Serious Problems Face Legislators At Next Session

By Gene Aileman

Lansing—While victors were still celebrating the outcome of Tuesday's ballot tussle, the capital city this week was reminded of the fact that less than 60 days remain until the state legislature convenes here.

Numerous are the serious problems. Because Michigan's economic life is due to a combination of industrial, agricultural and recreational incomes, the legislature will be called upon to consider a wide variety of measures. Social legislation will probably include a labor relations mediation act and a minimum wage-maximum hour act. The first will be a baby Wagner act with an emphasis on mediation of labor disturbances, while the second will apply to intra-state commerce, what the Fair Standards Labor act, otherwise known as the Wage-Hour Act, does to interstate commerce.

These two measures alone will mean days of serious deliberation in committees. Consequences will be far-reaching.

Milk Price-Fixing
Marketing agricultural surpluses at a profit is the objective sought by influential groups of Michigan growers. Milk producers are toying with the idea of a state milk price-fixing act which would guarantee a fair basic price to the dairy industry and at the same time not penalize the consumer.

A legislative commission is studying the plan which comes from the East, and a bill will be ready for introduction in Lansing next January. Michigan apple and potato growers are determined to do something in a co-operative way to combat the advertised virtues of Maine and Idaho potatoes and Washington apples. These two products mean millions of dollars a year to Michigan growers, yet the Michigan home market has been unable to compete with imported foodstuffs.

Standardized grading and packaging of apples and potatoes are also sought by growers who propose that the state join them in financing a marketing-advertising campaign. Upper Peninsula farmers are interested in spud prospects, for oil.

Red Cross To Conduct Roll Call for Funds

The annual roll call of the local chapter of the American Red Cross will be held from Armistice Day until Thanksgiving, in keeping with the usual custom.

A house to house canvass will be made during this period and those in charge of the drive for funds hope that the response will be as generous as in the past.

The local chapter has done much in the past to alleviate the suffering of unfortunates, especially children, and there are many calls for assistance at the present time. Donations of used shoes and clothing will also be appreciated by officials of the chapter, as there are many calls for wearing apparel as cold-weather approaches.

A portion of the funds collected locally is sent to the national Red Cross, and it is a well known fact that this organization has done much to care for needy throughout the nation in times of stress. They have served in 41 major catastrophes during the past year.

Do your duty—support the Red Cross!

PROFESSOR-ADDRESSES CLUB

The Young Mothers' Child Study club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Gurney Hopper. It being guest night no business was considered. The program chairman, Mrs. Jay Weinberg, introduced the speaker of the evening, Prof. L. U. Rowland of Albion college, who spoke on "Growing a Pair of Musical Ears." Professor Rowland urged us to begin having our children listen to music daily when they are very young, possibly six or seven months, for about ten minutes each day. His address was supplemented by selections on the phonograph which he brought with him. Professor Rowland summarized the points he discussed by advising mothers and teachers working with young children to observe carefully four things: Be sure the selection presented is short, that it has definite accent, pleasing rhythm, and distinct melody.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served. The next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. Frank Potts on Monday evening, November 21. Members will please note the change in the date.

CHICKEN SUPPER

The annual chicken supper and Fair of the 2nd U. B. church of Waterloo, will be held on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16 at Gleason hall. Serving will begin at 6 o'clock. A variety of articles will be on sale and the White Elephant will be with us again. Supper 25c and 40c. We solicit your patronage. Adv.

Nation Will Celebrate Armistice Anniversary

Plans for a great nationwide celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the first Armistice are being made in the 11,470 communities of the nation represented by Posts of The American Legion and Units of The Auxiliary.

From the nation's capital in Washington, D. C., President Roosevelt will participate in the 11 o'clock ceremonies of laying a wreath at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery. His address will be broadcast to the nation.

Starting at 12 noon The American Legion will be on the air in a nationwide broadcast of its hour-long program dedicated to enduring peace and the deeper significance of the first Armistice. National Commander Stephen F. Chadwick, recently elected at the Los Angeles convention, will address the nation over the facilities of the National Broadcasting Company from Washington.

"Veterans of the World War have come to accept The American Legion as the finest peacetime expression of their hopes for the nation's continued greatness and we are confident that more than one-half million of them will celebrate this twentieth Armistice as members of The American Legion, re-enrolled in advance for 1939" is a statement recently made by H. L. Plummer, the national adjutant of The American Legion. The total membership of the organization was 973,000 in 1938. A concentrated effort has been made to re-enroll as many members as possible throughout the country before November 11.

Armistice Day should be a day of great joy and happiness to all veterans and to every other person of the world for on November 11 of 1918 the great war, which it was hoped would be the end of all wars, was brought to a close. It is needless to mention that the hopes of the soldiers of twenty years ago have been in vain for even today several of the nations of the world are again in conflict. However, everyone in the United States has every reason to celebrate this day in a fitting manner for here we enjoy a peace and freedom that is unknown in any other country of the world. The Legion trusts that through its effort to promote peace and good will on earth, this freedom shall continue.

Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of The American Legion and its Unit of the Auxiliary will serve a dinner to the public at the high school gymnasium starting at 6 o'clock on Friday evening. A dance, with Dick Hasse furnishing the music, both new and old time, will be held in the evening. Popular prices will be charged for both events.

A change has been made in the menu which was printed in last week's edition of this paper and the salmon loaf with mushroom sauce will be eliminated due to the fact that Catholics of the Detroit archdiocese may eat meat on Friday, November 11, Armistice Day, a national holiday this year. The dispensation to eat meat on that day was granted by Archbishop Edward Mooney, by virtue of faculties granted by the Holy See to bishops of the United States, to dispense from fast and abstinence on legal holidays. A letter informing the pastors of this dispensation was read in all churches.

Elsewhere in this paper appears the details of the Armistice Day dinner and dance. The American Legion and Auxiliary will appreciate your attendance.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—A teacher in one of our rural schools asked one of her brightest pupils to go to the blackboard, and, using the figure "9", write four of them down and arranged so that the sum total will represent exactly 100. He did it, but how did he do it? (Answer elsewhere in this department).

Ques.—To settle an argument will you kindly answer in this department the age of Gabby Hartnett, the catcher and manager of the Chicago Cubs baseball club? Thank you!

Ans.—Charles Leo (Gabby) Hartnett will be 38 years old on Dec. 20, 1938.

Ques.—Where are the Aleutian Islands? And who owns them?

Ans.—The Aleutian Islands form an arc extending from Alaska about one thousand miles westward in the Pacific ocean. They are owned by the United States, and were acquired in the purchase of Alaska from Russia.

Answer to problem—He wrote them 99 99 (ninety-nine and nine ninths) which equals 100.

Ques.—To what family of birds do the meadowlarks belong? Also I would like to know if they are destructive to wheat or other small grain?

Ans.—The Meadowlark belongs to the Oriole family. They are not destructive to small grain, but very valuable as destroyers of insects, on which they live exclusively.

Ques.—Is it true that the commander of the Union forces at the battle of Gettysburg was a Spaniard or half Spaniard?

Ans.—No. When Gen. George G. Meade, the Union commander at the battle of Gettysburg, was born, his parents were living in Cadiz, Spain. At that time his father was a naval agent for the United States.

Ques.—Will you explain what the famous Missouri Compromise is?

Ans.—The Missouri Compromise was an act of Congress passed in 1820 to effect a settlement regarding the extension of slavery in the regions beyond the Mississippi except that Missouri should be admitted into the Union as a slave-holding State.

Ques.—Who were the Moabites?

Ans.—The Moabites were a race of people that inhabited the region of the Dead Sea and the Jordan River, where they pursued a pastoral life. The Israelites came in contact with them after immigrating into Canaan. Later the Moabites formed an alliance with the Chaldeans, in which they were unsuccessful, against the Jews, and have long since been lost among the Arabs—about 800 B. C.

Ques.—What is meant by "Blue Monday"?

Ans.—Strictly speaking, "Blue Monday" is the Monday before Lent. Now it is loosely applied to any Monday as a reaction for the previous week-end revelries and relaxation.

Ques.—At what time did Thomas Moore, the noted Irish poet, live?

Ans.—Thomas Moore lived in Ireland from 1779 (when he was born) until 1852 (when he died). He began developing his literary ability about the year 1800.

matrical conditions there are ideal for good potato growing and there is plenty of room for expansion.

Tourist Dollars

Michigan's central location in the Mid-West where millions of people dwell has made the state a favorite with tourists.

It's Big Business, and no fooling! Figures compiled by the American Automobile association, the U. S. department of agriculture, and the four tourist associations of the state indicate that Michigan had approximately 10,700,000 visitors during the past resorting season. This was a 10 per cent decrease from the 1937 volume, or a 1938 estimated gross income of $300,000,000.

Noticeable was the growing popularity of week-end trips.

In the "tourist" classification of legislation will be fishing and hunting bills, state park bills, and conservation measures in general. Along with more good roads, northern Michigan wants improved facilities for accommodating and entertaining the out-of-state visitors.

24 Million Fish

Because Michigan is famed for good fishing, the state conservation department goes to elaborate preparations each year to restock our lakes and streams.

Workers began the perennial task this week of distributing 24,803,000 small fish—brook trout, brown trout, rainbow trout, bluegills and black bass. Perch planting will be done in December.

