Turners Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Turner of Washington St., Chelsea, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on March 22, with a full day of receiving their many relatives and friends who showered them with many flowers and gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner were married March 23, 1878 in Ann Arbor. They were both pioneer settlers of Washtenaw county. Mr. Turner, born June 28, 1884, came from Rensselaer county, New York, in 1889, settling in Webster township, and Mrs. Turner, born in Ashtabula county, Ohio, on July 8, 1887, came to Webster township in 1889 after spending two years in Illinois. They met while both were employed at the old Boyden farm in Webster township.

They came to Chelsea in 1900, where Mr. Turner worked at the Glazier Stove Works and the Chelsea cement plant until 1921 when he started working for the University of Michigan as a night watchman, where he is now employed. His fellow workmen presented them with a lovely bouquet of roses and carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner have two daughters, Mrs. Fred Draper of Ann Arbor and Mrs. M. E. Allen of Fernandine, Florida. Mrs. Allen was unable to attend the golden wedding celebration, but Mrs. Draper, four grandchildren and ten great grandchildren were present at the gathering.

Kiwanians Observe 14th Anniversary

In observance of the fourteenth anniversary of the organization of the local Kiwanis club a special program was featured at the Monday evening meeting of the club. Past presidents of the club, as well as charter members who were present, were honored at this meeting, and as the bell was tolled, P. F. Niehaus, secretary of the club, read the names of deceased members of the organization. Foreman Clement, of Ann Arbor, secretary of Michigan District, Kiwanis International, gave a short but inspiring address.

Following the anniversary program Jas. A. Park showed two reels of moving pictures taken while he and Mrs. Park were in Florida this winter. Jim had sent some pictures of the big fish which he claimed he caught, the authenticity of which was questioned by some of his friends, but the moving pictures showed many large fish coming into the boat on lines held by both Mr. and Mrs. Park, which proved to the satisfaction of everyone that the Parks know their fishing. The pictures also show many of the beauty spots of Florida, and Mr. Park described in an interesting way the outstanding events in their winter's sojourn.

New Records Set By Michigan 4-H Clubs

Summaries of 4-H achievements in Michigan for 1937 indicate that the boys and girls in club work set new records in which a total of 39,853 participated.

All of the state's 83 counties are involved in the club work. There were 46,329 projects in the 24th year of 4-H in Michigan. Of these there was an 84.07 per cent completion, a slight drop from 1936 when 84.6 per cent completed what they started out to do.

A. G. Kethunen, state club leader, issues the report from club headquarters at Michigan State College. Those serving the boys and girls in the state include 71 county agricultural agents, 20 home economics extension agents, eight full time county club agents, 12 district club agents and a state club staff of 11.

In the 24 years of the work the total enrollment to date is nearly up to the half million mark. In recent years the enrollment of boys has been approaching that each year for the girls. In 1937 there were boys in 20,768 projects and girls in 25,091.

Most popular with the boys is the course in handcraft, offering five years of useful training; second is dairy calf club work. Girls prefer the five year clothing courses, with canning second.

Four new projects begun in 1937 are to be continued and expanded in projects for this year. These include forest fire study, pheasant raising, farm mapping and soil conservation and farm use of electricity.

Kethunen pays high tribute to the 5,512 volunteer local club leaders, men and women who worked with the 4,908 organized club groups in 1937.

Lansing—Michigan farmers haven't put all of their eggs in one basket. When you count your blessings, one by one, don't forget the benefit of our diversified agriculture.

While industrialists are a bit glum, awaiting for the much-expected spring upturn in business, the farmers have reason to smile over the fact that Michigan led all states in agricultural recovery last year. Cash value of all farm commodities rose from $188,000,000 in 1936 to $246,000,000 in 1937.

In total acreage of farm land Michigan rates 26th. Drouths are few, rainfall is usually abundant, and diversification of crops is effective insurance for a fair farm income, year after year.

Farmers Suffer Less

If the wheat crop fails, the Northwest suffers from hard times. If corn fails to mature, vast regions in the Mid-West feel the pinch of adversity. But Michigan farmers suffer less, when a business recession arises or when drouth or rains injure growers, because they haven't all their eggs in one basket.

The development of the dairy industry has been a source of protection against crop losses.

