter in one Bible reads, "The complete armour of a Christian."

Wearing "the breastplate of righteousness," we find that right thinking is always more effective than wickedness, that love is greater than wrath and will eventually be victorious, regardless of how downhearted or influential error seems to be. To be "shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace" is to put God first. It requires self-improving qualities—resolution and self-discipline; relinquishment of material desires, aims, and fears. Faith by which to quench "the fiery darts of the wicked" is an essential quality. It includes trust, confidence in good, hope, love. Who would not exchange the carnage of material warfare for this equipment—the armor of Love, with its untold power and dominion—and have the world transformed by the renewing of individual thought!

"The helmet of salvation" may be regarded as the understanding of God and of man as His reflection which is able to demonstrate Truth as supreme over the clamor of evil. Paul mentioned as the last item of the Christian's equipment "the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God." What better, more dynamic weapon can we have than this? What adequate protection, what friendly living, would result if every world citizen lovingly wielded this "sword"?

World peace would be an assured fact.

Quarrels and strife result because we have believed in enemies. Evil is false belief, and wrong thoughts are our only enemies; for they would attempt to deface the Christ-image. Matter and evil beliefs are inseparable. Greed, dishonesty, human will, and hate are the inevitable result of choosing evil, material thoughts—rejecting those scientific, we come into our right heritage, expressing the perfection of the one perfect Maker. When Spirit is understood to be Infinite Love, just ever present, "no respecter of persons," then man will experience health, progress, and normal living, for this is the birthright of the children of God.

All that Paul had counted as gain was laid aside, and what victories were his through the power of Christ! If every person on earth today were to arm himself with "the whole armour of God"—the understanding of Truth and Love—there would be no need for other armaments, and rectitude, co-operation, and peace would be established. Funds formerly used to finance wars could be diverted to education and improvement, for the only cost of these armaments would be the relinquishment of hate, pride, and fear, and the exquisite reward the Kingdom of heaven on earth. Mrs. Eddy writes (The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous, p. 210):

"Good thoughts are an impervious armor; had therewith you are completely shielded from the attacks of error of every sort. And not only yourselves are safe, but all whom your thoughts reach upon are thereby benefited."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Oddest Stained-Glass Window

Probably the oddest stained-glass window in existence is installed in the great cathedral in Winchester, England. Almost 300 years ago it was shattered into thousands of pieces by the cannon fire of Oliver Cromwell's army.

Although every bit was recovered and the window reconstructed by experts, says Collier's Weekly, not one piece is in its proper place.

NOTICE OF HEARING CLAIMS BEFORE COURT

METHODIST HOME

Last week was Miss Leeman's "Homecoming" week; that is, it was the week that her friends came to the Home. Tuesday morning her sister, Mrs. James Struthers, called; that afternoon brought her niece and nephew, Valerie Leeman and John C. Leeman, Jr.; Thursday morning another nephew came, Maurice Leeman, followed in the afternoon by her brother, John C. Leeman, and a cousin, Miss Marguerite Leeman; all these were from Sharon, but Thursday afternoon also brought Mrs. W. R. Daniels from Chelsea.

On Thursday, Rev. Brubaker of Dexter called at the Home, bringing with him Mrs. May Fittler to call on Miss Gage and Miss Colby.

Mrs. W. H. Knox of Jackson called on Mrs. Gowing on Thursday.

On Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hooker of South Lyon called on Miss Bidwell.

Our associate postmaster, Mr. Drake, wishes to convey to the family his deep appreciation of the Christmas gift which came to him from the members of this household. However, the appreciation is properly on our side, for his kindness and faithfulness have done much to brighten life for every person in our Home.

Mrs. Fay Wolfe of Albion visited her mother, Mrs. Welles, on Thursday.

Mrs. L. L. Gordon of Waterloo was entertained on Wednesday by her sister, Mrs. Monroe; her Saturday callers were Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Weinberg from Chelsea.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Koyle and their fine young son, John Franklin, called on Nurse Koyle on Friday. We can always tell when John F. has been here by the blissful look on Nurse Koyle's face.

On Saturday, Mrs. Elliott's heart was made glad by the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Heiser and their little son from Ann Arbor, and Mr. Heiser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heiser from Dundee. It couldn't exactly be called a surprise, for in the eleven years Mrs. Elliott has been in our Home the Heiser family has never failed to pay her a Christmas visit.

On Friday, Mrs. Spooner from Chelsea called on Miss Smith, and that evening her callers were her nieces, Mrs. D. Mann from Cistobal, Canal Zone, and Mrs. Ulrich of Ann Arbor with her small daughter, Sindre.

Miss Allen returned Sunday afternoon from spending a few days with friends in Ypsilanti.

On Christmas night, Mrs. Russ had as callers her cousins, Mrs. Russ and daughter from Detroit, also Mrs. Charley from Ann Arbor.

On Sunday we were all glad to know that Mr. Park's daughter, Mrs. Moore from Harbor Springs, had come to be with her father in his illness.

A welcome surprise came last week from Mrs. Towler of Saline who brought two radios to the Home; Mrs. Macauley and Mrs. Lansing are giving thanks.

On Sunday, Mrs. Florence Krone-myer of Chicago came to care for her mother, Mrs. Brown, who we hope will immediately improve in health.

On Monday two nieces of Mrs. Brown called, Mrs. John O'Meara of Hillsdale, Michigan, and Mrs. Clarence House of Fort Myers, Florida.

On Christmas Eve the Chelsea postmaster proudly told Dr. Leeson that his work was all cleaned up; all mail had been distributed, all out-bound mail sent out, and he was ready for Christmas.