Increased pollution of streams due to industrial waste is a serious handicap to efforts of the conservation department to replenish the fish life for tourists. The state stream control commission, headed by Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, received a report from Secretary Engineer Milton P. Adams that several beet companies have been ordered to submit plans for adequate waste disposal by February, 1939, and to have plants in operation by October, 1939.

Goiter, Jitter-Bugs

Use of iodine for thyroid disturbance, as sponsored by the state board of health and county medical associations, has reduced goiter in Michigan from more than 30 per cent to 1 per cent.

Osteopathic physicians in Detroit heard Dr. Edward A. Ward, of Saginaw, past president of the American Osteopathic association, warn that swing addicts will develop thick ankles and frayed nerves.

Gasoline—What is It?

Pigs are pigs, and gasoline can be cheap and inferior and still be gasoline to many motorists.

Out of the recent price war has come a suggestion that producers, refiners, and the state department of agriculture co-operate in grading gasoline so that the consumer is fully informed what he is getting.

This state regulation would be done without added taxes.

Finger-Printing

A state law requiring the finger-printing of a person applying for a permit to carry a concealed weapon is advocated by a committee representing the Prosecutors' association, the Michigan Sheriffs' association, and the Police Chiefs' association in co-operation with the state police. The same committee also seeks a law making it a crime to sell ammunition to persons under 18 years of age without the written authority of a parent or guardian.

When asked if he had any boners from class a certain teacher replied, they were all boners.

Chelsea Team Wins Huron League Title

Chelsea's football team emerged from Huron League battles on Friday, champions of the League and undefeated in seven games.

Chelsea trounced Milan by a score of 14 to 0 at the home field. As the game opened a strong wind was blowing from the south goal. Schneider's kick-off traveled beyond the Milan end-zone and the ball was put in play on the 20-yard line. During the first quarter Milan had three good breaks, but were not able to supply the scoring punch.

Chelsea's first score came in the second quarter when they advanced the ball to Milan's one-foot line. Captain Strieter went over from this point. Schneider booted the extra point. Milan threatened Chelsea's goal late in the quarter only to have a pass intercepted by Dingle, Chelsea's first-string center.

Chelsea opened up their passing attack in the third quarter and on the last play of the period Andy Policht was downed on the Milan 5-yard stripe after a run of thirty yards.

Schneider scored on the first play of the final period on an off-tackle smash. He also kicked the extra point.

Late in the game Rolly (Whizzer) White started on a certain touchdown run but was hit on the four-yard line. Chelsea outplayed Milan in many departments, getting 9 first downs to 7 for the Reds.

This is the first championship Chelsea has won since 1931. The boys have played good hard football all season and they earned the honors they received.

Music

Tramp, tramp, tramp the band is marching! It's a wonder how shoes can stand so much walking. The band has been marching nearly every day—7th period. Of course it's good exercise, but it's hard on the feet. I bet some of you kids agree with me. Oh well, to offer some consolation, football season will soon be over and you can settle down for a nice, long rest until next fall. Maybe!

Elementary News

Second Grade

We are learning about the Puritans now—Where they came from, where they landed here, in what year and how they helped us. We are learning a little song about them too. The stories about the Indians we enjoy. Some we can read all alone, others are being read to us.

Each day we are taking turns reading some special stories aloud. We like this way.

We can now tell the difference between plus and minus. We have to think hard sometimes though to get the answer.

Fifth Grade

We are doing very well in our map project. So far we have made a physical map and a sectional map of the United States, and six maps of the New England States—manufacturing cities, farm products, lumber and pulpwood industry, products of the quarries, and fishing. Now we are beginning to make a series on the Middle Atlantic States.

For art we are making a "standing" picture of a winter evening in a colonial New England home. It makes the story we have just had in history about the Pilgrims so real.

It is not long now before Thanksgiving, so our club is preparing a Thanksgiving play. We hope we can learn it well enough to invite others to enjoy it with us.

Sixth Grade

Earl Van Riper has come back to school this week. The children are very glad to see him again. Earl says "I am back to school. I like it very much."

Mr. Cameron has organized two teams of football. They will play touchball on the new football field.

In music class we have learned a Scotch song composed by Robert Burns. Miss Allen will read us a poem composed by Robert Burns called "Tam Shanters' Ride". There is a picture of Tam Shanters' Ride on our weekly readers.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Liquor and Immorality

In a certain district approximately forty per cent of all delinquent children came from homes where drinking, profanity and loose morals prevailed. As our public schools teach the harmful effects of liquor on adults, many children instinctively worry when they observe their parents drinking. Such children have learned that the parent with a nervous constitution may find it difficult to resist the effects of alcohol. In addition to their silent worry, they frequently lose respect for the parent who indulges in drink.

Certain broad minded parents teach their children that no great harm can come from drinking in moderation. Such individuals do not take into consideration the fact that moderate drinking in the home, coupled with "outside" drinking may cause a young man or woman to acquire a taste for liquor. The resolution to keep drinking only within the limits of moderation becomes weak as the alcohol habit grows strong.