Michigan ranks first in cherries, second in potatoes and field beans, third in grapes, fourth in peaches and pears, fifth in apples, sixth in sugar beets and tame hay, seven in flaxseed and clover and timothy hay, eighth in rye, ninth in winter wheat and oats, and tenth in corn and barley.

Business Aided

The stability of the Michigan farm income means much to the merchant on Main Street.

He is less subject to the rapid fluctuation of industrial indexes, and this is worth something when you consider that the tailspin dive of industry during 1937 was without parallel thru-out our entire history.

Merchants in the large industrial centers are dependent, to a large extent, on the prosperity of the automobile industry. The fact that Michigan was allotted the largest share of the federal WPA appropriation—a larger share than any other state in (Continued on next page)

Outstanding Students To Get Scholarships

East Lansing—Thirty-two Michigan State College alumni scholarships, worth $90 each, will be awarded to freshman students next fall, it was announced here by Glen O. Stewart, alumni secretary.

One outstanding student in each senatorial district will receive the scholarship, which is equivalent to college fees for the three terms of the freshman year.

Scholarship chairmen in each of the state's 32 districts also were announced. Chairman for District 12, including Oakland and Washtenaw counties, is Robert Gorsline, Supt. of Schools, Milford.

Alumni scholarship chairmen, Mr. Stewart said, will provide proper application blanks to high school seniors who apply for them.

Scholarships will be available only to students graduated from accredited Michigan high schools, who will enter M. S. C. in September, 1938. Candidates will be nominated by M. S. C. alumni clubs or committees in each of the 32 districts, in cooperation with high school principals.

Candidates must be from the upper one-third of their high school classes, and nominations will be confined to students whose financial circumstances definitely warrant scholarship aid; the announcement said.

Candidates are expected to have their qualifications completed and filed with a member of the committee before May 1.

Announcement of scholarship winners will be made by the faculty committee as soon as possible after examinations are completed.

UNION LENTEN SERVICE

The service last evening was held at the Methodist church. Dr. Leeson preached the sermon and the Junior choir under the direction of George Atkinson had charge of the singing. The young people met at the parsonage at the close of the service.

Next week, March 30, the service will be in St. Paul's Evangelical church, and the preacher will be Rev. Ray W. Barber.

Only three Union services remain of the present Lenten series. The last Wednesday evening service will be at the Congregational church on April 6. Rev. Henry Lenz will be the preacher on that date, and the final service will be held in the Methodist church on Good Friday afternoon at 1:30 when the special preacher will be Rev. Howard Chapman of Ann Arbor. It is hoped that all business activity in Chelsea will be suspended between the hours of 12:00 and 3:00 on Good Friday, as has been the custom during the past few years.

Senior Play Will Be Presented Two Nights

Seniors of Chelsea high school will present a play, "Skidding", a comedy in three acts, at the public school auditorium on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. Cast of characters:

Aunt Milly—Margaret Lehman.
Mrs. Hardy—Doris Heeselschwerdt.
Andy—Raymond Ives.
Judge James Hardy—Theo. Brueckner.

Grandpa Hardy—Wilfred Lane.
Estelle Hardy Campbell—Virginia Gilbert.

Marion Hardy—Marjorie Heurion.
Wayne Trenton III—Roland Spaulding.

Mr. Stubbins—Willis Mayer.
Myra Hardy Welcox—June Floyd.

"Skidding" is a fresh picture of an American family, showing Marion Hardy, a college girl, who falls in love with Wayne Trenton just as a career is opening up to her. Then there are two pretty young daughters who choose to marry before they finish their education and want to "come home to mother" at the first trouble. Mother Hardy is so upset at the modern tendencies of her daughters, that she goes on a strike in order to straighten out her family.

Young Andy Hardy is an adorable adolescent lad with his first "case". He keeps the audience in a gale of merriment. Grandpa Hardy touches the heart with his absent-mindedness and his reminiscences about Grandmar and the white satin slippers he makes for Marion to be married in have a great deal to do with straightening out her love affair.

Though "Skidding" is hilariously amusing, it tells many an underlying truth which audiences are bound to relish. Humor is blended with pathos and a deliciously garish philosophy makes the play more significant than the average comedy.

Courthouse Proposal Removed from Ballot

Because of some uncertainty as to whether a 45 per cent federal grant would be forthcoming to help pay the cost of a new $300,000 county building to replace the old courthouse, the county's special building committee has voted unanimously to withdraw the proposal which was to have been submitted to the voters of Washtenaw county at the April election.