This meant hard work, for he stated that for the past five days his office had cancelled about 10,000 postage stamps each day, and had received about the same quantity of incoming mail. During the Christmas season he had sold about 122,000 1½c postage stamps, about 5,000 more than for the same period last year.

One thing is sure, the Home family did its fair share toward all this, for each day as often as Dr. Leeson had a little spare time he piled the outgoing mail into his car and drove to the post office, and came back loaded down.

Louis Leeson of Flint is spending his holiday vacation with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Leeson.

Our Christmas dinner was, literally, a huge success. Every bit was good, from the grace which we read in unison from our menus to the last bit of dessert. For a part of our dinner we are greatly indebted to our friends, for the 76 pounds of fine turkey was provided by a most considerate and kindly member of the Home Board of Trustees, while the special ice cream came from an old time friend of Dr. Jacklin, living in Flint. It will be many a long year before we see the last trace of Dr. Jacklin's devotion to this Home. The large and highly decorated cake was sent by friends in Ypsilanti and looked entirely too good to cut, but tasted even better than it looked; while the 100 one-pound boxes of choice chocolates were the gift of Mrs. A. C. Stevens of Grosse Pointe Farms, who we understand has been very generous to our Home in years gone by. We wish her a year full of happiness.

Insects Make Shellac
"Lac," a transparent, glass-like substance used in the making of shellac, is "manufactured" by small insects which swarm over certain trees in the tropics. The glandular excretion of the insects deposited on the twigs is one of the ingredients of shellac, and is also used in the manufacturing of billiard balls, pocket chips and phonograph records.

First to License Automobiles
New York was the first state to license automobiles. Way back in 1901 some lawmakers saw a "horseless carriage", and, presumably, said: "Aha! Chance for taxes, eh?" Every other state and every other country followed suit soon thereafter. The first driver's permit, same year, same state, according to the American Automobile association, was termed an "engineer's license."

Old St. Mary's church at Burlington, N. J. has a silver communion service which was presented to the congregation by Queen Anne when the church was built in 1703. Elias Boudinot, president of the Continental Congress in 1783, is buried in the church graveyard.

The Assurance of Peace

PEACE is the perfect gift of our heavenly Father to all His children. Prophecy and revelation unite in bringing to mankind, torn with tumult and strife, the blessed assurance of peace. The prophet Isaiah had a glorious vision of the reign of peace in the hearts of men as the enlightenment of Truth is received into human consciousness. In the thirty-second chapter of his book it is written: "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever. The work of righteousness is not dependent on time. Truth is always present everywhere. We are persuaded, therefore, that peace is possible to everyone who lays hold upon righteousness. The earnest seeker for Truth is assured of peace, for it is the natural accompaniment of the right understanding of God."

Isaiah foretold the coming of the Messiah, "The Prince of Peace," and in conformity with this prophecy, the Bethlehem babe appeared. The heavenly host, accompanying the angel who came to the shepherds on this momentous occasion, sang this psalm of praise (Luke 2:14): "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." This was revelation, indeed, bringing heaven to earth.

The salvation wrought by Christ Jesus in his healing ministry assuredly brought peace to troubled hearts bereft of loved ones, oppressed by disease and alms under the tyranny of traditional laws, and bound by baseless creeds and cruel codes. Jesus' understanding of the omnipresence of God invested the spoken word with power, and multitudes were restored to health and freedom. Great peace and joy followed, and God was glorified; and so it will ever be. Whenever the Father is understandingly honored and His commandments kept, peace attends.

Mortal strife is due wholly to ignorance of God and His creation. Mortal existence is a mistaken sense of Life, God, and of Life's idea, man and the universe. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes (p. 329): "If men understood their real spiritual source to be all blessedness, they would struggle for recourse to the spiritual and be at peace." The greater part of humanity is seeking peace. Multitudes are on the quest for that which will satisfy their highest concept of good. It is a lamentable fact, however, that many are seeking respite from the theories and practices of the materialistic and profane. The alms are still ascertained by force in ways and means devised by the human mind, ignorant of the fact that false moral beliefs have occasioned their seeming sickness, and not perceiving the futility of material methods to bring deliverance and peace.

But the Christ, Truth, is ever at hand, ready to enter human consciousness, when one is willing to turn toward the Father-Mother-God. The message is always reassuring. After his glorious resurrection Christ Jesus reappeared to the disciples, presenting the same body that he had before the crucifixion, thus proving words to them: "Peace be unto you." His loving words to them: "Peace be unto you." brought the assurance of eternal life and Love, the primal and ultimate order of being. Life is evidenced in harmonious activity. Likewise, through spiritual peace we are assured of the continuity of life.

War and strife, sickness and death bear no evidence of Life, God. They are negative states of ignorance, indications of a lack of the understanding of God and of man's harmonious relationship to Him. Furthermore, an indifference to the neutral state of mind is not based upon understanding, and engenders a false sense of peace. Ignoring or condoning faults in individuals or in groups of people and nations, is not promotive of security and peace, which go in hand in hand. Selfishness and intense nationalism are foes to the peace and progress of mankind. They arise from the false belief that man's existence is dependent upon matter. This belief is entirely at variance with Scriptural authority, which reveals man's spiritual origin and nature, and with divine law, which governs individuals and nations.

The words of Mrs. Eddy in Science and Health (p. 94) give a clear view of man's scientific unity with God, and the consequent immunity from evil, disease, and inharmonious which may be realized by all. She says: "This material world, on now becoming the arena for conflicting forces. On one side there will be discord and dismay; on the other side there will be Science and peace." May we ever remember with gratitude the ever-presence of Spirit, where joy and peace forever abide and abound.—The Christian Science Monitor.