Sex immorality is frequently learned from parents and adults during the very early years of childhood. It has been definitely proven that many sex delinquent girls develop as the result of lack of affection in early youth. By indulging in sexual practices the girl is often able to throw off a feeling of inferiority when she is accepted by an older person.

HOWELL—Eighty-nine graduates of the Howell high school are enrolled in the universities, colleges, normal schools and other institutions of higher learning throughout the country this year. In numbers the Michigan State Normal at Ypsilanti leads with 20 from Howell high enrolled, the University of Michigan has fifteen, and Michigan State College has fifteen.—County Press.

Aspasia Was Influential
Aspasia was a beautiful Athenian woman noted for her genius, wit, and political influence. After her marriage to Pericles, who repudiated his wife in order to wed her, her house became the meeting place for the learned men of Athens. Socrates was one of her admirers. She was indicted for impiety, but Pericles successfully defended her in court.

How good a driver are you? Can you answer this question?

If a pedestrian starts to cross the street at an intersection on the "go" signal, but the light flashes "stop" before he reaches the other side, does he continue to have the right of way over vehicles until he gets across?

Many drivers make mistakes in this situation. Do you? Is the responsibility here entirely with the pedestrian or with the driver?

Here is the answer: It is the responsibility of the driver to see that, in such a case, pedestrians are permitted to get to the sidewalk.

It's got looks— and so have you!

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than last year!

It makes the eye glad and grateful—you spot that the instant your gaze takes in this sparkling Buick for 1939.

It's sleek and swift and businesslike, lean and clean in every line, the trim bonnet low-set, the graceful upper-structure light and airy looking, neat and fine.

Will you step in, please, and look it over closer?

Why, it's almost like being in an open car, with the outlook you've got here!

The long nose tapers quickly out of eye-way, the pillars modestly retire to the background, overhead stop lights drop into easy vision—ahead, to right, to left, you can see!

The ruler will tell you there are as much as 413 added square inches of safety glass in this Buick, and these inches are placed where they count.

It has a lot to do with making Buick beautiful, this grand expanse of openness!

And like "catwalk-cooling": radiators low where air pressure is greatest—and the lines of the bonnet—broad, clean, aerodynamically better—

Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors Terms!

Buick's stepped-up visibility both sets a pattern and fills a function.

So take a good look into its bigger, better, broader outlook. It's one thing among many that Buick's got that you'll want in your next automobile.

Crime News Always in Demand
Early Nineteenth-century England was so interested in prison news, details of confessions and the last words of condemned men that the warders sold these stories to such newspapers as the Terrific Register and the Malefactor's Journal, which were devoted exclusively to crime news. Sometimes, says Collier's Weekly, these publications sold more than 2,000,000 copies of a single issue.

Products From Cotton
From 3 1/2 to 9 1/2 yards of cloth, depending on the type, can be made from a single pound of raw cotton. Other cotton products include explosives, photographic films, celluloid. One of the world's oldest crops (about 3,200 years), it has been raised in the United States since 1664.

When Mr. Dixon was asked what they did about breakfast he answered mournfully "We wished we had it."

Many Women Plan for Better Living at Home

Better living at home through better homemaking practices attracted 68,734 homemakers in Michigan during the past year. A total savings of more than $46,000 was reported as the result of better use of things at hand by the women who comprised community groups.

A cross section of rural homes in the 83 counties reveals many differences, but the likenesses of problems in clothing, shelter, and food are most important from the standpoint of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State College.

The 2,474 local leaders who helped carry the ideas of better homemaking back into their home communities report a variety of activities.

Parents of children of all ages met to talk over the problems they meet as modern fathers and mothers. A total of 3,679 were reached in 27 counties during 1936-37. The importance of the projects has attracted parents in nearly every section of the state.

Some phase of these meetings has been held in 78 counties since it was established in 1929.

Clothing reached 20,542 women with information on how to buy textiles and adapt style features. Garments ranged from play suits for the children to tailored coats and suits for adults.

The refinishing of old pieces of furniture as the foundation for a more attractive home vied with a study of color, the making of curtains and slip covers which reached 20,799 women.

Braided rugs as useful additions to many rooms are made from old clothing, both wool and cotton, and others from dyed feed sacks found in most farm homes. Savings of $26,000 were reported as a result of the home furnishings.

Home economics extension is under the direction of Edna V. Smith, state leader, who with her staff, brings better homemaking practices to well settled sections and also to the crossroads in all sections of Michigan.

The Confederate vessel Hundley was the first submarine used during a war. On February 17, 1864, she blew up the U. S. S. Housatonic, a new corvette of 13 guns, in Charleston harbor, with a spar-torpedo which struck her and exploded her magazine. The Hundley went down with her victim.