Submission of the courthouse proposal was authorized by the board of supervisors at the special January session, contingent upon a 45 per cent grant from the public works administration. Although the situation seems encouraging, no positive assurance has been given that the grant would be approved.

According to Prosecutor Albert J. Rapp, chairman of the special building committee, the question will probably be put before the voters at a special election in the spring, if a federal grant should be approved, at which time only property owners would be eligible to vote.

VICTOR IN STYLE CONTEST

As a result of her victory in the style contest of the Achievement program held the past week at the Masonic temple, Ann Arbor, Miss Carolyn Kalmbach, wool project winner, will represent Washtenaw county in the district clothing club competition at Lansing the coming summer. Miss Kalmbach, who is a member of the Flying Fingers club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach of Sylvan township. Mrs. T. G. Riemen-schneider is leader of the Flying Fingers club.

SOME NERVE!

James Daniels and John Fletcher, Jr. braved the cold water of Cavanaugh Lake on Tuesday for their first swim of the season. Although the temperature of the atmosphere was about 30 degrees the boys reported a few "shivers" as they made several attempts at testing the temperature of the water. It is said the boys got the idea when they saw the picture of two bathing beauties who were swimming at Belle Isle on Monday. Detroiters have nothing on the youth of Chelsea!

US-12 CONSTRUCTION APPROVED
The 1938 highway construction program for Michigan as announced on Tuesday by Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, includes closing of the five-mile gap on the US-12 relocation past Chelsea. This three-lane strip of pavement will cost $160,000.

ANNOUNCES VACATION DATES
According to announcement by Supt. H. L. Blecker, the Spring vacation of the public schools will start on Friday, April 8, and school will be resumed on Monday, April 13, the day after Easter.

GRASS FIRE CAUSES ALARM
A grass fire in a field near the tank of the Washtenaw Gas Co., north of Railroad St., called out the local fire department at 6:15 Tuesday afternoon, but the fire was under control when the department arrived.

The meeting closed with the song "More Like Jesus", and by request "The Church in the Wildwood" was sung.

NORTHVILLE—The sap is running and the kettles are boiling, all of which means, according to Robert Lang, editor of The Stethoscope, that maple syrup is in the making at the Eastlawn sanatorium. "It would be hard to find another 20-acre tract so close to a large metropolis where it is possible to tap about 150 maple trees and make maple syrup and maple sugar on the site," comments Mr. Lang. To date, over 35 gallons of syrup, not to mention sugar, have been made. It is expected that at least 15 more gallons will be made before the end of the week. It takes some 30 to 35 gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup. At the Christensen farm site, work began Tuesday of this week of the tapping of 450 trees, an activity which has gone on for 58 consecutive years. This is the largest number of "sugar" trees in this section of the country. Arthur and Victor Miller are in charge of the work.—Record.

the nation—is convincing proof of this statement.

All in all, the country town in Michigan is well off.

Decentralization

Labor troubles in the North combined with rising costs of taxation, have prompted many manufacturers to move plants from cities into small towns or to open branch plants in the South.

Take the factor of rents, for example.

The bureau of home economics of the department of agriculture recently completed a survey of house rents paid in Michigan small towns. The majority of villagers are paying $15 a month, leaving more money available to buy other things.

As Dr. Louise Stanley, bureau chief, put it: "This is one of the reasons why the village family in the moderate-income group is much more likely to have an automobile than is the family of the same wage status in the large city."

Annual Wage

Is it feasible for industry to guarantee the worker an annual minimum wage?

This proposal was advanced some time ago by President Roosevelt as a means to stabilize the building trades. Governor Murphy mentioned it for automobile workers during a recent tour of the Upper Peninsula.

The president's suggestion evoked criticism from both labor leaders in the building trades and from contractors who believe, it is said, that an annual minimum wage is not practical for construction work.

The Ford Motor company submitted testimony to a senate committee at Washington that an annual wage was not feasible in the automobile industry because of the custom of annual models and the uncertainty of sustained buying. In a stabilized industry, like meat packing, the annual minimum wage has been demonstrated to be both feasible and practical. We all have to eat; but we don't have to buy automobiles or homes.

The annual minimum wage is a symbol of security. For that reason we will hear more of it during 1938.

Half Billion Taxes

Who pays the tax bill?

The $545,514,000 tax bill, paid by Michigan residents last year, was twice as much as the gross income of all Michigan farms.

Booth Newspapers, sensing a public responsibility to tell the truth about taxes, delved into the records and found the half billion tax bill to be the largest ever paid by the people of the state. Twenty per cent of every dollar in income went to pay taxes. For a family of four persons, it is equivalent to having a fifth person at the table—an unseen boarder to feed, clothe and house.

Michigan's tax breakdown for 1937 follows: Federal, $281,814,000; Local, $146,300,000; State, $137,400,000.

A Detroit motor company recently found that each worker spent an average of $565 annually for dry groceries, dairy products, meats and poultry, produce, tobacco, soap and cos-

The Hi-Light

Edited By The PUPILS OF THE CHELSEA PUBLIC SCHOOL

Senior Activities

Senior Play—The play is just about down-pat now. The play cast and all persons connected with the play are very busy finishing last minute details. There will be splendid performances given on both Thursday and Friday evenings. Be sure and witness the most spectacular entertainment of the year. Don't miss "Skidding".

Senior Announcements—Last week Thursday the Senior boys and girls were busy engaged in the tremendous task of selecting their graduation announcements. They finally chose one to everyone's liking. We are sure that friends and relatives who receive announcements from this year's graduating Seniors will commend their choice.

Class Tournaments

On Monday afternoon, March 14 the local Freshmen of our high school took the basketball court against our all-powerful Seniors, the district champs. After a very serious struggle of twenty minutes the victors were the Seniors, by the astounding score of 24-16. After a brief period of rest for the spectators the Juniors began to work on the Sophomores, promptly beating them by a 27-6 score.

On Tuesday the Juniors beat the Freshmen by the close score of 15-11. Immediately following this game the champs trounced the Sophomores by a score of 32-13. In this game the Seniors began to show what they were made of, but it didn't last long.

The following night, after the Juniors and Seniors had two games under their belt apiece, they were beaten by the (get to bed on time) Juniors. The lack of enough "yumph" in the Senior quintet enabled our powerful Junior five to whip them by a score of 13-5. They scored one point, a foul shot, in the last half. The Freshmen, the same night, beat the Sophomores by a score of 17-6. This leaves the teams standing in order as follows: Juniors, Seniors, Freshmen, Sophomores. The high point man during these contests was our blond streak, Howard Hasselwerdt, with 18 points.

On Thursday night, as always has been the custom, the class champions have to play the faculty. The team of the faculty was composed of Olen Hart, Dudley Foster, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Wallis and Coach Cameron. After four hard fought quarters the score was tied at 22-22. In the overtime that followed the Juniors held the College and Alumni squad to a close score of 24-22, the latter being victors. Mr. Johnson sunk a basket just as the whistle blew.

So ends the basketball season of Chelsea Hi with the team this year going further than any team since '32. We of Chelsea high school thank each and every one who in any way supported our team this past year.

Order Now!

Did I hear you say there weren't enough snapshots in last year's annual? This year will be different. As you might have gathered, the Seniors are on a campaign for a larger number and more interesting pictures for the annual. We now have pictures from nearly every football and basketball game—pictures of our band—interesting people—and teachers.

If you haven't already placed your order for this most stupendous book, do it today, for undoubtedly the demand will be greater than the supply. Any Senior will be exceedingly happy to put you—and I do mean you—on his waiting list.

Clubs

Band and Orchestra—The band uniforms are being dry-cleaned in preparation for spring concerts. A number of new hats will have to be purchased as a result of the band's growth in number since the summer, when the present hats were bought.

Dramatics—Dramatics club held a meeting on Monday afternoon. They are preparing a one-act play which is to be presented in the near future.

Speech Club—Speech class enjoyed a hike on Monday after school to welcome the first day of spring. They have started study on dramatics and stagecraft.

Fire Drill

Last week, with the warm weather, everyone was overly anxious to get outdoors. Our wish was fulfilled when the fire going rang. It had been a long time but not one had forgotten what to do. We all left our books and immediately left the building. The first time the building was cleared in sixty-five seconds and the second time it was reduced to fifty-five seconds.

Annual

The slogan "Bigger and Better Things by the Class of '38" is still in action and will continue to be until our Annual is published. The Annual has been gradually falling down for the last 10 years and this year it is the aim of the Seniors to put out an Annual that will not only live up to its old name but will set up a standard for the Seniors in the years to come, to equal.