Largest Orthodox Monastery

In Lake Ladoga, at the Russian-Finnish frontier, is a quiet, lonely island called Valamo—God's Isle. It is high, steep and covered with trees. On this island is located the largest orthodox monastery of modern times. It is a huge building which has been greatly enlarged because of the thousands of pilgrims and tourists which visit it every summer. The monastery was founded in 992 by a monk named Segel, who went to Valamo from Russia. The monastery was destroyed several times in wars between Russia and Sweden, but was always restored and its work continued. After the Russian revolution many monks fled to the peace and quiet of Valamo. They and their fellow-monks work hard.

Shallots Grow Like Garlic

Shallots grow in cloves like garlic, the entire bulb being pear-shaped. Top and bulb are used for salads and are popular with those who like a more delicate flavor than a mild onion. Leeks are larger than shallots, have flat leaves and but little bulb formation. Leaf and bulb may be cooked or used raw, chopped into salads. Chives are the only variety of which only the hollow grasslike leaves are used. They are chopped into salads and cottage cheese and are a favorite to grow in a pot on the kitchen window sill because they keep growing after cuttings and supply fresh onionlike flavor when needed.

REMEMBER?

● Just 20 years have passed since the world went wild with news of ARMISTICE!

Just 20 years ago, on November 11, 1918, the order to "cease firing" sped from front to front on France's great battlefield. It marked an end to the greatest armed conflict in history. The world went deliciously happy but it did not forget the brave soldiers (above) who had learned the horrors of war and could now rest.

War's end came after Marshal Foch and his staff received the German plenipotentiaries at Rethondes, France. On the exact spot where stood the railroad car in which peace was signed, France placed the above memorial stone.

The delirium of armistice returned a few weeks later when the doughboys came marching home. Thousands passed under the triumphal arch erected in New York city. A few days later they were mustered out and headed for home.

But some were not so fortunate. Twenty years later, veteran hospitals throughout the nation house invalids left by the World war, strong-willed men who are striving to "come back" in the face of physical and mental ravages left by gas and shrapnel. Many have succeeded, overcoming their handicaps and becoming useful citizens. They paid a high price to give the world peace.

Some paid an even higher price, with their lives. In Elenders field the graves of valiant American soldiers. Meanwhile, 20 years after armistice, too many of the World war's lessons have been forgotten. In remembering the sacrifices that gave us peace, let the world's only hope for continued peace.

China Ware From Orient

Opened New Color World

For years before china was introduced, the use of pewter and wooden utensils was general, but when china was brought in from the Orient by the sailing vessels in the East India trade it opened a new world of color. The bright decorations, oriental scenes of life, birds, flowers, the gay colors and beauty awakened the imagination and brought color to a world accustomed for generations to the dull, gray monotony of pewter and wood. It was not long before the homes of the wealthy were filled with oriental porcelain brought from the Far East, writes Alice R. Rollins in the Los Angeles Times.

Old Canton was a household word for the blue and white china which for two centuries and more was exported from China to Europe and America. The term Old Canton included such patterns as the Nankin, which takes its name from the town from which it was exported and was so-called by the Chinese merchants who traded in it.

The Canton pattern followed the earlier Nankin, and later one of the designs used came to be known as the willow or island pattern. This was very popular in the United States early in the Nineteenth century, when great quantities were shipped here.

What is known as the Fitzhugh pattern, so named for a certain Englishman who first gave the order, is a conventionalized design of split pomegranates, spread butterflies, flowers and emblems in separate groups as a border with a medallion or oval monogram in the center. Later this design made up for the American trade included a spread eagle in the center.

Effect of Moon Eclipse on Tides

The United States Coast and Geodetic survey says that the tides result from the gravitational attraction of the moon and sun and this attraction is not affected by the passing of the moon into the shadow of the earth, which is what happens during an eclipse of the moon. The tide does vary with the phase of the moon, and since a lunar eclipse can occur only at a time for full moon, the range of the tide may then be expected to be greater than the average.

When Bees Do Not Sting

There's a good reason why bees do not sting while swarming. Before leaving the hive they gorge themselves with honey. Like a human who has over eaten, they're too stuffed and sleepy to mind disturbances. Bees swarm, or leave the old hive, when crowded out by bees hatched that spring. In each swarming, says a writer in the Washington Post, worker bees cluster around the queen bee to protect her each time she alights. Thus, by cornering the queen, the whole hive can be captured.

"ORPHANS OF THE STORM"

Fleeing a tornado near Clyde, Texas, parents of these babies were killed, their automobile tossed a quarter-mile away. Hours later a telephone lineman heard a child's whines in a roadside ditch. There he found 3-year-old Jesse Dennis Rutledge, water up to his chin, holding his 3-month-old brother. Daddy's head above water. Relatives being unable to care for the orphans, Red Cross workers arranged a maintenance fund to support them until they are 16. A Texas college promised scholarships and ranchmen started a herd of cattle for their benefit. The Red Cross will help the boys make adjustments as they grow older.