The capable staff are working constantly and because of a stroke of luck in finances they are able to put in pictures of all the grades, more snapshots, and much more room for novelties. The staff: Editor-in-Chief, Lehman; feature editors, Burg, Floyd, Vogel; senior editors, Birch, Gilbert; activities, Boyce, Riemenschneider; Hasselwerdt; business manager, Lane; advertising editors, Belser, Tisch, Ives; Spaulding; snapshots, Weiss, Winans; sports, Brueckner, Niehaus; asst. editor, Heurion; alumni editor, Boelumi; humor, Kennedy, Oesterle.

We, the Seniors, guarantee that this annual will remind you of the annual as it used to be and as it shall be in the years following.

Here and There

"What sort of tooth brush do you want?"

"Lemme have a big one—there's thirty men in our family."

Miss Hannigan—Were you copying his paper?

Paul S.—No. I was only looking to see if he had mine right.

She—Do you think the mountain air will disagree with me, dear?

He—It wouldn't dare.

The reason singers protect their throats—there are so many people who would like to cut them.

Young man—Sir, I want your daughter for my wife.

Father—And I, sir, am not willing to trade.

Radio comedians take the air. Air is public property. Anyone who takes public property is a public enemy.

Editorial

No More Eighth Hour!

Well students, we did show the faculty members that an eighth hour study hall proved to be quite unnecessary, and we can pat ourselves on the back for doing so, for how would you like to spend an extra forty-five minutes after school on these lovely spring days?

Now let's show our beloved faculty that we do appreciate the doing away with eighth hour by obeying our teachers—in case you don't understand what I mean by obeying, look it up, a dictionary can always be found.

Barbara Eaton wrote a poem about Holland. Here it is:

It was in the cool morning breeze,
In the land where they make cheese,
Of course we think of Holland first,
Canals so big they almost burst;
Ducks swim so peaceful there,
But when boats go by, boy they tear!
We think this poem is very good and we copied it into our poem book.

We are glad to have Dorothy K. back with us again and we hope William Lang, Eugene Townsend and Joyce Foster will be back soon.

Two Polyphemus moths emerged from Felix Holbrook's cocoons. He gave one to Jane C. One moth is killed and will be spread. The other will live and it is laying eggs.

GEORGE M. WOODS

George M. Woods died early Saturday morning, March 19, at his Cavanaugh Lake home, at the age of 67 years. He had been in failing health for several years.

The son of Heman M. and Mary (Sargent) Woods, he was born October 27, 1880 in Chelsea and lived here during his boyhood. He then moved with his parents to Ann Arbor and was a real estate dealer in that city. For the past few years he had resided at Cavanaugh Lake.

Surviving are the widow, Zada, to whom he was married October 19, 1915 in New York; two sons, Robert, of Detroit, and George, of Cavanaugh Lake; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Glass of Greenville, N. C., and Mrs. John Wescott in Rhode Island, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Woods of Cavanaugh Lake.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the Staffan funeral home, with Rev. Ray W. Barber officiating. Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery.

SUPERVISORS WILL CONSIDER COUNTY LIBRARY PROPOSAL

The proposition of establishing a county library in Washtenaw county will be submitted for the consideration of the board of supervisors at their April meeting.

A county library system would make books available to every man, woman and child in the county. It would give rural school children the same reading advantages as the city school children.

How Does it Distribute Books? Collections in every rural school.

Transportation of books provided to and from schools. Those schools which now have books would receive a more varied and changing collection whenever needed to supplement their own book stock. Small and remote schools would get the necessary books for carrying on their work.

Service stations in stores, post offices, banks, community houses and grange halls, and other convenient centers, or private homes.

A book trailer to reach every spot and corner of the county.

A central library to serve as a base of supply and to which any county resident may have access to borrow books or ask for information. A trained librarian to give service.

It is said that existing libraries would profit by the county system. They would have all the preliminary work done on the books which would be ready for circulation as soon as received. They could request the purchase of any book not in the county system and have the opportunity of getting the first use from such books. Many other advantages are listed by those who endorse the system.

Under Michigan County Library Law, Act No. 249, Public Acts 1931, the Board of Supervisors have power to establish a public library in any county and set up its own administration and plant, with equipment and trained help.

The Matthews-Palmer Act passed at the last Legislature provides for grants of $3000 to $5000 to organize and establish new county libraries in any county. The county must provide from local tax sources one-tenth of a mill per year of assessed valuation (Washtenaw County, $4510). Provides a grant of ten cents per capita from a General Fund in addition to the other grant (Washtenaw, $3882).