Childlikeness

JESUS said (Mark 10:14), "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God." The great Teacher knew the loveliness and purity of the child thought. How the unquestioning, innocence of a child must have appealed to him who constantly faced the unbelief and distrust of a world ready to destroy him! He understood children, and they came to him as naturally as the flower turns to the light, for the sweet, clean thought of a child accepts readily the loveliness of Love, wherever it is expressed.

One may think that when he attains a certain age he will no longer express childlikeness; but this is not so, for childlikeness is the purity and innocence of thought which is untainted by the beliefs of the world. According to a modern dictionary, "childlike suggests those qualities of childhood which are worthy of respect or emulation;" while "childish" indicates "its less pleasing and admirable characteristics." Paul said (1 Corinthians 13:11), "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things." We can well afford to "put away childish things"—the petty, trivial suggestions that come from mortal mind. In order not to be hampered by the "childish things" of mortal mind, we must adopt the spiritual concept of existence.

Mortals sometimes pride themselves upon their skeptical outlook on life, failing to realize that Life, God, is expressed only in loveliness and spiritual beauty. We cannot afford to carry with us day-by-day the burden that results from materiality. The skepticism and concept of mortal mind's claim to power tend to adulterate the confident and abiding sense of trust we should have in our Father-Mother God. Childlikeness includes joyousness, spontaneity, and a pure unselfed outlook on life. These we need so much in a world darkened by its own self-importance, troubled by wars and rumors of wars, the fears of mad ambition, and the pride of place and power.

In "Miscellaneous Writings" Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 140): "Beloved children, 'the world has need of you,' and men and women, your innocence, unselfishness, faithful affection, uncontaminated lives. You need also to watch, and pray that you preserve these virtues unstained, and lose them not through contact with the world."

Is it not probable that Jesus, in dealing with the self-assurance of the priests and rabbis, the continual unbelief of the carnal mind, felt relief when those appeared before him the sweet, loving, whole-some purity of the child thought? Children, doubtless, recognized his tenderness and purity, and felt at home with him. He likewise, felt at home with them, because of their sweet thinking. It is possible for all to include this same sweetness in their thinking, regardless of what mortal mind argues about age.

Genuine childlikeness is a very desirable evidence of right thinking. When one manifests enough humility to be childlike and teachable, one is blessed with a serene trust in God, good. True childlikeness never strives for place and power, is never tainted with selfish ambition or greed, for it has within itself all the loveliness of good.

The great Master left this statement, which may well be pondered by everyone (Mark 10:15): "Whoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, he shall not enter therein."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Red Cross Seeks Cut In Accident Toll

1,725,406 First Aiders Trained Since 1910

Cognizant of tremendous losses in human lives and of permanent injuries resulting from accidents in homes, on farms and highways, and around industrial plants as well as in the basement workshop, officials of the American Red Cross have been directing a systematic fight against what they term "this economic waste."

As part of this nation-wide effort to reduce deaths and permanent injuries from accidents, a recent statement from Red Cross headquarters in Washington reports that during the past 12 months certificates have been granted to 295,028 persons completing courses in the administration of Red Cross first aid.

Holders of those certificates have followed detailed courses of study and have been taught how to splint fractured limbs, stop flow of blood, treat poison sufferers, care for victims of heat, electric shock, and handle other common emergency situations. The courses emphasize methods of caring for patients until professional medical aid can be summoned to scenes of accidents.

Since 1910, the report reveals, 1,725,406 persons have received this training from qualified Red Cross instructors, and at the present time 20,429 persons are qualified to give such instruction.

Bringing help nearer scenes of possible accident, 2,445 emergency first aid stations have been established in strategic locations on principal highways throughout the nation, operators of the stations receiving the prescribed Red Cross instructions and maintaining full first aid equipment on the spot.

Conveniently placed, they also maintain up-to-date lists of available doctors and ambulance services pledged in advance to cooperate with Red Cross first aiders in preventing deaths and permanent injuries that so frequently result from automobile accidents.

Mobile first aid units also have been established in cooperation with state highway and police departments, operators of public utility vehicles and others frequenting highways, operators of such units also receiving the prescribed Red Cross courses in first aid.

To cut the number of persons losing their lives through drowning while swimming, the Red Cross has doubled efforts to train as many persons as possible in life saving methods.

During the past year, 88,150 persons received certificates upon completion of courses. Since 1914, 881,649 persons have been trained in Red Cross life saving methods, including thousands of persons in CCC camps, beach patrolmen, camp instructors, and school boys and girls.