Washtenaw County could obtain from $6862.60 to $8862.60 from state aid provided the Board of Supervisors would appropriate $4510. This would make a total available budget of $11,372.60 to $13,372.60 for county library service.

A county library would be supported by county appropriation as any other county department, $4510 each year until 1940. After 1940, one-fourth of a mill if Board established its own library. Less by contract with existing library.

Inasmuch as the proposition will come before the board of supervisors at their April session, residents of school districts and municipalities interested in the project are asked to submit petitions to their supervisors asking that he support the proposition.

Mr. "Watts-His-Name" says

"Why Kiss Your Husband's Picture If He's Sitting In the Next Room?"

And why buy ice this summer by long distance when cleaner, fresher, easier ice is only as far away as your nearest electric receptacle?

In 1921 when electric refrigerators cost $500 to $700 each, there might have been an excuse. In 1938 with improved electric refrigerators at a price everyone can afford, it's like carrying water from a well to even think of using anyone's ice but your own.

The new models in refrigerators are beauties—more capacity for freezing and food.

Consult your electric dealer today while his stock of 1938 refrigerators is as complete as a bride's kitchen. It's going to be a hot sultry summer—but not for the wives who follow our suggestion.

SHINING PALACE

BY CHRISTINE WHITING PARMENTER

WNU SERVICE

"And I'd give almost anything to stay, Mr. Littlefield," Nora confessed. "After all, there's no place like home, is there?—and I've never had one of my own before. Not for worlds would I have Mr. Mason suspect it, but I don't mind owing up to you that I dread to leave."

She did, yet a happy winter with Constance Venable (who had said the ill-fated island where Carl met his death, and for financial reasons was staying abroad indefinitely) lay just ahead. Things were going extremely well when they returned to Maine for another summer; and as a complete surprise, Nora discovered not only running water in her box stall kitchen, but a small and shining bathroom; the result of an intrigue between her husband and the old Maine builder.

Not until that summer did she hint to her father of this permanent abiding place. Going to the beautiful antique desk which they had purchased of "our egg lady," as the boys called her "Because," the woman explained when Don told her honestly that it was worth much more than he could give, "them antique dealers is makin' my life miserable anyhow, and Miss Mason never forgets to ask after my sick boy,"—going to that desk Nora constructed the postal card that was to play an important part in her life some three years later. Glancing over her shoulder as she finished it, Don smiled a bit sadly at what he feared was merely another disappointment.

It was, he observed, a fantastic postal. First came the verse from which the old notary had quoted the day they signed the deeds. Below this Nora had written her address, followed by: "If taxi is unavailable, take trolley car to end of line and proceed as follows," after which was a tiny map drawn in red ink.

She said, turning to look up at Don: "That verse about the shining palace is an invitation, and if it arrives when Dad's in a relenting mood, he may accept it. It sometimes troubles him that in all these years Nora had never lost hold of the conviction that her father would reach a moment of surrender. Personally, Don didn't believe it, not after the old man's silence when informed of the arrival of his namesake, James Lambert Mason. It was hard for Don to forgive that silence when he recalled how, spent with the hours of fear and anguish, Nora had looked up at him from her narrow berth on that storm-tossed ship, to say: "If it's only a boy, dear, we can name him for Father. I shan't mind anything. It'll bring us together."

Well, mused Don, turning away from his wife's eyes, it was a boy, and it had not brought them one inch nearer. Jimmy was more than three years old, and his grandfather had not expressed the slightest interest in his existence. It wasn't in Don to comprehend how anyone could be so stubbornly resentful—so unkind. Impatient at the situation he once said as much, and Nora answered: "It's not just that, Don. You see, he loved my mother above anything on earth, yet she hurt him unspeakably. And, though it wasn't my fault, perhaps, I hurt him, too. I think he doesn't dare let me get near him any more. Don't you understand? He's afraid of being hurt again."

So she mailed her postal, hoped for a time, and then decided that the hour of relenting had not come. But despite this disappointment Nora was very happy that summer. Don was always glad to remember how happy she had been. As the months passed, her new home became almost as perfect as she dreamed it could be; and even Tom Littlefield admitted that the "ball room" was not too big.

"And it's cozy, isn't it?" prodded Leonora, determined to make the old carpenter give in.