Carrying the fight onto farms and into homes, a campaign to eliminate accidents caused by careless habits and faulty equipment last year resulted in self-checks being made in 10,000,000 American homes through cooperation of children in school, women's clubs, farm organizations, and other groups. The 2,700 Red Cross chapters and their branches in every county are cooperating in this national effort to end needless pain and suffering resulting from such accidents.

These efforts to lessen such appalling tolls of human lives and usefulness are made possible through membership in the Red Cross. The annual Roll Call will be held between November 11 and Thanksgiving Day, when all Americans are asked to join or renew their affiliation to ensure continuation of accident prevention measures.

Join the Red Cross Chapter in your community during the Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

Blood of Different Colors
Not all blood is red. Most of the insects, which comprise at least 10,000,000 species, have either greenish or yellowish blood. In some it is even colorless, says Collins Weekly.

Brickbat a Half Brick
In masonry work a brickbat is the term applied to half a brick and is used wherever proper fitting of brickwork requires its use. The term is also applied to insulating material of the fill type when held in a definite form or bat by means of sheets of paper in order to facilitate its application.

Solving Problems

THE world today is faced with many problems — social, economic, financial, political, physical, and mental. Harassed humanity looks this way, then that, for some remedy for its individual and collective difficulties. Too seldom does it find a satisfactory solution. Yet it is a divinely scientific fact that for every problem there is a right solution.

The first chapter of the Holy Scriptures states (Genesis 1:1, 31): "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." And in the New Testament, John declares of God (1:3), "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." Do we believe these Biblical statements? Do we motivate our daily activity by this standard? John's clear vision enabled him to see "a new heaven and a new earth" (Revelation 21:1). May not each individual, in a degree, attain this pure perception? And as men attain this understanding, is it not certain that world conditions will improve?

"Theoretically, that is true," admits the earnest inquirer; "but now shall we proceed to bring about an effectual change in human thought?" Mary Baker Eddy, in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," gives a succinct reply (p. 313): "The spiritual senses originate and support all that is material, untrue, selfish, or debased. They would put soul into soil, life into limbo, and doom all things to decay. We must silence this life of material sense with the truth of spiritual sense," and, also (p. 288), "Spiritual sense, controlling the material senses, involves intuition, hope, faith, understanding, fruition, reality."

Certainly, since the Bible statements in relation to creation are true, and Christendom generally admits that they are, then whatever is not good is not authorized by God, and is therefore not true. To realize this fact is to prove it true in one's own experience. In proportion as it is understood, one may utilize it to the exclusion of any discordant argument or circumstance, just as one rejects a statement that two and two is five when he knows that it is four.

Nehemiah, while living in comfort and security himself as cup-bearer to the king of Persia, heard that his people were in sore straits. Having asked divine guidance, he obtained permission from the Persian king to return and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. After the work was begun, many were the suggestions of material sense as to lack of numbers, authority, strength, and ability, but Nehemiah steadfastly refused to come down from his God-given work to parley with false arguments, and the wall was completed. For, says the record (Nehemiah 4:4): "The people had a mind to work." So will the defenses of the world today be strengthened in proportion as those with spiritual vision work without ceasing in the cause of righteousness and peace.

The primary problem of the world today is to gain an understanding of God. When men can be induced to give attention to this endeavor, they will find world problems being solved as naturally as are problems in mathematics when the right rules are applied.

God is Love. With love as the leading motive in the world, what would become of war? Does anyone wish to kill a beloved friend or to deprive him of anything? And as men know God, the loving, all-powerful Father-Mother, giving liberally of good to all, what becomes of unemployment? The problem is solved as one expresses whatever of good lies within his present opportunity. As his right activity increases, he will find not only that he himself is of more and more help to others, but also that others are more and more gratefully helped to him. Thus, the world's varied difficulties be diminished and finally overcome.

Christ Jesus, the Way-shower, has given us the perfect example in loving service, in his overcoming of the world. . . . Though there may be frequent overturnings, "God is working His purpose out," as the words from a hymn declare, and those not mesmerized by the world's mistakes made in the effort to solve its problems, are joyously advancing and aiding in the true solution. — The Christian Science Monitor.

Tail Tales

As told to ELMO FRANK E. and SCOTT HAGAN by WATSON

Little Drops of Water

ROBERT H. MOULTON, author and marketing authority, once lived among the ridge runners of Tennessee. He likes to recall the hazards of those earlier days when a man had to go out and get his meat before breakfast if he expected to eat at all.

"Once I was hunting squirrels in the Cumberland mountains," he recalls. "I was using puppy's old muzzle-loading rifle and was making every shot count. I had a nice bag of squirrels and started home when I discovered all my bullets were gone."

"At that unfortunate moment a huge bear appeared on the trail and began to chase me. So disturbed was I that beads of perspiration rolled off my forehead."

"Luckily for me, the weather turned cold very suddenly as I headed into a cave. The beads froze and by quick work I was able to catch one of them. I ran it into the muzzle of my gun and fired it into the head of the bear."

"It probably would not have been a fatal injury to the bear but I had no more than fired when the weather turned suddenly warm again. The bear, I am happy to report, immediately died with water on the brain!"

Name Sebastian of Greek Origin; Means 'Revered'

The name Sebastian, of Greek origin, means "revered, venerated." It is one of the great old names which appeal to the imagination and many of its bearers have been men of courage and daring and of great achievement; states Florence A. Cowles in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

St. Sebastian, Third century, is one of the most renowned of the Roman martyrs. Over his tomb on the Appian Way is one of the seven principal churches of Rome.

Sebastian Cabot (d. 1557), English navigator and cartographer, with his father, John, searched the American coast for the Northwest passage, which was the dream of those days. He was one of the first to notice the variation of the magnetic needle.

Sebastiano del Piombo (d. 1547), Italian painter, worked with Michelangelo, "The Raising of Lazarus" being one of the great pictures the two friends painted together. Sebastian Brandt (d. 1521), German satirist and humanist, wrote the famous poem, "The Ship of Fools."

Sebastien Bourdon, Seventeenth century French painter of "The Descent From the Cross," was one of the 10 original members of the Academy of Painting.

Sebastian Marquis of Pombo, Eighteenth century Portuguese statesman, abolished the Inquisition and slavery; established schools and encouraged agriculture and commerce. Sebastian Erard (d. 1831), French musical instrument maker, is famous for improvements and inventions in connection with the pianoforte and harp. He made one of the earliest pianos in France in 1776.

Sebastiana is the feminine form of Sebastian and has the same meaning. It is a dignified and beautiful name but is uncommon.

Egyptian Carvings Show

Onion to Be Ancient Food

Ancient Egyptian monument carvings show the onion as an art work of old India, China and Japan. The leek, a member of the onion family, appears on the ancient coat-of-arms of Wales. Roman cooks in the days of the Caesars knew the worth of "caepa arida" and "caepa sicca," or fresh dried onions, and a Roman cook book of the pre-Christian era gives a number of recipes using onions and leeks, relates Martha Harmon in the Philadelphia Record.

Onions come in more than 100 varieties, some red, some white, others yellow. Size varies as does shape. The small red onion usually has a sharper taste than the large, rather flat, white Bermuda variety. So the former is cooked and the latter frequently appears in thin, raw slices in sandwiches and salads.

Young green onions, tops and all, are springtime favorites as appetizers, served with celery, Belgian endive and carrot sticks. Shallots, chives, garlic and leeks are the other members of the family.

Garlic grows wild in many central states and the delicate pink blossoms belie the real nature of the plant. Who would suspect that these plants add bawful flavor to milk and honey when cows and bees partake of them?

Garlic was apparently native to southwest Siberia but it was grown in England before 1548. The separate parts of the root, some 10 or 12 "cloves" to a single plant, made good disguise for over-ripe fish and meat in the days when there was no refrigeration to keep these perishables fresh. South Europeans love their garlic but the average American finds that rubbing a bit of bread over an out garlic and then rubbing that bread on the inside of a salad bowl provides enough flavor for his taste.

Bells Once Four-Sided

Up to about 400 A. D. almost all bells were four-sided just like the bells used to keep straying cows within ear range. Bells have been used as signals, for warnings, in religious ceremonies and as protection against evil spirits, but bells as musical instruments are comparatively recent.

'Penalty Oaths' Are of

Several Different Kinds

The saucer wouldn't break, so a Chinese witness in a Cambridge (England) court had a hard time promising to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Breaking the dish was his way of saying his soul also would break if he lied.

Such oaths, when a person swears to tell the truth under pain of punishment if he lies, are called "penalty oaths," and take many different forms, observes a writer in the Washington Post.

For instance, in Assam province, India, witnesses grasp a dog or chicken cut in half with one blow.
This implies the same fate will strike them if they testify falsely.

Another Indian region has the speaker stand within a circle of rope. He'll rot like rope, it's believed, if he commits perjury.

Sometimes the head of a tiger, bear or other fierce animal is brought to "court" in Siberia and Africa. Those involved in a suit call upon the animal to kill them if they lie.

William the Conqueror swore "by the splendor of God," and King John
"by God's teeth."

Slandering the Pig

We often say someone is "a dirty pig," but little do we realize that we are slandering the poor pig. This little animal is naturally clean and will not wallow or sleep in filth unless nothing better is available. Pigs are among the cleanest of all farm animals if allowed to be so, asserts a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. Most pigs are "pigs" because their owners force them to live and bathe in dirty places. Neither is the pig more lazy than other animals, if allowed his freedom.