"O, it's cozy enough," he assented, albeit grudgingly; "but I still think, if you was to ask me, Miss Mason, that it's all out of proportion to the size of the kitchen."

"But we don't live in the kitchen," Nora retorted.

"And I ain't ever heard o' anybody livin' in a ball room, either," snapped the old man.

He was a frequent caller, as was the notary at the Port. The latter had a standing invitation to Sunday dinner, which was quite as likely to be served on the beach as in the banquet hall. Afterwards he would find his way into the big living room and browse among the books, sometimes reading aloud from his beloved poets to Nora, sometimes reading from "Peter Rabbit" to the boys.

"He's as good as a grandfather," said Don one Sunday afternoon when he found the old man with both children in his lap; and then wished he hadn't spoken because Nora's face clouded at the words.

The summer drifted by. September came, and with it the chance Don was hoping for, something he had kept secret from his wife fearing to cause her disappointment should it not work out. For Nora had hinted to the little boys that Santa Claus might possibly bring them a "baby sister," and Don was determined that their mother should not be dragged to Europe if such a step could be avoided. He knew that the "Letters from Cape Town" had proved even more popular than the American editor expected. There was no reason to think he would not be amenable to the suggestion that there was a vast amount of interesting material on their own West. Don planned a series of articles called "Seeing America First," submitted the idea, and waited impatiently for the verdict.

Not knowing that the great man was away on a vacation, the letter seemed long in coming, but it brought good news. The editor considered this plan "most interesting," and requested that Don stop off in Chicago on the way West to consult a personal friend of his who had been over the ground recently and might give him some valuable data. And would he plan so that the first article could be run in February?

Nora wept with relief when she heard the news—Nora, who so seldom gave way to tears.

"I've been dreading so awfully to start out again," she told him, "but this is different. If, as you say, we can stay at San Diego until after New Year's, everything will be easy. I can settle you somewhere, and then go to a hospital for the event. And next spring we can come home for a long summer. Don't mind my crying, Don. It's only the heavenly relief."

"You poor dear, normal!" said Don tenderly. And then added: "If all goes well, darling, we'll install a furnace here next summer so we can stay as late as you want to in the fall."

"I believe," smiled Nora, winking away the last of her foolish tears, "I believe you've discovered the advantages of a home yourself, Don!"

CHAPTER XII

They reached Chicago on a bleak November morning. Wind was blowing across Lake Michigan in wintry gusts, and the weather man predicted snow. It came, a blizzard out of the north. For two days they were storm-bound in a boarding house run by an old nurse of Constance Venable's—one of the many whom Carl's unfailing generosity had helped.

On the third afternoon when the city was digging out of snow drifts and the sun was making a half-hearted effort to show its face, their hostess said: "Why don't you two go for a little walk? I'll look after the children. I'd really like to; and a breath of outdoor air will do you good."

"Come on," said Don, brightening at the prospect of some activity. "If you get tired, Nora, we'll drop in at a movie for an hour."

"That's right," urged the woman, glad to be of service to these friends of her beloved Venables. "You'll find a theater three blocks down. It's a cheap place, opened only a week ago; but it'll do to get warm in."

"Sure!" agreed Don, "and a lurid picture won't hurt old folks like us!" The wind sprang up again as they started out; and the sun, discouraged, retired behind a cloud.

"I guess three blocks'll be about enough!" Don laughed as they ducked their heads against the weather. "Those Italian winters have spoiled us, Nora; but I hear we're liable to try in Arizona. That's one place I haven't been, my dear, and I'm crazy to see it. There's our theater ahead now. Looks cheap all right. I bet the snow's packed solid behind that false front roof. There's weight to this snow, Nora. I hope—"

What Don hoped was lost in a gust of wind that fairly blew them into the lobby of the theater.

"Perhaps we'd better go right back," gasped Nora. "The wind's certainly getting worse. It wouldn't surprise me if it stormed again."

In a line of that beautiful hymn dating back to John of Damascus about 750 A. D., we have the real significance of Lent: "Tis the spring of souls today." It is a time of renewal, a beginning again. The press of modern life makes such renewals all the more necessary and desirable. It is time for us to pull up the slackness of our lives, doff our indifference, let fall our doubts, and revitalize our faith.

The Sunday morning worship service comes at 10:00. The last of the series of sermons on Man will be preached, the subject being, "The Son of Man."
